Crisis in the Gulf

by Christene Green Davis

This crazy world we live in gets stranger every day, the crisis in the Persian Gulf -- someone will have to pay!

Hussein is called a madman, a Hitler of our time, with the mentality for destruction and war as his design.

With weapons of mass destruction, confrontation is at hand, our women and men are being sent to a strange and foreign land.

Here in the states we wonder if this really is our war.
Has the world gone mad with anger? What are we fighting for?

For flying missiles sent aloft and blood upon the sand?
Or just to prove Hussein is wrong and thereby call his hand?

He says we'll swim in our own blood in a war against Baghdad.
Could he be right and do we fight? Can it really be so bad?

Should we resolve to push for peace or force in the Persian Gulf?
Is Saddam just trying to make waves, do we dare to call his bluff?

Meanwhile, Dow Jones takes another dive and oil prices continue to soar -- the financial strength of the nations is not stable any more.

The world seems very dismal with insecurities, hatred and fear, the vision of peace has vanquished as we begin another year.

Are we prepared to fight this war and lose our children there, or go on living every day as if we didn't care?

Will oil be spilled from the sands and the hills, or will it be our blood, flowing profusely in the desert in a bold and crimson flood?

We want to preserve democracy and keep our dreams alive, and push for peace and security and hope we can survive.

To dream our dreams and fight our wars and live another day, when peace reigns supreme and love can be seen, in all we do and say.

God help up in this time of trial and show us the right way, but most of all we ask you Lord, please teach us how to pray

Pray for Peace

Sharp Says Local Sales Tax Revenues Signal Improving Texas Economy

AUSTIN, Tex. -- "This month's local sales tax rebates are positive proof that our Texas economy is steadily improving," Comptroller John Sharp said Monday.

Sharp announced today that his office this month sent checks totaling $91 million to the cities and counties across Texas that collect local sales taxes.

This month's sales tax rebates to cities increased 15 percent over the January 1990 figures.

"A good portion of that increase is due to Texas' stronger economy, but some of the rise is because more cities collect sales tax this year than did last year. A few other cities have also increased their local tax rates which makes for higher rebate checks from the state," Sharp said.

Sharp recently reported in his Biennial Revenue Estimate to the state Legislature an increase of $1.9 billion in available revenue for fiscal years 1992-93 because of Texas' growing and increasingly diversified economy. However, Sharp also warned that the state could face a potential shortfall due to increased spending requirements.

This month's payments to cities totaled $81 million with Houston receiving $13 million, the state's largest payment. Dallas received the state's second largest payment of $8 million. San Antonio received $4 million and Austin received $3 million.

Rebate checks to counties totaled more than $96 million this month for an increase of almost 33 percent over last January's payments. As with cities, the hefty increase is partly due to more counties collecting sales tax than did at this time last year.

The January rebate checks reflect taxes collected on November sales and reported in late December by businesses filing monthly returns.

December rebate checks, encompassing the Christmas shopping season, will be mailed to Texas cities and counties next month.

Merchants collect the state and local sales taxes and send them to the Comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state retains its share and sends cities and counties the local portion of the sales tax

Farmers Home Emergency Farm Loans To Resume Soon

Temple, Jan. 3 -- The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) expects to resume approval of emergency loans for farmers who have suffered losses from last year's weather disasters in the near future, acting FmHA State Director John E. Kirchhoff said today.

"We know many producers are reaching the point where they have to make decisions on next year's crops, and we are confident we will be able to provide assistance," he said.

"In the meantime, any farmer in a disaster-designated county who feels qualified for an emergency loan is invited to visit the local FmHA county office and file an application."

FmHA was forced to temporarily suspend final approval of emergency loans because of a provision in the 1990 farm bill which, in the end, will benefit farmers and ranchers.

Under FmHA's regular statutory authority, farmers must have crop insurance, if available, to be eligible for FmHA emergency loans, in most cases. The 1990 farm legislation, signed into law on November 28, waived that provision for loans based on losses on 1990 crops.

"Whenever there is a change in our statutory authority, our regulations have to be changed to match up," Kirchhoff said, "I am informed that the regulation change waiving the insurance requirement is now in final clearance in Washington."

He said applications are being accepted and can be processed up to the point of final approval. To assist in the timely processing of applications, any farmer in a disaster-designated county who feels qualified for an emergency loan is encouraged to file a completed application with the County Supervisor as soon as possible.

"I have been assured that we will be notified immediately when the regulation change has been published in the Federal Register, and loans can then be given final approval without further delay," he said. "We can and we will help our Texas producers with their credit needs."

CORRECTION

A correction to the Commissioners Court report: It was incorrectly reported in last week's report that the Resolution from the Texas Department of Highways requested the County to help in making up 60% of funds the State needs for their highway budget. The correction is as follows: A resolution was read from the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation stating the department will only be able to meet 43% of their needs. The department is asking all chamber of commerce, commissioners court and cities to show their support for help in solving this crisis by passing the resolution. This resolution, if passed, will be presented with others to the legislature to address the problem of diminishing highway construction funds. This will be a request for action for sufficient funds available over the next decade. The commissioners elected not to sign the resolution.

Also an addition should be made to the paragraph concerning the On-the-Job Training Program. These employees are permanent adult employees, one for Precinct 2 and one for Precinct 4. The cost share will be for the first six months of employment.

Motley County Clinic Hosts Teleconference

The Motley County Clinic staff hosted a Teleconference January 10 on Hepatitis B. Eleven persons attended. According to one Center for Disease Control (CDC) there are approximately one million chronic Hepatitis B virus carriers in the U.S. Last year an additional 300,000 persons became infected with hepatitis B. As many as 12,000 cases occurred in health care workers. This educational program provided important up-to-date information on hepatitis B and its prevention with hepatitis B vaccine. Speakers were Dr. Willis Maddrey, University of Texas and Barbara Symons RN, Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia, PA.

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

Trent Willmon Wins Awards On 4-H Record Book

Trent Willmon

After several years of preparing 4-H record books, Trent Willmon, the 17-year-old son of Dean and Billie Willmon of Afon, was finally rewarded for his efforts in a big way. Entering in the "Achievement" category - a 4-H program that stresses a wide variety of 4-H projects, Trent's competition began at the district level where he won the privilege of having his record book advance to state competition. Placing first at state back in August won him an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, as well as the right for his record book to compete with the winners of the other 49 states and Puerto Rico. Trent was one of the eight 4-H'ers in the category to be named a "National Winner", an honor that earned him a $1500 scholarship from the Ford Motor Company Fund, a non-profit organization established in 1949 to receive gifts and make contributions for education and charitable purposes. The Ford Motor Company Fund has continued to sponsor the National 4-H Achievement Awards Program to recognize outstanding young people.

Trent was one of two Texas 4-H'ers to be selected as a candidate for the Reader's Digest Foundations 1990 Presidential Awards Program at the National 4-H Congress. While in Chicago, Trent also spoke at the Achievement Awards Luncheon sponsored by the Ford Motor Company Fund to honor the state and national 4-H Achievement Program winners. Additionally, he was the only Texas 4-

Her to sing in the National 4-H Chorus. Although he enjoyed his experience of singing with other 4-H'ers across the nation, he admits that at first he was reluctant to sing because the others teased him about his Texas accent.

Trent currently serves as President of Roaring Springs 4-H Club. As president of District 4 4-H, he also represents 4-H'ers across Texas by serving on the Texas 4-H Council. As a state council member, Trent received the State Fair of Texas Honor Award. He also recently taught a workshop on dealing with peer pressure at the State 4-H Teen Leadership Retreat at the Texas 4-H Center in Brownwood, Texas. Among his many 4-H projects and activities are wildlife and fisheries, food and nutrition, leadership, and livestock judging.

In addition to "4-H'ing" and singing, Trent enjoys a host of other activities. Hunting, fishing, cooking, camping, dancing, reading, and horseback riding take up "spare" time not taken up with studies and other activities. He is active in the youth group at Roaring Springs Assembly of God. He also serves as president of the Patton Springs FFA Chapter and of the Patton Springs Student Council. He is currently preparing his Limousin heifer "LeDoux" (which he obtained through winning in the calf scramble at Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo last year) to return to Houston to show late next month.

After graduation from Patton Springs High School in May 1991, Trent plans to continue his education by pursuing a degree in an agricultural field. Presently he is considering various options, but attending South Plains College in Levelland and minoring in country music seems rather attractive. "Some day I want to work with kids and see their lives affected the way that 4-H has affected me," Trent states. "In 4-H I have learned that I don't have to limit myself to just one idea. I can become good at many things. Life, like 4-H, is a celebration of choices. And our lives 20 years from now will depend, in great part, on the choices we make today. I am truly thankful for all the 4-H'ers, county extension agents (especially Rocky Vinson), volunteer leaders, and other supporters of 4-H who have helped me to develop my talents and my leadership skills," Trent concluded.

THE FACTS ON RECYCLING

What a Waste

* The U.S. waste production per person is twice that of any other nation in the world.

* This year, Americans will throw away about 180 million tons of waste, of which much is recyclable. For example we'll throw away 1 million tons of aluminum cans and foil, more than 11 million tons of glass bottle and jars, more than 4.5 million tons of office paper and nearly 10 million tons of newspaper.

* We throw away enough glass bottles and jars to fill the 1,350-foot twin towers of New York's World Trade Center every two weeks.

* Nationally, we throw away enough aluminum to rebuild our entire commercial air fleet every three months.

* We throw away enough iron and steel to continuously supply all the nation's automakers.

* Each year, we throw away enough wood and paper to heat 5 million homes for 200 years.

* Americans go through 2.5 million plastic bottles every hour, only a small percentage of which are recycled.

Energy Savings

* Twenty cans can be produced from recycled aluminum with the same amount of energy that it takes to manufacture a single can from raw materials.

* Recycled aluminum products use 95 percent less energy than the same products made from raw materials.

* Recycling 25 aluminum drink cans saves about 7.5 kilowatt-hours of electricity, or enough energy to refrigerate those same drinks for two days.

* Making paper from recycled products can take as much as 64 percent less energy than it would take to make paper from virgin pulp.

* Recycled glass uses 35 percent less energy than that required to make glass from raw materials.

Savings of Natural Resources

* One press run of the Sunday edition of the New York Times uses the paper produced by about 75,000 trees. In 1986, the nation's newspapers collectively required 13 million tons of newsprint.

* For every ton of paper manufactured from recycled papers, 17 trees are saved and 3 cubic yards of landfill space are saved.

* The production of recycled paper uses half the water of the production of virgin paper.

* In addition to reducing the amount of mining necessary, using scrap iron and steel rather than raw ore to make steel means a 40 percent reduction in water use.

Saving Landfill Space

* Almost 20 percent of landfill waste is made up of yard wastes, which can easily be composted or left on the ground.

* Plastic takes 200 to 400 years to breakdown naturally. Buried in a landfill, even items that normally biodegrade quickly, such as paper, yard wastes and food, have been known to last as much as 50 years.

Reducing Pollution

* The process of removing ink from scrap paper is cleaner and less toxic than the process required to make paper from virgin pulp. Production of recycled paper generates one-quarter the air pollution and two-thirds the water pollution of production of virgin paper.

* Using scrap iron and steel rather than raw ore means an 86 percent reduction in air pollution and a 76 percent reduction in water pollution.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor: ure for two years and seven months.

John Clower
 and Ava Crump

There are so many things that are tragic and unhappy events in our lives in these troubled times, but one of the things that hurt so much is the loss of a loving and loved pet. Especially one that is hit by a car that was just cruising around to find or have something to do. We do not know which teenager it was that came in contact with our little bulldog, but we would like for them to have stopped and told us, instead of us looking for him and finding him dead. We are glad that he didn't get a dose of poison, and had to watch him suffer and die. But it is hard to pick his little body up by the side of the highway and I know there is nothing we can do. If that person would come by and talk with us maybe it would be easier to accept.

Every weekend the teens of our town go from the "corner" to just below our house and turn around then back up the highway and back down, sometimes as many as six just making the "drag". There is not much else to do in Matador, and teens have to be busy. Those of us who are older, or old, can remember the things we used to do. We had the movies, we had dances, we had a busy main street to cruise, or drag, we had the drug store to stop by and we were busy. Now we need something besides what we have for our young people. We are glad that we don't have a young person to grow up here, but we are old and our baby, Gerald, is gone, he brought us much happiness and pleas-

God Bless You!

We are bombarded with advertisements to buy. You can shop around for goods . . . and for some services, like a mechanic. But with utilities, there is usually only one available. So, you might think it would be easy for us to take our consumers for granted.

You know what? The EXACT OPPOSITE IS TRUE. At your electric cooperative, each and every member is an owner. So when we say YOU'RE THE BOSS . . . we mean it!

We'd like to know how we're doing, Boss. Give us a call . . . or drop by and visit. And in the meantime, try to think of the last time your mechanic asked you how he was doing.

Motley County Students Receive Academic Recognition

In October, 1990 every Texas student attending public schools in grades 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11 was required to take the TAAS test for the first time. The TAAS test (Texas Assessment of Academic Skills) replaced the TEAMS test (Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills), which had been given to students in these grades since 1986.

The TAAS test differed from the TEAMS test in several important ways. TEAMS tested "Minimum Skills" whereas TAAS will measure "Academic Skills". The TEAMS test focused on only certain essential elements. The TAAS test, however, includes all essential elements and emphasizes skills which require more analytical or critical thinking. The TAAS test consists of three sections: math, reading, and writing. All questions on the test were multiple choice, except the composition section.

To receive academic recognition, the student must have mastered all objectives in that section. In the Writing section the student must have also received a perfect score on the composition portion of the test.

Below are the Motley County students who received academic recognition for the 1990 TAAS Testing:

Teacher Profile

Mrs. Shauna Monroe

Mrs. Shauna Monroe teaches Spanish 1 & 2, 7th Grade Computer Lit., Typing and Senior Computer Programming at Motley County ISD.

She is originally from Hedley and graduated from Hedley High School. She attended Clarendon Jr. College and West Texas State University.

She and her husband, Danny, have two children, Dana and Dustin.

When asked what she thinks of Motley County, Mrs. Monroe replied, "A great place to work and live. She stated, "I think we are lucky that we have a high percentage of the student body that are not only capable of learning on a high level but are willing to work to achieve it", when asked how she feels about the students at Motley County.

Mrs. Monroe's hobbies include taking summer Spanish classes and spending time with her family.

Her goals for the 91 school year are to ready her Spanish and Senior Computer classes for their college classes; for her freshmen boys to gain personal typing skills, and to ready the Seventh grade for high school computer classes.

DOLLS to be presented at Motley County School

On January 30, 1991 at 8:00 p.m., the Lubbock-Cooper High School Drama Department will present DOLLS at the Motley County School Gym. The play, by Jerome McDonough, is a one act dramatization of some of the choices facing today's teens.

Although the main thrust of the play deals with teenage pregnancy, DOLLS also touches on the problems of peer pressure, drug abuse, and AIDS. Texas has the highest pregnancy rate per 1000 females ages 15-19 of any other state. All sexually transmitted diseases are on the rise, and one of the fastest growing groups is of those who become HIV positive while still in their teens.

Jerome McDonough, a creative writing teacher at Caprock High School in Amarillo, is aware of the power of theatre in education. McDonough wrote the play to alert teenagers to the less idealistic, less romantic consequences of teenage sexual activity. He underscores the message that refusing to yield to sexual pressure is a viable, preferable option.

The play, directed by Jay Brown, drama teacher at Lubbock-Cooper High School, is frank and realistic, yet remains accessible to junior high and high school audiences. There is no profanity and no street language, but DOLLS does not back off in its message. It does not turn off the very kids who need to listen.

This informative and entertaining play lasts 45 minutes, and will be presented on Wednesday, January 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Motley County Gym. It is recommended for grades 6-12 and all interested parents or other adults. No admission will be charged. A licensed professional counselor with six years of family life education teaching experience will be available to conduct an after-play discussion. If you have any questions concerning the performance of DOLLS, contact Mr. Van Hoose, Mrs. Rowland, or Mrs. Hays at 347-2676 during school hours.

by Amy Woolsey

Even though someone has ideas that are different from your ideas doesn't mean they are wrong and you are right. Given the same set of circumstances you might arrive at the same conclusion they did. Granted, some of us are more optimistic than others and that changes the ideas and beliefs that we have. Tolerance of other people's ideas can also be a learning experience. To get along in this world, you have to get along with people. That means accepting the fact that, though their ideas are different from yours, they may have some merit. If we all thought alike, this world would be a bland place and there would be no wars. Stop and think of the changes in our world, if no one had dared to have a difference of opinion. If Columbus had listened to the popular belief of his time, that the world was flat, then he never would have discovered America.

Let's all try, for one day, to be more tolerant and listen to other people's ideas and beliefs and keep an open mind. We might learn something.

Praise the Lord

Play-Acting or Faith

Painted faces and polka-dotted bloomers make a clown the delight of young and old alike. Silly routines and funny punch-lines make the clown a pre-programmed spectacle.

Some folks say, "We are happy and love God," while showing a clown-like appearance of happiness. Others staunchly defend "the faith" when concerned, but practically live like there is no knowledge of the Bible. Often the air of righteousness is given off while deep inside surges frustration and unbelief. Outwardly the appearance is of the pious Christian but inwardly the resemblance of the atheist and agnostic.

This is not meant to provoke anger but rather self analysis. Not intended to provoke bitterness but bitterness. We, as believers, must not be characterized with the symptoms of unbelief. We must not carry the signs of inactivity or a crippling lack of faith.

We are the children of the Creator. We are the children of the God who promised more than we can imagine. God is still on His throne and is in control of the universe. God is still the God of the Noah flood, and the crossing of the Red Sea. God is still in love with us!

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

Moore - Troutman Exchange Wedding Vows

Mrs. Jon Troutman

Leslie Shay Moore and Jon Larkin Troutman were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Friday, December 28, in the sanctuary of Brownfield's First Baptist Church with the Rev. Ken Flowers, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Moore of Brownfield. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Davis of Brownfield and the grandson of Mrs. C.R. Davis of Matador.

Ivory poinsettia plants trimmed with burgundy satin lined the steps of the altar. At the center of the altar, an arched brass candelabra held a floral arrangement of plum, navy and fuchsia.

Two candelabras flanked the center arch and two smaller candelabras completed the setting. The choir rails were lined with garlands of english ivy and crystal votive cups holding scented candles.

A pair of lighted spruce trees decorated with burgundy moire bows and white doves graced the choir loft. Arrangements of burgundy grape clusters, white doves and gold lame accents surrounded a tall taper displayed in each of the 20 stained glass windows throughout the sanctuary. The bridal aisle was marked by white satin bows on alternating pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an elegant gown of white satin and alcon lace designed by Demetrios for Illissa. The bodice, heavily beaded with sequins and pearls, featured a bateau neckline, Juliet sleeves and a deep basque waistline. The full skirt, edged in lace, flowed into a cathedral-length train adorned with sequin and pearl appliques.

For her headpiece, the bride wore a pearl headband with lily of the valley side sprays, highlighted with a silk illusion pouf and veil.

She carried a petite nosegay design of white silk organdy tea roses and sweetheart roses in shades of mauve, pink and burgundy. Plum alstromeria and gypsophilia, along with cascading laquered english ivy accented the Victorian design. Iridescent picot ribbons with plum, burgundy and navy streamers completed the design.

For something old, the bride wore her late grandmother's wedding band; for something new, her dress, for something borrowed, pearls belonging to D'Ann Steele; and for something blue, a garter. Pennies minted in the years of the couple's births were placed in the bride's shoe by her father.

Attending the bride were maid of honor D'Ann Steele and matron of honor Sharla Beck of Abilene. Bridesmaids were Allison Moore of Highlands Ranch, Colo., niece of the bride, and Eva Hoch.

Each wore a sapphire iridescent taffeta gown. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, lantern pouf sleeves and a peplum at the waist accented by a small bow adorned with rhinestones. The sheath skirts flowed to floor-length. The attendants carried satin peonies of lum-toned mauve tinted with designer navy, burgundy and gold lame streamers.

The bridegroom wore a white Padova tuxedo with tails. His boutonniere featured a white rosebud surrounded by lily of the valley and gypsophilia.

Best man was Kirk Willis. Grooms-men were Chris King of San Antonio, John Key of Dallas and Richard Conteras. Ushers were Brandon Pinson and Richard Muyschondt.

Male attendants wore Pierre Cardin black cable tuxedos with white shirts accented by sapphire iridescent taffeta ties and cummerbunds. Each wore a burgundy-wine rosebud with touches of silk gypsophilia.

Mollie Moore, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a dress of sapphire iridescent taffeta. The bodice featured bows atop the shoulders and large pouf sleeves. The back featured a large bow at the waist and ruffles to the floor.

She carried a satin and lace basket of dried rose petals trimmed with tiny ribbons and flowers of navy, plum and burgundy. Her hairpiece was fashioned of coordinating colors in a halo design with long ribbons cascading in the back.

Candlelighters were Eryn Moore, niece of the bride, and Landon Moore of Highlands Ranch, Colo., nephew of the bride. Eryn wore a tea-length dress similar to that of the flower girl, and a wristlet of burgundy rosebuds with accents of navy and plum. Landon wore a Pierre Cardin black cable tuxedo with tails and coordinating boutonniere.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Eddie Sharp on piano and organ, who also accompanied vocalist Joe Sears. After the mothers were seated, he sang "Sunrise, Sunset", after the bride was given in marriage he sang, "The Wedding Song" and following the vows he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Heather Skiles registered guests as they entered the church. The registry table was draped with a white lace runner and accented by the bride's book, designed by Becky Chambers, and the bride's toss bouquet of white satin roses with accents of navy, plum and burgundy.

BRIDAL COURTESIES

Mrs. Robert Wilks hosted a bridal coffee November 17. Other hostesses were Patsy Bailey, Kim Bayless, Jane Blay, Nonie Cawthon, Margaret Chaffin, June Cooper, Gayle Cosper, Judy Cox, Sherry Duncan of Lamesa, Doris Fletcher, Nadene Hoch, Mary Jameson, Rita Kisor, Emily Simpson, Paula Steele, Ruth Thurman, Mattie Tudor, Joetta Willis and Renee Willis.

On December 27, a rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Davis. Tables were decorated with oversized red poinsettia blooms of handpainted parchment, free standing in a coiled design accented with emerald green velvet streamers with gold edges.

Kathy Moore hosted a bridesmaids luncheon December 28 assisted by Niel Moore and Linda Moore.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, which was coordinated by Paula Steele, guests were invited to a reception in the upstairs parlour of the church. Marilyn Adams coordinated the reception.

Assisting at the reception were Betty Joplin, Fern Niles, Nancy Hollman, Peggy Wilks and Ruth Thurman. The house party, coordinators and servers wore corsages of plum alstromeria trimmed with cherise satin ribbons.

The bride's table was draped by a white cloth topped by a white lace overlay swagged at the corners with petite ribbons of navy, plum and burgundy, accented by midnight blue glittered gypsophilia.

A European-styled arrangement was elevated on a tall silver candelabra, white southern magnolias, camellias, navy wild honeysuckle, plum alstromeria, wine colored parchment peonies and burgundy coleus foliage completed the design.

The bride's white Lady Windmere cake featured three tiers with the middle tier resting on the clover-leaf arrangement of the four-piece bottom tier. Roman columns supported the cake top. The cake was accented with corneli lace, ruffled ribbon garlands and confectionary flowers.

The domed top was covered with gum paste and iced flowers in shades of plum, cranberry, raspberry and white, accented by tiny satin flowers. Flowers and ribbons in the deep vintage colors cascaded down layer to layer.

Serving at the bride's table were Dona

Eudy and Kim Cohlma, both of Midland.

The groom's table was covered by a white cloth topped with an iridescent blue taffeta runner accented with a silver monogrammed T and matching tassels.

Centering the table was a unique design of antique plums, pomegranates, raspberries and grapes entwined with laquered grape ivy and iridescent gypsophilia draped over a three-branch silver candelabra with navy candles.

A large, oval, double layer chocolate cake featured grapes, plums, raspberries and cranberries made of icing. The deep vintage colored fruit was accented by lacquered grape leaves.

Serving at the groom's table were Ann Phillips of Lubbock and Colleen Baxter of Matador.

For their honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the bride wore a black corduroy romper accented with a gold iridescent tulle and black satin leaves completed her attire. All sanctuary, reception and personal flowers were created by Ann Morrow of "Heartfelt Designs."

Look up before pruning limbs!

When trimming, stay clear of overhead power lines.

- Locate wires that run through tree limbs or bushes before cutting. Also before you trim, be sure limbs have ample clearance.
- Always use a wooden ladder making sure to position it away from power lines.
- Work only in dry weather and never on a windy day.

Remember REDDY supplies the energy - but only you can use it safely.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act, Texas Civil Statutes, Article 6252-13a, 65, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will hold a series of five public hearings on proposed new 11.80-11.90, concerning Environmental and Public Involvement for Highway Improvement Projects. Notice of the proposed adoption of the new sections and their text were published in the December 14, 1990 issue of the Texas Register (15 TexReg 7160).

The dates, places, and locations for the respective hearings are as follows: Thursday, February 7, 1991, Memorial High School, 935 Echo Lane, Houston; Thursday, February 14, 1991, Holiday Inn Center, 6201 E. Highway 80, Odessa; Tuesday, February 19, 1991, Corpus Christi Marriott, 707 N. Shoreline Drive, Corpus Christi; Thursday, February 21, 1991, Holiday Inn DFW North, 4441 Highway 114 and Esters Blvd., Irving; and Monday, February 25, 1991, Camp Mabry, 3500 W. 35th Street, Academy, Bldg. 82 (The Audie Murphy Bldg.), Austin.

Each hearing will convene at 7:00 p.m. Those desiring to make oral comments or presentations may register starting at 6:30 p.m. Any interested person may appear and offer comments, either orally or in writing, however, questioning of those making presentations will be reserved exclusively to the presiding officer as may be necessary to ensure a complete record. While any person with pertinent comments will be granted an opportunity to present them during the course of the hearing, the presiding officer reserves the right to restrict testimony in terms of time and repetitive comment. Organizations, associations, or groups are encouraged to present their commonly held views, and same or similar comments, through a representative member where possible. Comments on the proposed text should include appropriate citations to sections, subsections, paragraphs, etc., for proper reference. Any suggestions or requests for alternative language or other revisions in the proposed text should be submitted in written form.

To assure that all persons who have registered to speak are afforded an opportunity to do so and to avoid undue hardship or inconvenience of conducting the proceedings beyond an unreasonable hour, the presiding officer may recess the hearing and reconvene at 7:00 p.m. the following evening at a location to be announced upon recess, for the limited purpose of receiving those remaining comments.

Written comments may also be submitted to William A. Lancaster, P.E., Chief Engineer, Highway Design Division, 11th and Brazos Streets, Austin, Texas 78701. Copies of the proposed rules are available from the department's district offices in each of the named cities and from Mr. Lancaster. The deadline for submitting all comments is 5:00 p.m. on March 31, 1991.
