Lions Governor Is Local Club Guest

DISTINGUISHED visitor at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Matador Lions Club was Governor Bill T. McMinn of Stratford. He was introduced by Tail Twister Glen Brotherton.

The club membership gave the district governor a standing ovation. "I want to talk to you about Lionism" the Dist. Governor said. "I want to say a few words about the largest civic club in the world... an organization dedicated to service to mankind... men dedicated to giving of self."

"I want to stress 100 percent aid to the Kerrville Crippled Children's Camp, and the support of Girls Town. We have reports that girls are turned away every day because of lack of money and facilities... I want to stress the Lions Eye Bank that has proven so successful but needs more support... I want that blind person can see a child... see a sunset."

Homecoming Slated At Northfield

All is in readiness at Northfield for the 10th community Homecoming, Saturday, Oct. 6.

Friends and relatives of residents still living in the community return each year for the event and attendance is usually between two and three hundred, with many coming from other states. Registration will start with the first arrivals.

Basket lunches will be provided by the local residents, and the Homecoming Association will provide plates, cups, ice and coffee.

Visitors will be welcomed by Mrs. Molly Simpson, President and Mrs. Grady Timmons, Secretary-Treasurer, and their assistants.

A Memorial service for the deceased of the community since last year, will be held at 11 a. m. and following lunch, the afternoon will be spent visiting.

Residents of Northfield started holding the reunions 11 years ago, but in the intervening time, one year was skipped.

"There aren't many older people left at Northfield, and we don't know how much longer we will be able to have the reunions," said one longtime resident. "We'll try to keep having Homecoming as long as former residents express a desire to return, and the rest of us can provide food and lodging for them."

National 4-H Week Set For Oct. 7-13

COLLEGE STATION -- 4-H youth and their volunteer adult leaders throughout Texas and the nation are "getting it all together" as they observe National 4-H Week, October 7-13.

"Traditionally, since 1927, National 4-H Week has been a time for 4-H'ers, their leaders and friends to take stock of the year's accomplishments and achievements," says Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "4-H Week has been a time to look to the future of 4-H in each community, the state and nation."

"4-H Gets It All Together" is the theme of this year's observance and in countless ways, 4-H has "gotten it together" by involving more young people between the ages of 9 and 19 than ever before. Latest available figures show some 5.5 million young people across the nation participate in 4-H annually. About 146,000 of these are in Texas, notes Stormer.

4-H groups exist in nearly every U.S. county and in about 85 countries around the world. "Begun after the turn of the century as an educational program for rural youth, 4-H today brings together both rural and urban boys and girls of all racial, economic and social backgrounds," points out the Texas A&M University System 4-H leader.

"MATADOR SLIM" NOBLE PIERCE

"Matador Slim" Is Victim Of Tragedy

ONE OF West Texas' most colorful characters, "Matador Slim" Noble Pierce, 76, was killed in a Phoenix, Arizona hit-run accident, Saturday, August 25.

Account of the accident, which appeared in the Phoenix Arizona Republic, follows in part: "An elderly Phoenix man, was killed Saturday in a hit-run accident. The hit-run accident occurred after Noble Leroy Pierce, 76 of 7401 Dreamy Draw Lane stepped from his pickup truck after it was struck from the rear by another pickup truck at the corner of Baseline and Central, according to police.

"Investigators reported Pierce got out of his pickup and the second truck started forward again, pushing Pierce's truck into a third vehicle driven by Richard Perrault of 1346 E. South Mountain.

"The second truck then drove over Pierce, witnesses told police. Pierce was dead on arrival at Maricopa County General Hospital.

"Police said they found a truck bearing the license plate of the hit-run vehicle near the home of Donald McCan, 5546 W. Almeria. "The truck was owned by McCan but police said it was driven by Jimmy P. Miles, 19, 9235 S. 8th Avenue.

"Miles was booked for investigation of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident."

WELL KNOWN IN AREA "Matador Slim" was well known in Motley and Cottle Counties. He worked for a time on the Matador Ranch, was engaged in breaking horses, and was declared one of the best horse trainers in this country.

Matador Slim was later employed by the State Prison system. Several years later he went to the Phoenix area where he had since resided.

He returned to this area about four years ago and visited a few days with friends before returning to Arizona. He was unmarried.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The day was dismal and the wind that came through the frequently opened door was chilled from passing over miles of powdery snow. A dirty string moved like a pendulum against the dust-covered wall and had left a half-moon design of clean plaster. It was supported by a rusting nail that seemed anxious to fall and presently when the door opened with an extra puff of wind, the nail and string dropped to the floor. It was a trivial incident that ended the many years of original purpose for which the nail had been driven and the string attached to it. Either ten or forty years, time was not important, since change is eternally at its chemistry in things, people and all creation. It was as a pebble fallen into the surging surf and covered by the sea.

Most of our experiences are short-lived but a few are engraved into the memory and remain always. During a bright day when I was a very small boy, my father lifted me to the back of the gentle black mare, then climbed up behind me. We rode across a small valley. The animal was warm beneath my short legs and I must have experienced an outstanding period of ecstasy. With my father's arms about me, I have seldom, if ever known greater security.

One of the great problems of our society is the lack of communication between individuals. One of the principal causes is lack of attention to what is being said and proper understanding of the thought that is being conveyed. Even a single word used incorrectly may bring pain to another unintentionally.

My message to other printers who are younger, is to avoid the use of six-point type. It is a waste of time, ink and paper. If you can't see it, the message is lost to all except those with younger eyes.

leader for the afternoon, presented Mrs. Furman Vinson, who introduced the speaker. Her topic was, "Women - Rights and Responsibilities to the World through Federation."

The Womens Club movement is a part of U.S. history, with the first one being the Ladies Educational Society located in Jacksonville, Ill."

Mrs. Cook stated that the club can best be served by observing the lines of communication which is a part of her theme. "Informed Women - Dedicated to Building a Better World."

"We are governed by all means of communication, but we all tend to talk too much and communicate too little," she told her listeners.

Motley 4-H Clubs Seek Help In National Youth Campaign

The Motley County 4-H Clubs are trying to get votes in an effort to capture a major share of the Colgate-Palmolive Co.'s $320,000 HELP YOUNG AMERICA Campaign for 1973, now underway nationally. The unique program offers $220,000 to six national youth organizations according to results of a nation-wide balloting, with an additional $100,000 to be won by local units throughout the U.S.

David R. Foster, President of Colgate-Palmolive Co., pointing out that his company's HELP YOUNG AMERICA marks the first time these six leading youth groups (4-H Clubs, Camp Fire Girls, Boys Clubs, Girls Clubs, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts) have united in a single promotion effort, stated at the national launching ceremonies, "We at Colgate are convinced that our obligation as a corporation includes the development of programs that contain the key ingredient of social responsibility. One of the over-all goals of HELP YOUNG AMERICA Program is to help make it possible for today's youth organizations to turn out more men and women with the qualities of leadership."

"Our Help Young America Program", the Colgate executive said, "is based on a concept of enlightened self-interest - that what is good for America is good for American industry. And what is good for the youth of America is the key to tomorrow for all of us."

Here's how the Help Young America Campaign works. Entry blank ballots are available in supermarkets and in magazines starting in October. Voters write their names and addresses on the ballot. They then indicate which of the six national organizations, and its local unit, they would like to see financially aided by the Help Young America Program, no purchase is necessary. Ballots will also be in the October issues of Reader's Digest, Good Housekeeping, Ladies Home Journal, American Home, McCall's, Ebony, Redbook, Woman's Day and Family Circle.

EACH ENTRY must be accompanied by 2 proofs-of-purchase from Colgate-Palmolive products (Colgate Dental Cream - two end flaps; Ultra Brite Toothpaste - two end flaps; Cold Power Powder - box top and bottom; Ajax Cleanser - zip top - strip; Ajax All Purpose Cleaner - word Ajax from front label; Palmolive Liquid - word "Palmolive" from front label; Irish Spring - two front end panels with "Net Wt." markings; Baggies - two end flaps; Curad Plastic Bandages - box top and bottom).

Rather than asking individuals to mail their entries, the 200 4-H club members of Motley County and their leaders have established collection points at the City Cleaners and County Agent's Office in Matador; Lee's Variety in Roaring Springs; Timmons Grocery in Northfield; and George Grocery in Flomot. If the people will write their names on the boxes listed previously, the 4-H subcommittee will fill the ballots and mail.

The amount of money an organization can win nationally does not depend on the size of the organization, but instead, on the number of votes cast for it. Local units have 616 chances to win from $50 to $5,000 in drawings, plus another $100 to $1,000 for the best voting campaigns. In addition, each person who votes can win up to $20,000 in individual prizes.

Each organization will receive $20,000; and each will share in $100,000 in direct proportion to the number of votes cast for it. Colgate will donate another $10,000 to each national youth group ($60,000 in total) to be distributed to local units based on a vote collecting contest. Mrs. Richard M. Nixon was appointed honorary chairman of the Help Young America Campaign, and called it "an innovation and sweeping approach to the encouragement of constructive youth activities."

The 168 4-H club members of Motley County, their parents, leaders and Extension Agents request your support in this campaign.

September 24, 1973

Dear Judge Campbell:

The Motley County Overall Economic Development Program (OEDP), prepared with the assistance of the South Plains Association of Governments, provides an excellent view of your area's economy. The OEDP is well-written and should prove to be a working tool for the development of Motley County. The proposed projects appear to be appropriate and, if implemented, will stimulate economic development.

The OEDP meets EDA requirements; therefore, I am approving the Motley County OEDP as of this date and requesting the designation of Motley County as a Redevelopment Area under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965.

We extend our wish for success in accomplishing your program goals.

Sincerely,

AMONG SEVERAL students from Matador who are enrolled at Clarendon College are Jack and Dorothy Williams, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Deaton. Mr. and Mrs. Deaton are among several parents that have more than one child enrolled in Clarendon College. Mrs. Deaton is shown here visiting with Beryl D. Clinton, Dean of the college.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Your assistance is needed. I have been notified that small grain samples are going to be hard to get for the test plot this year. If farmers who plant wheat, rye, oats, barley and triticale will bring me a 6 pound sample, I will include this variety in the test this fall. I will need the samples by Oct. 8th.

With calf delivery time near, it is especially important that you reduce shrink to the minimum. The following suggestions will help.

Good loading facilities save about 45c for every steer and 25c for each hog by reducing losses due to death, crippling and bruising in addition to reducing shrink by about 1 lb. per head. A system of pens that allow you to sort animals can return an extra $50 to $100 per truckload.

Livestock should be taken off feed a short time before loading, but prior to this they should have easy access to feed and water. Don't feed excessively as stuffed animals travel poorly and are sometimes subject to price discounts.

Cattle shrink the most within the first 15 minutes after loading when they are excited. If allowed to settle down in the truck about 10 minutes before moving, it helps to reduce shrink. Livestock can suffer higher weight losses if shipped on hot days following a cool period. Proper ventilation will help reduce these losses. When temperatures are above 80, the truck should be bedded with sand in place of straw and the number of animals in the load reduced. Animals should always be given enough room to move around, but not lie down. Partitioning will also help, with 6 to 10 cows placed in a compartment; 8 to 12 sows; and 20 to 25 market hogs. Never mix a load of cattle and hogs without separating.

Finally, the trucker should have a clean truck with clean bedding. If he starts and stops slowly, damage to animals will also be reduced, keeping underway with the livestock to the unloading place.

Will the person who borrowed my 1973 Consumers Digest buyers guide please return it. I have had several requests of late for use of this book.

Boys and girls planning to show animals in the 1974 Motley County Jr. Livestock Show on Sat. March 23rd are reminded that animals must be purchased and on feed prior to Dec. 1, 1973. Class will be provided for steers, heifers, market hogs, breeding hogs (open gilts, bred gilts & sows), rabbits (bucks & does), and lambs. Animals are going to be high and feed high, but with proper feeding, there is a good chance for making a profit.

PHOSPHORUS: On low phosphorus soils, sidedressing does not give the growth response or yield increases compared with application before planting.

POTASH: Sidedressing within 30 days of planting generally gives acceptable results except in soils that are extremely deficient in the nutrient.

ZINC: Sidedressing within 30 days after planting are satisfactory, if this element is needed.

Historic Matador Ranch Building to be Dedicated in Lubbock

Annual Meeting Slated Oct. 6

By Ranch Headquarters Assn.

(Special to the Tribune)
LUBBOCK -- The Matador Office Building, which once was the business office for a ranch grazing its cattle over more than one-and-a-half million acres, will be dedicated at the Ranch Headquarters outdoor exhibit of The Museum of Texas Tech University in Lubbock Oct. 6 during the annual meeting of the Ranch Headquarters Association.

Two men who had business and personal associations with the famous Matador will participate in the dedication. Chas. A. Guy, former editor of the "Lubbock Avalanche-Journal," will introduce Douglas Meador, editor of the "Matador Tribune," who will make dedicatory remarks.

The Matador began with foreign capital, and the original holdings have shifted owners, but the Matador Cattle Co. of 1973 operates ranches in six states, still making cattle history in the United States. It is this company which gave the Matador Office to the Ranch Headquarters to add to other buildings on the site, each authentically depicting some phase of ranching history.

THE OFFICE, a small and sparsely furnished two-room frame house, will stand restored at the Ranch Headquarters to tell the success story of a venture in ranching which began in 1879, during the free range era when H. H. Campbell and four others established the original Matador Cattle Co.

In reconstruction Texas the only source of capital for expansion was foreign money, and in 1882 the Matador was sold to a Scottish syndicate. The headquarters was transferred from the half-dugout at Ballard Springs, Tex., to Dundee, Scotland. Campbell remained as manager. When the foreign owners visited the Matador, they stayed in a guest house built for them, called the "Scotsmen's Dive" by the Matador cowboys. This was the building that later became the office.

The success story of the Matador continued when windmills and tank dams and barbed wire changed the free range to the fenced range era. In the early 1900's the Matador name symbolized the range cattle industry in America and its herds represented the best in beef throughout the West.

THE CANNY business ways of the Scottish owners and the successful breeding programs of the early managers -- Campbell and Murdo MacKenzie -- paid off in blue ribbons won by Matador steers at many major livestock shows from 1902 to 1910 and the top prices brought by Matador cattle during the same time.

Unlike other foreign-owned cattle companies, the Matador survived and prospered to the middle of the Twentieth Century. When it was sold to investment bankers in 1951, there were 15 corporations formed to dispose of its 808,000 acres, in tracts of land of varying sizes.

During the 1950's these corporations were purchased by individuals or groups of individuals. The headquarters of the Alamositas Division was the large tract purchased by R. H. Fulton of Lubbock.

Fred Chase Koch purchased the brand and 110,000 acres of the ranch, including the original headquarters at Ballard Springs, and his Matador Cattle Co. gave the Matador Office in honor of this founder of the current company.

TODAY'S Matador Cattle Company produces Hereford breeder cattle of national reputation and operates feedlots. In addition to the Matador Division, the company owns and leases other ranches in Texas, Montana, Wyoming, Kansas, Nevada and New Mexico. Offices are in Wichita, Kan., where the parent company, Koch Industries, is located, and in Plainview, Tex., with John Lincoln as general manager.

Charles, Bill and David Koch, sons of Fred Chase Koch are board members for the company which, inheriting the proud tradition, moves the cattle industry into the future.

The whole story of the Matador depicts western history after the cattle industry exploded dramatically into the free range era. The break-up of the original

Matador into smaller ranches and farms marked the end of an era, and the end of a way of life for scores of people, including the cowboys who took pride in claiming they "rode for the Matador."

The office building to be dedicated Oct. 6 joins 12 other structures at the site, plus two windmills, in a projected total of 22 buildings interpreting the history of the ranching industry in the American West.

ALTHOUGH the Ranch Headquarters is not officially open, more than 12,000 people from 33 states and nine foreign countries visited it on weekends last summer.

Target date for completion is 1976, in time to be part of the American Revolution Bicentennial Celebration. The Ranch Headquarters has received official commendation for its plans to be a part of the Bicentennial.

At the annual meeting, a representative from the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission in Washington will present to Mayor Morris Turner of Lubbock the flag designating the city as an official Bicentennial City.

Also a typical Saturday at the ranch, turn of the century style, will unfold for visitors at the Harrell House.

IN THE MUSEUM an exhibit of "Paintings and Drawings by Madeline O'Connor" will open, and the costume exhibit with historical fashions will be on display.

"Out of the Dust," the premier performance of the Texas Tech Puppet Theatre, will be shown in the Assembly Room of The Museum throughout the day.

Mrs. Katie Graham of Ralls, who is 84 years of age, will again demonstrate quilt-making. Richard Bolt of the 6666's Ranch will be making the sour dough biscuits. The Lubbock Square Dance Federation will perform, and there will be old-time fiddlers.

The fourth annual meeting of the Ranch Headquarters is for members only, and memberships may be obtained at The Museum Oct. 6. The association already has members in 100 Texas counties, 25 states and Canada and Mexico. Single membership is $5; family membership, $12.50. Reservations are needed for the barbecue lunch on Oct. 6, and these are $4 apiece. Memberships may be purchased by mail by writing the Ranch Headquarters, P.O. Box 4499, Lubbock, Tex. Members receive the quarterly "Ranch Record" in addition to other privileges.
