Thacker Jewelry named best

Thacker Jewelry (Lubbock location) was named Best Jewelry Store in the recently released 2001 Readers' Choice Best of Lubbock, a special section in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. Store owners of the Roaring Springs and Lubbock location are Joey and Ann Thacker, former Roaring Springs residents, now of Lubbock.

Mr. Thacker established Thacker Jewelry in downtown Roaring Springs in the late '70's.

Pictures needed for Old Settlers edition

Pictures are needed for he annual Old Settlers of the Motley County Tribune, which will be published August 23. If you have old pictures that have not been printed before or in a very long time, we would appreciate the use of them for this special edition. We assure you that we will take very good of your pictures and they will be returned. We would also appreciate it if anyone has a special story to share.

Special ads for the edition are being sold. Those who have placed ads in the past will be called. If you would like to have your business featured by advertising in this special edition, please call our office at 347-2400.

The deadline for pictures, stories and advertisement for this edition will be Thursday, August 16.

Perry calls for special election for Senator Haywood's seat

Filing deadline for candidates seeking the unexpired term of the late Senator Tom Haywood, District 30, is October 9, according to Governor Rick Perry, who called a special selection for November 6. Senator Haywood died July 12.

"A November election means that voters of Senate District 30 will have ample time to choose a new senator, to vote on important ballot propositions and to participate in local elections. "I urge the voters of Senate District 30 to exercise their right to vote and participate in the important November election," Perry said.

Wichita Falls businessman and longtime GOP supporter, Craig L. Estes, is the first candidate to formally announce his candidacy.

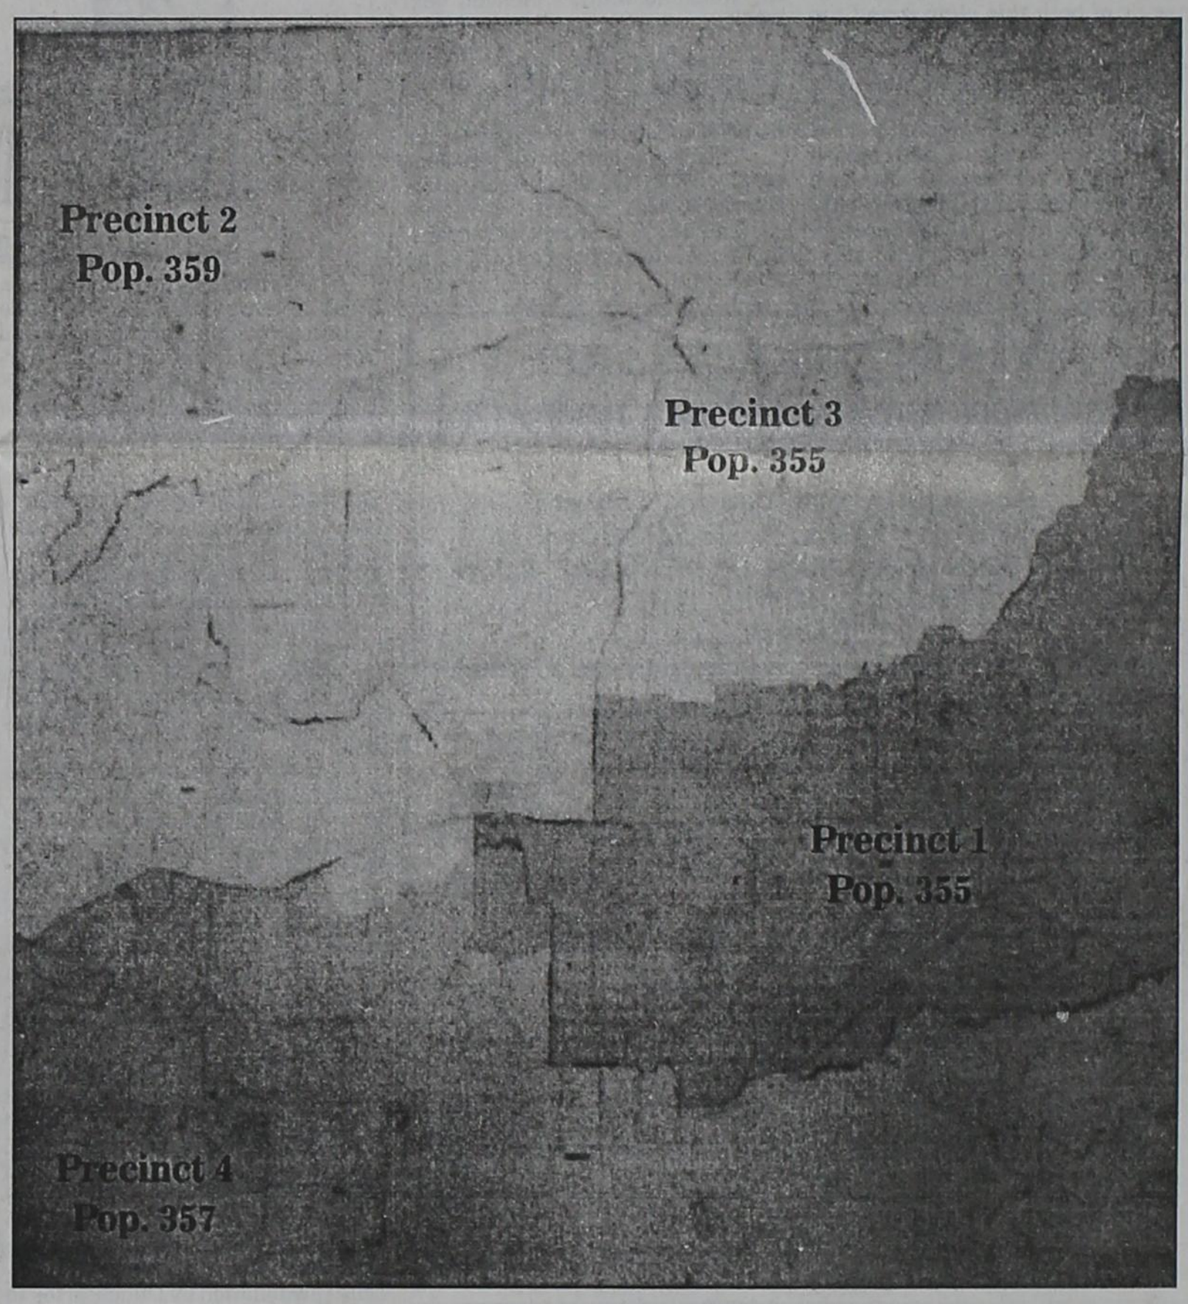
State Rep. David Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, and two Denton men say they are looking at running, but have not yet made a decision.

Senate District 30 includes 36 counties — Archer, Armstrong, Baylor, Briscoe, Carson, Childress, Clay, Cooke, Collingsworth, Hall, Hardeman, Cottle, Dickens, Donley, Fisher, Floyd, Grayson, Foard, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Montague, Motley, Scurry, Stonewall, Swisher, Throckmorton, Wheeler, Wichita and Wilbarger, as well as parts of Collin, Denton and Taylor counties.

Candidates seeking election must file an application and a filing fee of $1,000 or a petition signed by 500 registered voters in the district, Ann McGeehan, director of elections in the Texas Secretary of State's election division, explained.

Senator Haywood's successor will serve until January 1, 2003.

Other candidates who have been mentioned as possible candidates include Curtis Clinesmith, a Democrat and a Denton attorney; Kirk Wilson, Republican and former Denton County Judge and Commissioner; Kay Yeager, a Republican and former Wichita Falls Mayor, and State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday, a Democrat.



REDISTRICTING MAP — The map of Motley County shows the Precincts and populations for redistricting. According to Motley County Judge, Laverna Price, only four blocks of the city of Matador, Matador Ranch headquarters, and some areas West of Matador will be affected in Motley County's redistricting. A public meeting will be held Friday at 10:00 a.m.. August 10, at the Courthouse, to discuss redistricting plans.

Matador Cowboys will gather for 8th. annual reunion Aug. 25

Matador Cowboys will gather for their 8th annual reunion, Saturday, August 25, at Green's place in Roaring Springs. Visiting will begin at about 11:00 a.m. Reunion coordinator, Jerry Green, says "Look for the chuckwagon and hoodlum mules." This event is a get-together of old-timers who worked for the Matador Land and Cattle Company and/or any of its successors. Those who are currently on the payroll of the Matador Ranch are welcome and encouraged to attend. Spouses and guests of eligible participants are welcome.

Dinner will be served at high noon. Moore Maker knives will be given away to a lucky few. For more information contact Jerry Green at 348-7953.

Will you be a part of the Old Settlers Parade?

The 78th Annual Motley-Dickens Old Settlers Parade will be held in downtown Roaring Springs at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, August 23. Will you be a part of the Parade? Motley and Dickens county residents and businesses are encouraged to participate. Ex-residents of these counties, Bands, clubs and organizations from other areas are also welcome to participate.

Efforts have been made for the last few years to make the parade bigger and better. So, put on your thinking caps, pull out the old car, hook up the old wagon, grab some trim and get your entry ready. Just use your imagination.

There is no entry fee, no registration, just show up on Thursday morning, about 9:30 a.m., in downtown Roaring Springs, and be a part of the 78th Annual Old Settlers Parade!

July weather conditions takes toll on county's crops

by Earlyne Jameson

Below average rainfall and above average temperatures, with the mercury flirting with triple digits, took a toll on crops and ranchland during the month of July in Motley County. High and extended heat the first week in August continues to damage cotton, peanuts and feed crops. Without rain soon we are heading for another agricultural disaster.

The official report of total rainfall in Motley County for the month of July by the National Weather Service Volunteers: Tommie Jo Cruse, Flomot, 0.11; Kelly Meyer, Matador, 0.54; Buzz Thacker, Roaring Springs, 1.13; Betty Simpson, Northfield, .00; Jim Stockton, Whiteflat, 0.25.

Rabies case discovered in area town

A case of Rabies was discovered last week by a family in Kress, when their grandson was bitten by one of the family's kittens.

Tracy Hughes, 10-year-old grandson of LaRue and Margie Hughes of Kress, was playing with the kitten while watching television when the kitten bit him. His grandmother grabbed it and tossed it outside. She didn't think anything about it.

The kitten and its litter mates had been attacked by a rabid skunk. The Hughes family had destroyed the kittens that had obvious injuries, this particular one did not seem to be hurt so they kept it.

The day after it bit the boy, it began to show signs of uncommon behavior, and when it came up to the family's glass door and began showing signs of aggression, the Hugheses knew it had rabies.

The kitten was killed and the head was sent to a veterinarian in Plainview.

Rabies treatment was started almost immediately on Tracy. The grandparents and three of Tracy's cousins are also being treated.

One of the things animal control personnel look for to determine if Rabies is present, is unusual behavior. Since skunks are nocturnal, if one is seen roaming around during the day, the animal should be destroyed. Several skunks have been killed in the city of Kress. None have tested positive for rabies.

Jack McCasland, the environmental health inspector for Hale County, said there have been two confirmed cases of rabies in that county so far this year. Both were skunks.

He said that while people should not become alarmed about the case in Swisher County, they should pay closer attention to their pets and show proper caution around wild animals.

Again, he said, the thing to look for is unusual behavior and pointed out that the behavior does not necessarily have to be aggressive.

If a family has a rambunctious pet that suddenly becomes docile, that is unusual behavior and is cause for concern.

He pointed out that, generally, people associate rabies with dogs so

Vietnam Memorial replica to be on display in Plainview

Plainview — "The Wall that Heals," a half-scale replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., will bring the message of The Wall to Plainview September 27-30.

Located at Regional Park near I-27, the exhibition will feature the dramatic replica - stretching nearly 250 feet in total length - as well as an information center and traveling museum displaying memorabilia left at The Wall, which opened in Washington, D.C. in the early 1980s.

The exhibition will be open 24 hours a day and there is no charge for admission.

"The visit of this Wall not only will be a tremendous value to local Vietnam veterans, but also to the general public which may know of a veteran killed in Vietnam.

Each day will honor various war veterans: World War I, World War II, Korea, Granada, Panama and Desert Storm. The final day, Sunday, Sept. 30, will be dedicated to women veterans.

Several activities are planned including:

- Sept. 27 - Candlelight vigil
- Sept. 28 - "Americana" Music Festival at the Fair Theatre by Michael Martin of Fort Worth, who performs a variety of music including country-western and bluegrass.

Four local 4-H members compete at State Horse Show

The weather and the competition were as hot, as Abilene hosted over 900 4-H members for the 39th Texas State 4-H Horse Show held July 22-28 at the the Taylor County Exposition Coliseum. Local 4-H members Brad Baxter, Scott Jones, Colton Russell and Shane'a Russell competed in their respective events, Team Roping, Team Penning, Working Cow Horse, Halter, Halter Futurity, Western Horsemanship and Western Pleasure. These 4-Hers did very well in their events and should be congratulated for their efforts.

Shane'a Russell should be commended for being a finalist in the Grade Gelding Class!!!

4-H members from across the state qualify from 254 Counties and 12 districts to earn the opportunity to compete at the State Horse Show.

Where has this summer gone? It's about time for school bells to ring again. It seems like school just dismissed for the summer. Although I, personally, don't go through all the hustle and bustle of trying to get kids ready for school any longer, I can empathize with all you parents. I've been there, done that!

I've talked to a lot of parents who are counting the days until that first day of school. They are ready for that routine again. Routine is nice, but I was never ready for school to start again. Although I was always at work during the day and when Jeremy was old enough, so was he, it was still a nice break. During school he was involved in everything he could possibly do, so we were very busy.

There's a commercial on TV with two kids and their dad shopping for school supplies. He's singing and dancing as they walk the aisles, and the kids are just standing there with blank looks on their faces. It's pretty funny. Well, parents, hold on, just a few more days.

Speaking of school supplies, this gives me another chance to stress the importance of shopping at home. In the paper this week Matador Variety's Back-to-School sale circular features lots of great savings. Now, you can't tell me you can drive out of town and spend all the money involved with a trip, buy school supplies, and save money. Just shop at home - it's really a lot cheaper!

I'm running short on time - again, but here are few good tips from Life's Little Instruction Book.

— Don't carry a grudge.

— Show respect for all living things.

— Don't forget, a person's greatest emotional need is to feel appreciated.

— Choose work that is in harmony with your values.

— Loosen up. Relax. Except for rare life-and-death matters, nothing is as important as it first seems.

— Commit yourself to constant self-improvement.

— Don't allow the phone to interrupt important moments. It's there for your convenience, not the caller's.

— Don't waste time grieving over past mistakes. Learn form them and move on.

— Seek out the good in people.

"A Saving Message"

In the letter to the church at Rome we find written what the Apostle Paul would proclaim there in person. The Good News: Jesus Christ is the Savior. The only Savior for the world. For Paul this message carried with it a note of excitement, enthusiasm and motivation. The message of Jesus was something to proclaim, to announce. For the message of Jesus is not meaningless theological jargon that few could understand. It was, for Paul, a saving message, not one of confusion.

The Apostle felt his obligation keenly. He was eager to fulfill his responsibility in doing his part. Paul was excited about the opportunity to share the precious message of eternity.

Paul has given to us all of that sense of obligation, responsibility and motivation to the church today. It should not be something we take for granted. There is no ho-hum way of being religious that pleases God. There is excitement in the message that motivates. For in the message is -- life. The only life that we will ever have. It is found in Christ Jesus.

La Voe, Louise, and Geneva were second in first flights (Got beat on the card for 1st place).

We really enjoyed the day. The course is in the best condition that we have seen it.

The food was delicious and the tea and lemonade we had to drink all day sure hit the spot.

Everyone won a door prize. We thank you ladies for a great time. Hope to be back next year.

Library Notes

by Suzanne Abbott

The Friends of the Library had a great meeting last week and made plans for a Rootin' Tootin' Beans and Cornbread lunch at the library during Old Settlers. Look for more information in the Motley County Tribune as the date grows closer.

Ruby McGuire, Marihelen Wason, Patricia Green, and Georgia Witcher have been working diligently to get barcodes on the adult books in the library. Very soon the Motley County Library will be automated and we have these four ladies to thank for making it possible. Automation will give us a better inventory of the books and will help us to keep up with the books more accurately. We will put barcodes on the kids books later.

The library received several memorial donations last week. We appreciate the memorial from Joan and Charles Keith in memory of Glenn Woodruff. We thank Patricia and Jerry Green for their donation in memory of J.B. Cooper. We appreciate the donation by Donna and Larry Hoyle in memory of Sonny Jackson and Glenn Woodruff.

We also thank Jo Scott for the donation in memory of Virginia and Mike Hoyle. We appreciate the donation by Rita Groves in memory of Glenn Woodruff, Sonny Jackson, and J.B. Cooper. We thank Nova Dell and Dean Turner for their donation in memory of Mike Hoyle and Sonny Jackson. We appreciate the donation by Dude Barton in memory of Mike Hoyle and Sonny Jackson. We appreciate the donation by Dude Barton in memory of Mike Hoyle and Sonny Jackson. We thank Pansy Spray for her donation in memory of Mike Hoyle. Thanks also go to Doug and Irene DeVivo for their donation in memory of Mike Groves. All of these memorial donations are welcome and needed to keep our book collection up to date. To remember special people in this manner makes for a lasting memorial.

Matador Variety

NEW PASTOR — Rev. Vince Sandlin is the new pastor at the First Assembly of God Church in Matador. Rev. Sandlin and wife, Jo, moved to Matador from Paducah, where he had retired after preaching 38 years. He began preaching for the local church as a fill-in for Rev. Kreusel in August of last year, before accepting the position as full-time pastor May 13. Rev. Sandlin is the Vice-Bishop of the Bible Way Pentecostal Church of God. He has pastored three churches, was a youth pastor, music minister and Evangelist. He sang in a gospel group for five years in the 70's. He and his wife also enjoy singing together, and sing mostly southern gospel songs. Mrs. Sandlin is an LVN and works for Covenant Home Health. They have six grown children, fourteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Sept. 29 - Parade with 4,000 Harley-Davidson motorcycles to the Wall from downtown Plainview. These riders are coming from all over the region and as far away as Houston and parts of Kansas. The parade will begin at 2 p.m. The Ride to the Wall is an annual event with thousands of riders converging at the Vietnam Memorial Wall in Washington, D.C. Local riders from the South Plains wanted to duplicate this event in Plainview to honor those who fought and were lost in the conflict.

The memorial ceremony will include an honor guard, National Anthem, invocation, Medal of Honor recipient (to be announced later) as keynote speaker, laying of memorial wreathes, military fly-over, and a veterans music festival by Michael Martin.

For more information contact Brian Thomas, director of the Convention and Visitors Bureau, at 296-7431.

they don't vaccinate their cats.

"Cats roam more than dogs and they fight," McCasland said, adding that cats are very likely to get into a scrap with a skunk or raccoon that has rabies.

If a family has reason to believe their pet has been exposed to rabies, they should quarantine the animal for 10 days, McCasland said. That can be accomplished as simply as penning it in the backyard and only allowing an adult to check on it.

The Hughes family feels very fortunate they were able to catch the kitten acting in a peculiar manner. If the kitten had not come up to the glass door, and had gone out behind the barn and died - they would not have known until Tracy showed a symptom. Then it would have been too late.

McCasland said if a victim truly has been exposed to rabies, once the treatment is begun it has to be completed, whether or not the victim reacts to the vaccine.

The Hugheses have had to destroy all of their pets, including a German shepherd that was new to the family.

W.C. "ROSIE" DEATON

Their many old and young friends will miss Rosie Deaton, and we all extend our sincere sympathy to his wife, Valta, and other survivors. It seems such a short time since there was a fire in their house. The Deatons were married in Matador in 1967, and he had worked in the area as a cowboy on most ranches in the area. He was a Veteran of World War II. "Home at last, Rosie."

I value having had Miss Bessie L. Medlin as a high school English Teacher. A niece's description of joy at the Pond on her farm prompted me to find the story of "Walden's Pond." She goes in the cool of the day and sits beside her pond on the farm to observe wildlife in action, or at rest. One evening as she relaxed there a Heron, "came and lit on the highline pole beside me. And he just sat there. Some scissortails were 'dive-bombing him and he would duck his long neck, but he would not move...two nights, an owl landed on a pole just above, and began his strange circular head movements and hunting sounds...no deer has come to eat at my feeder, but I still have hope. We may have to get new corn. The catfish are always eager to eat. They stick their mouths and whiskers out of the water." It is her therapy at day's end. I pulled down my old Literature and Life Book Three textbook, to look for Walden. Lo and Behold I didn't find 'him.' Only Henry David Thoreau who spent a year in a cabin in the woods near Walden's Pond to see how many of life's "necessities" were really necessary to living a full life.

Obituaries

W.C. "Rosie" Deaton

Graveside rites for W.C. "Rosie" Deaton, 90, of Matador were held at 10:00 a.m. Friday, August 3, at the Roaring Springs Cemetery in Roaring Springs, Texas. Officiating was Michael Crowley, minister of the Matador Church of Christ. Interment was under the direction of Seigler Funeral Home of Matador.

Mr. Deaton died Wednesday, August 1, at Covenant Medical Center in Lubbock.

He was born October 3, 1910, at Procter, Texas. He moved to Guthrie, Texas in 1913. He graduated from high school in Dickens, Texas, and was the last surviving member of the first footbal team at Dickens High School.

He had worked as a cowboy on a number of area ranches, including the Pitchfork, Triangle, and Matador Ranches, and later on the Mounce Ranch and Musselman Ranch.

He was a veteran of World War II, and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Matador. He was married to the former Valta Nipp on January 30, 1967, at Matador.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Jack Williams of Matador; one daughter, Dorothy Lester of Matador; one brother, Wendell Deaton of San Marcos, TX. He is also survived by seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were: Bill Ratz, Chig Gwinn, Scotty Scott, Ray Bumpuss, Charlie Layton, and Harold Parks.

In Memory of W.C. "Rosie" Deaton

As I stood and watched the old cowboys gathering, they stood back in the shade like a bunch of wild cattle. When the time came they moved all at once. Some stooped, some limped, nearly all were bow-legged. They came and stood in pain as Mike Crowley read over their friend. Everything Mr. Crowley said was good, and true.

This is to you "Rosie," whom we'll never forget in our lifetime.

Farm and Ranch News

Farm Service Agency News

by Debbie Shaw, CED

The Motley County Farm Service Agency announces that Motley County has been approved for Emergency Haying and Grazing of CRP Acreage.

The payment reduction is 25% of the annual rental payment per acre times the number of acres actually grazed or hayed. The acreage may be grazed or hayed until September 30, 2001.

GRAZING CRP

NRCS will provide a grazing plan that provides an acceptable stocking rate in animal units.

CRP participants who do not own or lease livestock may rent or lease the grazing privilege to an eligible livestock producer located in an approved county.

HAYING CRP

The CRP participant must agree to leave at least 50 percent of each field or contiguous fields unhayed for wildlife.

Only livestock operations located within an approved county are eligible for emergency haying of CRP acreage. CRP participants with acreage in an approved county may lease haying privileges to any livestock producer located in an approved county.

Grazing and haying the same acreage is prohibited.

For more information concerning this program, please contact the Motley County FSA Office at 347-2263.

County Agent's Report

by Lonnie Jensechke - Motley County Extension Agent

STOCKPILED BERMUDA AND NATIVE PASTURE

Oklahoma workers grazed bermuda grass (B) and tallgrass native pasture (N) in late August, ceased grazing, fertilized B with 50 lb. N/acre, and then grazed both forages with dry, pregnant cows from late October through late January. Supplements were provided at 2 lb/day of either 25% protein (B) or 38% protein (N). There was no difference between forages in change of cow weight or body condition. Today feed and forage costs for 100 days were $41.39 for B and $40.15 for N. A full feed of hay would have cost $71.88. Of course, if it doesn't rain in the early fall, there'll be nothing to stockpile.

FACTORS AFFECTING SALE PRICE OF BULLS

South Carolina researchers analyzed prices paid for Angus and Simmental at their state bull test from 1986-1998. The most statistically significant factors affecting price, in order of decreasing importance, were: for Angus, birthweight EPD, weight-per-day-of-age, and hip height; and for Simmental, birthweight EPD, off-test weight, and total maternal EPD (which combines weaning weight EPD and milk EPD). Instead of using weight-per-day of-age or off-test weight, more accurate selection could have been made using yearling weight EPD. Also, Simmental calculate a calving ease EPD, which is more accurate in reducing dystocia than birthweight EPD. Arkansas workers evaluated prices paid for Charolais bulls in 1998-99. Buyers averaged paying $20.60 for every 10 lb. difference in adjusted weaning weight, $209 for polled over horned, $135 for every difference of 1 lb. ADG, and $349 for 2-yr-olds over yearlings.

SELECTED SIRES ON MARBLING EPD

Florida workers used Angus sires that were either near breed average in EPD for weight and milk traits or were highest in the breed in marbling EPD (and had accuracy values over .5). Marbling sires were selected without considering other traits. Progeny did not differ in birth weight, weaning weight, carcass weight, yield grade, or tenderness. But high-marbling sires progeny had significantly larger rib-eyes (11.5 sq. in vs. 11.1) and higher marbling scores (Small 37 vs Small 10).

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC ON REDISTRICTING PROCESS AND PUBLIC HEARING

To: All Interested Parties and Citizens of Motley County:

The County of Motley has contracted with South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) to handle the Redistricting process in Motley County. Redistricting involves the process of implementing a change in a voting standard, practice, or procedure. As a result of the changes in population in the 2000 Census, the County is required to redraw their precinct boundaries to consider population shifts and most importantly to provide equal access to the electoral process to persons on account of race, color, language, and minority status in accordance with the Voting Rights Act of 1965. At a County Commissioner's Meeting on July 23, the Commissioners met to discuss the boundaries developed by SPAG and the Commissioners made their recommendations.

At this time, Motley County invites citizens to view the proposed county precinct maps developed by SPAG at the County Courthouse and to provide any comments to Judge Laverna Price or the County Commissioners of Motley County. The maps will be available for review on weekdays until Thursday, August 9, from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Further, a public hearing is scheduled on Friday, August 10, at 10:00 a.m., at the County Courthouse to allow the public an opportunity to comment regarding the Redistricting process or the proposed boundaries. The proposed agenda for the meeting will include a general overview of SPAG, the role of SPAG, definition of pre-clearance, factors considered in developing precinct lines, and an overview of the proposed map.

All such comments will be considered by the County of Motley and submitted to South Plains Association of Governments. After the citizen participation process, the maps will be submitted to the Department of Justice (DOJ) for final approval.
