RAIL DUST Mats Face Conference

By DOUGLAS MEADOR
First conference game of the season is scheduled Friday night on Burleson Field when the Matador Matadors meet the Estelline Cubs.

Mats Face Conference

An atmosphere of excitement has prevailed on the campus this week as the beginning of conference nears but Coach Ray Hopkins has been reluctant to make any forecast of the contest. He said, however, that his charges are in good condition to meet the opposing team.

ANNOUNCE ARRIVAL

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth McAnear of Lubbock are announcing the birth of a son at 10:30 p.m. Oct. 8. He weighed 8 lbs. 2 ozs and was named Truett Paul. The mother is the former Ann Luella Groves of Brady, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Groves of that place. They are former Matador residents.

Towns Represented At Abilene Hearing

CITIZENS from seven West Texas towns went to Abilene Thursday to plea for a north-south bus permit at a hearing held in the Windsor Hotel before the State Railroad Commission.

A total of 23 delegates were transported in the special bus which left Matador about 7:30 a.m. and returned at 6 p.m.

Four women from Turkey made the 375-mile round trip. They were Mrs. V. W. Bradshaw, Miss John Moreland, Mrs. D. Armstrong and Mrs. J. W. Covington.

Strongest plea for the new bus route was made by Mayor Lewis Eudy of Turkey, who told the examiner that Turkey had no contact by public conveyance with the outside world.

"We think it is unfair and undemocratic that our community should be isolated," Mayor Eudy declared.

The examiner explained that his remark was off the record and had no personal implications, injected merely to add a tone of levity and relax the tension of the hearing.

Witnesses from Matador who testified for the bus charter included Stanley Meador, Norman and Dr. A. C. Traweck. Nichols and King testified from Roaring Springs.

Home From Trip

The late Mrs. Bryan was a daughter of Mrs. J. W. Dye.

Dental Neglect Impairs Health

AUSTIN, Oct. 13.—The fact that dental decay is likely to occur in the mouth of the average person, despite proper home care given the teeth, does not lessen the importance of brushing the teeth and massaging the gums daily, nor does it minimize the need for a cleaning and inspection of the teeth twice a year by the family dentist. Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health, says that the lack of these measures gives added power to germs that attack the enamel of the teeth and gum tissues.

"If, despite the proper application of such procedures, decay is suspected or teeth are injured in any way, the thoughtful person will seek the dentist's office promptly for the necessary corrective work," Dr. Holle said.

"It is surprising, though, even in these days of comparatively painless dentistry, that so many persons neglect to make good their dental defects, inevitable or otherwise, because they foolishly fear the discomfort they might experience in the dentist's chair," said the Commissioner of Health. "There are others who having lost a tooth or several teeth make no effort to obtain replacements. Apparently they believe they can get along without them. Reduced masticating power, the annoyance and sometimes actual discomfort of chewing hard substances on the exposed gums, and crooked teeth are some of the possible consequences of gaps in the teeth."

Dr. Holle advised those who are interested in experiencing the best dental and bodily health possible, to give daily attention to their mouth, and visit the dentist twice a year, and promptly seek the dentist's services should decay or other suspicious conditions arise between the periodic visits.

"In short," Dr. Holle declared, "successful mouth hygiene means not only intelligent personal daily application of prophylaxis but complete and timely cooperation with the family dentist as well."

The U. S. Marine Corps was founded in 1775.

Mrs. J. W. Pritchett Elected President Whiteflat HD Club

Mrs. J. W. Pritchett was elected president of Whiteflat Home Demonstration club meeting in regular session, Friday, Oct. 7, in the club room. Nine members were present.

The house was called to order for the election of officers for 1956, with Mrs. M. D. Morris acting as president pro-tem. Others elected, in addition to Mrs. Pritchett, were Mrs. Roy Mitchell, vice-president; Mrs. E. G. Tilson, secretary-treasurer (also reporter), and Mrs. Wilson Barton, Council Delegate.

Other business included completing plans for a forty-two party Thursday, Oct. 13, (tonight) at 7:30 o'clock. Coffee and cocoa will be served to the players, and all will register for a drawing for door prize. Usual admission will be charged at the door. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mrs. Wilson Barton conducted the recreation, after which, Mrs. Tilson, hostess, served coffee, tea and homemade cookies to Mesdames Lee Parker, Bill Smith, Lorena Mitchell, L. A. Carlisle, M. D. Morris, Fred Bourland and Wilson Barton.

The refreshment table was covered by a hand-embroidered Irish linen luncheon cloth which was sent to Mrs. Tilson by her children, Raworth and Barbara (Ketchersid) when they honeymooned in Ireland. The coffee was served from a coffee set from Japan, which Dan Tilson brought his mother, and the sugar shell was from Florence, Italy.

ROARING SPRINGS FORMER RESIDENT WEDS AT LUBBOCK

Marriage vows exchanged at Lubbock on October 2, united Miss Darlene Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jubert Pierce of Lubbock, formerly of Roaring Springs, and Bobby Tyson of Lubbock. Rev. M. C. Ratheal officiated in a double ring ceremony.

Attendants of the couple were Miss Anja Tyson and Roy Henley. Mrs. Bill Pierce was matron of honor and Bill Pierce usher.

Larry Dorsett accompanied Miss Elizabeth Dunn, who sang "Because" and "Always," and also played the wedding march.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of white nylon chiffon, and carried a white Bible topped with an orchid, surrounded with forget-me-nots. Wedding cake and punch was served during a reception held immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Tyson was reared at Roaring Springs and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rice of that place.

Birthday Dinner Is Held Recently

A birthday dinner honoring four relatives was held here on Sunday, Oct. 2, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hicks. They were Mrs. Leroy Hamilton, Mr. Joe Woodruff, Clint Hicks and Darwin Hicks.

Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Woodruff and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton and sons of Quitaque; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McKay and son and Rufus Hicks, of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Moore and daughter of Roaring Springs; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hicks and the Clint Hicks family of Matador.

VISIT RELATIVES

Mrs. Eldred Seigler and son, Don, accompanied her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Rattan, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Rattan, to Krum, near Denton, for a week-end visit with their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Huey.

Soon we came to a large uniquely modern restaurant and night club, called The Ball Room.

From this room one sees the pool and patio. A rising dance floor of ice pink gives a splendid view to the guests. On a side wall is a large mural, filled with all sorts of figures. . . .

modern I could not tell what it was all about. . . if you can tell what it represents, it's not art. (representationalism is extinct as the dodo bird and very passe.)

"Beyond the swimming pool which is tiled and filled with filtered water, are the cabanas in various colors, a snack bar and lounge furniture, where one can recline and get a gorgeous sun-tan."

"The Versailles Room is one of five rooms available for private parties. The grand ballroom (one of five) can accommodate a thousand persons (your toes are guaranteed to be stepped on or stepped in during the coffee shop in turquoise (this room is for poor people when I compared it with the other places) and near by is the Red Lion Bar, an imitation of an old English pub. Here, only men can enter in the daytime and the fair sex can only regale themselves here after six p. m."

"The guest rooms have no beds visible (beds have gone out of style) in their stead are couches. The rooms, at least some of them remind one of the concourse of a New York railway station. For persons who are short-sighted, I would recommend binoculars. The rooms are all air-conditioned, with television sets, radios and bars and tables for card-playing. Baths are of marble and the showers are all glass-enclosed. Many of these guest rooms have a balcony equipped with colorful lounges, all open to the four winds, a veritable al fresco room. Then there are dressing rooms and electric refrigeration, and deluxe suites of three or more rooms. So that these guests do not perish from thirst, bars are installed for their comfort. I did not inquire how much these suites rent for, as I did not have my smelling salts with me."

"The Traders is a restaurant where one may enjoy Polynesian food and beverages. The Star on the Roof contains a circular bar and through the windows

"Poor people with aristocratic tastes should end it all and jump into the ocean. . . this is no place for them."

WHICH GOES WITHOUT SAYING

"Which goes without saying."

NIECES ARE VISITORS

Visiting here Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clements were Mrs. Roland Wright of Oakdale, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Mitsch of San Rafael, Calif., who had attended the Homecoming at Lockney. Friday, Mesdames Wright and Mitsch are nieces of Mrs. Clements.

AUSTIN—Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, kept his political thoughts and hopes mostly to himself during his Texas visit. He made only a left-handed jibe at political foe Gov. Allan Shivers.

Shivers has said he will not support Stevenson if he is the '56 presidential nominee. In his University of Texas lecture, Stevenson said that while not a full-time economic expert, he is a "full-time Democrat." He sidestepped a question from the audience on Texas tidelands, issue on which he and Shivers broke in 1952.

Stevenson was joined by Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn in an overnight visit at U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's farm. Plane schedules allowed the three top-level Democratic leaders very little time to discuss their party's brightened prospects. They all disclaimed any political significance in the get-together.

Johnson and Rayburn said no change in Democratic Congressional tactics is planned as a result of President Eisenhower's heart attack. They said Democratic leaders would, nevertheless, try to draft a Congressional program that will put a Democrat in the White House.

Apparently well on the road of Roaring Springs She was named Sheila Beth. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hollar of Amarillo are parents of a daughter, Holly Lynn, weight 7 lbs. who was born Sunday, Oct. 2. Jan Hunt, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hunt underwent tonsilectomy on Oct. 3, and another recent tonsilectomy was performed for E. O. Farley of Quitaque. Don Brummett, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brummett, underwent appendectomy on Oct. 4. Smith Guest was dismissed Monday, having been a patient since Thursday. Karlene Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith of Dumont, was treated for virus last week, and Mrs. E. G. Reed of Quitaque received treatment for strep throat. George Gafford and Wren Vineyard, both of Turkey, underwent appendectomy recently.

to recovery from his own heart attack, Johnson sent a telegram inviting President Eisenhower to Texas to hunt with him.

Shivers' desegregation ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court was part of a long series of moves toward centralized government, Gov. Shivers contends. U. S. Supreme Court justices "stepped out of their judicial robes" in their desegregation decision, he said. "Nine men, sitting 2,000 miles away, are not going to tell Crossroads, Texas, how they are going to run their schools", the Governor emphasized.

Shivers spoke at a meeting of oil well drillers in Houston, at the same time Adlai Stevenson addressed an Austin audience. Earlier he pointed out the court ruling can be overridden by act of Congress or amendment to the U. S. Constitution. He cited recent tidelands legislation as an example.

Political Speculation Sen. Price Daniel has indicated he may disclose his political plans during a series of speeches scheduled in Texas during November. He has kept the door open for a possible race for governor next year. His Senate term still has two years to go.

Meanwhile, Daniel will open hearings of the Senate judiciary sub-committee on narcotics in Austin, Oct. 12, and will hold other hearings in San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth. Political speculation has swung toward the idea that Gov. Allan Shivers and other top officeholders may choose to seek reelection next year, Shivers for a fourth elective term.

Among the possibilities were Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, and Agri. Comm. John C. White. The same speculation hinted that possibly U. S. Sen. Daniel might decide against the governor's race for which he has been discussed.

Gov. Shivers' decision to run for reelection would greatly thin the ranks of prospective candidates. So far, only former Speaker Reuben Senterfitt has announced. Ralph Yarborough, twice defeated for the office, is regarded as a certain candidate. White and State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton are probable entrants.

Teachers Due Jury Duty This fall, for the first time in Texas history, some school teachers will have to interrupt the three R's to answer jury summonses. Legislators, apparently by an oversight, deprived them of their traditional exemption. Jury service laws were rewritten last session after constitutional amendment made women eligible for duty. Old laws, specifically exempting "school masters", had been interpreted as meaning all teachers. That new statutes had dropped this classification did not come to light until school and fall court sessions began.

Teachers summoned are expected to seek reprieve on the grounds that their absence would work a hardship on their schools.

Radar Reduces Accidents Radar, says Public Safety Director, Homer Garrison Jr., has had a pronounced psychological effect, slowing down highway speeders wherever it is used.

Fatalities on major routes were down six per cent for the first eight months of the year, Garrison pointed out. Total number killed this year is expected to be up two or three per cent because of increased fatalities on farm-to-market and other secondary roads.

The highway department said surveys show that 12 per cent of Texas motorists were exceeding the speed limit in checks this year. Last year the figure was 17 per cent.

Average speed was higher, but there were fewer speed violations. Average speed for all vehicles this year was closed at 54 miles an hour, six-tenths of a mile faster than last year.

Building Planners Hired A professional planning firm has been employed by the State Building Commission to map out a long-range program for housing the state government.

An orderly building program covering needs for the next 25 to 50 years is the goal, said Gov.

Shivers, chairman of the commission.

He said he favors a government center built around the Capitol, rather than an aimless sprinkling of buildings.

Funds already have been appropriated for a new state courts and office building and for partial air conditioning and remodel of the Capitol.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Cotton Defoliation

The ever increasing use of machines in the harvesting of cotton has also increased the use of defoliant and dessicants. The success or failure of the job depends upon several factors. These include the characteristics of the chemicals and the rate and volume applied; the method of application; climatic conditions especially moisture and temperature; cultural practices, such as fertilization and plant density and the varieties grown.

Under conditions of normal growth with dew plentiful, calcium cyanamide dust should give good results. The material should be applied when plants are wet with dew and remain in leaf moisture at least two hours and preferably four.

If dew is not present and with lower soil moisture and windier conditions amino thiazole, Endothal and various chlorates work better. Good to excellent results have been obtained from a mixture—half the recommended rate of amino thiazole with one of the water soluble defoliants also at half the recommended rate—applied as a spray. This new material acts as a growth retarder and will be available for use this year.

As dessicants for use in connection with stripper harvest, the uses of "Penta" formulations or Cotton Defoliant 713-D is recommended. These materials are suggested for dry conditions where the sub-soil moisture is low and plants small. These materials should not be used if harvesting is to be done with a spindle type picker, and only after 90 per cent of the bolls are open.

Any cotton producer interested in detailed information on cotton defoliation may be interested in Leaflet L-145, Cotton Defoliation Guide in Texas, which may be obtained at the County Agent's office.

Mechanical Harvesting

The grade of mechanically harvested cotton can be improved or lowered by the practices used in the harvesting process. If strippers are used, the producer needs the latest information on defoliations. Weeds, and especially Johnson Grass should be cleared from the fields before stripping. Spot oiling will do this job.

When harvest is begun, don't strip when the cotton is wet. Most gins are equipped to do a good job if the cotton is brought to them in proper condition. One of the most important of these conditions is dryness.

Blowers on the strippers and wire or slatted slides for trailers help, and trailers should be large enough so tramping will not be necessary. Growers have found that it costs from $5 to $15 a bale to tramp cotton on a trailer. This will soon pay for extra trailers.

In the case of custom harvesting, a small piece of blackboard should be placed on the side of the trailer. It will carry the number of the trailer, the producer's name, weight loaded, name of picker operator, and pounds needed to make the desired bale weight.

For those who must put on the ground and load available at the County office. Don't overlook money that will save on the cost-price of the which is growing even can best be met with efficient operation.
