Centennial Plans Progressing

by Marisue Potts

New faces and new ideas come with each County Centennial Celebration meeting. On January 21 twenty-two interested citizens met at the Sr. Citizens building to discuss ways to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Matley County's organization.

Nominated was a finance committee to determine how to raise funds and how much capital might be needed. Elected as members of this group were Loys Campbell, Glenn Woodruff, Betty Luckett, Judge Boyce Hart, and Gerald Pipkin.

The Matador Lions Club has volunteered to cook and serve barbeque for the evening meal according to Lion Charlie Johnson. Though the assembly considered serving a free meal, consensus of opinion seemed to be there should be a charge for the barbeque, except for special guests. The proceeds will go to the Centennial. Nora Belle Dunning proposed that county residents supply food for an old fashioned "Dinner on the Ground."

Beef producers of the county will be asked to donate toward the purchase of feedlot beef for the barbeque. According to the County Historical Commission those doing so will have the opportunity of placing their brands on a special advertisement sign which will be placed in the museum at a later date.

The Matley County Arts and Crafts Club will be in charge of renting booths for vendors and arts and crafts, securing street space, and notifying individuals and clubs. Representatives Joyce Archer and Geraldine Key may be contacted for more information. The proceeds will go toward the expenses of the celebration.

The Art and Crafts Club has been busy on their own club project, quilting the Centennial Quilt, a beautiful work of art with historical scenes painted on individual squares, which will be raffled off to ticket donations. Another club enterprise is the selling of note cards featuring some of these scenes such as the Jail, the Depot, the Courthouse with Cupola, Northfield Community Church, Hewlett's Store in Flomot, and the Whiteflat Gin.

Participants for the morning parade to be contacted by James Ed Russell will be Riley Miller of Justiceburg with his historical characters and ox carts as well as area wagon and surry owners. Marisue Potts will contact the Fourth Cavalry and the Scottish bagpipers, while Beverly Vinson will contact the Shriners Gokarts group.

For the afternoon entertainment segment suggestions were made to include a square dance exhibition, a fiddling interspersed with cowboy poetry, a cow chip throwing contest, a washer pitch, and a cow patty bingo. Lee Peacock will invite the Square Dancers and Boyce Hart will designate people to help with the Fiddlers Contest. Dennis Gaines was appointed to contact other cowboy poets. Sponsors or chairmen for the other events are needed.

Glenn Woodruff and Marisue Potts will contact Classic and Antique car owners and work on the Auto Show.

Special guest speakers are needed. Suggestions ranged from Karen Elliott House, Pulitzer Prize winning reporter on the Wall Street Journal, to politicians Governor Ann Richards, Representative Warren Chisum, and State Senator Steve Carriker. Joyce Archer recommended that Douglas (Ben Meador, author of Trail Dust and former newspaper editor be honored with a special memorial. Geraldine Key suggested Randall Whitworth be remembered for being a one-man, chamber of commerce and keeping in touch with native sons and daughters.

As a centennial project, the high school Ag boys are considering making street signs to be placed along the highway. The metal art project hinges on donations and a suitable design with a western theme. Street names such as Dundee, Buffalo, Lariat, Comanche, offer great possibilities. Anyone who would like to contribute to this worthwhile and much needed project or share ideas should contact Jim Cooper, the Ag teacher.

A need for electrical hook-ups for visiting RVs was brought up. Although Gertrude Smith has a few hook-ups, more will probably be needed if a good crowd materializes. Here is an opportunity for someone to make a little pocket money by staking out a back lot.

Publicity about the event will be sent to Texas Highways, Texas Monthly, Southern Living, Texas Country Reporter, and Lubbock and Amarillo television stations and newspapers. It was suggested that Larry Elliott and Carla Leslie, with their family ties to be the county, might do a feature story on the activities.

Jimmy Hunter of the Flomot Dogooders club proposed picture displays in storefront windows spotlighting each community. Sonja Bowman of the Eternas club will check on the feasibility of an idea on Old Timey Photo Booth, complete with costumes for the customers to don. Billy Wayne Denison will look into the possibility of a Commemorative Case Knife, while Jeff Thacker will do the same with Commemorative Coins. A Little Miss Contest was another suggestion.

Jeff Thacker reported the date for the Fun Run and the 10K Run at Roaring Springs has been changed to April 27.

Everyone was urged to get in shape for the run (or walk, if running is too much). Participation could also include sponsoring a runner or, as we've seen on televised marathons, handing out water bottles as the runners make their way to the Roaring Springs pool.

Spencer and Wilda Dixon reported that they will be asking the Lubbock Buckskinners club to assist them in planning the Rendezvous, the knife, 'hawk, black muzzle loader contests. The event will be publicized in buckskinners magazine and at other gatherings.

Those attending, but not mentioned above, were Janie Campbell, Jeannie Moore, Gary Lancaster, Rocky Vinson, and June Keltz.

Bring your new ideas (or come and protect yourself from being appointed or nominated!) to the next meeting on February 4 at 3 p.m. in the District Courtroom at the Courthouse.

Roaring Springs Citizens Meet

Projects of Town Improvement Discussed

A group of concerned women met Monday night, January 28 in Roaring Springs to discuss ways to beautify downtown Roaring Springs.

It was announced that Roaring Springs has three important events coming up, which will bring many people into town, and it is important that a pleasant atmosphere be presented.

The first upcoming event, the Roaring Springs all-school reunion, will be held Saturday, June 15, beginning at 10:00 a.m. in the Kountry Kitchen Cafe in downtown Roaring Springs.

Another event, held sometime in June or July will be the Jr. Rodeo, and the big event, Old Settlers, will be held the last weekend of August.

Money raising events were discussed to raise funds for projects such as the Gazebo for the City Park, which Carla Jones has been collecting donations for since September, and has received many out of town donations. It is hoped to raise the money for this project and have the Gazebo completed as soon as possible. Other projects discussed were restoring the Tabernacle at the Rodeo Grounds. The tabernacle is 50 years old and it was suggested that it be designated as an Historical marker. Mrs. Frances Walters stated that this will be checked in to.

It was decided that the Arts and Crafts Bazaar, which was held on Thursday of the Old Settlers, this year, will be held again, and will possibly be changed to Saturday, with more exhibitors.

It was suggested that banners be purchased to be displayed downtown for the Old Settlers Reunion. Other projects discussed were having a Centennial Float for the Matley County Centennial Celebration, which will be held in May; planting flowers and putting up a sign at the Y intersection, south of town; cleaning up downtown Roaring Springs, such as downtown lots, and planting flowers in the barrels on the median.

Many other ideas and suggestions were discussed, with another meeting planned for February 25 at 7:00 p.m. at the Country Boutique Beauty Shop. Anyone having interest in the future of Roaring Springs is invited to attend. It is hoped that many interested citizens will attend.

It was decided to have the first fund raising event, a Sweetheart Auction (cakes, cookies, pies, candies, crafts, etc.) on Saturday, February 16, at 7:00 p.m. at the Depot. Make plans now to attend this important event.

Buddy Allen, Auctioneer, of Pampa, will be on hand to auction off the many items that will be for sale. Buddy is the son of Mrs. Pearl Patten, and is a former resident of Roaring Springs.

Those attending this first meeting were Pauline Hand, Jan Jones, Frances Walters, Carla Jones, Nona Long, Betty Kemp, Lee Peacock, Lou Bennett, Nancy Long, Darlene Fletcher, Pearl Patten and Venita Sedgewick.

Make plans now to attend the next meeting. Dont forget - Monday, February 25, 7:00 p.m.

Researcher Finds Texas' First Snowberry Bush

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was taken from the December 11 issue of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. Mr. Benny Simpson is the son of Una Simpson of Northfield.

A Texas Agricultural Experiment Station horticulturist has stumbled on a small colony of bushes native to colder climates of the United States but not seen before in Texas.

Benny Simpson came across the small patch of Western snowberry bushes last year in eastern Ochiltree County in the Texas Panhandle but had to wait a full growing season before he could confirm the find.

"You just get lucky," he said. "Your right foot stumbles over your left. I was looking for choke cherry shrubs when I found this strange bush."

He couldn't identify it immediately because the shrubs were not in fruit.

"This is a little far south and low in altitude to find western snow-berry," he said. "I thought it was going to turn out to be a coral berry, which has a red berry. But when it flowered, the flower didn't fit. So I waited until it came into fruit."

The fruit consisted of snowy white berries in pairs at the ends of the branches.

Western snowberry is part of the honeysuckle family and has slender branches that grow to about 4 feet high. Previously, it had been identified as far south as Colfax and Union counties in new Mexico; Morton County, Kan.; and Cimarron County, Okla.

"Maybe a bird dropped a seed and the whole colony is a takeoff from the mother plant," he speculated.

Matadors End First Half Of District Basketball Play

by Barbara Moore

The Matley County Matadors wound up the first half of district competition with a 3-1 record after suffering their first district defeat at the hands of the Paducah Dragons. The Mats played the Dragons a close game until the last minute, when a couple of costly mistakes ended the game with the Dragons on top 90-80. Top point man for the game was David Alexander with 27 points. Chris Campbell scored 23, and Matt Washington put in another 11.

The Matadors began their second half of district play against Patton Springs on Friday night. The Mats were successful in defeating Patton with a score of 75-61, bringing their beginning second half record to 1-0. The Matadors overall record for the season is 17 wins against 7 losses.

This was Jason's second time to be in the hospital, the other time was when he was 2 years old. Needless to say he felt just good enough to be bored, and thought he should be entertained. I was very thankful to get him home on Friday.

Burr Barton, Brad Wilson, Neal Sedgewick and Noel Guerrero. Managers for the Matadors are Tim Adams, Dustin Davis and Scott Salisbury.

The Matadors will meet Lakeview on Friday night, there, for a very crucial game. Come over and give them your support.

The Lady Matadors ended their first half of district play with a 2-2 record, having defeated Patton Springs and Guthrie and losing to Spur and Paducah. The Lady Mats met Paducah on Tuesday night, and stayed in close competition with the Dragons until the second half when the Dragons surged ahead to end the game 56-40 in their favor. Lacey Parks was high point scorer for the game with 13 points.

The Ladies began the second half of district on a positive note with a decisive win over Patton Springs on Friday night. The Lady Mats defeated the Patton Springs team 66-30, bringing their second half record to 1-0. There was a tie for high point shooter for this game between Lacey Parks and Heather Hobbs. both continued on page 3

Barbara's Bylines

I know we all get tired of seeing and hearing of things our government and country do that go to extreme. This latest project is beyond ridiculous. I would like for someone to pay me big bucks to study something that seems so 'serious' as the following: "The government is spending our money on the study of how much gas is released by a cow, and the effect of this gas on our environment."

It seems there are people in America that aren't aware there is a war going on. Somehow, I thought things like the amount of gas expelled by a cow, wouldn't really matter, when people are hurting and crime and drug abuse effects all of our lives.

Well I hope no one decides to go out and sit with a cow, day and night!

A Family's Reaction To War

NOTE: This article was taken from The Eagle Press, Fritch, Texas. It was written by the editor, Cherry Hamilton. After reading the article, we felt our readers would enjoy it also.

by Cherry Hamilton

It finally arrived — that moment of knowing the war has started — the moment the world had anticipated for five months — the moment reality merged with your dread — the moment time stood still for a while.

January 16, 1991, 6:15 p.m. the knowledge that a part of yourself, your own flesh and blood, was participating in his portion of history in an airplane over a country half a world away was slow to sink in.

First, you determine that this is not a dream. You argue in your mind that yes, he's probably in the middle of the air strike; no, they haven't mentioned his type of plane; yes, your spirit says he is in the air at this moment doing what he is highly trained to do.

Then the heart-thumping fear and a quick prayer for the angels to surround his plane releases the liquid love that rolls down your face. A tender but frantic embrace comforts a couple who know the price they could be called on to pay before this is over.

When sanity returns in small portions, their first thought is of his wife three states away who is alone to absorb this news. She becomes your first concern for the moment — to hear her voice, to share the shock of the news you knew would come and to assure her that you love her almost as much as he does.

Soon the phone begins to ring with loving voices on the other end comforting you with their assurance of their prayers and concern that means more to you than they will ever know. A buddy of his calls with just the right touch remembering that he was always cool in a crisis, talking about how his adrenalin must be pumping right now, knowing he is doing what he has spent three years of his life training to do.

Finally four or five hours, three pots of coffee and many prayers later, your reasoning process causes you to access the 'situation more calmly. He has tried to prepare you for this time just as he has been preparing. Now it is your turn to live up to his expectations for his family as he fulfills his duty to his country and his flag.

Without any knowledge of what he might be facing now or later, you do the only thing there is to do — something you've done repeatedly with each of your children at various times — you put his life and his destiny into God's keeping one more time knowing that He loves him more than you.

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR LIBRARIAN

By Wilda Dixon

Last Thursday, January 24, Joan Patton and I attended the West Texas Library System (WTL) Geographical Meeting and the primary discussion centered around how much money the State Library monies from the Legislature will be cut during the legislative session. This will directly affect our Library because 90% of our new books are purchased with these monies, as well consulting services and the workshops that are furnished through the System.

The current funding formula is as follows: 25% of the funds (from the legislature) are divided equally among the 10 library systems in the state and the remaining 75% is divided using the population. The basic formula holds true for the division of funds at the system level except, in our case, 25% is divided equally among 31 libraries and then the rest is based on population.

Therefore, you can readily understand that if the State Library funding is cut 4.9% (the proposed amount) then the impact on our Library is going to be much higher. I would like to urge everyone to contact their representatives at the State Capitol and impress upon them your feelings to leave library funding at its present level for fiscal year 1992.

Larry Keltz Named Substance Abuse Counselor

NOTE: This article was taken from the Plainview Daily Herald. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Keltz of Matador and is a graduate of Matador High School.

Former Plainview policeman Larry Keltz has signed on as Counselor for Substance Abuse for the Plainview Independent School District, following approval of the school board.

A native of Matador, Keltz was a licensed mortician and practiced in the Dallas area for eight years before moving to Plainview and enrolling at Wayland in 1974. He earned his bachelor's degree from Wayland in 1976 and a master's in counseling from West Texas in 1986.

During his 10-year stint with the police department, which he left in 1987, Keltz developed and was in charge of the Juvenile Division in addition to many other duties involving both adult and juvenile cases. He left with the rank of sergeant/detective.

Keltz will be no stranger to the students in the Plainview ISD as he gave 480 programs during the 10 years he was with the police department. It was not unusual for him to rotate through the classrooms during a school day so that he covered an entire school.

Keltz said, "It's like coming home. I already know the principals, the layout of the buildings, some of the teachers, and the kids are the same everywhere."

Keltz spent some time with a private rehabilitation center based in Lubbock and with the local MHMR where he was responsible for remodeling and establishing the Allen Treatment Center in the old Nichols Hospital.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
 Michael A. Guido Metter, Georgia

A college president said to a coach, "I like you!"
 "Would you like me as much if we didn't win?" he wondered.
 "Yes," said the president, "but I'd miss having you around."

Everyone wants results, even the Lord. He said, "By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit."

What's the fruit? The Bible answers, "goodness, righteousness and truth."

A person may be correct, but not kind. He may reverence God, but not respect man. He may hear the truth, but not heed it.

But the fruit-bearing Christian is sweet as well as saved. He honors God and helps man. He knows the truth and he does it.

Are you a fruit-bearing Christian?

REDUCING THE WASTE STREAM: WHAT CAN YOU DO?
 Reducing the waste stream is the most significant of all the options to manage waste. If we never generate the waste, then we never have to devise ways to dispose of it.

To reduce the waste we produce usually means lifestyle changes. Reduce the amount you buy in the first place. Purchase only the amount you need. We can also reduce the waste we generate by becoming better environmental shoppers.

What can you do? You can start by analyzing what you throw away at home. Each person adds to the waste management problem. If each household reduces its waste, the problem will be reduced.

Think about the goods, services and activities you buy or support. In what ways do they contribute to the solid waste problem? How could you purchase and dispose of items in ways that generate less trash? What can you do to voice your opinion about solid waste issues in your community? For example, consider:

- * Buying goods in returnable and recyclable containers.
- * Requesting larger quantities and sizes of products by introducing a bulk buying selection for grains, pasta, and other dry goods.
- * Ask manufacturers to consider these areas when designing packaging:

Deadline Nears for SBA Disaster Loan Assistance

A Presidential disaster declaration was made in May 1990 for Texas as a result of damages from severe storms, flooding and tornadoes which occurred from April 15 through June 4, 1990. Walter Fronstin, district director for the Lubbock office of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), said today that the filing deadline for economic injury disaster loan (EIDL) applications is February 4, 1991.

Fronstin said that eligible small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives in numerous Texas counties, as well as several adjacent counties in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, are covered by the declaration. The businesses must have sustained substantial financial losses from the effect of the severe storms, flooding and tornadoes. Fronstin said, "The loans do not cover physical losses, and farmers and ranchers are not eligible to apply for the EIDL loans. This program is available only to businesses that are considered small by SBA's size standards and do not have credit available elsewhere."

Counties and parishes which were declared for the EIDL assistance are shown on the attached list. Eligible businesses seeking loan information and application forms may call SBA, toll-free, at 1-800-527-7735.

Teacher Learns A Lesson

Mrs. Morris "Sis" Stephens warns people to stay in their car if they get stranded in a snow storm and extreme cold temperature.

A week ago, Wednesday night, after getting her hair fixed in Flomot, she was driving home in a blinding snowstorm. She made a sharp right-hand turn off 2009 to the road leading to their house. The car skidded and stopped. She thought she was in the bar ditch, with her car blocking the driveway road. She left the parking lights on and began the 2 block walk to the house, without a flashlight. Instead of walking west, she must have been on the shoulder of the farm to market road, heading northeast. When she felt a difference in the road texture she knew she was in a cotton field, but the umbrella that was protecting her also cut off what little she could see. When she realized how disoriented she was she tried to go back to her car to get warm.

In the meantime Morris had received a call from Carolyn Ewing, who had left the beauty shop after Sis and spotted her car beside the road. He immediately took off looking for her, moved her car and shut off the lights. Now she was totally lost. The one time she saw lights as Morris was on the way back from Highway 70, she ran towards the lights and lost her shoes. In fumbling around for the shoes she turned completely around again and realized she was hyperventilating and unable to make her legs work. After struggling to get on her feet and stand up, all lights were gone and she knew she must keep moving. When she ran into a barbed wire fence on the northside of the Bennie Keltz field, she followed it until she saw the lights of Rocky Vinson's house. LaVelle took her in, made phone calls, stopped the bleeding of her hands and feet and restored the circulation. After over an hour of walking 1 1/2 miles by road and twice that much in the cotton fields, Sis feels her guardian angel did overtime and earned his wings. Staying in the car would have saved scare, wear and tear on everyone.

Amy's Anecdotes

by Amy Woolsey

Do we take ourselves too seriously? While we worry about our everyday "crisis" do we take the time to maybe help someone with their "crisis".

Do you know someone who is dealing with the fatal illness of a loved one? Do you know someone who is hungry because they don't have enough money to afford food? Do you know someone who is lonely, frustrated or scared?

There are ways we could help. We can always visit the lonely ones. Smile at the ones who need a little sunshine, listen to the ones who want to talk, and give a helping hand when someone needs it. For the ones who really need it, a prayer would do.

And if you just want to make someone know that they are loved, try saying those three words, "I Love You". It will always make them feel a lot better.

Take time to think of how other people's lives are going when your's isn't going so great!

Maybe you'll see that their's isn't any better than your's.

Preparing for the Drug Years Program to be Presented at School

"Preparing for the Drug Years", a program for parents, will be presented by Dick and Sharon Van Hoose, February 21, beginning with a seminar for parents of children in the fifth grade.

This will be a 5-week course to help teach parents to identify the risk factors associated with teenage drug abuse and to practice skills which will promote family bonding and reduce those risks.

This program was developed by Doctors J. David Hawkins and Richard F. Catalano of the University of Washington. In a review of research conducted over the past thirty years, Catalano and Hawkins have identified eleven factors that increase the risk of young people developing problems with alcohol or other drugs. These risk factors include:

- A family history of alcoholism
- Family management problems
- Parental drug use or positive parental attitudes toward use
- Early antisocial behavior
- Academic failure

- A low degree of commitment to school
- A low degree of social bonding
- Antisocial behavior in early adolescence
- Friends who use drugs
- Favorable attitudes toward drug use
- Early first use of drugs.

"Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" teaches parents to reduce five of these risk factors which may often be present during the late elementary and middle school grades. The risk factors addressed in this program are positive parental attitudes toward drug use, family management problems, low degree of social bonding, friends who use drugs and early first use of drugs.

There will be no cost to parents attending the workshops. Childcare is available at no charge.

For more information, please call Dick VanHoose, 347-2676.

Arrival Announced

The birth of a "Grand Baby"

Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Martin, both former Matador residents, are announcing the birth of their first grandchild. The Martin's son Gary and his wife Stephanie, who was reared in an orphanage, had tried without success to adopt a baby in the Dallas area where they live. Hearing of the plight of the Romanian orphans, they inquired into the possibility of adoption there. Along with about twenty other couples, they went through months of meetings, home studies, and government and FBI checks before Stephanie quit her job and left with the other prospective parents November 5, 1990 for Bucharest.

It was a difficult and emotional time for all the family. Stephanie was able to call home only twice, as all the phones were in Bucharest, and she was out in one of the provinces. Within a week, she had chosen 3 children, but was allowed only one. She took the one whose name came up first, a healthy brown-eyed boy, and faxed a message to Gary on 19 November 1990. The adoption went through on Thanksgiving Day, and by December 6, all tests were complete. She flew home the following day with their son. Of course Grandma Virginia and Grandpa Smoky went immediately to meet their first "Grand Baby".

Garrett's birth mother had taken him to the orphanage when he was six weeks old and never returned for him. He was born May 7, 1990 and had lived in the crib until Stephanie lifted him out. He had only the strength of a newborn baby, but within two weeks with all the TLC (tender loving care) he received, he was able to sit alone. Some who went to get a baby came back without due to the emotional stress involved. Praises to the Lord rang out sincerely throughout the Christmas Holidays in the large and happy families that Garrett immediately adopted.

Little Promises

Like most people, I normally mark the beginning of a new year with a series of resolutions for the coming months — to do better, be kinder, work harder.

But these little promises usually last anywhere from 20 minutes to a week or so. I cannot remember even one of the resolutions I made at the beginning of 1990. And yet, it has been a year of growth and learning in our family. To wit:

Julie, 10, has learned, with my help, to return milk cartons, juice containers and other such items to the refrigerator when she is finished with them. The trouble is, most of the containers she returns are empty. I believe she has learned this from her father.

Emily, 3, has learned several new expressions. Her current favorite is "Oooh, gross!" which, with encouragement from her sister, she uses each evening when I put dinner on the table.

My husband, Jim, learned to fly kites this year, an activity he finds much more uplifting than mowing grass or cleaning gutters. I am about to learn him different.

The family dog, Abby, has learned to open doors, specifically the door to our bedroom. She also has decided that our bed is the most comfortable spot in the house — especially when we're in it, too.

The whole family learned much about bug infestations. For example, we learned that termites usually swarm on warm spring days. Then, we learned they also can swarm on warm fall days — even after the local pest-control people supposedly have obliterated them.

Julie took gymnastics and learned to do strange contortions called "round-offs" and "back walk-overs" on the balance beam. Jim and I learned from a smiling repairman that we need more support beams under the house.

We learned that all roofers have something in common: They are expensive. As a result, Jim must now learn how to make his '76 "Bicentennial Chevy" last one more year.

Emily learned to clear the dinner table. I learned that our stoneware pattern is no longer made.

Julie has learned that if she leans casually against her closet door, I will sometimes "forget" to open it when I inspect her room. She has not yet figured out that I'm really too scared to open it. I don't want to know what devastation lurks therein.

But, in the middle of all this, we also learned to love and respect each other a little more. I can hardly wait for next year. lol

Lee Harris Named Resident of the Month at Crosbyton Care Center

Lee Harris

Lee Harris was chosen by the Crosbyton Care Center Staff as resident of the month for January. He was born May 4, 1903 in Pittsburg, Texas. He was a farmer and a member of the Baptist Church. His hobbies include baseball and fishing. He loves being with people and was active in church work, where he was a Deacon and sang in the Choir. Mr.

Harris moved to Matador, Texas in 1925. He has three daughters and two sons, Algarce Jones of Matador, Estelle James of San Antonio, Shirley Hughes of Denver, Colorado, Charles Harris and Lorenzo Harris, both of Lubbock, and a number of grandchildren and great and great-great grandchildren.

Senior Citizens Report

by Nora Belle Dunning

The Matador Senior Citizens met on Tuesday, January 22 for their regular luncheon with 27 members. The meeting was called to order by Ruth Baker, President. We had no birthdays or anniversaries. Ruby Thompson gave the treasurers report and read the minutes. They were approved as read. Take-out lunches were taken to Dee, Katie, and Mrs. Aulick. Due to the ice and rain the mini-bus has had to cancel the trips to Lubbock and Plainview several times, so the people with Doctors appointments had to be canceled also. Be patient, our bus driver will always go when SPAG will let her. They are canceling the trips for your own best interest. Someone could fall on the ice and injure themselves for life. Mary Ann tries to do all she can to help you. The bus goes on Monday to Lubbock for Dr. appointments, on Tuesday Roaring Springs goes to Plainview, Wednesday, Roaring Springs goes to Crosbyton, on Thursday Matador goes to Plainview and on Friday, Flomot goes to Plainview. Call your local helper to let them know you need to go.

We'll all be glad when the weather clears up so we can get out and enjoy ourselves.

HEALTH NEWS

A HEALTHY HEART STARTS AT CHILDHOOD

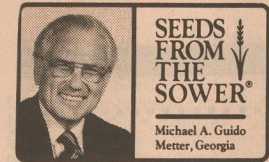

Physicians are finding that many risk factors which contribute to heart disease have their beginnings in childhood. In fact, what infants and children eat may influence their chance of developing atherosclerosis, which may lead to heart disease in adulthood.

While diet does play a major role in reducing heart disease, according to Cindy Rowell, R.D., outpatient dietitian at Methodist Hospital, low-fat diets should not be applied to children younger than age 2.

"Some parents concerned about obesity have over-restricted fat and calories in their very young children, and growth problems can occur as a result," Rowell said. "However, a moderate reduction in saturated fat and cholesterol may have beneficial health effects in children older than age 2."

Disease prevention should begin in childhood because lifestyle patterns are developed in childhood. Rowell offers these suggestions to help you feed your child healthful foods:

Last week a deacon took me to meet his young pastor. As we approached the study we heard some yelling. "What's that?" I asked.

"Oh," he said, "the young fellow's committing to memory what he'll commit to his members."

You're wise to commit to your memory and manners a belief that bolsters you, a calling that challenges you, a love that lifts you.

Remember this: A God worth worshipping is a God worth working for. A Bible worth believing is a Bible worth broadcasting. A creed worth professing is a creed worth practicing.

It's not more clever Christians we need, but more committed Christians; for the deeper your commitment, the higher your achievement.

milk and milk products; fruits and vegetables; meat, poultry, fish and beans; and bread and cereals.

* Plan nutritious meals by following guidelines for a given number of servings from each food group rather than determining the calorie or vitamin content of a meal. For meats, fruits, vegetables and cooked cereals, a child's single serving is defined as one tablespoon for each year of age. Modify this amount based on your child's size for his age and physical activity.

* Children seem to prefer vegetables that are slightly undercooked and crunchy, bright in color, served separately and easy to eat.

* When introducing new foods, offer them one at a time and only in small amounts at first. Children also like "finger foods" or foods that have different shapes.

Parents worried about an adequate diet and frustrated with their child's seemingly irrational food behavior can take comfort in knowing this behavior won't last forever. Parents can still determine what foods are offered to their children and can set limits on inappropriate behavior.

Texas Senate Week In Review

AUSTIN -- On Tuesday, January 22, the Senate Nominations Committee met to expedite Governor Richards' first education-related appointment. Dr. Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont was chosen as Chair of the State Board of Education. The Senate convened at 11:00 a.m. and confirmed Dr. Crawford's appointment unanimously. Within a few hours, the Texas Supreme Court declared the public school finance system unconstitutional. The Supreme Court voted 9-0 against the state's funding system, passed by the Legislature early in 1990.

With budget problems at hand, the Senate convened Wednesday at 11:00 a.m. Senator John Montford of Lubbock, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, introduced Senate Bill III, which will try to remedy the state's cash shortage and to provide the state with the most extensive analysis of state spending ever undertaken. This bill will reform the state's budget process by creating two boards, the Performance Audit Panel, which will consist of 80-90 auditors from state government and the private sector who will examine every state agency in detail, and the State Budget Policy Committee, consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House, who will review the findings of the Performance Audit Panel. In addition to these panels, it also provides for a state spending freeze on hirings, equipment purchases, consultants and leases. This bill has been endorsed by Lieutenant Governor Bob Bullock.

No one at 35-year-old Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, remembers when the producers' need for an accurate cotton acreage estimate was greater than the need at the beginning of 1991.

"Nor," adds PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "can we remember entering a crop year when such an estimate was more difficult to make."

It's ironic, Johnson says, that the triple base plan in the 1991 cotton program that demands of producers a heavier reliance on market prices, at the same time offers unprecedented producer options that make prospective acreage and its effect on prices less predictable.

In the past PCG has gotten fairly reliable (expecting drought years) planted acreage indications for its 25 counties simply by adjusting the area's maximum permitted program acres by a percentage based on historical average of under-enrollment and underplanting.

But, for 1991, Johnson points out, with producers having the option to "flex" hundreds of thousands of acres from one program crop to another, and wish no past records by which to judge how they may respond to that option, such simple calculations are useful only as a means to a starting point.

To illustrate the magnitude of possible variations from that starting point, PCG notes that 1991 non-cotton base acreage in its territory will total about 2.4 million, 15 percent of 360,000 of which could be moved into cotton without sacrificing deficiency payments on any crop, and another 10 percent that could be "flexed" by giving up an equal percentage of payment-eligible acres of other crops.

So how much of this 600,000-acre total of flexible wheat and feed grain acres will actually wind up in cotton?

"It's impossible to name a specific figure," Johnson says, "but after talking to many producers in the area we're of the opinion that flexible acres moving to cotton on the Plains may be considerably less than some people are thinking."

In addition to normal differences of opinion about "the best way to go," almost every producer has a different set of circumstances that effect his ability or lack of ability to expand cotton acreage, Johnson finds. Some, he continues, have problems financing more cotton without the protection of deficiency payments; some just don't think it wise in an uncertain market to grow any crop on acres not eligible for payments; some have problems with adding cotton acres because of conservation compliance and other crop rotation plans, and some are reluctant to switch from skip-row to solid planting to make room for more cotton.

Too many people not familiar with our area are expecting large transfers to cotton in dryland acres where cotton is the only viable crop, Johnson fears. He points out two reasons why that won't happen. First, the 14 PCG counties with predominantly dryland production have less than 500,000 or only 20 percent of the area's non-cotton bases. And second, those are the same counties where conservation compliance requirements are most restrictive.

None of this is to say PCG doesn't expect an increase in cotton acreage this year, Johnson emphasizes, noting that the 7.5 percent reduction in the set-aside or ARP requirement alone will raise the area's permitted acres by about 270,000. "And it's probably a safe bet to assume that some additional acreage will be flexed from wheat and feed grain bases to cotton. But we haven't found the crystal ball that can tell us how many of those acres there'll be."

On the national scene, two beltwide planted acreage estimates will be out early next month, both based on producer surveys. The first will come February 8 at the Producer Steering Committee meeting in Los Angeles when the National Cotton Council releases the results of its annual January survey. Then on the following Monday, February 11, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will announce its "special" planting intentions estimate.

A look at the record shows NCC January estimates a little closer to the year's final planted acreage than USDA's regular March planting intentions report in five of the last nine years. And, accuracy aside, this year's NCC figures should be more useful in making production and market price judgements. NCC survey results will be broken down by states and regions and will separate upland and extra long staple acreage, whereas USDA's estimate will reflect only a single total for all U.S. cotton.

Better Business Bureau Warns of Operation Desert Storm Scams

Lubbock, TX -- The conflict in the Persian Gulf has received attention all over the world and it brings up emotions in us that such an event naturally causes. One of the strongest emotions is the desire to help our service men and women either through prayers, letters, donating blood, sending care packages or contributions of monies to various organizations that say they are helping.

There are those solicitors that have good intentions about helping our soldiers, but are not versed in the local ordinance for charitable solicitations or are poorly organized and managed. And, unfortunately, there are those solicitors that are opportunists taking advantage of well-intentioned contributors while trying to make a buck.

Your Better Business Bureau is bracing for the onslaught of new and innovative charitable solicitations. Our advice to you is to CHECK IT OUT FIRST. Remember, if the organization needs your help today, they'll need it just the same tomorrow. don't be pressured into giving 'right now'. Also, you might wish to check with a group you have given to before to see if they have any new programs to help our soldiers during Operation Desert Storm. Your church may also have some new programs.

Be alert for products being sold in the name of an organization. Call your Better Business Bureau and/or the organization to make sure they are aware of their name being used in a solicitation campaign.

Your BBB is one of your best sources of information. Call 763-0459 and ask about anyone seeking contributions to aid our troops in Operation Desert Storm.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

WHAT YOUR TAXES BUY

If you're like most people, you think of retirement when you think of Social Security. But, Social Security is much more than just retirement benefits.

Social Security is a package of protection. In addition to retirement benefits, there's also survivor and disability insurance benefits. It protects you and your family while you work and after you retire. Social Security doesn't replace all of your income from work, which stops or is reduced because of your retirement, disability, or death. But, it's a base you can build on, now and in the future, with other insurance and investments.

Part of your Social Security taxes also pays for Medicare hospital insurance, which pays a good part of the cost of hospital care for people 65 and over and certain disabled people.

If you become severely disabled and can't work for a year or longer, you may get disability benefits. The average monthly benefit for a worker who becomes disabled in 1990 is about $570.

The exact amount of your benefits would depend on your age and your earnings over the past years. Your spouse and children may also get benefits if you become disabled.

Your family could collect monthly survivor benefits if you should die. The average survivor benefit for a family of three or more is $1,173 in 1990.

Social Security will provide a steady monthly income to you and your family when you retire. Although full rate benefits are currently payable at 65, you can get reduced benefits as early as 62.

In the future, Social Security benefits will continue to increase. Once you become eligible for benefits, they will increase each year with the cost of living.

If you want more information about benefits available from Social Security, just call our toll-free telephone number, 1-800-234-SSA (1-800-234-5772). You and talk to a representative 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays. You'll get the best service if you call early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

PREDICTA STUDY CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The Roaring Springs Predicta Study Club met at the Depot January 17, 1991 with President Pam Thacker presiding. Mrs. J.M. Thacker gave, as the devotional, excerpts from President Bush speech on Wednesday night. Department heads were versed on getting their reports in before February 1st.

President Thacker said that she would be unable to attend the meeting at Matador for the Centennial planning and asked for anyone who could to attend.

Frances Walters, City Secretary, brought the program on "City News". She gave reports on the city tax rolls brought up to date so that the city could be on the Accrual method, rather than a cash method. A grant was obtained in the amount of $5,000.00 to repair housing for an elderly person of the city.

She reported that Joe Bruce King had enough money left over from contributions that he had collected for the Frank Mitchell marker to buy and have engraved a granite marker to honor the people who worked for seven years to get the grant for the new water lines. This marker will be placed in the park facing second street and will be landscaped around it.

The City has been given permission by the Texas Highway Department to cultivate and plant flowers in the triangle South of town on Hwy. 70 and Farm Rd. 684.

The Forestry Department, who donated the trucks to the Roaring Springs Fire Department, asked to take pictures for publicity for their donation.

Meeting was closed and refreshments were served by Darlene Fletcher and Gerri Hughes. The table was decorated with a basket centerpiece made up of American flags and white doves representing peace.

Those attending were Mesdames Ossia Lee Brown, L.V. Dameron, J.N. Fletcher, Sinclair Hughes, Betty Kemp, Rodney Long, Jackie Martin, Ruby Myles, Bill Peacock, J.M. Thacker, Jeff Thacker, Miss Freda Keahey and Miss Lula Swim.

Among those visiting in the Eugene Watson home weekend before last were his brother, C.E. (Sailor) Watson of Houston and their son, Larry of Dallas.

Mayor Watson was returned to Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Thursday of last week. Mrs. Watson and her sister, "Pete" Ozbom, also returned to Plainview.

GUILD MEETS IN READ HOME

The Methodist Guild met in the Truitt Read home in Matador Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. Read (Chelsea) was hostess and opened the meeting of which she was in charge, with prayer. Lee Peacock gave the Devotional for which she used poems, "Youth" by Samuel Ullman and "The Laddie Is Off to the Colors" by W.H. Herschell. Mrs. Read presented the study, "A Song of Hope". Mrs. Billie Clifton said the closing prayer.

Those in attendance were the hostess, Billie Clifton, Freda Keahey, Mary Lumsden, Lee Peacock, Imogene and Lula Swim, and Grace Zabielski.

Mrs. Odessa Mullins who has been in attendance upon her sister, Billy Odell, in University Medical Center, Lubbock, was home Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B.L. Peacock and their son, Mike, were guests at Saturday night's dinner meeting of the West Texas Scottish Heritage Society in the Lubbock Club Hall in the First National Bank Building at Lubbock. The dinner honored Robert Burns, Scottish poet whose poems, "The Cotter's Saturday Night" was read in both English and Scottish. Also accompanying videos were shown. Bagpipe music was featured, the musicians in kilts of Scottish plaids.

Mrs. Minnie Dye had a birthday Sunday, not her 39th, and her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie McNutt and Ben of Spade came for lunch with her, with Mrs. McNutt preparing enchiladas, her specialty. She had telephone calls and gifts from her four sons and her sisters as well.

Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Swim left Sunday morning for Austin where he will take the required number of hours training in Justice of Peace Procedure, having recently taken office in that capacity for this precinct. The required meetings will end Friday at noon, and they will drive to Abilene Friday afternoon and spend Friday night there with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Swim, Edward and Emily.

At newstime the serious condition of Mayor Eugene Watson in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview and Mrs. Billie Odell, sister of Odessa Mullins, in University Medical Center, Lubbock, remained unchanged.

Revelation or Mystery?

The Bible is revelation, not a mystery. Mankind's failure to properly understand the Bible and to therefore obey its precepts is not due to God's carelessness. The problem rests with us and our willingness whether to accept or reject that upon which our salvation depends.

One way which leads to understanding is to get into the life of Jesus. I mean by that read and study the Gospels in the New Testament. If we are to do what Jesus did, we need to find out how He did it. We need to find how He felt, acted, reacted and taught. We need to feel His compassion and see through His eyes. Our emphasis should not just be a study of His life, but also of His walk through life. Let me suggest reading the Gospel according to Luke as a starting point.

Faith and spiritual growth are a result of knowing the Lord through His Word and applying the principles of that Word in our lives daily.

The Bible is God's revelation to all mankind. Therefore, it was intended that it be understood, else it would not be revelation.
