Farmers' Checks At $45,854

COUNTY LEADS DISTRICT TWO FOR 1939 PAY

Motley county farmers received 244 Agricultural Conservation checks on the current year's program, totaling $45,854.84, during the past week. It is believed Motley county was among the first in District 2, which is composed of 19 counties, according to Lowell Sharbutt, secretary of the Motley County Agriculture Association. To date only three counties in the district have received their checks.

In some instances these applications represent the maximum amount which can be earned for soil building payment, indicating that farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity to build up their lands by complying with the requirements of the program, officials of the group declared.

Time Still Available
Mr. Sharbutt declared that in the cases of other applications where the maximum soil building practices have not been earned, time still remains in which to sign, but urges immediate action in signing the card in order to avoid additional delay in making payment.

According to administrators of the agricultural program, Motley county farmers have displayed a very cooperative spirit relative to the program this year, and if this assistance is continued, the programs for the coming year will go forward at an even greater rate of speed.

Matadors Go Down Before Floydada 11

Fleet-footed, little Johnny Allsup, supported by a squad of fighting Matadors went down before the Floydada Whirlwinds Friday afternoon to the tune of 13 to 6 in one of the most interesting football games of the season.

Supported by a large and enthusiastic group of fans, the Matadors gave their best to take the decisive game from their hosts on the Floydada grid iron.

The victory for the Whirlwinds placed them in second place with only one game behind their ancient rivals from over Lockney way.

The Matadors are now tied with Spur for third place in conference standing and the same position in season standing, both having a percentage of 626 in conference and both having a percentage of 562 in the season.

Spur To Meet Lockney
The Matadors have an open date this week, while Spur expects visitors from the plains city of Lockney Friday night for the only conference game on tap in the district.

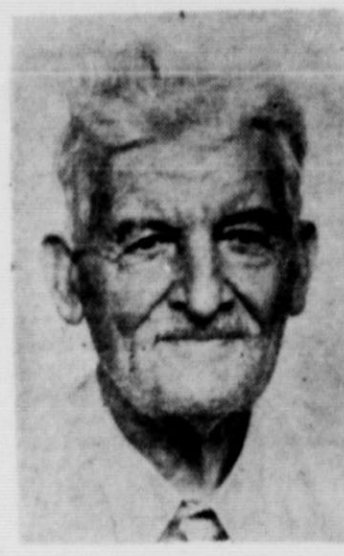

CROP AND FEED LOANS OFFERED

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1940 are now available to farmers in Motley county and applications are being received by Joe M. Gaines at the West Texas Gin, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The early opening of the loan program in Motley county is part of a plan recently announced by the Farm Credit Administration whereby emergency crop and feed loans are made available immediately in all areas where farming conditions are seriously affected this year by the drought.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit association, banks, or other private concerns.

Graham, pioneer ranchman and farmer of this section and ex-buffalo hunter, accepted a place as a volunteer on the local committee of the annual Red Cross roll call membership drive, and started work Monday, securing 32 members in three days according to John Hamilton, county roll call chairman.

Although the campaign will not officially start until possibly Friday or Saturday, Chairman Hamilton expressed his gratitude to Mr. Graham for his sincere interest and efforts, as he named members of the local committee.

Chairman Hamilton was rushing all needed equipment to the various communities in the county yesterday afternoon in order that the drive might be started today in many sections. Cowboy Dies When 6666 Horse Falls

Brittain Vivian Victim of Horse's Fall and Dragging

Death rode out of the sunset and summoned another cowboy from the rolling prairie last Wednesday November 8th, when Brittain Vivian (Perkins) Vivian, 34, became entangled in his lariat rope and was dragged almost 1,000 yards, after the animal had stumbled in a hole. The accident occurred about 3 1/2 miles southwest of Guthrie, on the 6666 Ranch, where the cowboy was employed. A passing motorist near the scene of the tragedy, witnessed the horse dragging the unconscious cowboy, and cut the rope that released his leg from the fatal loop.

Vivian had started to pen the night horses, at about 6.15. His knife and keys were found near the hole where the horse had stumbled. He was given medical aid as soon as possible but died at 11 o'clock without regaining consciousness. Funeral services were conducted here at the Methodist church, November 9, 1939, at 3:00 p. m. by Rev. C. D. Pipkin and interment made in the Matador East Mound cemetery.

Cowboy All His Life
Mr. Vivian had been a cowboy all of his life. He was employed for eight years by the Matador Land & Cattle Co., here, later working for the J. M. Guest Ranch near Midland for five years and working also for the Pitch Fork Ranch and the Buckle L. near Childress. He had been employed by the 6666 Ranch for about 1 year.

Besides his daughter Barbara Ann, 4, of Big Spring, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Vivian, five sisters, Opal, Pauline, and Ruby all of Matador, Mrs. Jack Reeves of Muleshoe and Mrs. Jessie Stancell of Lariat; two brothers, William and Tommie of Matador.

Cowboy companions from the 6666 Ranch were pall-bearers; J. C. Lewis, Jack Spencer, Houston Littlefield, Carl Darr, Riley Thacker and Ray White.

"Freedom Shall Not Pass", Declares Dean

Danger Averted Says Jurist In Armistice Address

"The freedom of America shall not pass", declared Judge Charles H. Dean of Plainview, in a vigorous Armistice address here Sunday night at the crowded auditorium of the Baptist church. Starting with the teachings of Karl Marks and tracing the various isms to the present-day Nazism and Communism which he declared are but different ends of the same stick, Judge Dean pointed an attack at Earl Browder as he flayed Communism. "He seeks to destroy freedom by establishing a doctrine of force, and in his struggle for power, would supplant Christianity with paganism."

Concluding his address on a more hopeful note, Judge Dean said, "but the lives of those who paid the supreme price for our freedom, are not spent in vain and I see hopeful signs in America. Conditions are changing and the most dangerous hour has passed as we return to the wisdom of our forefathers for the distribution of power. This country passed its most dangerous hour when the people of America changed from considering the government as 'Santa Claus.'"

Excellent Singing
Judge Dean was introduced by G. E. Hamilton, pioneer Matador attorney, after two inspiring songs by the Matador Choral Club, a

HUT FUND NOW WITHIN $500 OF ITS GOAL

The Fleming Post American Legion's hut fund was within $500 of its $2,000 goal last night, according to Commander L. B. Robertson, whose ceaseless efforts are attributed with the remarkable success of the drive to achieve the organizations' plan.

With about $1,500 collected for the fund, Commander Robertson looked at the deficiency with grave prospect, declaring, "Our most difficult fight is at hand since we have collected that part of the fund which was most accessible, and now it is going to require every possible dollar that can be secured and the complete cooperation of every member. Some in our limited membership are in a position which make it absolutely impossible for them to make any donation. We will need to work and give until it 'hurts' if we are to realize our goal."

Non-Member Contribute
Commander Robertson lauded the spirit with which several non-members have aided the fund.

The "Honor Roll" this week is headed by three donations from non-members of the Legion.

Answer Made To County's Relief Plea

Agencies Faced By Fund Shortage For Nation's Needy

Four Federal relief agencies last week completed a joint plan for meeting the country's drought and flood emergencies with the reduced appropriations and it will be impossible for Motley county to receive a special designation, according to a letter received from Congressman Marvin Jones, by County Judge W. R. Cammack yesterday.

The letter was in reply to a resolution adopted by the Commissioner's Court of Motley county on October 24, and submitted to Works Progress Administrator F. C. Harrington, asking additional relief aid here.

The resolution explained that the county's relief funds were exhausted and that the WPA quota was far too low to meet the absolute needs, and cited the fact that west Texas has no factories or industries to carry its burden through a period of drought.

Little Encouragement
The replies from Congressman Jones and acting director of WPA, Ernest L. Marbury, indicated little definite encouragement since the designations will rest with regional directors wherever a problem exists.

Part of the letter from Mr. Marbury, regarding employment, is as follows: "...every effort is being made to follow the need and employment trends as closely as possible and to allocate employment quotas on this basis. The request for an increase in the November employment quota for Texas is being given serious consideration and within the limitations of available funds the maximum amount of employment will be authorized."

Poppy Sales Reach $90.

The gross sales of poppies in Motley county totaled more than $90 Saturday, according to Mrs. Elmer Stearns, chairman of Matador committee of Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fleming-Post American Legion.

It was estimated the net profit, which will go to the Auxiliary fund, will be in the neighborhood of $70, according to Mrs. J. F. Hughes, president of the Auxiliary.

The Matador committee sold 525 poppies, receiving $63, while Roaring Springs sold 150 of the small red flowers to earn $24.00. Whiteflat sales amounted to 35 poppies bringing $3.50 and ropopies bringing $3.50 and ropopies from Flomot and Northfield were still to be received.

The entire supply of 960 poppies, procured by the Auxiliary were sold during the drive, it was declared.

AN APPLE FOR THE TEACHER

Note the title of this article. It reminds you of a recent song hit, doesn't it? Well, I'm a teacher, and it reminds me of something else.

Don't misunderstand! I'm not asking for apples, at least not the round red kind that grow on trees.

Once upon a time, I, too, was a student, a freshman in college. For a reason I won't stop to explain, I sat on the very last row of a large number of rows in an Economics class.

This And That!

Oh, oh! Out-of towners are tops now, huh? We are referring to Miss Gaines who has been seen recently spinning around in a Ford from Roaring Springs. These youngsters (quoting "Unca Bert") get around too fast for us.

If the citizens in South Matador heard weeping and wailing Monday, it was caused from our losing a certain senior gal, Peggy Hutson. It seems her interests are in Pattin Springs now. (She says it's her sister, but we know better.)

There is a ghastly rumor that Gaye Wolfe has been seen riding around in a car with white side wall tires. Previously we have thought such incidents only common place, but from the reports we've been hearing, there "oughta be a law agin' it"—definitely.

There's a time for all things, but J. D. you shouldn't write love letters in school. Especially the next you wrote. (We don't learn such nonsense in school, dear readers, we cultivate on the side lines.)

POPULAR NOVEL WILL BE GIVEN REVIEW THE 23

Mrs. B. H. Warren, head of the English department of Wayland College, Plainview, will be presented here Thursday afternoon, November 23, in a review of "The Grapes of Wrath" by John Steinbeck, which has been heading the list of popular fiction since its first publication in April of this year.

The review is being sponsored by El Progresso Study Club for the benefit of the Matador City Library, and will be held in the high school study hall, Mrs. Leonora Luckett, president of the organization announced.

An admission of 25 cents for everyone attending, will be charged.

Open To Public

"The review of the book, 'Grapes of Wrath' will be open to the public, with no age limitation of listeners", Mrs. Luckett stated, "Mrs. Warren presents her review in a manner that could possibly offend no one. She strives only to present a comprehensive interpretation of the plot and characters in the book, and does so in a highly effective style."

Pointing out first the purpose of writing the book, Mrs. Warren creates a sympathetic response in listeners as she traces the migration of the hapless "Okies" from their share-cropper homes in Oklahoma, from which they have been driven by tractor-owners, to California, where they have been lured by glowing reports of the need of grape pickers and other crop laborers.

The false propaganda on which they have based their hopes, and the resultant deplorable conditions under which they manage to exist, constitute the theme of the book which centers around the Joad family.

According to G. E. Hamilton, Chairman of the Board, all finances have been paid in full, and the church has voiced a wish for the return of Rev. W. B. Vaughn as pastor for another year.

Many members of the local church will attend the conference which convened at Lubbock Wednesday and will close Sunday.

ABOUT AUTHOR JOHN STEINBECK

Margaret Turner, in her column "The Woman's Angle" of the Lubbock Avalanche, passed this interesting bit of data concerning John Steinbeck, author of "Grapes of Wrath", to her readers a few months ago:

"While a membership drive in the 'I Helped to Discover John Steinbeck' club has not been launched, 'tis said there are many who claim the honor of discovering the hottest writing talent of this decade.

"The true distinction is said to belong to Pascal Covici, the publisher. Browsing in a Chicago second-hand bookshop he came across an earlier volume by the author that had been marked down from two dollars and fifty cents, because of the lack of demand for it, to a thin dime. Covici reasoned he couldn't go far wrong for ten cents, and settled himself on the train, book in hand. He was so excited about the book, he made inquiries about the author, but no one seemed to know anything about him. Consider the difference today when there is a long line waiting for his latest book, 'The Grapes of Wrath' as for the Margaret Mitchell book a few months back."

In the past ten years John Steinbeck has had published six novels, a play and a volume of short stories. These include the popular novel "Of Mice and Men" and the play by the same name; "Tortilla Flat"; "To a God Unknown" and "The Pastures of Heaven".

Don't fail to hear the review of "The Grapes of Wrath" at the high school study hall, Thursday afternoon, November 23. Then secure the book from the shelves of the city library and read it with a new understanding.
