BOY SCOUTS DECORATED

Badges and Medals Awarded by Court Of Honor

Eleven Big Spring boys were formally presented with Boy Scout merit badges and second class medals at a session of the local Court of Honor at the First Christian church Friday evening.

Highest honor accorded a scout by the court went to Jake Pickle, who having earned ten merit badges, including five specially required, was awarded a Life badge.

Clyde Thomas, Jr. received the most merit badges, five, for the session, and also was awarded a Star badge, second highest honor of the night.

Second class tests having been passed and approved by the board of review, the following boys were awarded second class badges: William Gray, Clinton Jones, Halbert

Woodward, Garrett Patton, James Wilson, Billie Pannenburg. Thomas Joe Williamson received two merit badges; Steve D. Ford, Jr., three; J. B. Bender, three; Jake Pickle, two; Clyde Thomas, five. Wendell B. Lebek was chairman of the Court of Honor, with B. Reagan and W. C. Blankenship members. The second class medals were presented to the scouts by Mr. Reagan and the merit badges by Mr. Blankenship.

A candy ceremony was given by a dozen scouts, under direction of Marcus Williamson, assistant area executive. With all lights in the church extinguished, the boys stood facing the audience, and behind a table on which were groups one candle for each canon in the Scout Law. Using a larger candle they took turn about, advancing a pace, lighting a candle, reciting one of the scout laws.

Few parents of the honored scouts attended. Singing was led by Executive A. C. Williamson.

Murphy

has injected it into this campaign.

One of my opponents says he is wet, and that is his business. Mr. Thompson flopped over the dry side of the fence.

"Back in 1917 when Mr. Thompson was a member of the Thirty-fifth legislature he voted six times with the whiskey interests, when an effort was being made to rid this state of the saloons."

"Flopped Over"
Murphy quoted a passage from a speech made by Pat Neff regarding Thompson in the governor's race of 1920.

"Just as soon as prohibition went into effect, Mr. Thompson started voting dry like a slot machine," Murphy said.

Regarding the charge of "sectionalism," which also has been charged by Thompson, Murphy ridiculed the idea of "a war between El Paso and the district."

"The petty politicians of El Paso and an El Paso newspaper have fostered that idea of having El Paso girl for battle against the district. Those political machines are gathered in the city hall and Mr. Thompson is the granddaddy of them all."

Murphy's "bust that rust and combine" policy was reviewed by him, declaring a protective tariff on crude oil is needed, that "the trusts need a knock between the eyes, that gasoline prices should be regulated with crude prices, and that South American crude should be kept out with a tariff high enough to protect the independent oil operator."

He pledged himself to aid the farmers by doing what he could to favor legislation designed to stop the cotton exchange from gambling on products of the soil. He declared the government should reimburse the farmer for fumigation expense, and declared he would launch legislation to obtain such relief.

His plank to aid disabled war veterans was discussed. "The world war was a nation's war and the nation should foot the bill," he declared. "The government paid for the profits allegedly lost by the railroads and munition plants, but they gave the soldiers life insurance. And they took money out of his pocket every month to pay for it. Then the government gave them a cold check in the form of an insurance bond. The date of that policy should be set back to 1918 to enable the veteran to borrow fifty per cent of its face value."

"Too Young"
"My opponent Mr. Thompson has been stying around talking about me being too young for a congressman. Well, back in 1917 I was pretty young, but Mr. Thompson didn't kick about me being too young to represent him on the battlefield. And Mr. Thompson was about my age now at that time."

Murphy declared he is in favor of the universal service law in time of war, but believes in the policy of world peace, and eradication of combat. "If war does come to pass," he declared, "I would say put Wall street beside Main street and make them fight like the masses do." In closing Murphy declared he is better qualified than his opponent to hold the office.

Razor, Not Dice, Separated Him and His Cash Says Gene

"Mr. Denver, I'm thinking" That, in substance, was the manner in which Gene Williams, light skinned negro from the flats explained to Deputy Sheriff D. D. Dunn Saturday morning his desires to obtain for his own use and advantage $18.

He leaned against the red stone building, generally avoided for the most part by negro residents—the county jail.

"I've been thinking, Mr. Denver," Gene continued, "that I certainly would like to have my $18 back from Buffalo."

Buffalo, it appeared, is a temporary resident of the jail. His last name is Brown and it seemed he buffaloes one Gene out of his $18.

"You see, Mr. Denver," Gene endeavored to explain, "we were shooting dice." He resumed his conception of thinking. Maybe, perhaps he mused, it isn't a perfect policy to tell peace officers about shooting dice.

"Yeah?" offered Dunn, "and you lost?"

"Nor sir, I didn't lose, but you see I didn't have a razor."

Gene alleges he won the money, but that Buffalo had the supreme advantage of the cutting instrument. So he didn't get away with his evening's earnings.

Buffalo was arrested by members of the city police force.

This Is Why We Bought A Carload of Generals

Head-on Into Brick Wall at 37 Miles Per Hr.!

Amazing Test of New GENERAL Dual-Balloon

The Blow-Out Proof Tire

At the wheel was Captain Dick Grace, famous Hollywood daredevil and motion picture thrill king, whose spectacular feats have included the cracking up of airplanes for such productions as Wings, Lila's Time, Hell's Angels and other thrilling dramas. Because of his many daring exploits, Captain Grace was selected as the only man capable of giving the Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon a test such as no other tire has ever been asked to stand—crashing an 8-cylinder touring car under full power at 37 miles per hour into a solid wall of bricks and concrete. The pictures show what happened!

The Blow-Out Proof Test that Astounded Safety Experts

He Comes Up Smiling

Falling to sail clear over the wall as he had expected, Captain Grace was shot forward, doubling over like a jack-knife, heading the car into the air and to the ground. But fortunately he was only dazed. In a few moments he was on his feet ready to study the effect of the crash.

"As I cleared the wall and realized the speed at which we were going to strike, I did not believe an automobile tire could be made capable of standing that blow. In engineering terms there were 170,000 foot-pounds of energy behind the impact," Captain Grace declared after the test.

AN 8-cylinder touring car drives head-on down the field into a solid wall of bricks and mortar. A shattering crash as its 3,500 pounds of speeding steel smashes against the barricade! The entire 10-ton wall, foundation and all, is lifted and tipped forward more than a foot, so terrific is the force of the impact!

Yet the General Dual-Balloon Tires, forced to take the first tremendous shock, are not blown out.

Note how the tires are pancaked against the wall by the irresistible weight and momentum of the car . . . at the moment of greatest impact they were mashed absolutely flat between the wheels and the wall.

The force of the blow left the steel rims bent and flattened out of shape, but the Dual-Balloon Tires, with their built-in rubber shock absorbers, had withstood that battering punishment without a sign of bruise or break.

Examination immediately after the crash revealed absolutely no injury inside or out. Tested against tons of tempered steel and solid masonry, the Blow-Out Proof Tires alone had stood the shock without damaging effect.

This was a test without parallel in all the history of pneumatic tires . . . a demonstration of tire safety and endurance that astounded Akron's safety experts, rubber engineers and all who witnessed it.

Safe against the sudden impact of road holes and bumps that shatter the carcasses of ordinary tires at today's highway speed . . . you can trust your life to the Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon. Nothing before has even approached its amazing performance . . . its all-road, all-weather, all-speed safety . . . its easy riding comfort . . . its lower final mileage cost.

400,000 casualties yearly due to tire blowouts, punctures and skidding!

When you realize this staggering annual total of people hurt, some of them killed, because of tire failure—

IT'S TIME TO ACT!

Blowouts didn't mean much in the day of slow speeds and small tires, but with balloon tires it's different.

Your slowest speed on the highway today is 44 feet a second. At 60 miles per hour it's 88 feet a second . . . less than a tenth of a second from flat tire to tragedy where traffic is crowded, roads narrow and the ditch all too close!

If it cost more to be safe you might be excused for taking chances. But it actually costs less to run with the Blow-Out Proof tire. Its mileage is cheaper, it saves gas, your car stays quiet and new thousands of miles longer, and safety is yours without charge.

The quick eye of the camera, an instant before the wall tilted, shows how the tires absorbed the first tremendous shock of the impact. The force of the blow flattened the steel rims inside and outside on both front wheels. Yet neither the tires nor tubes were cut or damaged in the slightest. They had not lost a pound of air.

This Week
A Special Opportunity

Another week of demonstration—and we have an extra allowance plan at special terms that are sure to interest you. Let us tell you the cash trade-in value of your present tires. We can use them in any condition—and you'll be money ahead to make the change now.

"The Divorcee", Dramatic Success, At Ritz

NORMA SHEARER STAR; CONRAD NAGEL, ROBERT MONTGOMERY IN SUPPORT

Start of work on Norma Shearer's newest talking vehicle, "The Divorcee," which will be shown today, Monday and Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre, was marked by an uncanny coincidence in the matter of an important scene in the picture in which Conrad Nagel drives an automobile over an embankment, overturning the car and pinning Helene Millard, Tyler Brooke and Helen Johnson underneath. On the night before this scene was to be taken, director Robert Z. Leonard wrecked his big touring car, sustaining severe bruises and cuts, but escaping serious injury by falling to the floor of his machine as it swerved over an embankment after being sideswiped by a heavy bus. His wife, Gertrude Olmstead, also escaped with slight bruises. In the morning Leonard went to the studio and directed a replica of the accident which he had figured the evening before.

Insult Added to Injury

And as though this were not enough hard luck for one picture, in a subsequent scene, in which Tyler Brooke imitates an organ grinder, the actor stumbled and fell, sustaining several cracked ribs, which necessitated a trip to the hospital.

Report has it that in making preparations for "The Divorcee," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer held up all work until it was able to obtain the services of Leonard as director, the man who filmed "Marianne" being at the time engaged on the final sequences of Ramon Novarro's new musical-romance, "In Gay Madrid." Having assigned Leonard to the production, an important group of supporting players was secured, the cast including Chester Morris, recently featured in "The Case of Sergeant Grischka," Conrad Nagel, Florence Eldridge, Robert Montgomery, Helene Millard, Robert Elliott, Mary Moran, Tyler Brooke, Zella Sears, George Irving and Helen Johnson.

Divorce Problem, Plot Motive

According to advance information, the plot deals with a group of New York society people, to whom divorce is nothing more than an excuse for promiscuous living, the action moving from New York to a mountain resort and then to Paris, and including a sequence taken aboard a 90-foot power yacht off the coast of Catalina Island. The settings and costumes are said to be in lavishness anything heretofore attempted on the screen.

Rev. L. E. Finney To Preach Today

At 11 a. m. in the congregation of the First Baptist church will have the pleasure of hearing a sermon by Dr. L. E. Finney, executive secretary of Baylor University at Waco. Dr. Finney will be the guest of Rev. Dow Heard, the local pastor.

Rev. Heard announced that Dr. Finney would conduct the morning preaching service and that no collection for any special cause would be taken. Dr. Finney is a well-known leader among Texas Baptists and is a splendid preacher. The general public is given a cordial welcome to hear him.

Canadians are planning to send foreign trade missions to the Orient and Latin America next winter.

Lowell Sherman, Alice Joyce Lead Very Strong Cast

Boasting one of the most capable dramatic casts since the advent of talking pictures and adapted from one of the greatest of Broadway stage successes, "He Knew Women," Radio Pictures' all-talking comedy drama, starts its local showing at the Ritz theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Lowell Sherman, suave, sophisticated screen favorite, and Alice Joyce, one of the foremost of feminine stars, play the leading roles. They are supported by David Manners, who scored a notable hit as "Raleigh" in "Journey's End" and Frances Dade, competent newcomer from the legitimate stage.

"He Knew Women" is adapted from the Broadway success, "The Second Man" but S. N. Behrman, acknowledged as one of the greatest American playwrights and author of a number of outstanding dramatic hits. It is a smart drama of modern manners, produced in notable fashion.

The picture has received unusually favorable comment from critics and audiences who have seen it elsewhere. It is said that the theme is handled to perfection, with the story built to a highly effective dramatic climax.

Sherman is seen as a polished man of the world—a role which suits him to perfection. Max Ree Radio Pictures' art director has designed a number of stunning gowns for Miss Joyce and Miss Dade, and has furnished unusually effective settings.

"He Knew Women" will be shown for two days at the local theatre.

Mayor Thomason In City Enroute To Wink for Talk

Enroute to Wink, where he spoke last night, R. E. Thomason, mayor of El Paso, candidate for congress, visited here Saturday afternoon.

During the past week Mr. Thomason spoke to large crowds in Colorado, Fort Stockton, Texas, Big Lake, Sterling City and Mertzon. He has made an active campaign, speaking in every county. He has resided in this district 20 years and as a member of the legislature and as mayor of El Paso has taken an active part in public affairs looking to the upbuilding of West Texas. In his home city the Central Labor Council, the railroad brotherhoods, ministers, attorneys, all newspapers and other groups are lending what appears to be unusually strong support for him.

Earl Phillips To Become Manager Of Co-Op Offices

Earl Phillips, progressive young farmer, and long-time resident of the county, will forsake the soil at least temporarily and become office manager here for the Cooperative Gin & Supply company. He owns a fine 160-acre farm at Fairview. His farming will remain there for the present.

Richard Dix, In Comedy-Romance, 'Losin' The Ladies,' To Appear At Ritz Theater Friday and Saturday

Lauded as one of the most entertaining and enjoyable films Richard Dix has ever made, "Lovin' The Ladies," all-talking comedy romance, opens Friday at the Ritz Theatre for a run of two days. Audiences and critics in other cities have acclaimed the film one of the outstanding laugh hits of the year.

The picture brings Dix to the screen at the height of his popularity. Talking pictures have been introduced since his scores of successful silent films, and he has not found Dix wanting. In fact, he is even better suited to dialog films than to silent pictures—the result of extensive stage training.

Curiously enough "Lovin' The Ladies" gives Dix the first chance he has had in pictures to play a role he originally created on the stage. The film was adapted from William Le Baron's Broadway comedy, "I Love You," in which Dix was starred several years ago on the New York stage. The play was an outstanding hit during its long run on Broadway, and the film is said to even surpass the original.

Dix is cast as an electrician who attempts to break into the smart set. Developments prove to be unusually amusing, giving Dix great opportunity to demonstrate his ability at handling light comedy.

A notable supporting cast is to be seen in the film. Lois Wilson, who will be remembered as Dix's heroine in several silent pictures, is playing with him again and is said to be more appealing than ever. Allen Kearns, stage comedian, Rita La Roy, Renee Macready and Anthony Bushell also are seen in important roles.

Talking Debut Of Swanson At Queen Theater

Gloria Swanson's voice, object of greater anticipation among motion picture fans than any other voice in filmdom, is heard for the first time in "The Trespasser," her latest United Artists picture.

Miss Swanson both sings and talks in this new opus.

Her spoken lines are the more effective because "The Trespasser" is a play of modern life constructed to meet the requirements of the new screen medium, rather than a story designed for a silent picture, into which dialogue has been injected.

Her singing likewise is expected to be more highly appreciated, because the two songs she offers interpret the mood of the story and sustain its tempo, instead of disrupting its trend of thought.

In addition to serving as the medium of the vocal debut, "The Trespasser" presents Miss Swanson once again as a woman of fashion, with a wardrobe of gowns, wraps and negligees which are ultra modern in every detail.

"The Trespasser," which will be an attraction at the Queen Monday and Tuesday is a drama of the moment. Its setting is Chicago; its environment the "smart set." And through its intimate study of a girl who becomes a trespasser in this restricted social sphere and in the lives of its people, the story delves into vital affairs of life.

Miss Swanson, in her portrayal "Marion Donnell," is supported by established players of both stage and screen. The leading man is Robert Ames, who has been extremely popular on Broadway. He portrays "Jack Merrick" whose romance with "Marion Donnell" indelibly stamps her as "The Trespasser."

Purnell Pratt who has appeared on the talking screen in "Alibi," plays "Hector Ferguson," wealthy corporation lawyer and the "other man" in Marion Donnell's involved scheme of things. Henry B. Walthall, one of the screen's earliest figures, has a strong character role. Wally Albright, three and a half years old, who appears as "Marion Donnell's" son, is regarded as one of the most promising of all the child actors in dialogue pictures. Blanche Friderici, who appeared so successfully with Miss Swanson in "Sadie Thompson" again plays in her support. And other assisting players are William Holden, Kay Hammond, Mary Forbes, and Marcia Corday.

Photography of "The Trespasser" was entrusted to George Barnes and Gregg Toland. In some sequences of the picture they headed as many as ten cameras, photographing the action, sight and sound in three and four adjoining rooms simultaneously under Goulding's direction. This system is declared to heighten the dramatic strength of the picture materially, because it permits the players to go through their roles with such continuity as they would employ in real life.

The music of the song, "Love," one of Miss Swanson's numbers, was written for her by Director Goulding. The lyric was written by Elsie Janis. Her second song is Toselli's "Serenade."

The producer-star's wardrobe, of Parisian design and created especially for her, even to the smallest article of jewelry, was executed by Ann Morgan and Judge Johnson.

Cyril Gardner acted as editorial associate in preparing the picture for release. Stephen Gooson as art director and Josiah Zuro arranged the musical setting.

"The Trespasser" has been filmed and presented with a modernistic touch in keeping with its modern theme and modern dress. At previews, it has been hailed as a distinct stride forward along the path to the ultimate in sound picture production.

ALL TALKING

Road Committee To Meet Monday

A citizens road committee, called for the purpose of discussing highway conditions in the county has been called to meet at 2 p. m. Monday at the courthouse.

Mack Burnett of the University of Texas won the long driving contest at the intercollegiate golf tournament this year.

Sterling

took Lynch Davidson to task for his reported support of Small. He charged that Davidson said more than three weeks ago that Small would make a "fiasco" as governor, and that Davidson was looking ahead to run for governor himself in 1932.

Ferguson had an address scheduled at Whitney, in Hill county, Saturday night, after a talk at Dallas Friday night.

Predicts Lead

Ferguson, who has been governor as has his wife, said that things were looking better than in any previous campaign in which he had been interested. He predicted that Mrs. Ferguson would lead the ticket by 100,000 votes.

The former governor expressed the belief that his wife would get 7,000 votes in Dallas county notwithstanding that two of her opponents, Miller and Love, live there.

The Miller campaign committee said that the lieutenant governor would lead in Dallas, San Antonio, Galveston and El Paso, four of the ten most populous cities in Texas. "He will also carry Port Arthur, Brownsville, Harlingen and Corpus Christi and will receive a good vote in Fort Worth, Beaumont, Waco and Houston, probably leading in two of them," the statement continued.

The statement went on to recite that Miller would be ahead in South Texas, that he would run strong in Dallas county and North Texas, and that he would get a large farm-labor vote in East Texas. "Had it not been for the entrance of a favorite son, he would have carried many sections of West Texas solidly," the statement said.

This favorite "son," Senator Small, was in his home section for an address at Lubbock Saturday night. His headquarters claimed 7,000 persons heard him at an all-Panhandle rally at Pampa Friday night, that 3,000 attended his speech at Memphis Friday afternoon and that arrangements were being made to care for a crowd of 10,000 at Lubbock.

John Erhard of Dallas spoke for Small Saturday at Leonard in the afternoon and at Sherman at night. It was announced that radio speeches for Small would be made over station WBAP, Fort Worth, from 9 to 9:15 and 10:30 to 11 Monday night, from 8 to 7 Tuesday night, from 10:05 to 10:40 Wednesday night and from 10 to 11 Friday night. Small's Dallas address Monday night will be broadcast from 8:15 to 9.

Sterling Ross S. Sterling stopped by his Dallas headquarters on his way in Waco for an address there Saturday afternoon and to Waco for a talk there Saturday night.

Sterling appeared carefree, notwithstanding his recent strenuous campaigning. "I learned long ago not to lose my temper and not to let things worry me," he said.

This was Sterling's last appearance in North Texas before the first primary. He ridiculed the charge that under the state highway bond plan the schools would lose their part of the gasoline tax.

"We could not take anything from the schools even if we wanted to, because the proportion for the schools is fixed by the constitution," the Houston candidate said.

Earle B. Mayfield said that he had never failed to be high man in a first primary and predicted that history would be repeated. "I have just concluded one of the most inspiring weeks of my campaign," he said.

The former United States senator said Mrs. Ferguson appeared to be second in the race. "The Sterling candidacy has appeared to be more formidable than it really is," Mayfield stated. "It looks on the surface as if he is making headway, but I do not find it so except in spots."

Mayfield

Mayfield had talks at Hubbard and Hillsboro scheduled for Saturday night before going to Fort Worth Saturday night for another address over Station KTAT.

Mayfield said he was unable to announce his itinerary for the coming week. The tentative itinerary includes radio speeches from 8 to 8:30 every morning, Alvarado Monday afternoon and Cleburne Monday night, Ennis Tuesday afternoon, and Wallis Wednesday afternoon and night.

Frank Putnam, prohibition repeal candidate, issued a statement from Houston admitting that "the bulk" of the anti-prohibition vote would go to Mrs. Ferguson, Miller and Young. He said that he would be a candidate in 1932, when all the "prohibition straddlers" would be out of the field and it would be possible to conduct a winning campaign.

Big Spring-Westbrook Clash Today.

In another portion of this serious threats to championship illating sheet will be found a note. Of course Cross always tells us so in favor of Big Willy Moore. The birdies and the bees about the former Yankee and Texas League chucker is going good with now at times, our venerable friend the Saints of St. Paul, Big Bob Boyce House of the Ranger Times Conner's pride and joy. Conner elevated Eastland's hopes to the look lots of interest in the veteran, skies, and stood by and saw them while the St. Paul aggregation was sink with a dull thud. Annoyingly in spring training at Mineral Wells dull.

From where we repose in our Morris Chair, furnished gratis by Holy Cross College by the Yanks, Big Spring high school bleachers rising the season, Conner told him to "get your eyes full of Willy Moore." A couple of Oklahoma old timers, down in the Water Hole for their health (et cetera), cornered Moore one morning in spring training. "Remember us Willy?" they inquired. "We used to know you when you were on the farm there in Oklahoma."

"Yeah," replied the shoestring orbit chucker, "I remember you. Say, that's still a pretty good farm, isn't it?"

Being informed that as Oklahoma Cross went it was still a fit for kidding farm, Moore took hands with his Oklahoma pals.

"Well," he snorted, "if the old farm doesn't do right I may be using it on that ball-toughed plow again pretty soon."

This afternoon at the renovated Dudley D. Deane stadium, Westbrook again will play into the stately portals of the stadium and grapple with the City League. What we mean to say is that Westbrook and Big Spring will engage this eve at 3:30 bells in a ball game. Candidates are invited, you warned to attend. Under the guiding hand of none other than B. B. Nesbitt, this cut-throat of the City League sluffed off ten backs today to get Dusty D. back in shape. The pitcher's box and the batters' reverence were re-created. Which starts as wondering what the bullets and slugs will use for alibis now. Heretofore when a pitcher was jerked unceremoniously from the hill top they got within shouting distance of where we stepped and grumbled. "That ———— mounds. Batters who whiffed the gentle zephyrs adopted the same code. Want ed: Two good nibs."

The Shreveport Sports, of the Texas League crave to include Big Spring in its barnstorming tour which starts after September 7. One Heinie Mueller, gentleman in charge of the tour, says the Sports will consider coming here for a hold everything Aunt Lucinda—$200 guarantee and a privilege of 60-40 of the gate receipts, if any. We shall be glad to give the 60-40 split, but we wouldn't give a cash guarantee of $200 bucks if the Yankees wanted to come down here and play in the Crawford Hotel lobby. Two hundred bucks, we've oft times heard it said, is two hundred bucks.

The morning mail also brought a missive from the Abilene Jayhawks craving a baseball combat. Having already booked one aggregation from the Taylor county stronghold for a week from Sunday, we shall be compelled to allow the offer to slide temporarily. Providing the Abilene Big Spring fray proves interesting to the Big Spring, local shaggers, probably the other Abilene aggregation will be brought over to the city of the west. It seems our contemporary, Mr. Prexy Anderson, tied down as he is with the bonds of matrimony, has done exceedingly well in saving us from many shoes, with cleats, kicked our way. So much better, in fact, than the aloof one on the coral gate down by the lazy Concho.

Incidentally it might be interesting to some to know the San Antonio scribbler again comes forth with the assertion that the "game little Bobbittens" will gallop upon the gridiron this fall and make their egrets with laurels dragging in their wake. That is on paper, in all probability. The Felines probably have bright prospects. The prospects for 1930 are probably brighter than ever before. Pity in San Angelo's direction if they are not. But for one to really think Bill Bissett's paper machine can go forth on the field of "battle" this forthcoming season and take such helmets as Breckenridge, Ranger, Cisco and Abilene for fast rides up and down the sidelines is laughable. Can't you hear us guffawing: In District Two, two types of teams exist—contending ones and mediocre ones, with maybe one or two pitiful ones. Usually the Big Four are considered contenders—Breck, Ranger, Cisco, Abilene. The other six—San Angelo, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Mineral Wells, Brownwood and Eastland probably fall into the fair but hardly warmer classification. We've been hoisted around the district considerably in the last few years, and we're yet to hear any of the letters referred to as

BRADY WINS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

BROWN GOES DOWN IN FINALS

Robinson - Brown Defeat Steakley, Ballard

Leo Brady, Abilene, won the Big Spring invitational tournament by defeating Ray Brown of Big Spring in the finals in straight sets 6-4, 6-2, Saturday afternoon. The issue was seldom in doubt, Brown being unable to play the driving game of the young Abilenian.

Brown and his former Southwestern University partner, Roger Robinson of Mercedes, won the doubles championship in straight frames over the combination of Steakley and Ballard of Abilene 6-4, 6-1, 6-3, to bring one of the championships to Big Spring.

After creating a sensation by coming back to win his semi-final match with Ballard and then piling with Robinson to stage a slight upset by winning the doubles championship in straight sets it was hard for the Big Spring champion to lose.

Brady Flashes
Before the tournament actually began it was doubtful if Brown would be able to play or not, for a nail had been stuck in his foot and each time he donned tennis shoes he was acting against his physician's advice. Indeed he played through the whole final match almost on one leg, hobbling over the court, risking his chances in a mad desperate charge to the net that had beaten Ballard, but somehow just couldn't win against the Abilene high school youngster.

Brady flashed his best tennis of the tournament. Two rather mediocre previous showings against H. B. Dunnagan and Dan Steakley had left the impression that Brown, handicapped though he was, might have more than a fifty-fifty chance against the famous school boy, but Brady was shooting at the lines, and hitting them.

Roger Robinson, who came 500 miles to play once more with his old Southwestern pal, led the attack against the pair of Steakley and Ballard in the doubles final. Brown was formidable at the net and on his service, but Robinson was the player who dashed back to the backline after the lobs the Abilene combination seemed to delight in and then shot back toward the net intent upon the net combination play that carried the one-time grammar grade, high school, and university partners to the doubles title in spite of the reputation their opponents bore.

The matches crowned a successful tournament. All of the semi-final rounds went into three sets, with Brady agreeing to a two out of three final because of Brown's injury.

H. A. Dunnagan, Frank Whitehurst, Scotty Wilson, and Roger Robinson were engaged in a semi-final consolation round.

Semi-Finals
Brown, despite an injured foot, played Ballard off of his feet to win the last two sets and advance into the finals against Leo Brady 2-6, 8-6, 6-2.

Ray Brown had the veteran Simmons coach panting after the first set. After Ballard had won the first set 6-2 and was leading on the second set Brown shot over two aces in succession and then took three straight games to deuce the frame. Ballard won the next game and was again leading 6-5, but the former Southwestern University star had gone too far to turn back then. He took three straight games and the set 8-6.

The last set was all Brown's. The

MOORE, GLORIFIED BUSHER, COMES BACK AT ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL (AP)—Willy Moore had one season under the sun and now it looks like he is to have another. The gangling Oklahoman, who early this season was thought due for a return to the sod, proved up with the Saints here as the sensation of the American association.

His work so interested the Brooklyn Robins, battling for the National league pennant, that negotiations were opened to carry "Old Cy" back under the big top.

Moore, the "glorified busher," shuffled on the national baseball scene entirely without advance notice.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, had found him apparently winding up his career pitching minor league ball at Greenville, S. C.

But Barrow saw possibilities in a queer "sinker" and Moore went to the Yankees. At the time, Moore was past 30, an age when most big league pitchers have passed the peak.

In the 1927 season, "Old Cy" shuffled to the box in 50 games for the Yankees and that "sinker" was instrumental in winning the pennant for the club.

But the next year, Moore's stuff failed, and he was a failure all season. He couldn't get started in 1929, and finally the Yankees sent him to St. Paul.

AMERICANS TO BATTLE FRENCH FOR NET CUP

Van Ryn, Allison Pushed Hard To Take Match

AUTEUIL, France, July 19 (AP)—America overcame a fighting Italian tennis team today to enter the challenge round for the Davis cup.

Adding two more victories to the one achieved yesterday in the opening match of the interzone final, the United States forces chalked up the three victories necessary to clinch the series. Tomorrow's two singles cannot affect the result and the Americans will clash with the French for the trophy here next Friday Saturday and Sunday.

Ernon Humbert de Morpurgo, whom many heretofore had believed might win from George Lott of Chicago, was beaten by scores of 3-6, 6-7, 10-8, 6-3, in a match which was interrupted by darkness yesterday with the American leading in two sets to one.

The Trieste netballer then paired with Placido Gasini in a last minute shift of the doubles lineup and gave the crack American combination of John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, one of the hardest tussles they have had in many a day. The match went to five sets, provided some brilliant but spotty tennis and ended with the Americans on top by scores of 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

BLACK MIDGET UNCROWNS KING

This is one of a series of reminiscent stories on humorous and colorful happenings in the ring. Others will appear from time to time.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL, (Associated Press Sports Writer)

A burly, pompous negro heavyweight was the pride of a Harlem gym, the main attraction of the "big shot".... He couldn't fight a lick but his gestures were magnificent, his muscles bulged in a way that created nothing but awe in the breasts of his negro co-workers. He demanded the center of the stage and he got it.

There was a tiny black man buzzing about the same gym floor. A 110 pound mite taken seriously only by himself.

He was the personification of industry and his shadow boxing took up loads of floor space. He wasn't going anywhere either but he didn't know it.

While the black giant was in the midst of some of his finest muscle bulging and his admirers "ooh'd" and "aah'd," the little fellow whirled into his vicinity desperately battling an imaginary foe. They collided.

The big fellow paused, drew himself up, filled his lungs and glared at the mite. He hurled one midget shoulder in his huge paw.

"Come into dis yah side room," he said magnificently

GARCIA TWIRLS COAHOMA TO VICTORY OVER COUNTRYMEN

Toss over another boquet to the fast ball artist. Victor Garcia, the bandy-legged Mexican twirler, shot his best barrel at his countrymen, the Mexican Tigers Friday afternoon, and sent them down 3 to 1, with Coahoma hugging the lead.

Twenty-five men faced Garcia in the seven innings he chunked the orbit at the boys from over the viaduct.

Lopez, seemingly the ace of the Mexican aggregation, gave up six hits compared to Garcia's three for the evening. Not only that but Lopez walked a trio and tossed a couple wild.

Coahoma started the tallying in the second inning when A. Moore went to the first bag after forcing Reid at second. Rainey blasted a three bagger to send Moore scurrying homeward.

Another was added by Coahoma in the fourth frame on a double by N. Walker and a single by H. Reid. Walker scoring from the third sack. Lopez walked L. Walker to open the fifth frame. Walker stole second and went to third on a wild pitch, scoring on Miller's single.

The Tigers gleaned their only run in the sixth inning. Cruz rapped away a single, and went home when Rainey over-heaved second base by a wide and high margin.

Garcia hubbed blanket ball for the first five innings, and allowed only one hit in that many. Two were gleamed off his offerings in the sixth and seventh.

SPUDDERS BOW TO TRIBE

WICHITA FALLS, July 19 (AP)—San Antonio handed the pace setting Wichita Falls Spudders their first home series loss in many weeks by winning a 10 to 7 decision.

The hitting combination of Schinkel and Leslie proved the downfall of Wee Dick Florrid, while Kloza provided the punch in the Spudder attack.

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Mancuso's home run with two on base in the eighth inning of the second Giant-St. Louis clash today enabled the Cardinals to take a double victory over the New Yorkers, and gain an even break for the series by winning their first games of the year at the Polo Grounds. "Little Gene" Pushes Eckhardt Lead

DALLAS, July 19 (AP)—While Oscar Eckhardt, the Texas league premier swatsmith, fell off slightly to an even .400 average through games of Thursday, "Little Gene" Moore, Dallas rookie, had a big week to hike his mark up to .577 and again was the Beaumont star's closest rival. Frank Tobin, veteran Steer backstop, basked in third place with a healthy .394 average.

Other leading clubbers through Thursday, exclusive of the Shreveport-Beaumont night game, were: Fitzgerald, Wichita Falls, .533; Hunt, Houston, .533; Rye, Waco, .531; E. Brown, Fort Worth, .529; Schinkel, San Antonio, .548; Joe Moore, San Antonio, .544; I. Burns, Wichita Falls, .543.

Although he was not listed among the league's lofty hitters, Larry Bettencourt, Wichita Falls gardener, was leading the circuit in three departments, runs scored, runs batted in and homers. The husky Spudder had pounded 31 circuit drives, had driven in 95 runs, and had himself crossed the plate 98 times.

With the departure of Bill Kelly of Fort Worth for the international league, Hugh Willingham, Dallas youngster, took the summer-up position in the homer race with 21

Fitzgerald and Kloza, both of Wichita, were tied for second in runs scored, each with 88.

Joel Hunt, the Houston flash, today, ahead of the league's base stealers, with 26 thefts, and was second to Bettencourt in runs batted across with 88.

Eckhardt ran his total hits to 144 followed by Joe Bonovitz of Fort Worth with 142. Fitzgerald, Wichita Falls, led in doubles, with 26, and Joe Moore of San Antonio, though out for a week with injuries, still paced the field in triples, with 12. Taverus, Fort Worth, and Minkins, Houston, each had belted 11 three-baggers.

Oscar Tuero, with 15 victories and two defeats, still was the league's most effective hurler. The Shreveport ace finally lost his second game to Waco, 2 to 0, when Bill Harris blanked the Sports. Harris, incidentally, ran his string of scoreless innings to 20, the season's high mark.

Hal Wilton, blond southpaw of the Spudders, chalked up his sixteenth triumph during the week and ran his total innings pitched to 181, making him the league's hardest working slinger. Allyn Stout, Houston right-hander, boosted his outburst to 19.

Sutter Defeats Wood For Title

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 19 (AP)—Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, the intercollegiate tennis champion, today added the famous Longwood Bowl to his string of title of titles by defeating Sidney B. Wood, young New Yorker 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Sutter played a defensive game of pat ball. Wood's strokes were almost as soft and most of the time the ball came over the net easily.

After resting, Sutter and his victim joined their doubles partners and played five slow sets before Wood and Harold Blauer, also of New York, won by scores of 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Western Amateur Will Open Monday

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—Two hundred and sixteen golfers, most of them comparative youngsters with rising hopes, unpack their war clubs Monday in a drive for the thirty first western amateur championship over the Beverly Country Club course, where Chick Evans won the western open in 1910. It will be one of the youngest fields in the championship's history. Even the defending champion, Donald K. Moe of Portland, Ore., is barely out of his teens. Mississippi motorists paid $7,742,564 in gasoline taxes last year.

North Carolina's peanut crop was valued at $9,996,000 in 1929. Authorities of Field museum, Chicago, invite parents on shopping tours to leave their children at the museum.

MODEST MAIDENS

Is a line necessary?

TOWNSPEOPLE HAVE MANY GUESTS

Parties Few, However, On Account of Heat

Although the town is filled with visitors there has been a surprising lack of entertainments usually attendant upon their coming.

Big Spring hostesses un-announcedly agree that the nicest way to entertain is to place a tall glass in the visitor's hand and turn the electric fan on him or her.

Mrs. Robert Browning, who has been at the Crawford several days while visiting her son, Cliff, special representative of the Texas Electric Service Company in West Texas, was joined Saturday by Mr. Browning. Their home is in El Paso.

They resided for many years in Terrell. Mrs. Browning is one of the most familiar figures in the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, with which she has been actively identified many years. She has served as chairman of the investment committee and of the information bureau, with unusual success.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barnett arrived here from Dallas yesterday, by motor, to visit Mrs. Barnett's mother, and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wason.

Miss Martha Plummer is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Whit Plummer. Miss Plummer is from Cleburne.

Mrs. H. K. Whipple and two daughters, Lillian and Harriett, arrived recently from Cleveland, Ohio, to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Read and brother, Earle A. Read.

Miss Frances Wilson of San Saba is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Stroud.

Miss Margaret Beyette, who has been the guest of Mrs. Larson Lloy for the past two weeks, left recently for her home in Denton.

R. E. Nance and family, and Chester Allen and family of Comanche, Texas, have been the guests of C. C. Nance and family.

Mrs. A. E. Pistole has had as her guest Mrs. John Staha and little daughter of Colorado, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas have as their guest, Mrs. B. O. Walker of Honey Grove.

Mrs. C. L. Tomlinson, 604 West Fifth street, was as her guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tomlinson of Sulphur Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Powers have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Glaser. They are on their way to their home in Santa Rita after spending the summer in California.

Miss Thelma Etter, A. C. Etter and Joyce Cooper of A. C. C. are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Etter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Crawford Jr. have had as their guest Miss Alice Crawford of Abilene.

Forsan Club With Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ulrich entertained the members and guests of the Forsan Bluebonnet Bridge club at their home Friday evening.

Mrs. Ulrich used a rainbow color motif in bridge accessories, refreshments and other decorations. She used vari-colored sweetpeas to carry out her scheme.

Mrs. John Gamble won high score for the women and John Gamble won high for the men. D. Murphy won high score for the guests.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Gamble, Mr. Stanley, Mrs. Frank Sealey, A. L. Cone and D. Murphy.

Married

Mrs. James Wilcox, formerly Miss Miriam Kennedy, who was married recently in Boulder to James Wilcox, of Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kennedy and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wilcox of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Jennie Lucille Kennedy, and the bride have been on a trip to California and returned by way of Boulder. They were met there by Mr. Wilcox and the ceremony performed.

It took place in the bride's cousin's home with only relatives present. Rev. C. L. Linkletter officiated. The bride was given away by her father.

Miss Mary Alice Leslie, of Big Spring and Miss Jennie Lucille Kennedy were the bridesmaids. Miss Leslie went to Boulder especially for the wedding.

The bride wore rose chiffon and carried out the old fancy of "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

They will remain in Colorado for two weeks, visiting Denver and Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Wilcox is a graduate of Simmons University and attended C. I. A. in Denton. She is a graduate of the Big Spring High School and a member of I. K. K. A. H. Club. She has been teaching in Central Ward school for the past year and will teach there next year.

The groom is an employee of J. R. Hall of Lubbock. The couple will return to Lubbock this summer.

S.P.C. Club In Regular Session

Miss Elouise Kuykendall entertained the members of the S. P. C. Club at her home on West Ninth street Saturday afternoon.

A school play was carried out with Elouise as the teacher. All of the members came dressed in short dresses with hair ribbons. Two recesses were given and at the first one the "pupils" were served a cold drink named "Coolo" and at the second one each member was served a sack containing sandwiches, potato chips, pickles and suckers.

Games and contests were played. The next meeting will be held with Anna Katherine Ringler at her home on Runnels street.

The following members were present and their nicknames for the afternoon are quoted: Eddie Ray Lee, "Lee"; Ruth Horn, "Rusty"; Winifred Piner, "Freddy"; Elouise Kuykendall, "Joe"; Camille Koberg, "Koko"; Nancy Bell Phillips, "Phil"; Anna Katherine Ringler, "Kate"; Mary Louise Inkman, "Weezy"; and Wanda Estes, a visitor.

Exotic Plants Grace Lobby of Bank Here

The lobby of the First National Bank is comparable to a hot house or a hanging garden with its array of exotic plants.

There is a Bricenia, which propagates from the root. It does not go to "seed," nor is it a bulb. The roots just sprout the new plant. It comes from India.

Then there is the Auranax which is one of the most symmetrical of all plants. It sprouts only one set of leaves a year. This is a Brazilian plant.

The Devil's Ivy is a plant which will grow just as well in the darkness of a closet as out of doors in the sunlight. The plant comes from Mexico.

The Fancy Leaf Caladium has a colored leaf and hails from South America.

The begonia, a common plant to many, will lose it leaves if water is put on them and they are exposed to the sun.

The Ponderosa is a dwarf lemon tree, growing in a pot. It produces real lemons which yield from their skin the lemon extract used in flavoring. The plants belong to the Ribbles Nursery here.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the heads of the large business concerns are correct in their prognostications. They are in a position to know what they are talking about, and certainly have no cause to misrepresent the situation. And again, it is pointed out by some of the leading wholesale merchants of the United States "that at the greatest need in America today is a little more confidence, both in the selling and buying departments of the country. It is shown that there is as much, or more, money on deposit in banks than usual, and the suggestion is that the owners of this money should put it in circulation again by buying things, among which should be labor, building material, and the necessities and luxuries of life.

HOW'S your HEALTH

ASTHMA IN CHILDREN
Approximately three per cent of our population is born with the capacity to develop an extreme sensitiveness to one or many substances of a protein nature.

The sensitiveness may manifest itself in the form of hay fever, asthma or skin rashes.

Hereditarily enters largely into these conditions. It has been found that a child from parents both of whom suffer from hay fever or asthma, has seventy chances in a hundred of becoming hypersensitive.

But where one parent is subject to the affliction the chances are reduced to 40.

It is important to bear the hereditary factor in mind for it may help to explain certain of the afflictions to which children are subject and which are difficult to diagnose. Many children thought to be suffering from "frequent colds" are really afflicted with mild forms of asthma.

Many an infantile eczema is but a skin manifestation of sensitiveness to certain foods.

The asthmatic child usually is severely handicapped. The condition may lead to permanent injuries of the lungs and heart.

Then sthmatic child should be competently treated as soon as the physician suggests.

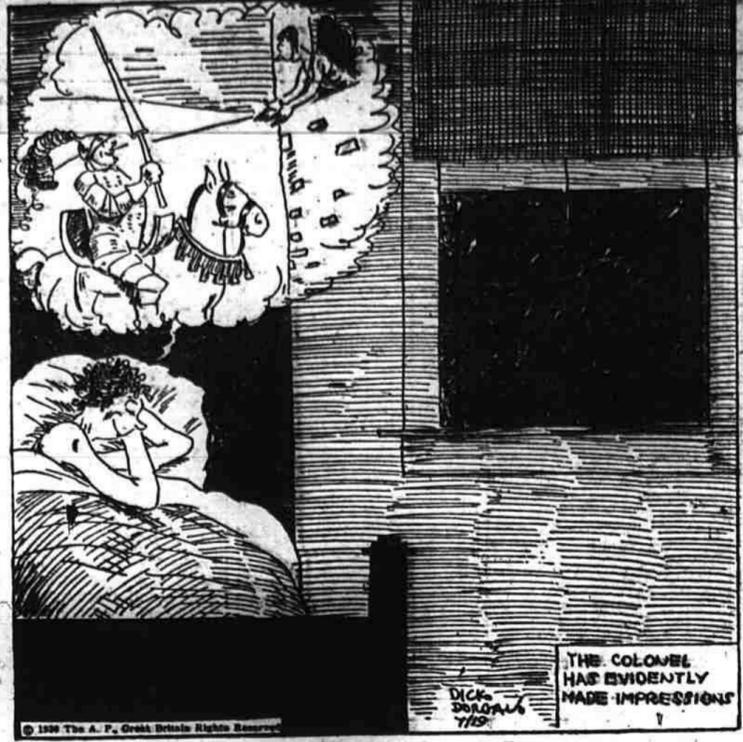

Much can be done to prevent the development of both asthma and hay fever in children born with a predisposition to these conditions.

Such children should not have animal pets, nor be allowed to come into intimate or prolonged contact with cats, dogs, rabbits, or guinea pigs.

Animal dandruff was found to be the sole or contributing cause of asthma in 50 per cent of asthmatic children studied.

The use of fur or feather pillows or mattresses is also inadvisable.

A Market Square

SEVERAL short-lived movements to establish a public market square in Big Spring have been made within the past year. Many cities have found such an arrangement satisfactory, and profitable both to the farmers and the business interests of the community.

Farmers of this county are complaining daily that they have no market for poultry, eggs, vegetables and other produce.

We believe the designation of such a place in Big Spring would enable farmers and truck growers to sell more produce, and in many cases to sell it at better prices.

It should not be difficult to establish this public market place. Business men, we believe, would find it profitable to do so.

They would not only make it possible for the farmer—his customers—to have more cash, much of which of necessity would have to go for food and raised sold in stores, but they also would greatly improve the feeling of farmers toward merchants.

We hope to see action in this matter very soon.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS.

Indications of Business Improvement

Eheman Democrat:
THE DISPATCHES of Thursday indicated that some of the foremost business men of America are of the opinion that the worst is over, in the matter of business shrinkage. Lament Dupont, one of the leading business men of New York and president of E. I. DuPont de Nemours corporation, has advised heads of departments and presidents of subsidiaries that conditions still are sound and the foundation for returning prosperity seems secure.

David Saroff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, reports that his company's production is now being speeded up, and that the industry is beginning to sense the trend toward improved conditions.

Members of the board of directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in session at South Bend, Ind., Thursday, expressed themselves as enthusiastic over the business outlook for the next six months. Alfred Reeves, general manager of the chamber, said he based his statement on reports of leading economists of the country, who declare that the business depression appears to have reached its limit. Low inventories, easy money and reduced production the first six months of the year has produced a healthy condition in the automotive industry, he declares. Incidentally, Mr. Reeves says the automobile industry is cooperating in junking old cars, and two and a half million of them are due to disappear from service during the present year.

In connection with this news from the "big business" fronts, it is said that retail trade is nearly all flow has been picking up for the past two weeks. In the south, this is natural for the season. Hollywood Sights

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A new indoor sport which really is a revival of an old one, has come, with parlor tricks and old-fashioned games, to add more of the "mauve decade" spirit to Hollywood parties.

The consumption of liquor refreshments, at many functions, remains the prime object, but others offer a different entertainment.

Parades, antiques, simple card contests are becoming as popular as bridge, if not more so, and some big stars go in for these parlor sports enthusiastically.

A TALKIE SPORT

The "new" entertainment is a natural development in a Hollywood gone completely talkie. The actors are leaving their pieces reciting and declaiming just as grammar school kids still do at their weekly assemblies.

The parties offer the movie people a double opportunity, in that they can not only contribute to the fun, but also receive on the guests the fruits of their lessons in English diction.

CENSUS FIGURES

State of West Virginia, (revised), 1,728,510, increase 264,809, or 18.1 per cent.
State of Maryland, 1,625,279, increase 175,618, or 12.1 per cent.

EARTHQUAKE BABY

Allen Carlyle, young character comedienne who had been playing bits in silent pictures, but did not find a real niche until talkies came in, also frequently entertains in this manner, speaking French, German and Spanish as well as English, and a number of dialects as well.

Miss Carlyle, born in San Francisco just two weeks before the earthquake, is like Virginia Sales, sister of "Chic," in excellent, despite her youth, at middle-aged, eccentric characterizations.

The two capitalize on extremes in figures, Miss Sale making up to accentuate a naturally angular frame, while Miss Carlyle does not try to reduce inasmuch as her plumpness is a comedy asset, no matter whether she is impersonating a young housewife or a haughty society clubwoman.

Grand Saline Woman Loses Part of Limb

GRAND SALINE, Tex., July 19 (AP)—Dashed against a station platform as she alighted from a moving excursion train yesterday, coming from the railroad opening celebration at Van, Miss Dee Herron, 33, of Grand Saline, suffered the loss of a portion of her right leg and faced a possible loss of her right arm. The leg was amputated about four inches above the ankle.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

BY MARY LOU

SYNOPSIS: Mary Lou breaks a make-believe engagement with Tony, even though she loves him. She has decided that their play-acting marriage as well end now as later. At a dance with Brynmor, her sweetheart of last summer, she is ill at ease. Thoughts of Tony still haunt her. Brynmor, delighted that Mary Lou's romance with Tony is ended, asks her to marry him at first, but on second thought it appeals to her as a sensible solution to her unhappiness. She accepts his proposal in desperation. Tony appears at the dance alone, and sits down with them. When Brynmor announces his engagement to Mary Lou, Tony accepts the news airily, and asks Mary Lou to dance with him again. Secretly he regrets that she has slipped from him.

WANTED—A JOB

Tony deliberately began to make cutting remarks as soon as they had started to dance.

"So he's The Ideal, Mary Lou? The man who's more serious, intellectual and better looking than I am?"

"Tony, don't!" she pleaded.

"I'll grant that he is better looking, but I wouldn't bank on the intellect. I suppose you suffered my courting you, just waiting for this."

"Yes, of course," Mary Lou's voice was hollow. "That was only pretense, Tony."

Why should he want to hurt her this way? Hadn't he said that he intended to marry no one? Why should he object if she chose to marry some one else, even though she wasn't particularly enthusiastic about it?

"Well, this is what I hoped would happen," he continued sarcastically. "I hope you'll be happy with this chap. Come along back to the table. I'm going to drink champagne to your health."

"I-I can't," she stammered.

"Please—please excuse me a moment. Tell Brynmor I'll be back."

She fled from his arms and into the cloak room.

"My coat, quick," she commanded the woman. "And have you a pencil and paper?"

The woman brought them.

"So sorry, Brynmor," she scribbled feverishly. "I feel ill. Am going home. Excuse me to Tony."

She addressed it on the outside after folding it, and handed the note to a bell boy in the lobby.

"Please find this gentleman," she told him, and left the boy gaping after her as she hailed a cab.

When Mary Lou did not reappear after a few minutes, as she had promised, both Brynmor and Tony became concerned with her unexplained absence. Later, when the bell boy delivered Mary Lou's note to Brynmor, he was completely upset.

"I can't understand it," he told Tony, who gave a nonchalant shrug and muttered something about the futility of trying to find reasons for a girl's conduct.

It grated on Brynmor's pride to think that the evening had been so miserable for him after Tony had arrived, when it had been so delightful before.

"Well, old fellow," Tony remarked airily as they prepared to leave the hotel, "it looks like the little girl has let us out for tonight."

They parted with forced cordiality.

Tony was shaken rudely from his slumbers about nine o'clock the

"That's more like it," Miss Titherington applauded. "And you mean to say you're going to sit there calmly..."

"Lie here, aunt," Tony corrected her.

"Sit there," shouted Miss Titherington, "sit there and allow this other whipper-snapper to carry her off under your nose!"

Tony clasped his hands together enthusiastically.

"Splendid, aunt! That's the stuff which brings down the curtain with a final wallop. Why don't you try your hand at writing for the talkies?"

Miss Titherington was non-plussed.

"I refuse to stay here and argue with you."

"I wasn't arguing," Tony said meekly. "I was only advising you how to make the best use of your undeniable talents."

"Well," she remarked, "I have something to say on that subject. From now on you don't get a penny from me, so it'll be a good opportunity for you to make good use of your undeniable talents and find yourself a job!"

Headless of Tony's protests, she stalked out of the room and left him staring after her.

"Well, that cooked it," he remarked philosophically to himself. "That absolutely cooked it. I wonder what I'm going to do now?"

As he lay gazing at the ceiling, it wasn't the painful necessity of finding a job that engrossed his attention. He was wondering, instead, what had prompted Mary Lou to dash home in such an extraordinary way the previous night.

Looking back at it, he felt that his own conduct had been rather inexcusable.

Somewhat he had been actuated by a savage desire to hurt her. Why should he have felt that way about it? Hadn't her prompt engagement to Brynmor freed his mind from any fear that he had let her down in any way himself?

Yet he found the thought of her marriage to Brynmor peculiarly irritating. Would he have felt this way had it been some other chap? Some other chap, say, of whom he approved? Of course not. Even then an uncomfortable sixth sense warned him that he would have felt much the same, whoever Mary Lou's new fiancé might have been.

To be quite candid with himself, he didn't like to think of Mary Lou marrying anyone—except himself, perhaps. The thought leaped to his mind before he was able to ward it off.

"You know," he pondered, "you know that you're not..."

That would mean the end of your flying. And there's no...

All the same, he thought more calmly, it would be best to see Mary Lou and tell her how sorry he was for his behavior.

He called and asked "where" to have the grapefruit and a cup of coffee.

He was allied with the news that he had brought to hand.

Half an hour later this same business brought him to Jay's shop.

Outside the window he hesitated. Now that he was here what could he say to her? Rather abruptly he turned toward the door.

Once more he paused. The side of the entrance, he saw a neat printed card: "Smart Delivery Boy Wanted."

Thoughtfully he detached the card from the wall, pocketed it, and went into the shop.

Mrs. Arthur Powell Davis, wife of the California irrigation engineer, has won the distinction of being the first American woman to drive an automobile in Soviet Russia.

When she drove her car through the streets of Tashkent, where many women still wear the veil and are kept to the strict seclusion of the harems, crowds of excited people gathered around her automobile and questioned her.

They couldn't understand how she could be driving the car with her husband in the back seat. Mrs. Davis told the natives that women in the United States drive from both the front and rear seats.

Hernando, which drew many Memphis couples, and Biloxi and Pascagoula, serving the Mobile trade, are among the principal centers affected.

In addition to the five-day wait, the law requires that for men under 21 or women under 18, the circuit clerk must notify the parents of both parties. If at the end of that period no protest has been filed, the license is granted.

BROOCH UNDER THE BRIM

Mayfair Society Finds New Place For Clip Pin

LONDON, July 18.—The very latest place to wear a brooch, whether it be the ordinary pin-on kind or the fashionable clip variety, is under the brim of your hat. This does not mean that any hat can be thus adorned, but that the very attractive summer hats which have a wide brim turned back on the forehead before being allowed to fall forward do demand some kind of ornament on the bandeau thus created. A tiny wreath of flowers across the brow is sometimes seen, but a brooch in this position is newer and more interesting. It is a great thing to remember with your hat brooch is that the better the jewelry, the more expensive the hat will look—a cheap brooch in this conspicuous position is quite fatal.

MURDER! Hist—Who Throttled The Beautiful Hollywood Star In Her Closet?

By ONA REAGAN PARSONS "The Hollywood Murder Mystery" By Herbert Crooker (Macaulay) Hollywood is such a plausible place for a good murder mystery to be located, that it is a wonder someone didn't steal Mr. Crooker's thunder long ago.

This is a good book to tuck under one's arm on the way to the station California bound. All the necessary ingredients for a train book—beautiful heroines, smart hero, glamorous background. Get acquainted with Hollywood before you get there—and all that sort of stuff.

Now for the story. You have the feeling that the characters are all patterned after famous stars and at once you start figuring out who they are. The detective is easy—even his name aids you; it's Clay Brooke. He wears a cap and smokes a pipe? What more could one ask for—in fact, you wonder in the first chapter, how the author can wait until the last chapter to show how his magnificent abilities have cleared up this murder.

The "murderer" is a dancer, dangerous but lovely—of course. Absolutely no partiality is shown—you can take the reviewer's word for that. Her lover, her maid—even her disector—are all suspected.

You are supposed to believe that lives and even reputations are dramatically hanging in the balance—remember, the author is writing—not for Hollywood, but for people outside of Hollywood, who still believe in such good old-fashioned things as reputations.

Friend Of More Stars No good reviewer would reveal one word of a mystery plot, so you must discover that for yourself. But to show you how friendly Mr. Crooker was with the screen celebrities (which proves that he must have written this from firsthand acquaintance) several telegrams are reproduced on the book cover.

Among the senders are Gilda Gray, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Richard Barthelmess and Irene Bordoni, who says, "I seldom read mystery books, but your novel 'The Hollywood Murder Mystery' I think is most thrilling book of the movies I've ever read and I must tell you so with best wishes."

None of these telegrams are addressed to Mr. Crooker except that from Corinne Griffith, which has a very good-pally sort of sound. But evidently they were meant for him. Perhaps some of their writers are in the book.

JULY MALEIDOSCOPE The July number comes out with the names of the winners in the recent six months' Better Poetry Contest (what an unforgivable title) conducted by this magazine. The judges were Jessie Rittenhouse, the editors and the subscribers.

John R. Moreland won first prize with "If I forget an April Bough." Lexide Dean Robertson won second place with "The Seeker." Edwin Carlisle Litsey won third place with "Elijah Wren."

The other winners were Berta Hart Nance, Siddle Joe Johnson, Henri Faust, Frances M. Frost, Edith B. Spaulding, Barbara Young, Dorothy MacFarlane, Lily Peter, Anna Flournoy Bassett and Luella Stone. Many of these names have appeared on poems by Texans which have been quoted from time to time in this column.

Contest To Be Repeated The contest is to be done all over again during the next six months. Struthers Burt will replace Miss Rittenhouse. If the poetry lovers of Big Spring will watch the favorite Texas poem quoted in each month's review, possibly several prize-winners will be found.

There is going to be an exception to our rule this month. No Texan has contributed anything as lovely as "Capture" by Irene Jones Carlisle, which is the song of a mother to her child. So we must quote it:

"Drowsily turn, close-curl'd upon my bosom, Small and secure, fast in your slumbrous lull; Drowsily turn, my lovely one, my blossom Beautiful, beautiful.

"I am a great wing spread above your slumber Heavy with tenderness, heavier than pain. Beauty that fled me time and time without number Is snared again."

LIDO PAJAMAS IN TWO TONES Piratical Trouser Costumes Worn With Wide Brimmed Hats

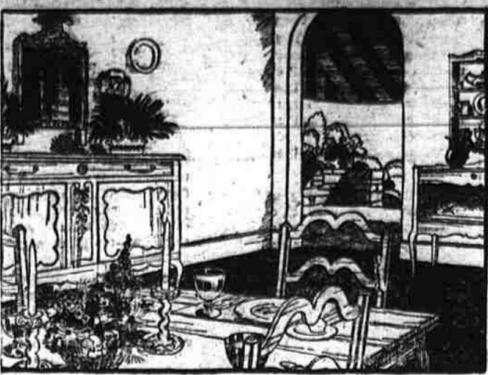

PARIS, July 19 UP.—What Paris calls "two-tonality" is a necessary ingredient for chic Lido pajamas, 1930 edition.

Couturiers are turning out gay and practical trouser costumes for the fashionable beaches where society loves to loiter during the last weeks of July and the month of August.

Color tones must harmonize rather than contrast in this season's pajama suits. Yellows, greens, browns, reds and white are moderately combined.

There's grace in "French provincial" pieces

By MARGEE TAYLOR Interior Decoration Editor McCall's Magazine. Written for The Herald

French provincial is the latest furniture style to leave the exclusive circle of the collector for the home. Few persons who like simple types of decorations can resist the quaint, good-humored friendliness of French provincial.

Perhaps one reason for its present popularity is the result of our fondness for early American, with which French provincial has a true kinship.

French provincial is not of one particular period or special locality; it includes many centuries and just about everything in France except Paris. It is furniture just one step from the sell, made by men who had to live with it and were going to enjoy doing so.

Each province has given the style its own special charm. The rock-bound Breton expressed his spirit in sturdy lines and religious symbols; the Normandy farmer told his story in lines copied from the trailing vines of his garden.

Peasants made big cupboards or buffets and other such heavy wall pieces. Wealthy landowners were inclined to favor more elaborately carved pieces, with attractive paneling and hand wrought hardware. The bourgeois indulged in furniture more of the Louis XV kind—graceful, but still practical.

The new reproductions are faithful and the dining room and bedroom pieces are especially cleverly adapted to modern needs.

In the room with chintz papers, wood paneling or rough plaster, French provincial is at home. Fabrics which set it off and give it the proper peasant background are toile de Jouy, linens, small patterned chintzes and checked ginghams. The style, however, is not limited to such settings. For rooms which try to forget their peasant origins, velours, brocatelles, tapestries and linens will not make French provincial look "dressed up."

Ugly Little Frown Lines Can Be Smothered Away Easily There is no reason why frown lines should be tolerated, if the vision is normal and you do not abuse your eyes. If you should notice little perpendicular lines beginning to form between your eyes, just see how they will vanish before this simple treatment:

First, thoroughly cleanse your skin by smoothing cleansing cream up over your neck and face. Then remove the cream with soft tissues, and wipe a pad of cotton saturated with skin tonic over your face.

Now you are ready for the real frown line treatment: Spread a generous quantity of skin food or tissue cream on your face, and especially just above the bridge of skirts at the ankle, as a general in vests, sleeveless, or with ruffled. Trousers are worn with tuck-in cap sleeves which just cover the top of the shoulder.

Waists are slenderized with wide pirate sashes which bring trousers and shirt into harmony.

Pirate head dresses of the same coloring as the sash are favorites with smart beach-giggers. One new form of turban is a Bedouin cap with loose drapes in back to protect the neck from the sun's rays.

Many women add wide brimmed crownless hats to the head dress, making the hat take the place of a sunshade.

Jodhpurs and breeches of a pale rust, canary, French blue, bright green and even peach are also offered.

Short beaded jackets for fall are already being shown in sleeveless and long sleeved types.

Silpover collars in sheer, lace effects are new and smart in effect.

Beaded neckwear novelties are also appearing on dresses designed for early fall.

Georgette neckwear, some of which is eyelet embroidered, is smart especially in pink.

Shoe and bag ensembles continue to be introduced in contrasting colors. White linen with colored kid is a midsummer expression of this idea.

In a season in which luster is curiously lacking, the satin dress unexpectedly is included in Paris collections.

The new fall colors are described as having a virility which sets them apart from the neutrality of pastels.

Dead black in spongy woolsens is a favorite in Paris, this type of material being chosen for jacket costumes.

The California Automobile association says statistics show that 93 per cent of stolen motor vehicles are recovered.

A Prayer 'What Next?' 'Off the Forehead' 'We Flinch' 'Alibi' BY ADA E. LINGO

BEWILDERING, WED SAY We are becoming a trifle groggy and our eyes are growing dimmer as we try to keep our feet during the summer round with Fashion as she predicts colors for Fall.

For instance we have said, "The dark-bright colors will lead for the coming season... mulberry, off black, etc." but no matter what prediction we make one week the next week brings us a note from Mrs. Little of the Woman's Home Companion saying "Tout est bleu. All shades of blue from pastel to porcelain and even darker are on the crest of fashion here" (meaning Paris.)

Then Miss Alice Langelier of the INS says, "In foretelling fall colors, it seems most likely that Milady is going to fall for green." Aside from the pun (which wasn't so good, puns never are!) the green idea catches our fancy... especially the "gas-green."

She describes some luscious thing which would go well here in the barren west. Come to think of it our main relief from the "barrenness" is green. If it were not for our blue green cedars and our plume like green mesquite our outraged eyes would see little other color than a sandy red.

But here are the descriptions: "Green is to be seen in every shade from the dull grey-green tones of street ensembles to the emerald shade for afternoon wear and pale 'gas-green' for evening.

"Chantal is showing a new and usually brilliant yellow-green in georgette and crepe de Chine afternoon frocks. Made entirely without trimming and also without buttons for they are tied softly in various places, these gowns in lovely greens exploit the latest crossover bodice belted in with a definite blouse, particularly cut at the back. The sleeves are long and rather tight and a slight flare appears in the skirt which extends to the middle of the calf."

"OFF THE FOREHEAD SHOWING THE HAIR" And again we come across the above quotation. It seems to be a taking fashion. Narrowed down it is just this "off the forehead way up on one side, and showing the hair," is the new hat style.

AGAIN WE BEG YOUR PARDON! We begged your pardon when we last mentioned (at least we have the grace to flinch) the white accessories so popular with black outfits.

Well anyway one fashion service of ours is also sold on the idea. She writes as follows: "Here's a last minute tidbit sent by cable after Madame Revilla returned to Paris. It says that the vogue for dead white accessories with black wool or black silk ensembles is growing to be tremendous. White berets and white brimmed straw hats are now considered the smart thing with a black costume in Paris. You may remember that just six weeks ago I mentioned the number of white Panama hats worn with black or navy blue suits by the very smartest women at the Belmont races here in New York."

Five more flinches and three dodges! THE COTTONS ARE COMING, KERRHUMP Well, maybe they are not coming, but still it made a good title. (Grant you it would have been better with two kerhumps but they wouldn't fit, you know. That's the trouble with headlines, the really clever ones never fit.)

Anyway the cottons have come. And one of the most charming ones is a chestnut brown organdie frock with a chiffon top. It was created by Louise Boulanger, and sounds like something to see a German in admiration even down to the chaperona.

A corduroy suit, boosted by the Cotton Textile Institute's "Flashes of Fashion," a most interesting and accurate sheet, tempts us for fall. They were, it says, special favorites in the Irene Dana collection. "Several were in a soft shade of blue with pale gray caracul cravat collars. Corduroy and velveteen both look very good for fall."

BOOKS And Bookmakers

Four Nantucket seascapes by Tiffany Thayer, author of Thirteen Men were exhibited at the annual show of Nantucket painters at the artists' colony in that port. Mr. Thayer was not present for the exhibition, however, as he had sailed for Europe for a two months' tour during which he expects to complete his next book. A Texan who has been in Nantucket, was for many years literary secretary to Upton Sinclair, has assisted the manager of the colony each summer for several years.

Jan Isabel Fortune of Dallas, poet and feature writer, is doing a series of travel letters for the Dallas News while touring Europe.

IRVING FINEMAN won the $7,500 prize in the Longmans Green first-novel contest with his book THIS PURE YOUNG MAN.

The suit brought against Flain Talk Magazine by Jack Whitten, former governor of Oklahoma, was lost. The magazine was charged with libel in an article called "Whoops in Oklahoma." The suit would probably have been won in Texas, so stringent are our libel laws. This state can make more whoopee and can say less about it than any other, probably, in the union.

FANNIE HURST writes to Ruth Raphael of Harper Brothers, from Italy, that the city of Florence is "being antiqued" by American millionaires. She says:

"American women with Kansas accents trail delaminate brocades across the chilly marble floors of ancient palazzos their husbands have purchased with oil and movie money. The husbands look rather queer in the Della Robbia settings but their wives walk off with it. You'll find the Florentines living in the few modern and heated apartments the town affords. The American mults, blue-nosed and chicken-hearted, make the best of their frescoed surroundings."

your nose, where the lines are forming. If your face is overdry, use skin food; but tissue cream is better if your skin is normal or inclined to be oily. Next dip your fingers into muscle oil. Lay the index and middle fingers of one hand on the bridge of your nose, and gently smooth upward, with a brisk, firm movement. Alternate with the same fingers of your other hand, and repeat until your skin feels warm and tingly. If you take this treatment just before going to bed, leave the massage cream and muscle oil on your forehead all night. Or if you wish, remove the excess cream and oil with a little cleansing cream or skin tonic.

PROGRESS

Based on an Invincible Ideal

Progress is a goal—it is more than a goal, it is the inevitable result of growth and enlargement... but to be permanent and secure, progress must be based on a solid foundation of service.

In the case of the Grissom-Robertson Department Stores, progress has been made, and is being made every day. A progress in keeping with the development of its community. As Big Spring grows, Grissom-Robertson will grow, just as it has in the past.

It is a healthy growth, based on a firm foundation of service to its customers, and based on an honest plan of merchandising only those goods which we can stand squarely behind.

In keeping with its policy of affording its customers every possible accommodation, Grissom-Robertson offers a convenient credit, based on the thirty-day charge account plan.

Brooklyn, N. Y.
Can you, as a Mason, tell me, as an outsider, what Freemasonry really is and what are its history and aims?
Modern Freemasonry is a later development of the fraternalistic guilds which flourished during the Middle Ages and were themselves an outgrowth of still earlier organizations of a similar kind. Its members are equally bound to keep and obey the laws and regulations of the order. Its basic doctrines are based on the Old and New Testaments.

Freemasonry is a religious and ceremonial system which is largely adapted from the Hebrew Scriptures. The Masonic temple and aims are inspired by the teachings of the Bible and the Apostles of Christianity. This happy blending of both Testaments enables Jews and Christians who are brethren to meet on the level of brotherhood and beneath the benevolent rule of God as the Father of all men. The late Bishop Henry Codman Potter, a former chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in the State of New York, was wont to say that he valued his position if only for the reason that it enabled him to fraternize with the Jewish brethren. Without reservation in the personal deity whose first concern is the good of His offspring. They forbid the discussion of political or sectarian differences in their assemblies, because they crave peace and good will among all men. Works of charity are incumbent upon every lodge and their direction is left to the conscience of the members. No body of men known to me is more observant of such works or more ready to respond to the call of its needy members.

A dutiful citizen who is without the fraternity. Should he not be able to discipline and even expulsion from the order. The creed of English-speaking Masonry may be summarized as follows:
1. There is one God, the Father of all men.

2. The Holy Bible is the great light of Masonry and the guide of its faith and practice.
3. Man is immortal and his character determines his destiny.
4. Love of God expressed in love of man is a Mason's primal duty and privilege.
5. Prayer regarded as communion with God is essential for life's true guidance.
Montclair, N. J.
I note you are inclined to advise against divorce where there are children involved. To me that is the wrong method of approach. Would it not be far better to straighten out cases before they get to the point of divorce? I broke up my home two years ago for the children's sake. I regret it even now, yet it was necessary. Men have not awakened to the fact that women do not have to endure a bondage worse than death in order to earn a living.

Two sets of interests center in marriage and the home, those of the parents and those of the children, and two firm elements affect those interests, the present and the future. Of these elements, the future is most important, especially for the children of the marriage. Does it not, therefore, seem to you that if any one must be sacrificed in matrimonial tangles, it should be the parents, and not the children?
When either parent is profligate the permanence and safety of the home are destroyed. The mother may be worthy; the father may be unworthy, or both may be moral failures; in any case, the child needs father and mother for its complete development. For this reason divorced couples contribute to the social undoing, now all to prevent. Their guilt is visited upon their innocent offspring. Dissension, bitterness or sexual indulgence blight young life and damn its prospects.

For these reasons I favor giving first aid and comfort, not to the parents, but to the children. I do not assume to criticize your own action. Doubtless you did what you deemed best under the circumstances. If I knew all the facts probably I should agree that you had no other course to follow. But you admit that it has not given you absolute satisfaction. Nor can it. Some breaches in a soul's peace and welfare, once made, can never be fully repaired. The gap in your children's lives is there, and protests that it was necessary do not obliterate the moral damage thus suffered.
But do not labor under the delusion that American women are slaves. Forty per cent of the nation's wealth is in their hands. They enjoy extraordinary privileges and opportunities. They have a freedom which, wisely used, bids fair to give them more freedom. In conclusion, I favor predivorce settlements of domestic difficulties whenever children are involved. And I would always give the children first consideration.
