New Oil Test is Projected

A NEW oil test well is projected somewhere east of Matador the Tribune learned late Tuesday. A representative of Andrew P. Werner, Abilene geologist, has been here for several days securing leases on several parcels of land.

The representative, who declined to be identified, says Mr. Werner is going to drill a test well on the block of land. He said the well will be drilled to 9,000 feet. He said he had no idea where the test well would be located.

Except for activity in the Roaring Springs fields, it is the first oil interest in the rest of the county in a number of years.

The increasing energy crisis in the United States is exhilarating the exploration by many firms and many individuals. It is believed that many more partially tested fields hold potentials for production of the badly needed energy.

Many land owners are grateful to re-lease their property since much of it has been without lease for a number of years.

BUMPER CROP

(Special to the Tribune)

The Matador Tribune is cherished by any number of persons who have moved away from Motley County, but to one family it has been the source of several good laughs since a certain headline appeared about the good "Bumper" crops we have all welcomed this year, and the brother-in-law of a certain area resident exclaimed to those present: "Bumper Crop -- what's Bumpers?"

You can bet by now he knows what it is, but being raised in the city, it's doubtful that he can appreciate it!

Union Service To Start Youth Week

Farmers Advised By ASCS

Area farmers are advised to inform fuel suppliers of their needs, according to a news release from the office of Emilio F. Aguilar, Motley County ASCS office manager, as follows:

"The essential thing a farmer must do to help assure himself adequate fuel for agricultural production, is tell his distributor how much he needs," says Robert F. Spreen, State Executive Director of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"Unless a local distributor or dealer knows what his farm customer requires, that distributor can not take the necessary steps to get enough fuel for them."

Informing the distributor becomes even more important if a farmer intends to increase his acreage considerably, or if he wants to expand dairy, poultry, or other farm operations. Local dealers will need this information to request additional fuel from their suppliers.

Spreen said, "Agricultural producers who are all to receive priority allocations, will be required to certify to an ongoing fuel conservation program on their operations. USDA, in cooperation with the Federal Energy Office and the Environmental Protection Agency, has developed a conservation leaflet. This leaflet, scheduled to be available in early March, includes an energy management certification that there is an ongoing conservation program and that priority fuel will be used for agricultural production."

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Many people have been confused by success and failure and many do not know the difference because failure can turn into success and on the other hand success can turn into failure. One way to measure the conditions is by the amount of pleasure and satisfaction they produce for those involved and those with whom they come in contact.

Once as a youth I considered the manufacture of small leather washers that were used on the end of buggy axels, next to the tap. They kept the wheels from bouncing over rough terrain and made the vehicle more silent. The outlook was fairly promising, except that the leather washers sold for about 20c a dozen in most hardware stores. Of course my only investment would be a pocket knife with a curved hole-boring blade and a little leather. Going into business needs a great amount of study. Before I finished the survey a new contraption came along, called the automobile. In a short time leather buggy washers were drying up on the shelves of hardware dealers.

Beauty was everywhere in the summer afternoon with flowers blooming and birds singing in the valley below our home. Scent of the recent rains rose like a heated perfume toward the white castles of clouds. We saw a buggy following the winding road that led to our home. It was a beautiful new buggy pulled by an equally beautiful bay horse. A man and woman got out of the vehicle and were welcomed by my mother and father. They were some friends who had decided to take a drive in the country. They went into the house for a short time and then all walked to my mother's garden, where she quickly picked a mess of string beans for our guests, tying them in her apron. We wandered on through a field of maize and into the pasture beyond. Our guests seemed pleased with the simple outing and we were pleased to have them. The man looked at the sun to measure the time and we started back toward the house. Something was wrong where the horse was hitched. My father and the visitor rushed to the animal. He was dead. The shafts were not broken where he had fallen. Tears were running down the woman's cheeks when she arrived at the scene. The animal had been in the best of health and had not had unusual food. The couple was invited to spend the night but insisted they must return. My father brought up one of our gentle buggy horses and he was placed between the shafts. Soon they were gone and my father harnessed a team to drag the dead animal away, across the sandy creek and beyond the eastern hills. The next day a convoy of buzzards was circling in the blue sky above the hills.

FHA Now Receiving Loan Applications

Preapplications for business and industrial loans in Floyd and Motley Counties may be filed with the Farmers Home Administration office in Floydada.

This announcement was made by FHA County Supervisor Alfred A. Harrison, who said provisions of the Rural Development Act of 1972 are now operative in the two-county area.

Harrison explained that a letter of preapplication is the first step in seeking assistance under the new federal program of financing local business development. The letter should briefly explain the type of industry or business, the proposed market for goods or services, and provide an estimate of the type and number of employment opportunities to be generated. Additional information may be secured by contacting the FHA county office, 107 W. California Street, Floydada, phone 806-983-2430.

"If the prospective business meets eligibility requirements," Harrison said, "the applicant will be requested to submit a formal application."

Eligible applicants -- individuals, partnerships, cooperatives, and corporations -- should work with their bank or other private lender. Those whose applications are approved will receive loans from the private lender with up to 90 percent guaranteed by FHA. Funds may be used to start or expand business enterprises in rural areas and cities up to 50,000 population. Loan funds may be used to purchase machinery and equipment, to buy land, buildings and permanent fixtures, and for working capital.

Public bodies also are eligible for grants to finance industrial sites that will result in development of private business enterprises. Additional information needed by applicants or lenders is available at the FHA county office.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY DON MURDOCK

Couple United In Recent Ceremony

Miss Lucinda Elaine Marshall and Jerry Don Murdock were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony read at 4:00 p.m. January 19. First Baptist Church, Matador was the setting for the wedding, with Rev. Gene Joplin, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church Plainview, former pastor of the local church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Marshall of Matador. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hightower of Memphis.

The altar was decorated with a basket of white gladioli, where the couple stood as they pledged their vows.

Wedding selections and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. John V. Stevens, organist, Mrs. Tommy Palmer sang "Twelfth of Never," and Miss Belinda Simpson sang "The Lord's Prayer," with Mrs. Vernon Higginbotham at the piano.

Mrs. Charles Black of Memphis, sister of the bridegroom was matron of honor. Mrs. Larry Griffin of Plainview, sister of the bride was bridesmatron and Misses Cinda Simpson and Jackie Martin were bridesmaids.

The high empire waist was accented with white satin ribbon and featured a rolled collar and long, full sleeves of flocked chiffon with wide satin cuffs, accented with pearl buttons. Her veil of bridal illusion was waist length. The bride carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations, centered with a corsage of four yellow roses tied with white satin ribbon, atop a white Bible. She wore a gold locket that belonged to her paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Mack Marshall.

The matron of honor and bridesmatron wore floor length blue knit dresses, fashioned with empire waist accented with embroidered lace, victorian neckline and long, full sleeves. Each carried a long stemmed yellow rose, tied with white satin ribbon. Bridesmaids wore dresses identically styled as the honor attendants, except in yellow.

A reception following the ceremony, was held in the basement fellowship hall of the church.

THE BRIDE'S table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue, and centered with the bride's bouquet. The four tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. James Gibson, cousin of the bride. Miss Betty Higginbotham presided at the crystal punch service.

According To Charlene Vienna Is City Of "Beautiful Music"

A return trip to Vienna would be rewarding, if only to hear again "that beautiful music," is the opinion of Charlene (Mrs. Don) Finkner of Lubbock.

Mrs. Finkner was guest speaker at regular meeting of El Progreso Study Club, Thursday, Feb. 14, in the home of Mrs. E. A. Day, and told of an exciting trip to Vienna in February, 1973 when she and her husband were guests of the famed Jeanne Dixon. A highlight of the trip was attending the Grand Opera Ball.

In keeping with the program subject, "Women in Fashion," Charlene described the costumes which she wore at the various events she attended. She is owner of two dress shops in Lubbock, "Charlene's" and "The Duchess."

Guests were to dress in either all-white or all-black for the ball, and Mrs. Finkner selected a white chiffon empire gown, styled with a jeweled scoop neckline and floor-length angel-wing sleeves, and a black cape. For this occasion she also wore a tiara.

The greatest hit of her wardrobe was her pink fox coat, which one Viennese woman offered to buy from her. She also was mistaken for an opera star, while wearing the coat.

Pink is Mrs. Finkner's favorite color and she was very pleased that 25,000 pink carnations were used for decorations, rather than the 25,000 red and white carnations which are ordinarily flown in from Italy to Vienna for the Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Finkner were invited to a reception in Lubbock to meet Mrs. Dixon when she visited there last year, sponsored by Phi Sigma Alpha sorority. When Mrs. Dixon extended the invitation to accompany her to Vienna, the Finkners had less than a month to prepare for the trip.

Among the highlights of the trip was the knighting of Jeanne Dixon by the Order of St. Martin in the Votivkirche. Mrs. Dixon was knighted for her work with the Children to Children Foundation.

Among the sights the group visited in Vienna was the castle of Empress Maria Theresia, Schonbrunn Palace, Empress Maria Theresia was the mother of Marie Antoinette. The Palace was used occasionally by Napoleon as his headquarters. A plaque in honor of Gen. George Smith Patton was unveiled in a ceremony attended by the group. Gen. Patton is credited with saving the famous white Lippizanner stallions during World War II by removing them to France.

Following a performance by the horses, the group attended a luncheon given by Vienna's Lord Mayor Felix Slavik. Among other notables whom Mrs. Finkner met was Prince Willy Van Thurland Taxis, who was one of her dancing partners at the Grand Ball.

Another highlight of the trip for Mrs. Finkner was visiting the room containing a piano used by Beethoven, and to the cemetery where he is buried.

Mrs. Finkner wore a black suit, with black fox trim one day, and Mrs. Dixon gave her a black fox hat to match the suit. Mrs. Finkner brought to the club, several "mementoes" of the trip, including the hat, and a rose which had been dipped in silver, which her husband bought her, after viewing the Silver Rose Debutante Ball. Several exquisite evening bags and a scarf imprinted with the

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Collins of Mineral Wells visited during the week end with her parents and sister, Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Sims and Beverly.

Lippizanner stallions were among other items.

She also had a small frame containing "lucky" coins which she and her husband had found, starting the first day of their trip, and on their return to New York.

Recordings of well known Viennese waltzes were played during the program as a background for Mrs. Finkner's talk, and as Mr. Finkner showed slides.

Mrs. Harold Campbell presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Day introduced the guests. Mrs. Day and Mrs. Finkner have been close friends since they were roommates at Wayland Baptist College. Special guests at the meeting were their respective mothers, Mrs. F. B. Henderson, Matador, and Mrs. Charles Fulkerson of Floydada.

Following the program, a Twilight Tea was served from a beautifully appointed table, laid with a cutwork cloth over red. Votive cups holding miniature roses and red hearts, joined by red satin streamers, and an arrangement of red and white carnations formed the centerpiece, flanked by red tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Robert Darsey presided at the silver tea service. Petit fours, cookies, rose mints and nuts were also served.

Members present, in addition to those named, were Miss Mary Keith and Mesdames W. D. Lipscomb, D. E. Pitts, J. L. Woodruff, Algie Groves, A. J. Daffern, Fred Simpson, Douglas Meador, Ralph Stapleton, J. R. Whitworth, Douglas Gossett, Howard Traeweck, W. N. Pipkin, Raymond Davis, J. E. Edwards, Grace McDowell, Ben Keltz, W. F. Jacobs and John M. Russell.

Methodist Women Meet

The United Methodist Women met Tuesday night, Feb. 12 in the church parlor, with Mrs. John Hamilton presiding and serving as leader of the program. Topic discussed was "A Newsletter to the U.M.W. in 1974."

Purpose of the study was to accent expectant moods and exciting moments experienced by Christians of the early church; to encourage U.M.W. to make use of resources of worship found in events recorded in the Acts of the Apostles; and to show and tell what can happen when worship and missions are woven together in one expression of faith.

Opening song was, "Zion That Bringest Good Tidings," and Scripture for the study was Acts 12:1-17.

In her discussion, Mrs. Hamilton brought out the boldness of the early-day Christians under trials and persecutions, and how, by united prayer, many were delivered to go forth and spread the gospel in other places.

Business session following the study was conducted by Mrs. Hamilton and included reading of the minutes by Mrs. Nelson McMahan. The group voted to send booklets, "The Student at Prayer," to the seniors.

Others present were Mesdames Ethel Payne, Mattie Brotherton, Douglas Gossett, Frank Pohl, Olive Russell, Mae Simpson, John Russell, Henry Ford and J. R. Whitworth, and Miss Mary Slover.

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

Let us continue with the seriousness of changing or altering the gospel of Christ. This sin is so serious that God, ruler of the universe, promises plagues to us if we change the gospel by "adding."

Now note Rev. 22:10. . . And if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the tree of life and from the holy city, which are written in this book.

God promises us, through the gospel of Christ, access to the "tree of life" and "the holy city." These are gifts of God's grace to the faithful. But if we reject Christ's gospel, either by "adding or subtracting," even in part, that same God promises to reject us. Rom. 11:22. Behold then the kindness and severity of God; to those who fell, severity, but to you, God's kindness; otherwise you also will be cut off. The word YOU in the last clause refers to those . . . who are beloved of God in Rome, called to be saints." Rom. 1:7.

The Christ gives us a plain truth by which we may know whether or not we love Him. "If you love me, you will keep my commandments," said the Lord of lords. If we love God we will accept the gospel in all of its truths, commands, and promises.

The gospel . . . Christ is God's will. And in God's will is everything that is good. 2 Cor. 3:16-17. All scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for training in righteousness; that the man of God may be adequate, equipped for every good work.

If every good work for God is in the scripture, why should a faithful child of God desire to change the gospel, the good news from heaven?

Keiths Return From Galveston

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Keith returned home last week from a trip to Galveston with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Latimer of Lubbock, to visit the Latimers' daughter, Sandra. Miss Latimer is a student at the Texas Medical Branch and John Sealy Hospital, where she is majoring in physical therapy.

The group stayed at the Galvez Motel overlooking the Gulf of Mexico. They toured the city and especially enjoyed the Bishop's Palace, built in 1886 by Col. Walter Gresham at a cost of $250,000. One of the newest and most imposing structures in Galveston is the American National Financial Corp. building, which they also visited on tour.

The Keiths' son, Don Paul Keith of Corpus Christi joined the group on Sunday, for a visit and went on to Houston, for a two-day business meeting of the Atlantic Refining Co. He received his 20-year pin for being with the company that long.

While in the Galveston area, the Keiths and Latimers visited at Alvin with Mrs. Keith's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bourland, and en route home they visited at Irving with a niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sublett Jr.

Our Side Of The Energy Crisis!

To Conoco Dealers, Agents and Jobbers

The Federal Government's new crude allocation program, issued by the Federal Energy Office in compliance with the emergency petroleum allocation act of 1973, will significantly reduce the supply of petroleum products available to you from Continental.

Conoco's crude supply is sufficient to run our refineries at maximum capacity. However under the program Conoco must sell about 63,000 barrels (2.6 million gallons) per day or 18 per cent of its crude supply to other refiners during the February-April period. This reduction in Conoco's crude supply, combined with forced sales of products to other refiners as required by mandatory product allocations, will result in your supply being almost 20 per cent less than has been programmed for this period.

We do not disagree with the intent of the allocation legislation which is to provide crude supplies to small and independent refiners. However, the FEO program enables large companies such as Arco, Sohio, Sun, and Texaco to buy crude from other refiners, including Conoco and certain small refiners. Although Conoco as a company may not be hurt financially by this arrangement, we object to these large companies being subsidized at your expense because of your reduced supply.

In our opinion, the program discourages maximum imports of foreign crude essential to minimize the shortage. It doesn't make sense to import $18-barrel foreign crude oil to run in our refineries while being forced to sell our normal supplies of crude to large competitors at a controlled price of about $7 to $8. Such action would compel you to have to raise your prices to uncompetitively high levels.

We are also concerned that the domestic crude oil normally supplied to inland refineries serving the nation's agricultural heartland will be diverted to refineries along the coast which historically used offshore foreign crude.

The FEO, under William E. Simon, has worked diligently to implement programs meeting the requirements of the law, and we strongly support him. However, the crude allocation program is not in the best interest of you as independent businessmen or the people of this nation.

We believe it is imperative that you make your views known to you senators and representatives in Washington, to the FEO, and to concerned citizens in your community urging necessary changes in the legislation and amendment of the regulations by FEO. A telegram may be sent to your senator or representative in Washington by calling (202) 224-3121.
