Centennial Celebration Big Success

TAYLOR'S PIZZA BOX FLOAT — 1st. Place Winner in the Centennial Parade

CENTENNIAL CHAIRMAN, Billy Denison and Congressman Bill Sarpalius.

Sprinkles, then thunder, lightning, and welcomed Rain! ushered in the Centennial weekend. Buckskinners camping in the City Park pulled the tent flaps tighter as wind-whipped sheets of moisture blanketed the county during Friday night.

Saturday dawned bright and clear as the weather smiled on the parade which stretched for blocks through the downtown and residential streets of Matador. An outstanding array of floats included a very authentic looking Dew Drop good looking set of floats in anybody's parade!

Antique cars included eleven Model A's from the Plainview A's Club spotlighting a club car complete with trappings of the depression: mattress and rocking chair on the roof, chicken coop and cream can on the back, salt and tow sack upholstery, and smoking exhaust. One club member said, "Of all the parades we've attended, this has been the most fun."

A large group of horseback riders were joined by Harold Campbell's dray filled with lovely granddaughters, and wagons from Hotel Turkey and the Spur Ranch.

All the courthouse square was a stage as people visited, enjoyed the program and settled in for an afternoon's entertainment. Speaker Karla Leslie gave a poignant relection on our pioneer heritage.

Singers, poets, fiddlers, gospel groups, guitar strummers. It seemed impossible to take in all the activities. Water spray from the fireman's water polo shot into the air as fiddlers' played. Some kids rode ponies while others took a turn at firing a real black powder muzzle loader or throwing a tomahawk at a stump.

Smiles as well as tears punctuated the busy graduation weekend which drew many people from out of town and included an all night party at the school.

Registering at the reception and the marker dedication at Whiteflat where a beautiful park has been created from the ruins of the old post office were sixty-one people from places as distant as Austin, Houston, Arlington, Eastland, Midland, and Bedford. Special guests were Vance Castleberry and Robert Mills from the District Office in Childress, responsible for mounting and constructing the outstanding marker which incorporated brick from the old school.

Many people toured the Traweck Home prior to the marker dedication and recognition of listing in the National Register of Historic Places there that was attended by a large gathering. Dr. David Murrah, guest speaker from the Southwest Collection in Lubbock, shared the significance of the home and its interesting history. Special guests included Dr. Albert Traweck, Dr. Nancy Barrow and family from Houston, Dennis Chapman of Bonham from the Texas Historical Commission, and a group of Lubbock historians hosted by Don and Sally Abbe.

Although the numbers were few, people attending the old fashioned Singing Convention enjoyed reminiscing of days gone by when "dinner on the ground" and singing by shaped notes was the order of the day. Non-singers such as I appreciated the mastery of Bennie Keltz's booming baritone and Frances Dixon's piano keyboard as old hymns and faded memories were pulled from the past.

No dry eyes were in the audience as Sharon Van Hoose sang "I'm Proud to be an American" as veterans saluted Old Glory flapping in the early morning breeze. The Memorial Day Service was held on Monday in front of the American Legion building with R.C. Giesecke hoisting the colors and Luther Green presiding.

Dick Van Hoose read a moving tribute about Memorial Day and Motley County, which included vivid and colorful descriptions written by the school children.

This was a fitting closing ceremony for Motley County's Centennial weekend, a moment to reflect, give thanks, and remember those who have sacrificed in order that we could enjoy the benefits of a free society where freedom of expression and the rights of individuals reign.

Dedication of Whiteflat Historical Marker

One of the top events at the Motley County Centennial was the dedication of the Whiteflat Historical Marker at 2:00 p.m., Friday, May 24.

Earlyne Jameson, chairman of the Historical project, gave the welcome and recognition of special guests, Vance-Castleberry, and Robert Mills, District Engineers with the Texas Highway Department of Childress, and Clay Jameson, with the Motley County Texas Highway Department. It was noted the Marker as one of the largest and best constructed in the state of Texas. Bricks from the Whiteflat School Building incircled the beautiful foundation.

One of the most diligent workers when cleaning up the site of the American flag at the location for the first time since 1966. He led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Adding to special occasion Mrs. Kathryn Martin, resident of Whiteflat, accompanied on Accordion as the group sang, "Beautiful, Beautiful Texas" and "The Eyes of Texas."

Marisue Potts, chairman of the Motley County Historical Commission, gave a Whiteflat Historical Highlight. Mrs. Potts accumulated the Whiteflat History and worked with the Texas Historical Commission. Whiteflat Texas Historical Archives and will never be forgotten.

Guests gave tributes to Whiteflat. Sixty-one attended the dedication from Houston, Arlington, Plainview, Lubbock, Austin, Eastland, Bedford, Midland, Flomot, Matador and local residents.

A reception was held at the Methodist Church in Matador following the dedica-

Sarpalius Honors Motley County

NOTE: Congressman Bill Sarpalius presented Centennial Chairman Billy W. Denison with the Congressional Record of Senate Proceedings of March 21, 1991, Issue #49, and proceedings of March 22, Issue #50, page E1107. It reads as follows:

HONORING MOTLEY COUNTY CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

HONORABLE BILL SARPALIUS OF TEXAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 22, 1991

Mr. SARPALIUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to recognize the citizens of Motley County, TX, who will be celebrating the county's centennial celebration this year.

Motley County abounds in historic rugged beauty, as a century of prevalence so aptly demands. For 69 years Motley county was the home of the famed Matador Land and Cattle Co., Ltd. whose phenomenal empire claimed a million acres in four different counties, and at one time this enterprise branded over 20,000 cattle a year.

The tradition lives on for the descendants of these great settlers as cattle and horses still produce over one half the county's agricultural income. The innovative thinking of the people in Motley County have brought farming and ranching in this county from horse and wagon to the modern machinery of today's century enabling it to complete not only with its neighbors but with others throughout the country and abroad.

This county is also one of the few distinguished areas of the country where deer, antelope, aoudad, quail, and turkey still roam the territory. The wide, tree-shaded avenues in the town of Roaring Springs, where the Indians often roamed and camped, is still an inviting attraction for today's citizens. Also, this setting in Roaring Springs is an excellent way to reminisce upon an entire century gone by.

Motley County has made a generous contribution to the American tradition of agricultural independence, all the time preserving its environmental heritage. This county deserves to be saluted for its pioneer spirit and innovative way of thinking that helped make it a wonderful place to live for 100 years.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in saluting Motley County on its centennial celebration.

Buckskinner's Rendezvous

BUCKSKINNERS at Centennial Weekend Rendezvous.

by Wilda Dixon

Spencer and I would like to thank everyone that came to the park to visit and learn more about our sport. We had four primitive camps, one wedge tent (ours), a baker tent, a wall tent, and a lean-to. There was also one trader in the tin-tepee.

We had nine men shooting, four lady shooters and five ladies throwing knife and hawk as well as two juniors. At the end of the day we awarded prizes for the top five places in the overall standings in the three categories. The top prize for the men was a trade blanket, second place was a knife kit, third place received a string of chevron beads and fourth and fifth prizes were boxes of primer caps, that were donated by Dakota Gun Works of Idalou, TX.

The top ladies prize was a candle lantern donated by one of the shooters as his entry fee. Second place lady received two "Sante Fe" pottery bowls and third place won a string of beads and a primitive pot scrubber while the prize for fourth and

These campuses give them the potential of reaching approximately 50,000 future leaders in our society.

While the devil is making such a bid to ensnare our youth in drugs, occult and demon worship, thank God for a young man who left a good paying church to take a step in faith to rescue our young people.

We especially invite the youth of Matador and this community to hear Terry Fred speak.

All are welcome where everybody is somebody and Jesus Christ is Lord.

Annual Sports Banquet Honors Motley County Athletes

Motley County Athletes heard James Kyle, Referee for football and basketball, speak about getting motivated for life, before you need to be motivated, at the Annual Sports Banquet, held Friday night, May 17 at the Motley County School. Mr. Kyle stated, "Set your goals to always do your best and win fair. Dedicate yourself to your God, family and school. God doesn't care about football and basketball, but he does care about you, the person playing". As Kyle ended his speech he presented a check for $100.00 to the School Athletic program.

After each Coach introduced each team member participating in the individual sports, the special awards were given as follows:

Athletic King, David Alexander; Athletic Queen, Heather Hobbs; Miss Spirit, Renee Hoover; Dayton Graham Award, Clay Ewing; Don Ewing Fighting Heart Award, Natalie Burkes; Boys Fighting Heart Award, David Alexander; Girls Track Fighting Heart Award, Jennifer Beshirs; Boys Track Fighting Heart Award, Mat Linson; Cross Country, Most Valuable Participant, Jennifer Beshirs and Jeremy Davis; Tennis Most

BOOSTER SHOTS FOR SAVINGS

Every savings account can stand a boost now and then, especially in difficult economic times. Families can increase a feeling of financial security by adding to their savings.

Money is often hard to come by. How do you find "extra" money for savings? Listed below are some short-term ideas to help your family add to savings:

* Stage a family fund-raising contest. Specify a short time (maybe a week or so) during which each family member will contribute to savings. The one who contributes the most wins a prize. Choose a prize without cost, or you will defeat your purpose. The prize might be something like getting to pick supper menus for a week, skipping family chores, or being allowed extra telephone or television time. Everyone in the family can contribute. Children can earn money by taking care of neighborhood pets, doing yard work, starting a neighborhood newsletter, or holding a car wash. The entire family can participate in collecting recyclable materials or contributing items to a garage sale. Children and adults can make crafts and sell them on consignment at craft shops. Short-term jobs may be available through temporary employment agencies.

* Reduce unnecessary expenses for a limited time. For example, go without soft drinks for two weeks, contributing the amount you normally would have spent to your savings account; or cut back on entertainment costs, long-distance phone calls and hobbies for a specified time and contribute all savings to the account.

* Plan menus for a "recession week" of meals. See how little you can spend on meals while keeping nutritional value high. Nutritious and filling meals can be made using low cost foods such as beans, rice and seasonal vegetables. Bread can be bought at thrift stores for lower prices. Food made from scratch usually costs less than convenience foods. Shopping the sales, buying generic brands and using coupons can lower costs even further.

If done for short, specified lengths of time, these activities can be approached as fun family projects rather than deprivation. Meanwhile, make sure all savings are deposited to your savings account. You will be surprised how much it grows.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Senior Citizens Report

by Nora Belle Dunning

The Matador Senior Citizens met on Tuesday, May 14 for their luncheon. Ruth Baker called the meeting to order. Minutes were read and approved by Ruby Thompson, Secretary-Treasurer. Twenty-six people registered. Rev. Roy Eason read the prayer for our food. We had one table of 88 playing in the afternoon. We were all looking forward to the Centennial. We had a bus in the Parade.

Due to the Green Thumb using the bus to go to a meeting on Tuesday and Wednesday and Flomot using it on Monday.

No one from Roaring Springs and Matador used the bus the first part of last week and due to Monday, May 27 being a holiday it didn't run.

We will be looking forward to seeing each of you Tuesday for lunch.

Thanks to those that came for the games on Saturday afternoon, May 25. Only 13 people registered and only our home Matador people stayed and played. The Centennial was a beautiful sight to see. If you missed it, we're sorry. The Lions Club meal was great!

FOREVER HAS AN END

by Rebecca Anson

The words we whispered quietly, on a moonlit night. The promise that we lived by, which seemed so very right. Everything has been displaced, the love has been upset. And yet, there's a painful yearning, it seems I can't forget. The plans we made are all erased. No more dreams of us together. And now that we're apart. Tell me - what happened to forever!

OUR HEAVENLY FATHER

by Rebecca Anson

May our heavenly father send His love and gifts to you. Love of joy, and gifts of happiness all year long. Friendship, true and loud, And loved ones by our side, To grow still brighter, Everyday of our life.

A Unique Book

There is a unique Book that begins with these words, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Genesis 1:1). This same Book closes with the words, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen." (Revelation 22:21). Between those two passages one will find sixty-six interesting books, divided into 1,189 chapters, and over 41,000 verses. This Divine library is called the Holy Bible. It contains God's revelation of His Will to all men. Our great God has revealed His Will through no other source. All that men know about God, the Lord Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, Angels, Heaven or Hell is found within the pages of this sacred volume.

The university of the language of nature, (Psalms 19:1-3), allows men and women of all races and lands to see the manifestations of the glory of our Creator. There is an old "spiritual" which accurately states in song, "Over my head I see glory in the air: There must be a God somewhere." Every sunrise and sunset, every thunder-cloud and silver lining, every bolt of lightning and every rainbow, everything in all nature speaks of God and His power and glory.

But these do not portray the mind of God, nor do they reveal His Will toward us. Only the Bible can do this. Through its pages we hear the voice of God directing our steps. (Psalms 119:104) "Through thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way."

MATADOR CHURCH OF CHRIST Michael G. Crowley, Sr.

Thank You

Two very special honors came my way during the Centennial Celebration week which I gratefully and humbly acknowledge. Thank you to The Masonic Lodge for "Community Builder" award, which I accept on behalf of all the people who have helped with the Library, the Historical Commission, and the Museum, because nothing is accomplished alone. To the Centennial Committee, thank you for bestowing upon me the honor of grand marshal of the parade. That, too, was merely symbolic as I represented you and your fine efforts and my pioneer families, the Bartons, Burselons, and Martins. It was heartwarming to see so many people in town enjoying the 100th anniversary of Motley County.

Marisue Potts

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their prayers, phone calls, flowers, beautiful cards. They all meant so much to me while I was in the hospital. Thanks to Brother Crowley for coming for my surgery. Thanks to all my family for being there. Matador is a wonderful place to live.

Love,
Lucille Pritchett

Thank you to our many friends for your acts of kindness. The death of our loved one, John Jones, is made easier because of your support and knowing he was loved by so many. We are appreciative of your words of comfort, prayers, visits, cards, flowers and food.

Our love,
Hattie Jones
Bob, Frances, Alissa
and Jim Bob Hambricht

I want to thank everyone for your special prayers during my surgery and hospital stay in Scott White. They really meant so much and please continue to pray for my recovery. I also appreciate the cards and concern the phone calls. Also special thanks to Roy and Benita for mowing our lawn and taking care of the place and to Jessie Mae for taking care of the cat.

Thanks again,
Herman Ellithorp

I would like to thank the First Baptist Church for allowing us to have the funeral services of my dad, Lee Harris. Thank you for the flowers, food, visits and prayers.

The Lee Harris family

We would like to thank everyone who showed their expression of love and caring in memory of my sister, aunt, Texanna Davis. The cards, flowers, pot plants, food, gifts, and donations were appreciated so much.

Carolyn & Doyle Rose
Tony & Sherry Rose
Kenny & Lisa Rose
Colleen & Don Baxter

As lay representative for the Motley County Library, I have a lot of thanks to offer to everyone who over about the last four years or so has cooperated to make the display case exhibits such a success. The Library Board asked me to tend the exhibits for their case; and for the last two years or so Winifred Lee has alternated with me to get this accomplished. Her ideas always amaze me and the results of her board work have certainly been enjoyed by all. After the Librarian was notified that we would get the Hispanic display from the Southwest Collection, for our Centennial County Celebration, I asked two local women to help me fill the case. I wish to thank Lupe Morales of Roaring Springs and Rose Saldana of Matador for their help and cooperation.

WTU Requests Summer Rate Decrease

Customers of West Texas Utilities Co. could be paying less for their electric service starting in July if the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) grants the company's request to lower fuel factors. WTU filed the request Tuesday (May 21) as an update to the original fuel filing it made in February.

Jesse Turner, WTU's local manager in Matador, said "the company is asking for interim factors to be effective in July and fixed factors effective in October. Based on the company's expected cost of fuel this summer, the interim factors produce a decrease, compared to current costs, of 7.8 percent or $4.42 a month on consumption of 660 kilowatt-hours per month." In October the fixed factors will mean a decrease from today's costs of 2.6 percent ($1.49) a month for 660 kilowatt-hours.

Although the commission still must approve the company's request, WTU is optimistic that the lower factors will be the ones used to calculate customers' July bills, Turner said. Other customers will see similar decreases in their costs as a result of the lower fuel factors.

The company made the initial filing in February because the PUC had said that fuel costs should be reconciled at least every three years either through a rate case or a fuel reconciliation case such as the present filing. WTU's fuel costs were last reconciled in a rate case which covered a period ending with March 31, 1987, almost four years ago.

Although WTU's February request was for an increase in factors, the company said then that it intended to update the information this May to include current fuel cost information. That has allowed the company to pass along the benefits of its cost control efforts.

Those efforts include renegotiation of a lower cost coal transportation agreement with Burlington Northern Railroad and lower costs for spot gas. Previous efforts include construction of a gas pipeline to the Fort Phantom power station near Abilene to provide access to more suppliers, renegotiation of supply and transportation contracts for fuel and improvements in the efficiency of some plants so they burn less fuel to make electricity.

Costs to residential customers are essentially divided into two major parts, base rate and fuel factor. The fuel charge makes up about twenty eight percent of the total cost to customers.

Base rates cover all the other costs of providing electric service. To comply with the States energy conservation efforts, WTU uses winter rates from November to April and summer rates from May to October. Summer rates are higher to encourage conservation when temperatures make air conditioners work long hours and help produce the greatest demand for electricity of any time during the year.

If the company's request to implement the new factors on July bills is granted, the lower costs will be in effect for most of the air conditioning season.

WTU provides electric service to 177,000 customers in 52 counties stretching from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

Matador Garden Club Concludes Year At Annual Spring Luncheon

Regular monthly meetings of Matador Garden Club came to a close Monday, May 20, with a spring luncheon at the home of Mrs. W.N. Pipkin, president. Following the meal, the group assembled for a business session.

Mrs. Pipkin called the meeting to order for customary reading of the secretary's minutes by Mrs. Douglas Meador and a discussion of old and new business, which centered on the planters which are being replaced in downtown locations. Several members are donating a planter, in addition to those that have already been donated and paid for by the club.

The scrapbook of the club's activities was brought for display, by Mrs. Edgar Lee, chairman, who announced that it had been given the grade of 95 and awarded second place in state competition with other Texas Garden Clubs Inc., organizations.

The nominating committee chairman, Mrs. Ted Elliott announced that the current slate of officers had agreed - some reluctantly - to serve the coming 1991-92 club year. They are: Mrs. Pipkin, president; Mrs. Lee, First Vice-President and yearbook chairman; Mrs. J.D. Craven, 2nd Vice-President and flower display chairman; Mrs. Meador, secretary-treasurer, and reporter; and Mrs. Robert Darsey, Parliamentarian. The club meets the third Monday of each month, at 3:00 p.m. in the homes of the members, unless otherwise announced.

Plans that are underway to replace the plaque honoring Douglas Meador, late publisher of the Matador Tribune, were discussed. The plaque was stolen from its stand in the Pioneer Memorial Park, the upkeep of which is one of the Garden Club's ongoing projects, although the plaque is not included as part of the obligation.

An arrangement of carnation pinks was provided by Mrs. Craven, for the luncheon, and place favors were miniature cowgirls, complete with lariat ropes, made by Mrs. Lee. The tables were further enhanced by napkins decorated with illustrations of bluebonnets and served was a variety of tasty salads, casseroles, fresh beans, desserts, coffee and iced tea.

Mrs. Dixon (Wynelle) Wagon of Roaring Springs was a special guest for the occasion. Members present were Vena Lipscomb, Rhea Lawrence, Winifred Lee, Bailey Elliott, Bertha Stearns, Winifred Darsey, Lila Meador and Opal Pipkin.

Judge not, that ye be not judged.

How Safe Is Your Child Car Seat?

Are you keeping your child on the road to safety? If you have a child car safety seat, you've taken an important step toward protecting your youngster in the event of an accident—but don't stop there. Check the condition of the car seat regularly—and report any defects that occur during normal use when you find them. By doing so, you could save your child's life—and the lives of many other children, says the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), which offers this helpful information:

• If you think the child car seat has a defect, call the NHTSA toll-free Auto Safety Hotline service—1-800-424-9393 (202-366-0123 in the Washington, D.C. area)—immediately. If the agency receives similar reports from a number of parents, this could indicate a safety-related defect may exist that warrants investigation. You can also call this number to find out about recalls on child safety seats and current investigations.

• You will be asked for your name and address and for certain information about the problem. You will be mailed a partially completed pre-addressed, postage-paid questionnaire for you to verify and to provide more details or additional information needed by the agency's technical staff in evaluating your problem.

• When you buy a child car safety seat, it's a good idea to register it with the manufacturer by filling out the warranty card. You'll be notified directly in the event of a recall. For free brochures on child car safety seats, call the Auto Safety Hotline or write: NHTSA, Office of Defects Investigation, NEF-10, 400 Seventh St., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Amy's Anecdotes

by Amy Woolsey

After last week, school out, graduation, Centennial, WOW! That's a lot for one week! Everyone was very excited and ready for school to be out!

Can you imagine what school was like 100 years ago? It was totally different from what it is today! No doubt about it! I couldn't imagine walking to school, barefoot, in the cold, wind and rain. But some people had to! Some people couldn't even make it to school, either, because they lived so far out or because they had other things to do, so they were tutored in the home by their parents or not taught at all.

different too. There were more than just one grade in a tiny one room building! And they were taught by one teacher. They had to write on chalk slates instead of paper and they studied from the McGuffey reader and if you finished it, you graduated. Nowadays we have to complete Kindergarten through 12th grade.

The school teacher had to clean up the one room building. Today we have janitors who do the job.

School was a lot different then, than it is now, but I'd rather have it the way it is now, than it was then!

DPS Urges Caution For Summer Driving

Students are shouting, teachers are celebrating, mothers are pulling their hair! School's out! This is a happy time for most. The Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind you to be watchful for children playing in or around the public streets and highways.

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Region V, stated: "We want to remind all motorists that since school is out children will be playing, walking, and running everywhere. We, as motorists, need to be especially watchful for our younger people, because in the act of playing, they have a tendency of becoming excited and forgetting the rules of safety."

Major Cawthon reminded us that since motorists are older and more mature than children that we need to accept the responsibility of an adult and help lookout for our younger generation. He stated that we need to be especially mindful of the places that children are most likely to be playing; residential areas, playgrounds, school yards, and such, and to drive cautiously around these areas.

Major Cawthon cautioned, "Motorist should be on the lookout for the kids on bicycles and be prepared to give the bicyclist the right of way to save a life."

Bicyclist need to be aware of laws regulating their using the public streets or highways. Bicyclists are required to obey all the laws that drives of cars have to obey. They must stop for stop signs and red lights, yield at yield signs, make legal turns, and ride in the same direction as vehicular traffic.

Now that school is out, let's all work together to help our children have a safe and happy summer vacation.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

In response to the article from the U.S. News & World Report, April 29, 1991, printed May 16, 1991 to the Editor of the Motley County Tribune.

The following information on Free Trade to Mexico, is from an article by John McBrien, exclusive to the Spotlight, a newspaper which reports events which are vital to the welfare of the best interest of the taxpayers, consumers, and voters, but which would otherwise be hushed up or distorted by the controlled press. The point of view of the Spotlight is best described as populist and nationalist.

I would like to refer to the story of the "Hen that Laid the Golden Egg". In reference to this we the Citizens of the United States are the "Hen" and our economy is the "Golden Egg". But no longer. The Hen is being gradually killed and will no longer be able to lay the "Golden Egg". Pressure will be put on the "hen" to produce or terrible consequences will happen, like losing our homes, our farms and other properties that make life worth living, lowering our standard of living to that of the world standard, One World Government.

I attended a Seminar at Southern Methodist University on this subject. Among those attending was Judge Sarah T. Hughes. I was introduced to her and several of the outstanding lawyers of Texas. There was an International Lawyer there to participate in the debate of lowering living standards of the countries that had low or almost no living standards of the countries that had high living standards in order to bring up the living standards of the countries that had low or almost no living standards so that in the World Government all people of the world would be equal. The International Lawyer said he could not see that happening if the American People knew what was being planned for them. At this time I remembered when I lived in France, that I was concerned at that time about the American Businesses being moved from the United States to Europe. This movement of Business to other countries has been methodically in process for many years. Mexico already has 2,000 of our businesses and will be getting more, causing more people to lose their jobs, becoming part of the homeless people.

Have you ever seen any of these people, the desperate young with their families, the Veterans, with no work, the Old Men and Women out on the streets, cardboard boxes for their beds, hungry ones fighting for another ones small amount of food, an old man, for warmth, sitting in the center of a street, eating whatever he managed to scrounge for food, oblivious to the traffic. I have and more. This condition has come about because of lost of employment. There have been around 125,000 farms taken from the owners, probably more by now, lowering their living standards, and cutting into our agricultural production.

Historical evidence supports the opponents of free trade. "Maquiladoras," free trade zones set up in Mexico over 20 years ago, have attracted 2,000 American manufacturing plants which are employing 500,000 Mexicans.

Among the companies who have moved South of the Border are General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, who have shut down plants in the U.S., and set up facilities in the Maquiladoras where workers are paid $1 an hour versus $15 to $16 an American autoworker receives. Many U.S. Companies, particularly in manufacturing are likely to move to Mexico to take advantage of cheap labor, offsetting and net gain in jobs. Potentially millions of American jobs are at stake. Yes, there will be a free flow of products and investments across national borders, but also a free flow of jobs.

Several members of Congress say the Bush report hasn't changed their minds because it appears the White House is simply avoiding concerns over jobs, and lax Mexican enforcement of environmental, health and worker safety laws. "The bottom line now is still 'trust me'," said Rep. Leon E. Panetta (D-Calif.) "I'm still waiting for the commitment of specific issues."

Sen. Donald W. Riegle Jr. (D-Mich) sees the president's report as a signal that the administration "fully intends to sidestep these issues, what you've got is the generalizations and sophistry that you get when you have a tough problem that they don't have any intention dealing with."

The report to Congress, intended to allay fears of massive job losses in this country, is notable for its complete lack of specifics. It contains merely the same rhetoric unsupported by facts the free traders have been pushing for years.

Even professional economists, who have been beating the drums for free trade, have remained silent on the so-called virtues of this proposed trade pact with Mexico. Bush, the Trilateralists and the Bilderbergers have grown increasingly isolated in their free trade mania, as public opposition grows as the dimensions of this looming disaster become clear.

The administration has proposed a joint, U.S.-Mexico effort to deal with these concerns in an effort to get votes in Congress. The package would include taxpayer-funded programs to retrain workers who lose their jobs and a promise to implement an integrated environmental plan for the border between the two countries.

In face of the growing opposition to the free trade treaty, Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari recently completed a 8,000-mile tour of the United States and Canada in efforts to advance the Bush administration's position.

In visiting San Antonio, Salinas was reminded of the pollution of Texas border towns caused by the more than 1,000 foreign factories that have already located in Mexico due to the country's loose environmental laws.

He apparently said nothing of the U.S. State Department spending $19 million for sewage treatment facilities in Nuevo, Mexico, to curb pollution across the border in Laredo, Texas, or of other millions spent in Arizona to beef up a joint U.S.-Mexico sewage treatment plant.

Salinas also failed to discuss $100 million in the EPS's fiscal 1992 budget to solve a critical water pollution problem allowed by the Mexicans to develop in Tijuana, which has forced the closing of beaches in San Diego, Calif., and threatened to destroy the Tijuana Estuary. He also threatens that if he does not get free trade that "not by the hundreds or thousands but by the millions," the Mexican immigrants would enter the U.S. This is an often-used argument of the free traders.

In actuality, there is little reason to believe that Mexicans would cease crossing into the U.S. to work when wages in their own country, even with free trade, would be less than the U.S. minimum wage. The near-slabor wage paid in Mexico have been the reason for countless American and Canadian industries to relocate in Mexico.

Salanas met stiffer opposition in the economically hard hit Midwest. "We have seen our jobs vanish into Mexico," a Chicago union leader told Salinas. "Try telling the man or woman laid off at Zenith or Rheem Manufacturing (two firms that have moved plants to Mexico) that the free-trade agreement won't hurt them."

There is no trade agreement as yet; right now the dispute centers on the so-called fast-track procedure that prevents Congress from interfering with Bush's negotiations with Mexico. Several legislators have indicated they will vote for legislation introduced by Sen. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) and Rep. Byron Dorgan (D-N.D.) which would not renew the authority when it expires on May 31st.

A new study by the General Accounting Office (AGO) has disproved President George Bush's and other free traders' argument that the proposed free-trade agreement (FTA) with Mexico will create more U.S. jobs than it eliminates.

Copying from the article written May 16, in the Motley County Newspaper, "An agreement will draw the nations of the North American continent into a powerful economic alliance. It will galvanize nations of South America to join the world marketplace." One World Government - under the auspices of the United Nations. We will lose our sovereignty, our freedom, and be under control of those in power, with no recourse.

Call your Senators, and Congressman now.

HONORING OLDER AMERICANS

"Older Americans, Our Greatest Natural Resource," is the theme for this year's Older Americans Month. Each May, senior citizens are recognized and honored for their accomplishments and their contributions to society.

Many public and private organizations are currently completing plans for special events that will include open houses, seminars, and special programs. Social Security offices throughout the country will join in these tributes to America's senior citizens.

The 1991 theme was selected by the Administration on Aging (AOA). It focuses on the fact that older Americans offer the Nation a vast reservoir of talent, knowledge, and experience and encourages the Nation to make better use of this valuable resource in new and innovative ways. As in the past, AOA's selections of Senior Citizens to be honored will be in categories such as caregivers, volunteers, artisans, advisory services, and completion of job training programs.

If you are interested in participating in activities during Older American Month or if you want to know what is scheduled in your area, contact the State or Area Agency on Aging listed in your telephone directory.

Lubbock, Friday, May 17, 1991

"Cotton" Fanning, Executive Assistant of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) and a respected voice for High Plains cotton producers, has retired after 28 years of service to the 25-county organization.

"Cotton has been an integral part of PCG since he started with our organization in 1963," notes Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President. "An example of his standing within the cotton industry can be seen in 'Cotton Talks' which is considered an important source for people wanting to know what is happening in the cotton industry."

"Cotton Talks" is used by newspapers, industry publications and broadcast media as an important source of information for people wanting to know what's happening in the cotton industry.

A graduate of Springlake-Earth High School, Fanning was graduated from Texas Tech in 1949 with a B.A. degree in journalism. He was a reporter for The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and was news editor of radio station KSEL.

Fanning, who speaks Spanish fluently, was a livestock inspector with the Department of Agriculture in Puebla, Mexico, and later was a Department of Labor Supervisor of Transportation in Chihuahua City for a program supplying Mexican labor to U.S. farmers.

He was manager of the Basin Growers Association in Stanton from 1954 to 1962. The association contracted Mexican labor to farmers and supplied chemicals, feed, seed, and other agricultural inputs to producers.

From this unique background Cotton was able to utilize his extensive knowledge to oversee PCG's communication needs.

To help him in his day-to-day work, Fanning developed and maintained an extensive library of cotton-related statistical information. This information includes annual data on High Plains planted and harvested acreages, yields and total production going back to the 1920's. This collection of cotton data represents an important resource for understanding the way the High Plains cotton industry functions. Fanning also assimilated county-by-county figures on High Plains cotton quality developed through fiber testing at the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech.

Cotton's behind-the-scenes role is evident in the speeches he has written for PCG leaders and his assistance in the preparation of written testimony for area cotton producer spokesmen. Much of this testimony was given before congressional committees and state legislative bodies. He also helped write PCG's formal comments concerning proposed rules for many Federal programs.

"Cotton for the most part worked quietly behind the scenes," says Johnson. "But many people close to PCG recognize that he has made major contributions to our accomplishments as an organization and an industry."

Fanning conceived and carried out advertising programs in textile journals and other publications to promote the use of High Plains cotton by domestic and foreign mills. Through his efforts the High Plains has become known as a source of quality fiber through PCG advertising in such publications as the Southern Textile News, Cotton International, Japan Cotton Statistics Monthly, Japan Cotton Statistics and Related Data, and the Liverpool-based Cotton Outlook.

"We are all going to miss the opportunity to draw from Cotton's extensive understanding of the U.S. cotton industry," Johnson concludes. "His retirement marks the end of an era for PCG and we hope he will continue to stay involved with the activities of our organization."

Wreckers were tearing down a house on a corner, and a neighbor asked, "What's the big idea?"

"The street must be widened," answered the boss.

"But," said the man, "it will work a hardship on the owner."

"Yes," came the answer, "but the city has the right of eminent domain." That means the government has the right to take private property for public use, but the owner must be paid.

The principle of "eminent domain" runs through the Bible. It says, "Your own body doesn't belong to you. God has bought you with a great price. So use every part of your body to give glory back to God, because He owns it."

I've given the Lord the right of eminent domain. Have you?
