

FIRE THREATENS RANCH HEADQUARTERS

HISTORIC Matador Ranch headquarters late Friday was threatened by a grass fire that spread over a wide area, destroying approximately two miles of fence along the highways U.S. 70 and State 70 which cross at the west edge of town, and burned a small outbuilding at headquarters. Damage extended over 2 sections of pasture land.

Plains area. Winds reaching 60 miles per hour in gusts fanned blazes in Paducah, Memphis, Big Spring, as well as the major range fire here. The fire at Paducah, resulting in an estimated $1 million loss, broke out shortly after noon as sparks from an arcing transformer ignited loaded cotton trailers parked on a lot near the Panhandle Compress yards in northeast Paducah. The flames quickly spread to baled cotton and dry grass and for a time threatened the entire northeast section of Paducah. Two houses were completely destroyed in the fire, and a number of others were damaged, as well as some damage to the new housing project in the same area. Firemen from a number of surrounding towns battled the stubborn blaze. Six firemen and two trucks from Matador assisted with the battle, until called back to Matador to fight the pasture

The fire had reportedly been started about 4:00 p.m. Friday from a car which had blown out a tire and the tire caught fire from friction. Spreading rapidly through the dry pasture land southward, the flames threatened the W. A. Smith residence southwest of the city limits. The rapidly moving flames jumped highway 70 South, and for a time threatened the J. D. Spray residence and barns. The fire continued an easterly course south of the

D. P. Keith and Glenn Woodruff residences. The Matador firemen at Paducah were summoned to return home, and firemen from Floydada, Turkey and Dickens assisted in extinguishing the stubborn blaze. Ranchers estimated that about two sections of pasture land were burned, as well as more than two miles of fence. No dollar value of damages was estimated.

Observers felt extremely lucky that no buildings were lost in the Matador fire, other than the small outbuilding, where coal had been stored. For a time, however, it appeared that there was no way to save the buildings in the path of the fire. Interfering with the flow of emergency traffic to a fire is a violation of traffic laws, and the fire department has stated that complaints will be filed in the future if the situation continues to be a problem.

were reported during the course of the fire. Residents are reminded by fire department officials to please stay out of the way of volunteer firemen going to a fire, as well as the firetrucks. Interfering with the flow of emergency traffic to a fire is a violation of traffic laws, and the fire department has stated that complaints will be filed in the future if the situation continues to be a problem.

Residents with citizens band radios are also asked to please refrain from using Channel 11 during the time of a fire. "Matador fire trucks are equipped with CB radios and use this channel," a spokesman for the fire department said. "Heavy traffic on Channel 11 became a problem Friday and firemen had difficulty communicating with the fire trucks."

PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Public opinion continues to be one of the most formidable forces affecting the behavior of our society. Its strong fingers shape the clay images of the future's destiny.

If a speaker requires more than 15 minutes to expound his subject, he will surely bore his listeners, begin repeating himself and bury his thoughts under the dry silt of verbosity.

Being poor has some agreeable aspects, especially if it is generally known. As an example I have never been approached to lend a sum of money that would flatter a well-paid working man.

Dignity is difficult to retain when trying to ignore the condition of a soiled jacket. No convincing excuse exists for filth.

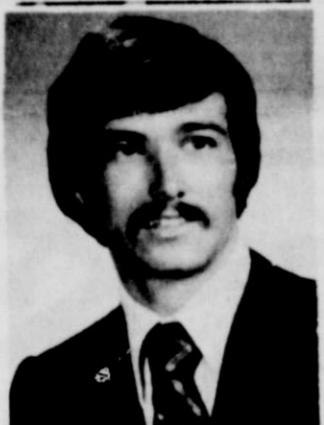

Gray hair is not a badge of discretion, nor does it signify any particular rational station on life's highway. It merely certifies that an individual has lived a given number of years but makes no claims on wisdom. The folly tree bears fruit in all seasons.

Once in San Francisco on a Sunday night I passed a liquor store and bar that was open in the same block where throngs of church-goers gathered for services. One man stood at the bar and drank his whiskey while the bar-keeper polished glasses. The crowds on the sidewalk passed without apparent notice. Other temptations offer continuous service and there is little cause to place particular restrictions on alcohol. (Tribune files, Feb. 16, 1956)

Robison's half-hour, syndicated TV show, "James Robison Presents," is carried over Channel 11, Lubbock, each Sunday at 8:30 a.m. At 32, Robison has preached his simple gospel message face-to-face to some six million people. Since he began preaching at the age of 18, he has preached in more than 400 crusades. During 1975 he conducted some 20 crusades. A few of the cities and areas where crusades were held were Mobile, Alabama; Anderson, South Carolina; Greenville, South Carolina; Crossville, Tennessee; Salisbury, North Carolina; Lawton, Oklahoma; Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Atlanta, Georgia; and McAllen, Texas.

We attempt to teach behavior patterns which will make each one a responsible member of society. We welcome public evaluation of our efforts during Texas Public Schools Week." Eternity Is God's Time, Speaker Says

"It takes time to know ourselves and it takes time and eternity to know our infinite Christ," Rev. Leonard Sims, pastor of the First Baptist Church told a congregation Sunday night at the United Methodist Church. Occasion was the Union Church service held annually by Matador Boy Scouts and other youth of the community sponsored by the Matador Lions Club. Rev. Sims spoke on the subject of "Time," and quoted from Philippians in several instances.

"God does not hurry in His development of our Christian life... He is working for eternity... the Christian life matures and becomes fruitful by the principle of growth. Therefore much time is involved." Reading from Phil. 1:6, "Being confident of this one thing, that He which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ," the pastor added, "And dear friends, I promise you it will take that long, for God is working for eternity."

Rangers Honor Tanner Laine

Tanner Laine, veteran Avallanche-Journal reporter, has been selected for honorary life membership in the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame at Waco. Presentation of the award by Capt. Walter A. "Bob" Werner follows Laine's service as a member of the statewide advisory committee which planned the 150th anniversary celebration of the Texas Rangers in 1973. An outgrowth of the celebration was the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame located on the banks of the Brazos River near old Fort Fisher and site of the Homer Garrison Museum. The hall of fame contains exhibits that review the more than 150 years of Texas Ranger history.

"It's a real honor to me to be cast among such a fine group of men as the Texas Rangers," Laine said. "I have been proud of the Texas Rangers since my parents gave me a little cap pistol when I was about 5 years old and on it was 'Texas Rangers.'"

"After reviewing the service record of the Rangers, I find it a good one. I am convinced there always will be Texas Rangers and that their ability will always be 'one riot, one Ranger.'"

The history of the Texas Rangers dates back to 1823 when Stephen F. Austin hired 10 men to "range" over a wide area to protect his colonies from Indians. In 1935, when the Texas Department of Public Safety was created, the Texas Rangers became a part of it, Laine said. There are six companies of Texas Rangers today with a force of 62 Rangers. Company headquarters are at Houston, Dallas, Lubbock, Corpus Christi, Midland and Waco.

"It's still true," Laine said. "Rangers can track like an Indian, ride like a cowhand and fight like the devil."

Fellowships Are Awarded For Lung Disease Study

The American Lung Association (ALA) has awarded five additional Christmas Seal Fellowships of $10,000 each for training pulmonary specialists in Texas in 1976, according to R. M. Stanley, Chairman of West Texas Area Advisory Council of the American Lung Association of Texas.

Doctors who have completed their internship and residency training are eligible for the two years advanced study required to become specialists in lung diseases. Contributions to the Christmas Seal Campaign help alleviate the critical shortage of chest specialists in Texas by making possible the annual awards for post-graduate training of doctors who are interested primarily in careers in teaching and research to control and prevent lung disease. Doctors John R. Burk and Eliot J. Huxley were awarded fellowship renewals to complete their second year of training under the sponsorship of Dr. Alan K. Pierce, Professor of Medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas. Dr. William T. Schnarr, whose fellowship was renewed for his second year of training, will be at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, sponsored by Dr. W. G. Johanson, Jr., Associate Professor of Medicine. The ALA first-year fellowships were awarded by Dr. Jungi H. Higuchi, who will train at UT-San Antonio, sponsored by Dr. Johanson, and Dr. Joseph E. Burks, who will train at the UT Medical Branch at Galveston, sponsored by Dr. W. J. DeGroot, Professor of Medicine, Pulmonary Division.

The first year of pulmonary fellowship provides the clinical training necessary to be a consultant in respiratory disease as well as a teacher of medical students, house staff, practicing physicians, and paramedical personnel. The first year is primarily To Back Page

Fire Ravaged Cotton Wagons

These smoldering wrecks were the result of a "hot bale" that caught fire in the gin yard and spread its hot destruction through whipping winds and sand to all sides of Paducah. One fire unit which came from Matador, Tex., to assist in quelling the blaze, was recalled for an emergency 1,000 acre range fire near that West Texas town.

Furman Vinsons Return From Philadelphia Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Furman Vinson returned last week from a trip to Philadelphia, Pa., where Mr. Vinson attended the Conference of Grand Masters of North America. Grand Officers from the United States, Canada and Mexico, as well as visitors from many foreign countries were in attendance.

While there a tour of the beautifully restored Independence Hall and its surrounding area was visited. Points of interest, other than the Hall itself, were the Liberty Bell, housed in the new pavilion immediately in front of the State House and in a park that extends for three blocks to the north, making for a beautiful setting; Carpenters Hall, where the First Continental Congress met in September, 1774; Christ Church, where

George Washington and Martha, William Penn, Betsy Ross and many other famous people worshipped in the formative years of the country; and Betsy Ross House which has been restored by historical and patriotic groups.

Also the Philadelphia Exchange, the outside of which is all that has been restored and is not tourable; the First Bank of the United States, which is probably the oldest bank in the U.S.; the second Bank of the U.S. which is now housing Independence Parks portrait gallery; the Free Quaker Meeting House built in 1783, the oldest meeting house in Philadelphia and still in use; Elfreths Alley, the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the nation; and the U.S. Mint, not far from Independence Park.

A guided tour of the Masonic Temple of Pennsylvania was a highlight of the trip. The Temple contains a museum and library of Masonic history, including George Washington's Masonic apron and other memorabilia. This temple is one of the wonders of the Masonic World. It has seven Lodge Halls, the finest example of Corinthian, Ionic, Italian, Renaissance, Norman, Gothic, Oriental and Egyptian styles, and was dedicated September 26, 1872.

"With this Bicentennial year," said Mrs. Vinson, "Philadelphia has gone 'all out' to make visitors welcome, with a beautiful Tourist Information building to guide and make more interesting the Independence Park area, routing with signs on sidewalks just where each attraction is located. It is heartily recommended to visit this area during this year if at all possible, for it is thrilling to sit in pews where the great have worshipped, where they formed the Declaration of Independence, where they have walked and too, where some are buried."

Marilee Martin, Motley High School graduate, who attends WTC, is a member of the women's basketball team. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis King returned home Monday from Ruston, La., where they visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Green and baby daughter, Jolie Clare.

TEXAS TALK

Ever grow a gallon of gasoline?

Lots of folks are taking a hard look at that very thing. Well... not gasoline... but fuels distilled from grain. Not unlike the legendary white lightning... a 200 proof product that will give nearly anything a start. There's no secret about the ability of alcohol to power combustion engines (the four cycle engine was invented for it) but the cost spread between alcohol and gasoline has made such uses obsolete for several years.
