Post Office To Go Second Class July 1

Matador Post Office will advance to a second class office July 1, according to recent advice received by E. F. Springer, postmaster. Under the new rating the office will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

An 8% increase in postal receipts the past year, made the new rating possible, Mr. Springer said.

First Office At Ranch

Matador's first post office was established at Matador ranch headquarters and Mrs. H. H. Campbell, mother of local resident Harry Campbell was appointed postmistress under Cleveland's administration.

In the summer of 1891, Mr. Campbell recalls, the postoffice was moved from Matador ranch to the town of Matador, after Matley County was organized and the town became county seat. The office was first located on the west side of the square and later moved to a building near the present location of the Matador Hotel. When the block of business houses burned in 1916, the postoffice was moved into temporary quarters in the courthouse, and later, across the street, on the south side, near the site of the present building.

After the erection of the First State Bank Building, the post-office was moved into the rear of that building where it remained until December 9, 1934, when the present new postoffice building was completed.

From 1885 to 1892, J. M. or Mac Campbell ran the postoffice for Mrs. H. H. Campbell, and in 1892, Mrs. Campbell took personal charge of the office and continued as deputy Postmistress until 1912. During the time she was deputy, T. E. McGaughey and T. G. Duncan were appointed Postmasters under the Republican administration.

M. Hatfield served as Postmaster from October 1, 1912, to July 25, 1913, when Joe Campbell was appointed, serving until January 1, 1916 when Claude Warren was appointed and served until December 5, 1922. H. O. Ward was Postmaster from that date until February 21, 1924, at which time Ed Williams became Postmaster. T. L. Bryan served as Acting Postmaster from December 14, 1929, and was appointed Postmaster May 9, 1930, serving until January 1935, when Mr. Springer became Postmaster.

Early Mail Slow
Delivery of early-day mail was slow. The first mail was brought to Matador from Colorado City, via Mt. Blanco. About the same time a route was established, bringing mail from Fort Griffin to Fort Elliott, and to Tee Pee City, the first post office in the county, and from there to the ranch. Mail came once a week from each place. In 1888 when the railroad was extended to Childress, the mail was then brought from there.

Matador is now served by three mail deliveries daily, morning and evening mail brought from Roaring Springs, and a noon Star route delivery from Turkey.

Son Of Former Residents Dies

S 2/C Earl Winston Smith, 1 1/2 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Smith of Childress, former Matador residents, was accidentally drowned late Sunday afternoon at the naval base at New London, Conn., his parents were informed Tuesday.

No details of the tragedy were received by his parents. The body is being returned to Childress.

In the navy a year, young Smith was in training at New London. He entered the service on June 16, 1944 shortly before his 18th birthday.

Survivors include his parents, two brothers, Cletus and Bobby of Childress, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Howard of Burk Burnett.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Love may become too brittle in the kiln of dream-tired years, to break under its own weight and leave splinters in the heart.

Tranquility leaves its sandals at the portals of solitude and kneels near the altar where truth has lighted its torch.

It requires the spending of my earnings to keep the world from knowing that I do not labor by choice.

Droning softly, the plane was a silver dragon-fly swaying on the thin reed of space, leaving no shadow on the deep, blue waters of Texas skies.

It is interesting to observe the sudden concern the world expresses in your age when it is more comfortable to talk on another subject.

Lack of foresight is responsible for the general disrespect associated with automobile travel rationing. More astute thinking would have required owners to walk for thirty days. Drivers would have gone to their cars, kissed the hoods and held rationing with a sacred regard.

It is not necessary to keep a record of our mistakes. They are engraved deeply in the rocks that once held the fresh mortar of our hopes.

Being good is simple if you do not have time or money to be otherwise.

Sometimes my thoughts, wearing kimono of frustration, slip through slack fences that surround slumber and frighten the herd of nightmares grazing the lush tundra of my dreams.

Life is like the swift press that reaches greedily for white, fresh sheets stacked evenly on the feed-board. The days are unprinted sheets which will bear the imprint of the type we have set; scold things, beauty, kindness the strength of secret prayers. The forms are inked from the fountain of the night. Destiny feeds the press.

Beyond the tyrannical beauty of soft summer twilight, lay the distant white-capped cloud. Its base melted in the haze and space melted at the summit in silent tides. When deeper shadows rose out of the horizon, the cloud passed with relief to a brush mark on God's great canvas; a picture left unfinished by the Author of splendor.

A taut white flag far out on the sea of green mesquites, the chuck-wagon fly tent casts a shadow on hallowed ashes once heated with camp fires. Time has healed the scars of other chuck-wagon tracks and a thousand old riders have unrolled tarpaulins closer to the stars. Hoofs of herds that once milled on the old round-up ground, have trod the noiseless trail of perished dreams of men who squatted on their boot heels to sip black coffee beneath long evening shadows of the plains. Another era has moved the plunder of a changing world close to the ramp wagon and waits to write the last chapter in its colorful history.

Drought Breaks

Rainfall accompanied by heavy lightning and thunder storm, Wednesday night broke a severe drought which had threatened crop outlooks in this area. Several light showers in recent weeks had relieved intense heat conditions, but without enough moisture to permit crop planting.

Precipitation according to the city wells rain gauge last night amounted to .97 inch. Total rainfall this year, following this rain amounts to 5.59, as compared with 7.53 through the same period last year.

An interesting letter written by Pfc. Payne from Austria, to relatives here relates the movements of his company during the recent months, and is quoted in part, as follows:

"We sailed from Boston, Mass., and landed in Le Havre, France, stayed there for 2 weeks and then moved into Germany, via Belgium, which is a very nice place. We entered Germany near Aachen and passed through this city. We stopped in Cologne (spelled Koln by the Germans) for two days then moved into the Rhine where we were in a firing position for about a week. Just sat there and fired across the river.

"We crossed the Rhine near Bonn one night about 10:30 and moved near Seigen and started in to what is called the battle pocket there were approximately 200,000 men captured and over a million slave laborers released.

"I don't remember just how long we were there, but my regiment has been on the line most all the time, more than anyone else, and I was with the Luden-schied that took the city of Luden-schied - you might have heard of this Anyhow, after Luden-schied was taken, it seemed to bust the whole pocket wide open, for the Jerries started driving

The work is under the supervision of a Childress contractor.

Beef Production Payments Being Made to Feeders

Cattle feeders in Motley County may now apply to the county AAA office for beef cattle production payments, under the Government's new program to increase the production of meat.

Beef cattle production payments amount to 50 cents per hundred-weight on good and choice cattle weighing 800 pounds or more, selling for at least the minimum stabilization price, which, for sales in this county, amounts to $13.50.

The beef cattle production payment is available to all feeders, including slaughterers who are also feeders, Mr. Reeves stated, provided their cattle meet the following program requirements:

A feeder must certify on his application (1) that he owned the cattle at least 30 days before their sale; (2) that the cattle weighed at least 800 pounds when sold; (3) that the cattle brought not less than the minimum price for good grade, and (4) that the cattle were sold for slaughter to an authorized slaughterer, operating under Federal inspection or under an OPA permit at the time he slaughters the feeder cattle on which the payments have been made.

A feeder-slaughterer is eligible to receive payment provided payment has not been previously made on his cattle. He may also receive payment on cattle he raises, provided they are eligible under the program. To collect payment, he must substantiate the date of the purchase the price paid, and the weight at the time of the purchase. He must also certify the grade and the carcass after slaughter to further determine the eligibility of the cattle.

Further details of the program may be obtained from the local AAA office. Applications will be accepted and payments made by the County AAA office as soon as the necessary forms are received, Mr. Reeves said.

TWO ARE DISCHARGED

Two Motley County service men have returned home with honorable discharges from the armed forces. They are, Pvt. Harry Berryman, who received duty with the 1st Cavalry Division, Swift Hospital, and Grover Price, who has been in foreign service with a Navy Construction battalion.

Service Men Put Sales Over Top

With one more week still to go in the national drive, quota of $110,000.00 in E-bond sales in the 7th war loan drive has been met and exceeded in Motley County, according to an announcement released Monday by Elmer Stearns, War Finance Chairman.

Total sales amounted to $111,943.75, with seven communities in the county exceeding their individual quotas. The drive closes officially June 30.

The announcement was made by Mr. Stearns, of advice from Federal Reserve Bank that $3,900.00 had been allocated to Motley County for overseas purchases of bonds by members of the armed forces from this county. The amount was then pro rated to each community on the basis of percentages used in establishing the community quotas.

Motley County now ranks among less than 50 out of 261 county units in the state that have attained allotted quotas. The figures as released by Federal Reserve Bank were as of June 15, when only 25 counties had met quotas, and Motley county ranked 33rd, with 96.3% E-bond sales credited. Allocation of the overseas purchases put this county "over the top".

Over - all quota for Motley county was $170,000.00, and the records show $69,590.50 for outside securities, Mr. Stearns stated. This is based on purchases handled and also advice from others as to the amount they are buying for credit of this county.

Appreciation was expressed by Mr. Stearns to community workers and individual purchasers of bonds, for their cooperation and untiring efforts throughout the drive, which started in the county the latter part of April.

Drought conditions over this section retarded the sale of bonds and affected the amount of purchases considerably.

When the song was ended, the streamers were tied to the star point chairs, forming a lane for the new Matron to be escorted to her station.

GIFTS ARE PRESENTED

After the star points had been installed, the Marshal presented each with a basket of flowers appropriate to her station, after which she presented the new Matron with a large basket of flowers and the new Patron with a small gift.

America Is My Home

The privileged person who can speak that sentence is the man whose head is held the highest, the man who possesses the greatest amount of pride in his home land. He is the man who fights the hardest, plays with the most abandon, and expects his neighbor to exert the same rights that he himself protects from every aggressor. Americans are a united people, and the standards of service to which they are accustomed are the highest the world has ever seen. Our service is of their quality, attended with the care that is practised by the most exacting business man, and because it is our pleasure to serve you, your every banking problem is invited to be placed before us.

He can't ask you now!

... He's an American hero. After fighting bloody battles in the Pacific, he was home on leave two years ago.
... You may remember seeing his picture. His name is John Basilone, Marine Gunnery Sergeant. He traveled all over America, urging every American to buy more bonds.
... He said: "You don't know—you can't know—how much it means to the boys out there when they hear the folks back home have just put another War Bond Drive over the top."
... They gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor and offered him a commission. He didn't want it.
"I'm a plain soldier," he said. "I want to stay one."
... Well, he stayed a plain marine —like Joe and Bill and the fellows down the street. He can't ask you to buy bigger bonds during the Seventh.

He was killed a few weeks ago on Iwo, just after he had led his assault team to the edge of an airfield we needed desperately.

... We can't let him and all our other fighting heroes down. Remember, last year we had two War Loan Drives by this time. The Seventh is our personal call to arms—two drives in one. That's why our quota is large.
... We must meet it—we will meet it—for the hero of Iwo—for Victory—for pride in America.

"HOW'D THE UMPIRE GET IN THE GAME"

WHETHER it's baseball or business, Americans play all the way.

In baseball, the umpire sees to it that the game is according to the rules. But he is not a player.

In business, government should be the umpire to enforce fair rules.

But when government goes into business and competes with its own citizens, the American tradition of fair play is aside. The umpire then becomes a player, and he enjoys advantages that are denied to all the other players.

For example, government and municipal power plants are not required to pay federal taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses in the pockets of the taxpayers.

Maybe you run a store or service station or home. Would you like to have a next-door competitor who has no rent, or taxes, or interest to pay, and who is kept in business partly by your tax money?

Fortunately for America today, over 80% of the nation's electric power in this country is produced by independent self-supporting electric light and power companies, owned and operated by several million folks like you.

These business-managed companies are a big reason there is enough electricity to meet even the gigantic demands of war—and why, when most things cost more, electricity is delivered at low pre-war prices.

Elwanda Willingham Becomes Bride Of Cecil Terrell in Lubbock Rites

Mrs. Cecil Terrell

A double ring ceremony, performed Saturday night, June 2, at Lubbock, united in marriage, Miss Elwanda Willingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Willingham of Lubbock, formerly of Whiteflat, and Cecil A. Terrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Terrell, also of Lubbock.

Rev. W. L. Higginbotham officiated in the ceremony, which was read at 9 o'clock in the Christian Alliance chapel.

Miss Mildred Higginbotham lighted the candles which were arranged on a palm decorated altar.

Miss Laverne Terrell, organist and Arthur Allen, violinist, played "Love Divine all Love Excelling" and "Love Found the Way" preceding the ceremony. Rev. Stanley Waldron sang "Because". Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown designed with a high round neckline, form fitting waist line, gathered skirt and sleeves which tapered into points over the hands. The yoke and skirt were decorated with appliqued designs. Her white gladiolus bouquet was showered with white satin streamers. For something old, borrowed and blue, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to an aunt.

Mrs. Earl Blankenship of Amarillo, matron of honor, wore a blue chiffon gown with a sweetheart neckline and a full gathered skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of flowers matching her gown.

Attendants To Bride
Bridesmaids were Mrs. Elvira Rhea Lawrence of Matador and Miss Jean Pepper of Flomot. Mrs. Lawrence wore a pink and black net gown with a V-shaped neckline, shirred puff sleeves and a gathered skirt. A yellow chiffon gown with a low round neckline, a fitted waist line and lace trimming on the skirt and waist was worn by Miss Pepper. Both carried colonial bouquets to match their gowns.

Byron Terrell served his brother as best man. Ushers were Pfc. E. D. Lawrence of Spokane, Wash., and Elbert O'Neill.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A two tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom decorated the refreshment table. Is Matador Graduate

Mrs. Terrell is a graduate of Matador High School, and had studied at West Texas State College, Canyon. The bridegroom graduated from Lubbock High School and attended Texas Technological College.

The couple is at home at 1701 Thirty-second street, Lubbock.

Out of town guests of the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pritchett, Whiteflat, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Truett from Idalou.

In The Service

James L. Turner, M. M. 3/c, writes from aboard ship, "Just a line or two to say that I'm still alive and well. . . haven't been doing much these last few days, but losing a lot of sleep. My ship is still holding her own so far, we have one Jap battleship, four invasions and eight or more airplanes on our credit and in hopes of a lot more."

"Sure was sorry to hear about the home town boys that were killed, but they did not die in vain."

"I have been getting four to six papers every time we get a mail call, which isn't very often."

The liberty we get out here isn't very good; only three hours when we rate - one hour to get over, one hour standing in the hot sun, then an hour to get back to the ship.

Can't say I like the South Pacific. I guess there are a lot of other guys that feel the same way.

I just missed Buster Mize at two Jima. . . sure would like to see him; I didn't even know he was there until we had already left. There are some of the boys at (censored) but it was impossible for me to see them.

I hope you can read this. Ever since I got my hand hurt, it's hard to write.

Don't Worry About Us! We'll do it!"

They tell us that the fat salvage problem has got to be licked in the small towns and on the farms.

Our country has to have one hundred million more pounds of used fat year over last. And we're the people who must save it.

We've rolled up our sleeves! We'll save every drop and bit it is possible to save and keep on doing it till the last Jap is licked.

HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and grease for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, such as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl. Melt down when your oven's going and the liquid fat to the salvage can. Take the can to your butcher as it's full. He will give you four cents and two red points for each pound. Your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent can give you full particulars.
