Hearing Set March 27 For Oil Operators

All Fields Where Proration Orders Expire April First Included

AUSTIN (AP)—The railroad commission Monday set a hearing for March 27 in Austin of all operators in Texas oil fields where proration orders expire April 1.

R. D. Parker, supervisor of the oil and gas division, said virtually all fields were affected save East Texas and Conroe.

Local operators said the existing proration order for the Howard-Glasscock county field would expire April 1 and that this field, therefore, would be included among those upon which hearings will be had beginning March 27.

NEW PORTRAIT OF FIRST LADY

banker? Not merely by law. For laws can not be written and enforced which will automatically produce a banking system worthy of popular confidence. The laws can at best declare certain minimum standards. Beyond the laws there must be bankers whose code is higher than these laws.

The great value of Mr. Aldrich's action is that it signifies the beginning of a change of heart and mind within the banking community. It ruptures that silence and smug tolerance and that tendency to stand together which is the vice of so many professions, the banking profession included. It is, therefore, an essential step in the rebuilding of that confidence which has been so drastically shattered. For it offers to the public tangible evidence that reforms have not merely to be imposed upon a reluctant banking community, but that reforms will find active support in that community.

Thus there is a prospect that out of all this trouble we may get not only a reconstructed banking system, and a reform of banking policies, but regenerate bankers whom the public can and will entrust with the operation of the new system. Mr. Aldrich has, of course, merely opened up that prospect. The future of banking reform, and the state of the public mind about it, will be greatly influenced by the manner in which Mr. Aldrich's statement is received in Wall street and in other financial centers.

Local Couple Describe Escape From California Earthquake

Mr. and Mrs. J. Barney Whisenant of this city who left last Tuesday for a business trip to Long Beach sent a letter via air mail to Mrs. W. A. Ricker telling of their narrow escape in the California earthquake.

They were accompanied to California by Mr. Whisenant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whisenant, of Duncan, Okla., and were staying in the home of a brother, Gilbert Whisenant. The house was located in the highlands and was not damaged.

Mrs. Whisenant writes as follows: "We had been to Los Angeles for the day and were coming home. About halfway, all of a sudden, it seemed like all of our tires were flat. Barney began stopping the car, and about that time we heard a crash and a brick building fell down just behind us. From there on, we saw damage everywhere.

"We had no lights or gas for a while after we got to Long Beach. Everybody built campfires and stayed outside. We felt a few small quakes, off and on, throughout the night. None of the family have been to town because they saw no use in taking any chances. We happened to have plenty of food on hand.

"You'll see from the papers that it is bad, and they say it is just as bad downtown as the papers say it is."

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Whisenant will probably return sometime next week.

Steers Open Grid Training

Rattle of basketball against backboards faded into the dull plunk of cleated feet against footballs here Monday when Obie Bristow called his grid candidates for a bit of spring training.

Bristow had been trotting a large group of huskies about the high school grounds. But Monday he was to put his men down to serious business.

With prospects for the approaching season none too bright and with the news that Sweetwater has never in truth ceased practice since the close of the past season, Bristow will be bent on heaping work on his candidates' heads.

The brightest thing in prospect for the Steers is the report new uniforms will be meted out to the traveling squad. After dickered around for suggestions on color and design, Bristow says in characteristic style, "I dunno, but I reckon they'll be black and gold."

The mentor has indicated he will devote the major portion to football, letting track go by board except for the little time he will spend with a few promising candidates. Cy Reid and Livian Harris will likely be the whole show in track for this city.

The Jury System

A district court down East spent almost a whole day last week picking a jury to try two men who had admitted the crime with which they were charged and a newspaper reporter covering the case makes the point that all this delay was caused because old King John gave in to the barons at Runnymede 713 years ago and made the right of trial by jury an imperishable — and unshakable — part of our judicial system.

Thirty-three prospective jurors were examined. The pay for their presence was $3 each, a total of $99 spent before even the case came to trial.

The district attorney was quoted as saying that it seemed utterly foolishness to spend several hours picking a jury to try men who had admitted their crime, but that's the way the system works. It takes only one man on a jury to bring in a wrong verdict, he said, and that is why state and defense both take great care in selecting jurors.

Some states have simplified the jury system to a degree, but most of them still cling to the archaic rules laid down in English common law. The wheels of justice might be made to move faster, without doing violence to state or defense, if a few legal corners could be cut and a few miles of red tape unwound from the statutes.

In cases where guilty pleas are entered, the judge should be given power to receive plea and assess penalty. In certain cases, no doubt, it would serve the ends of justice just as well if the verdict was left up to a nine-three division of the jury, instead of the unanimous requirement now effective.

Mrs. Hubert Rutherford is conversing nicely.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Banker Rises to the Occasion

The much debated question as to whether the Congressional exposure of Mr. Mitchell's conduct of the National City Bank was in the public interest can now be answered clearly in the affirmative. It is, of course, true that the exposure accelerated the banking crisis by adding to the popular distrust of banks. But the exposure has proved to be a good thing, not merely in the general sense that wrongs should always be exposed whatever the consequences, but in the specific sense that the way has been opened to a more thoroughgoing reconstruction. The crisis has not only made it possible for the Administration to reform the banking system drastically, but it has produced or at least brought into the open, a recognition of evils and a desire for reform within the banking community itself.

The first evidence of this change of heart and of mind was the resignation of Mr. Mitchell, the selection of Mr. Perkins, and the decision of the National City Bank to divorce itself from its security affiliate. Even more significant is the statement of the new chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, Mr. Winthrop W. Aldrich, who has announced that the Chase bank will not only divorce its security affiliate, but that he favors far-reaching measures designed to sever the "intimate connection" which now exists "between commercial banking and investment banking."

Mr. Aldrich wishes to go further than the Glass bill in separating "the business of commercial banking from that of dealing in securities." He wishes to prevent any house which sells securities from being a bank of deposit or from being represented in the management of any bank of deposit. His purpose, it appears is to make as clear a separation as is possible between the function of the banker, whose first duty is to protect deposits, and the function of the

Gas, Gas All The Time, Can't Eat Or Sleep

Stomach Gas So Bad Hurts Heart, Simple Compound Brings Quick Relief

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. Jac. Miller.

Adlerika has been on the market for over 30 years. Its success is based on the fact that it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary pills and laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing bringing out old poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system, and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches.

You can easily prove to yourself the complete action and effectiveness that you get from Adlerika by trying this simple test. Take a dose of the medicine you have been using for your bowels. Wait until your bowels have moved and then take a regular dose of Adlerika. You will be astonished at the additional amounts of old poisonous matter that are brought out.

What Doctors Say
Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika reduces bacteria and colonic bacilli."
Dr. A. J. Lancaster: "In gastro-intestinal diseases (where good bowel action is needed) Adlerika has no equal."
J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."
Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel! Just One spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Be sure to get genuine.

FREE SAMPLE mailed on request. Address Adlerika, Dept. 315, 56, S. Washburn St., St. Paul, Minn. Sold in Big Spring by Gansingham-Phillips, Drugists, and J. D. Biles, Druggist.

Tinkling bells, and the clink of silver

In a Chinese fairy story one reads about the Emperor's garden, where rare and colorful plants from all over the world were constantly flowering.

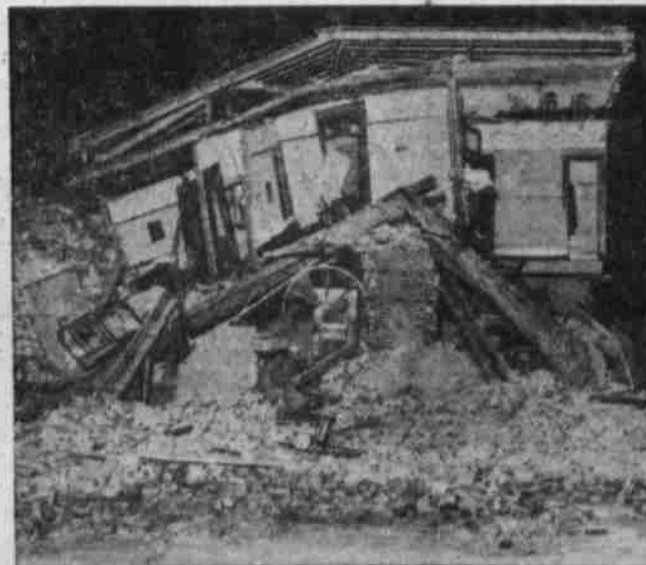

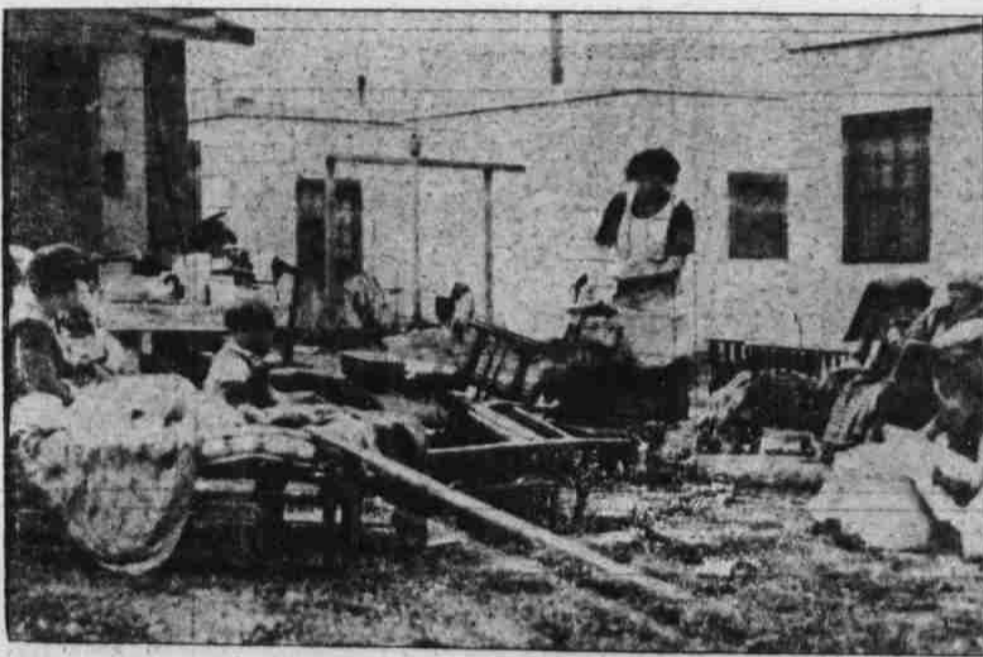

It was the duty of the honorable head gardener to watch for the most beautiful of the blooms and tie to the stem of each a little silver bell. As the flowers swayed in the breeze, the bells tinkled with sweet music. Thus the courtiers and the distinguished visitors, strolling along the paths, were sure to see the finest specimens.

This was the Emperor's way of saying "I have something extra fine that you should see: look this way and you'll be repaid."

In the advertising columns of this paper are similar messages addressed to YOU. Read them and you will hear the clink of silver. Our merchants are saying, "We have some extra values. We have some especially reasonable articles that you should see. Come to our store and you will be repaid."

You have nothing to lose when you accept this invitation. In fact, when you fail to do so, you're missing some of the very news for which you bought this paper!

Associated Press Pictures Depict Destruction By 'Quakes

The Associated Press telephotos on this page present a graphic account of the ruin wrought in Southern California Friday night and early Saturday by severe earth shocks. They were received by The Herald Sunday by air mail. Top left, is a picture from Los Angeles providing a graphic view of property destruction. The debris of the demolished buildings is shown strewn over the main street in Compton, Calif., where more than a dozen persons were killed. Top right, a view taken at dawn Saturday in Compton. Second row, left, some of the victims of the earthquake at Long Beach show gathered around a Salvation Army coffee boiler in the city hall park—seeking some slight comfort after tramping through the debris in search of missing relatives or friends. Second row, center, a map showing the location of some of the many California cities where more than 130 were killed and huge property damage was caused by a series of earthquakes. The arrow indicates area in and around Long Beach where deaths, injuries and property damage were heaviest. Second row, right: Many buildings were left in the condition of the mortuary shown in this picture. Third row, left: A group of earthquake refugees, their homes destroyed, are shown preparing meals in the open air. Fear of tumbling timbers drove many from their homes. Third row, right: An automobile wrecked from bricks which fell from a downtown Los Angeles building. The building whose bricks showered this car formerly was occupied by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Bottom row, left: A building at Central and Stanton streets, Los Angeles, at the end of the series of shocks, is shown in the left view. One person was killed and 13 injured in this structure. The right hand view in this group shows a partially wrecked building at Compton and Seville streets, occupied by a Building and Loan Association. Two pictures taken at the scene in Compton, Calif., are shown in the lower right hand corner. Left is a demolished hotel in Compton, from which seven persons escaped as it was torn apart by earthquakes. Right: searchers working desperately in recovering the dead from the Stockwell building in Compton, shaken down by the series of earthquakes.

One I Love

By Laura Lee Brockman

CHAPTER VI

Wide-eyed, staring into the darkness, Janet Hill told herself for the hundredth time that there must be an explanation of what had happened. Of course there was an explanation!

She couldn't sleep. What was the use of trying? She lay there in bed telling herself over and over it was all a mistake. Mollie hadn't meant any harm. She had only seen someone else and thought it was Rolf. Of course it was.

She supposed it were true! She could still hear Mollie Lambert's slightly nasal voice, "passing the Liberty—well musical comedy. Why do you think I saw Rolf Carlyle—and you should have seen the girl with him—"

Mollie had gone on to describe this girl. Lâche, she said. Wearing a fur coat that looked expensive. Pretty too, if you liked that type. Rolf of a brunette. She and thought was any 20th century girl Rolf (that is, the man) and other couple. The other girl wore a blue velvet evening wrap and all of them were laughing and talking.

But didn't that prove the thing was ridiculous? How could Rolf be in a crowd like that? How could he?

Janet refused to consider it. She wouldn't even think about nothing. Rolf had said he was such a busy man. She was making herself miserable over going to the wrestling matches— with another man. And that was what he had done.

Janet turned. She dug one hand beneath the pillow for the handkerchiefs that already had become a ball of moisture. The tears came and there was no stopping them.

"I ought to get up and bathe my eyes," she told herself. "They'll be red in the morning. I ought to stop thinking and go to sleep."

But then there was the whole thing to battle over again. She had seen Rolf so little lately. She had been lonely all evening.

"I won't cry!" Janet insisted.

She turned again on the pillow. Life without Rolf? She couldn't imagine that. Every plan she had made, every thought for the future centered about Rolf. The moving, the things they had talked about, the little home! How could any of that come true without Rolf?

She lay staring at the dark ceiling, wondering about all this. Then with a shudder she turned and her face in her pillow. Janet had been sure she could

Should she call Rolf? "I will," Janet decided. "I don't hear from him in four o'clock. Maybe he isn't in the office. I don't want to make him think anything's wrong."

The call came at exactly 2:15. There was no one else in the office. Janet was so happy that for a moment she could scarcely speak. A feeling of warmth surged over her.

"Rolf!" (His new of course that it was Rolf but she wanted to say his name.) "Yes, I've been busy. Oh, all sorts of things. Yes, I remembered you said you'd call. Tonight? Well, but listen, Rolf, I want to see you. There's something I want to talk to you about."

He wasn't sure he could make it. The words didn't reach her very clearly.

"Oh but it's important! I— please, Rolf!"

Why couldn't she tell him over the telephone? Janet said that wouldn't do. That feeling of panic clutched her heart again.

"Listen, Rolf, if you've something else to do tonight meet me when you leave the office. At 5:30. It's really so important. I can't tell you now but I'll explain then. I only want to talk to you. Yes, at Tracy's corner. Yes, I'll be there. At 5:30."

The hours of the afternoon wore away. They were slow hours that dragged. At 30 minutes after five Janet put away her work. She hadn't finished. That did not matter. If Mr. Hamilton said anything she'd tell him she wasn't feeling well. It would be true enough.

Mr. Hamilton had nothing to say on the subject. Janet said "good night" and disappeared. She paused before the dressing room mirror to see that her hat was straight and noticed how pale she looked. That wouldn't do. She didn't want Rolf to know she had worried. She could hear Mollie laughing at the whole thing.

Opening her vanity case she took out the tiny rough puff and rubbed it against her cheeks. Bright color flamed back at her. A little too bright. Janet removed some of it, added powder and fastened the collar of her coat. Then she left the building.

She walked swiftly even though she knew she was early. She

February Passenger Business Of American Airways Doubles 1932

CHICAGO, Ill.—American Airways, the nation's largest airline, carried 3,396 passengers in February, an increase of 75 per cent over February of last year. L. D. Seymour, president announced today. Passengers of air express carried by the company showed the tremendous gain of upward of 200 per cent over February of last year.

In making the announcement Mr. Seymour said that indications were the company would break all records in passenger volume this year. A ninety percent increase was registered in air express by American Airways in January and forty percent increase in passengers over the previous January.

Mr. Seymour pointed out that the company was coordinating its schedules to provide even better service to the public and the addition of new lines recently had greatly broadened its territory. Considerable new equipment of the finest and most modern type has been added. Flying more than 25,000 miles daily American Airways now reaches into 74 major American cities extending from Canada to Mexico and from Coast to Coast.

He pointed out that the company is anticipating a greatly increased amount of business through Air Express during the year. This form of transportation is now being used by hundreds of manufacturers, he said, and new firms were being added daily.

General Air Express, an interline air express service operated by seven leading airlines, of which American Airways is the backbone, has now made it possible, he said, for merchants and manufacturers to ship their products from almost any point in the United States to any other point within twenty-four hours time.

Foreign Crude

Output Higher, Domestic Lower

AUSTIN, (UP)—Slight increases within the past two years in the total world output of crude petroleum have been made by foreign countries while the United States has shown a slight decrease. Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer of the University of Texas bureau of business research reports.

In 1931 the United States produced nearly 63 per cent of its total world output but in 1932 the United States portion of the world output had decreased to less than 61 per cent, Johnson said.

Russia, the second largest oil producing country, showed a decrease in 1932, the report said, but increases were made in several important oil producing countries. Production in Venezuela and Colombia, which together have produced almost as much as Russia, has been recent, the report explained.

In 1910, Texas produced only 10 per cent of the world output as compared with 25 per cent in 1931. In 1931, the report said, Texas produced 40 per cent of the total output of the United States and 24.3 per cent of the world output, which has declined slightly, each year since 1929.

COSDEN OIL CO. Notice Of Sale

Pursuant to a decree of the District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware, made on February 10, 1933, in the suit pending therein entitled "Merriek Drilling Company, Complainant, vs. Cosden Oil Co., Defendant, In Equity No. 634" and filed therein on February 10, 1933, which decree was confirmed and adopted by a decree of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas on February 24, 1933, in the ancillary suit pending therein entitled "Merriek Drilling Company, Complainant, vs. Cosden Oil Co., Defendant, In Equity No. 634" and filed therein on February 24, 1933, the undersigned, George N. Moore, appointed Special Master in and by said decree, will offer for sale by public auction to the highest bidder or bidders at the main entrance of the principal office building at the refinery plant of said Cosden Oil Co., located in the County of Howard and State of Texas, on the twenty-eighth day of March, 1933, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the properties and assets described in Schedule A annexed to said decree of said District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware and by said decree directed to be sold.

Said decree of said District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court and a copy thereof is annexed as Schedule A to said decree of said District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court. Said decree of said District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, respectively, and copies thereof may also be inspected on request at the office of the Receivers hereinafter mentioned in the Electric Building, in the City of Fort Worth, State of Texas. Reference is hereby made to said decrees for the terms and conditions of the sale and to said Schedule A for a more particular description of the properties and assets to be sold. Further information regarding said properties and assets will be furnished by said Receivers pursuant to the provision of Article Seventeenth of said decree of said District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware. Wherever hereinafter used in this notice the words "the Decree" shall mean said decree of said District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware and the words "the Ancillary Court" shall mean the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas. Wherever hereinafter used in this notice the words "the Special Master" shall mean the Special Master for the time being acting pursuant to the Decree and any subsequent decrees of said District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas.

A brief description of the properties and assets to be sold is as follows: (1) All the oil refinery properties of said Cosden Oil Co. located in said Big Spring, County of Howard, State of Texas, subject as in the Decree and in said Schedule A stated. (2) All the stocks, bonds and obligations of subsidiary corporations of said Cosden Oil Co. owned by it, subject as in the Decree and in said Schedule A stated. (3) All other properties and assets of every kind and character and wherever situated, tangible and intangible, of said Cosden Oil Co. and of Hugh M. Morris and George N. Moore, as Receivers of Cosden Oil Co., appointed and continued by the Court, hereinafter called the Receivers, and of George N. Moore and Henry Zweifel, as Ancillary Receivers appointed and continued by the Ancillary Court, hereinafter called the Ancillary Receivers, including all real estate, leases, leaseholds and leasehold estates wherever situated and all interests therein and all machinery, tools, equipment, manufactured and refined products, materials and supplies, raw or in process of manufacture, implements, cash, merchandise, capital stocks, bonds, notes, bills and accounts receivable, rights, patents, claims, demands, choses in action, good-will, trade names, and all other property of whatsoever kind and character in the possession of the Receivers and of the Ancillary Receivers, and all the property, right, title and interest of the Receivers and of the Ancillary Receivers which have been acquired by them since November 8, 1930, and still remain in their possession or under their control, and all other property to which said Cosden Oil Co. or the Receivers or the Ancillary Receivers may be entitled; all such properties and assets to be sold subject to the liens and encumbrances in the Decree and in said Schedule A described and referred to insofar as applicable thereto.

The Decree provides in part, in substance, as follows: 1. The properties and assets to be sold shall be sold together and as a whole as those of a going concern and going business without division into parcels for the purpose either of offering for sale or of deposited received from the successful bidder shall be applied (but without interest) on account of the purchase price of the properties and assets sold, unless otherwise ordered by the Court. In case any bidder whose bid is accepted shall fail to make good his bid by making the payments provided for in the Decree, or after confirmation by the Court shall fail or refuse to complete the sale and pay the balance of the purchase price and carry out the terms of the Decree, the Court in connection therewith, such bidder shall be liable for all loss and expense occasioned thereby but only to the extent of his deposit and the Court shall hold his deposit as security therefor.

If the Court or Ancillary Court shall deny an application to compel the sale made by any accepted bidder, the deposit made by him shall thereupon be returned to such bidder, but without interest. The bid or bids of the successful bidder or bidders may be assigned, and the assignee or assignees, and thereupon the execution and delivery by him or them of the instrument of assignment thereof, shall be binding on all the obligations of the successful bidder or bidders; provided, however, that an assignment of such bid or bids shall not be binding on the assignee or assignees thereof shall by such instrument of assignment assume all the obligations of such successful bidder or bidders under the Decree. On the day of the conclusion of the sale, or if such time be Sunday or a legal holiday, then on the next succeeding day, not Sunday or a legal holiday, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the Special Master shall report the result of the sale to the Court, in said City of Fort Worth, for such order, judgments or decrees as the Court be deemed proper or advisable. The Special Master shall, on or before said day, file a copy of the report of the sale with the Clerk of the Ancillary Court, or as the Ancillary Court may otherwise direct. Said suit is set for further hearing before the Court at the time and place set forth in said report to the Court without any further notice to any party, at which time and place the Court will also hear any application or motion for such order, judgment or decree as the Court may deem proper.

10. Upon confirmation of the sale by the Court and by the Ancillary Court, the purchaser shall make such payment or payments or further payment or further payments on account of the purchase price as may be required by the Court at the time or at any other time to which such hearing may be adjourned or postponed to approve or confirm the sale, in cash or otherwise, to the extent of the purchase price further or other sales, if any, as may be by the Court be deemed advisable, and to make such other orders in the premises upon the bids or on all said properties and assets to be sold to the Court by the Special Master or otherwise as it may deem proper.

11. Upon confirmation of the sale by the Court and by the Ancillary Court, the purchaser shall make such payment or payments or further payment or further payments on account of the purchase price as may be required by the Court at the time or at any other time to which such hearing may be adjourned or postponed to approve or confirm the sale, in cash or otherwise, to the extent of the purchase price further or other sales, if any, as may be by the Court be deemed advisable, and to make such other orders in the premises upon the bids or on all said properties and assets to be sold to the Court by the Special Master or otherwise as it may deem proper.

12. In the event that the purchaser, after demand made by the Special Master, fails to pay any of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims which under the provisions of said Article Twenty-seventh he is or may be required to pay to the firm or corporation entitled to the payment thereof, upon twenty (20) days notice to the purchaser, may petition the Court to have his right to take possession of the properties and assets sold to the purchaser as provided in the Decree; and the Court, subject to its further order, shall enter a lien and charge upon the properties and assets sold, and every part and parcel thereof, and upon the properties and assets into which the properties and assets sold shall be converted by the purchaser, which lien and charge shall be paramount to the right of the purchaser therein, as security for the payment of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims and for the performance of the contracts described or referred to in the foregoing paragraph (a); subject, however, to the provisions of the Decree provided. Subject as aforesaid, the Court has reserved the right, power and jurisdiction to retake and resell, at the cost and expense of the purchaser, any or all of the properties and assets that shall have been sold under the Decree and the properties and assets which may be converted by the purchaser, in case the purchaser shall fail to pay any of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims within twenty (20) days after service upon him of an order of the Court requiring him to make payment thereof, or that he refuse to fully perform and carry out the obligation of any of said contracts directed by the Decree to be assumed.

13. The purchaser, whether or not he has exercised or used any rights hereunder, shall have the right, within six months after the delivery to him as aforesaid of the deed or other instrument of conveyance, assignment and transfer of said properties and assets by the Special Master, or within such additional period as the Court may hereafter by its order or decree permit, from time to time to elect not to assume or adopt any contract or lease made by said Cosden Oil Co. under the Decree or contracts, if any, which shall have been affirmed by the Receivers or the Ancillary Receivers and the liens and encumbrances specified in Article Fifteenth of the Decree insofar as they affect the properties and assets decreed to be sold in the manner provided in Article Twenty-sixth of the Decree. The purchaser shall also have the right to elect not to take or accept any part of said properties and assets by signifying his election in that respect in the manner prescribed in said Article Twenty-sixth of the Decree. No such election shall diminish or affect the purchase price to be paid by the purchaser.

Upon confirmation of the sale by the Court and by the Ancillary Court, the purchaser shall make such payment or payments or further payment or further payments on account of the purchase price as may be required by the Court at the time or at any other time to which such hearing may be adjourned or postponed to approve or confirm the sale, in cash or otherwise, to the extent of the purchase price further or other sales, if any, as may be by the Court be deemed advisable, and to make such other orders in the premises upon the bids or on all said properties and assets to be sold to the Court by the Special Master or otherwise as it may deem proper.

12. In the event that the purchaser, after demand made by the Special Master, fails to pay any of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims which under the provisions of said Article Twenty-seventh he is or may be required to pay to the firm or corporation entitled to the payment thereof, upon twenty (20) days notice to the purchaser, may petition the Court to have his right to take possession of the properties and assets sold to the purchaser as provided in the Decree; and the Court, subject to its further order, shall enter a lien and charge upon the properties and assets sold, and every part and parcel thereof, and upon the properties and assets into which the properties and assets sold shall be converted by the purchaser, which lien and charge shall be paramount to the right of the purchaser therein, as security for the payment of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims and for the performance of the contracts described or referred to in the foregoing paragraph (a); subject, however, to the provisions of the Decree provided. Subject as aforesaid, the Court has reserved the right, power and jurisdiction to retake and resell, at the cost and expense of the purchaser, any or all of the properties and assets that shall have been sold under the Decree and the properties and assets which may be converted by the purchaser, in case the purchaser shall fail to pay any of the indebtedness, liabilities, obligations and claims within twenty (20) days after service upon him of an order of the Court requiring him to make payment thereof, or that he refuse to fully perform and carry out the obligation of any of said contracts directed by the Decree to be assumed.

13. The purchaser, whether or not he has exercised or used any rights hereunder, shall have the right, within six months after the delivery to him as aforesaid of the deed or other instrument of conveyance, assignment and transfer of said properties and assets by the Special Master, or within such additional period as the Court may hereafter by its order or decree permit, from time to time to elect not to assume or adopt any contract or lease made by said Cosden Oil Co. under the Decree or contracts, if any, which shall have been affirmed by the Receivers or the Ancillary Receivers and the liens and encumbrances specified in Article Fifteenth of the Decree insofar as they affect the properties and assets decreed to be sold in the manner provided in Article Twenty-sixth of the Decree. The purchaser shall also have the right to elect not to take or accept any part of said properties and assets by signifying his election in that respect in the manner prescribed in said Article Twenty-sixth of the Decree. No such election shall diminish or affect the purchase price to be paid by the purchaser.

deposited received from the successful bidder shall be applied (but without interest) on account of the purchase price of the properties and assets sold, unless otherwise ordered by the Court. In case any bidder whose bid is accepted shall fail to make good his bid by making the payments provided for in the Decree, or after confirmation by the Court shall fail or refuse to complete the sale and pay the balance of the purchase price and carry out the terms of the Decree, the Court in connection therewith, such bidder shall be liable for all loss and expense occasioned thereby but only to the extent of his deposit and the Court shall hold his deposit as security therefor.

If the Court or Ancillary Court shall deny an application to compel the sale made by any accepted bidder, the deposit made by him shall thereupon be returned to such bidder, but without interest. The bid or bids of the successful bidder or bidders may be assigned, and the assignee or assignees, and thereupon the execution and delivery by him or them of the instrument of assignment thereof, shall be binding on all the obligations of the successful bidder or bidders; provided, however, that an assignment of such bid or bids shall not be binding on the assignee or assignees thereof shall by such instrument of assignment assume all the obligations of such successful bidder or bidders under the Decree. On the day of the conclusion of the sale, or if such time be Sunday or a legal holiday, then on the next succeeding day, not Sunday or a legal holiday, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the Special Master shall report the result of the sale to the Court, in said City of Fort Worth, for such order, judgments or decrees as the Court be deemed proper or advisable. The Special Master shall, on or before said day, file a copy of the report of the sale with the Clerk of the Ancillary Court, or as the Ancillary Court may otherwise direct. Said suit is set for further hearing before the Court at the time and place set forth in said report to the Court without any further notice to any party, at which time and place the Court will also hear any application or motion for such order, judgment or decree as the Court may deem proper.

10. Upon confirmation of the sale by the Court and by the Ancillary Court, the purchaser shall make such payment or payments or further payment or further payments on account of the purchase price as may be required by the Court at the time or at any other time to which such hearing may be adjourned or postponed to approve or confirm the sale, in cash or otherwise, to the extent of the purchase price further or other sales, if any, as may be by the Court be deemed advisable, and to make such other orders in the premises upon the bids or on all said properties and assets to be sold to the Court by the Special Master or otherwise as it may deem proper.

Examples Of Charity Racketeering Come Under Observation Here

Paraphrasing the quotation of the immortal French patriot: "Charity, charity, what crimes are committed in thy name." Depression-stricken America has learned from her lesson of the past three years that "all that glitters is not gold." Now, forced to care for starving neighbors, she has learned still another lesson. All that begs is not poverty-stricken. Racketeers, who ply their trade by playing on the sympathies of a Christian-spirited public, have multiplied with the amazing rapidity of bacteria. It is this class that daily does more harm to the cause of honest charity than a selfish citizenry.

Consider our own experience. This writer recently was privileged to talk to an old resident of this city, who recalled one of many similar incidents happening on the streets of Big Spring every day.

Bald he, "A certain man was ranting and tearing around the other day because our charity organization was selling Red Cross flour. I pinned him down and he admitted nobody had been sold any as far as he knew."

"But they want to make us work for it," he told me. "Ain't that selling it? Well, I ain't putting out nothing for it!"

And this resident, who has seen more than one depression, scored a bullseye hit. "Buddy," he said, "you just ain't hungry enough."

Into an office walks an apparently able bodied man. He has a pamphlet printed in blazing red ink. He shoves it before an attendant who reads that he may pay what he wishes to help the unfortunate person, who, by the way, is deaf and dumb. Weary of such dealings, the attendant shoves the pamphlet back and turns away.

As the would be panhandler goes out, he mutters barely audible curses for the man who was too smart for his racket.

Another walks boldly up to a counter and motions for a pad on which to write. He asks for an odd job to earn the price of a meal. Being told where he can get work for a meal, he shows a disappointed face and turns in the opposite direction.

Ministers are targets for charity racketeers. However, their order to help any and all petitioners was somewhat dampened recently when two families made the rounds for two days telling each pastor they were members of that particular sect. When bared, they were discovered to have a stock of food which would last for weeks.

Public officials probably earn their pay by wisely dealing with charity problems alone. One who doubts this statement should attempt a fifteen minute interview with either the city manager or county judge. He will be interrupted from three to four times by applicants for charity. He will discover that a large per cent are able bodied men who are unwilling to give any service in return for what aid they might receive. Housewives have their troubles. Their instinctive invitation to "come in" when a knock is heard has been abandoned for cautious approach to the door. Unkempt and unshaven, some men ask for a handout. Seldom does he want to work, and if he does, housewives have learned it is best to have the work done before the meal is served.

Each one has a different game, but all to the same end—that of beating a sympathetic public. But thrown with this army of deserving racketeers are the deserving. It is for them that the work must go on. A thousand wrongs must be endured for one right.

Each citizen is doing his best to deal with problems about him. Those in charge of our charity organizations should be nonetheless firm or eager to find the truth because they spend other people's money.

Victim Of Accident Reported Improving

Howard Bunker, painfully injured Monday evening when the car in which he and three companions were riding overturned five miles east of here, was reported resting well at his home Saturday afternoon.

Bunker sustained a fractured collar bone and several broken ribs. Two other occupants of the car were only bruised.

Ban On 'One-Eyed' Cars Not Lifted By Repeal Of Statute

Repeal of the headlight law by the Texas legislature the past week will not affect the law against "one-eyed" cars on the highways at night, Tax Collector Loy Acuff said Saturday.

Present status of the law no longer requires that a certificate from a light testing station be presented to the tax collector before licenses may be paid.

Official stations were so lax in testing that it was deemed advisable to repeal the law since other laws provide for proper lights before vehicles will be allowed on the highways after dark. Heretofore official testing stations received twenty-five cents from each car inspected, plus what repairs bill was incurred.

WHIRLIGIG

(Continued From Page 1) have been laid before President Roosevelt. Only if he can bring about close Anglo-American co-operation is there hope for untangling world affairs. 1933 may appear on the gravestones of all the programs made since the war in building for international peace.

Radio—The forgotten radio companies, the small ones, are slated to draw a new deal of their own. During the campaign friction with the big companies was not rare. A revamping of the Radio Commission suggested itself automatically.

Col. Guernsey Cross, official secretary to Mr. Roosevelt while Governor of New York, is in line to be appointed.

Denmark—Ruth Bryan Owen would rather be Senator from Florida than minister to Denmark. Richard Crane of Westover, Mass., is in prospect to make Copenhagen his home.

Canada—Warren Delano Robbins, Chief of Protocols under Secretary Stimson would like to be an ambassador. Canada would suit but his close relationship to the President may be the way. Raymond T. Baker, former Director of the Mint, is likely to go instead.

Un-Worried—If President Roosevelt is unduly concerned over the financial crisis he has the best poker face in America. To hear him talk one might imagine he did not have a trouble on earth.

Roosevelt—Friends of the new President are very deliberately avoiding putting him in the role of a national hero at this early date. Nevertheless they make it evident that they regard him as a Man of Destiny. They point to his courage, his clarity, his directness and his brevity. One admirer characterized F. D. as the "Smiling Mussolini of America."

Congress—After the new Congress frames the emergency banking legislation it will recess for two or three weeks while more permanent legislation is being drafted.

Triumph—Mrs. Curtis Dall already has scored a personal triumph in Washington. She will become better known to the country through a series of radio talks for which she is to receive real money. Maybe as much as $3,000 each. Possibly more. Mrs. Roosevelt received $5,000.

In the meantime Mrs. Dall has become a tremendously popular young woman in capital social circles in her own right.

Spirit—No matter how hard the blows or how fast they come, the financial crisis proved once more that Americans are naturally cheerful.

"Oh, well, if we starve, we all starve together," or "Everyone else is in the same fix, why worry?" are the usual comments around Washington.

NEW YORK

Federal Reserve

Authorities of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York were largely responsible for the plan to issue a new type of Federal Reserve currency instead of taking care of emergency needs with Clearing House scrip. The new plan offers better control of the currency and permits the Federal Reserve system to perform its central banking function much more effectively than earlier projects.

You can also paste it in your hat that the Federal Reserve banks—not the Federal Government—will handle any guarantee of bank deposits that are authorized. This shift of responsibility would accomplish a double purpose. It would be an effective method of inducing State banks to become members of the Federal Reserve system; and thereby submit to national authority. It would also avert any possible damage to the government credit.

Policy

The Administration policy now looks definitely headed toward a sorting out of banks according to their individual merits. Sound banks will gradually be permitted to resume their normal functions; partly solvent banks will be opened with strict limitations; and unsound banks will simply not be allowed to reopen at all. The latter will not be permitted to fall open for some time at least, but they will be kept from cluttering up the banking structure. Informed New York is all in favor of the idea.

Cover

It would be no surprise if the Glass-Steagall Bill were amended to permit issuance of Federal Reserve notes against a 20 to 25 per cent minimum gold cover as against the present 40 per cent requirement. This is locally rated a sound substitute for dollar devaluation—which is not in prospect. The local view is that a 60 per cent gold cover would do no good under present conditions and that we might as well have the advantages of the smaller base. The main consideration—anchoring the dollar to a stable foundation—will still be fulfilled.

CZAR OF NEW YORK FINANCE

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York is shown signing bills passed by the legislature granting him unprecedented dictatorial power over the gigantic banking system of New York state as a result of the financial situation. Given virtually complete sway over banks and insurance companies, Governor Lehman moved swiftly to provide the people with a medium of exchange. His secretary, Joseph Canavan, is at left. (Associated Press Photo)

European reactions to this lowering of gold cover requirements are expected to cheapen the dollar in terms of foreign currency. This would be considered an advantage rather than a drawback in debt and tariff negotiations.

Financing

This same reduction of gold cover requirements would loosen up the assets of the Federal Reserve banks to the point where they would be in a position to handle the Treasury's March 15th financing requirements by themselves if necessary. Such a solution would save Mr. Woodin a lot of headaches.

Gold

You can get even money in the financial district that France will abandon the gold basis within a week or so. Authorities do not believe she can stand the strain of maintaining full gold payments unaided. The betting is strong that the United States will not return to the gold basis in international transactions for a long time to come.

Boomerang

The strenuous British efforts to keep the pound down in terms of foreign exchange have put England on the frying-pan. Inside advices indicate that the bulk of the British stabilization fund has been trapped in a short position with no way of getting out except by taking heavy losses. Britain would have a hard time covering if delivery were demanded.

Germany

Many people here and abroad don't understand why Hindenburg has yielded more and more to Hitler, in recent weeks. The following explanation comes from a member of his official family. The bolsheroic torch-light procession of Nazis on the night of January 30th which filled for hours past the Chancellery where Hindenburg and Hitler took the salute (from widely separated windows) affected the old President tremendously. In the words of the informant, "Hindenburg broke down completely."

He has never been the same since. His stern vigor seems to have vanished suddenly. He will sign anything which has secretary Meisner submit to him. Meisner has done more to smooth Hitler's way than all other intermediaries combined.

Conquest

Japan is moving behind the scenes as rapidly as in the field. On the first of this month some two hundred leaders met in Tokyo and organized the Pan Asiatic Association. This is to be the cornerstone of an attempt to formulate an Asiatic League of Nations. It will be based on racial and cultural affinities. Japan anticipates having the role of guiding power. She has studied Britain's place of influence at Geneva. Friendly overtures to gain China's co-operation are well under way. China knows now how little besides a few kind words and a glass of water the west can give her. Japan offers power.

A world race conflict presently is forbidden by Orientalists.

TEACHERS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) settle matters of discipline among themselves. If teachers do not settle these problems, some outsider will make reforms which might be entirely unsatisfactory, he pointed out. He charged the teachers to work in harmony.

As rifts appear, and they have appeared in the school system of the state those of the teaching profession should draw closer together in unity and "sit quiet in the boat," he said.

"Those who believe that the battle for public instruction for all alike has been fought and won are mistaken," the speaker concluded. "A fight for preservation of the schools is just as important now as the fight for their founding ever was. The teachers are the ones who do the most."

House Breakers Run Away When Resident Returns From Church

House breakers, engaged in plundering the home of J. W. Cook, 1201 Johnson street, Sunday evening were frightened away before they could take their loot when Mr. Cook returned from church.

Groceries and other materials were heaped in a pile in the kitchen when Mr. Cook came home. Only a few minor articles were missing, a check showed.

Burglars, forcing entrance into the second hand store belonging to a Mr. Sneed, made off with a set of snobbish tools, two portable phonographs, and a suit of clothes, officers said Monday after investigation.

The building was broken into sometime Sunday evening.

Two Injured In Sunday Crash

M. C. Stuling and L. R. McIntosh were painfully injured Sunday evening when cars which they were driving crashed head on at the West Eight intersection on Scurry street.

Both were released from a local hospital soon after being given emergency treatment.

Stuling was bound north and McIntosh south when the two met. The right side of the Ford roadster which McIntosh was driving was demolished.
