Easter Egg Hunt Delayed But Not For Long

donations were received from Mae Thompson, Debra Scott, Lila Meador,

The third annual Motley County Easter egg hunt was delayed from Saturday until Sunday afternoon because of rain, but it went off very well according to members of the Tribune staff who directed the event. Original plans were to have the hunt in the city park at Matador but rain and flooded areas forced a change in plans. On Sunday the hunt was moved to lots owned by Bundy Campbell west of the football field.

Cash donations from local businesses and residents mounted to $78.75, enough to buy plenty of candy eggs and prizes for the kids. Hard boiled egg donations were received from Mae Thompson, Debra Scott, Lila Meador, John Burnett and Mary Renfro.

Cash donations were given by Jo Ann Burkes, Dorothy Webb, Ronnie's Dept. Store, Josephine Hamilton, Melinda's T-Shirt Shop, Freddie Welling, The Windmill, Matador Variety, The Dugout, Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, Bob Stanley Pharmacy, Everett Calk, Phil Green, Matador Motor and Imp. Company, First State Bank and Sheriff Alton Marshall.

Additional thanks goes to Billy's Grocery for selling the candy eggs at a discount, Mayor Kirby Campbell and the city council for originally offering use of the city park, to Bundy Campbelli for use of his land, and to Mrs. Lewis Bostick for helping find a new location for the hunt.

Thanks also goes to Roy and Frances Hobbs for their help in setting up the event, to Jackie Bearden, Brenda Osborn, Dena and Andy Renfro for assisting in hiding the eggs and to the Matador Tribune Staff for their efforts.

Naturally a special thanks goes to all the moms and dads who brought their children and helped them enjoy a safe and happy Easter egg hunt.

An announcement of the date Mr. Tyler is coming will be made next week.

Recorded At Texas Tech Holden formulated the concept of the Southwest Collection in 1949, it was not until 1955 that the repository became a reality. Since then it has become one of the nation's major archival repositories for ranch history. In addition to the Texas Tech archives, the repository houses 2500 oral history tapes, 1000 maps, 100,000 photographs, 400 periodical titles, 200 reels of movie film, 400,000 feet of microfilm, 17,000 volumes of Western Americana, and over ten million leaves of manuscripts in 750 collections. The Matador Tribune, Murrah said, is one of the many regional newspapers the Collection has recorded on microfilm, and the only one it had ever subscribed to. The Matador Ranch records are the most complete in the SWC, Murrah said, and he gives John Stevens the credit for this. Wednesday afternoon, April 15 in the church parlor.

Mrs. John Hamilton, president, opened the program with prayer and presided at a short business session. A prelude to the program was a piano solo by Mrs. Jameson, "Were You There?"

In introducing the program, Mrs. Woodruff stated she and Mrs. Jameson were not advocating the Womens Liberation movement, but the story of the First Easter told by a man named Luke, an educated Greek, credited the opposite sex with perceiving at once what his own sex at first was too stubborn to believe, that Christ had arisen. It was the women who found the tomb empty and male chauvinism nearly kept the world from getting the greatest message ever

Garden Club Program Features State Parks Spaces Still Available

Exploring Texas Parks and Wildlife was the subject of a film presented for Matador Garden Club, Monday afternoon, by Ronnie Vandiver, game warden with the Game Management Office. The meeting was at the Plainview Savings and Loan Community Room, with Mrs. J. D. Craven as leader, presenting the speaker.

Introduction by Mr. Vandiver, and a film narration disclosed there are 108 parks and park sites across the state, with outdoor recreation areas and State parks forming 65 of the number. The most publicized and best known in this area is Palo Duro State Park. The state historical areas encompass historical parks, sites and structures, such as forts, battlegrounds and missions. Other functions of State parks is to preserve natural resources and areas which have outstanding natural or scenic qualities. Thus far, more than 8,000 acres or some seven percent of the state park system has been designated as part of natural areas, accordingto the April publication of Texas Parks and Wildlife. The magazine article also tells of the origin of state parks, "It all started in 1916 when Mrs. I. E. Neff, mother of Texas Governor Pat Neff, left six acres to the state for religious, educational, fraternal and political purposes." In 1923 the Texas Legislature created a State Parks Board and Mrs. Neff's legacy became part of what is now Mother Neff State Park in Coryell County."

The colorful slides were of the most outstanding of the parks, in all areas of the state and included many beautiful flora and fauna in nature's setting. In addition to natural beauty of the areas, overnight camping facilities are available in many of the narks.

camping racinties are available in many of the parks.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments of cookies, cake, coffee and spiced tea were served. Roses and irises decorated the serving table. Roll call was answered by naming a beauty spot in this area. It was noted that bluebonnets are growing in profusion, in town, along the highways and at the cemetery. Flowering shrubs, roses and other early plants are also in bloom in local yards. Treasured Friends

By Lance Jameson

When friends share laughter and keep their sense of humor, a bond of friendship is cemented for life. Such a friendship is shared by Claude Harp and Junior Campbell.

Have you ever had the occasion to see someone stumble and fall when carrying a stack of books, grocery bago or a rack of clothes? Maybe you have seen someone stump a too on a crack in a sidewalk or mis-judge the location of the curb when stepping off or up on a sidewalk. When you saw the items flying through the air, the wild waving of arms and the final fall, it reminded you of a clown's performance. The first reaction the person has after the impact of the fall is to see who saw this unplanned comedy skit.

As a rule, the only people who laugh cannot be seen by the unfortunate victim. This was not the case when Claude Harp was reminiscing recently about such a performance by Junior Campbell. He had a ring-side seat as he and Junior were playing a game of golf in Plainview.

There was a small tree about the size of a four inch post that was blocking the tee-off to the golf green and hole. Claude hit a perfect drive around the tree and the

A Second Glance

Seems like everyone is having a hard time these days. Even the frogs don't have any money.

It seems there was a frog who went into the bank to secure a loan.

"I need to borrow $5000," said the frog.
"What have you for collateral?" asked the loan officer, a winsome young lass named Patty Wack.
"Just these few odds and ends here in my sack. Let's see, here's an apple, an old umbrella, a couple of little china statues, two ashtrays, a deck of playing cards, a vase, some coasters, and a cigarette lighter," answered the poor, penniless amphibian.

"Well, I certainly can't approve a loan on that mess," cried the surprised lady, "You'll have to speak to the bank president." Taking the destitute jumper into the president's office, she explained to her boss the problem. The president, having dealt with hopeless cases before, looked through the knapsack, and with a disgusted cry, ordered 'If's knickknacks, Patty Wack! Give the frog a loan!"

Senior Adults Form New Club

A large group of senior adults attended the luncheon last Wednesday, April 15, at the First Baptist Church, although rainy weather discouraged a few from attending, who had planned to do so. Musical entertainment was provided by Blake Northam, Music and Youth Director of the church. Mrs. Bill Dunning welcomed the guests, and Rev. Gary Hillyard, pastor, brought a short message of inspiration.

"We hope to make this a regular monthly affair," Rev. Hillyard said, and invited suggestions for a name to designate the gathering as an organization. The name "Keen-Agers" was selected. Date for the next meeting will be announced later, and everyone in the community is cordially invited to participate. Approximately 55 persons attended the charter meeting.

All to often I'm atraid. In our hurry up world we find that there are never enough hours in a day or days in a week.

Before we moved to Matador from Floydada, my wife and I both worked at very physically tring jobs. And after work we tried to fit in house work, yard work, family time... and time with each other. We had so many responsibilities. It seemed like we fit everything in pretty well on a day to day basis but after awhile we noticed we were barely reading our Bibles or praying. It seems we put our time with the Lord off until the last thing every day. So many times we would wait until all the responsibilities of the day were taken care of and at the end of a very tiring day try to read a little scripture and pray...if we weren't too tired.

My wife commented one time how turned around and pray...if we weren't too tired.

My wife commented one time how turned around everything seemed in her life. She knew that her time with the Lord was the most important part of the day and yet she always had so much to do that it came last. How turned around we were! The best part of the day went to a job and then to meal preparation and the other duties of a household. And if there was a few "extra" minutes we would try to get in some Bible study.

Of course, we were diffiful to Church services a our home Church but othing can make you as individual Bible tudy and prayer...one-to-ne fellowship with the lord. With so many esponsibilities we felt our time with the Lord was expendable. It wasn't! As a matter of fact, the busier we became, the more we needed that fellowship with God to keep us strong. The only thing in this world that can keep us truly strong is the bread of life!

Then one day I was reading in the Gospel of Luke, chapter 10:38-42. It was the story of how Jesus came to visit one day in the home of Mary and Martha. It tells that Martha was busy rushing around serving, preparing food, hurrying from this responsibility. After awhile she looked around to find her sister Mary and saw her sitting at the feet of Jesus just listening to him.

Martha must have been pretty angry! Here she was rushing around meeting the needs of everyone and Mary is just sitting and listening to Jesus. Martha asked the Lord if He didn't care that she was doing all the work alone and then said, "Bid her therefore that she help me."

her therefore that she help me."
But Jesus answered her "Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things; Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her."
This really ministered to me. I had been a Martha instead of Mary. I took care of responsibilities before ministering to the Lord.

of my day and I minister to Him before anything else. I learned a good lesson. Just like Martha, Jesus comes to my house and the worldly responsibilities can wait until after I sit at his feet and listen to what he wants to minister to me.

Old-Timers Around Here

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story ran in the February 1981 issue of Southwest Airlines Magazine.)

The old jailhouse just off the square in the small West Texas town of Matador has been there for as long as anybody can remember. It's a small, boxlike building made of stone. It has a hanging do or, inactive but ominous, inside. It isn't certain whether anybody ever was hanged there, although old-timers there doubt it.

T'spect," said Cooper Osborn, called Coop, "if they was gonna hang anybody in those days they'd have used a tree."

Well, there is a story about a guy they were going to hang. He was a cowboy from the Matador Ranch who'd killed a cook with a meat cleaver. They brought him in, locked him up, and waited for the circuit judge to come through. It seemed kind of stupid, the guy just sitting there in the jail, doing nothing. So they started letting him out from time to time to help some of the settlers dig wells. One day well and he never came back.

"Ha!" said Coop, "I guess he just kept on a-goin'."

guess he just kept on agoin".

Coop is an old-timer
around here who's tall, thin, and has some problems with a crippled hand caused by a stroke a few years ago. When he smiles or laughs his whole face lights up, sometimes mischievously. But he gets around pretty well. One day not long ago he was resting out of the sun in D.
L. Damron's saddle shop
on the square.

each of you who have come to our aid in the aftermath of the fire which destroyed our Plains Dormitory.

No one is ever prepared for a tragedy such as this. However, we realize just how fortunate we really are. Every girl and staff member who lived in that dorm is alive and well today, and we have friends like you who have been so

on the square.

Damron, with gray, closely cropped hair, sat behind a machine, working on a pair of shoes. H. L. Dirickson, tall and thin, with his hat pulled down tight over his forehead, almost touching the top of his glasses, was over at Red's service station.

They all were old cowboys who's worked on the Matador Ranch in the early 1900s.

"Yeah, I reckon I been in that jail over there before," said Coop. "Sometimes, not often, you know, some of us would come in off the ranch to go a-dancin'. Might take to a little monshine and get a little drunk. If we caused trouble, they'd toss us in until we sobered up." "One time," he laughs, "we has two cases of monshine in back of this old car. We stopped at this place and the night watchman seen it. He asked where I thought I was a-goin'. I told him I was a-goin' where I pleased. So he up and hit me upside the head with his six-shooter, busting my head open. I said, 'Well, you plumb killed me.' They called the sheriff, who come and put me in jail for a spell. But that didn't hurt near as much as that six-shooter upside the head. Girlstown, a great big THANK YOU for all of the nice things you have done for us. Your support will help make it possible for us to continue to help the girls who need us. Sincerely,
Marshall W. Cooper

Then he'd go out, get drunk, get into a fight. Only thing, I don't ever remember him winning a fight, but he sure had fun trying."

"Oh, I worked out on the Matadors for a while, then got my own place. Those were good times, something I'll never forget. But I can't honestly say I'd like to do it all again, even if I'm glad I did it. It was hard work. Ride, ride, ride, rounding up cattle in the winter and branding them in the summer."

Dirickson, walking tall, left Red's station, got into the pickup he wished he'd had in 1923, and drove off. Coop sat in Damron's saddle shop for a while, then thought about the jailhouse. He grinned broadly and said, "Yeah, I can just see that o' boy that was in jail for murder. I guess he got out and just kept a-goin."

"Reckon he could have used one of them pickups," said Damron. They both started laughing.

The greatest woma, athlete of the first half of the 20th century was born and buried in Beaumont. Mildred "Babe" Didrickson Zaharias, already honored with a Memorial hall of fame in Beaumont, a 1981 Commemorative postage stamp, and a 1978 television movie, now will be represented in a two-year exhibit honoring 125 prominent Texas women.

The Babe, who died of cancer in 1956, was the first American to win the British Women's Amateur Golf tournament--also winning the U.S. Women's Open Golf tournament three times, set three world records in the 1932 Olympic Games. She won nearly 90 golf tournaments in America and abroad. She also qualified for the Los Angeles Men's Open just to prove she was good enough.

Fertilizer & Chemical Application

Liquid & Dry

County Agent's Corral

By Jerry Cummins

Weeds are a problem in backyard gardens just as they are in large fields of vegetables, grain sorghum or cotton. They compete with your desirable plants for water, soil nutrients, sunlight and air. In some cases, they may harbor many different kinds of insects as well as diseases. What can you do about weeds in your garden? Believe it or not, hand hoeing is probably still the best answer. It is inexpensive, quite selective, accurate, effective and, for some, even emjoyable. Some local gardeners feel a great deal of emotional satisfaction from leaning on a hoe handle and viewing a clean row where weeds stood only minutes before. Remember, weeds should be relatively small when hoed or pulled from your garden since damage may occur to vegetables if weeds are allowed to get too big before being removed.

keeping light away from seedlings and by providing a mechanical barrier to their emergence. Mulches work best against weeds and grass that come up from seed each year. Any weeds that do come through the mulch can be spotted easily and removed from the garden. Good mulching material in this area are compost, straw, leaves, hay, sawdust, wood shavings, bark, newspaper and plastic sheeting. Organic mulches are, by far, the most common but remember that they should not be applied too early in the spring. If you mulch a cold garden soil, it warms up slower, delaying the maturity of most vegetables. One benefit when using organic mulches is that at the end of the season, they can be turned under to improve the physical condition of your garden soil.

Black plastic film has been used as a garden mulch for a long time. It is probably the most popular synthetic material available. It will result in a warmer soil early in the season and will greatly reduce the weed population. However, if weeds are not a problem, it is an excellent mulching material. Several sheets of newspaper laid flat over the top of the garden row will also help control most weeds. However, like organic mulches, newspaper can cause delayed maturity of many garden vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers and squash if applied too early. A third method which I feel has limited value for garden weed control is herbicide. While such chemicals work well in single crop situations, it's difficult to use them in a garden where a wide assortment of vegetables may occupy a fairly small space. I personally feel that herbicides are difficult to use in most garden situations and should not be used by the average home gardner in Motley County.

However, is you are determined to use chemicals for garden weed control, remember that some herbicides may work with some crops but may damage others. Be sure to follow the exact application rate and use only the correct amount. If you have a relatively large garden, it's possible to use herbicides satisfactorily by grouping vegetables for their tolerance to certain chemicals and diligently following all label precautions. However, your best bet for satisfactory weed control is to sharpen your trusty hoe and to practice the age-old and time-tested art of mulching.

Enough on this subject. Next time I'll discuss a real mystery to most gardeners - how to tell when to water.
