PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A native son of the Foothill Country, who has watched the coming and going of many springs, is waiting for return of the scissor-tail birds to announce the end of winter. He says the birds never return before the last frost. Birds and animals have an extra sense of intelligence that man does not possess.

Decay generally escapes notice because it is silent, like a pond that fills from a secret spring. It never accounts to time, and employs the services of rot, rust and insects to accomplish its work.

We were standing under the wild walnut tree and the old man pointed to the sink in the earth that had once been a dugout. The man's beard and mustache were white and his face was tanned with the winds and sun of many years. He had built the dugout and covered it with cottonwood logs and dirt. It was the home for his bride who came with him to the pioneer claim. Grass-covered soil filled the depression, littered by a few rocks and a few rusting cans. We walked back to the walnut tree and he pointed to the initials he had cut in the bark many years ago. He rubbed his hand over the scars and a mist came to his old eyes.

Some government agency should be provided to keep the wolf from the door if the prices of food continue to advance. It will not be easy to show away an animal that is unable to understand the mistakes of political parties.

My mother never knew any kind of a washing machine that did not employ the use of a galvanized tub and a rub board. She never knew about the many detergent soaps and powders that simplify the chore of laundry. It is, perhaps better, because she still would have tried to shave up chunks of home-made lye soap.

Much of courage must be attributed to doing what is logical at the time. Perhaps the evaluation of duty is an individual concept which is not associated with bravery as much as it is with chances of survival.

If the conversation is boring, chances are that someone likes to hear the sound of his or her voice.

Amateur Hour Hampered By Sudden Rain

Talent abounded in the Amateur Hour staged Friday night by Motley County school students, but a sudden down-pour about the starting time hampered the arrival of the participants and audience.

At the conclusion of an entertaining evening, Karl Pallmeyer was named winner in the first division of elementary children, with his pantomime presentation of "Killer Joe." This was part of a number given by Matador 3rd grade.

Second division winner was the 6th grade class, presenting as a choral group, "Me and Jesus."

Nancy Higginbotham was named winner in the third division, with her vocal solo arrangement of "You Never Walk Alone."

All grades of the Roaring Springs, Flomot and Matador schools were represented in skits, readings and musical numbers.

The Amateur Hour is a feature presented annually during Texas Public Schools Week.

Tech Honors Top Students

Top students at Texas Tech University were honored Sunday at the 27th Recognition Convocation, and included Timothy E. Green, who received academic honors in Graduate School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Green of Matador.

Greg Wimmer, president of the Texas Tech Student Association addressed the assembly, defining the functions of today's university.

While working on his doctorate at Tech, Green is also a faculty member, teaching freshman English. His wife, the former Carol King, is a biology teacher at Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Green and daughter, Patsy, attended the honor services, which were held at 2 p.m. in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Students receiving Academic Honors in the Graduate School have achieved a 4.0 grade point average for both the Spring and Fall semesters of 1972 with an enrollment of nine or more hours each semester.

Students receiving Academic Recognition were also listed and included Bill S. Barnhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Barnhill, in the list of Business Administration freshmen. Interest Is High in Livestock Exhibit

"Monsoon" Rainfall Sets March Record

A SANDSTORM Tuesday preceded by 10-inch of rain followed the pattern of unusual weather. The normal average moisture for March is .75-inch. Bob Stanley who has a hobby of recording the weather, has registered a total of 2.73 inches of moisture so far in the month. Mr. Stanley has recorded a total of 5.46 inches to date in 1973. The average for January is .67-inch and the average for February is .62-inch.

Unhappy about the precipitation situation are cotton farmers, many of whom have a lot of the 1972 cotton crop still in the fields, simply because it is too wet to harvest. Estimates are that in the neighborhood of 20 per cent of the crop is still on the stalks.

Weevil Control Meeting Slated

A meeting of interest to farmers in the Afton-Roaring Springs and Dickens-McAdoo areas will be held at the Patton Springs School, Afton, Thursday, March 22, at 7:30 p.m. according to Harry Campbell, Dickens County Extension Agent.

INTEREST is high in the 33rd Annual Motley County Junior Livestock Show scheduled Saturday at the school agriculture building.

County Agent Bill Pallmeyer said yesterday that he expects 15 steers to be exhibited, including Herefords, cross-breeds, Angus and Charolais. He said he expects approximately 45 hogs to be exhibited in the swine division. Motley County is keeping its reputation as a strictly cattle country. No sheep will be shown. It is possible that 12 rabbits will be shown.

Mr. Pallmeyer said he could not predict the number of heifers that will be shown in the heifer contest, because the number is uncertain until the day of the show. The judging of heifers starts at 1:30 p.m.

All animals entered in the show must be in place by 9 a.m. with steers and market hogs weighed and tagged.

Billy Roach, Scurry County Agent will again judge the beef classes.

Milton Mann Vo-Ag instructor, Clarendon is scheduled to again judge the swine classes, Jerry Shelton, Vo-Ag instructor, Patton Springs, will again judge rabbits and showmanship.

J. C. Cross of Matador will serve as announcer and Ken Bozeman of Lubbock will serve as auctioneer.

Visitors are reminded of the annual election of three new directors to Motley County Livestock Association, sponsors of the show. Ronald Clay of Flomot, is President.

A meeting of directors will be held Tuesday night at El Matador Restaurant of the livestock association. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the evening (March 20).

Tribune Reaches 39th Anniversary

Yesterday was the 39th anniversary of the Matador Tribune. Howard Hamilton and Douglas Meador purchased the Motley County News from the late Grover Mitchell on March 14, 1934 and consolidated the publication with the Matador Tribune.

The Tribune was established a few months earlier when the Roaring Springs News was moved here late in December, 1933, and the mailing permit changed to the Tribune.

Hamilton became a partner in the Tribune Publishing Company about the 15th of January in 1934. Meador purchased Hamilton's interest in the business in April 1935.

The first Tribune printed in Matador was in the old Kansler Building which was just east of the present City Barber Shop. It was a wooden building and the property of the late J. K. Crews.

CAR REGISTRATION IS ABOUT ONE HALF

With only about two weeks to go, registration is approximately one-half the expected total, according to the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector Jinks Wilson.

Tuesday afternoon, 355 sets of new tags had been sold, and pickup owners had purchased 211 sets. Last year's total car registration in the county was 675.

Vehicle owners are reminded that the deadline is rapidly approaching.

It was later moved away.

After the purchase of the former Motley County News, Hamilton and Meador moved to the Masonic Building where the newspaper was published for 19 years.

Meador became editor of the Roaring Springs News (owned by M. S. Thacker) in 1932 and is in his 41st year as newspaper publisher in the county.

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John gave a rather detailed account of the Lord's appearance on the human stage. They presented Him as teacher, Son of God, man, master of miracles, and King of Kings. While on earth the Lord laid the groundwork for His kingdom which was "at hand."

Only a short time before Christ returned to heaven, He gave this promise to the Twelve. "These things I have spoken to you, while abiding with you. But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said to you." John 14:25-26. And "I have many more things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. But when He, the Spirit of truth, comes, He will guide you into all truth;..." John 16:12-13.

The Holy Spirit did come; the Holy Spirit did guide the Apostles into ALL truth. Luke records this promise as history in the book Acts of Apostles. Also, in this book, Luke tells how the Apostles launched the Lord's kingdom into the doctrine and activities necessary to save men from their sins.

"It is impossible to rightly govern the world without God and the Bible." George Washington.

Survey Shows Wide Gap In Price Of Beef

THE price of beef is of grave concern to the people of this country today, and many believe the rancher or cattle raiser is making a great profit. Here is an extensive survey over a 22-year period, and shows that the price advance is after the beef leaves the producer and before it reaches the consumer.

By Bill Pallemeyer
Motley County
Extension Agent

We all know that beef prices have risen the last year or so, as proven by the price we pay for beef. Many point the finger of guilt towards the rancher, but is this the right direction?

Let's compare prices. From 1951 to 1952 the producer received 9.4 percent less for his animals, while the consumer paid the retailer 6.1 percent more for sirloin steak; the same for round steak; and 9.5 percent more for T-bone. From 1952 to 1953 the producer received 32.4 percent less for his animals while the price for sirloin went down only 19.1 percent; round went down 15.2 percent; and T-bone went down only 26.1 percent. From 1953 to 1972 the ranchers price went up 47.8 percent, while the price for sirloin went up 110.6 percent. From 1972 to 1973 the rancher received an increase of 24.3 percent, while the price of steak remained the same.

Taking a 22 year period into consideration, the rancher's increase was 12.7 percent while the increase in the price of meat at the food store was 80.8 percent. Does this indicate that the producer is the one who is getting rich because of higher steak prices?

These figures were taken from a daily Texas newspaper, and should help point the finger of guilt in the right direction. On Feb. 12, 1951 the best steers sold for $37.50 per 100 lbs., with most selling for $31. - $35. In a food store ad on Feb. 16, 1951, sirloin was listed for 99c per lb.; round for $1.05; and T-bone for $1.05.

A year later on Feb. 11, 1952, the best steers sold for $34.00, with most sales $27. - $32. In the same food store ad on Feb. 15, 1952, sirloin was listed at $1.05; round at $1.05; and T-bone at $1.15.

On Feb. 9, 1953 the best steers sold for $23., with the most selling for $18. - $23. Again using the same food store ad on Feb. 13, 1953, sirloin was listed for 85c; round for 85c; and T-bone for 89c.

Looking at the last two years, in 1972 no slaughter steers were listed in Feb., but on Jan. 20, 1972 the best steers sold for $34., with most selling for $31.50 - $33.50. Again using the same food store ad on Feb. 11, 1972, sirloin was listed for $1.79. Round and T-bone were not listed.

In 1973 the following was noted. On Feb. 8, 1973 the best steers sold for $42.25, with the most selling for $40.25 - $42.00. On Feb. 16, 1973 the same food store listed sirloin for $1.79; round for $1.79 and T-bone not listed.

After looking at these figures each wage earner should also look back and see what they were making in 1951. Compare this with what they are making in 1973 and see how the 12.7 percent increase in the price the beef producer has received over a period of 22 years stacks up. 0.577 percent increase per year is what the producer has received, and as shown previously, some of these years included a decrease in prices received.

Not reflected in this "gigantic" increase for the producer are the increases the producer had to absorb. Wages, feed prices, taxes and equipment costs all are higher and when these increases are deducted the only avenue that allows the producer to net as much as in 1951 is increased efficiency.

These prices are not average, they are real. If a producer sells his steers for an "average price" he knows that many sold their animals at a higher price than he received. On the other hand, if the consumer pays an "average price" for steak, they know many bought steak for a cheaper price. Actually there is no "average price". For example, if your first shot at a duck is six inches in front of the duck and your second shot is six inches behind the duck, by "average" you hit the duck. Try this kind of shooting and see how many ducks fall to the ground.

These prices are available for anyone to check who will take the time to look through some old newspapers. Prices will vary in different towns, but the same story will be told. Relative to who is responsible for today's

SALE OF MEDALS TO FINANCE TEXAS RANGER HALL OF FAME

AUSTIN (Special) - The 150th birthday of the Texas Rangers will culminate in dedication of the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame in the autumn of 1973 at Waco. Governors from throughout the United States and foreign dignitaries will be present for the occasion, according to Clint Peoples, Senior Ranger Captain and chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Ranger Commemorative Commission.

The Commission was created by the Texas Legislature for the express purpose of ramrodding appropriate celebration of the occasion.

On Tuesday, February 20, banks throughout Texas were scheduled to begin selling the official commemorative medal which is available in either oxidized bronze or .999 fine silver.

Obverse of the medal bears the portrait of Ranger Captain Leander H. McNelly from the original painting by Joe Ruiz Grandee which hangs in the White House. The reverse shows the Lone Star of Texas as it appears on the seal of state.

Proceeds from the sale will fund operating costs of the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame.

Besides the two medals and a sterling silver commemorative plate produced by W.N.W. Mint Industries of Amarillo, Daisy Air Rifle, Winchester and Smith high prices, it's the same story of "whose dog is being kicked? Mine or yours?" Do we think it is right for our earnings to go up and for others earnings to go down or remain the same?

& Wesson will have special Texas Ranger weapons on sale. There will also be a special issue of Bowie knives and tomahawks.

Melvin Warren has already made a special anniversary casting of his classic "Rangers on Patrol", a bronze sculpture of two mounted Rangers with pack animal. Artist Jack White will have a limited edition of his four Texas Ranger Captain portraits in the original black and gold "echruseo", and a special edition of the ever popular Texas Ranger bronze statue "The Authority" is also scheduled for production.

Correction Made In Hog Classing

By Bill Pallemeyer
Weights for market hog classes were incorrectly stated in the stock show article printed in the Tribune issue Mar. 8th. In place of light market hogs (190-210 lbs.); medium market hogs (211-230); and heavy market hogs (231-250), the following will apply.

All market hogs will be weighed and divided into three equal number classes. No division of the same weight will be used to equalize classes, and in case this occurs, all animals of the same weight will be placed in the lighter class.

In the case of steers, if it is necessary to divide the same weight to equalize classes, steers of the same weight will

Quasars Among Mysteries In New Planetarium Show

LUBBOCK (Special)-- "Black Holes, Galaxies and Quasars" is the subject of a new show now at the Moody Planetarium in The Museum of Texas Tech University March 3.

The lecture demonstration will continue through April. Planetarium shows are at 3 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday. Adults are admitted for 50 cents, students for 25 cents and preschool children are not admitted.

The new topic is one which would buffalo Columbus and is even stranger for many Twentieth Century earthbound men, but the subject deals with astronomers' new discoveries about the universe.

"Ever since the 1960's the entire astronomical community has been reeling under the onslaught of one mind-boggling observation after another," the lecturer explains.

"By any reasonable standards, quasars simply should not exist," astronomers admit. However, they do exist. So do Black Holes, according to the scientists who haven't found any except through mathematical calculations. One reason this doesn't worry the astron-

Feb. 23, 1973
Board of School Trustees
Matador, Texas
Gentlemen:

Today is my 85th birthday. Back 62 years ago I was a member of your faculty. A Mr. Thompson was superintendent and a Mr. Graham was principal. I just wonder if even one of my fellow teachers is left, to wish you well.

I taught 18 years, altogether, but didn't go so far from home to teach after that year. I am a graduate of San Marcos and a Cum Laude graduate of the University of Texas.

Back then, Bryan was a town of 6000 people. Now it has 50,000. A&M enrolled about 400; now it enrolls over 15,000.

My only son, Col. F. D. Proctor, 46, has been Director of the Computer Processing Center in the Pentagon, Washington, D.C. for five years. My only daughter is nurse for the emergency room in a big hospital in Oregon.

Except for a crippling stroke 20 years ago, I am quite well, but now I am a life tenure patient here, as are about 100 others. It's natural for our minds to wander back to useful days.

A few lines to tell me about the growth of your school and the growth of your city would be greatly appreciated.

With continued good wishes, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. W. J. Proctor
(formerly Mrs. Bertha Turner)

Cates Named to 3 Committees

State Representative Phil Cates has been named to three committees important to his district by Speaker Price Daniel, Jr., in appointments which generally reflected a shift of influence from the rural areas of Texas to major cities, particularly in the Houston-Gulf Coast area.

Rep. Cates, generally regarded as a conservative, gained seats on the Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, Human Resources, and Natural Resources, despite appointments that reflected the liberal and urban influences of the house. Of the 21 chairmen appointed, 14 were from counties of over 100,000.

House committees have been reduced from 46 to 21, so each committee is more powerful and encompassing. For example, the Natural Resources committee now includes both oil and gas and water conservation, and Rep. Cates said he sought this position because of the importance of such resources to his area.

Cates said he was also pleased to be on Agriculture and Livestock and Human Resources committees, both of which he feels will handle bills of vital importance to this region.

"Re-apportionment in the last legislature shifted ter: of the 150 House seats from predominantly rural districts to the metropolitan areas, with five new seats going to Harris and three to Dallas. This inevitably will be felt in the make-up of committees and in the passage of legislation of greater concern and interest to the big-city delegations. Harris County has 24 seats now, and Dallas, 18, more than all of West Texas," Cates commented.

Medical Expense Prime Tax Error

Dallas, Texas -- Many taxpayers get smaller refunds -- or have to pay additional taxes -- because they make errors in reporting medical expenses, W. T. Copping, District Director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today.

To avoid errors in deducting medical expenses on 1972 returns, Mr. Copping advised taxpayers to read the Form 1040 instructions carefully before filing.

A common error taxpayers made in reporting medical expenses is in deducting medicine and drug expenses. Taxpayers can add these expenses to their other medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of adjusted gross income.

"Some taxpayers," Mr. Copping said, "try to deduct in full their drug costs in excess of one percent of their adjusted gross income instead of adding this excess to their other medical expenses, which are subject to a three percent limitation."

Another common error taxpayers made last year involved the medical insurance premium deduction. You can deduct one-half the cost of the premium paid for medical insurance, up to $150, without regard to the three percent of income limitation.

The Form 1040 instructions explain what is and is not deductible and also how the expenses should be reported.

Upstairs Neighbors

Madge had always been a restless sleeper. But matters went from bad to worse when a young couple with a baby moved into the apartment upstairs.

It seems the baby was teething. To keep her quiet at night, the parents would trundle her around their apartment in a baby carriage, causing sounds that were plainly audible to the wakened Madge.

Finally she went to court for an injunction. But at the hearing, the baby's father said there was no other way to keep the child from crying. Besides, he pointed out, their carriage had rubber wheels and their floor was carpeted.

The court thereupon tossed out Madge's complaint, saying that a moderate amount of noise must be accepted by those who choose to live in apartments.

"Where people indulge their inclination to be gregarious," said the judge, "they must not expect the quiet that belongs to solitude."

Courts generally take this hands-off attitude in disputes between apartment dwellers. Nevertheless, a court may well intervene if the noise gets out of hand.

In another case, an upstairs tenant—a do-it-yourself enthusiast—decided to install new parquet flooring. This time, when the tormented people downstairs went to court, the judge ordered the man to work on weekdays only, from nine to five, and to keep the noise and vibration to a minimum.

What role does the landlord play in these conflicts? Must he take action if the downstairs tenant asks for his help?

In most cases, the answer is no. Take this example: A downstairs tenant, disturbed by relentless piano playing from the apartment upstairs, asked the landlord to enforce a house rule against such conduct.

But the landlord refused to mix in—and his refusal was upheld in a court hearing. The judge said the rules in a lease are put in primarily for the landlord's benefit, to be enforced or not according to his discretion.

higher-heel shoes for men

Men's Shoes: High heels, platform soles and multi-colored leathers and synthetics are the biggest hits. The key to this newest fashion in footwear is the high heels, ranging from an inch-and-a-quarter to as much as five inches off the ground. The major reason for the emergence of these high-heeled shoes at this time is the acceptance of wide-bottom "baggy type" pants with cuffs by large numbers of male consumers. With such pants, high heels became a virtual necessity if the trouser legs are not to drag along the ground. In addition, men were being prepared for this fashion development in recent years by the emergence of boots with high heels as a standard footwear item.

It's a new Land Bank serving a new agriculture in new ways

Over the next ten years, agriculture will require a minimum of $60 billion in new financing to meet unprecedented changes and challenges. Because there is a Federal Land Bank — created to insure an abundance of capital at reasonable rates — you can have more confidence this need for credit will be met.

The Land Bank will continue to obtain loan funds in the nation's money markets on the very best terms it can. It will continue to make financing available to farmers and ranchers at reasonable cost. And with increased flexibility now permitted by the Farm Credit Act, it will help more people in more ways.

Today, more than ever, you should understand the operation of your Federal Land Bank. If you are not an Association member, let's get acquainted. If you are a member, let's get better acquainted. Let's work together... to build a secure place for you and your family in a viable, prosperous agriculture.
