RETIRED COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT HONORED -- W. C. "Bill" Palmeyer, formerly of Matador and retired county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was one of 28 Extension Service retirees honored at a special luncheon at Texas A&M University Nov. 15. He was presented a special plaque by Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, left, Extension Service director, and Roy Nail, first vice president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas. Palmeyer retired in August after 31 years of service, the last 26 in Motley County. He also served in Wichita, Knox and Hall counties. He holds a B.S. degree from Texas A&M and received the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents and the Superior Service Award from the Extension Service.

Homework Discussed At PTA Meeting

There is an old saying - "He has really done his homework" - applied to someone who appears very knowledgeable about a certain subject; and the subject of homework was the main topic at the PTA meeting Tuesday night at the Motley County School.

The program, a panel discussion on how homework applies to students, teachers and parents at home, was organized by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Edwards, and included current and past students, teachers and parents.

"Homework obviously helps you," one student said. "You have to be creative; use your head when there is no one there to help you. I don't see anything wrong with homework. If I work at it I always have time to do homework." This student was active in sports and other school activities.

The teachers seemed to be of one mind in expressing that homework is repetitious of material in the classroom and the student has a better chance to retain things covered in the classroom when he does homework. It does, they said, help make a responsible, thinking adult, because in one way or another the student would have to do some kind of homework the rest of his life or he would not be successful.

However, some very good questions were raised about the amount of homework assigned, and what happens to that homework after it is completed and turned back to the teacher the next day.

The subject of the amount of homework was discussed at length, and some parents said homework should not be assigned for week end, ball game nights; and only minimum homework the rest of the time. With embarrassing grins, the students thought this was a good idea. "No one is going to study for a test scheduled for a Monday," a student said.

"How many occasions does TIME get involved with homework?" Mr. Edwards asked. "Does anyone have ample time to do homework?"

"You will always have some students that have something to do every night of the week," one teacher stated. "There is always going to be a conflict."

One student said the Freshman class suggested even numbered classes be given homework one night and odd the next. But teachers said a class can't be scheduled on a day by day basis, stating that some days more material is covered than other days. "I would hate to have to pick every other day to assign homework."

"Some people believe assignments should be made on individual basis, but this only sounds good in theory," a teacher said. "Some sharp kids get 10 problems and some slow get five; pretty soon the kids are wise to this and they all want five. Some kids have bad study habits. They put their homework off until the last minute."

But the students said there could be too much homework, and students could come to resent it. But some also said their time in study hall was not used 100 per cent.

The point was made that if homework was worth assigning it was worth checking. Teachers could send completed homework home graded or checked for the parents to sign and return to the teacher. By this method the parent, through homework, could have the opportunity to see the progress of their children.

After teachers, parents and students had an opportunity to express their sides of homework, one student summed it up by saying, "We are going to have to hurry up with this meeting. I have three tests to study for."

Residence Health Service Brought To Motley County

A new health service for people in their place of residence was recently brought to Motley County. Visiting Nurse Service of Lubbock, Inc., which has been in operation since February, is now able to serve residents in the County with a comprehensive home health service. Through a grant awarded by H.E.W. Public Health Service Department, home care can now be made available to all persons in need of such care, regardless of age or income.

Visiting Nurse Service applied for the grant to demonstrate that home care is a viable, economical alternative to lengthy institutional care. One of the goals of the service is to be responsive to the health needs of all residents of the catchment area. To accomplish this home health must be delivered to those persons whose Medicare/Medicaid home benefits have been exhausted or who do not fit exactly into the eligibility guidelines, and to those who are medically indigent, have no insurance coverage but need home care and to persons of all ages who can benefit from home care.

Nursing care and procedures, health teaching, and monitoring of patient conditions can be done when ordered by the patient's physician. It is hoped that the service can prevent some institutionalization and that it can shorten the number of days spent in in-patient facilities.

Examples of procedures that can be done are: dressings, injections, I.V. therapy, catheter care, gastric tube feedings and care, colostomy care, and any other skilled procedure ordered by the physician. Nursing care must be on an intermittent basis rather than 8 hour shifts. Collection of specimens for laboratory analysis on patients confined to their place of residence may be requested by the physician. Speech therapy and physical therapy are provided through contract services. Home health aides are planned for the immediate future to provide personal care when that is a primary need.

Payment for services is by arrangement, through public insurance sources such as Medicare and Medicaid, or private insurance, Champus, V.A. - or through cash payments on a sliding income scale or no charge through the grant.

Visiting Nurse Service is a private non-profit corporation owned and operated by registered nurses.

Physicians in the surrounding area are being apprised of this new service and personnel are available to speak to interested groups about the service and how patients can qualify for this care in their places of residence.

For more information contact Michelle Bearden RN at 348-3921 or call Lubbock (806) 793-9067 or write Visiting Nurse Service, 2806 34th Street Lubbock, Texas 79410.

P.S. Young Homemakers Have Ceramic Demonstration

At the November 6th meeting, the PSYH thoroughly enjoyed a very interesting and informative ceramic demonstration presented by Mrs. Martha Pickens and her mother, Mrs. Ted Smith.

Other business included a report from Treasurer Tommye Keith showing over $700.00 taken in on the Queen's contest and Concession stand during the Halloween Carnival. The club expressed deep appreciation to Mrs. Gerry Smith, Plainview, for the use of a loveseat during the Queen's coronation and to Mr. L.C. Winkler for the loan of a cart also used in the program. Several items were suggested to be purchased by the Club but no definite decisions were made. A vote was taken to have meetings begin at 7pm for the rest of the year.

Kathy Spain announced December 20th as the Patton Springs Band's Christmas Program. It was agreed the Club would provide a decorated tree, Santa, and candy for that event. Volleyball reminders would be sent neighboring teams before Christmas reminding them of the dates--March 20, 21, 22, 1980--for the PSYH Outsiders Volleyball Tournament.

Everyone was reminded the next meeting would be Monday, December 3rd and a Christmas program by Carolyn Schur of West Texas Utilities would be presented. Anyone interested in attending a very entertaining program is invited to come and encouraged to bring a friend.

CONSERVE ENERGY AND SAVE MONEY WITH PROPER INSULATION, CAULKING AND WEATHERSTRIPPING.

The most effective defense against rising energy costs is proper insulation. Insulation keeps the heat in during the winter and out during the summer, so that both your heating and cooling costs will be less.

Insulation is measured in R-values and the higher the value, the more effective the insulation. R-values of R-30 in the ceilings and R-20 in the walls are now being recommended for new construction in this area.

PIONEER Harvest Hotline

Barry Love reports
Central High Plains Results

Again this year Pioneer brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

PIONEER 3311
 In 48 comparisons across the Central High Plains during 1979, this outstanding corn hybrid averaged 10, 821 lbs./A. to show a yield advantage of 495 lbs./A. over competitive hybrids. 3311 has shown excellent drought tolerance. It adjust kernel depth to match growing conditions. And stalks and roots provide very good standability, too. With a proven record of top performance in this area, 3311 is sure to be a top choice for 1980.

PIONEER 3184
 Farmers rate this as one of the most desirable hybrids for Central Plains conditions. And this year's performance proves why. In 47 comparisons in this area, 3184 averaged 10, 390 lbs./A. Recognized as one of the most consistent and dependable yielders in the area, 3184 has strong stalks and roots that contribute to its performance ability. Again next year, make sure 3184 is part of your corn growing plans.

PIONEER 3183
 This corn hybrid is relatively new to many area farmers, but it's a well-established favorite of many across the U.S. In 43 tests on the Central High Plains, the reasons for its popularity were dramatically shown. 3183 averaged 257 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids with an average yield of 10, 759 lbs./A. Excellent drought tolerance and very good seedling vigor with strong tolerance to head smut and DMV make 3183 a good hybrid for this area.

THANKS, FARMERS.

It started ahead of planting time in 1974. Fearing a trade deficit, the U.S. Government asked farmers to grow more acres, harvest more crops for export. Farmers responded by producing $15.5 billion in sales to foreign markets that year, about double the level of 1972. And even after deducting the cost of food and fiber imports, agriculture's contribution to the nation's trade balance exceeded $10 billion. But it was only the beginning.

In 1975, American farms produced $17.4 billion in exports. And in '76 the total soared to $22.8 billion, then reached $24 billion in '77. And farm exports hit an astonishing $27 billion in 1978. That year alone, agriculture contributed a $13.4 billion trade surplus to help prop the battered and sagging U.S. dollar. It was crucial. The dollar bottomed and began to rise again. After a performance like that, what do you do for an encore?

Here's what U.S. farmers did: During the marketing year just ending, they produced and sold overseas more than $32 billion of grain and other commodities. That's an 18 percent gain in one year. And it came in the face of a strengthening dollar. When final figures are in, agriculture's net contribution toward lowering the U.S. trade deficit will likely rise to nearly $16 billion during 1979. That's quite an achievement.

America asked for it, and farmers grew it. Thanks again, farmers.
