Carriker Calls For Property Tax Relief

State Representative Steve Carriker (Democrat-Roby), a long-time critic of the state's property tax system, is calling for major policy changes to help relieve the tax burden on small business and family homes.

Carriker says the time is now right for a bill he introduced in a previous session of the legislature. That bill would provide for the direct election of appraisal board members, rather than their appointment. "An elected board will be more sensitive to the needs of the taxpayer and would have a greater interest in resisting pressure from the state to over-appraise property," Carriker said.

Carriker is also championing a plan that would appropriate any state surplus budget monies first to property tax relief. He says that as the Texas economy recovers, that revenue surpluses generated by the existing tax structure should be focused on areas such as education, which soaks up over half of the local property tax. "We should require that additional state monies over and above mandated education improvements be dedicated to property tax relief," he said.

In the 1985 session of the legislature, Representative Carriker passed a bill to allow the refund to the taxpayer of penalty and interest when the delay which resulted in the penalty was the fault of the taxing entity and not the taxpayer. He is also the author of a bill to restore the homestead exemption.

Barbara's Bylines

I don't know if many of our young people know what it was or is like to live or visit where there is only an 'outhouse', but my son does. We have had a house at Bird Ranch for a number of years that we use during deer hunting and it has only had an 'outhouse'. Recently I read what one writer wrote about the difference in the old fashion 'throne room' and how much they have changed, sounds like they have come 'a long way baby'. Grandma eat your heart out, no more cold, hurried trips to the 'outhouse' or hot stinky ones either.

New Emphasis On 'Throne Room'

Remember when the ultimate American home could be described as "four rooms and a path?"

We've come a long way since then. The little house with the crescent moon cutout on the door was moved inside long ago, but has only recently really come into its own.

Now, the experts say, a lavish bathroom is the latest of status symbols.

The change is due in part to a new lifestyle trend dubbed "cocooning," which is a term applied to the practice among high-income young professionals of spending more and more free time amid the comforts of home.

Naturally, the cocooners want to make their surroundings as pleasant as possible, and in so doing, they have transformed the once-spartan comfort station into a high-tech retreat from the outside world.

Bathroom remodeling, according to industry observers, has become one of the hottest construction priorities of recent years, and the pace may continue through the year 2000.

As many as 6.5 million bathrooms could be remodeled by the end of the current year, which would be a 44 percent increase over similar projects in 1987.

What Happened to The Museum Idea?

What has happened about the plans for the museum?

We have been hearing from a few (small few) people that are interested in helping get it started, mostly willing to donate money. What about those willing to donate time and strong arms in getting it ready for the public.

It is obvious Motley County has a vast wealth of 'relics' to fill two museums but

And the price tag? Hold on to your shower cap - experts are predicting a 40 percent increase over last year's total of $8.3 billion.

What makes the difference between a utilitarian bathroom, which contains all the necessary facilities, and one suitable to classify as a cocoon?

The answer - not too surprising, considering trends for other rooms - is gadgets.

Sitting areas, built-in stereo systems, wet bars, fireplaces and even small microwaves are becoming popular items. But the ultimate accessory, according to experts, is a whirlpool.

Not just any whirlpool, mind you. Among the latest models are whirlpools that can be activated, even by phone, to fill at any time to a pre-selected temperature and depth. Another state-of-the-art model can be programmed to begin filling when the morning alarm goes off, or at any other time.

Such accessories can boost the price of a whirlpool from $6,000 to as much as $26,000.

Then there's the social angle to consider.

Despite the name, cocooning isn't necessarily a solitary pursuit. Hence, there are showers, tubs and whirlpools all built for the modern couple.

Lavatories have also been extensively redesigned, and now come in a variety of different shapes and styles. The price tags, it can safely be assumed, have also undergone major changes.

And, of course, all the new fixtures come in the latest popular colors, including green, rose and a whole range of grays. A white, regulation-sized tub, it seems, is a sure sign that modern times have passed you by.

Cocooning, obviously, is an idea dreamed up by someone who doesn't have youngsters living at home.

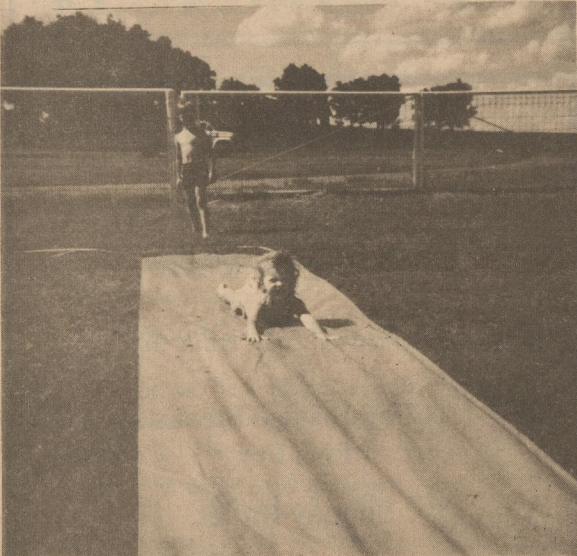

Show a bathroom like that to the average teenager, and you likely wouldn't see the kid again until it was time for him to go to college.

again it takes people willing to help do the "work".

In case you have forgotten, the request was made to the Hospital in May for the citizens to have three months to come up with concrete plans and people to turn the old Traweck Hospital into a museum.

If anyone has the desire and energy, please contact Glen Woodruff, Hazel Donovan, Johnny Stevens, Larry Hoyle or Marisue Potts as soon as possible.

LIBRARY NOTES

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

On Tuesday morning June 28, we had fifteen members attending READ-TO-ME CLUB at the Library and they are Chantry Meyer, Brenda Gillespie, Nicholas Zarate, Brittany Perryman, Tommy and Amanda Hurt, Dereck Cruse, Skylar Clifton, Clint Cooper, Leigha Burns Nathaniel Jameson, Bradley and Stachia Baxter, Mont Darsey, and Genelle Willis. They met at 10:30 and watched a film called "Old Lady's Camping Trip." Afterward, they made coonskin caps under Mrs. Winifred Lee's direction and with help from mothers. Also, Mrs. Lee played a song about Dave Crockett on Casio cassette.

If we forgot to give a reading log to any new members they may pick them up any day at the Library or when they meet on July 14.

TEXAS READING CLUB 1988 met June 30 with Monica Clifton, Heather Turner, Kevin and Kandi Keltz, Robert Gillespie, Ryan Martin, Devin Perryman, Dusty Jackson, and Coby Martin present. Our theme was explore space. After several children told about the books they had read, Devin Perryman had really enjoyed COMMANDER TOAD and Ryan Martin liked THE PLANETS IN OUR SOLAR SYSTEM and brought his space map. We tried to name all the planets and several of the children did very well. Then they made some neat red and white space rockets with the help of Mrs. Lee, who had gathered all the materials they would need including a plastic ruler, that launched their rubber band controlled rocket. They can use the ruler at school long after the rockets have smashed their pointed noses flat.

Irene Welling and I will be going to Lamesa on July 14, to participate in a planning session for the Literacy Program sponsored by the West Texas Library System. "In the Wind", a newsletter of the West Texas Library System, carried a story about new ways of promoting literacy that were reported at the TLA Conference in Corpus Christi this Spring. The article also stated that there was a great need for volunteers to be trained to train others to become Literacy tutors using the LAUBACH WAY TO ENGLISH, or the LAUBACH WAY TO READING. The Laubach method of teaching incorporates the teaching of conversational English, reading and writing, with a picture association method for teaching the alphabet that has been proven very effective over the years. Dr. Frank Laubach, missionary to several foreign countries perfected this method to teach people so that they could read the Bible for themselves. The following information was distributed at a Literacy training session in 1983, and emphasizes the importance of being able to read.

LITERACY

Functional literacy is the ability to read, comprehend, write, and compute at a level which enables one to meet requirements of adult living.

1 out of 5 Texans is functionally illiterate (Gov. Mark White, Proclamation of Literacy Week, 9/83)

21% of Texas 18 and over "do not possess the functional competencies prerequisite to coping in society" (Adult Performance Level Project)

36% of Texans over 18, or 4,081,281 adult Texans have less than a high school education (1980 Census, TEA)

Texas is third in the nation (behind California and New York) in the number of under-educated adults (1980 Census, TEA)

1 out of 5 Americans is illiterate: 25 million cannot read or write, 25 million cannot function at adult level. This number is increasing by 2.3 million a year in legal and illegal immigrants, refugees, and 950,000 young people per year who drop or are pushed out of school.

56% of Hispanic teenagers are functionally illiterate in English*

44% of Black teenagers are functionally illiterate in English*

40% of adults with incomes under $5,000 are functionally illiterate in English*

85% of young people who appear in juvenile court are functionally illiterate in English*

60% of prison population is functionally illiterate in English* (National Advisory Council of Adult Education)

If you would like to learn to teach someone to read or write English, please call the library (347-7217) or Irene Welling (347-2600). I would like to have several volunteers before going to Lamesa on July 14.

Visitors to the library since our last report were: Tanya and Cory Multer of Gardon City, TX; Edwin Witcher and Buck & Bessie Marshall of Roaring Springs; Lou Burleson of Quitaque; Rhonda Stephens of Spur; Betty Carson of Watsonville, CA; Mr. and Mrs. O.M. Watson, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Appling of Floydada; Linda Perryman, McCamey Dee and Cary Cox of Andrew; Julie Smith and Erica Terti of Carrollton, and Fran Morris of Houston, who brought her father, Dr. A.C. Traweck, Jr. in on Saturday and made some pictures of the mural. It was good to see Dr. Traweck back at home.

We would like to thank Roy Moreno for taking two boxes to the post office. We, also, would like to thank the volunteers for the month of June and they were: Grace Campbell, Keith and Joan Patton, Francis Finch, Larry Crouch, Bailey Elliott.

WAYS TO SAVE ON AUTO INSURANCE PREMIUMS

If you're looking for ways to reduce your auto insurance premiums, consider these suggestions from the Insurance Information Institute.

Start by looking at the provisions of your policy. Raising the deductible is a way to reduce the cost if you can afford to pay the higher deductible in case of a claim. If you have a car that's over seven years old, consider dropping collision coverage. Because of depreciation, it may not be worth insuring for collision.

Then consider the discounts that apply to you or family members because you fit into special categories:

- * Drivers over 50 may qualify for up to a 10% discount.
- * Good driver discounts are available to motorists with accident and violation-free records.

* Some companies offer discounts to non-smokers and non-drinkers.

* Some companies offer 10% discounts for a female, ages 30-64 who is the only driver in the household, because of favorable claim experience.

* Completing a driver training course may give you a discount of up to 10%. Young drivers who have a B-average in school can qualify for a discount of up to 25%.

The kind of car you buy may also qualify you for an insurance discount. Premiums are usually higher for autos with high collision or bodily injury claim severity or for those that are common targets of thieves. Discounts of 5-15% are offered for autos with a hood lock and an alarm or disabling device that prevents the car from being stolen.

Finally, don't forget the company's policies. They may give a multicar discount for insuring more than one car or a credit for buying all your insurance from them.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

APPLICATIONS NOW ACCEPTED FOR FLHP

(AUSTIN) - Longtime Texas farm and ranch families once again have an opportunity to preserve their agricultural heritage as participants in the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program.

"TDA is again searching for Texas farms and ranches which have been continuously owned and operated by members of the same family for 100 years or more," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said today.

"The Family Land Heritage Program is designed to recognize much more than mere ownership. It seeks to chronicle the uniquely personal histories of agricultural productivity in this state - a proud record which might otherwise be lost forever," Hightower said.

Since it was first launched by TDA in 1974, over 2,200 properties throughout the state have been enrolled in the program.

Participants who qualify will be recognized by TDA at a ceremony in Austin in November where they will receive a certificate of honor in the name of their property and a metal sign to hang on their farm or ranch gate. Honorees will be listed in the annual Family Land Heritage Registry. The deadline for application for the 1988 ceremony is July 15.

Under provisions of the program, Texas residents who own agricultural land may apply if they can trace the line of ownership form the first family member to the present either through direct relatives or by marriage.

Texas residents who own agricultural property which they think may qualify can obtain application forms and information about the program by contacting their county judge, county Historical Commission chairperson, their nearest TDA district office, or by writing the Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

The Lord Is Now My Shepherd

by H. Soltwisch (12-25-85)

The Lord is now my shepherd,
 He supplies my every need,
 He's removing all the bad things
 Like selfishness, pride and greed.
 He leads me when I listen,
 He forgives me when I ask;
 He helps me to hold my tongue and removes my worldly mask.
 He gives me compassion
 for those less fortunate than I.
 He supplies the smile, the pleasant words.
 I never question why.
 He gives me hope thru every trial,
 He gives me every breath;
 He said He would be with me,
 Even unto death.
 The stillness of the waters
 That He leads me by,
 Is worth the storm I just came thru.
 My tears are tears of joy!

ARE YOU PUTTING ME ON?

 MAKE THE CONNECTION FOR SAFETY!
 A MESSAGE FROM THIS NEWSPAPER AND THE DPS TROOPERS

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

 By Michael A. Guido
 Metter, Georgia

A preacher said to his boys, "Prayer is like a two-way telephone with God."
 "Do you mean," asked one, "that I can call up God right now?"
 "No," butted in his classmate; "you were bad this morning, so your line is out of order."
 Yes, sin cuts off the connection; for the Psalmist said, "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me."
 Maybe that's the reason why your prayers haven't been answered - your line is out of order.

Care to have it restored? Confess your sins to God and He'll restore the connection.

When you pray, it's not the position of your body that counts, but the condition of your heart.

Prayers rightly offered are always richly answered.

Wedding Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Luckett

Kendra Zachek and Bill Luckett were married in an afternoon double ring ceremony on May 7 at Christ the King Catholic Cathedral in Lubbock, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Jarlene Zachek of Columbus, N.M. and the groom's parents are Carter and Betty Luckett of Matador, Texas.

The bride was given in marriage by her father with Fr. Ruben officiating.

Kendall Esch of Levelland, Texas, read Tobit 8-4:9 from the bible, followed by Brenda Zachek of Deming who read Colossians 3-12:17.

The bride wore a designer original white gown of satin and lace, which was cut with a dropped waist, long sleeves, small puff at the shoulder and a sweetheart neckline. The full skirt fell into a cathedral length train cut work and lace inserts adorn the lower part of the skirt and train. The bodice and sleeves were a combination of satin and lace reem-broidered with numerous seed pearls. Scallops in the lace were repeated at the neck and over the hand. Her veil was a crown of seed pearls coordinated with the gown. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of miniature calla lilies and stephanotis. Jerri Lynn Zachek of Columbus, N.M. was maid of honor. She wore a tea length, drop waist, all lace peach dress. She carried a cascade of peach carnations, white daisies and babies breath. The bridesmaids Romy Ferguson of Post, Texas, and Karen Adams of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, were dressed the same as the Maid of Honor. They also carried the same cascade of flowers.

John D. Russell of Matador, Texas, was best man. Brent Campbell and Kyle Hardin of Matador, Texas were groomsmen. Terry Simpson, Rob Francis, Coke Barton of Matador, Texas and Kirk Zachek of Deming, N.M. were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a tea length drop waist all lace cream dress. Her corsage was sweetheart roses with stephanotis. The groom's mother wore a mauve satin and lace dress with a jacket. Her corsage was sweetheart roses with stephanotis.

The church was decorated with masses of flowers made up of peach gladiolus, carantions, white daisies, and babies breath.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fountain garden artium of the Holiday Inn Civic Center, which was decorated with flowers from the church, flowering potted plants and green plants.

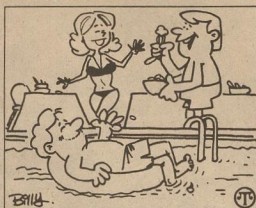

The cake table was decorated with peach sweetheart roses and ivy. Presiding at the punch bowl was Debra Kuss, of Lubbock, Texas, at the bride's cake was Barbara Pillar of Deming, N.M., at the groom's cake was Kayla Johnson and Laura Zachek of Albuquerque, N.M. Carlene Luckett of Stephenville, Texas, was at the guest book.

The couple will reside in Matador, Texas, after their honeymoon trip to Banff, Canada.

Summertime Eating

Light And Easy

Summertime bursts with activity—outdoor fun, family gatherings, day trips to the beach—which is why warm weather cooking should be quick and easy. As well, since many of us are concerned with our summer shapes, cooking should be light.

For great-tasting, convenient and low-calorie meals all summer long, light mayonnaise is an invaluable kitchen companion. Not only is it the perfect complement to refreshing salads and savvy sandwiches, it also can be used to prepare impromptu appetizers, dips and sauces.

Poolside snacking rates a "10" with Cool Cucumber Dip. Serve it with crunchy vegetables arranged on a colorful platter.

Cool Cucumber Dip

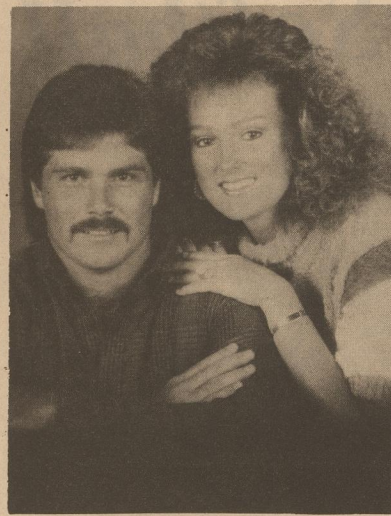

- 1/2 cup Hellmann's light reduced calorie mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup lowfat plain yogurt
- 1 small cucumber, seeded and finely chopped
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill or 1/2 teaspoon dried dillweed

In medium bowl, stir reduced calorie mayonnaise and yogurt until blended. Stir in cucumber, onion and dill. Cover; refrigerate.

Makes about 1 1/2 cups, 20 calories per tablespoon.

A leaflet featuring this recipe and others may be obtained by sending a postcard with name, address and zip code to: Hellmann's Light, Dept. QNE, P.O. Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

Protecting Your Skin

Beautiful and healthy skin can go hand-in-hand with fun in the sun if you heed the following helpful hints.

- Protect your skin with a sunscreen keyed to your coloring and tanning type. Lower SPF (Sun Protection Factor) numbers are for darker skins; higher numbers offer more protection and are best for lighter skins. Don't forget to protect your lips, which are particularly sensitive to the sun's harmful rays, with a lip balm.

- Take advantage of fashionable sun cover-ups such as hats, sunglasses and visors to look chic while protecting delicate facial skin.

- In summer, when you tend to wash more frequently, you may prefer to cleanse with a mild, non-drying beauty bar such as Dove. It contains one-quarter moisturizing cream to help skin stay soft and smooth.

- Refrigerated mineral water can be used to refresh a dry complexion. Pour some into a spray bottle and spritz it lightly over your face for an instant pick-me-up. Also drink plenty of water to moisturize your face from within!

It would have been impossible to have the baseball program without the volunteers who served as Base Umpires, Announcers, Scorekeepers, Spotters, and Concession Stand Workers and those who helped with the baseball field clean-up and maintenance. Thank you all!

The purpose of the MCYO is to provide an opportunity for the youth of the county to learn the basics of T-Ball and Softball and to allow them to have fun at the same time. All of the people involved in this program are volunteers who do their very best. All are greatly appreciated by the MCYO officers and, most importantly, by the youth of the county!

Thank you,
Deidra, Kellie and Kathy

EMERGENCY PHONE LINE NOW OPEN

(AUSTIN) - Texas residents who suspect they have been exposed to pesticides and who are unable to get local medical treatment can now turn to a statewide pesticide poisoning emergency phone line for help.

Bilingual assistance is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, by dialing 1-800-TDA-REGS (1-800-832-7347).

"The Texas Department of Agriculture first became involved with efforts to prevent pesticide exposure three years ago when it adopted the first pesticide regulations to protect human health. Although the regulations have helped reduce the incidents of pesticide poisonings, we have found that a number of people are still getting hurt," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

"Just as alarming, we have discovered that some of the people who have been exposed have been unable to receive proper medical attention because of the distance to migrant clinics or other medical centers, the lack of medical personnel with specialized training in treatment of pesticide poisonings, or their inability to pay for such services."

"Short term effects of pesticide poisoning include irritation of eyes, skin or throat, itching, rash, headaches, blurry vision, dizziness, excessive sweating, vomiting and chest pains," said Olga Moya, TDA's farmworker liaison. Some pesticides are suspected of having long-term effects which include tumors or cancer, birth defects, reproductive problems, skin problems, and injury to the liver or other organs.

"The emergency line is answered by TDA staff during regular business hours. During evenings, weekends and holidays, calls are forwarded to a bilingual answering service that will immediately refer human exposure cases to TDA staff, who have a statewide list of clinics, physicians and laboratory services for testing, diagnosis and treatment," Moys said.

More information about TDA's new emergency response line is available by calling TDA's Emergency Response Coordinator Ruperto Garcia at (512) 463-7003 or the nearest TDA district office.

This new toll-free emergency line is designed to help save lives by giving people access to the treatment they need in a timely manner," Hightower said.

As Christ was raised by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in the newness of life.

Social Security Tips

By Terry J. Clements

Many people wait longer than necessary to get payment from their Medicare medical insurance because they fail to submit itemized bills with their request for payment form.

Medical insurance is the part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and other times and services not covered by hospital insurance.

To receive payment under medical insurance, a person generally submits a request for payment form and the doctor or other supplier provides an itemized bill to send with the form.

The trouble is, that often the bill does not provide enough information about the services provided and, therefore, a decision cannot be made as to whether they are covered. As a result, the patient must be contacted for more information and payment is delayed.

To prevent this delay, the person should be sure that each bill shows:

- * A description of each service provided.

- * The date the service was provided.

- * The place the service was provided.

- * The charge for each service provided.

- * The doctor or supplier who provided each service, and

- * The person's name and health insurance claim number exactly as they are shown on the person's Medicare card.

It is helpful if the diagnosis is also shown.

For more information or to file a claim, call 293-9623.

The Way It Was

by Emmitt Jenkins

The depression hit the Bob Johnson family, very hard. They had several boys. One of the boys, Bobby, shined shoes at the Barber shop.

Twenty-two shells were fifteen cents a box. Bob Johnson would count out a certain number of shells and admonish the boys to bring home a rabbit for each shell. Bobby said that was the only meat they had.

Had it not been for the butter, eggs, and the pea patch, there would have been more hunger.

People had very few clothes. Sometimes they were patched, but clean. Flour sacks were used extensively for towels, and for repairing underclothing.

I heard about a woman who did not have quilt scraps, so she ripped up tobacco sacks, dyed them and made a quilt top.

Those days, most of the people rolled their own cigarettes. It was considered a waste of money to smoke ready rolls.

The Watkins and Raleigh Man had a chicken coop, strapped to the back of their cars. If the customer could not pay for the products, they would accept chickens, for pay.

Many farmers milked cows and sold the cream. The late Bill Wason ran a cream station.

We became accustomed to this way of life, and it had its lighter moments. If your pocket was empty, no coins to rattle, "you were not by yourself."

Lloyd and Hazel (Dick) Dirickson owned and operated the Rogue Theatre, from 1932 until 1961. Saturday afternoon, one could see the matinee for a dime, and a big bag of pop corn was a nickel, and enjoy a couple of hours of clean entertainment.

Frank, Rosie and Christine Stafford operated a cafe, then located across the street north of the Phillips Station. (Later Red's Fin), Hamburgers were a dime, or three for a quarter. I would eat supper there every Saturday night. I have never eaten better hamburgers, before or since.

Later the improved methods of farming and the government programs have almost depopulated small farming communities.

It is no little wonder that our county has dropped from a little less than seven thousand population to less than two thousand.

That is the way it was.

Where cotton breeding is concerned, members of the Plains Cotton Improvement Committee (PCIC) of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., admit to having a one-track mind.

That track, says committee chairman Wayne Huffaker of Tahoda, is aimed at putting and keeping Texas High Plains cotton producers ahead of the field in the race to satisfy ever-increasing worldwide demand for high performance cotton.

Huffaker's remark summarized the feelings of the PCIC at a recent meeting where the committee agreed to pump another $100,000 into the work of Dr. John Gannaway, cotton breeder at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. This 1988-89 grant brings to $470,000 the total of producer funds provided for the program since its inception in late 1983.

The committee was formed by PCG at the request of area compresses under an agreement whereby compresses would collect 10 cents per bale to be used exclusively for breeding research. Producers are given the option to request refunds, but PCG records show such requests over the life of the program have totaled only a few dollars.

Gannaway reports substantial progress in research to breed varieties with the strength, fineness and maturity needed by mills for today's advanced spinning technology. In 1986 and 1987 a total of 90 germplasm were released to commercial breeders, all of which "exhibited various combinations of excellent fiber quality traits," Gannaway states, and all with yield potential equal to or above varieties now being planted. In 1988 another 80 germplasm are being increased for possible release next year, he says, providing they live up to the promise of quality and yield seen so far.

These releases are being incorporated into existing materials of commercial companies, and the beginnings of results more visible to producers, according to Gannaway, may be seen in 1989 as cottons with improved genetic potential are made available, on a limited scale, for testing in producer operations.

Interest in the High Plains quality program has spread across the Cotton Belt and throughout the textile world, Huffaker notes. Gannaway in 1987 and 1988 has given presentations to some 34 commodity and industry groups and has five invitations pending.

The most prestigious of the groups addressed, Gannaway says, was a large number of foreign and domestic users and potential users of High Plains cotton at last November's textile symposium, sponsored by Texas Tech's International Center for Textile Research and Development. And, as a result of that presentation, Gannaway and John Price, Assistant director of the textile research center, have been invited to conduct seminars in England, Germany, France, Switzerland and Belgium.

Tentative plans for that trip are being made, but since PCIC funds can't be used for that purpose, Huffaker notes, plans are contingent on finding an alternative source or sources to cover the cost.

HEALTH NEWS

Watch Work Habits During Hot Weather

COLLEGE STATION - Hot, humid weather which typifies Texas summers can be dangerous to your health, particularly if you work outdoors.

Outdoor workers often suffer from such physical disorders as heatstroke, heat exhaustion, heat cramps and fainting, said Thomas D. Valco, safety specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Such disorders occur most often when workers do not take time to adjust to the heat, Valco said. Summer hot spells, the first few days of work for new workers, and the first day back on the job after a vacation or illness are likely to be times when workers suffer the most from heat-related problems.

The combination of high temperatures and high relative humidity can be especially dangerous, said the safety specialist.

For example, a temperature of 100 degrees F. and a relative humidity of 50 percent have the same effect on the body as if the temperature reached 120 degrees. The human body cools itself by the evaporation of perspiration, but high relative humidity retards evaporation of perspiration from the skin, Valco said.

To avoid potential health problems during the hot summer weather, he offered these suggestions for farmers and ranchers and others who work outdoors:

--Rest periodically in a cool place; rest is most beneficial when breaks are short but frequent.

--Drink fluids every 15 to 20 minutes. Water intake must equal perspiration loss, so drink more than enough to satisfy thirst. Rely on meals to replace salt.

--Wear loose garments of thin cotton fabric to enhance air circulation near the skin and to allow body heat to escape.

--Slow down work speed or distribute the workload evenly over the course of the day.

--If possible, postpone nonessential work for cooler periods.

--Transfer workers to help from other jobs or obtain extra helpers. Younger and more physically fit workers might take over.

--Where possible, shield workers from equipment heat sources, use exhaust fans near heat sources, and provide open windows and cooling fans for maximum air flow around individuals.

--Provide maximum opportunities for outside workers to work in well ventilated, shaded areas.

Heeding these suggestions and keeping tabs on the daily temperature and relative humidity can go a long way to preventing heat related disorders during summer weather, said Valco.

For additional information on heat stress, contact your County Extension office for the publication L-1858, "Coping With Hot Work Environments."

Plans Underway For South Plains Fair

More than 6,500 catalogs promoting the 71st annual edition of the Panhandle-South Plains fair are being distributed throughout the region, general manager Steve L. Lewis has announced.

With this year's cover featuring a colorful montage of typical fair scenes, the 1988 exposition marks the beginning of its eighth decade of service to the area by offering premiums totaling $100,000. The eight-day run begins September 24.

A donkey and mule show has been added to the regular fare for this year, Lewis said. It will be held September 29-30 and is expected to attract widespread interest, he noted.

The fair boasts a number of livestock judging events, plus an array of commercial and agricultural exhibits, women's and flower shows plus military, industrial and educational displays. Crops also will be competing for honors. Gene Ladel's million-dollar midway, free entertainment and other events round out daily calendars.

Attractions booked for Fair Park Coliseum include Dan Seals and Kathy Mattea, 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. September 24; the Oak Ridge Boys, 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. September 25; Highway 101 and Sweethearts of the Rodeo, 7 p.m. only September 26; Exile, 7 p.m. only, September 27;

Michael Martin Murphey and Holly Dunn, 7 p.m. only, September 29; Ray Stevens, 7 p.m. only, September 30 and Merle Haggard and the Strangers, 7 p.m. only, October 1.

Tickets for all shows are $10 each. Mail order reservations only are being accepted at this time and may be addressed to Show Tickets, P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Requests will be processed in the order in which received and tickets will be mailed in early August. Mail orders must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lennis Baker serves as president of the non-profit organization's board of directors. Charles Adams, Jr. serves as vice president and Don Hufstetler, treasurer. Directors include Frank T. Anderson, Joe E. Baldrige, R.E. "Bob" Gee, Elwood Keeney, Craig McDonald and Owen W. McWhorter, Jr.

In addition to Lewis, other permanent staff members include Albert L. Roller, grounds superintendent; Mrs. Oleta Tucker, bookkeeper and Mrs. Nancy Swanner, secretary.

Catalogs currently being distributed, contain premium details and entry information concerning all events scheduled during the exposition. Show officials also are listed.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Barbara,

I entered a Poetry Contest, in "The World of Poetry" and received an "Award of Merit Certificate" for my poem. My poem, "My Cat", will be published in the book, "The Golden Treasury of Great Poems," and will be in the book stores the last of August. My poem will be copyright and will remain my property.

Now for the best news of all, "World of Poetry's" Board of Directors has elected to honor me with the Golden Poet Award for 1988."

The official Presentation will take place at the fourth annual Poetry Convention, on Saturday afternoon August 27, 1988, at one o'clock, at the Anaheim Hilton in Anaheim, California, during our Golden Poet Roundrobin and Awards Presentation. Afterwards, at our opulent Golden Banquet, the editor and publisher, John Campbell, will present a special show in my honor. Artists Embassy International Television will be there to record the event.

I can hardly believe they mean me!

Poets will be coming from all over the World. I am at the top of the list to win anywhere from one thousand dollars to fifteen thousand dollars. As a Golden Poet, I am to pick from among my best poems to enter the convention Poetry Contest. Twenty-five thousand dollars will be presented to eleven Golden Poets.

Nationally known Television Stars will be in attendance, Red Skelton, Rob Inglis, Galway Kinnell, Stephen Longfellow Fiske, June Jordon, The Gaylords, and Phyllis Diller, the world famous comedienne, star of stage and television, noted poet and pianist, is the keynote speaker. She will crown the poet laureate for 1988.

The poetry Convention will be for four days, August 25, 26, 27, 28, and 29. On the 29th, the contestant will be invited to go to Disneyland with Eddie Lou Cole as a birthday party on her 80th birthday celebration.

John Campbell, Editor and Publisher will present his one man Shakespeare dramatization, "One Man in His Time." There will be many other thrilling moments during the Poetry Convention, as twenty five hundred poets world over is expected to attend.

Other poets of well known actors and actresses will be there, Carol Channing, Vincent Price and Milton Berle.

Will appreciate it very much if you will publish this in the paper as I want my friends to know what I have written. In October 87, I passed a course and received my diploma as a writer from the "Institute of Childen Literature." The course was over a nine months period. I am attempting at this time to write a novel, and later put in book form, the stories for children I have written.

I received a "Special Invitation" written in gold from Phyllis Diller and Red Skelton to attend the Fourth Annual Poetry Convention to Celebration, Thirteen Anniversary.

If I should go I will be flying United Airlines from Lubbock to Los Angeles, California and then to Anaheim to stay at the convention center at the Anaheim Hilton.

Sincerely my thanks,
Jo Scott

HEALTH NEWS

SAFETY IN THE SUN

Now that warm weather is upon us, most leisure activities take individuals outdoors. Increased exposure to the sun is the most common cause of skin cancer. Body parts such as the face, ears, hands and forearms, which are not covered by clothing, are most susceptible.

The American Cancer Society reports that more than 500,000 new cases of skin cancer are reported each year making it the most common form of cancer. Despite numerous evidence supporting these facts, the desire to attain a "golden tan" still keeps people out in the sun.

Diagnosing skin cancer in its early stages is the key to surviving skin cancer. Debbie Crown, fitness expert in Methodist Hospital's Center for Rehabilitation and Fitness, offers the following check list to help individuals differentiate between an early malignant melanoma and a normal mole.

- An early malignant melanoma is often itchy, but not painful. Normal moles are neither itchy or painful.

- Malignant melanomas are often detected when they are about the size of a penny. Ordinary moles can be covered by the eraser on the end of a pencil.

- Melanomas grow in size and normal moles do not.

- Early malignant melanomas are irregularly colored and may also have an irregular shape. Normal moles are of uniform color and have a smooth outline.

- Melanomas may become inflamed or have a reddish edge, while normal moles are not inflamed.

- Malignant moles may show bleeding or oozing which is not a characteristic of ordinary moles.

The best advice, according to the American Academy of Dermatology, is protection. When going out in the sun, avoid sunburning by wearing a sunscreen with a Sun Protective Factor (SPF) of 15 or higher. Apply sunscreen at least one hour before going into the sun and again after swimming or perspiring.

In addition, avoid the sun at midday, when the sun's rays are strongest. Beware of high altitudes because there is less atmosphere to filter out the ultraviolet rays.

Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon.
