PAPER ON OLD WALL REVEALS PAST HISTORY OLD COPY OF PADUCAH HEADLIGHT DATED BACK 39 YEARS

"A piece of brittle and yellowed paper removed from the wall of the H.M. Ford home about nine miles southeast of Matador recently revealed some early day history of this section. It was a copy of the Paducah Headlight dated Friday, December 8, 1898. The old newspaper, while partly intact was brought to Matador by Jimmie Green after he had found it during the removal of old wall covering to make improvements."

The benediction was given by Billy Denison and the Flag was raised by Charlie Johnson and Luther Green. Master of Ceremonies was retired Major Charles Keith.

Flags were flying all over town Monday, in observance of Memorial Day.

Luther Green and others raised the flag at Whiteflat and Buzz Thacker and others raised the flag at Roaring Springs.

With End of School Approaching Drivers Are Urged To Use Caution

With the final bell ringing the end of another school year, comes increased levels of excitement for area children and youth. These young people will be at parks, swimming pools, movies and many near and in streets.

Trooper L.B. Snider of the Texas Department of Public Safety calls on area motorists to pay extra attention to these areas as the school year ends.

"Give extra attention to those playing on or near streets. Remember, in the excitement of play, kids will often do things they shouldn't, such as running, skating or biking into traffic areas.

One sudden lunge by a child and an inattentive moment of a motorist can result in that child's frightened eyes looking at us through our windshield," Trooper Snider cautions.

Trooper Snider said, "Numerous youngsters will be on skates and bicycles on sidewalks, into driveways and streets. Many of these young people have limited traffic skills and motorists should be mindful of this fact. Parents need to help these children to develop these skills. Snider encourages bicyclists to use approved helmets, avoid frayed pant cuffs and shoe strings. Elbow and knee pads can also help minimize injuries.

Trooper Snider advises that whether on foot, bicycle, skateboard etc. for young people to wear good visibility clothing to aid motorists' ability to see them in time to avoid a disaster. "By taking a little time daily to see that our young people are properly dressed and geared for outdoor activities and well coached on safety skills, this can be the exciting and enjoyable time that the end of the school year should be," concludes Snider.

Well, it's official. I am now a grandmother. That sounds weird. But I cannot tell you how proud I am. Even though, at this writing I have not yet been able to go see her, due to circumstances beyond my control, I know she is the most beautiful baby ever to enter this world. Of course, I'm not prejudiced or anything.

Since I am working on two papers, statements, mailing labels, etc., because of my own scheduled hospital stay, which begins at 6:00 a.m. Wednesday morning, I am unable to leave work and go to Lubbock at this moment. I am about to go crazy!

5:25 a.m. this morning (Tuesday), after keeping her Mommie and Daddy busy all day Monday and all night, she finally decided to join us.

Believe me, I'm sure you will be hearing a lot about little Morgan from now on.

I appreciate all the words of concern and the promises for prayer. Because I truly believe in the power of prayer, and to me there's nothing I would rather someone do for me as to pray. That's one thing we can never get enough of.

Spectacular Wildflower Season In Full Bloom Throughout Area

Texas roadsides have an abundance of wildflowers this spring, according to the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT).

Bumper crops of bluebonnets, Indian paintbrushes, lemonmints and other native flora dot the roadsides throughout the area.

"The determining factor for a successful wildflower season is the amount of rain enjoyed by a region during the preceding fall and winter," said Craig Steffens, TxDOT's director of landscape design. "Wildflower plants actually start their growth process prior to the spring season. So the fall and winter downpours that we've had are providing a beautiful and bountiful wildflower season."

TxDOT has given Mother Nature a helping hand with wildflowers, according to Steffens.

"Our maintenance crews work year-round planting thousands of wildflower seeds and coordinating mowing schedules to allow native plants to mature. These vegetation management techniques help to prevent soil erosion conserve water and save money while, at the same time, producing some of the most beautiful rights-of-way in the United States," Steffens added.

Understanding Scripture

It is important to point out that we use the word understand in two different ways. Sometimes when we say, "I don't understand," we mean, "I can't grasp what the writer is trying to say." At other times we mean, "I can see what he's saying all right, but I don't see how it could be true." When such difficulties arise, we make sure we have read the passage correctly. We may be puzzling over something which the passage didn't really say in the first place.

But if having checked you are still shaking your head, chances are someone else has struggled over the same passage before. Thus the Christian family, especially classroom Bible study, becomes a rare asset.

Usually, we are puzzled simply because the Scripture conflicts with our prior ideas about what the Bible ought to say. But in any case, in learning about the most profound mysteries of being, you are likely to come across ideas that shake and disturb. Some will be gateways to profound insights. Others will continue to puzzle us. If they do, the solution is not to stop learning, but to file the puzzle in the "unsolved" compartment of your mind, having committed the matter to God in prayer. Five years from now you may wonder what it was that once bothered you.

Let us be a people of His Word.

"Be diligent to present yourself approved to God as a workman who does not need to be ashamed, handling accurately the word of truth"

Countdown to Project Graduation - "Mardi Gras in Matador"

"Mardi-Gras in Matador" will be celebrated at Project Graduation, after graduation, May 31. The festive theme for this year's all-night party will give high school students and their guests a fun, substance-free night to celebrate the end of school. Students must sign in as they enter the party, and commit to stay all night. If the student chooses to leave, a volunteer will call the student's parents and inform them of the student's leaving. After leaving the party, students will not be permitted to come back to the party.

Students will be treated to a dance, pizza, snacks, movies, basketball tournament, casino games, and lots of prizes. Every student will receive some type of prize. Students can use their "cash" from the casino games to "buy" prizes. Prizes will be given away during the dance and at various times throughout the night.

Freshman students are asked to bring homemade brownies to the party; Sophomores, cookies; and Juniors, chips, crackers or dip.

Breakfast will be served at 4:30 a.m. and students will leave for home and most likely a day of sleep at 5:00 a.m.

Donations of prizes or cash are still being accepted at the following merchants: Matador Variety, Rose Garden Floral, West Texas Utilities, Quality Discount Outlet in Matador; and Thacker Supply and Vickie's Floral in Roaring Springs.

DEATH OF AN INNOCENT

Note: With Graduation approaching, and as we all know, parties, we thought this poem might be appropriate at this time. Maybe it will make someone stop and think.

I went to a party, Mom, I remembered what you said.
You told me not to drink, Mom, so I drank soda instead.
I really felt proud inside, Mom, the way you said I would.
I didn't drink and drive Mom, even though the others said I should.
I know I did the right thing, Mom, I know you are always right.
Now the party is finally ending, Mom, as everyone is driving out of sight.

As I got into my car, Mom, I knew I'd get home in one piece.
Because of the way you raised me, so responsible and sweet.
I started to drive away, Mom, but as I pulled out into the road, the other car didn't see me, Mom, and hit me like a load.
As I lay there on the pavement, Mom, I hear the policeman say, the other guy is drunk, Mom, and now I'm the one who will pay.
I'm lying here dying, Mom, I wish you'd get here soon.

How could this happen to me, Mom? My life just burst like a balloon.
There is blood all around, Mom, and most of it is mine.
I hear the medic say, Mom, I'll die in a short time.
I just wanted to tell you, Mom, I swear I didn't drink.
It was the others, Mom. The others didn't think.
He was probably at the same party as I.
The only difference is, he drank and I will die.

Why do people drink, Mom? It can ruin your whole life.
I'm feeling sharp pains now. Pains just like a knife.
The guy who hit me is walking, Mom, and I don't think it's fair.
I'm lying here dying and all he can do is stare.

Tell my brother not to cry, Mom. Tell Daddy to be brave.
And when I go to heaven, Mom, put "Daddy's Girl" on my grave.
Someone should have told him, Mom, not to drink and drive.
If only they had told him, Mom, I would still be alive.

My breath is getting shorter, Mom, I'm becoming very scared.
Please don't cry for me, Mom. When I needed you, you were always there.
I have one last question, Mom, before I say goodbye.
I didn't drink and drive, so why am I the one to die?

Senior Class History

by Brandi Jameson & Tyler Decker

As time for graduation draws to a close, we the class of '97 think back and remember the good ole days. As we look back, we remember many class activities and the names and faces of old friends.

In January 1985, 28 excited and anxious youngsters started kindergarten in the basement of the First Baptist Church. Our class consisted of: Armando Barrera, Alana Bingham, Leah Cruse, Talon Cruse, Bert Darsey, Joey Garcia, Dowell Garrison, Joe Gonzalez, Brandi Jameson, Jodie Kilmar, Doyle Lee, Josh Lee, Payton Lester, Amanda Locke, Joe Mangram, Leslie Minkley, Lee Ann Moreno, Dodie Morris, Darryn Perryman, Scotty Scott, Bo Speed, Lou Ann Taylor, Misty Thomas, Cody Timmons, Rebecca Tippin, Jeannie Torres, Lacey Washington, and Matt Woolsey. Mrs. Hoyle and Mrs. Wright were busy trying to keep our large class under control. We were the last to attend only have a year of kindergarten. Let's just say our teachers were lucky to only have us that long.

Mrs. Hoyle turned us over into the capable hands of the first grade teacher, Mrs. Richards. We continued our education in the basement. Our class gained Crystal Norris and Kris Marvel, but we lost Dowell, Amanda, and Joey.

Halfway through our second grade year, Mrs. Thacker moved us over to the newly completed school building. We finally had a cafeteria to eat lunch in. This year we gained Kyle and Quintin Brandon and Erika Klebahn, but Kris Marvel moved. Darryn had his first, but not his last, spanking that year from Mr. Patrick, the elementary principal.

In the third grade, our class changed forever. Lanie Barton and Kasey Parks moved in and replaced Erika who left.

With these two new members, Mrs. Turner needed all the help she could get. This was also the year everyone had the chicken pox.

In the fourth grade we were taught a great deal by substitutes. Mr. Willmon had an accident and cut his leg very badly. Too bad for the substitutes! We lost Alana that year, but Gina Paul moved in. Brandi, Dodie, and Lanie decided to become inventors and make their own finger-nail polish with glue and paint. Even though that's not all they did, let's just say they became very well acquainted with Mr. Hamilton, the new elementary principal, spending most of the year in his office.

Our fifth grade year, we were taught by Mrs. Parks. We lost Gina Paul. Brandi, Dodie, and Lanie renewed their acquaintance with the principal, joined by their able comrad in crime, Talon.

In the sixth grade we were joined by Ginny Rowland and Edward Alvarado. We said goodbye to Crystal Norris. Cody, Darryn, and Bert practiced their softball skills by throwing rocks. Then Mr. Van Hoose practiced his batting skills. We won't say how, but the boys didn't throw any more rocks. Mrs. Stephens was our teacher and very fluent in German. We always know when she got that red V on her forehead and started saying stuff we couldn't understand, that she wasn't too happy with us.

Our seventh grade year was quite an experience. Changing classes meant having a variety of teachers. Terry Davis and Humberto Espinoza joined the class this year. Kasey was hit on the head with a shot put in practice one day. Although the doctors say she suffered no permanent damage she has been a little more scatter brained ever since. Just a few days after that incident, she caught her hair on fire while she was blowing out her birthday candles.

Our eighth grade was marred by the death of a favorite teacher, Mr. Piper. We miss him and savor our memories of him. He was a very good friend as well as a most able teacher. We were joined by Laura Mendoza.

As the top dogs in Junior High we enjoyed our role to the fullest, but were very eager for that big giant step into "manhood", where, although we would be at the bottom of the totem pole again, it was one step closer to freedom.

Our ninth grade year, we still thought we were pretty hot stuff. For the girls, that time ended when the senior girls put icy hot and bengay in our athletic clothes. Even though it burned a little and we whined a lot, the best part was watching them run one of the Coach's famous 16 in 60s. That felt great. As for the guys, it was 2 a days, no explanation needed. And if you think our class changed forever when Lanie and Kasey moved in, this was the year we were joined by Tyler Decker and Brooke Barton. The two of them became very well acquainted with Mrs. Hays and the front of her classroom. Mr. Van Hoose visited frequently. Jamie Timmins, Codi Williams, and Thomas Torres also moved in that year, but did not finish the year with us. We lost Bo Speed that year.

When we were sophomores we were finally out of that big hole the seniors had put us in, but still not yet where we wished we could be. This year we were blessed with the presence of three new faces: Angelina and Angelica Corpus, and Misty Easter. This is the year most of us got our license. Brooke's "Wagon" made many trips to Allsup's during lunch, and taught us a whole new concept of "Cruise Control."

Our Junior year we were so excited about being so close to the top, maybe we were actually good that year. Or maybe not. Angelina and Angelica moved back to California; Jamie moved back, and Lupe Saldana moved in also, but left shortly after. Tyler, Brooke, and Brandi spent a couple weekends with one more comrad in crime, who goes un-named, "painting cars."

This year, as seniors, marks our last year as a class. As we look back, we realize how much our years together have meant to us. We have learned many things, had a lot of fun, and met a lot of friends. Out of the twenty-eight who started out together in kindergarten, eleven remain. They include: Leah Cruse, Talon Cruse, Bert Darsey, Brandi Jameson, Josh Lee, Dodie Morris, Darryn Perryman, Misty Thomas, Cody Timmons, Lacy Washington Clary, and Matt Woolsey.

Those that are in the graduating class that have joined us through the years are: Edward Alvarado, Brooke Parson Barton, Lanie Barton, Kyle and Quintin Brandon, Tyler Decker, Misty Easter, Kasey Parks, and Lupe Garcia. Kris Marvel also joined us this year, but moved back to Indiana shortly after.

Now, as we graduate we will always remember the years behind us and this year especially. We will remember Mr. Taylor's sayings, such as "Frego it's in there," and of course, "You lose Toyota"; winning District and Bi-district in girl's basketball; and Lacy and Brooke's new bundles of joy, Caleb Dean Clary, and Katie Ann Barton. The years of struggling to learn, to get through another year are at an end. All our hopes and plans and dreams about graduation are nearly completed. We will continue to grow and learn and experiment, but things will be different now. We are adults and must put away the things of our childhood. We are sad, yes, but also excited and eager and happy, just as we were when we first started kindergarten. We want to thank you all for helping our dreams come true.

Piano Performance Earns Outstanding Rating At State Festival

Dumont Darsey

Performing on the piano is one of fifth-grader Dumont Darsey's favorite activities. He enjoys playing for any audience, but especially likes to audition at National Federation of Music Club Festivals.

Having earned a Superior rating in his division at Texas Tech's District Pastoral Festival in April, he was invited to attend the state festival auditions in San Marcos, held on the campus of Southwest Texas State University.

Dumont's Primary IV Piano Solo performance of Runaway Pablo by Damon Weise earned a ribbon rosette and the rating of Outstanding at the Texas Federation of Music Clubs Junior Festival on Saturday, May 17.

Accompanying the Outstanding rating were wonderful remarks from his judge: "good dynamics, great energy, great control and evenness, and great sound and clarity."

Dumont's private instructor in piano for five years is Mrs. Howard Traweck of Matador. Dumont and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Darsey, of Matador, credit his achievements and continued enjoyment of the piano to Mrs. Traweck's encouragement, expertise, and patience.

Dumont was accompanied to San Marcos by his parents. The group especially enjoyed the drive this year, as the roadsides and pastures were filled with beautiful wildflowers in a wide range of colors.

LEGAL MATTERS

BY ATTORNEY GENERAL DAN MORALES

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL
DAN MORALES

FIGHTING FOR OUR YOUTH

IN 1995, the Office of the Attorney General joined with prosecutors and law enforcement in proposing many revisions to the laws in the Texas Family Code that govern the way we handle juvenile crime. The 74th Legislature adopted a tough new attitude toward young criminals, and enacted broad reforms.

While we have no firm data yet to evaluate the impact of the recent reforms on juvenile crime rates, I expect to see improvement in the future. Punishment is a limited deterrent, however. We owe our children more.

Intervention and prevention

I am absolutely convinced that intervention and prevention play a vital role in our efforts to reduce juvenile crime. There are many excellent local programs across the state. Some provide supervised after school recreation, others are designed to keep children away from gangs, and still others teach nonviolent conflict resolution.

My Juvenile Crime Intervention Division is working with the Texas Association of Counties and the Texas Municipal League to catalog these productive programs. We will make this information available to local law enforcement and community organizations by the Internet and in print. Visit our web site at <http://www.oag.state.tx.us> for more information on criminal justice issues.

Resources for youth

We support public-private partnerships such as TYC Industries and Project Reintegration of Offenders (RIO). These programs help juvenile offenders develop job skills and make the transition back into society. Among other uses, the juveniles' earnings help pay restitution to crime victims and child support payments, if any are owed.

Last winter, our Juvenile Crime Intervention Division organized a Youth Resources Fair at the Texas Youth Commission's residential facility in Giddings. Our purpose was to make incarcerated youth aware about the many state and local programs designed to help them keep their lives on track after release, including dealing with drug problems, acquiring job skills, and continuing their education.

We believe that many young offenders are willing to turn their lives around but lack practical information about how to overcome obstacles like addiction or inadequate education. So we provide them with information about how to attain a General Equivalency Diploma (GED) or learn a skill through a trade school.

Innovative solutions

The best prevention is the earliest prevention. Our Child Support Program has two award-winning programs, Volunteers in Paternity (VIP) and Paternity and Parenthood (PAPA), that benefit Texas children from birth. The goal of these programs is to ensure that every child has the support of two parents. Every child needs the security and sense of identity that comes from having a legal father. And no child should unnecessarily experience the sting of poverty.

Under Texas law, a child born out of wedlock has no legal father until paternity is established. Through VIP, we have formed partnerships with birthing facilities across the state, to encourage unwed fathers to sign Acknowledgment of Paternity forms at the hospital when their babies are born. The forms are sent to us, and we use them to support paternity establishment proceedings.

The PAPA program's primary goal is to teach students the legal and financial obligations that come with parenthood. The program explains that the law requires both parents to support their children regardless of how young the parents are and regardless of the relationship between the child's parents. We've developed a standard PAPA curriculum which we have made available to all junior high and high schools in Texas. The PAPA Curriculum can be found on our Web site, at <http://www.oag.state.tx.us>.

Together, we can do it!

We face an unacceptable situation, but not an overwhelming one. We don't have to have more gangs, drive-by shootings, guns in schools or throwaway children. Because of our tough new laws, the days when a juvenile could break the law and receive a slap on the wrist are over. Yet we also have to give young people a chance to become productive citizens. I commend local law enforcement on their many creative and successful community programs. I applaud violence prevention programs. We must keep working together. Together, we can send juvenile crime rates into a downturn.

Be sun-wise
Top 10 sun-safety tips

To protect children and adults, the American Academy of Dermatology recommends the following:

- Try to stay out of the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., when the sun's rays are the strongest.
- Use a broad-spectrum sunscreen that protects against UVA and UVB rays and has a Sun Protection Factor of 15 or greater, even on cloudy days.
- Reapply sunscreen every two hours when outdoors, especially if you're swimming or sweating.
- Wear protective, tightly woven clothing. Dark colors give more protection.
- Wear a 4-inch-wide broad-brimmed hat and sunglasses with UV protective lenses even when walking short distances.
- Stay in the shade whenever possible.
- Avoid reflective surfaces, which can reflect up to 85 percent of the sun's damaging rays.
- Protect children by keeping them out of the sun, especially between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Apply sunscreens, beginning at six months of age.
- Avoid sunlamps, tanning beds and tanning parlors.
- Listen to the UV Index reports. Take special care when exposure levels are 5 - 10+.

Weevil Onslaught Threatens 'Biggest Cotton Patch'

LUBBOCK -- Unless each farmer protects his fields, boll weevils may take a big bite out of yields and profits in "the world's biggest cotton patch," the more than three million acres around Lubbock which is annually planted to the crop, warn entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"We're looking at a $100-million to $200 million cost across the (20-county) area for individual farmers to battle the increased weevil problem this year," said Dr. James Leser, extension service entomologist.

Farmers with weevil problems will have to pay from $32 to $60 an acre, depending upon the number of times they have to spray, he projected. "Even with this level of control we will still have yield losses (from the weevil)," he said. "On 75-cent (a pound) cotton, that could average $31 an infested acre."

Boll weevil traps monitoring the emergence of weevils which overwintered following last year's crop snared "significantly more weevils in April than ever before," said Dr. Don Rummel, Experiment Station entomologist who has been tracking and studying the pest here for almost 30 years.

"We're seeing amore cold-hardy weevil," Rummel said. "All early indications are that this may be the greatest boll weevil population ever on the High Plains."

"The only thing that can moderate that," said Leser, "is a poor growing season for cotton. What's good for cotton is also good for the weevil." He said scientific research and experience show three things: "The boll weevil is definitely overwintering everywhere across the High Plains that we're trapping; it is continuing to spread across the area, and the infestations are increasing in magnitude."

"This is the first year that many producers who have doubts about the presence of weevils will become believers."

In 1994 the legislature created the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation with authority to assess growers to pay for the control efforts. Regional programs were established on consent of growers in various production regions. The High Plains eradication effort began in 1995 with an expansion of the Plains Cotton Growers' (PCG) 30 year-old diapause weevil control program which had delayed the pest's advance into the area.

With funding from assessments by the foundation, that expanded program sprayed more than five million acres of cotton at a cost of $12.5 million in 1995. But in 1996 many growers objected to the fees and refused to pay their assessments. Ten filed a lawsuit against the foundation. As a result, only 3 million acres of the 6.5 million needing treatment were sprayed.

Then on April 30, the Texas Supreme Court ruled that while the assessment was legal, the legislature had given the foundation an unconstitutionally broad delegation of authority, ending the statewide effort. On May 2, the PCG Boll Weevil Steering Committee canceled all plans for its diapause weevil spray program this fall.

"We're still capable of running a program, but we've lost the ability to collect the fees to pay for it," said Roger Haldenby, who heads the control programs for PCG. "The weevil is going to make an assessment on High Plains cotton in 1997, no matter what the law says."

"Without an area-wide spray program, cotton farmers are going to need all the information they can get," Haldenby said. "We will provide all possible information for producers to conduct their own individual control efforts."

The Agri-Partners program of the Extension Service will continue monitoring traps in 21 counties. PCG also will run some traplines for the pest. Findings from these traps, along with additional reports from county agents and private crop consultants, will be publicized weekly.

Overwintered weevil trapping is conducted from April through July. "Over the years we usually see the peak emergence (of overwintering weevils) in late May to mid-June," Rummel said.

"We've only trapped for one month, but in many counties we've already caught more weevils than we caught for the entire emergence period of 1995 and 1996," Leser said. They aren't emerging early, just in record numbers, he stressed, and have appeared as far north as Randall County, at the upper edge of the producing area.

"North of Lubbock it will be much like what producers south of Lubbock faced last year," the extension entomologist said.

Rummel said, "hope that two periods of cold weather last winter had devastated the weevils was false." "We had some very low air temperatures, which we as humans noticed. But what counts for the boll weevil is the temperature down where he is, below the leaf litter and ground trash." That's where the researchers measured temperatures, he said.

The cold period in mid-December was accompanied by dry weather and "did us some good," Rummel acknowledged. But the mid-January cold spell was different, he said.

"During that period we had a snow cover. At our (monitoring) site on the Texas Tech campus, for example, the air temperature was 9 to 10 degrees. But under the snow cover, where we were measuring under the leaf litter (where the weevils were), it was only in the high 20s. That caused very little (weevil) mortality."

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes
Plainview Office

A SOCIAL SECURITY CHECKLIST FOR WOMEN PLANNING RETIREMENT

Why should women need special information about Social Security if Social Security is the same for men and women? This is a question we often get when we tell women they need to be especially alert about their Social Security rights and responsibilities.

We explain that women as a group have different societal roles, and tend to live longer, all of which make a difference in how well they fare under the Social Security program. For example, although Social Security pays benefits to a spouse of a retired worker, women are more likely to qualify because they are more likely to have worked as homemakers rather than outside the home.

The following list should help you focus on those aspects of your Social Security coverage that may have special impact on you as a woman:

Should you take benefits as a wife? Women often find themselves in the position of having to decide whether to take a benefit on their own work record or their husband's work record. Sometimes, the decision is whether to claim a benefit on their new husband's earnings or a previous husband's earnings.

Look at the options. We will show you how much your benefits would be under any of the scenarios listed above. The decision is yours, but we will be glad to give the information you need to make it.

Divorced wives have benefit rights. Remember, if you have been married for 10 years, you have the same rights to benefits on your ex-husband's Social Security earnings as a current wife. And your benefits will not affect those of the current wife.

Marriage may affect benefits. Generally, marriage terminates entitlement to divorced spouse's or mother's benefits. Benefits as a widow are not affected by remarriage.

Note Government Pension Offset. If you receive a pension from work in a government job that is not covered by Social Security, remember that it could reduce your Social Security spouse's benefit.

You need a benefit statement. You can get a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement" from Social Security at any time to get an estimate of the benefits you would get on your own earnings record. Your husband would need to request a statement of his earnings to see what benefits you could get on his earnings record.

For more information on these and other Social Security questions, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, and ask for the booklet "Social Security: What Every Woman Should Know."

Family Health and Safety Tips:

TEXAS 'GUN SAFE' MESSAGE IMPORTANT DURING SUMMER MONTHS

School-age children across Texas look forward to summer vacation. For many students, it's time to put away the books to enjoy a less structured and more leisurely schedule.

Unfortunately, with more than three million Texas kids home virtually full time this summer, there's an enhanced risk. With time on their hands now that school's out, some children may have access to loaded and unlocked firearms in their own homes or in homes where they visit.

In fact, this spring in the Houston area alone, four child-involved shootings were recorded during a three-week period. In each case, improperly stored guns were a factor.

That's why the safety program "Gun Safe" and its secure storage standards are more important than ever. Gun Safe promotes awareness among Texas parents and children. Its message is simple: There are no unlocked guns in a Gun Safe home.

Gun Safe's secure storage standards are approved by Texas Parks & Wildlife, a member of the Texas Firearm Safety Coalition. Gun Safe is a program coordinated by the Texas Nurses Foundation for the children of Texas.

The Texas Firearm Safety Coalition is a broad-based, nonpartisan group representing both Texas gun owners and citizens who don't own any guns.

"The Gun Safe program is not anti-guns," said Steve Hall of Texas Parks & Wildlife. "It is about safe storage of firearms, particularly in homes or settings where children may have access to guns."

Key Gun Safe tips:

1. Secure guns in a safe container.
2. Your storage container should be secured with a combination or key lock.
3. Only adults should lock up guns.
4. Use locks that are designed for the type of container in which your guns are stored.
5. Only adults should have access to lock keys and combinations.

During this past school year, Gun Safe materials — funded by Texas Nurses Foundation — found their way into schools across the state, thanks in large part to assistance from the Texas Association of School Nurses and Texas PTA.

Meanwhile, other organizations are spreading the Gun Safe message. "I was impressed with the Gun Safe program materials — and we plan on using them this summer at our day camps," said Kimilee Pelham of YMCA, Fort Worth.

John King, director of Samuel Farm Day Camp in Mesquite, introduced Gun Safe to young campers last summer. "It was really beneficial to us," King said, "and will be again this year. We shared the 'Gun Safe' information with them through our riflery program. They really enjoyed the magnets and bumper stickers."

For more information on how you can make your home "Gun Safe" for children, call the Gun Safe hotline at (888)862-6877.
