THEM DAYS...

Texas Rangers Without A Single Horse For Duty

AUSTIN, Tex.—The Texas ranger force, long linked by fact and fiction with horses, doesn't own a single mount.

Motorcars have replaced the last paint pony of the movies and western adventure stories. It was revealed here.

In the rugged, roadless Mexican border country a few famous peace officers still own saddle horses. The state, however, hasn't a claim on a single hoof for the mechanized rangers.

TRIBUTE PAID NATION'S DEAD IN ADDRESS

Hon. John L. Smith Speaks At Legion Memorial Program

Veteran of the World War and legionnaire, John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, paid high tribute to the nation's dead in a brilliant address at the Memorial Day program held at the Methodist church here Monday evening by the Fleming Post American Legion.

The well-known Texas orator cited the tendency of many to forget the valor of those who have paid the supreme price for their country and urged that fitting honor be sustained in the hearts of those left with heritage of liberty.

It was Legionnaire Smith's second time to speak before an audience in Matador. Crowd smaller than expected.

Due to the two-day holiday which caused many to be out of town and also many farmers were busy in their fields until late, the crowd was smaller than had been anticipated.

John Eldridge, pastor Flomot Baptist church; Origin and purpose of Memorial Day, Nell Green Roaring Springs; song by Ruth Simpson, Whiteflat; reading, "Do We Honor Our Nation's Dead," Jimmie Lee Speer, Flomot.

Other States Interested In Patrol Boards

Governor James V. Allred has announced that the Voluntary County Parole Boards of Texas will hold their second state-wide conference on June 17th and 18th. Pointing out that it has been over two years since the first such conference, he stated that a large attendance is expected.

The conference will be held in Huntsville and inspection tours will be made of the penitentiary and one of the prison farms. The Prison Officials, according to Burkes P. Dougherty, the Governor's assistant, have expressed keen interest in the conference and are cooperating in every way possible to assure a colorful program.

In the letters to each Voluntary County Parole Board, Governor Allred said, "It is with regret that I realize that the end of my administration as Governor will terminate my official connection with you in this movement. Needless to say, I am proud to have had the privilege of organizing this system; I am more than proud of your splendid cooperation. You have served faithfully and well, and your accomplishments will forever stand as a testimonial to the unselfish sacrifices you have made in the interest of the State and your fellow man."

There are over 1,100 members serving on the County Parole Boards in 243 counties. These boards serve the dual purpose of assisting parolees and of protecting society, and although a strict policy of revoking clemency has been followed; it has been found that the percentage of delinquencies under this system compare very favorably with the percentage of delinquencies under systems which employ full time workers.

Other states are becoming more and more interested in this system and in recent weeks several governors have written for information on how the system functions and what it has accomplished. It attracted the attention of the Federal Government shortly after its organization, and a special survey was made which resulted in a most favorable report.

New Figure Hailed As Possible "Jack The Giant-Killer"

AUSTIN, Tex.—Everybody remembers the way the small and comparatively unknown Dempsey waded into the gigantic Jess Willard and knocked him out, and likewise the upset that David sprang in his battle with Goliath. A similar surprise seems in the making in the Attorney General's race with Judge Ralph Yarborough colorful and dynamic, as Jack the Giant-Killer and Walter Woodul as his target.

A hard campaign is something new for Woodul. However, his opponent in the runoff four years ago for Lieutenant Governor (a race that doesn't create a vast amount of excitement) polled about 40 percent of the votes after announcing his withdrawal! No Lieutenant Governor has been able to step into the Attorney Generalship or the Governorship. Such able men as Barry Miller, Lynch Davidson, T. W. Davidson and Edgar Witt failed in the effort.

The rapid rise of Yarborough is not difficult to understand. He has a radiant personality; likes folks; makes a ringing speech. Furthermore, he is not afraid to take a stand. He announced flat-footedly that when he goes in as Attorney General he will try the $17,000,000 anti-trust suit—and trying big lawsuits is nothing new to him for, when he was Assistant Attorney General, he won over a million dollars in cash in the case for the taxpayers.

Yarborough has been sharp-shooting at Woodul for the commissions the latter issued, while acting governor, to "colonels of monopoly" and Yarborough also has been hurling the challenge, "When and where have you ever represented the people's side in a courtroom?" Definitely, Yarborough—former harvest hand and tank-builder, now District Judge—is a "comer" in State politics.

James Hockings of Yonkers, N. Y., walked 70 miles on his 70th birthday in 14 hours and 50 minutes. "Walk and be healthy" is his motto.

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get—a definite, substantial, physical protector that actually exists right in your engine as soon as you get it OIL-PLATED. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from Your Mileage Merchant's station can give your engine OIL-PLATING. Other oils can't. No matter how much refining is claimed for them, they cannot surpass the correct refining of Conoco Germ Processed oil, but refining only takes things out. Going much farther, Germ Processing adds in the patented man-made substance that gives your engine OIL-PLATING. Only this addition by the Germ Process makes oil "join up" with the working parts, to keep them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, OIL-PLATING is permanent. Like other plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear from getting through. And like other plating, OIL-PLATING can't drain down at any time. Actually united to each surface, OIL-PLATING gives your engine lubrication that needn't wait for the oil pump... Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING is ready to lubricate! Thus you know why the much-advertised harm of "dry starting" doesn't mean a thing with your engine OIL-PLATED. And you wouldn't expect any good plating to go flying off at Summer speeds, or to frizzle away in the Summer heat. Then expect the heat indicator to stay on the safe side, while the gauge-stick keeps saying, "Still full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" That's why it's smart and thrifty today to have Your Mileage Merchant OIL PLATE YOUR ENGINE Continental Oil Co.

Foe of Sulphur Trust Comes Out For Yarborough

AUSTIN, Texas.—Everett L. Looney, widely known attorney whose investigations increased the tax valuations of a sulphur company by $19,000,000, today announced his endorsement of District Judge Ralph Yarborough of

Austin for Attorney General. Looney himself had been strongly urged to make the race but decided recently not to enter the contest. He stated today: "Ralph Yarborough and I served as Assistant Attorney General for nearly four years and I had ample opportunity to observe him in action then, as well as during the three years he has served as district judge, presiding over some of the most important cases tried in Texas during that time. "He has a wonderful record of public service, particularly on behalf of the public school fund while he was Assistant Attorney General. He is the best qualified man in the race and has no entangling alliances. Ralph Yarborough, as Attorney General, can be counted on to fight with all his might for the people's rights." Looney was attorney for the Wharton County Commissioners' Court at hearings which resulted in the increase of a sulphur company's tax valuation from $13,000,000 to $32,000,000 on both the county and State rolls. He is special counsel for the State in the $17,000,000 anti-trust suit; represents the National Social Security Board against an attack on its constitutionality; is chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission and a member of the State Democratic executive committee.

New Figure Hailed As Possible "Jack The Giant-Killer"

AUSTIN, Tex.—Everybody remembers the way the small and comparatively unknown Dempsey waded into the gigantic Jess Willard and knocked him out, and likewise the upset that David sprang in his battle with Goliath. A similar surprise seems in the making in the Attorney General's race with Judge Ralph Yarborough colorful and dynamic, as Jack the Giant-Killer and Walter Woodul as his target.

A hard campaign is something new for Woodul. However, his opponent in the runoff four years ago for Lieutenant Governor (a race that doesn't create a vast amount of excitement) polled about 40 percent of the votes after announcing his withdrawal! No Lieutenant Governor has been able to step into the Attorney Generalship or the Governorship. Such able men as Barry Miller, Lynch Davidson, T. W. Davidson and Edgar Witt failed in the effort.

The rapid rise of Yarborough is not difficult to understand. He has a radiant personality; likes folks; makes a ringing speech. Furthermore, he is not afraid to take a stand. He announced flat-footedly that when he goes in as Attorney General he will try the $17,000,000 anti-trust suit—and trying big lawsuits is nothing new to him for, when he was Assistant Attorney General, he won over a million dollars in cash in the case for the taxpayers.

Yarborough has been sharp-shooting at Woodul for the commissions the latter issued, while acting governor, to "colonels of monopoly" and Yarborough also has been hurling the challenge, "When and where have you ever represented the people's side in a courtroom?" Definitely, Yarborough—former harvest hand and tank-builder, now District Judge—is a "comer" in State politics.

Other States Interested In Patrol Boards

Governor James V. Allred has announced that the Voluntary County Parol Boards of Texas will hold their second state-wide conference on June 17th and 18th. Pointing out that it has been over two years since the first such conference, he stated that a large attendance is expected.

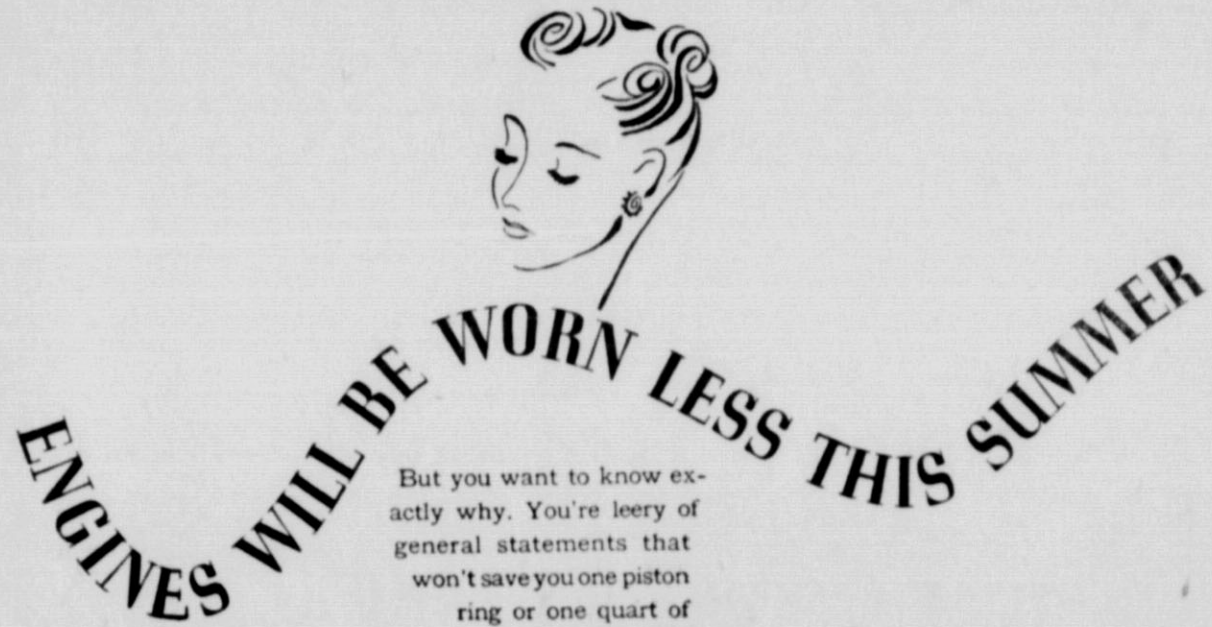

The conference will be held in Huntsville and inspection tours will be made of the penitentiary and one of the prison farms. The Prison Officials, according to Burkes P. Dougherty, the Governor's assistant, have expressed keen interest in the conference and are cooperating in every way possible to assure a colorful program.

In the letters to each Voluntary County Parol Board, Governor Allred said, "It is with regret that I realize that the end of my administration as Governor will terminate my official connection with you in this movement. Needless to say, I am proud to have had the privilege of organizing this system; I am more than proud of your splendid cooperation. You have served faithfully and well, and your accomplishments will forever stand as a testimonial to the unselfish sacrifices you have made in the interest of the State and your fellow man."

There are over 1,100 members serving on the County Parole Boards in 243 counties. These boards serve the dual purpose of assisting parolees and of protecting society, and although a strict policy of revoking clemency has been followed, it has been found that the percentage of delinquencies under this system compare very favorably with the percentage of delinquencies under systems which employ full time workers.

Other states are becoming more and more interested in this system and in recent weeks several governors have written for information on how the system functions and what it has accomplished. It attracted the attention of the Federal Government shortly after its organization, and a special survey was made which resulted in a most favorable report.

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get—a definite, substantial, physical protector that actually exists right in your engine as soon as you get it OIL-PLATED. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from Your Mileage Merchant's station can give your engine OIL-PLATING.

Other oils can't. No matter how much refining is claimed for them, they cannot surpass the correct refining of Conoco Germ Processed oil, but refining only takes things out. Going much farther, Germ Processing adds in the patented man-made substance that gives your engine OIL-PLATING. Only this addition by the Germ Process makes oil "join up" with the working parts, to keep them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, OIL-PLATING is permanent. Like other plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear from getting through. And like other plating, OIL-PLATING can't drain down at any time. Actually united to each surface, OIL-PLATING gives your engine lubrication that needn't wait for the oil pump... Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING is ready to lubricate! Thus you know why the much-advertised harm of "dry starting" doesn't mean a thing with your engine OIL-PLATED. And you wouldn't expect any good plating to go flying off at Summer speeds, or to frizzle away in the Summer heat. Then expect the heat indicator to stay on the safe side, while the gauge-stick keeps saying, "Still full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" That's why it's smart and thrifty today to have Your Mileage Merchant OIL PLATE YOUR ENGINE Continental Oil Co.

Foe Of Sulphur Trust Comes Out For Yarborough

AUSTIN, Texas—Everett L. Looney, widely known attorney whose investigations increased the tax valuations of a sulphur company by $19,000,000, today announced his endorsement of District Judge Ralph Yarborough of

Austin for Attorney General. Looney himself had been strongly urged to make the race but decided recently not to enter the contest. He stated today: "Ralph Yarborough and I served as Assistant Attorney General for nearly four years and I had ample opportunity to observe him in action then, as well as during the three years he has served as district judge, presiding over some of the most important cases tried in Texas during that time. "He has a wonderful record of public service, particularly on behalf of the public school fund while he was Assistant Attorney General. He is the best qualified man in the race and has no entangling alliances. Ralph Yarborough, as Attorney General, can be counted on to fight with all his might for the people's rights."

Looney was attorney for the Wharton County Commissioners' Court at hearings which resulted in the increase of a sulphur company's tax valuation from $13,000,000 to $32,000,000 on both the county and State rolls. He is special counsel for the State in the $17,000,000 anti-trust suit; represents the National Social Security Board against an attack on its constitutionality; is chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission and a member of the State Democratic executive committee.

PANHANDLE MAN CANDIDATE FOR LAND OFFICE

Morris Browning of Amarillo, the Potter County surveyor, visited in Matador early last week in the interest of his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Mr. Browning, son of the late Lieutenant Governor James N. Browning of Amarillo, better known in this section as Judge Browning, is making an intensive campaign, having just been down state for 30 days.

Morris Browning has a definite platform for solving our boundary troubles, a plan which he will sponsor through the Legislature if he is elected. As an experienced surveyor for 25 years, Mr. Browning has become an expert in boundary matters.

"The first man to hold the office of Land Commissioner after Texas joined the union was a land surveyor but since that time the office has been filled by politicians," explains Browning. "The office needs a surveyor who can and will do something for the landowners of Texas."

Mr. Browning has strong editorial endorsement not only of his home papers and the Panhandle but also of big papers down state in addition to leaders in the larger cities. His candidacy is drawing support from the key leaders in Houston and San Antonio in addition to those in Dallas and Fort Worth.

SIDELIGHTS BY MARVIN JONES

Member of Congress from Texas

The new works relief bill is now pending before the Congress.

When it was under consideration in the House of Representatives a few days ago, I was fortunate in securing the passage of an amendment which will allow farmers to participate on works projects.

The language of this amendment is as follows: "Farmers in Here is the colorful "Pacific House" to be erected at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. History, culture and customs of the nations of the Pacific will be dramatized here. The building will rise on the edge of one of the picturesque lagoons on Treasure Island.

actual need of work but who are not on relief rolls shall have the same eligibility for employment on projects in rural areas as persons on such rolls.

There are many farmers whose property is heavily mortgaged and who suffered several crop failures because of the drought. They are in need of actual work, but in the past they have not been able to qualify for employment on various projects under the regulations of the administrative officials. In many instances they have teams and equipment that can be used on the projects. There have also been instances of projects in rural areas which have been greatly needed but the population has not been large enough to draw sufficient workers who can qualify under the regulations.

I am very glad that the new provision has been accepted by the House and I hope it will be retained by the Senate.

I believe it is important to encourage those farmers who try to carry on. A small amount of work may enable many of them to do so. If they are permitted to sink, especially in the drought and flood areas, it will complicate the problem in the towns and cities. The agricultural program has been of great assistance. An opportunity to work on the various projects will also be of substantial aid.

Interests Rates
The Committee on Agriculture, with which I am connected, recently reported a measure to extend for two more years the existing interest rates on Federal Land Bank and Commissioner's loans. This measure has now been passed by the House of Representatives.

The interest rate on Federal Land Bank loans is to be continued at 3 1/2%, and the rate on Commissioner's loans at 4 percent.

Last year when Congress passed legislation to continue these rates, the President vetoed the measure. It was then passed over his veto. I led the fight in the House for approval over the veto, as I felt that conditions justified a continuation of the emergency rates.

I hope the President will sign the new measure so these rates may continue, as I believe that such action is very desirable.

As a result of the measure reported by the Committee on Agriculture and passed some time ago, the Farm Credit Administration now has the authority to refinance Commissioner's loans in worthy cases over a period of the same length of time as that allowed on Land Bank loans.

These are the lowest farm interest rates that have ever prevailed in this country and are lower than those which prevail in any other country. The Farm Credit Administration is the first institution of its kind that has furnished a method of credit suitable to the needs of agriculture and separate from the commercial credit structure of the country.

Club Meets With Mrs. Hugh Cook

Members of the Good Samaritan Club, and several guests attended a covered dish luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Hugh Cook. A short business session was held, with the club president, Mrs. Clyde Gilbert, in charge.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to sewing and recreation.

Lunch was served at noon, and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the afternoon to the following members: Mrs. Clyde Gilbert, Mrs. J. P. Smith, Roaring Springs, Mrs. Artie Wason, Mrs. Marvin Bloodworth, Mrs. Frank Stafford, and one new member Mrs. Posey Wilcher. Visitors present were, Mrs. Effie Moore, Mrs. S. J. Hall, Miss Maurine Hall, Mrs. Orvil Hall, Mrs. J. M. Lee and Misses Merle, Mary Frances and Robbie Lee.

After conviction for theft, John Travis of Chicago declared his trial had been a joke. The judge said: "Take two years to think how funny it is."

The SINCLAIR DINOSAUR SYMBOLIZES OLDEST CRUDES, TOUGHER MOTOR OILS

The Sinclair dinosaur stands for the vast age of the crude oils used in refining Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils. The oldest crudes make the tougher motor oils. Grueling tests on the Sinclair Film-Breaking Machines prove that Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania each give a lubricating film that will withstand a pressure of more than 3 tons per square inch. Look for the dinosaur on the Tamper-Proof cans in which Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils are sold.

Odds and Ends—Mexico City—Among The Many—

Mexico City has more than a hundred churches, many of them with historical associations. To visit them all would not only take too much of one's time, but the impressions so gained would be blurry and confused and nothing would emerge with any amount of clarity.

Many of these churches were built in the 16th and 17th centuries not to mention those of the 18th and 19th—and after viewing some of them, a composite picture comes to one's mind. These churchy edifices for the most part are grey and black, grimy, and look seaborne with age. Most of them have twin towers and a vaulted dome. The tower often recalls the famous Leaning Tower of Pisa—so out of plumb are they. Not only they, but also the whole facade, too, has a twisted, distorted look. The unstable underlying marshy soil is, of course, responsible for all this.

Church of La Profesa—

The Church of La Profesa stands in the heart of the business district—it was only a stone's throw from my hotel on Madero—and there are several things about it that repay a visit. First thing one sees is its church tower that threatens any moment to fall into the street, then, on entering, one sees the hand of the great Mexican architect-sculptor, Tolsa, in its High Altar and in a wooden figure of the Immaculate Conception. It was in this church that Mexico's first Emperor, Iturbide, first received his command to head the control of the Independence Movement.

Examples of the Churrigueresque;

The Sagrario Metropolitano which adjoins the great Cathedral on the Square is a fine example of the Churrigueresque facade. Here ornamentation has reached its zenith, it can go no further, it has been raised to the Nth power. Its all flamboyantly over-rich and ornate.

The Public Letter Writers—

The church of San Domingo is likewise decorated on its exterior, but the interior is in Baroque—a little more restraint is shown here in ornamentation. It is not so much this church, however, as it is the letter-writers one sees in the adjoining plaza that provide interest.

Cowboys to Open Annual Round-Up Fourth of July

high wall and a courtyard filled with trees and vegetation. Gone are now the great and mighty of former times resplendent in their brilliant raiment, the smart, the fashionables, all are gone, only their wreaths fit in and out of the gloomy precincts. Sic transit gloria mundi.

So let these few churches which I have enumerated suffice. It is better to retain a few salient characteristics of some of these churches really interesting, than try to see them all and recall none of them.

What not to see, at times, is just as important as what to see. (To Be Continued)

Here one sees the public scribes seated before ancient and delapidated typewriters—the stenographers of the illiterate. Comes the peons unable to read or write, who want love, and sometime business, transferred to the page. There is awe as well as anxiety. Awe, for the wonderful erudition that these public scribes present to their untutored minds; anxiety, as to whether the matter at hand will be received and understood as the spoken word. Often these letters are addressed to the absent ones, who, in turn, cannot read. So two go-betweens are necessary to convey the message. But will she, the object of all his burning love, really get the message in the same way as if she were there in person and heard the words from his own lips? And then there is the kiss, too, how about that? One cannot kiss by proxy. But of all this only the click, click, click-clack of the typewriters are heard by the passer-by, sauntering along the old arcades.

In the old School of Medicine in this neighborhood, the Spanish Inquisition once had its headquarters from which emanated such cruel atrocities to be inflicted on the hapless victims, torture, heretics burned at the stake, etc. But now all is quiet, dreaming.

The Black Christ—

The Church of Porta Goeli is interesting on account of its Black Christ.

The figure of this Black Christ is almost entirely concealed under various lengths of colored ribbon. If one has an enemy—and who has not—all one has to do to rid himself of his obnoxious presence, is to measure him with a piece of ribbon then go to the church, hang this ribbon about His neck, and offer up a fervent prayer, this is almost as important as the ribbon, and presto, the enemy will vanish pronto.

Next time I visit Mexico City, I shall bring along quite a few measurements and bolts of ribbon, to get rid of my enemies.

I saw quite a number of these figures hung with yards of colored ribbons in the various churches throughout the Mexican Republic, so I came to the conclusion there must be quite a number of married couples, and other unhappy wretches, here, who are not living exactly in a state of bliss.

So remember when you visit Mexico, it is the Church of the Porta Goeli which will rid you of all your painful encumbrances. In the adjacent alley, most of the coffins are manufactured and if your measurements have been accurate, your enemies will get a perfect fit.

The Church of La Siledad de Santa Cruz is interesting for the fact that sleuths come here to get their man. You see, their ilk repair here to pray for their sins, and the police know about their habits, hence, the watchfulness.

The Church of San Fernando is now but a faint shadow of its former splendor. The thing of interest in this neighborhood—adjoining the church, is the Panteon (Burial Ground). Here are interred some of Mexico's greatest men, National Heroes. Their names are pegs on which Mexican history has been hung. Zaragoza sleeps here, after his hectic battle on the memorable Fifth of May (Cisero de Mayo) 1862 when he repulsed the French at Puebla. Mejia, the Mexican General who remained loyal to his Emperor, the ill-fated Maximilian and who received his coup de grace at the same time on the Hill of the Bells at Quertero, in 1867. Many others lie here too, but the greatest of them all is the erstwhile Indian President, Juarez, who instituted the famous Reform Laws that curtailed the power of the clergy, nationalizing church property. This Panteon is a small Mexican Valhalla.

The Greatest Church—

Just across the street from Sanborn's, where, sooner or later all tourists go, one sees a small fragment of what formerly was the principal church in New Spain, the Church of San Francisco.

Cortez donated the land and money. The church and adjoining buildings, convents, schools, etc., once occupied four city blocks. The very church was constructed of stone taken from the great Aztec temple. Here all the great of New Spain came to worship in the gorgeous Colonial uniforms. In this church lay the body of Cortez, the immortal conqueror of Mexico, for more than a hundred years, here Iturbide, Mexico's first Emperor, lay in state for three days. A Te Deum was sung in this fane to celebrate Mexican Independence. But the onslaughts of time have devastated all this. Of all this venerable pile of buildings only the church remains, and that is almost hidden from sight by a

New Type of Farm Lease Soon to Be Introduced by FSA

LEASE IS DESIGNED FOR MUTUAL ADVANTAGE OF BOTH TENANT FARMER AND LANDOWNER

Seeking to establish a greater mutual trust and confidence between landowners and tenants to their mutual advantages, the Farm Security Administration will soon introduce a new written flexible farm lease, according to Claud C. Carpenter, County Rural Rehabilitation Supervisor in Floyd and Motley counties.

The tenure improvement leases will be made available to all landlords and tenants in this country. Mr. Carpenter said, and will supplement the FSA's tenant purchase program.

Mr. Carpenter said the new lease forms are designed to improve relationships between tenants and landowners generally; to advance tenants more rapidly up the ladder toward farm ownership; to strengthen the regular rehabilitation loans and supervision to low-income tenants; to increase the security and the length of tenure and reduce the economic loss involved in the annual transfer of approximately a million tenant families from farm to farm.

One of the major possibilities offered in the new lease form, he said, is that of providing an incentive for greater interest on the part of the tenant and his family in the care and preservation of the property of the landowner and thus promoting the preservation and improvement of that half of the nation's agricultural land which is operated by renters.

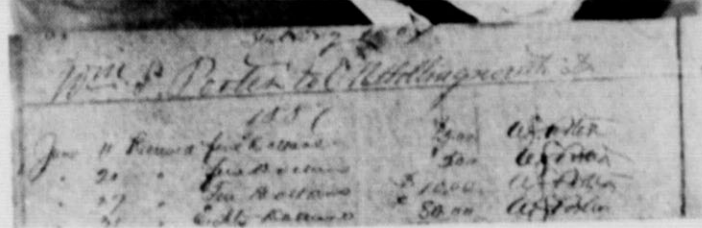

Calling attention to the recent study of the nation's soil and human resources conducted by D. P. Trent, chief of the Farm Security Administration's tenure improvement section, Mr. Carpenter said the problem of unproductive land is serious, but the problem of unproductive lands people must live upon unproductive land is incomparably more serious.

"Worn-out, eroded, gullied, lifeless and barren farms," he continued, "are important from the standpoint of the national welfare and the dilapidated houses on many farms are a matter of serious public concern, but the hopeless and fruitless lives of the people who occupy these dilapidated houses and who struggle for existence upon those impoverished lands assume the appearance of a national tragedy; hence the problem demands consideration from the standpoint of conserving the nation's human resources."

Mr. Carpenter said these new flexible farm lease forms which will soon be on file in his office will be made available to every landowner and tenant farmer in this county.

O Henry Draws His Salary

During installation of a new bookkeeping system at the general land office, Commr. William H. (Bill) McDonald, shown here, discovered an old payroll sheet bearing the signature of William S. Porter (O Henry) who worked in the land office from 1887 to 1891. Part of the sheet, with Porter's signature, is also shown. One of O Henry's stories, "Bexar Scrip 2692" was based on his experiences in the land office.
