Horse Owners Seek to Protect Animals

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A West Texan, moving to a country where artichokes are grown, said of the vegetable, "They are good if you like bear grass."

★
The tragedy of not being needed is written on the face of the rusting railroads, with grass and weeds growing between the rails and decaying cars in the rail yards. The arteries are hardening in a once mighty empire that first hauled America to the scene of greatness.

★
Cemeteries always invoke a melancholy thought for the tears that have fallen on the soil and the pain that broken hearts have carried away.

★
Time employs the instrument of decay on the things men build, and patiently erodes the strength, the beauty and dignity. Old hotels bask in the thick juices of forgotten glory. Empty rooms echo the ghost voices of unknown happiness and tragedy; of tears and laughter and doors closing forever on each departing guest.

★
So much is being written and said on the problem of man-made pollution that the world seems to have forgotten that nature was the original offender and is still in business. Rivers are choked with natural debris of trees, brush and grass, and stagnant holes continue to produce the green scum of contaminated water. Decaying animals must perish beneath the sun and leave the stench that penetrates the air. These things are not new or man-made; they have been a part of nature since the world began.

★
Modern weather prophets never mention sun dogs in their forecasts, but my mother used them in predicting a change in the weather. The red glow at sunset is often reflected through clouds. If two were visible she would declare that the change was two days away. She was not infallible but neither is the US Weather Service.

The practice of tipping waiters, bell boys, cab drivers and others who render service, always leaves doubt. You never know whether you are later considered tight-fisted or stupid.

FREE TELEPHONE CALL—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wright, left, new residents of Matador, last week received a free long distance telephone call for ordering the 600th telephone in the city. They also received a free index from M. L. Van Arsdell, Memphis service manager for General Telephone Company. At right is Jim Parks of Matador, combination man for the company, who made the installation.

Telephones Here at 600

DESPITE a blow by the 1970 census report, showing Matador with a loss in population, the number of telephones here has increased. Last week the 600th telephone was installed in Matador in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wright.

According to M. L. Van Arsdell of Memphis, service manager for the General Telephone Company, Matador had 453 telephones in 1960. In 1965 the city had 561 telephones.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright received a free long distance call as a prize for ordering the installation of the 600th telephone in Matador. Mrs. Wright called her mother, Mrs. Frank Gallegly in Buena Vista, Colorado.

Installation of the 600th telephone was made by company combined serviceman Jim Parks, of Matador.

Mr. Wright is the new County Executive Director of Motley County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, replacing Richard Newman who was transferred to Littlefield in the same capacity for the Lamb County ASCS.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and sons, David, 11 and Darrin, 4, have moved here from Claude and are residing in the Leon Smallwood home. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Reeves, longtime residents and former teachers in the Matador schools, have moved to Plainview and are getting settled in their new home at 906 Itasca Road.

District Governor Visits Lions Club

DISTINGUISHED visitor Tuesday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Matador Lions Club, was District Governor Floyd Sackett of Pampa. He was introduced by immediate past president Wayland Moore and given a standing ovation by the membership.

In his address Governor Sackett said "Lionism is commitment." He pointed out that Lionism is designed to provide better life for people and dedicated to service to others. He said that we have seen the dark side of the moon but do not know what is on the dark side of the human heart.

"We still have daring men who will set new goals and men who will realize new dreams..." he declared.

In the conclusion of his address, Governor Sackett stressed the possibility of Lionism improving its image by sending young people to foreign countries and welcoming exchange young people in this country, to provide a better understanding between nations. "We need more dedicated Lions with vision to see what needs to be done," the District Governor declared.

New member welcomed into the club Tuesday was Tom Wright, formerly of Claude, who is now manager of the county ASCS office.

Each member present received a copy of the club's committees for 1971-72, as well as a list of officers and directors.

Vaccinations At Rapid Pace

HUNDREDS of horses have been vaccinated in Motley County this week as horse owners seek protection from Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) which has destroyed 10,000 horses in Old Mexico and swept across the border to kill hundreds of valuable horses in South Texas.

Five states are under tight quarantine as the USDA seeks to bring the epidemic under control. The disease continues to spread. At noon yesterday no report of loss in the South Plains area had been received.

Dr. J. T. Westbrook, Paducah veterinarian, with assistants, has been working almost around the clock in vaccinating horses against VEE. Monday he administered 300 doses, and the same amount Tuesday, while 30 or more trailers loaded with horses awaited his arrival here.

Dr. Westbrook was behind his schedule here Tuesday evening, as horse owners gathered at the former Spears gun location. The night before he had worked until midnight to vaccinate horses in the north area of the county.

Ranchers were reluctant to estimate the number of horses in the county. However, some thought the horse population might be as high as 4000. Veterinarians from other areas have also been administering the vaccine in the county.

The Amarillo Daily News Tuesday said the sickness had been reported in the Texas Panhandle, 1,000 miles from the height of the epidemic in the Rio Grande Valley. Other clinical cases have been found in Louisiana and Oklahoma. Vaccine to combat the fatal sleeping sickness was flown into Lubbock and Amarillo Monday night.

An animal health expert in Dallas, Monday said the USDA knew two years ago, a sleeping sickness epidemic was approaching the United States, but did nothing substantial to stop it or protect U.S. horses.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said Tuesday that Mexican authorities reports are that the disease has affected 779 humans in the past two years but no one had died. No deaths directly attributed to the disease have been recorded in Texas, but dozens have been taken ill.

'STATES' CITIZENS REPORT AT LEGION, AUXILIARY MEET

Citizens of the 1971 Girls State and Boys State from Motley County, presented talks Monday night to their sponsors, the American Legion and Auxiliary. Making reports were Peggy Marrs, Pat Peacock and Bill Barnhill.

Following a covered dish supper, Randall Whitworth presided over the program in the absence of Commander J. M. Thacker. Miss Judy Marrs, a 1968 citizen of Girls State, introduced the speakers.

"The combination of the knowledge gained and the intangible spirit experienced leads to some of the most meaningful answers about your country and yourself you will ever find," Peggy Marrs stated in her address.

"Experience is the best teacher, and Girls State is experience," she continued, "experience in people and experience in law-making."

The feelings of all three citizens were expressed in Miss Marrs' declaration, "As a result of my having been a citizen of Girls State I have grown to a greater love, appreciation, respect and understanding of our form of government, our country, and patriotism that should well up from within us."

Miss Marrs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Marrs. At Girls State she was elected Pre-cinct Chairman of the Federalist Party and was a member of the Senate.

Pat Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peacock of Roaring Springs, was Athletic Director of the Nationalist Party and filled several governor-appointed positions. Peacock said one of the best things about Boys State is that "everyone comes out a winner for an office and responsibility is available to every citizen."

Bill Barnhill was elected to the House of Representatives. In his report he described activities and events of the ten-day session. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnhill.

No August Meeting
The Legion and Auxiliary will not meet in August, in keeping with customary summer procedure of the organizations. They will re-assemble for the September meeting.

ALL IRONS PLAY

SUNDAY TOURNAMENT
There were 11 players in the Men's tournament Sunday: Tommy Edwards, Clyde Gilbert, Alvin Stearns, Louise Barton, Leland O'Neal of Lubbock, Buzz and La Voe Thacker, Howard Edmondson, Marvin Patton, and Bob and Neil Clem.
