Downtown Stroller

Seen at the Officer's Club Luncheon.

One of the friendliest spots in town and especially on Tuesday afternoon is the Officer's Club at the Big Spring Bombardier School when officers wives meet for luncheon and bridge.

Just to make things informal, the girls wear their first and last names printed on small cards in order that everyone can get acquainted, and before you know it, you learn the name of a good many of the 135 members.

One of the newer members, Mrs. R. W. WARREN, was named president of the club Tuesday afternoon by acclamation. She looked very nice in a Hawaiian tan ensemble with brown accessories. Shades of beige and brown ranked as favorites and were very appropriate for the wintery spring afternoon. Mrs. A. M. BURTON, who graciously introduced us to the heads of people, was attired in a pin-striped brown ensemble with aqua marine accessories.

Met Mrs. MARCIA NEILL PATTERSON, NBS songstress who joined her husband here sometime ago. Made a mental note to trail her to the milliner when she buys her next hat. In this case it was an unusual little feather creation that looked sweet perched atop her up-sweep wave.

Mrs. E. R. McGRUDER, nominee for secretary, was lunching with friends in the officer's mess and wore a becoming frock which sported caricatures of black and white horses.

Caught a glimpse of Mrs. STORMY THOMPSON and Mrs. DURWOOD McCRIGHT, local residents, who were afternoon guests at the club. (H.W.)

Bundled feed, lanterns, harnesses and scattered hay formed the setting for the Service Men's Barn dance which was held at the V. F. W. home Tuesday evening under the sponsorship of the USO. Furthering the party motif a miniature cow complete with stall and feed was in one corner of the ballroom.

A green and orange color scheme was used, and refreshments were served from a table laid with a peasant cloth and centered with a ranch water bucket. Punch was served with a matching dipper.

The post orchestra furnished music for the entertainment, and during the floor show a cake walk was held and Cpl. H. C. Sausser and Ruth Gogen were declared winners.

Even Delegates' Freedom Of Speech Hampered By Parley's News Policy

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
HOT SPRING, Va., May 19. (AP)—Some of the newspapermen here to write about the international foot conference say there's another angle to the argument over what many of them contend is a United States government restriction on freedom of the press in limiting their activities.

They raise the question whether freedom of speech by the delegates themselves might not be hampered to some degree.

For instance:

Suppose a delegate of Shifu, a small country represented at the conference, fought unsuccessfully against a decision reached by the larger countries in a committee meeting. How could he make public the position of his nation or what it thought of the decision? Would the delegate, even if he knew how to approach the newsmen, wish to be in the position of complaining at this conference which is supposed to be friendly and cooperative? Or would he, if approached directly by a newsmen asking for his opinion, feel more free to state his case since he was being asked his views and not volunteering them?

The main thing back of the press struggle against restrictions imposed here is the thought that these limitations might be used as a precedent for even stronger or complete restrictions at future conferences among the nations—particularly peace conferences.

Judge Marvin Jones, chairman of the United States delegation and chairman of the conference, has told newsmen he would do "all possible to keep them abreast of action and progress by the conference"—in this way:

At stated times he would—and chairman of the various committees could, too, if they wished—hold press conferences. But newsmen argue that this means they would receive only such information or interpretation as the chairmen wished to give.

What about the other side of the argument?

A member of an important foreign delegation here told newspapermen:

"I like the informality of the conference so far. I hope it will remain informal so that all delegates will feel free, without fear that it may be used against them later, to say what they wish."

Military Needs More Medicos

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—To meet the needs of the army and navy, 11,000 of the nation's physicians must be recruited this year, Dr. James E. Paullin, president-elect of the American Medical Association, said last night.

Dr. Paullin, speaking at the 103rd annual meeting of the Illinois State Medical Society, asserted that although the recruiting of physicians is "slow," he said the quota "must be filled." He expressed hope that this could be accomplished by voluntary enrollment.

The Atlanta physician, who served as a major in the medical corps in the last World war, said that when the quota is filled, the army and navy will have a total of 33,000 doctors, leaving 80,000 to care for the medical needs of 120 million civilians.

Relocation of physicians to serve war industry towns also must be accomplished, Dr. Paullin said. He declared that currently there were 190 "critical" areas in need of 800 doctors.

Bishopric Of West Texas Offered To San Antonio Rector

SAN ANTONIO, May 19. (AP)—The bishopric of the West Texas diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church has been offered to the Rev. Everett H. Jones, native of San Antonio and former newspaperman.

The Rev. Jones, rector of St. Mark's church here, yesterday was chosen on the second ballot to succeed the late Rt. Rev. William T. Capers. The meeting was attended by delegates from 32 of the 45 churches in the diocese, and 25 clergymen of the diocese.

If he accepted the post he would be the fifth bishop to be elected from St. Mark's.

While attending the University of Texas at the Rev. Jones served on the San Antonio Express as a reporter and staff correspondent.

He was named bishop of Honolulu in February, 1942, when he was but 39 years old, one of the youngest men ever elected to the post. He declined the election, however.

Cards Even Series, Turning Brooklyn Back By 7-1 Count

Phillies Trip Cubs, Giants Lose To Reds

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A thumbnail description of the National League goings-on can be given in one paragraph—the leaders are the Brooklyn Dodgers, the best team probably is the St. Louis Cardinals, the most surprising is the Boston Braves and the most publicized the Philadelphia Phillies.

If anybody wants to extend this survey to a calvee of the entire field, we might add that the Cincinnati Reds are a first division team still having growing pains, Pittsburgh is running true to form, the New York Giants are groggy and the Chicago Cubs are the biggest disappointment.

The Cardinals came surging back at Brooklyn yesterday to retaliate for the 1-0 loss of their series opener by overpowering the Dodgers 7-1.

The Redbirds raided three Brooklyn pitchers for 11 hits, half a dozen being divided equally between Walker Cooper and Stan Musial, while two southpaws, Ernie White and Harry Brecheen, smothered the Dodgers on three hits.

Although the Cardinals won impressively at Brooklyn, they were unable to regain second place in the standings because the bumptious Braves battered the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0.

The Phillies pounced on the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in a night game viewed by 20,820 fans (biggest nocturnal turnout of the season) for their third straight success and eight in 12 games.

The victory raised the Phillies into a tie with Cincinnati for fourth place and also sent the Cubs staggering to their seventh straight loss.

The Reds nipped the New York Giants again 3-1 in ten innings with a pair of errors by Manager Mel Ott and Dick Bartell of the Giants contributing to Cincinnati's two deciding runs in the overtime frame.

For the second successive day all American league clubs were kept idle by weather conditions.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Last year a number of people (including this columnist) came up with the suggestion that major league baseball clubs should confine their activities to week-ends during 1943 and give their athletes a chance to work at something more useful from Monday to Friday. . . . Naturally, that implied scrapping the two big leagues in favor of groupings that would eliminate east-west travel, and baseball men refused even to think of it. . . . Such a move, they claimed, would be a fate worse than death. . . . Just for curiosity, we've been checking up on attendance figures to see if it has been worth while to continue on the old plan.

EVEN STEPHEN
Looking at the standings, as of yesterday, we can't see where an east-west division would have done any harm from a competitive standpoint. . . . The American league had two eastern and two western clubs in the first division and the National league was the same except for ties, so their strength appears about evenly divided.

FANCIFUL FIGURES
As nearly as we can figure it out it takes about three and a half week-day crowds to make one Sunday turnout this season. . . . The American league played 53 week-day bills up through Monday before 241,378 customers for an average of 4,554 and 16 Sunday affairs (mostly doubleheaders) drew 241,616 for an average of 15,101. . . . The National league's 56 week-day shows drew 284,395, averaging 5,078 and 16 Sundays drew 290,640, averaging 18,728.

CHANGE OF PACE
Harry Mendell, who was wondering what had become of his six bike races since the war put them out of business, has found out since he opened his new steak shops in Paterson, N. J. . . . The pedal pushers remembered the prime beef Harry used to feed 'em—and that they never had to pick up the tab.

Veteran Wichita Newspaperman Dies

WICHITA FALLS, May 19 (AP)—J. A. Wray, 68, employed for nearly 30 years on the telegraph desk of the Wichita Falls Daily Times, and for more than 40 years a reporter, editor and copy desk man on papers in Texas and Oklahoma, died here today.

Survivors include the widow, six children, four brothers and a sister.

A soldier has lost a billfold containing papers of importance to him but to nobody else—and he would like to get it back. Aviation Cadet R. E. Calderon, Flight A, class 43-5, at the Bombardier school, reports he lost the billfold at the municipal swimming pool last Sunday. He hopes the finder will leave the billfold at the natatorium office, or get in touch with him.

Food Parley Is Underway

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 19 (AP)—The United Nations food conference, called to explore pathways to a world free from want, settled down to its tasks today in an atmosphere of mingled far-reaching hope and cautious realism.

The keynote of faith in ultimate achievement of world freedom from want was sounded in a message from President Roosevelt read to the conference's formal opening session last night vigorously affirming that the world owes every man his daily bread.

Few Mechanical Refrigerators For Civilians

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—When they stopped making mechanical refrigerators a year ago 700,000 of them were frozen in a stockpile, but the cold fact is that there are only 225,000 left.

These will be divided among the army, navy, national housing agency, board of economic warfare, lend-lease, maritime commission and civilians.

Good Hunting Yet To Come, Monty Tells His Men

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—For the hardy troops of his victorious eighth army, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery still wishes "good hunting in the battles yet to come"—the phrase with which he sparked the epochal African route of the Axis.

In a message to his forces May 14 on completion of the Tunisia campaign, the general implied that the famous eighth would not rest on its laurels. The message was released here today.

Damon-Pythias Combination Winning Games For Philadelphia Athletics

The diminutive Mexican rookie pitcher for the Athletics, who has gained the headlines with five consecutive triumphs, and Roger Wolff are rapidly becoming a Damon-Pythias combination in major league baseball.

Three-Man Unit To Make Study Of War Sports

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Indications are that a three-man commission to study the wartime sports situation and make recommendations to President Roosevelt will be appointed soon by the chief executive, probably even before the week is out.

President Roosevelt told reporters at his press conference at Washington yesterday that he was considering such a committee, following receipt of many letters in which some writers urged that sports be dropped for the duration as a conservation measure and others urged they be continued as morale-building factors.

Reprisals On Jews Demanded In Berlin

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Reprisals against Jews "proportionate with the very great damage and loss of life caused by the attack" are being demanded by the Berlin press as a result of the RAF bombing of the Mohne and Eder dams. Reuters dispatches from Stockholm said today.

The dispatch said the demands had given the German people as a whole their first knowledge of the vast destruction done to the vital Ruhr valley industries.

'Had A Job To Do And Did It'— Capt. Horton, Veteran Of African Campaign And Holder Of The DFC, Visits Sister While Convalescing

After nine months in Egypt and Africa, participating in six major battles and winning the Distinguished Flying Cross after his plane was shot down in Tunisia, Capt. Perry Horton finally got his first leave and sick leave at that. Visiting here now with his sister, Mrs. Ray Shaw, Capt. and Mrs. Horton are enjoying the rest and vacation while he is having a short vacation from a convalescent hospital for flyers in Miami, Fla.

Capt. Horton, graduated from Luke Field, Ariz., March 6, 1942, where he won his pilot's wings, barely had time to catch his breath before he was enroute to Egypt in July. At that time Rommel, the now vanquished desert fox, was threatening the gates of Alexandria.

En route to Cairo, Capt. Horton laughed when he said he thought they must be going the wrong way when they kept meeting refugees fleeing back to safety. But his group of flyers was destined for many months of activity before the end of the African campaign.

Capt. Horton's group, nicknamed "The Earthquakes," was stationed with the British Eighth army, Montgomery's famous outfit, where it worked "shuttle service," as Capt. Horton said, in bombing Rommel's army.

Working in connection with the British, the group blasted the Germans and Italians from El Alamein to Tobruk, from Bengazi to El Aghella, Tripoli and to Tunisia. Tunisia was where Capt. Horton was shot down and injured as he bailed out of his plane, a B-25 labeled "Cindy."

Parachuting to safety on an island, as did the entire crew, and arriving back two days later to his base, Capt. Horton won his DFC and his leave.

In addition to his DFC, Capt. Horton wears the stars of six major battles, and the ribbon of the Egyptian campaign.

As far as not being in at the finish of the African battle, the pilot said they knew at the time his plane was shot down, March 21 to be exact, that the axis was fighting a losing war. It was no surprise to him when the end came as quickly as it did.

For the British South African division of the RAF with whom the American flyers lived, Capt. Horton has only praise. "The British flyers were meeting American made planes which they were crazy about and they all thought the Yanks were tops," he said.

"Montgomery was a favorite with all his men and kept close touch with his forces. After every bombing mission he either came personally to thank the Americans or else wrote a letter of congratulations."

Life wasn't always too grim, Capt. Horton recalls, as he told of the unique manner in which the Egyptian king took care of the fuel shortage. It seems when the seasons change and announces when it is summer or winter. But when winter came along there was a shortage of fuel, so the king just neglected to announce that winter had come. American flyers, trying to keep warm, got a kick out of this high-handed manner in which the king tried to keep his people's minds off the cold weather.

The pilot also got a laugh out of his fellow flyers, who teased him when he arrived back two days late to his base, after his crash, and told him they had already tried on his shirts and divided his equipment and "sure are sorry to see you back." But of course, this was after they were sure Capt. Horton was safe. The things that Capt. Horton missed most on his sojourn in Egypt and Africa were malted milks, hamburgers and cold drinks. But the first person he wanted to see when he was going to get to come home was his very attractive wife. The fact that he was coming home was the biggest thrill he got out of his African experiences for as he pointed out "we had a job to do and we did it, but there was nothing romantic or thrilling about it."

Now he is back and convalescing from his head injury he says he has a deeper appreciation of this country than ever before. "No matter how they cut rations here, this will still be a land of milk and honey compared with the ones I've seen."

Two Union Leaders Face Indictments

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today the indictment of Joseph E. Fay, international vice-president of the Union of Operating Engineers, AFL, and James Bove, international vice-president of the Hod Carriers' Union, AFL, on charges of extorting more than $300,000 from construction syndicates building the $300,000,000 Delaware aqueduct project.

The two men, who surrendered to Hogan this morning, were charged also with a conspiracy to extort $703,000 from firms operating in New York and several upstate counties.

Big Demand For Canning Sugar

Approximately 50 families applied for canning sugar the opening day, Tuesday, the local ration board clerk said Wednesday. Canning sugar will be issued each Tuesday and Friday in the former Taylor Electric location back of the First National Bank on Second street.

The new office will be open the two days a week from 9 a. m. to 12 p. m. and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. It was announced.

Applicants must show intention of the amount of canning to be done and sugar is apportioned on the basis of amount of canning. Not over ten pounds of sugar, however, can be issued to a person under new and temporary restrictions by OPA.

Volunteer workers to assist in issuing the sugar permits are still in dire need. E. F. Robbins, board chairman announced, and urged that any women who could assist during the two days each week contact the office.

Churchill

added, to thrash out all the points raised in a Pacific war "and there are many."

If all that is necessary to turn the forces of the British in the east upon Japan is an order, he said, "then that order would be given this afternoon."

But he added that such movements are governed by what American military leaders call the science of logistics—the art of supplying military forces.

Churchill said he wanted to "repudiate any suspicion" that Britain is holding anything back from prosecution of the war in the east.

He reported that in his 1942 conferences with President Roosevelt the task of fighting the axis had been divided at sea, with this nation taking over the "main responsibility for prosecuting the war against Japan."

This included, he said, the task of defending Australia from invasion—which he called more threatening in 1942 than now.

Churchill, speaking from notes, told his listeners that anti-submarine measures had yielded record results recently, particularly in the last three weeks.

Alluding to the aerial offensive being carried out against Germany, Churchill said the British have been "vastly aided" by American day bombings.

The increasing numbers of American and British planes are being felt, he said.

Britain's air offensive, he continued, is forcing Germany to withdraw "more and more" planes from the fighting fronts to assign them to "purely defensive" operations at the expense of loss of aggression and initiative.

That, he said, will prove a "major factor in bringing victory."

As for the hoped-for meeting with Stalin and Chiang, Churchill said that "how, when and where" the meeting might come off was something about which

No Mistaking Hospital Ship, Says Harold Neel, Who Once Was On It

Speaking as a man who once rode the ship as a patient himself, Harold Neel said Wednesday that there could be no doubt that the Australian hospital ship, Centaur, was sunk barbarously and deliberately by the Japs.

"They couldn't have mistaken it," he said. "It would have been impossible."

"The Centaur was kept brilliantly lit at all times and had big Red Cross signs on the side. Why, they even had big search lights playing constantly on these signs at night. There was a big Red Cross painted on the deck and illuminated so planes would not mistake it."

Harold, who was issued his honorable discharge for physical disability after serving in the southwest Pacific, spent three months of service at Fort Moresby, New Guinea.

The evening they arrived in the port, they glided by the smoking prow of a ship sunk the previous day. With that as a forerunner of what was to come, they then caught a dose of bombing almost every day.

Later, when he was no longer able to serve, he was evacuated across the channel to Townsville and then to Brisbane to escape bombings. Then the Centaur put in he and scores of others were taken aboard and carried to Melbourne for hospitalization pending embarkation for the states.

When he rode the ship, it carried approximately 800 Australians and American. Harold was surprised that there were no Americans aboard at the time of sinking and ventured that perhaps the only reason the loss of life was not far heavier at the hands of the treacherous Japs was that the ship was enroute from Sydney to New Guinea and apparently had no patients aboard.

Personalize Business, Is Expert's Word

"Personalize each transaction" and watch your business respond under this stimulus, Dr. J. C. Curran, New York, lecturer and better business methods counselor, told Lions club members Wednesday.

Too many business men and clerks greet customers with "Hello, there," and not by name, he said. Moreover, too many serve in an unconscious state of mind and actually are startled when addressed in an unguarded moment, he said.

He urged business men to be able to identify all of their customers, to learn the art of handshaking with conviction and feeling, to try to serve cheerfully and well.

The community, continued Dr. Curran, must have its newspaper, bank, schools and church, and each individual should see that these are made to function and are used. Moreover, "each of you has the sacred duty of being one full, real man each day."

Chub McGibbon, president-elect, gave a brief report on the district 2-T convention and J. H. Greene and Willard Sullivan urged attendance at the highway commission banquet Wednesday evening.

FIREMEN KILLED
SALT LAKE CITY, May 19 (AP)—At least three firemen were killed, five were injured and possibly others were trapped by falling debris when fire destroyed the downtown Victory theatre today.

Job Freeze Rules Slow Labor Hunt

Requirement of a statement of availability before transferring from one essential job to another is slowing down labor recruiting, L. E. Adams, representing Consolidated Aircraft, said Wednesday.

Adams was at the United States Employment Service office for interviews with applicants, and at noon had signed only a few prospects.

There were a number, he added, who expected to finish their present essential work within a few weeks and he felt that most of those would have statements of availability by the time he returns June 2, and at two week intervals thereafter.

One program that was attracting interest was a summer offer for school teachers—both men and women. This was for shop work and those hired were being accepted on a vacation time basis.

Youths from 16 to 17 and a half years of age are being accepted provided they have finished a National Youth Administration training school. Rod Merritt, representative of NYA, said that youths were accepted from 18 to 18 by NYA and given training in aircraft sheet metal work, as machinists, radio, etc.

Consolidated also was hiring a number of women on a training basis with a starting wage of approximately $104 per month. Ages were from 18 to 43. There were also opportunities for learner employees in aircraft drafting or lofting.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—A further general advance in stocks today was topped off by a brisk runup in the steel shares near the close.

There was a considerable expansion in volume on the upturn to approximately 1,800,000 shares after two sessions of less than a million.

Wall Street was in an expectant mood for the address to congress by Winston Churchill. On the market's action the financial community seemed to think well of the prime minister's speech.

A number of stocks reached new highs for a year or longer, among them, Air Reduction, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak. Other prominent gainers included Chrysler, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, Loew's, Youngstown Sheet and North American. Case jumped more than 3, on light transactions. Nickel Plate preferred, Santa Fe and Great Northern scored the widest advances among carriers.

Here 'n There

A soldier telephoning his folks from the depot pay station caught the attention of ticket sellers when he ended his conversation filled with bravado with the homey words, "Tell Mother goodbye, tell Dad goodbye, I love you, goodbye." Ticket sellers figured you can't whip boys like that.

Underwriter Head Makes Talk Before Local Association

J. Harold Sharpe, Fort Worth, president of the state association of life underwriters, addressed a meeting of local life underwriters here Tuesday evening, and stressed the importance of representatives and their companies meeting a four billion dollar war bond quota for the year.

Also present were Mort Buckley, Houston, chairman of the state association's war bond committee, and H. N. Leisler, Dallas, associate publisher of the Southwest Insurance.

Attending were President and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Inkman, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stegner, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Reeder, C. E. Higginbotham, Carl Strom, Anne Martin, Mildred Watson and Julia Boyce.

Sheep Killed In Traffic Collision

Highway patrolman Burl Haynie investigated an unusual accident about eight miles this side of Sterling City which occurred around 4 p. m. Tuesday afternoon when a pickup and a truck carrying sheep collided and went into the ditch.

The patrolman said that both vehicles were traveling north when the pickup attempted to pass the truck. Slick wet roads caused both to skid into the ditch. Twenty-three sheep in the truck were killed and property damage to both cars amounted to around $1,000, Haynie said.

Games Arranged For Cub Scouts

An all-day program of games has been arranged for the Cub Scouts Saturday, H. D. Norris, field executive, announced Wednesday. The youngsters will be picked up at 8:45 a. m. and transported to the city park where the program is due to begin at 9 a. m.

Contests will be by Dens rather than Packs and will include pyramid building, chariot racing, pony express racing, obstacle racing, skinning the snake and softball. Each lad will bring his own lunch and there will be no swimming as far as Cub leaders are concerned. Pack 27 meets at the E. 4th Baptist church, 29 at the First Presbyterian and 13 at 1802 Gregg street.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodall are in El Paso visiting with Lieut. and Mrs. R. O. Beadles. Lieut. Beadles, who formerly practiced here, is stationed at the army general hospital at El Paso.

Police Wednesday were seeking a car which hit a plymough automobile late Tuesday night and sped away without stopping.

Tommy Lewis Pool, Odessa, 17, was shipped Tuesday evening to the semi-main station at Abilene for enlistment in the U. S. Navy (reserve) as an apprentice seaman. Alton Franklin Dorman, Wickett, went in as a SeaBe.

J. B. Collins, in from his farm 15 miles west of Stanton, said rains had been slightly heavier there than here. Bill McIlvain, foreman on the Wilkinson ranch in western Howard county, said that a few spotted showers had poured out more seasoning there, enough to make the moisture meet. A tank filler is still needed, however.

Keith Stewart, who came here originally with the soil conservation service as secretary, was back at his desk Wednesday after an absence of nearly eight months. He was inducted into the army and subsequently given his discharge for being over 35 years of age. The SCS also announced the arrival of Joe Jackson, formerly of Nacogdoches, as soil man for the Big Spring office.

The theft of a quantity of shells, rifles, and radars was reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday by Hank McDaniel, whose home south of town was burglarized during his absence from the city.

Sonora Murphy, chief clerk at the local ration board, will leave Thursday morning on her vacation. She will return to the office on May 31.

Seniors To Stay At Home For Annual Celebration

In former years, seniors celebrated "Senior Day" with an all day outing to Christoval but this year, although the day's program will be the same, seniors will stay at home to celebrate.

Students will leave about 9 a. m. Thursday morning weather permitting, for the city park where they will have games, swimming, and baseball activities topped off with a chicken barbecue at noon. This is a program similar to other years but due to lack of transportation for the students, it is being held at the city park. Approximately 110 students will take part in the day's activities.

"I've read AP news all the way from Kansas to New Zealand and I've had a chance to know that Associated Press reports were accurate.

"The American public is being told the truth.

"There are, of course, certain things that must be omitted at the time to prevent giving information to the enemy, but I believe what we are told is reliable and we can depend on it."

This statement, reported in the Lyons, Kansas, News, is from Joe Chronister, a radioman on the U. S. Destroyer DeHaven sunk off Guadalcanal.

Joe is typical of the millions who believe day in, day out, in AP news—the Chicago mother who was satisfied her son was safe in New Guinea only "because The AP said so," the United States senator who states authoritatively, "I see by The Associated Press . . ." the readers everywhere who have learned "AP" stands for truth wherever newspapers are printed.

Editorial -- Prelude To Nazi Disaster

In 90 nights of horror-filled holocaust, the Luftwaffe in 1940 dropped 7,500 tons of explosives on London and environs in which many landmarks of Anglo-Saxon culture were reduced to rubble. The blitz-bombing lasted over 2,100 hours, was called off due to the rising losses of German bombers—nearly 900 in a single 24-hour span. Hitler failed to bomb the British to their knees. Other times, other men, other methods. In a single 48-hour period ending last Saturday, allied bombers dropped 4,000 tons of bombs on axis and axis-held targets, from Kiel on the North Sea to the Italian island of Sicily in the Mediterranean. Thus in two days the allied airmen deposited more than half as much tonnage of high explosives on axis targets as the Luftwaffe loosed over London in 90 days. There was yet another difference. Whereas Hitler spent his bombs on a single target without discrimination as to military importance, the Allied airmen concentrated theirs on more than a dozen spots of purely military value from the submarine nests of Kiel to vital airfields in the Mediterranean and in Italy itself. They wasted no bombs on civilians or cultural landmarks. The extraordinary aerial activity over axis targets following the fall of Tunisia wasn't the result of exuberant coltish celebration of a resounding victory. The Allied air chiefs didn't send these fleets of big bombers out just for the fun of the thing. The raids were designed to soften up the axis forces preliminary to invasion, primarily, and secondarily to capitalize on recent events to intensify the war of nerves upon axis peoples. They did tremendous military damage at vital spots, and they also drove home to the axis leaders and peoples this message: "You can't win; you're slipping and the worst is yet to come. This isn't a patching to what we're going to hand you in the months to come. We're just getting started. Wait until we really get going if you want to see something!"

Something Big With The Peace Post-War Battle For The Skies

(First of a Series) By JOHN L. SPRINGER AP Features Writer NEW YORK—One of the great air battles of World War II will reach full fury after the Armistice. The battle is for supremacy over the peace-time air routes of the world. It will be fought with air transports—including huge monsters of the skies now carrying men and munitions to warring fronts. It will be fought to some extent, probably, by every country with goods to send outside its borders. Airmen say the war—and aviation's normal development during these years of war—is speeding advances in air transport. They visualize the dawn of an air age when peace arrives—an age when men can step into an airplane here and step out within 60 hours in deepest Africa, in warmest China, in the farthest reaches of the world. They forestall the nation holding the major air routes also holding a large measure of trade supremacy. American airlines, say these airmen, are more than ready to hold their own in this post-war struggle. But recent debate in the British Parliament, warning of the "spreading tentacles" of U. S. transport power, and decisions of that government to speed civil aeronautical production, indicate the British are determined not to lose out. U. S. transports are now largely military, operated with civil air-line personnel by the Army's Air Transport Command. Great cargo ships are streaming out, in untold numbers, to Britain, Africa, to outposts in the Atlantic and Pacific. In addition American commercial lines are giving regular service along 100,000 miles throughout the world. To meet this competition the British Overseas Airways is flying what Parliament members call "crazy, outmoded ships over only a fraction of the territories covered by American lines. Debates in the House of Commons have revealed that the British agreed to concentrate on fighting planes while the U. S. produced transports. Alarmed members saw Britain reduced to a second-rate trade nation in the flood of American transport production. A speech in the House of Lords by Viscount Cranborne, Lord Privy Seal, indicates the British are not content with that prospect. He warned that "if other nations insist upon cut-throat competition, we are quite ready to enter the fray against them." Soon after, he announced that the British government was working on a secret plan for civil aviation—a plan believed calling for immediate commencement of work on the design of civil aircraft of all types, and for the converting of military craft to transport uses. Other countries now stilled by Hitler may make their entry in the post-war air transport struggle, too. Before the war Air France flew to 73 points on earth. The Royal Dutch Airlines served 13 points. Germany and Italy operated or controlled 26,000 miles of airways within South America in 1939—lines which have now fallen into Pan American's hands. "Air freedom" Debated Airmen say these nations may hold an ace card in their ownership of the air over their territories. By forbidding planes of other countries from flying over their land or stopping at their airports, they could restrain any nation's claim to air supremacy. A direct route from the U. S. to China lies over Russia. If the Soviets prohibited American planes from flying it, air transport would be hampered. The "freedom of the air" principle has been hotly debated. Vice President Henry Wallace advocates it. Some Americans—like Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce—argue that with air freedom U. S. airlines would fall before the cheap labor countries of the world as U. S. merchant shipping fell in the pre-war years. In both London and Washington, there is strong support for post-war cooperation on air trade—some arrangement, possibly—whereby nations would be allotted certain percentages of the international air transport business. Airline spokesmen in the U. S. believe some kind of cooperation is necessary and inevitable. Before it comes, however, they foresee a fierce struggle for bargaining position. (Tomorrow: The Race for Transport Lines.)

Washington—Next Congress A Tough One For Any President

WASHINGTON—Add a few statistics to the prognostications of some of our most conservative political guessers here, and the conclusion is that no matter whether a Democrat or Republican sits in the White House after 1944, it will be an uneasy seat so far as Congress is concerned. No president has ever had anything but trouble when he had a Congress divided against itself. It was a Republican Senate that whittled President Wilson's 14 Points down to zero and isolated us from the League of Nations. Republican President Hoover had to cope with a Democratic house. These are within our own time, but the story stretches back into history and every time it appears, the presidency has had more afflictions than Job, with no time (because of coming elections) to apply Job's patience. Practically all unbiased political observers here say positively that the House of Representatives elected in 1942 will be Republican. They know the swing of the pendulum. They point to the 1942 elections that carried the Republicans within 14 seats of the Democratic majority (which means that if the Republicans had won just eight more of the 222 opposition seats, they would have been in the saddle). They argue even that if a Democratic president is elected—even if President Roosevelt is reelected—it will be impossible to change this swing of the pendulum in the congressional districts. Grant it is a possibility and you will see what is ahead for the next president of the United States. Because only by a miracle could the Republicans capture control of the Senate in next year's elections. In the present Senate, there are 57 Democrats, 38 Republicans and one Progressive. To gain control, the Republicans would have to unseat 19 Democrats, without losing one. Since there are 21 seats now Democratic and only 11 now Republican to be filled next year, that appears on the surface a pretty simple matter. But wait. Thirteen of those Democratic Senators come from Solid South Democratic states or from states so overwhelmingly Democratic, even on the basis of 1942 elections, that there seems no possibility of the Republicans getting even a token vote. I have not included in this list New York, which, with its present Republican Governor Dewey and with 23 Democratic congressmen against 19 Republicans, could very conceivably go Republican in 1944. But the probable candidate for reelection will be Sen. Robert F. Wagner, who has served for 18 years in the upper chamber. The name holds for Missouri, where Democratic Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, after 12 years of tenure probably will be up for reelection. In Idaho, where Democratic Sen. D. Worth Clark may seek reelection, the state seems pretty well divided.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—About Horses That Make Money In The Movies

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—This is a story for sensitive horses. A good many horse stories lately have been of a kind to make a poor nag shudder, reading his paper over his evening oats. This story will skip all that, and tell about horses who go to drama school and make money in the movies. We'll start with Charley Flores, who is not a horse but a friend to horses. Charley was once an extra in the westerns, but for 23 years now he has been training and casting horses for pictures. Today he has 110 horses trained for a variety of acts. They jump hay-racks and walls, and do 10-foot broad jumps. It was one of his horses that jumped through a window, over a counter, and through a back door in one continuous action in "Jesse James." Some of his horses will rear on cue whether they're carrying a rider or pulling a farm wagon or carriage, and Charley can supply a team to rear on cue together. He has for many years joined forces to make a big color picture on "Buffalo Bill." That means a great part for a horse, Buffalo Bill's horse. But it's been a long time since men really hunted buffalo in his country. Charley says that horses instinctively dislike the odor of buffalo and have to get used to it. He has been training his own horses for many years, buying them when they are better four and eight years old. They are broken to ride by that time and sometimes to drive single and double. A few have learned to jump. After that much education, the dramatic training starts. They are trained to obey vocal commands. Charley says that a spirited horse can understand a simple vocabulary when the speaker uses a calm, moderate voice. Charley is a believer in the future of the horse. War pictures with their airplanes, tanks, jeeps and other mechanized items have cut into horsey opportunities in pictures, but Charley believes this is temporary. Charley and Ruby think of their horses as regular folks. Miss Pyle becomes indignant about some directors who get annoyed when a horse releases his mark by a few niches. "Actors," he says, "muff their lines and it's all right. But let a horse get an inch out of line and those directors will growl. They'd be glad if their actors did half as well." There isn't any Screen Horses Guild, but the scale of pay is fixed. An "extra" gets $5 a day. Sometimes a little special (like the horse who can laugh) draws anything considered hazardous a daily $25. A horse who does extra $150 a day. Mostly a horse earns about $50 a day for doing some spectacular but perfectly safe jumping.

HIGHWAY TO HER HEART

Chapter 3 Penny came up out of blackness to see Cleve's worried upside down face above her, framed in sky. When she stirred in his arms, he said, "Thank heaven, you're all right!" "Am I?" asked Penny doubtfully. She felt wet and cold, and her head throbed distally. Her hand fluttered up to touch Cleve's lean cheek, still glistening from the river. A muscle jerked under her brushing fingertips. "Don't do that!" said Cleve sharply. "Why not? I just wanted to see if I were awake—if you were real." She sighed. "You're awake," he said, "and I'm real—and unfortunately, this is no dream." He put her down gently, but firmly, on the bank, and walked off. Penny sat up. "Where are you going?" "To take stock of what I managed to save from the water." Penny rose and struggled after. Her boots oozed at every step. Her plastered-down hair dripped. She squessed it out as she went. Wolf appeared from a thicket, yapping. He paused to shake himself energetically. Drops sparkled from his coat. He frisked after Penny and Cleve. Cleve was looking down ruefully at a little pile of things on the shore. Penny's soaked bed-roll. The first aid kit she had brought for Bill. A can of flour, beans and rice. The bacon was gone. Most of the contents of the grub box was in the river. Penny reached a timid hand to Cleve's arm. "I'm sorry," she said. "It's all my fault. We're in a fix, aren't we?" "Yes." "How far do you think we've come?" "Maybe fifty miles." "Then—we're just about midway between Hudson's Hope and Pierre la Frene's shack?" "That's right." "Well—do we go back, or forward?" "His dark eyes flicked her face. "What do you think?" "I'm for going on, of course," said Penny. "So am I. But it won't be a pleasant stroll. Cance gone. Food reduced to the minimum. Rough terrain. No ammunition." Penny nodded soberly. Suddenly she remembered the map and directions in her shirt pocket. She felt for it, brought out a soggy sheet veined with running ink. "Our directions—look!" "Cleve patted her arm. "Don't worry. I can remember enough to draw another map, I think. We'll find Bill all right." In the grueling hours that followed, Penny herself was far from sure. "We'll have to walk ourselves dry and warm again," Cleve said. No rest until then. He carried Penny's bed-roll and the food. Penny, her first-aid kit. As they struggled along the riverbank, climbing, descending, through underbrush and over driftwood, clouds gathered and covered the sun. The breeze was cool. Once Penny shivered in her damp clothing. "Walk faster!" commanded Cleve. "Cleve, I can't. I'm dead." "You've got to," he said. "Come on. If you don't, you'll get chilled." "And if I do," said Penny grimly. "I merely fall apart. Maybe you shouldn't have bothered fishing me out of the river, Cleve." Up ahead, the little hunky paused in his tireless sniffing and trailing of snells, to look back at them. Cleve laughed. "Wolf's having the time of his life. To him, this is a lot more fun than riding tamerly in a canoe." "We didn't ride so tamerly," said Penny. In spite of her fatigue, she smiled, too. At noon they were ravenously hungry. Cleve managed, with considerable profanity, to hammer the can of beans open with a sharp rock. Both the can opener and his jack-knife had been lost in the canoe disaster. They ate the beans with relish. "This tastes better than many a dinner I've had with Powell at the Waldorf," said Penny. "You've got some bean juice on you chin, too," said Cleve shortly. Penny looked at him in surprise. A moment before he'd been gay and companionable. Now his brown face had settled into graven, inscrutable lines. She caught a glimpse of pain deep in his brown eyes before he turned from her and stood up. Perhaps, she thought, those old wounds he'd got in Warsaw were bothering him. Cleve would never say. He was like Bill. "We'd better get going," he said. "I figure it's twenty-five miles to Moore Creek and the Indian encampment there. We haven't come more than four or five." They went on. It had been hard going this morning, this afternoon was pure torture. They had to scale cliffs or wade perilously in the stony-bottomed, fast-swirling water in order to follow the shoreline. "I don't dare try cutting through the woods," Cleve said. "We could lose our way." Penny didn't answer because she couldn't. All she could do was to pick up her heavily-booted feet laboriously and set them again. Step by step—each one an accomplishment. Cleve helped her, encouraged her, made jokes. But fatigue masked his own face. (Continued On Classified Page)

Krupa Draws Term On Narcotics Count

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19 (AP)—Gene Krupa, internationally known band drummer, was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail and fined $500 following his plea of guilty Tuesday to a misdemeanor charge in a narcotics accusation. Superior Judge Thomas M. Foley said a felony charge against Krupa, for allegedly inducing a minor to transport narcotic marijuana cigars, would be brought to trial June 8.

97 Pct. Of Pearl Harbor Wounded Survive, Due To Top Medical Care

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—More than 97 per cent of the navy men and marines wounded at Pearl Harbor have survived, the office of war information reported today.

"The wounded don't die" was the theme of an exhaustive OWI report on the treatment of United States army and navy casualties. Its findings were summed up in these words:

"Never before in the history of the world has the fighting man had available the medical care and equipment the United States now furnishes its defenders."

Of all the naval and marine personnel listed as wounded at Pearl Harbor only 2.6 died subsequently, OWI said. Fifty-three per cent had returned to duty by March 31, 1943, while 43.5 percent were still under treatment and 9-10 of 1 percent were invalided from service.

Figures for army wounded were not available, but OWI said obtainable data showed that recoveries are comparable to naval and marine percentages.

"In the North African campaign, ships carrying medical material were torpedoed. Yet our medical system was established right from the beaches of the Mediterranean, and the hundreds of recoveries from wounds testify to its effectiveness."

The army's hospital system, unified from the battalion aid station right behind the line to the great hospitals in this country was described as "our hospital chain which extends half-way around the world." Often, said OWI, men picked up on the field of battle have been flown to this country by ambulance and have telephoned their families before the report of their wounding has reached this country.

Father And Son, Both Marine Privates, Meet In Base Hospital

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 19. (AP)—A father and his son, both marine privates from Sweetwater, Tex., met in the naval hospital this week for the first time since last December when they received recruit training at the San Diego base.

Boys Thompson, 18, is convalescing from an appendectomy at the hospital. His father, David, 36, recently was transferred to San Diego from Washington, D. C., and located his son in the hospital. They took the marine oath together at Abilene, Tex., on December 3, 1942.

Meet The Bombardiers— Southern States Strongly Represented In Cadet Class

The "good ole south" sends its young men to Big Spring in the newest class of cadets training at the Bombardier school. Here are others in class 43-11:

EASTERN STATES

Francis S. Codute, Morristown, N. J., was a bartender in civilian life. John B. Gawley, Plainfield, N. J., studied at the University of Newark, was a statistical clerk at Prudential Life Insurance company. Seymour F. Eisenberg, Irvington, N. J., studied at Upsala college and the University of Newark, was a foreman at a Newark defense plant. He hopes to practice before the bar after the war. Leonard Hartnett, Newark, studied at Dana college, was a sales promotion man. Richard M. Bellows, Maplewood, N. J., was once a student at Penn Military college, left that school to join the cadets. A brother is an ordnance lieutenant. James D. Coyle, Saylesville, Pa., graduated from Providence college. He was a member of his college football team for four years, won letters in basketball and baseball three years in a row. Later he played semi-pro athletics. He entered the army soon after graduation, hopes later to be a teacher and coach.

Joseph G. Cyr, Old Town, Me., was a taxi driver before he decided he could do more damage with bombs. A brother is with the air force. Charles G. Cox, Woodland, Me., studied at the University of Maine, Washington State Normal, left school to enter the air forces. A sister is an army nurse in Australia. Grant G. Gowdy, Lonsdale, R. I., was a delivery salesman. Wilson E. Eldridge, Dover, N. H., was a student at the Foxcroft Academy when he entered the air force. A brother is an aviation cadet in pilot training. Wendell Bourguignon, Providence, R. I., was a painter for a railroad in the short period between his high school graduation and joining the cadets.

SOUTHERN STATES

James M. Chilcoat, Parkville, Md., studied at Baltimore City College, was a laboratory man at the proving ground at Aberdeen. Walter T. Brady, Baltimore, was a milk salesman before he decided he'd rather deliver bombs than milk bottles.

Lone Texan on the list of cadets from 43-11 is William L. Butler, Karnes City, who studied at Texas A. & M. and was later a defense worker in Austin. James P. Austin, Elizabethton, Tenn., was a student at Greenbrier Military school, later credit manager of a jewelry store. A brother is also in the army. George B. Bouliware, Memphis, Tenn., was a bookkeeper, hopes someday to be a C. E. A. George L. Fernandez, Norfolk, Va., was a worker at the Norfolk Navy Yard. His father is in the Navy. Sherman W. Eighth Grade Group Gets Diplomas

Howard county eighth grade graduates were told that the knowledge they gained in school and how they planned to use this knowledge for the betterment of mankind was the challenge that lay ahead of them in the days to come when Martelle McDonald, district attorney addressed the group Tuesday night at the city auditorium.

McDonald stressed three points in his talk, "Challenge to American Youth," when he said "you must know, you must do, and you must be." He pointed out that the future for the graduates did not look bright, but it was this challenge that the students must meet with the knowledge gained in their preparatory period in school.

The Rev. H. C. Smith gave the invocation and group singing was led by Roy Reeder, accompanied by Mrs. Louise Hair of Centerpoint.

Diplomas were awarded to 49 graduates of Howard county schools and four graduates from Brown school in Martin county which joined in the exercises.

Presentation of awards was made by Walker Bailey, county superintendent, who announced that Gertrude Hull of Moore won the highest score for girls in the achievement tests. Runner-up in the girls contest was Dorothy Laudamy of Centerpoint who lacked only one point of tying with the winner.

Award for the highest boys score went to Billy Gene Morris of Cauble.

Local Peace Officers Working Together, Get Better Results

Local peace officers are working in closest cooperation in memory of all concerned, and from all indications the coordinated operation is paying off in better enforcement.

Chief of Police J. B. Bruton and Sheriff Andrew J. Merrick have their sides working as though they were one department when it comes to solving crimes and maintaining checks on suspicious characters. Moreover, the constable's department and state highway patrol are supporting the program wholeheartedly.

Much of the coordination shapes up through the police radio, financed jointly by the city and Howard county, and all calls from any law enforcement officer are handled through KACM, the police transmitter. Private cars of many officers are equipped with short wave receivers, and both the sheriff and police patrol cars have receivers and mobile transmitters.

Each morning as daily reports on burglaries, robberies, stolen cars, and all manner of crimes are cleared through the department of public safety, the radio dispatcher furnishes a memorandum to all police, sheriffs deputies, the constable, highway patrolmen and to the police at Lamesa.

When crimes occur, men from both sheriff and police departments are assigned. There is double operation instead of buck passing.

While the sheriff has Deputy Denver Dunn in charge of identification and the city has J. B. Frazer doing this work, both swap their records constantly. When one fails to show a given record, the other is checked before a report is made.

Recently, when a half a dozen cases of burglary were reported in one night here, sheriff and police representatives went into action jointly. By comparing finger prints, shoe prints and knowledge of the technique used in the jobs, they were able to apprehend four negroes and two white youths and clear up the cases in the matter of three days.

Lists of stolen material are exchanged by all agencies, and since adoption of a county veneer disease quarantine, a cross file is maintained by police and sheriff departments on these subjects.

Accidents within the city are referred to police for standard accident reports, while those outside the city are turned over to the highway patrol—or the sheriff, if the patrol is not available at the moment.

The way the program is working now, any officer makes arrests for any offense and then delivers the suspect to the proper authorities. For example, only early this week Lamesa highway patrolmen spotted a hot checker on the road and returned him to Big Spring where county officials wanted him.

Another phase of this cooperation involves the military. Both the sheriff and police units cannot say enough for assistance given

Chile Breaks With Axis Satellites

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 19 (AP)—Chile has broken diplomatic relations with Vichy France, Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria because of their "collaboration with the war efforts of the totalitarian states."

The announcement was made last night by Foreign Minister Joaquin Fernandez, who said that relations have become increasingly difficult with countries which, "having accepted occupation or control by Axis powers, lacked the liberty that is indispensable for the full exercise of their sovereignty."

Chile severed relations Jan. 20 with Germany, Italy and Japan.

A CAR IS NOT LIKE A CAT!

A cat is supposed to have nine lives. A car obviously has only one. And it is unfortunate but true that many of us in this country, don't even get all the good out of that one lifetime, for the simple reason that there have always been plenty of new cars available when an old one wore out.

Now things are different. It's up to all of us to make that one lifetime stretch.

In a word, that means Care! Regular care—expert care—more thorough care than we ordinarily give our cars.

That's where we come in. In peacetime you may look on us as "just a service station" if you like. Now, though, we're running an "Automobile Life Extension Service"—and nothing less.
