TRAIL DUST

By
DOUGLAS MEADOR

Pressed as a once black and gold butterfly, beneath the glass of memory, dust covers the fading image of a tender evening with its enchanted moon hanging above shadowy mountains, and wind from the sea stirring roses in an old garden. A vagabond youth sentenced early in his journey of banishment from paradise, by the whim of a princess and the will of a joking fate chuckling from the high Eucalyptus trees. Poverty and wealth came to the vine-covered rendezvous as two griffins, to escort their charges home after the interlude of doomed fantasy, each promising that the one meeting must last forever. With much to remember it is easy to forget a single care, as a dew-drop perishing from the sun, but sometimes a spark off a once-kindled fire blows back into the tinder of dreams.

Sorrow and happiness are two comets swishing through an uncharted sky so that the irregular flash of their proximity can not be forecast with any degree of certainty. As a casual observer, I have determined that they usually travel near to each other.

Little sentiment is allowed for those who must hear leather screeching from before the murky dawn, until the cattle quiet down on the bed-ground at night—life dwells so close to the fires of reality, watching the pendulum of the sky swing in its measuring of a destiny as a clock beside a pillowless cradle. Perhaps it is the long solitudes of twilight and sunsets and blazing days, when the wind sears the quivering horizon, that a cowboy gives his heart to his horses. The affinity is the idealistic and true romance of the range which lives on after spurs are silenced and hoof-beats resound on the trail of memory. Many a rider has kept an unspoken troth with a string of weary saddle-horses, years after his sentence of labor is served, rather than witness their passing into other hands.

The brushes of paths can not portray more genuine emotion than a departing cowboy, his leathery face turned away, as he goes to his mount one by one, calling an oft spoken name, patting a sleek, drooped neck, then mounting and riding off without looking back.

The trail of the cowboy, the Indian and others marching in the parade of conquest, are lost on their way out of Palo Duro, to oblivion. Time is an ore dug from the hills of unknown centuries and freighted to this smelter of splendor fired by the sun, that a narrow thread of gold may be woven into the brocade tapestry of grandeur hanging from the walls. Crouched as artisans of divine genius beneath the skylight of aged wind and rain work with tireless, incessant hands to reach a degree of final perfection. Colors prepared in the studios of faraway yesterdays, retain all the sublimity of their inspired conception despite the depredations of a proud and jealous moon, pillaging sovereigns of shadows, splashing silver against the canvases of eons.

Here the world is an insignificant and remote island, remembered after a long journey in the soothing peace of this enchanted temple, where an Omnipotent power invites the soul to rest and inspect the accumulation of the only treasures this side of eternity. A crystal stream singing gently to the silence and ancient cottonwoods that have found friendly shelter below the wind-swept mesa—a place to live and finally to stand out when they can no longer drift against the current. Here the heart heals from its wounds of bitterness, to regain strength and hope between the walls that hold back the chaffing pressure of life.

Trails of the vanquished buffalo leading from water and shade, to a pass over the rugged cliffs and the plains beyond the blue rim of horizon, are covered in grass as

LARGE PICTURE DR. MOTLEY IS GIVEN COUNTY

G. E. Hamilton Makes Donation To Hang In Court House

A life-size bust picture of Dr. William Motley, hero of San Jacinto, for whom Motley county was named, has been purchased by G. E. Hamilton and will be presented to the county to hang in the District court room of the court house. The likeness of the attractive young Kentucky doctor who came to Texas in time to give his life for a great cause, was purchased at considerable expense by Mr. Hamilton. The picture was made by copying an old newspaper cut, believed to be the only existing picture of Dr. Motley, and then enlarged to natural size. The picture is arranged in an appropriate frame.

Friend Loans Picture
Mr. Hamilton secured the newspaper cut from his friend Judge Clarence R. Wharton of Houston, who recalled that the county was named for the hero and consented the loan. Several proofs were made from the remarkably clear negative, which is now in Mr. Hamilton's possession. The picture will be presented to the county on Monday, July 13, at the next meeting of the Commissioners' Court and a fitting ceremony may be arranged when it is placed in the court house.

Local Stores Reap Best Business For Year Over Weekend

State Bank Pays 5 Per Cent Dividend For First Half Year

Matador business firms needed extra clerks Saturday as customers filled the stores, the side-walks and streets. Every line of business reported sales equal the peak fall days during the past five or six years. Some merchants declared that their sales were larger than at any time in the past at this season of the year. In many cases the sudden excess run of business caught stores unprepared and experienced clerks were sought vainly.

Much of the excessive warm-weather business was attributed to bonus checks being placed in circulation by county veterans of the World War, however farmers have been very busy since the rains in June and had not had an opportunity to secure supplies. Other forces aiding local merchants are the favorable crop prospects and also the better service and reduced freight rates made possible by trucks since the abandonment of the branch line railroad the first of last month.

Bank Pays Off
Another indication of the healthy and bettered condition here was the 5 per cent dividend payment of the First State Bank to stockholders. Checks amounting to $1,850 were mailed to 18 local owners of the banking institution stock Monday.

Clovis Robinson of Paducah visited here Tuesday evening in the home of his uncle and family. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson. He was accompanied home Wednesday morning by Mrs. Robinson, who visited relatives there.

the sacred burial grounds of the past. New paths are made against the sides of the great crevice that penetrates far into the wide tableland and they also shall become obliterated and be covered beneath the silt of tomorrows, for time must remove its vestments of commission and become humble to gain entrance through these eternal portals.

Dr. William Motley, above, who gave his life as a result of wounds received on the battlefield of San Jacinto, and for whom this county was named. COWBOYS LEAVE HOME RANGE AS COMRADES MEET

Campfires Cool When Riders Head For 7th Reunion

The round-up grounds of the vast range of the Matador Land and Cattle Company are silent today as cow hands with polished boots, jauntily crushed Stetsons and holiday rigging, mingle with comrades at the Seventh Annual Cowboy Reunion beginning at Stamford this morning. The longest holiday ever granted cowboys in the history of the ranch started Tuesday when the fires at the chuck-wagon were allowed to cool in the hurry of preparations for the journey to Stamford. The riders are requested to be back in time to begin the drive at dawn Monday morning.

To Seek Honors
A number of Matador Ranch cowboys will compete for the awards offered in the various western events, it is declared. Among the older riders is that patriarch of the range, Claude Jeffers, a director of the Cowboys Reunion and one of the oldest active cowboys in west Texas. Mr. Jeffers has broken more outlaw horses than perhaps any man living, having gained international fame because of his ability. Plans have been under way for months to make this meeting of the Stamford Reunion the greatest in the history of the organization. The three day celebration of cowboys will close Saturday night.

Lion Officers To Be Installed Tues.

Newly elected officers of the Matador Lions club will be installed at the next regular meeting to be held at the Baptist Church Tuesday, July 7th, secretary Whitworth announced yesterday.

All members of the organization are urged to be present for the annual affair and to hear important announcements regarding the club which will be made at the meeting.

The meeting to be held in connection with the regular luncheon will be the first of two to be held at the Baptist Church, this month through an arrangement reached between the women circles of the Baptist and Methodist churches.

CITY MARSHAL IS NAMED HERE

Mayor George T. Edwards appointed Jim Smith as city marshal of Matador last week, his new duties beginning Wednesday, July 1. Mr. Smith is well-known here having been employed in the grocery business for various local concerns for a number of years. His qualifications for the office are well-known and it is believed that much benefit will result from his appointment.

More stringent traffic laws will be enforced in Matador, especially during certain peak hours of business so that the accident hazard may be reduced as much as possible, through the appointment of Mr. Smith. New stop signs for the intersection of Main street and Highway 28 have been ordered and will be installed within the near future.

TO SILVERTON

Miss Sylvia Day recently accepted a position as manager of a new, deluxe beauty shop at Silvertown, where she began her duties last Saturday.

Miss Day, a recent graduate from a school of beauty culture in Dallas, assisted in the Sanitary Beauty Shop and also the City Beauty Shop of this city, prior to receiving the offer as manager of the Silvertown shop.

Truckers To Pick Solons In Election

Charge Unfair Laws Result Railroad Lobbying

Candidate Speaks Local Set-Up State Organization Has Second Meeting

Claiming unfair legislation for the operating of trucks on the highways of Texas as the result of railroad lobbying, R. H. Watters, organizing representative of the Texas Truckers Association, in an address before a group of truck operators meeting at the court house Monday night, declared that solons opposing their demands would not be with us after election.

The meeting was the second to be held here this month and one of four held in the Panhandle Monday night. The first meeting was held June 10 when C. B. Whitten was elected president of the local organization, L. B. Robertson, secretary; Joe Bloodworth, L. R. Bishop and Jess Perkins, directors. The state organization has six divisions, cattle, cottonseed, lumber, oil, farm products and the common carriers, and claims a power of 200,000 votes throughout the state.

Charges Railroads
"The railroads, by way of lobbyists, are out to put the trucks off the highways of Texas," Mr. Watters declared, "and the Highway Patrol has been turned loose on the truckers, yet the truckers paid fifty one cents on every dollar investment in 1935. The average truck operated 30,000 miles and costing originally $500, will have paid $287 in taxes at the end of that time. We want the load limit raised to 10,000 pounds and we want the speed limit raised from 25 miles per hour to 45 miles per hour and the candidates who oppose us, or who have opposed

Abandoned Railroad Now Being Removed

The Quanah, Acme and Pacific eight mile branch line railroad into Matador, which was abandoned the last of May, is being torn up and removed this week. Wrecking crews and equipment started Monday by removing old rails and rotted cross-ties and hauling them away. Local residents are purchasing some of the cross-ties for winter fuel in instances where they are of any value.

Employees of the State Highway Department aided in removing the rails from the intersection of the track and Highway 28 at the east edge of town, as the work was started Monday.

It is declared that the stock-pens have been sold to local interests and that the railroad company is offering for sale, the depot building and other buildings on their property here.

CYCLONE DAVIS AND SON VISIT TO AID HUNTER

Intimate Friend Of Bryan Is Here In Candidate Tour

Cyclone Davis, 81, venerable statesman of national fame, accompanied his son, Arlon Davis on a visit to Matador Monday in the interest of Tom Hunter, candidate for governor. The younger Davis declared that his father had expected to make an address here but because of conflicting conditions, he would go on to Plainview.

The father and son are campaigning in the interest of Hunter made possible through the sale of a book, "Memoir" the life of Cyclone Davis. They declared that a number of local residents made purchases of the work.

Son Is Publisher

Arlon Davis is publisher of the Sherman Courier. At the age of 23 he was president of a bank, mayor and president of a Chamber of Commerce, then the youngest in the state. Mr. Davis said he organized the Cowboy's State Bank at Rotan, Texas and secured $160,000 deposits before a building was constructed—and there was not a single residence in the town at that time.

Cyclone Davis, once intimate friends of William Jennings Bryan said that he had spent much of his life in a country newspaper and that he had been publisher of three different papers.

TOWNSEND PLAN ADVOCATE HERE

Congress Candidate Makes Address On Streets Saturday

John R. Miller, advocate of the Townsend Plan and candidate from the 18th Congressional District, made an address in the interests of his campaign on the streets of Matador Saturday. Mr. Miller said:

"The Townsend plan is righteous. You cannot think in any terms of money alone. Some have said that we are having a hard time climbing out of the depression with Wall Street keeping the pole greased.

MOTOR PLUNGES OVER CLIFF IN DARING ESCAPE

The gun smoke is cleared away and Motley county's pulse-beat is returning to normal after one of the most extensive man-hunts in the history of this section throughout Monday. The desperados, Luke Frammel and Forrest Gibson, escaping from the state prison farm after shooting a guard about two weeks ago, finally secured temporary freedom by plunging the speeding automobile in which they were riding, over a cliff into a steep canyon and running away. They were reported to have been successful in another gun fight near Childress and to have made their escape into Oklahoma early Tuesday morning.

Pursued By Sheriff

The chase started before daylight Monday when Sheriff John Koonsman of Dickens county was notified that the convicts had been recognized as they stopped for gas in Dickens City. Identifying the stolen automobile, sheriff Koonsman pursued the two men north to the Motley county line and over the Roaring Springs pool road southwest of Roaring Springs. Frammel, who had received one of his many convictions in this county for theft and burglary in 1934, had made his home here for two years and was familiar with the country. Turning north away

County Agent Makes Study Terrace Work

Frank A. Buckley, Motley county agent, spent three days of last week at San Angelo where he made an intensive study of methods used by the United States Soil Conservation project located there. Terracing and contour listing of crop land and contour ridging of pasture land are being carried out on a large scale in that area under the direction of the Soil Conservation Service, Mr. Buckley reported.

Of particular interest to Mr. Buckley were the methods and structures used in the control of large volumes of run-off water on cultivated land by the sirup-pan system. Eight large systems of this kind have been put into operation in Motley county during the past two years, and much specific information was obtained in regard to details of completion and improvement of these projects.

Another item of note was the contour ridging of range land. In many cases an investment of one dollar to two dollars per acre in contour ridges had increased carrying capacity one hundred to two hundred percent.

While at San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Buckley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rechenstha. Mr. Rechenstha is senior soils specialist with the Soil Conservation Service.

Postmaster and Mrs. E. F. Springer and small daughter Sara Frances, left Tuesday evening for a vacation visit in points in California. They expect to be gone about three weeks.

Mrs. Rose White and Mrs. Dollie Griffith of Dallas, were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bishop, Monday afternoon.

ALLRED STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR SECOND TERM

Governor Chides His Foes For Nature Of Campaign Being Conducted Against Him In Early Speeches

Cites New Issue

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. June 30—Weeks behind his stumping opponents, Governor James V. Allred opened his belated campaign for re-election here tonight with a scorching defense of his policies—even to "the vital issue of ribbon cutting."

He chided political foes for the "character of the campaign against me, which would be lamentable if it were not in some respects laughable," and then stood up in serious vein for the old age assistance he fostered.

To End Deficit

"It is an old political trick in Texas," the governor said, "to throw up a smoke screen of talk about 'deficits' as a basis for new and enormous tax burdens. No new taxes at all will be necessary for general purposes of government for schools, or for highways."

"I do not hesitate to predict that the state deficit will be entirely wiped out within the next two years, without any additional taxes."

In defense of the old age assistance plan, target of opposition jibes from the stump Governor Allred said:

"May I remind you, in all humility, that I am the only candidate for governor who publicly advocated adoption of the old age assistance amendment?"

"I did this on my visits over the state, about which my opponents are now complaining."

Free To Make Charges

"No law is ever satisfactory when it is first passed. All of them have to be amended from time to time and the legislature is free to make changes in the old age assistance bill as its defects become obvious. The law isn't perfect, of course, but unquestionably it is one which will help to close the road that leads over the hill to the poor house."

"I issued a public statement that if it became necessary to call another special session when we are in possession of sufficient information to fully advise the legisla-

HOMER JENKINS IS MARRIED TO PADUCAH GIRL

Coming as a surprise to his friends here, announcement is made of the marriage on June 18, 1936, at Fort Worth, Texas, of Homer T. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jenkins of Matador, to Miss Margaret Whatley of Paducah, daughter of Judge and Mrs. James A. Whatley.

Mr. Jenkins, who is an energetic and resourceful young man, was born and reared in this community and is a graduate of the local high school in the class of 1934. At the time of the marriage, he had accompanied relatives to Dallas to attend the Centennial Exposition and to visit Miss Whatley, who is enrolled as a student at the Metropolitan Business College, Dallas. Returning to Matador last week, he made no mention of his marriage, until confronted with a marriage notice which had appeared in a Fort Worth newspaper.

Mr. Jenkins left for Dallas Sunday to join his wife and to enroll in a Barber School. They plan to make their home during the time they are attending school, with tentative plans to return to Matador upon the completion of their respective courses.

The Tribune joins the friends of this young couple in extending congratulations and best wishes.

FARMER'S LIFE

Boy Howdy, fried chicken eating time is now in full swing. We always start eating them just as soon as they will flavor the gravy good. They don't ever get too big. A pressure cooker makes 'em all tender.

This community needed new song books for singing at the school house on Sunday nights. Here is the fine way we got them through the cooperation and courtesy of Mrs. V. Andraews of Floydada, Mrs. Calvin Nisbet and Billie Nations of Plainview.

These three teachers arranged their expression, singing and dancing pupils into a fine evening of entertainment, under colored lights in the Sand Hill auditorium last Friday night, June 26th. Everybody enjoyed the program. We welcomed all candidates free and many of them came. To others we charged 5c and 10c admission. Many from other communities came to the program.

We have the new books, the pupils got some needed experience and the teachers the publicity for their good work. We are all benefited and all happy.

Yesterday in talking to a good businessman whose children helped wonderfully on the program, he had this to say. "Ed lets do this over some time. I think that was a fine plan."

I'm simply tipping you leaders in every rural community in any county that you can get a fine program in your own auditorium for the asking, easily raise some money for some worthy undertaking and everybody will be helped.

Now about Uncle Sam using discrimination between Bankers and producing farmers in loaning money. Read this startling statement made by Lynn J. Frazier in a letter to me dated May 20, 1936 concerning the Frazier-Lemke farm refinance bill and just after our House of Representatives in Washington had defeated the bill in the final vote.

He said, "You will find enclosed a copy by States of the vote on the bill. If your Congressman voted against the bill and you are satisfied with his vote, or his excuses, that is your affair. If, however, you do not agree, ask him, when he appears requesting your support in the coming election, how he can countenance the Government letting the bankers have money at the average cost of only 30c per thousand dollars (cost of printing), and yet refuse to let farmers have money at 3c on a dollar or $30.00 per thousand. Ask him why the bankers can obtain money at 3c a thousand on security of notes, drafts, bills of exchange or acceptances and yet the farmer was refused money at $30.00 a thousand with their farms and homes as security."

To this average farmer it doesn't seem a crime that our Government should let the bankers have the money for 30c per thousand dollars if that is all it cost to print it. The crime is when the average fellow wants to produce some material thing for a decent living and in order to do so is forced to borrow the same money from the privileged for $100.00 per thousand instead of 30c.

Our structure of starving producers and million dollar parasites is beginning to stagger not because we are learning the facts but because of the facts.

Thank goodness we have some Congressmen who are getting out the facts and are trying to help and protect the producer.

Luker.

FT. WORTH SETS BIG SHOW DATE

FORT WORTH, July 1.—Definite date for the opening of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial was announced today by Billy Rose, producing director and the Board of Control.

The mammoth entertainment extravaganza will open its gates to the public on July 18th with four big shows and a carnival world of lesser attractions scattered over the 162-acre festival grounds.

Setting of the date for the opening, was purposely deferred until it could be determined when the entire Frontier Centennial grounds would present a complete and finished appearance, will be a red-letter day in the whole history of entertainment.

No other enterprise ever has been conceived along such unique lines as that of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial. Dedicated to the sole purposes of entertainment it is so planned that even its few exhibits of historical interest will fit into the holiday pattern.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who was electrocuted for the kidnap-killing of the Lindbergh baby, left all his property and belongings to his wife, Anna, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Hauptmann's will, filed in Bronx Surrogate's Court Monday and made out Jan. 13, 1935, twenty months before his arrest, bequeathed, after deduction of all debts, funeral expenses and filing costs, "the residue of my estate to my beloved wife, Anna, to be hers and hers forever."

The court clerk said that Hauptmann's estate amounted to less than $1,000.

Candidate Blunder Smashes Big Vote

Perhaps the most stupendous blunder of this or any other campaign in the history of Texas, in the view of observers at Austin, was the action of a candidate for State office who, potentially, alienated 140,000 votes at one fell swoop

The candidate is seeking the office of State Land Commissioner and he is committed to a plan to use convicts to drill for oil.

As there are 140,000 persons in Texas who are employed in the oil industry, they can be counted on to vote—pretty largely—against this candidate and in favor of his opponent, W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland County, who has been fighting the convict drilling crew plan. As each of those 140,000 persons has relatives and friends, McDonald is due to garner lots of votes. Members of organized labor resent any effort to place convicts in competition with workers and in fact, unorganized workers as well as strongly against any such idea.

Chevrolet Passes Best Sales Record

W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of Chevrolet Motor Co., announced that on June 12, the company's sales this year had surpassed 582,964 units a figure that has stood since 1928 as the company's all-time record for the entire first half of any year. By the end of June, said Mr. Holler, 1936 sales will have exceeded any previous record for the first six months by approximately 80,000 units.

Sales in the first half of last year were 436,669, a total that was passed this year before May 10. This figure will be exceeded by 50 per cent, it is estimated, during the same period this year.

our demands in the past will be defeated because we have the power to deprive them of office."

Candidate Speaks

L. D. Rees, Hall county candidate for representative, present at the meeting was asked to declare himself. Mr. Rees said, "I do not favor a big boy jumping on a little boy and I am informed that big interests employ lobbyists who use incredible methods to influence the law maker. I was talking to Cyclone Davis this afternoon and he told me that lobbying interests often employ women as bait to trap the solon who does not tend strictly to the interest of the people. . . I favor fair and just laws."

President C. B. Whitten concluded the addresses by urging truckers present to pay the membership fee of $3.50 and join the organization, pointing out that only by concentrated effort would it be possible to gain the objectives vital to the future of the industry.

Talks On Farm Bill

Miller talked also on the Frazier-Lempke bill, the relief measure for farmers, that proposes to loan farmers money with a 1 1/2 per cent interest rate on interest and capital over a period of forty seven years.

"This bill is, to me, the greatest farm bill that has ever been proposed and if I am elected to congress I shall do all in my power to get the bill passed. That is something that our present congressmen have not seen fit to do."

May Form Club

Information was received here Monday that a representative of the Townsend Plan would be in Matador Saturday in effort to form a Townsend Club here. The name of the representative was not announced.

from Roaring Springs on the Daugherty road, the Dickens county sheriff, without aid in the chase, was able to keep the trail. He overtook the convict car several miles northwest of Roaring Springs and one of the killers sprang from the machine and ran into a field.

Escape In Car

Believing the car disabled, Sheriff Koonsman, drove on to Daugherty and telephoned for aid. When he returned the car and two men were gone. Within a short time peace officers from this entire section began to gather in Matador and guard all highways. Car load after car load of State Highway Patrol arrived to be augmented by private citizens, deputies and others, all heavily armed and ready for any sign of the hunted men.

In the afternoon it was decided that the men had slipped through the nets thrown out and neighboring sheriffs started home. Sheriff A. A. Payne of Cottle county was nearing Paducah when he recognized the car and two men at the Clark filling station five miles west of Paducah. Driving on into town he immediately notified officers here and started back toward the filling station. It is believed the convicts recognized the officers after they passed and as a result started back west toward Matador. Near the Motley and Cottle county line officers from each direction began to press in and an exchange of gun fire was started.

Drive Through Fence

Realizing their plight the convicts, driving at full speed, left the highway, crossed the borrow ditch and plunged through a wire fence into a pasture. Being pursued closely they drove the car off a steep cliff, wrecking it in the bottom of a canyon. At this point they escaped from the car and made their way into the mesquite bushes before officers could arrive. Within a very short time reports were received that an automobile had been stolen at a farm house about two miles away. They were traced back to the paved highway but darkness made further pursuit difficult.

Car Hit By Bullet

Altho many shots were exchanged, and the pursued car was struck several times, the convicts registered only one hit. The Dodge coupe driven by Ed Russell, widely known representative of the Texas Cattle Raisers Association, was struck in the radiator by a rifle bullet.
