TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Opinion may be garnished by many chefs whose tastes differ as widely as do their ideas of gastronomic appeal.

The profile of simplicity is stark and massive against the cloud facade from jets of turmoil in the valley of understanding. To those who shut their eyes to light and speak of darkness, the simple truth is an instrument of complexity.

There is little purpose in watering the flower of ambition with education if it is growing under a tub of chronic inertia.

Temptation has many cloaks, most of which have been designed to conceal the presence of an impostor.

Most of us have chapters in the book of memories which would contribute more to the pleasure of review, if they had not been written.

This is the season of the year when pictures on garden seed packages cause general unrest that may result in blisters on the hands before the condition subsides.

Judge Gerald Fugit

Series of Articles Will Attempt to Explain Complex Wheat Program Referendum

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles written by Thomas E. Moore, County ASC Office Manager, designed to help farmers decide how to vote in the crucial wheat referendum this Spring.

By Thomas E. Moore

In May of this year Motley County farmers will vote for or against the government's proposed 1964 wheat program.

It won't be an easy decision.

Mountainous grain surpluses have continued to pile up under the old program, taking cash out of pockets of farmers and taxpayers alike. This old surplus bugaboo made it necessary for the Secretary to institute a few major changes in the program devised for 1964.

These articles are prepared to acquaint farmers with these changes—the pros and the cons—so that they may intelligently make up their own minds whether or not they want it.

First, the old program had its strong points. But it also had its weaknesses, among which was its inability to curb the ever-mounting surpluses.

The 1964 program, proposed only after exhaustive work by Secretary Reeman, his staff and other experts in the field, and approved by Congress last October, seeks to eliminate the weaknesses while retaining those points which have proved themselves over the years.

Yield Increased

One of the major weaknesses of the program now in effect is the set national minimum acreage allotment of 55 million acres. When this figure was arrived at back in 1938, the average national per acre yield was 12.4 bushels. The total production was approximately 700 million bushels.

Gradually, however, farmers, using new and advanced farming methods, have been able to increase their per-acre yields. The result is that today the old 55 million acres produces an average of 25 bushels per acre, or a crop of some 1.4 billion bushels, or twice the production that resulted 25 years ago.

Naturally, then, the original 55 million acre figure is now antiquated, ineffective and surplus-creating.

To modernize and make more realistic this outmoded national allotment is the major change envisioned for the 1964 program. (continued on back page)

Eternas Club Members Model Fashions for Recent Style Show

"As Mrs. Rance Moore descended the aisle in 1898 she was as beautiful as a bride can be in an off-white wool blend, two-piece wedding dress," narrated Mrs. Roy Grundy in her introduction for a style show held by Eternas Study Club on March 21, at the American Legion building.

"We have Mickey (Mrs. Lewis) Bostick wearing Mrs. Moore's dress. The bodice is fitted and is accented by a lace inset and lace trimmed collar. The leg-mutton sleeves are long and fitted at the wrist. Her long skirt features a bustle to give it the 'back swept' look which was the trend of the 1890's. Her white high-top shoes complete her ensemble."

Continuing her narration, Mrs. Grundy described a red, white and blue calico print costume of the gay nineties, belonging to Mrs. Marvin Patton and worn by her daughter-in-law, Joan (Mrs. Keith Patton).

Another dress which had belonged to the late Mrs. Rance Moore and worn by her in 1910, was modeled by Mrs. Bill Seale. The white batiste dress was trimmed with a small gold embroidered design and featured an Empire waistline.

Dress From Bullock's
A pale yellow Empire dress purchased by the late Mrs. Carrie Walton McKenzie in 1914 at Bullock's in Los Angeles, was modeled by Mrs. Dean McAnally. The dress was of chiffon over china silk, lace-trimmed collar and scalloped sleeves, a cummerbund of gold satin, and gold satin ribbon on the hemline and scalloped overskirt.

Mrs. Sut Braselton modeled a khaki riding suit belonging to Mrs. Joannie Burleson, mother of Mrs. Bundy Campbell. Mrs. Burleson wore the two-piece habit, designed for riding a side-saddle, in 1915.

Mrs. C. L. Hacker Jr., wore a forest green crepe dress which belonged to Mrs. W. C. Pallmeyer, mother of Bill Pallmeyer, which was "high style" in 1917, and Mrs. Pete Knight modeled a black satin dress worn by Mrs. Pallmeyer in 1919. The long torso skirt was belted at the side. A fox neck-piece and muff completed the costume.

An embroidered lace dress belonging to Mrs. L. J. Barkley was worn by Mrs. Ralph Jones. The sleeves and flowing skirt were hemmed in scallops, in the vogue of 1918 for evening wear. Another dress of Mrs. Barkley's was a brown chiffon georgette, worn by her in 1922, and modeled by Mrs. Frank Price. The beaded dress featured a draped overskirt, gathered cummerbund and scooped neckline.

A short, fringe-trimmed dress of the "flapper" era was worn by Mrs. Forrest Campbell as she demonstrated the Charleston of the '20s, in a manner reminiscent of Clara Bow, the "IT" girl of that age. Mrs. Max Thacker of Roaring Springs modeled a dress of pink and white checked knit of the same period. Both wore head-bands which were popular accessories of the "Charleston Age."

Peg-top Skirt

When Helen Keith became the bride of Marvin Patton in 1920 she was attired in a navy blue dress, modeled by Mrs. Charles Johnson. The braided-trimmed dress featured a "peg-top" skirt, and an unusual aspect of the dress was that the sleeves were sewed to the camisole. A seal stole and muff added the finishing touches.

Black leotards were worn with a black knit bathing suit, by Mrs. Dean Chaney, to demonstrate how the well-dressed bathing beauties were attired in 1924. The suit featured "little boy legs with an overskirt," and belonged to Mrs. D. E. Bryan, mother of Mrs. Douglas Pitts Jr.

A three-piece suit, featuring a pleated "flapper" skirt and over-bodice of white crepe, designed with applique and embroidery, and a 3/4 crepe coat, was an ensemble from Mrs. R. E. Donovan's 1929 wedding trousseau, modeled by Mrs. Lonnie Lynn.

Also belonging to Mrs. Donovan was a rose-beige lace and crepe georgette featuring the uneven hemline popular in 1930, which was modeled by Mrs. Kenneth Thompson. The skirt flared from below lace inserts at the hipline.

Wears Paris Original

As she narrated the program, Mrs. Grundy was wearing a Paris Original bought in 1928 by the late Mrs. John P. Garrity, sister-in-law of Mrs. Donovan. The dress of light blue net was heavily encrusted in beads and sequins which formed an unusual design on the torso, and featured the uneven hemline.

In 1929 the high style in basketball suits was the pleated "bloomers" with elastic just below the knee, worn with a mid-dy overblouse. Mrs. Bob Thompson was the model for this costume.

"In 1940 the waistline returned to normal and the hemline was mid-calf," Mrs. Grundy's commentary continued. "The shoulders were padded to show the unusual sleeves of this dress worn by Mrs. Bill Pallmeyer. The long sleeves are tucked and ruffled with fitted cuffs. The front of the skirt features several tiny gores. This cocoa brown crepe dress of Mrs. Donovan's was the forerunner of our modern-day shirtwaist dress."

Modeling one of her own dresses was Mrs. H. C. Smith of Roaring Springs. In 1943 Mrs. Smith was fashionable in a gold wool two-piece suit which featured the trend of the year, with a fitted bodice and flared peplum.

A typical school girl dress of 1946 was the skirt and blouse, but with a different look than those worn today. The "Gibson Girl" blouse belonging to Mrs. Richard Turner, was worn by Mrs. Bob Thompson with a circular black corduroy ballerina skirt and ballerina shoes.

A chemise of 1958 worn by Mrs. Ralph Jones had a high rounded neckline and short sleeves. The straight lines of the dress extended from the bustline to the hem and a bow in the back accented the hipline.

New fashions from the Matador Variety and Salem Dry Goods were modeled by Mesdames Jody Graham, Dean Chaney and Sut Braselton, and concluding the program was the twist, danced by Darlene McAnally and Thomas Edmondson.

Needs of Orient Cited by Speaker

The great needs of the poverty-stricken areas of Thailand and other countries of the Orient were stressed in a talk here, Friday, March 29, at the First Baptist Church.

Speaker was Mrs. J. T. King of Childress, President of the District Eleven W.M.U., who spent two and a half months touring the Far East, and told of her experiences there.

"My main interest and concern was to become acquainted with the people of the lands I visited, and to know more about them," Mrs. King said. "This I did, rather than spending my time looking at historical things."

Of course I saw many things of beauty, but my chief concern was to take a Christian testimony into lands where Christ is so little known."

Mrs. King illustrated her talk with colored slides showing the living conditions of the underprivileged classes. She was presented by Mrs. John Barnhill, and accompanied from Childress by Mrs. H. L. Couch, District Eleven secretary-treasurer.

Other features of the program included a solo by Mrs. Richard Turner and a brief talk on Women's Missionary Society work by Mrs. Edgar Lee. Mrs. James Price, president conducted a brief business session.

Following the program, spiced tea and cookies were served by Mesdames Bill Dunning and Ronald Christian, in the church basement.

Shower is Held For Recent Bride

A miscellaneous shower Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. S. Stanley was a courtesy for Mrs. Harley Jack Clark of Canyon, the former Sandra Gray.

Hostesses with Mrs. Stanley were Mesdames Robert Darsey, Kenneth Thompson, Charles Scuff, J. F. Thrasher, Bill Dunning and James Renfro.

The recent bride was assisted in opening her gifts, by her young sister, Sheila Gray of Meadow, and Miss Jane Scaff registered the guests, who called from 4 until 5:00 p.m.

Mrs. Thrasher presided at the crystal punch service. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli and carnations. Tea, cookies, mints and nuts were served with the punch.

Attending the shower from out of town were the honoree's mother and sister, Mrs. George Gray and Sheila of Meadow; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jack Clark of Dimmitt, and Mrs. Ruth Marie Harrison and Miss Myrtle Lorenz of Dallas.

New Social Club Formed by Group

A new organization was formed at the home of Mrs. James Price, Thursday night, March 28. Named "The Coffee Club," this will be a social club, meeting once a month in the homes of members.

Mrs. Tommy Reynolds was elected chairman of the club. Mrs. Howard Gwinn and Mrs. Doyle Rose were named as a telephone committee, and Mrs. Jerry Noles was elected reporter.

Co-hostess for the affair with Mrs. Price was Mrs. Richard Turner. Others present were Mesdames Ronnie Christian, Bob Fullingim, Charles Gwinn and Don Boland.

Following the business session, coffee and pie were served and games enjoyed.

The group will meet again April 18, the place to be decided. The club invites anyone interested in joining, to contact Mrs. Tommy Reynolds, phone 347-2470.

IN APPRECIATION

For the many kindnesses shown me during my illness at home and in the Methodist Hospital at Lubbock, I am deeply grateful.

I appreciated the cards, letters, flowers, phone calls, visits and all other expressions of interest and concern. May God bless each of you.

Top Entertainer At '90s' Banquet

An outstanding entertainer who might have stepped from the stage of a lyceum performance, or had top billing in a sophisticated cabaret, was the star Tuesday night, March 26, at a "Gay '90s" banquet in the First Baptist Church basement.

Joe Liles, music and youth director at the First Baptist Church, Abilene, was sensational, keeping his audience of approximately 85 youths in laughter and applauding for an hour. He was introduced by Rev. Miller Robinson.

Occasion was the annual banquet given by the W.M.U. organizations of the Matador and Whiteflat Baptist churches for high school students.

The church basement had the atmosphere of a "Gay '90s" cafe to an exacting detail in decorations. "Waitresses" who served the excellent home-prepared food, were eighth grade girls attired in long dresses and wore their hair long in the fashion of the "90s" era.

Young lady guests were provided costume bonnets and the boys were given costume hats. Most colorfully attired were five boys in red vests to augment conventional clothing and each wore a black moustache. They were Kenny Barton, Mike Barton, Pete Davis, Lloyd Martin and David Rattan, on the program as the "Barbershop Quartet" for a musical number.

Pete Davis as Master of Ceremonies gave a good performance. "Flora Dora Girls," Janna Crenshaw, Janie Killingsworth and Sandra Sandefer sang a medley of Gay '90 tunes. Invocation was by David Thompson, Welcome was by Mrs. James Price, Matador W.M.U. president and response was by Pat Cooper. Mrs. Stuart Dixon, Whiteflat W.M.U. president gave the benediction.

Pre-dinner music in the church auditorium was by Pat Day, Mary Newman and Sue Stevens, under the direction of Mrs. John V. Stevens.

What is Pooling?

In spite of all the jokes about "oil-rich Texans," most Texans aren't rich. Relatively few of them have even one oil well.

All Texans have a stake in the oil business, however, because it makes jobs, puts money into circulation, and pays taxes.

Texas oil operators have to compete with those in other states and foreign countries. This competition is tough and growing tougher. Improvements in production methods for greater efficiency are necessary in Texas. It is a question as to whether Texans prefer to do this job themselves or let the federal government do it.

Many of the most responsible people in the oil industry believe the Texas Legislature can solve some of the most troublesome problems by passing House Bill 510, an oil and gas pooling bill. "Pooling" in oil field language simply means putting separately-owned pieces of acreage together, sharing costs of drilling a well, and splitting any income proportionately.

A fair pooling law would create drilling blocks of uniform and proper size (according to the spacing pattern of the field). It would help the industry to cut down on unnecessary development drilling and thus free capital for more "wildcat" drilling. It would provide a legal way for landowners to divide their minerals in proportion to holdings.

An outcry has been raised against House Bill 510 by the professional "small-tract drillers," who for many years have enjoyed the legal sanction to produce oil and gas which rightfully belonged to someone else. Advocates of pooling do NOT think that property rights should be confused with the "right" to take another man's property—or that free enterprise should cover the FREE CONFISCATION of another's oil and gas.

Contrary to claims of persons who, for reasons of their own, want to retain the outmoded methods of the past, House Bill 510 does NOT tie up large blocks of acreage with one well; it does not affect any wells already drilled or reservoirs already developed; it does not take away the landowner's bargaining power or change the terms of any lease except to the extent necessary to form a drilling block. House bill 510 would merely give all landowners an opportunity to have their properties developed when some owners cannot be located or one owner seeks to obtain an unfair advantage. The rights of all would be EQUALLY protected.

Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510 — so Texas, too, will have a reasonable and legal way to assure each landowner his FAIR SHARE.

News at Random

Even though this is six weeks, the grind is still to come. Because of interscholastic league competition today and tomorrow, six weeks' tests will be Monday and Tuesday, April 8 and 9.

Next week won't be too long though, because we will be out of school Friday and the following Monday for Easter holidays. There is nothing like looking forward to a holiday to put zip and zing into a spring-fever infested student body.

The senior play was a "howling success". Who would have thought that a group of good-looking sophisticated seniors could turn so quickly into a bearded mass of hillbillies.

All the students who attended the Sweetheart banquet reported a good time. They were entertained royally and fed handsomely. Pete Davis added another talent to his repertoire when he was applauded as a successful master of ceremonies, and the new singing group composed of high school boys was described as the "find of the year."

JUNIOR PLAY CAST CHOSEN

The cast for the junior play, "Peekaboo Penny," was chosen following tryouts Monday, March 25.

"Peekaboo Penny" is a 3-act comedy about such zany characters as a slangy telephone operator, a cowboy from Oklahoma, an English schoolmarm and a sour-faced director. Rehearsals, under direction of Mr. Bill Moss, are already under way, and the tentative date for presenting the play is April 26.

Those receiving parts were David Rattan, Robert Brandon, Mary Irwin, Jack McCallie, Sue Stevens, Joyce Scaff, Betty Sandefer, Roger Vinson and Thomas Edmondson.

Your Fair Share.

Most Texans, we believe, are fair-minded folks. They believe in fair play, square dealing, and mutual respect for personal and property rights. Those who want to take advantage of their neighbors are the exception.

Sometimes it may be hard to define "a fair share." This can occur in dividing oil or gas production, when two or more landowners are involved.

As we all know, oil and gas don't pay any attention to fence lines.

Here in Texas many wells have been allowed to produce more oil or gas than they should have because they were drilled on very small tracts. That extra oil or gas came from under the neighbors' land.

Some oilmen made a regular practice of this type of operation. Obviously, one owner got more than his fair share—others, less.

People in 26 out of 29 oil-producing states have found a way to divide their oil and gas so that each owner gets what is rightfully his. They simply put their small acreage together and share the costs and income. This system is known as POOLING.

Such a system is needed in Texas. It is proposed in a bill now before the Legislature, HOUSE BILL 510. When the neighbors cannot agree, the Railroad Commission would set up a drilling block and see to it that the rights of all owners are protected . . . all costs and proceeds equitably divided.

Oilmen who have made fortunes at the expense of others could not be expected to support House Bill 510. They are bitterly opposing it. But the responsible oilmen of Texas are overwhelmingly for it. So are the informed citizens who want to see justice done.

Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510—so Texas, too, will have a reasonable and legal way to assure to each landowner his FAIR SHARE.

PIED PINIONS

By Mrs. M.

From Bangkok, Thailand (Si-am) to Matador, Texas is quite a span not only in miles, but in customs and human beings. Vi-boon Tulanonda, or "Boon" as he is more often called, a recent visitor from the land of Buddhism is of the opinion that if the attitude of Christian people continues in its present vein, then Christianity will fall as a religion.

Speaking at the First Baptist Church, the Wayland Baptist College student expressed his thoughts concisely as he replied to questions, but always came back with the statement that if all Christendom would stress the Love of God rather than confuse the people with the doctrines of different denominations, more could be accomplished.

The young man has been in the United States five years (six years in June.) He came at the invitation of a layman-missionary of the Seven Day Adventist Church, which faith he first accepted. Later he was converted to the Baptist belief while attending the University of Albuquerque, and attending church services with friends.

In comparing worship services here with that of his homeland, he said, "Some churches here seem more like social organizations than religious groups. Our temples are entered with reverence and the people go for one purpose, to worship God, through Buddha."

There is no stated time for worship. The temples are open at all times. The people remove their shoes as they enter, and kneel during the time of their meditation as there are no chairs. The religious beliefs are taught by the parents, to their children, although there are head priests or Monks, to whom they go for counsel.

"Religion is a very touchy thing," Boon asserted. "It can be good or bad; it can be better or worse. Some missionaries as well as servicemen and tourists don't leave a very good impression. If a missionary does something wrong, then all get a bad name."

"Why should there be a difference in opinions? All should teach the love of Christ."

Wheat . . .

gram. Secretary Freeman and the Congress want to readjust the ratio of acreage and yield in a sensible way to prevent insofar as possible the accumulation of surpluses inevitable unless it is done.

Obsolete Program

Obviously, we cannot continue to operate an obsolete government program while the grain surplus mounts higher and higher, ruining markets, depressing prices, and plunging the farmers' ever deeper into economic trouble.

A second important change provided by the 1964 program deals with the two-price certificate plan. Under this plan, a farmer will receive a higher cash return on that part of his production used domestically and exported, and a lesser amount for that which is used for feed and seed.

This change is important so that the American farmer can retain his high standard-of-living income at home and still compete on foreign markets. If he couldn't sell his grain abroad, his surpluses, obviously would destroy him domestically.

Thirdly, the 1964 program will provide that acreage diverted from production of wheat will be devoted to conservation practices and not to crops already in surplus supply. This will be another major effort to bring the surplus problem under better control.

There are other changes planned in the new program, but these basically, are the important ones. We'll discuss them in more detail in future articles.

But the sound objectives of the program are: (1) An orderly reduction of stocks to balance supply with demand. (2) Maintenance of adequate reserve supplies. (3) Fair prices to producers and consumers. (4) Prevent wheat acreage diversion from adversely affecting other commodities. (5) Reduction of Government costs.

If these objectives are realized, it will be a step forward for farmers, consumers of their products, and for the government program in agriculture.

A. D. Beauchamp Enters Hospital

A. D. Beauchamp, one of Matador's nonagenarians, entered Stanley Hospital Sunday morning and is in critical condition with pneumonia. He had fallen at his home on Friday.

Other patients include Albert Christian of Turkey, father of Ronnie Christian, Matador; Ed Hurst, also of Turkey, a heart patient; Otis Wilson, Quitaque; Mrs. C. H. Matney, Joe Meador, and Mrs. W. M. Graham, all of Matador.

Patients dismissed recently were Alvie Pernell of Afton, a heart patient, who was dismissed Tuesday; Mrs. E. H. Holcomb of Roaring Springs, and Mrs. Vada Bishop, both dismissed Monday; and Mrs. R. A. Day, Sunday.

VISIT IN BIG SPRING

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Harp returned home Tuesday from a trip to Big Spring where they visited his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harp. Mr. Harp is a patient in the Veteran's Hospital, and other recent visitors there have been another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harp of Childress. Mrs. A. A. Harp's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tardy of Roaring Springs visited them Sunday, and going Tuesday to be with them for a few days was Mrs. Harp's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Renfro.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to take this means of expressing my gratitude to everyone who remembered me with flowers, cards, and visits during my recent hospitalization. Your thoughtfulness was deeply appreciated.
Mrs. R. A. Day
