Mrs. Fred Simpson and her son, Fred G. Simpson drove to Hereford, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 24 to spend Christmas with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Don T. Martin and Mr. Martin, and their family, including their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin of Hillsboro, and daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James

The cows wavered as they walked along the dusty trails leading to the distant windmill and the calves moved listlessly through the brush. Occasionly a cow would nibble a mouthful of mesquite beans, or stop and try to find a few bites of dry grass. The prairie reflected the hot sun like the top of a stove and the line rider urged his horse past the hungry cattle, toward the windmill. It was mid-summer but yellow leaves were falling from the cottonwoods and hackberry trees and the leaves of many mesquite trees were fading. A steady stream of brackish water was flowing from the iron pipe into the water tank and the rider drank it because it was cool. He wiped his face with his hand and looked at the western sky as a bank of clouds moved into view. They were like bassinets of life as they covered the sun. Later he heard the rumble of thunder and the cattle began bawling as they hurried to the watering place. The line rider untied his slicker from the back of his saddle and put it on when rain began falling. Presently the hoofs of his horse were sloshing in the trail and the rain was falling in sheets. He reigned his horse away from the trail toward the shack of house. The world had changed in a few hours and he could sense the water soaking the desperate roots of grass.

Tax To Decrease

Telephone customers may notice a one per cent decrease the Central Baptist Church at in their telephone bills in Carthage, Tex., for over four January.

The reduction is the first scheduled step to eliminate the Federal Excise Tax paid by telephone customers and collected by telephone companies on telephone service, reducing it from 10 per cent to 9 per cent during 1973.

The government agreed in 1971 to continue the tax through 1972 and then reduce it one per cent annually for 10 years until eliminated.

A little later, when Red took time off from the cooking chores to visit with the customers, he said the poeple who patronized his restaurant act "just like they would at home.'

"They come in the door giving me a bad time and go out the door doing the same thing." he grinned. The smile on his face is just as familiar to his patrons as his sandy-red hair and the black-framed glasses he wears.

Red's specialty of the house, at least as far as breakfastgoers are concerned, is his sourdough biscuits. Served warm from the oven with butter, jelly or a bowl full of cream gravy, the biscuits and bread are made from a recipe Red developed mainly by experimenting.

"When I got to where I wasn't making any money on Saturdays, I called my mama to see if she'd give me her recipe for sourdough biscuits," he recalled. "I had to have a gimmick of some kind to get people in here.

THE PRINTING AND

OFFICE SUPPLIES PEDDLER

When the person selling printing, office supplies and advertising solicits your business, here are some questions he should be willing to answer to YOUR SATISFACTION:

- 1. Is he a taxpayer in your community or county?
- 2. Does he donate space in the newspaper to local and county projects and enterprises?
- 3. Does he pay wages to employees who live and do business in your community?
- 4. Does he grant favors that you would ask of your local newspaper?
- 5. Does he donate newspaper space to promote you and your neighbor's business?
- 6. Does his price include freight, postage and insurance?
- 7. Does he support your civic organizations, schools and churches with free publicity?

We sincerely believe that these questions should be considered when you purchase printing and office supplies—a question of whether you should support those who help support you!
