

Ex-Farm Loan Official Found Guilty

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Opening his work as legal representative of towns along the proposed route of the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway company's line, Major Fred I. Oliver of Washington, D. C., experienced in interstate matters, left here Tuesday morning for a tour of the territory.

His task is to show the commission there is necessity for this line and that it would create new traffic.

Some idea of the spirit with which towns along this proposed railroad are approaching the matter is afforded when you are reminded they are divided, according to relative population, the cost of retaining expert counsel.

Obviously, this spirit is highly pleasing to the Texas & Pacific.

The top heavy loss of Monday to Abilene high school was hard to take, of course, but by no means fatal. If the Steers will stay right in there and play away and, above all, train religiously, they will come out high in the final ranking of the Oil Belt teams.

But, they must train every day, all the time and every night, too. Going to parties and dances and sitting up to study late at night help them, but they won't do it. We are not convincing the boys for losing that game Monday. But, we do know beyond a shadow of a doubt that they must take care of themselves to be able to withstand the onslaughts of opposing teams through four grueling quarters.

Football is worth nothing to a boy who does not submit to rigorous training. If he cannot deny himself some more or less unimportant things for a few months football will do him no good, anyway.

And if he will not train he certainly won't be of benefit to the team. A man who does not train hurts the morale of the squad. If he is not willing to do so he ought to drop out.

We haven't said these things to hurt anybody's feelings, which may be a little tender anyway after being so disappointingly whipped. We say them because there are often heard at home and elsewhere in the district charges that "Big Spring boys won't train."

Whether that charge is true we do not know but we do know the best way to prove it untrue is to go out and whip the living lights out of some of these other clubs.

As we've often observed, a large portion of the touchdowns made by Abilene, especially in the first periods of conference games result not so much from weakness of Abilene's opponents but from stage fright of the Eagles adversaries. The name "Abilene Eagles," because of so many years of winning to their credit, has come to mean something it ought not to mean. If these other teams would just get out of their heads they'd be better off. The Eagles always are pretty strong but they're not super-men and teams which go against them in good physical condition this season have a good chance to knock them out of the race.

Stay in there Steers!

J. C. Penney Declares Chain Stores To Be 'Community Minded'

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The "community-mindedness" of chain stores was a point of J. C. Penney founder of the J. C. Penney Company, sought to emphasize to the National Chain Store convention delegates today.

Chain stores, he declared, succeed in proportion to the extent to which they identify themselves with community interests.

"No business can reach its highest development in any locality unless it is community-minded," he said.

"American people are keenly sensitive to local activities. We are a race of joiners. The combination of the joiner spirit with good common sense has brought increased sales volume to chain stores."

Banker Sees Better Times

Urges Cooperation Of Banks Officials In Address

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30 (AP)—Signs of an upward turn of business have recently appeared, and the factors creating the upward turn should have the wisest cooperation the banker can provide, John G. Longdale, president of the Mercantile Commerce Bank and Trust Company of St. Louis and president of the American Bankers Association, said today.

Longdale addressed the opening of the general sessions of the association which started a four day convention here yesterday.

Some of the indicators of better business are the increased credit of banks this month, increased purchases by the public, increased employment in many factories, and accelerated speed of some factory wheels, he said.

But for the banker to cooperate he must encourage the farmer to improve his land, the manufacturer to produce more goods, the merchant to sell more goods, and the consumer to spend more money.

"It should be the aim of the banker to help the farmer, the manufacturer, the merchant, and the consumer."

Rotarians Have Club Members As Day's Guest

The county farm agent, home agent and health nurse, with members of the Rotarian school faculty and a group of County Home Demonstration club women were guests at Tuesday's luncheon of the Rotary club.

It was announced the next meeting will be held in the Settles Hotel.

Tom Ashley, chairman of the rural-urban committee, had charge of the program. Miss Viliard, home demonstration club woman, played a piano solo.

Mrs. W. C. Rogers, of the home club leader, told of her appreciation of the county agents work, of the instructions given in canning, preserving and improvement of homes.

At the A. & M. College, which she attended recently and paid tribute to Mrs. M. R. Shover, the county health nurse and Mrs. Louise Allgood, the county home demonstration agent.

Miss Eowanda Kidwell of Elkhart told of the Girls' 4-H club work and her experiences gained at the short course.

Hubert Hays, with told of the origin and growth of 4-H club work in this county, of the impact it had been given by A. & M. College officials. The total club membership in Howard county is 129, he said.

C. T. Watson told of his belief in boys' and girls' club work. Knowledge of agricultural problems helps all the people, he declared.

Speakers alluded to petitions recently circulated calling for abolishing the two county agents and the health nurse's office. This was viewed as a counter move by those opposed primarily to a county library.

"We must have your leadership to fight for these very valuable services," the club was told.

Independents Declare Duty Must Be Had

Renewal Of Fruitless Fight Started In Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 30 (AP)—The Oklahoma division of the Independent Petroleum Association of America stood organized today for a resumption of last winter's ineffectual campaign for a tariff on imports of crude oil and its refined products.

Cloud President

Organization of the division, with James G. Cloud of Tulsa, a director of the Sunray Oil Company, as president, was perfected by more than 200 of the state's independent oil men at a meeting here yesterday.

Agreed that a duty of petroleum imports offered American independent producers and refiners their only hope for a way out of the economic wilderness surrounding them, leaders of the state's independent forces moved to make a renewal of the fight tight the first act of the organization.

But Melloy, Tulsa, speaking before the assembly, urged the tariff campaign be carried to the American Petroleum Institute in a new effort to obtain that organization's support as well as to congress.

The rebalancing factor in the present situation is the flood of foreign oil and gasoline pouring into America, he declared. "American oil is being exported to other countries under such a condition."

Harold Bell, Ardmore, executive vice president of the National Association of Independent Producers, who presided until the meeting, said the only solution of the independent oil man's problems.

Expressing hope the second oil tariff campaign would be a success, Harry H. Rogers, Tulsa, banker and president of the state chamber of commerce, asserted there was no justification for existing tariff schedules without a duty on oil imports.

The struggle hold of the big companies on the independents is worse than ever before, Cloud said.

Charles E. Powles, statistician for the association, quoted figures supplied by the United States Bureau of Mines, showing that imports of oil and oil products increased 12 per cent last year over 1929 while American exports had increased only 12 per cent.

Hitler Warns Hindenburg

German Fascist Leader Alludes To Impeachment

MUNICH, Bavaria, Sept. 30 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's newspaper, "Voelkischer Beobachter," today published a warning to the government that if Chancellor Bruening resorts to extra parliamentary means to force his program of financial reform "his government will become illegal and thereby summon the people to similar illegality."

The newspaper referred to reports that the Hindenburg-Bruening government proposed to see the reform policies through even at the expense of the powers of a dictator and adjournment of the fourth Reichstag should be necessary.

The newspaper statement was taken in government circles to mean that Hitler was ready for another push in spite of his promise of peace, if the government leaders should sufficiently irritate him.

The Hitler newspaper published a reminder to President Von Hindenburg that "the constitution contains an article providing for impeachment of the president. We warn Herr Von Hindenburg against opposing Germany in the interests of the Centrist Party and certain bankrupt politicians."

Crew of Freight Train Hi-Jacked West of Midland

Echoes of the days when train robbery was a regularity rather than a novelty were heard Sunday night when two youths held up the train crew of a westbound freight train, five miles west of Midland.

Engineer A. P. Clayton, 800 Gregg Street, appealed to the men to give him back his watch.

"You see," he declared, "I would lose my job if I ran my train on the main line without a watch."

The watch was returned, but the time pieces of N. R. Smith, brakeman, and Loy Smith, fireman, were kept by the robbers.

They also obtained approximately $10 in cash from the three men. The train had been sidled, waiting for a passenger train to clear the main line.

The two men had parked their Ford automobile on the highway near the first siding west of Midland.

Brandishing pistols, the youths demanded the crew to "put 'em up and keep them there." They were not masked.

The train was a freight, with engine No. 621 on duty. It was westbound at the time of the robbery.

Ector Proration Period Extended

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Ector county proration committee voted yesterday to recommend to the railroad commission extension of proration in the Penn pool of that county and adoption of a method of proration similar to that in effect in the Yates pool of Pecos county. Probable oil for the next thirty days will be 7,500 barrels daily. W. L. Todd, chairman of the committee and vice-president of the Simms Oil Company, presided.

Settles Management Issues Final Appeal To Big Spring People To Make Reservations

In an effort to prevent many people from being disappointed because of their delay in making reservations, an appeal was issued Tuesday afternoon by Manager F. W. Crow of the Settles hotel urging that reservations for the second night's program, Thursday, marking formal opening of the hotel be made immediately.

Reservations for the dinner, floor show and dance are $2.50 per person. Places may be reserved either at the hotel or the Chamber of Commerce offices in the ground floor of the hotel building.

AL SMITH STAMPEDES NEW YORK CONVENTION FOR GOV. ROOSEVELT

Insurance Rate Cut For Grocery Jobbers Fought

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was unanimously renominated by voice vote at the democratic state convention here today.

Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman also was renominated in the same manner.

Al Smith, Governor of New York, in his speech renominating Gov. Roosevelt declared office holders unfaithful to their trust should not only be removed from the ranks of the Democratic party but be prosecuted in the courts.

The declaration was an amplification of the plank incorporated in the party platform adopted by the convention last year.

Turning to national affairs he said he wanted "to give the Republican all the sympathy they can get from the administration."

President Hoover, he declared, the Republican platform declaration on unemployment and said that a friend gave him a pocket piece, on one side of which the inscription "Hoover's Lucky Piece" and on the other side "Four Years of Prosperity." He told his friend, he said, that he could not accept it because if he ever tried to deposit it in a bank he might go to jail.

Unemployment

The unemployment plank in the Republican platform of last week was the same as the one they adopted two years ago, the former governor declared.

When Mr. Smith announced his next topic as "prohibition" the audience laughed. The Republican plank would "knock the spots off the leopard," he said.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" got a thing on them," he said.

The Republican platform provides for a repeal of the 18th amendment "when, if and Mr. Smith paused while the crowd laughed."

"Let me speak now of the man, the former governor said of Governor Roosevelt. "No man worked harder for the government than this man Franklin D. Roosevelt. In all my experience I can say no man has accomplished more than this man Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Airing Likely After Charges Of Favoritism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—A congressional airing appeared likely today for the charges of favoritism to large oil companies brought against Secretary Wilbur by Ralph S. Kelley in resigning as chief of the field division of the Federal Land Office in Denver.

The interior secretary refused to accept Kelley's resignation but announced the latter's suspension from office, welcoming a full investigation. Kelley in New York said last night he did not regard himself any longer an employee of the Interior Department and restated the charges made in his letter of resignation, which he made public Sunday.

The former land office man added he would be prepared to amplify his charges later and would be ready to appear before a congressional committee should the suggestion of Chairman Nye of the senate lands committee for an investigation be approved. The latter termed the charges amazing and said: "Kelley will have to be heard in congress."

Secretary Wilbur made a vigorous defense of his oil land policy and said he had directed Kelley "to file immediately the names of the companies he claimed had been favored, with specific details of each case."

The charges hinged on the disposal of public lands in Colorado which Kelley asserted contained petroleum deposits in the form of oil shale which even at present low prices would exceed forty billion dollars in value. He asserted that through political pressure on the office of the interior secretary the large oil companies had received favorable consideration for illegal claims to some of these lands.

Wilbur said no leases for oil shale had been issued under his administration and further that action had been brought to forfeit all claims to such lands on which the required assessment work of $100 a year had not been done. Something more than 3,000,000 acres of such lands in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, he said, had been covered by claims filed prior to 1920, the majority of these being held in the name of "Individuals or associations of individuals, made up largely of local people in the immediate vicinity."

Whether any of these had passed into the hands of the larger oil concerns after patent, he said, was not known to the department and was beyond its control.

Attendance Record Set At Abilene Fair

ABILENE, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—The West Texas Fair hung up a record first-day attendance yesterday. Motorcycle races were featured today's program with four events, for purses totaling $500, starting at 1 o'clock.

An all-school parade tomorrow will usher in Abilene Loyalty Day. The three-day rodeo program also will get under way. Tom Hickman, famous ranger captain; Tom Bryant, Cross Plains; and Earl McWilliams, sheriff, of Russell county, will be rodeo judges. Fred Bailey, of Cross Plains is arena judge.

In the county exhibits Runkle won first award yesterday. Eastland second, Tom Green third and Callahan fourth.

Abilene Prisoner Wanted To See Girl

ABILENE, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—He only wanted to see his sweetheart, Murrie Robinson, Albany youth, told Sheriff W. E. Goodman of Shackelford county this morning, and so he joined a break of prisoners from the Taylor county jail early Sunday morning.

Robinson 1 under sentence of five years for robbery of two women hotel keepers here. After Sunday's break he walked 35 miles to Albany, arriving at 11:35 last night and going immediately to the home of his sweetheart. Then at 1:45 a. m., he telephoned Sheriff Goodman that he was in town, asking to be locked up.

A second jail break was attempted here last night, but was nipped by Ray O'Bar, son of the sheriff of Taylor county, after a group of prisoners, working in shifts, had saved through one window bar and half-way through another.

President Rubio Postpones Visit

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio, scheduled to leave today on a trip to northern Mexico, abandoned his journey at the last minute.

A presidential statement said he was suffering from a slight indisposition and desired to attend to urgent business in Mexico City, including some details of the next year's budget preparation.

The statement added that the president had delegated General Calles to represent him at ceremonies of inauguration of roads and irrigation works in northern Mexico which have been one of the purposes of the projected trip.

14 Months Is Given J.L. Ross For Shortage

Judge Wilson Lectures Sweetwater Man From Bench

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 30 (AP)—"Farm loan banks are having enough trouble especially this year in Texas, without the people inside embezzling their funds," Judge James C. Wilson said in federal court here at noon today in addressing John L. Ross of Sweetwater before sentencing Ross to serve fourteen months in Leavenworth penitentiary.

"It is some feature of mitigation that the money was returned, and that nobody has actually been hurt, but restitution of embezzled funds does not restore to the association the confidence of the people, lack of which hampers them in carrying out the plans of the government to aid the farmers," Judge Wilson said.

Ross, former secretary treasurer of the Sweetwater Farm Loan Association, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $43.32 and to three charges of making false entries on reports to the Federal Land Bank commissioner at Houston.

After traveling to Texas from Alabama in a covered wagon, enduring the hardships and experiencing the thrills of being even a small part of the opening of a vast new state, it is little wonder that Mrs. A. M. Evans, well known pioneer resident of Big Spring, was only slightly impressed when she took her first airplane ride on her birthday today over sixty years since she left her native state.

She was taken up a cabin plane flown by Jerry Marshall of the S. A. T. this morning just as the fog cleared the city.

When they returned to the ground she was smiling and only slightly excited. Her main impression had been of the cleanliness of the city. She could not understand, she said, "why people were afraid to fly."

But as for a sensation—well, she could tell of many more hair raising than that!

CREEKMORE IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, in Dallas today conferring with the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, said it is the present intention of his organization to fix prices at the present level of the market.

He said that "if the non-member farmer continues the procedure of orderly marketing we may be seeing the approximate low of the market at this time."

He complimented Texas farmers for their support of the cooperative association. He said in delivering about 270,000 bales up to the present time Texas had shown their faith in the movement.

PETTUS FIRE

PETTUS, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—Flames raged through the heart of the Pettus business district at noon today, destroying an entire block of business houses before a volunteer bucket brigade brought the fire under control.

The fire was said to have originated in a tailor shop in the block which was destroyed.

Fanned by a brisk breeze the flames spread rapidly. Lack of fire fighting apparatus handicapped the work of volunteers who came in from the oil fields.

Arrest Strikers

Following Clash

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—Several shoppers in the vicinity of Fifty-seventh street and Fifth Avenue were knocked down today when police and striking dressmakers clashed.

Police used fists and clubs to subdue the strikers, who have been picketing fashionable dress shops in the area for several days. When the battle was over fifteen women and men were on their way to jail on charges of disorderly conduct. Thirty strikers were arrested yesterday on similar charges.

Dairyman Gives Test

To Live Stock Law

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—J. C. Cunningham, a dairyman just off the Yale Street road, will take to the county court the question of whether or not his docile cows may roam about over the public roads. Meantime Mr. Cunningham stood out today as the first man charged and convicted in justice court of violating the Harris county livestock law.

He was fined $10. B. E. Stallones, president of the Producers Protective League, which has vigorously fought the stock law, filed the charge against Cunningham as a test case.

He recommended scientific research for new uses of farm products. Diversified production, he said, should be encouraged.

There should be more scientific conduct of the banking business, Lonsdale said, bringing among other benefits a more equitable distribution of costs among consumers.

Business should be freed of some of the inhibitors that come from federal, state and local governments, he said. One of these is mounting taxation which is already too high.

"Expenditures for public purposes seem everywhere to be increasing at a rate that is discouraging to enterprise," he said.

There is need for a careful revision of the Sherman anti-trust law, which he said in its present form and as construed by the United States Supreme Court, acts as a business restraint.

FRESH

Tea

A QUALITY YOU WOULD INSIST UPON IF YOU KNEW ALL THE FACTS

Fact No. 16. Tea, just like coffee, should be sealed in vacuum to preserve its flavor. The flavor of each resides in certain volatile oils that evaporate—in coffee very quickly, in tea slowly but surely. Unfortunately, it is many months before tea can reach you—frequently a year. You have never tasted the fragrant flavor of truly fresh tea (unless it was Schilling Tea).
Facts No. 17, 18. Both a tea leaf and a coffee bean must be toasted to drive off the moisture, which helps to rob it of flavor. Good coffee is packed in vacuum immediately after roasting. Tea is toasted at the tea gardens, then sealed in large chests lined with lead. When it arrives in America it is repacked in ordinary tins or even cardboard boxes. And that's where the damage is done! But this is how Schilling does it. As the tea is poured from the lead-lined chests, it is toasted again, and while still hot (just like your coffee) it is sealed in vacuum. Schilling Tea comes to you as fresh and fragrant as it left the Orient—the only tea that is completely protected from the tea garden to you.
Try a tin! If you do not declare it the most fragrant tea that ever entered your home, phone your grocer. He has been instructed to return your money without question. You keep the tea.

Coming Home To Root

THE ends and outs of European politics do not mean a great deal to the average American, even though 1917 proved that what happens in Europe can have a very direct and pointed effect on us.

However, the results of the German general election are worth a few minutes of study.

The most interesting thing about the election was not the surprising gain in Fascist strength in the Reichstag meaning as that may be the peace of Europe, not was it the similar increase in Communist strength, likewise a disturbing portent.

More interesting than either of these things was a paragraph in a cable dispatch commenting on the election. This paragraph read:

"The younger generation, which grew up under privations and suffering of the great war and the blockade and the post-war inflation period, coming out in force persons of 30 or under disgruntled with the bourgeoisie parties, commonly cast their lot and their votes with the Fascists or the Communists."

There is a good deal to think about in the implications of that paragraph. It explains things that otherwise might be puzzling.

The current unrest in Germany may be loaded with dynamite both for Germany and for neighbors but the cause is not far to seek.

The youth of the nation is simply reaching the point where it feels that affairs have been mismanaged for a decade and a half. When youth gets in that mood anything can happen.

The election indicates, besides that the chickens are coming home to roost, that a good share of the world's troubles today—much as we might like to believe otherwise—stem directly from the World War.

For mankind, between 1914 and 1918, was basely engaged in sowing the wind; and since then, in various places, it has been reaping the whirlwind. Russia's long afflic-tion with Bolshevism, England's difficulties with India, France's hectic search for "security" with its attendant militarism, Germany's crisis in which Fascism and Communism looms up as per-icious alternatives—what are these things but our heritage from the prolonged insanity that began in 1914?

That is something that we can not afford to forget. It is easy, for instance, to deplore Germany's restlessness and to hope piously that this restlessness does not eventually crack the peace of Europe; but it would be foolish to recognize this restlessness as born of the war. The war, in fact, is not over, its direct effects will outlive our generation.

War, in more ways than one, is costly and unsettling. If we are compelled to realize it, it will be good for us.

 A official of the law. He is not a little bit before whom avert average citizens must bow in humble reverence. He is the agent appointed by themselves to assist all civic good. Cincinnati's experience in this respect just now has been emphasized by Colonel Copeland and City Manager Dikstra.

But that this city is not alone in this respect is evidenced by the recent assignment of New York's police commissioner, who warned policemen throughout the state that overstepping their duty might turn the public against them and cause the denial of support when they go before the people's Chief Magistrate said:

"Be respectful to the people. Let them all have a good word for the cop instead of a knock, and this will help to put the police department on a high standard."

This warning advice is good. The police officers owe something not only to the citizens of the community, but to the thousands of victims to the city. He is the community's guardian and should appreciate the fact. It is up to him to make the reputation of the city what it should be with respect to police courtesy as well as officially to see to the security of lives and property of citizens.

It Is All Our Fault

Cincinnati Enquirer.
 THE business slump which the country lamentably recently has been experiencing is due to an error of our own. So says the Italian savant, Professor Corrado Gini, of the University of Rome.

The result of our "love for work,"
 And there you have it. It is imperialism that struts us to toll. The difficulties are psychological, but also are the result of the development of a new type of man, which the professor calls "Homo Americanus" as contrasted with "Homo Orientalis" and "Homo Europeanus."

Says Professor Gini, the oriental works just sufficiently to provide food and shelter for himself and his dependents. The European man regards work as merely a means to an end, always ready to abandon it for intellectual joys when confident that his future was assured.

But the American type works for work's sake just as an artist works for art's sake. Of course, overproduction has nothing to do with present difficulties, nor has anything else except our perverted love of work for work's sake. According to the Italian student, the American overworks to overpro-duce and therefore overenrich himself. In this he inherits from "Homo Europeanus" a love of domination which properly should be called imperialism.

THE ends and outs of European

ELECTRICITY IN MEDICINE

We are living in what may be appropriately termed the Electrical Age.

No time in the history of man has witnessed so much scientific advance as took place during the last 150 years.

And in this advance, electricity stands out prominently.

The roots of the science reach back to the distant past when the mysterious powers of magnetic iron or tin eld stones, were first witnessed in Asia Minor.

The great names in electricity those of Galvani, Volta, Ampe-re, Faraday are also brilliantly embodied in the pages of medical history—and though only in a manner vaguely suspected by the ancient believers, electricity has been playing a remarkable role in the science of medicine.

The X-ray, now so valuable a diagnostic and curative instrument, is essentially an electrical apparatus; the electrocardiograph, by means of which such time diagnoses of heart condition can be achieved is in substance nothing more than an extremely sensitive galvanometer—the measuring instrument originally invented by Galvani.

The electric cautery, which seals blood and lymph vessels as it cuts, and sterilizes the tissues it sears, has made the surgeon's work more effective.

The ultra-violet ray, produced by carbon arc lamp, or by the column of electrically-fused mercury, has placed the healing powers of nature under the power of man.

The deflated have been made to heal.

The shivering effects of paralysis are being counteracted.

And even at this very hour researches are carried on to enlist electricity further in the aid of man's warfare against disease.

Caddy Found Beaten

On Links, Succumb

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)— Ben Riddling, 17-year-old caddy, was found beaten on the fairway of the Oklahoma Country club golf course September 29, in a hospital here. He never regained consciousness.

Both city and county authorities renewed their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the assault.
 The youth, with another boy, had been sleeping on the golf course for several nights. When found, Riddling was lying on his back about 15 feet from two blood smeared blankets.

His companion was released after proving to officers he was at home at the time of the assault.

 Tuesday after the first Monday in September to the third Tuesday because labor day was held a reason for more people not voting.

STEERS DROP BEFORE EAGLES 33-0

The jinx wand the Abilene Eagles have waved so successfully over the Big Spring Longhorns these many years is good for another 13 months. On the isolated Fair Park gridiron they proved it so Monday afternoon. A machine that went away from their last confident victory, was wrecked in every department by the products of Dewey Mayhew. So the Steers must remain content until another football season rolls around. Not that they care to. They probably don't. But they are compelled to. The team that took it upon themselves to whip the ears off the Mineral Wells Mountaineers wasn't in Abilene Monday. It had gone elsewhere. Only once during that entire four quarters of misery did the Steers get out from under that Eagle complex. They grabbed the offensive in the last of the third quarter, pounded the Eagle line from every angle, got the ball down on Abilene's one inch line, the shadow of it falling over the goal marker, then fumbled.

Hoot Gibson, Eastland mentor, who brings his black and red charges here Saturday for a clash with the Steers, looked over the boys in action Monday. Weldon Chapman, whose Cisco Lobos crushed the Mavericks in a nocturnal affair last week, also was among those present. He warned us that the Mavericks are tough. Which maybe they are. After Monday's tilt any of them, coming or going, are likely to be tough. Chapman thinks maybe he is scared of all the teams in the Oilbelt this year. But he laughed—yes guffawed loudly and boisterously—when he said it.

Blondy Cross of San Angelo also was there with his hands out of his pockets. He too predicted Ranger is "just another breeze" for the game little Hobbitens of the Concho. Seems like all the newspaper scribbles and coaches were in an excellent mood, except one scribe and two coaches. They happen to be from Big Spring and were not feeling any too jovial along about the second quarter. As usual Mayhew has a herd of elephantine products galloping around the sod. He has enough to supply other teams in the Oilbelt should he want to farm some of them out for next year. They say Abilene isn't in as good a shape financially as it used to be. Buying sweaters for all that bunch would break most towns.

We think Abilene was about as surprised as Big Spring. There wasn't any of that 20 point money floating around in the ether. In fact there wasn't any 14 or 12 and very little 8. Abilene was content to sit and watch. They had plenty of both. They sat a couple of miles from the gridiron in what looked quite a bit like a grandstand, and watched two teams battle it out. The Abilene sideline, incidentally, was the sideline relay race from us, on account of having had more experience. We suggested to Bob Hammett, Eastland County motorcycle cop, that he drag out his machine and give us the rear seat to speed up and down the sidelines, but he said his machine wasn't fast enough to keep up with Abilene. Which we don't doubt in the least.

Bill Flowers won't be forgotten any time soon over in Athens. The youth was the whole show as far as Big Spring was concerned. Offensively and defensively he slashed the Eagles. Nope, Flowers won't be dropped from the Taylor county memories for a couple of weeks at the most.

We still contend—knowing as we do that it will give rise to many giggles et cetera—that the Steers are a better team than Monday's score indicates. There is something in the name Abilene Eagles that sweeps through the Steer camp and takes the fight out of them. We still believe the Steers are capable of putting up a better exhibition of football than they did for the customers Monday. We may be wrong. We were before the game. The Eagles are stronger than we imagined, but as strong as they are aren't strong enough to keep going in this kind of a meaty little passing combination clicked against the Steers. It shouldn't have, and it won't function again the big boys of the district unless some renovations are accounted for.

The Mavericks—led by that stellar individual Rex Clark—come with years of scrapping in the Oilbelt long behind them. They have never been quite good enough to grab a rag, but they're always been good enough to cause a little worry in football circles. Breckinridge still shudders over the scars handed them last season by the Mavericks. The game will be played on the cornfed gridiron, which should be in good shape after this shower. If there has been a shower.

Mineral Wells goes to Breckenridge for a trouncing Friday, while Sweetwater, just recuperating from a licking handed them by the Bobcats, migrate to Abilene Saturday. The Brownwood Lions tackle the Lobos in a kilowatt engagement at Cisco Saturday night. It will be the final Class A battle the Lobos play under the globe. It is interesting to know that the Eastland-Cisco night game netted the Cisco Club over $1,000. And they say money is tight and persons are not attending entertainment affairs. Maybe so.

Longhorn 11 Humbled By Nest

Mayhewmen Gallop All Directions To Down Steers

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL
It took the Abilene Eagles just two minutes Monday afternoon to prove to the Big Spring Steers that 1930 was not the year for the old gal Lady Luck to point her best finger in the direction of the Longhorns. At the end of one of the most hectic football encounters tossed before the public optics in some time, the Steers went down, clinging to the zero end of a 33 to 0 tally.

When Hoehn Foster grabbed the skin and knocked off 35 yards across the Longhorn left tackle for the initial marker, then added in a matter of minutes to the goal for the extra point, the Steers were face to face with another drubbing at the hands of the boys that call Dewey Mayhew papa.

The first touchdown came with suddenness. Too much so, in fact. And with it came the white clad Elephants, anxious to get away in the 1930 tussle with an impressive victory. At last accounts they did just that.

Although the Steers managed to hold off the Eagle attack until after the first quarter, things didn't go too well for long. Foster went across for another as the second opened. Johnson careened over the white marker in the same period for the third. Alrey picked up the fourth touchdown in the third frame, and Smith topped off the day with another in the fourth quarter.

Once and only during that entire tussle did the Steers flash any offensive strength. At the end of the third frame and the beginning of the fourth, the Steers brought their handful of supporters to their arches by sending the mail down to the most dangerous of dangerous territory.

Blocked Point
The thing started with the blocked punt route on Abilene's eleven yard line.

They picked up a first down with a margin over the mail resting within one inch of the Abilene goal. It looked like the Steers would salvage something after all, despite the timely arrival of the regular Eagles from out of the audience seat. Pardue sent a low one back from center. That was the first break. Rogers fumbled, but that was the second. There was no need for any more. They had the chance to tally failed across the dam and the Eagles promptly took charge of things.

Eagles' Garbath enjoyed the proceedings with much gusto. When he got into the fray in the second frame the airplane stock shot upward and it rained footballs with great intensity.

It was after Garbath had hurried the Eagles down the field to within scoring distance and Alrey had the leather around in the second half, that the Steers got restless. Three first downs in a file came out of the slinging of passes by Rogers, the receiving of Neel, and the brilliant punch attack of Bill Flowers. The drive was a good one while it lasted, but it ended as described above—hatted on the Abilene goal, two yards back from where they worked it to.

Driving Along
After this final spurt to start stopping the Eagles, the Mayhew behemoths waltzed away in the gentle zephyr. They took charge of the orbit and covered off 97 yards existing between the point of the ball and the Steer goal.

Down the gridiron they went, Foster cantering through easily before he ripped off 50 yards only to have the play called back because Phelps decided the time had come to clip a bit. Foster twirled a pass to Johnson for a gain and 15 yards came quickly from a Big Spring penalty. With the oval resting temporarily on the 26 yard line, a first down was gleaned, and Smith took Routh's pass to get across.

That first touchdown the Eagles chopped off so neatly seemed to spell doom for the Steers. A line that functioned so beautifully two weeks ago against the ramming backfield of the Mineral Wells Mountaineers, was "chopped" unmercifully by the Eagles. Tackles were shaken by Eagle runners when they should have been stopped in their tracks. Out of all came the work of Pardue and Glover, and Bill Flowers. Although "Little" Coats saw too many passes completed his way, he did turn in some good defensive work, at times.

Grosclose, Phelps and Smith glittered in the sunlight for the Mayhew aggregation.

CONNIE MACK HIS 50 YEARS IN BASEBALL

No. 14—A Bit of Philosophy
When the "secret" of success is sought in any sport I always recalled the oft-quoted locker room advice given to a golfer one day by Bobby Jones:
"Hit the ball."
Connie Mack, asked one time to explain the "secrets" of his ability as a manager, smiled and replied: "Being fortunate enough to have some wonderful ball players."

The practical-minded New Englander never regarded his various successes as the result of any mysterious power. If he adopted any special formulae, they were these three:

1. Practice of the old Golden Rule in treating players as he would like to be treated himself.
2. Development of team work, in spirit and action, to the highest point of efficiency.
3. Possession of at least one Grade A southpaw pitcher.

Mack's younger days in baseball were spent under stern leadership of the old school. Managers did not spare words. If necessary, they used their fists. Strangely, this influence developed Mack as a soft-spoken, quiet and persuasive type of manager.

"Some people have always maintained that certain types of players require rough handling and harsh words. It is true that you cannot compromise with many, but I have never found that it paid to drive a player, no matter how unruly he might be. He will not do his best. Earlier in my career as a manager the athletics on my team were mostly seasoned men who had been developed by other teachers. Some were classed as 'tough customers' and as very difficult to handle. But in all my years with the Athletics I have never encountered a player who would not respond to kindly treatment."

"Players require different types of handling. That is why I never had inflexible rules for either conduct or hours. I find that I can handle the men better individually. Some need persuasion, even coaxing. Others need to be patted on the back and encouraged. Of course, need to be taken aside, as a father might his son, and given proper advice."

"I have always tried to study each man and suit my action or words to what I think requires to produce his best."

At one of the few times when there was any specific rule for the As being in the hotel at night, Mack was standing near the door, checking and double-checking. One of the players came in bristly, saying, "Good night, Mr. Mack."

"Good night, John," Connie replied, snatching out eagerly and around the black to a side entrance. The same player approached, on the way out, until he suddenly caught sight of the lean manager's figure. Turning abruptly he said, "Good night, Mr. Mack."

"Good night, John."

VON ELM OUT OF AMATEUR GOLF
NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—George Von Elm, national amateur champion in 1926, had hidden an official farewell to amateur golf competition, and at the same time, taken a pot shot at the United States Golf Association and its policies.

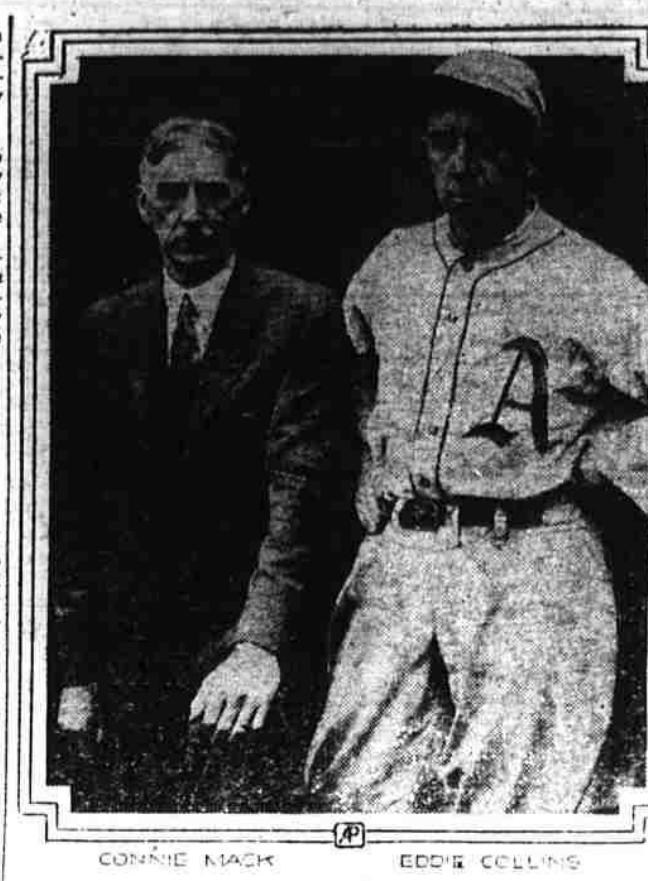

Von Elm, in a formal statement, declared he would be in the future a "business man golfer, neither amateur nor professional, who expects to take the profits from open prize money and yet maintain his own private business."

The Detroit star, only man who has beaten Bobby Jones in a 36 hole match in the last seven years of the amateur championship, termed that tournament a "highly organized commercialized project."

"Fifty thousand dollars is paid for the amateur show," he said, while the 32 performers play their hearts out for honor and glory. Not a penny of that money is contributed by the U. S. G. A. to the expenses of the players. Tournament golf today is show business in a big way."

Mexican Section Hand Bitten By Rattlesnake
Mike Martinez, T. & P. section hand, is in the Big Spring hospital suffering from a rattlesnake bite received Sunday.

The Mexican was bitten by the snake while he was working. The fangs entered the right hand. His arm and shoulder are badly swollen, but he is not thought to be in a critical condition.

CONNIE MACK

That was all. Mack's success at developing young players, from the colleges and sandlots, always has been conspicuous. He regretted the day when he was forced, by competition to abandon much of this policy for the necessity of buying stars.

His unflinching patience encouraged youngsters. He never forgot that he once was obliged to struggle himself, against handicaps, to make good.

"Give every youngster the fullest chance possible," he once said. "Then give him two or three more. During my playing career I saw many youngsters come up for trial who looked like future stars—yet they failed because they were not given a proper chance."

"Very few of the youngsters who made up the Athletics of 1910-14 looked like stars in their earliest trials. Some of them blundered, but they eventually found themselves." Frequently it has been said that Mack "played hunches," but Ty Cobb, after two seasons under the "tail tutor" remarked:

"If you call 'em hunches when they are based on the greatest background of detailed knowledge I have ever had contact with, all right."

I asked Eddie Collins one day the secret of Mack's ability to swing a team. He gave me a glimpse of baseball's swift-moving strategy.

Three Toads Unearthed Alive From Heart of Indian Mound
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—Three live toads taken from an Indian mound in the Oklahoma panhandle which, scientists said, probably was their home for three or four centuries, were on display at the State Historical Society museum here today.

J. R. Thorburn, curator of the historical society, said the age of the amphibians depended largely upon the origin of the mound. If the elevation was made by hand, he said, it is probable the Frogs were imprisoned 300 or 400 years, and if it was of natural origin, the age of the toads might be even greater.

Thorburn and two other archaeologists made the discovery while excavating the mound, believed to be the ruins of an imitation pueblo. The toads' lips and eyes were sealed, Thorburn said, but within a few moments after being liberated, they hopped about with the agility of a natural toad, their lips and eyes open.

Each was in a small pit about three or four feet below the surface of the ground with no means of egress or ingress. Above them but still some distance below the surface was the remains of a sunken fire pit of a lodge believed to have belonged to a band of Comanche or Kiowa Indians who until approximately 50 years ago roamed the plains of this section.

The curator pointed to this fact as proof that the toads had lived in their dormant position for centuries.

The discovery was made in northeastern Beaver county, two miles northeast of Gate. The hardened earth, caused by a long drought, precluded further excavation, Thorburn said, and mechanical equipment will be needed to carry on the work.

The toads probably will be turned over to biologists of the University of Oklahoma for observation, Thorburn said.

Baseball Fans Ready For Series

Quaker City Calmly Awaits World's Series Opener

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Most of the other burning issues having been settled for the year, the clans dropped into Philadelphia today for the crowning festival of American sport—otherwise the world's series of baseball.

It starts tomorrow with the hometown Athletics, two-time champions of the American League, favored to unlimber a couple of double-barreled guns, Simmons and Foxx, Grove and Cochrane, and check the sensational flight of the Red Birds of St. Louis, champions of the National League.

The City of Quakers has taken the situation this year much more calmly than was the case a year ago, when the return of Connie Mack and his young men to the baseball heights after a lapse of 15 years created a semi-hysterical outburst of enthusiasm. There has so far been no demonstration over the A's to compare with the mob scenes attending the crowning golf triumph of Bobby Jones in the suburbs last Saturday, nor has it been necessary to call out the Marines to control the situation at Shibe Park.

Nevertheless, the big American League Stadium is expected to be packed to its enlarged limit of 33,000 spectators for the opening game tomorrow, when the occasion will take on dignity through the presence of the President of the United States and his party.

Aside from the stampeede for tickets and the rather hazy argument of the relative merits of the contending clubs, the main question is who will pitch the opener?

Charles (Gashy) Street, veteran pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has already furnished his own answer by naming the old spitballer, Burleigh Grimes, to start the Red Birds on another winning flight.

Volunteers have named Robert Taft, Lefty Grove to take the ball for the Athletics and throw his fireballs at the opposition, but the man who makes the decision, Connie Mack, has so far refused to indicate his selection. In keeping with his habit of making no premature choice, Mr. Mack says he will nominate his moundman shortly before game time.

The "tail tutor" crossed the ex-perts completely a year ago by starting Howard Ehmke in the first game with the Cubs and winning it handsily. On the strength of this surprising maneuver, quite a few of the boys are covering up their selection of Grove by suggesting that Mack must start Babe Ruth.

Logic favors Grove not only on the strength of his great record for the year and the fact that he is the No. 1 man of the A's staff, but also because it will enable Mack to send the slim southpaw back into action at an earlier date, no later than next Sunday or Monday.

Bayonet Charge By Guards Repulse Attempt To Lynch

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Sept. 30 (AP)—After use of tear gas and bayonets by National Guardsmen to protect a negro prisoner from a mob, all was quiet at the county jail today.

Guardsmen charged with fixed bayonets as a crowd, estimated at 1,000 persons advanced last night on a roped-off area around the jail where G. E. Henderson, negro, is held as a suspect in the slaying of H. E. Ross, Huntsville business man. Ross was shot to death in his home Saturday night by a negro intruder. Mrs. Ross, who also was shot and slightly injured, has not identified Henderson as the slayer.

Two units of guardsmen were ordered out by Governor Bibb Graves. When the guardsmen hurled tear gas bombs the wind was blowing toward them and the gas came back on them. Then a bayonet charge scattered the crowd. Members of the crowd hurled stones as they fled, and several soldiers were struck.

Tommy Baker, local lightweight boxer, was felled by a blow from the butt of a guard's gun and set to a hospital.

Delivery Of Liquor Is Charge Against Man
Slater James was under a charge of delivery of intoxicating liquor today following his arrest near a local dance hall Monday night. He is alleged to have sold a pint of whisky to a woman.

He was arrested by John Williams, constable, and R. E. Hancock, deputy constable.

He waived examining trial in Justice of the Peace Cecil Collins' court this morning and his bond was set at $1,000.

MICKEY AND CONNIE THROW HEAVY DOPE TO ATHLETICS

Longhorn Leader

Dexter Shelley of Austin, a half-back, will captain the University of Texas football team in the fall campaign.

Two of the factors that help weigh the balance of "dope" in Philadelphia's favor in the baseball battle with St. Louis for the world's championship are the man in the dugout, Connie Mack and the man behind the bat, Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane.

Mack's shrewdness and gr. at experience, Cochrane's aggressiveness and masterful handling of the A's moundmen count heavily in a short conflict where the forcing of a few "breaks" at vital moments often proves decisive.

They are factors that may have more to do with the outcome of the world's series than the individual brilliancy of Simmons or Grove or Foxx, the fighting spirit of the Cardinals or the law of averages.

So far as the comparative figures and records go, a good case can be made out of either contender in the annual American baseball classic. The greater experience and fine defense of the A's, plus the confidence of their 1929 conquest, may be offset by the aggressive attack that carried the Cardinals way all obstacles to the National League peak. The pitching skill of Grove and Earnshaw may be matched by the curving talent of Grimes, Hallahan, Rheim and Haines. The big bats of Simmons, Foxx, Miller, Haas and Cochrane may play a teller baserun time than the war clubs of Hefner, Frisch, Watkins, Bottomley and Doubout.

As a club, the Cardinals have out-hit the Athletics more than 200 points on the season's play. Without much dispute they also overcame stiffer opposition in winning the National League flag than the A's did in repeating in the American League. Where the Mackmen had only Washington to worry about most of the season, the Cardinals had to fight their way through three tough and seasoned outfits—the Robins, Giants and Cubs.

Every regular on the Cardinals club has hit 300 or better, or the year, although Bottomley, Gelbert, Douthitt and Adams barely got inside this figure. Boley, Bishop, Dykes, Haas and Miller range between 255 and 300 in stickwork but the cleanup wallops of Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx have a habit of being produced when hits mean runs.

The Cardinals, however, have no backstops to compare with Cochrane in any department of play. Since the injury of Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis has relied on Gus Mancuso, a hard hitter and hard worker who is expected to do most, if not all of the catching.

Rice Reliable

A reliable batter for Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, Bill Morgan, a guard, will captain the football team this fall.

Compensation Sought By Glenn A. Lovelace
Seeking compensation for injuries received when he fell from a tractor at Wolcott Motor Co., Glenn A. Lovelace has filed suit in district court against the Texas Employers' Insurance Assn., asking the award of the Industrial Accident Board be set aside.

Lovelace alleged he fell from a tractor as it was being pulled into the repairing department of the motor company, and received injuries which are permanent. He asks 40 weeks compensation at $20 a week, allowing a six percent discount for lump sum payment. The accident occurred April 5.

Killing Of Duck Leads To Filing Of Charge
Duck hunting, as a rule—a very strict rule too—is taboo at this time of the year.

And because it is that way, a complaint has been filed in Justice of the Peace Cecil Collins' court against a man charged with killing a duck out of season.

The complaint was filed by Larry Morris, game warden. The defendant will fight the case, it is understood.

What in your opinion is the true test of great oratory?

I have recently been reading the life of a Salvation Army Commissioner who was born in poverty, reared an illiterate, at five years of age became a chimney sweep, was taught to read and write by his wife after their marriage, yet who never, however, could away his audiences as no polished speaker could have hoped them.

Was he not an orator as supreme in his own sphere as Beecher in Plymouth Church, or Gladstone in the House of Commons? "Single Speech" Hamilton got his title and only one address before a critical House of Commons, which felt as he did when he sat down. Since this is the goal of oratory, did he not attain it?

Mr. Stanley Baldwin is at the opposite pole from Lloyd George in his oratorical endowments, but he usually carries conviction in his unadorned, chaste, and modest style. Mr. George often fails to do this. Which would you consider the greater orator?

In appraising oratory we are largely dependent upon other days, and other manners for our information. Masters of the spoken word have lived at all times and in all nations. The test of their superiority is first the spoken word, then the written word, addressed by fluent speakers which capture our emotions at the moment are frequently insipid reading when reduced to the cold level of the printed page. On the other hand, Lord Morley huddled through his addresses, but they were often literary masterpieces when printed. In his Gettysburg address and second inaugural Lincoln met the two tests in superb fashion by the majestic sweep of his uttered words and the eternal music of his prose.

Every man has his choice. Tim Sullivan insisted that he could persuade an East Side crowd in New York as no other American speaker could, and probably he was right.

Charleston, W. Va.

I have been reading psychology during my courses at college and sometimes wonder what it really is intended to teach. What is your idea of the value of psychology?

Much depends on the textbooks you study. We are all more or less victims of labels, especially when these become headlines. The terms "herd instinct" and "herd suggestion" really signify social instinct and corporate sense. The word "inhibition" is having a big inning just now, but it can become mere cant in careless or designing mouths.

If inhibitions mean for you the restraints which selfishness, conceit and secular aims impose on your best life and service, get rid of them. But if they involve the restraints imposed on fleshly lust and covetousness, they are divine ordinations to be obeyed.

Auto-suggestion, hetero-suggestion and mass suggestion may be abused. But every skillful advocate deals with them and creates an opening for his cause by their wise use. So take your studies in psychology seriously, but not too seriously. No science, least of all a young one, is so intellectually superior that it does not need to be baptized in sound judgment, and standardized by reference to that generally accepted consciousness which is the basis of rational living.

Mental hygiene in colleges or elsewhere is intended to give us a clearer understanding of our own minds and to provide us with intellectual tools which actually work for good. Insight, disciplined imagination, emotional stability and courage are its legitimate products. And mental hygiene is the best name I know for psychology's practical task.

Brooklyn, N. Y.

What is your opinion of the Trinity and Fraternity of God? Are all three persons equal in all things, or is there any inferiority as between them?

The first thing to say is that the Trinity does not mean there are three Gods, although it is unfortunately come to have that meaning for many people. The word "person" as used in the early Creeds did not signify what we mean today by the word "self" or "personality." Tertullian's phrase "una substantia, tres personae" (one substance, three persons) meant that in the total divine nature there were certain qualitative distinctions.

When we speak of God the Father we mean there is that in God by virtue of which He is creative and protective. When we speak of God the Son we mean there is that in God by virtue of which He manifests Himself in the human life of Jesus of Nazareth and to a lesser degree in all other human lives. When we speak of God the Holy Spirit we mean there is that in God by virtue of which He makes Himself known to men as a living presence.

God's unity consists in the fact that He is one and the same Being who possesses these integral powers, who knows Himself as possessing them and who makes them the basis of His manifold operations in creation and in history and in His relations with mankind.

In other words, what we call "the historical Trinity," Father, Son and Spirit, is rooted in qualitative distinctions in the divine nature, but these distinctions are all included in one and the same self-conscious Deity.

Bobby Jones At Home From War Of Golf Meets

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 30 (AP)—

The greatest trail of golfing adventures the world has ever known, which began at a suburban railroad station here in April, ended this morning at the same little spot as Bobby Jones came home to his friends.

Although no official welcoming program had been arranged, hundreds of friends and admirers crowded Brookwood station for a glimpse of Bobby as he stepped off the train. Automobile horns honked, train whistles blew and a score of cameras added their grinding noise to the general uproar.

New York City, Sept. 30 (AP)— Bobby Jones, who will have five golf cups in his custody for the next year instead of four, the United States Golf Association decided today that since Jones, who was captain of the last two Walker Cup teams, had all the other emblems of national championships in his possession he should have the Walker Cup too. It was shipped to Atlanta today.

The Walker Cup, emblematic of international amateur team supremacy, has been retained by the U. S. G. A. offices and never has been sent to an individual. Under the extraordinary circumstances attached to Jones winning the open and amateur championships of the United States and the open and amateur championships of Great Britain it was decided to place the five cups in one group.

In all probability they never will be together again.

Two Air Mail Pouches Stolen In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—

Theft of two pouches of air mail from under the noses of municipal airport attaches and waiting pilots, offered postal inspectors here a baffling mystery.

The two 35-pound bags, one of them registered, were brought here from Chicago on a National Air Transport plane piloted by Edmund L. Natucha, veteran of the service.

Shortly after the Chicago plane arrived Sunday morning, mail for the southwest was trundled to a Dallas ship, waiting with motors roaring in that brief space of time the two pouches vanished.

Postal inspectors said airport employees were mystified as to how the theft was perpetrated, as they were sure no automobile was parked nearby.

Since the postoffice truck was at another field handling the cargo of a belated Universal plane from Omaha, the mail was out in the hands of N. A. T.

Inspectors said the theft of the air mail was the second in the history of the service.

Cyrus H. Zimmerman, postal inspector here, was checking the value of the bags' contents, mailed at Chicago, New York, St. Paul and Philadelphia.

PAINS IN BACK, PALE AND WEAK

Georgia Lady Says That After She Took Cardui Her Health Got Better.

Waycross, Ga.—"About two and a half years ago, I found myself very much in need of a tonic," says Mrs. J. H. Miller, of 1038 Albany Avenue, this city. "I was pale and weak."

"At times, I suffered a great deal from pains in my head and back. I couldn't do any sweeping, and other household work was very hard on me, feeling as I did."

"My mother advised me to try Cardui. After my second bottle, I felt better, as I seemed to have more strength, but I was not satisfied to quit taking it. I wanted to get strong. I kept on taking Cardui until I had taken six bottles."

"I did not have the pains in my back and head after this. So now, I can certainly recommend Cardui, for my health has been good since taking it."

Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health. Try Cardui in your case.

California Leads
Way To Decline In Crude Production

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 30. (AP)—California led the way for a decline of 37,527 barrels in the daily average production of crude oil in the United States for the week ended September 27, the Oil and Gas Journal estimated. The country's total daily average production was placed at 2,382,217 barrels.

California production was down 31,750 barrels, the result of a new conservation program. The decline was in light oil, the output of which was estimated at 500,750 barrels. California heavy oil production was unchanged at 89,000 barrels.

Decreases were general over most of the country. West Texas production was placed at 237,000 barrels, a decline of 5,111; Oklahoma production was off 4,285 at 558,525 barrels; The Texas Panhandle showed a drop of 3,890 barrels with an output of 77,855; North Central Texas had a decline of 1,539 at 101,711 barrels; the Gulf Coast area's heavy oil production was 192,233 barrels, off 2,000 barrels; Rocky Mountain production was 112,411 barrels, a drop of 1,007, and Kansas had a loss of 550 barrels at 116,420.

Crazed Horses Injure Houston Street Worker

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—V. Bernhardt, 63, dragged by a team of crazed horses for more than 100 feet, today was putting up a fight for life at a hospital. He was injured seriously.

Bernhardt was working with a horse drawn grader of the street and bridge department and the horses stampeded when an automobile came near hitting them.

W. D. Archer, working with Bernhardt, suffered a broken wrist as he sought to stop the runaways.

Houston Motorcycle Officer Fatally Shot

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Motorcycle Officer W. B. Phares, shot ten days ago by a confessed robber, died at daybreak today, his gallant fight lost.

Phares was wounded on the night of September 20 and his companion, Officer Edward Fitzgerald, was killed, by J. J. Maple, who, with E. F. Grimes, just had robbed the Touchy Furniture Company.

It cost the officers their lives to attempt the arrest of Maple.

Maple goes to trial tomorrow for Fitzgerald's murder.

POSTMASTERS LEAGUE TO HEAR MAN 'FIRED' FOR STARTING IT

HOUSTON, Texas. (AP)—A few postmasters of fourth class offices in Hill county, Tex., were banded together in 1904—and the man who

He is Oscar Pogue, a newspaper man of Hillsboro, Tex. It was his fate to be dismissed "for the good of the service" after he organized county, state and national leagues of postmasters.

The postoffice department now is entirely in accord with the postmaster's league, and representatives of the postmaster-general attended all state and national meetings.

The national league sprang from the county organization started by Pogue in 1904. He also was the first president of that group, as well as the Texas state league that also was organized at Hillsboro in 1904.

Now, at the postmaster's request, Pogue will describe trials and tribulations of those early organizations at the Houston convention.

Victim Of Tragedy Fighting For Life

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Richard B. Creevy was barely alive today at emergency hospital, where she has remained unconscious since the tragedy at the Mayflower Hotel Sunday in which police have decided her marine officer husband attacked her with a hatchet and shot himself dead with a revolver. Attendants said her chance to survive was slight.

Colonel Louis M. Little, chairman of the marine board of inquiry into the case, said today the board had discovered nothing which would differ with the police theory of attempted murder and suicide.

He suggested the marine officer had committed the deed in a fit of insanity, saying the board had heard reports "which would link up with that condition." A formal report of the investigation has not been prepared.

Darrow Aids Chi Lawless

'Public Enemy' Charges
Arouses Veteran
Lawyer

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Clarence Darrow stood up in court yesterday for two "public enemies" and got them out on bond in five minutes.

He termed the arrest of the "enemies"—George (Red) Barker and William (Three-Fingered Jack) White—as "outrageous."

"If the authorities wish to harass the lawless," he said, "they should do it legally. There is no such charge in law as a 'public enemy.'"

The vagrancy law, under which Barker and White were arrested, provides for release under $100 bond, Darrow said. "Yet men are being taken to court, charged with vagrancy and made to furnish $10,000 bonds," he added.

Darrow has been in retirement from the law for two years. He said he agreed to take the case of Barker and White because he always had been close to labor unions. Barker is business agent for the Teamsters' Union. It is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The surrender of White, a former convict, and Barker, who also has served a prison sentence, left 20 of the 26 "public enemies" still unaccounted for. Vagrancy warrants have been issued for all of them.

Terry Druggan, another "enemy," didn't have as easy a time of it as White and Barker. While he lay in a hospital too ill to be moved, his physician said an effort was made in court to obtain his release on bond from the vagrancy charge. Circumstances in connection with the scheduling of the bond aroused the suspicions of Judge John H. Lye, and the entire matter was continued to permit investigation.

Judge Lyle, who signed all the vagrancy warrants against the "enemies" and who has taken an active part in the effort to bring Chicago gang leaders to justice, heard last night that he had been marked for murder. A negro, whose identity was not revealed, reported to the state's attorney that he had overheard three men in a South Side speakeasy discussing a plot to assassinate the judge.

Besides White, Barker and Druggan, the "enemies" already accounted for by police are Danny Stanton, Edward (Spook) O'Donnell, and "Dago Lawrence." Mangano, All are at liberty under bond.

CHARGE STANTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—"Public Enemy" Danny Stanton, purported Capone aid, was seized today on a warrant charging the murder of Jack Zuta.

Zuta, reputed to have been the brains of the George "Bugs" Moran gang, was slain August 1 as he fed nickels into a slot machine at Delafield, Wis.

Bishop Cannon Returns Home

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was back in Washington today preparing to defend himself against accusations brought by four ministers of his church during his absence in Brazil.

He returned to the city late last night and left the station with friends for an unannounced destination in the city after a heated exchange between members of his family and newspapermen who besieged him for comment on the charges which have not been made public. The bishop maintained a steadfast refusal to answer questions.

"I have nothing to say," he repeated over and over again. Finally he added: "You understand the English language, don't you?" But the questioning persisted and he observed:

"I don't see why a person can't attend to his own business without being harassed by newspaper reporters."

His two sons, Edward and James Cannon, 3rd, met their father at the train and were incensed at the reporters. At one time the bishop had to step between one and a newspaperman to avert trouble. Mrs. Cannon, whom he married in London at the beginning of his recent South American trip, remained on the train for a while and joined her husband at an automobile by another route.

As they drove off, the sons following in another car, stopped their machine in a narrow street to block a pursuit started by reporters and the bishop's machine disappeared.

Havana Riot Injures Six

Students Rush Presidential Palace, Shots Fired

HAVANA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Six persons were wounded, two probably fatally, in a gun fight between police and university students when the students armed themselves and marched toward the presidential palace today.

The students marched from Aguirre Park waving banners and firing in the air with shouts of "down with Machado!" Large numbers of police were rushed to the scene and a heavy guard was thrown about the presidential palace. The students grappled with the officers, attempting to disarm them.

Suddenly some one shouted "shoot to kill!" The police opened fire and several students fell. A woman leaning from a balcony watching the disturbance in the street below was wounded in the cheek. For the next twenty-five minutes a battle was waged during which many shots were fired by both sides.

Bystanders scurried for cover as bullets whistled and spat against stone buildings. A general alarm was sounded and heavy reinforcements arrived. The university was put under heavy guard as were all streets leading to it and to the palace.

Meanwhile two smaller clashes started in other parts of the city. One group of students fought police at a precinct station in San Lazaro street, using their fists against the guns of the officers. Many students were arrested.

Another group ran along San Lazaro street shouting and waving flags.

Immediately after the disturbance had seemingly come to an end and the wounded had been taken to hospitals another crowd appeared before the offices of the Spanish language newspaper "El Pais," which had been criticizing the government. Here they shouted their protests against the police for interfering with their demonstration.

The American embassy immediately ordered an investigation.

Captain Robert Dollar, San Francisco shipping magnate, and Mrs. Dollar have made 35 trips to the Far East.

Two firebugs, using buckets of gasoline to speed the destruction, set fire to several buildings and automobiles here early today, keeping one jump ahead of police and firemen who trailed them and extinguished the flames.

People who saw the pyromaniacs at work said they were using a closed automobile in which they were seen to stop, throw a pair of the inflammable liquor on a building or automobile, apply a match and speed away.

After a two hour hunt in which all available officers in Oakland and Berkeley participated, Frank Creeley, 29, and C. Lund, 27, were arrested as suspects.

Mrs. Kenny Denies Doubtful Bail Aid

ENID, Okla., Sept. 30 (AP)—Although a woman who said she was Mrs. John Kenny, wealthy Guthrie woman acquitted of a court room shooting five years ago, appeared here last week and announced she intended to make efforts to obtain bail for Mrs. Polly Douthitt, held here for a similar more recent offense, Mrs. Kenny at Guthrie denied today she was the woman.

Mrs. Kenny, freed half a decade ago after shooting Fred Tilman, her attorney in a federal court case, said she had no knowledge of any offer to aid the eccentric Enid widow, who shot and seriously wounded H. Z. Wedgwood, U. S. Commissioner, when a case in state district court was decided against her last week.

She said she even was ignorant of the Enid shooting.

Officers who talked with the woman representing herself as Mrs. Kenny said she was not allowed to see Mrs. Douthitt, held on charges of assault with intent to kill, but that the visitor asserted she would return today and try to make bail. The woman arrived in a limousine driven by a liveried chauffeur, it was said.

After a two hour hunt in which all available officers in Oakland and Berkeley participated, Frank Creeley, 29, and C. Lund, 27, were arrested as suspects.

Captain Robert Dollar, San Francisco shipping magnate, and Mrs. Dollar have made 35 trips to the Far East.

Two firebugs, using buckets of gasoline to speed the destruction, set fire to several buildings and automobiles here early today, keeping one jump ahead of police and firemen who trailed them and extinguished the flames.

People who saw the pyromaniacs at work said they were using a closed automobile in which they were seen to stop, throw a pair of the inflammable liquor on a building or automobile, apply a match and speed away.
