76TH YEAR—No. 48

MATADOR, MOTLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, February 1, 1973 PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Snow was falling on the right of way where trains had rolled for four score years but no trains passed. The telegraph poles looked tired in the dismal light, perhaps more from the weight of years than the wires they held. A constant stream of cars moved rapidly on the four-lane highway that followed the railroad. It was ironic that rubber tired vehicles had made the steel giant obsolete. The change had become a part of history, from the days when curtained automobiles had followed muddy ruts near the rails. In other winter twilights, gleaming silver trains had roared past to their destinations, windows glowing with light and luxury and moving with the speed of the wind. Change is everywhere, as constant as the stars, burning its own bridges in its course, with flameless fires.

The trouble with having room to store things we do not use, is that in the course of years, we tend to repeat our purchases of useless items.

Religion is not a valid credit card assuring those who hold it entrance to paradise. It is merely a blanket admission to try to earn the privilege through conduct, words, deeds and thoughts through every waking hour.

Experience in making mistakes gives us the advantage of making them with more convenience and in such a manner that they are easier explained.

It is strange but some of the luckiest people I have ever known, have been willing to work long hours to achieve their aims in life.

Friends are people who allow you to saddle up flares of temperament and ride them into the calm canyons of consideration, and then back to the plains of congenial society.

Another problem with age is to determine the point where your conversation is interesting, comical, droll or ridiculous.

BOYS CAGE TEAM WINS OVER PATTON SPRINGS

By Lance Jameson
In the opening game in the second half of district play, the Matador Cagers bounced back to their aggressive ways Friday night by cruising past the Patton Springs visitors 83-59. Every loose basketball was within range of the quick Matadors and they had control of the rebounds. They kept turning up the heat as the game progressed, as the first three quarters of play show: 24-20, 42-26, 66-38.
In the final quarter the freshmen Matador Cagers entered the game and continued hitting the bucket for Matador. Scoring in the double figures for the Matadors were Gary Richardson and David Martin with 16 points each and Cledd Campbell with 12 points. McAdoo captured the first-half District 9B basketball title here on the home courts Tuesday night by defeating Matador 65-53, but the race isn't over until the final horn is blown.

Fems Topple
In the girls' action, with only seconds remaining, the Patton Springs Fems nipped the Matadoresses 31-29.
In the close varsity contest, the girls did some fast pacing and round ball exchanging from each end of the court with the half-time tied at 15-15.
The see-sawing continued in the third quarter with the Patton Springs lasses in the lead with a 23-21 score. The last stanza and the final buzz sounded before the Matadoresses had time for their turn at the basket with Patton Springs winning by a two point margin.
Marilee Martin fanned the nets with 17 points and Cinda Simpson added 10.
The McAdoo Fems grabbed the upper hand in the District 9B basketball race Tuesday night when they netted a 54-38 victory, giving the Matadoresses their first conference loss.

Kemper, established in 1844, is one of the pioneer educational institutions of the west. One of the original honor military schools, Kemper was re-designated by the Department of the Army as an Honor School for the 59th consecutive year in June, 1972.

THREE PEOPLE walked away from the crash of a private plane about ten miles northeast of Matador early Friday.

J. P. Jones, his wife and son Stanley, 21, all of College Station were uninjured when the plane "belly landed" in thick mesquite on the Reeves Ranch about 8:30 a.m.

Mr. Jones is an ASCS official and was enroute to Kress. Mrs. Jones is also a licensed pilot.

Mr. Jones started walking when he was sighted by Wes Hall, county trapper. He had walked only about one-fourth of a mile, when Mr. Hall picked him up and returned to the plane to get Mrs. Jones and their son.

Mr. Hall then brought them to Matador where Tom Wright, local ASCS office manager drove them to Kress.

Mr. Jones explained that he was flying west near the Turkey area when he encountered fog. He turned back and was attempting to find a hole in the overcast in which to get on the Plains.

Under the fog he realized that he was flying too low and attempted to gain altitude. At that moment the gasoline in one tank became exhausted and he switched tanks. The gas did not reach the engine in time and a crash was unavoidable. Mr. Jones said that he believed the mesquite trees and brush cushioned the plane's landing. He did not estimate the amount of damage to the plane but said it was considerable. None of the trio received any injuries whatever.

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

Moses—Prince of Egypt, shepherd, lawgiver, national leader, and prophet—wrote the first five books of the Bible—the Pentateuch.

The second division of the Old Testament includes twelve books, commonly referred to as Historical Books. Authors of these twelve books are Joshua, Samuel, Ezra, Nehemiah, and possibly Mordecai.

At Moses' death, Joshua became Israel's commander-in-chief, and successfully led God's people out of the wilderness wanderings into the "land of promise." Samuel served Israel as judge, priest, and prophet. Ezra effected the return of certain elements of the Jewish population from Babylonian captivity to Jerusalem and gave impetus to rebuilding the temple. Nehemiah directed the rebuilding of the walls around Jerusalem. Mordecai was a faithful defender and mediator for the Israelites during their captivity in Babylon.

The above men of God directed activities for Jehovah during centuries of glory and humility in the Hebrew nation. The main thrust of God's teaching was righteousness, and man's response, too often, was disobedience.

"Behold the kindness and severity of God; to those who fell, severity, but to you, God's kindness, if you continue in His kindness; otherwise you also will be cut off." Ro. 11:22.

Today's society has the same choices as the Romans mentioned in the above scripture—enjoy God's kindness or be cut off. Let's make the right decision.

Highlights and Sidelights

FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex.—This city lost a part of its "personality" last week. Most Austin Citizens acted sophisticated about the fact that President Lyndon Baines Johnson was seen frequently at public events... but his personality gave the entire area a certain glamor that will be lost with his passing.

He had made frequent appearances recently -- the Cotton Bowl, Civil Rights forum, Governor Briscoe's inauguration, and an economic seminar at San Marcos.

Yes, Austin and Texas will miss LBJ.

He did not try to dominate the show when he appeared publicly, did not make "news" by voicing opinions on everything, but his influence was felt in many important ways.

During last year's political campaigns in Texas, he was on the phone raising money, offering advice -- supporting those who had been loyal to him during his political career.

The Texas Democratic party will miss LBJ.

Although it will not be listed in his biography, Lyndon Baines Johnson was a journalist.

He wrote a book. He helped write and produce several television news specials. Most of all, he "made" news during his entire lifetime.

His daughter, Mrs. Luci Nugent, likes to point out that her father was "surrounded by journalists."

"My father had to live with journalists all of his life," she said recently. "My mother was a journalism graduate of the University of Texas. My sister wrote for major magazines, and I've enjoyed doing some writing."

Men who influenced him on many major decisions were journalists... Bill Moyers, George Christian, Tom Johnson and many more. He confided in many Texas newspaper editors, Art Kowert, Bob Jackson, Bill Hobby and others.

Texas Journalists will miss LBJ.

He refused to let his illness slow him down.

His last public appearance was a tree planting ceremony near his home with Lady Bird. He had spent an active Christmas holiday with his wife, daughters, their husbands and children.

He attended the funeral of the 14 young people who had been killed in the bus-truck accident and the funeral of President Harry S. Truman less than a month ago.

His family will miss LBJ.

President Johnson's political career will continue to be an inspiration to young people interested in government and politics.

He came from a family of public servants, but hundreds of college students in this state look at his career and contemplate the "path to the presidency."

He was first a young school teacher, then youth administrator, aide to a Congressman, Congressman, Senator, Vice-President then President of the most powerful nation in the world.

Yes, Lyndon Baines Johnson made history interesting for Texas.

Texas will miss LBJ.

ABORTION LAW STRUCK DOWN -- The U.S. Supreme Court voted 7-2 to strike down the state's abortion statute.

Holding that medical abortion in the first six months of pregnancy should be a private matter between a woman and her physician, the high court ended a controversy begun in 1970 when "Jane Roe" a pregnant, unmarried woman from Dallas took the abortion argument to the federal courts.

Ironically Miss Roe, as she was named to protect her identity, won her case, but had the baby.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill for an evaluation of the ruling and for alternatives open to Texas in light of the high court decision.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, however, said that "the best solution is one in which the state is neutral on the subject... I believe the medical profession of Texas will respond to the decision and will treat abortion as a medical matter in a responsible way."

TOO MANY SCHOOLS?--

Texas may be expanding educational facilities to the extent that the quality of education may be diluted, while the taxpayer keeps digging deeper in his pocketbook to pay the bills.

Opinion was expressed here by Wales Madden, an Amarillo attorney, who is a member of the Coordination Board, Texas College and University System. Madden told CB members "educators know that increased funding is dependent upon growing enrollments. With institutions planning independently and on ad hoc basis for enrolling the same students, and with there being fewer students to spread among the colleges, we may endanger the critical mass of students, faculty, facilities, equipment and libraries established at such high cost and hard effort in our existing institutions."

Madden placed part of the blame on local pressure on state legislators, who feel duty bound to try to create by statute a junior or senior college or technical training facility in their communities.

Madden urged CB members to moderate the present expansion trend "until we determine fully what the needs are and where we are going."

NEW CLASS OF CHILD CARE WORKERS -- Texas, under federal funding, will be the first state to start a training program for a new category of professional child care workers -- the Child Development Associate (CDA).

The CDA program, a brainchild of the Office of Child Development in the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will be administered at the state level by the Office of Early Childhood Development, Texas Department of Community Affairs.

Four contracts have been awarded to Texas colleges and universities to organize the training programs based on proven competency in working with children rather than academic course work.

SHORT SNORTS

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth C. Brown, journalism teacher in Houston's Stephen F. Austin High School, is one of five national finalists in the selection for 1973 Teacher of the Year.

About 20,000 Texans are enrolled in 700 Defensive Driving Courses being offered this month in all sections of the state, the Texas Safety Association reports. Graduates are entitled to a 10 per cent reduction on automobile liability, collision and medical payments insurance.

Legislation has been introduced in the 63rd Legislature to make President Lyndon Johnson's birthday, August 27, a state holiday.

Mrs. C. B. Jones left this week for Kress, where she will make her home with a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jehu Beeson. Mrs. Beeson and another daughter, Mrs. Duane Markham of Denton spent the week end with their mother and assisted her in moving.
