School Board Leaves Tax Rate Same

The Motley County ISD Board of Trustees met August 29 at 7:30 p.m. with Guy Campbell, Donnie Cruse, Randy Barton, James Palmer, Coy Franks, Alvin Alexander and Superintendent Ron Cummings, attending.

First on the agenda was for the board to decide to sell the last portable building to the Seymour ISD for $4,999.00. The Board elected to do this. The two Morgan buildings had been sold to Eastland for $10,500. This money is set aside for future additional classrooms.

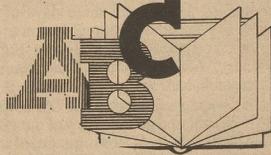

Cummings explained the budget amendments for 1987-88 budget completion. Cummings also explained the changes for the 88-89 budget. The Board accepted this.

There were reports on the football track field construction. Cummings assured the Board it would be finished by the September 16 home game. They discussed needing more bleachers, but no decision was made.

Cummings reported he had talked to Terry Wingal in Washington on the Impact Aid Monies and they were closer to coming to inspect everything done to date and deciding how much more Motley County ISD will receive.

Next the Board elected to set the 1989 tax rate the same as last year, .79. Meeting adjourned.

Flomot Fire Department Responds to Fire

The Flomot Fire Dept. responded to a fire within the city limits of Flomot around 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, Aug. 24.

Mrs. Wayne Hunter was burning trash when the flames got out of control and spread north, then veered northeast and northwest.

Fire Chief, Billy Morris reported between ten and fifteen acres of grassland on the Washington estate and bales of alfalfa hay on the Jerry Barclay farm (the former Raby Webb farm) were destroyed. Sideboards for an 18 wheeler truck owned by Wendell Morris were also damaged. Black smoke ascending from burning rubber tires was a liability when fighting the fire. Farm equipment, implements and structures escaped the flames and heat after they were "doused" with water as a precautionary measure. The Quitaque Fire Department arrived after the fire was extinguished.

When the fire siren alerted members of the Flomot Fire Dept., they rushed to Flomot from farm fields, gins and road crews to combat the fire. Residents in Flomot gave a gratified sign of appreciation when their homes and business establishments escaped fire and smoke damage by the good work and dedicated service of these men.

Summit Savings Purchased By Sunbelt Savings

Editor's note: This article was taken from the Plainview Daily Herald, by Phillip L. Hamilton.

Summit Savings Association depositors - including those in Plainview, will not see many changes after Monday when the thrift's 11 branches reopen as branches of Sunbelt Savings F.S.B.

Other area branches of Summit are located in Floydada, Hale Center, Matorador, Muleshoe, Friona, Littlefield and Farwell. Summit also has branches in Allen, Dallas and Plano.

Depositors will be able to conduct business as usual because all Summit branches are now operating as offices of the new Sunbelt, a Federal Home Loan Bank Board spokesman said.

All deposits have been protected, including those over the $100,000 Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. limit. The same contracted rates and terms on all certificates of deposit will continue to be honored.

Joe Wilson, manager of the Plainview office of Summit, said Saturday, "As far as I know, everything is the same and they have asked me to refer all calls to the Dallas office."

Friday, FHLBB officials announced that eight troubled thrifts, including Summit, have been merged into a new institution, which will be controlled by the FSLIC.

In addition to Summit, the institutions Law merged include Sunbelt Savings Association of Dallas, Western Federal Savings and Loan Association of Dallas, Independent American Savings Association of Irving, First City Savings Association of Irving, Federated Savings and Loan Association of Brady, MultiBanc Savings Association of Alice and Texana Savings and Loan Association of Texarkana.

As of June 30, Summit had total assets of $186.3 million and total liabilities of $340.6 million with deposits of $320.3 million. Regulatory capital infused into Summit from banking regulators totaled $254.3 million as of June 30.

The merger of the eight insolvent Texas thrifts into the government-owned Sunbelt Savings F.S.B. is designed to be the largest savings and loan bailout of the proposed Southwest Plan, FHLBB officials said. The plan was developed to consolidate or close 120 ailing S&L's of the 279 thrifts operating in the state as of Jan. 1.

The FSLIC estimates it will spend at least $5.5 billion over the next decade to create the new institution and combine the thrifts.

The bailout price includes $2.5 billion in a note the FSLIC has committed to the transaction, plus promises to cover future losses on the loan portfolio.

"We have put in a $2.5 billion note," said Tom Lykos Jr., deputy director of the Southwest Plan. "We never said that was the total cost of resolution of this package of institutions."

The Southwest plan transaction Friday brought the number of insolvent thrifts resolved last week to 20. According to Danny Wall, chairman of the FHLBB, 32 insolvent S&L's have been resolved since the Southwest Plan was unveiled three months ago.

Thursday, the FSLIC announced the consolidation of 12 troubled thrifts into the American Federal Bank F.S.B., which will be headquartered in Dallas. The government will invest $1.3 billion to assist in acquisition of the 12 by an investor group led by Chicago banker William Gibson and Lone Star Technologies.

George Barclay, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas, praised the transaction which took place Friday.

"If we didn't do this transaction and we allowed these institutions to be out offering higher rates for deposits we would impact the viability of the transactions that have already been completed," Barclay said. "It was an absolute necessity to bring control to cost of funds in this part of the state."

"In two days the bank board has acted to stop losses in four of the most troubled thrifts in the country," said Mary Creedon of the Dallas office of the FSLIC. "The eight thrifts have the most complex and troubled asset portfolios in the state."

"Continuing to resolve these most troubled institutions will allow the positive performance of the healthy segments of the industry, the healthy majority of the industry, to be seen."

Ms. Creedon said Friday's action, the sixth consolidation under the Southwest Plan, would bring about a significant reduction in institutions offering higher-than-average interest rates for depositors.

Thomas J. Wageman, former president of Sunbelt Savings, will lead the management team operating the new thrift. continued on page 2

Steve Carriker Sworn In As New Senator

(Austin) - The 30th District's new State Senator was administered the oath of office in a Capitol ceremony last week by Lt. Governor Bill Hobby. Steve Carriker, who won election to the Senate in the August 13th special election with 62% of the vote, now moves to the Senate from the House of Representatives, where he served almost 6 years.

Lt. Governor Hobby described Senator Carriker as "ideally suited" to serve one of the largest districts in the state. In brief remarks following his swearing-in, Senator Carriker recognized former Senator Ray Farabee who was present for the ceremony as a great legislator whose departure from the Senate "leaves a great void in the leadership of this body which I can only promise to do my best to help fill."

Carriker also praised Representative Charles Finnell, who had also sought the Democratic nomination for the 30th District seat, as "a strong competitor, and an even better supporter in helping me be elected to this office." Representative Finnell and his wife Kay were also present among the 200 constituents and supporters from across the district who had travelled to Austin to attend the swearing-in ceremonies.

Senator Carriker, whose wife Kathy and their 3 children stood with him on the President's dias for the ceremony, will be up for re-election in November.

Jan Hamilton To Participate In Research Study

Research on the "Satiety" or hunger delay of beef vs. chicken vs. fish will be conducted cooperatively between the Department of Food & Nutrition at Texas Tech University and the University of Melbourne, Department of Medicine, Melbourne, Australia. Researchers involved in the study will be Andrew Sinclair & Kerin O'Dea, Melbourne, Australia, and Jan Hamilton, Plainview, Texas. The study will examine hunger delay of 3 sources of protein of equal fat and calorie levels. Does one source of meat satisfy one longer than another? Does one delay intake longer? New U.S.D.A. data reveals similar caloric and fat levels of three ounces of broiled lean beef, boneless-skinless chicken breast, and baked fish. Currently weight control programs allow larger quantities of chicken and fish and ask dieters to restrict beef. If one of the sources of protein delays hunger and therefore assists the dieter in resisting high calorie snack foods

- the world of "calorie counting consumers" needs to know, states Mrs. Hamilton. Scientific design for the study will be based in a similar study done on fats and carbohydrates at John's Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland. National Institute of Health is currently funding a satiety study of fats and carbohydrates. Mrs. Hamilton will present a paper at the International Meat Science and Technology Congress in Brisbane, Australia, September 1, 1988, entitled, "Decreased Red Meat Consumption in English Speaking countries: A Positive or Negative Effect on Health?" She spoke in July at the International Dietetics Congress in Paris, France. She will go on to Melbourne to perform cooperative research studies with Drs. Sinclair and O'Dea. For further information call Dr. Don Oberleas, 806-742-3041 or Dr. Julian Spallholz, 806-742-3041, Department of Food and Nutrition, Texas Tech University.

MATT WALKER AND THE HOUNDS

They called him Matador Matt but his real name was James Madison Walker. Though he hailed from Breckenridge where he worked on the family ranch and went to school, he was born in Waco on Christmas morn, 1877. In the spring of 1900, Matt Walker, by then already a seasoned hand, showed up ready to go to work on the Matador Ranch. In less than a year he was made Wagon Boss, a position he kept until he was promoted to Range Boss, and later superintendent of the Dakota and Montana Divisions. Around 1910, Erwin E. Smith, a cowboy who took up the box camera as a hobby, was on a tour of ranches, capturing the ranch life, rodeos, and cattle drives on film. He did an entire series on the Matador Ranch, some featuring H.H. Campbell at his dugout and many others featuring the cowboys at work. Magazines such as CATTLEMAN used Smith's photos to illustrate stories and articles of the old West, some of which he'd written. Many of the pictures which later brought him fame and fortune were made on the Matador Ranch. After Smith's death in 1947, his family presented many of his negatives and photographs recording that era of ranching to the Library of Congress. The ruggedly handsome Walker, dressed fastidiously in a white shirt and tie, his pants neatly tucked into high-topped boots, a ten-gallon Stetson sitting squarely on his head, caught the eye of the photographer. Smith captured the range boss riding, roping, busting broncs, and cutting out strays. In 1913 Matador Ranch Manager John MacBain sent Walker to head up the Dakota Division. When the drought forced the Matadors to expand their range into the Ft. Belknap Reservation area of Montana, Walker was named superintendent of the Montana Division, dividing his time between the two ranges. In Montana the new superintendent became friends with Wallace Coburn and brothers Walt and Bob of the Circle C Ranch near Malta. In an attempt to cut down on the wanton killing of sheep and cattle by prairie and timber wolves, the Coburns kept about fifteen or twenty seasoned, fighting hounds. The wolfer pack was made up of various individuals and mixtures of greyhounds, staghounds, Irish wolfhounds, Russian wolfhounds, Airedale, and Siberian boarhounds. All killed by breeding, these hounds ran by sight and instinct, not by the scent of tracks. Once a wolf was within reach, the hounds would snap at him, spinning him around time after time. Then as the wolf was stopped the two lead hounds worked as a team, one going for the throat in a death grip while the other tore at the wolf's entrails. The other hounds piled on top and the killer wolf was no more. The wolfer stepped in, called the hounds off so that he might save the pelt and collect the $25 bounty if the catch was a timber wolf, $10 to $15 for prairie wolf, or $5 for a coyote. Walker was impressed with the effectiveness of the hounds. When the Matadors bought the Circle C in 1916, the hounds went with the sale. "From that time on," Walker's son J.M. Walker of Paducah recalled, "my father became fascinated with the hounds, and up-graded their breeding even more. He used those hounds in Montana to help control the timber wolves, as at that time the wolves were a big threat to the cattleman and cattle. Later he brought some of his hounds back to Texas." One of the many hound stories the young Walker heard as a child was that the hounds treed a manager at the headquarters. There the pack kept him until Matt returned and called them off. The other gentler side of the hounds' temperament is shown in one of Smith's photographs. Walker, three other cowboys, and a lady in riding costume, perhaps Sue Keith Alley who lived there with her husband Bob, are standing in front of the log cabin at Mott Line Camp. Walker is stroking the ears of a Doberman type dog while one of the men is petting the muzzle of a greyhound. A fox hound pants in the shade near their feet. After the northern divisions were phased out in the late 1920's, Walker returned to the home range of the Matadors. He continued working for the ranch for a few more years, running the hounds when the need arose. A pretty lass by the name of Bernice lassoed the forty-eight year old bachelor's heart. They were married in Jacksboro in 1925 and had three children. Walker's knowledge of cattle, ranges, and men no doubt stood him in good stead when he became a cattle buyer for the Federal Bank. Later he moved to his ranch in New Mexico, but this time it was to work for the cattle company of Matt Walker.

Taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the man who takes refuge in him. Psalm 34:8

LIBRARY NOTES

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

Tuesday, August 23, was the last meeting for the Texas Library Trailblazers and Stargazers "Read to Me" Club. Leigha Burns, Brenda Gillespie, Nicholas Zarate, Chantry Meyer, Cassie Campbell, Jo Beth Campbell, Skylar Clifton, Chana Buchanan, Ashley Stephens, Rachelle Renfro, Clint Cooper, Mont Darsey, Luke and Hannah Boedecker, Sean and LaShea Rose were present to receive their reading certificates and sing along with Robin and Lola, before we went to Cassie Campbell's backyard, where her mother, Janie Campbell, had a picnic lunch ready for us. Also present for the program and the hot dogs, chips, cool drinks and decorated cookies were these parents, brothers and sisters: Sherry Rose, Robin Boedecker and Will, Robin Darsey and Bert, Deidra and Monica Clifton, Carmen Zarate, Reneigh Burns, Kathy and Robert Gillespie, Judy Cooper, Clint, Clay and Cody. I may have missed some, but we certainly appreciate Douglas and Janie letting us picnic and play in their backyard, and all the mothers that responded so bountifully in helping Janie with the refreshments. Mrs. Pohl had lettered the children's names on their certificates in the calligraphy she does so beautifully. I want to thank Kimberly Moore for doing certificates of appreciation for Lola and Robin so I could present them as a surprise. Kimberly learned calligraphy from Lola and happened to be home when I needed her. I also thank Carla Jones for making the pictures of the children with their certificates, and the one at the picnic that appeared in last week's paper. The library school group will take a vacation during the month of September, and resume our regular schedule of meeting on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 10:30 a.m., so we will "Ring the Bells for Library School" on October 11, 1988. See you then!

We had wondered if we even needed to keep the library open during "Old Settlers" but there was a steady stream of visitors, and a "huge" number of books returned and a good number checked out. We appreciate you home town people who bring your guests in to see the mural, or suggest that they come by before leaving town. Bailey Elliot volunteered to keep the Library on Friday, and sold $75.00 worth of cookbooks, the Mural Sketch books, and the Motley County Library Mural History Book, by Marisue Potts. Thank you, Bailey. A great big THANKS is due to Grace Campbell who manned a booth all three days of the Motley-Dickens County Reunion to sell the Sketch Books and History Books, and to Marisue Potts for the hours of research, hard work and the hustle to get the book ready in time for Old Settlers. We missed getting a few of our guests to sign our Guest Book, but out of town and out of state guest since August 17 include Gladys Timmons of Northfield, Gary, Jane, Clay and Becca Bridge of Afton, Bertie and Rayford Fowler of Brownfield, Joanne Stevens of Dallas, Martin H. Hibberts of Tucson Arizona, Ashley Arnold of Mountain Valley, Ca., Liska Lister of Cisco, Tx, Heather Gilson, Knox City, Woodrow Read of Graham, Russell and Helen Lundberg, of San Saba, TX, Gayle Allen, McKenney, TX, Bertie Hanson, Navis Thomas, Mt. Pleasant, Tx. Juanita and Harold Jones of Brownfield, John and Rainey Sigwald, Plainview, Jennie Lou Murphy, Kori, Susan and Bob Heckin, and Jackie Green of Lubbock. Vella E. Sunbelt Savings continued from page 1

Wageman and his management team met on Tuesday, of this week to determine the goals of the new institution, Sunbelt spokesman Jan Kutileak said Saturday. "Assets of the group, including the number of branches, will be reduced over the next several months," Wall said. "Once we fully implement consolidation and untangle the loan participations, the surviving institution will be much more attractive to a buyer. As it was, no bid to date for the group sufficiently realized the value of these institutions. "We are planning to run this institution down to shrink it to a viable size," Lykos said. "We are planning to do that hopefully within a year's time, at which point we will go out and seek new capital to fully capitalize this institution." An estimated 200 insolvent thrift cases are currently in various stages of negotiation, bidding and marketing and as many as half of those may be resolved by the end of the year.

FLSIC has received 37 conforming bids and at least some of those cases will be resolved in the next few weeks, Wall said. Meanwhile, analysts are questioning whether the consolidations will lead to a long-term resolution of the state's banking troubles. "The question is: What have they accomplished by this?" asked Bery Ely, an Alexandria, Va.-based thrift consultant. "I characterize this as throwing together a bunch of minnows and sharks and getting one bloated whale." Similarly, U.S. Rep. Charles E. Schumer, D-N.Y., said he was concerned such long-term commitments from the government might mean taxpayers eventually will have to bailout FLSIC. "Resolving hopelessly insolvent thrifts like these once and for all takes real money, no funny money notes and asset guarantees," Schumer said in a prepared statement. He called the Sunbelt deal a "temporary Band-Aid" that only serves as a delay to a taxpayer bailout.

TEENS LEARN HOW TO SURVIVE THAT FIRST JOB

Once you've been offered a job, it's not a moment too soon to start thinking about how you'll keep it. A first job or any new job can be stressful for teens. But you can avoid most problems with a little thought and advance planning. Being prepared for the first day is important. For example, if you're waiting tables, bring a pen that works. If you need to walk a lot, wear comfortable shoes. Know what time to report for work and get there at least five minutes early.

Senior Citizens Report

by Iris Blevins

Monday the Mini Bus went to Plainview and they had a bus load of people riding. Tuesday we had our regular fourth Tuesday luncheon, and all of the good food, you have never seen so much, our table was fully covered. We had domino and forty-two games going when the dinner bell rang. By that time, Mrs. Martin had finished giving Blood pressure tests and Mrs. Baker called on Dan to say the blessing for the food. We had thirty people sign our register. We had six guests. Dr. Albert Traveck and grandson, Barbara Jameson and the Tribune girls. It is our pleasure that you came. Don't forget! We elect a new president, vice president, secretary and reporter the second Tuesday in September. We are happy that more people will get interested and come and be with us and enjoy the fellowship of your community. And the building is so nice and comfortable. Harriett, I thank you for the pretty card and comments on my reporting for our senior citizens. I am glad you are interested enough to read the report.

Find out about your job. No one will think you're dumb for asking questions. Don't worry about making mistakes the first day either. If the employee wanted experienced help, he would have hired it. Pay attention to your trainer so you don't have to be retrained. If your trainer doesn't supervise you, get to know the person who does. Find out what name he or she wants to be called.

Co-workers are an important factor in any job. Introduce yourself and learn their names. Socialize over coffee break or lunch, but don't get caught up in the gossip. Use good manners and be cooperative to make a good impression on the other employees and your boss as well.

Look sharp. Dress appropriately, perform tasks in a reasonable time, be enthusiastic, helpful and courteous. Having a positive attitude is the secret to success as you keep trying to improve. Who knows? Your job may eventually lead to a career.

I have had people in Houston, Dallas and Oklahoma City to tell me, that they enjoyed the Senior Citizen article.

I enjoyed riding our bus in the Parade Thursday at the Old Settlers reunion in Roaring Springs.

If one takes part in anything, they always get something out of it, and if you don't put anything in, you don't get anything out. At least that is true with me. Norabell opened the door of our building at 2:00 p.m. Friday evening for our evening of games and fellowship. We had one table of 84 and one of 42. Everyone was happy and ready to enjoy the games.

We were happy to have Mrs. Martin come and check our Blood pressure. We thank you, Armantha. Have you noticed how nice our center yard looks? Thanks to those who did it. Now, to my group of people who can't hit the heat anymore, but we can make a donation to the center yard fund, to help Mrs. Baker on the many, many hours she is there cleaning and watering the yard, while everyone else is at home. Our hats are off to you, Ruth.

Afton Baptist Church Celebrates Centennial

The Afton Baptist Church was beautifully decorated August 14, 1988 for the 100th Celebration. Many enjoyed morning services and meeting old friends. The descendants of Marian Burt's grandfather, who were present were L.A. Gates and wife of Texas City, Ed Gates and wife of Wimberly, Rev. Edwin Gates of Corpus Christi, Sue Anderson and Nettie Gates Anderson of Borger; Alvin Gates and wife, Oklahoma City; Ivan Gates and wife, Oklahoma City; Bebe Gates of El Centro, California. Everyone enjoyed Rev. Victor Crabtree. At 87, he's great. One of the ladies said, "I wish I'd gone and ask him if he would come out of retirement and come be our pastor" The special songs were super. As I sat waiting for the service to begin, many fond memories came. I could see "Ma" Stokes and Mrs. Hext sitting in the northeast corner of the Tabernacle, as it was called, bedding the small children down on "the Baptist pallets" before Bro. Stokes would start his sermon. He was our dear friend and pastor for years. We had two nice visitors in my home after lunch, Ray Gates of Fritch and Ed Gates of Borger. Never met them before. Maybe relatives. They just came to Afton to meet the Gates. It was a lovely day.

IMMUNIZATIONS NEEDED FOR SCHOOL AND GOOD HEALTH

Are your children immunized? You should ask yourself this question for two important reasons. First, children must receive vaccinations for six diseases, diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles, mumps and rubella, before they can enter Texas elementary and secondary schools. Also, pertussis (whooping cough) vaccination is required for children less than five years of age, and certain vaccinations must be given to children who are entering day or child care centers. Secondly, and most importantly, parents are urged to immunize their children because the vaccines protect them from diseases that can cause permanent disabilities or even death. The immunization series should begin when a child is two months old. The process continues until they are about five years of age, and booster shots for tetanus and diphtheria continue throughout life. For more information about immunizations, contact the clinic. For a free brochure, "Immunizations, Investing in a Healthy Future," write Texas Medical Association, Public Relations Department 1801 Lamar Blvd., Austin, Texas 78701.

Rolling Plains PCA Reports Increased Loan Activity

STAMFORD - The credit quality of area farmers and ranchers has improved substantially through 1988, according to John S. Rike III, President of Rolling Plains Production Credit Association. Stocker cattle operations, especially, should also fare well due to the lowest numbers in 30 years.

"Overall, the credit quality of our member-borrowers has improved," says Rike. He noted that in 1988, the association has not had to channel any additional funding into its loan loss reserve accounts.

According to Rike, approximately 65 percent of the PCA's loan portfolio is invested in cotton production; another 25 percent is in livestock; 5 percent goes to wheat farmers and the remainder is spread among various other enterprises.

Even though the association's loan activity increased and financial indicators improved, the PCA reported a net loss of $413,350 for the first half of the year compared with last year's net income of $217,877 at mid-year.

Rike attributes the loss to the $743,305 assessment paid to the farm credit system in March, 1988. Rolling Plains was one of the nine Texas Associations required to make this payment.

Under provisions of the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987, financially strong Farm Credit institutions were required to pay a one-time assessment to the Farm Credit Financial Assistance Corporation (FAC). In turn, the FAC will use the pooled capital to support the nation's ailing Farm Credit institutions. Congress is now considering legislation which could reverse the assessment and return a portion of the $743,305 to the association. Rolling Plains PCA maintains a healthy capital to assets ratio of 35 percent with some 13 million in capital funds.

Statewide, the Texas Farm Credit System reported $900,000 in net income for the first six months of 1988, compared to a net gain of $6.8 million for the same period in 1987. Nationwide, the Farm Credit System recorded a $336 million profit over the two quarters, compared with a loss of $201 million for the same period last year.

Production Credit Associations in Texas specialize in short and intermediate-term loans for financing producers' livestock, equipment, supply and real estate needs. Rolling Plains PCA has approximately 730 loans outstanding for a total of $36 million to farmers, ranchers and ag-related businesses in Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dickens, Donley, Foard, Hall Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Motley, Shackelford and Stonewall counties.

Grandson Attends Gifted & Talented Program In Mexico

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Mrs. Lola Pohl and was taken from the Snyder Daily News.

Jayson is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pohl of Matador. Jayson's mother, Carolyn Limmer was a graduate of Matador High School.

Jayson Limmer and J.K. Palmer spent two weeks in June on Pelican Island in the gulf of Mexico designing, building and test flying models of aircraft and spacecraft in a program sponsored by the Texas A&M University's Institute for the Gifted and Talented.

Both boys will be sophomores at Snyder High School this fall. Jayson is the son of Howard and Carolyn Limmer of Snyder.

Approximately 115 students attended the two-week session and each picked a particular area of study to specialize in. Choices ranged from space science, which Limmer and Palmer chose, to archeology, marine biology and others.

They were kept busy daily with lectures, assignments and projects such as designing and flying paper airplanes and an egg craft which was an airplane which was to fly 50 feet with an egg in it without breaking the egg.

They also took numerous tours such as Ellington Field which is the Air Force base where shuttle pilots are trained; and NASA where they saw a shuttle simulator, space suits and the lunar lander.

The boys also visited Rocket Park where they saw the Saturn 5 rocket which took Apollo II to the moon, the little John rocket which took the Gemini capsules up and the Mercury Redstone rocket which took the Mercury capsules up.

They toured the weightless environment training facility at NASA which creates the zero G effect for prospective astronauts.

The boys heard several lectures by top space officials including Dr. Norm Thagard, who was an astronaut on Challenger 7 and Space Lab 3, James O'Beir, an expert on the Soviet space program and Dr. Wendell Mendel, who spoke to the students about the future of the space program.

The final project which the space science students worked on was to design and draw a diagram of a space colony.

"We split into groups and came up with for the space colony and then we got together and shared our ideas," Limmer explained.

"I was in charge of the daily life which included entertainment, a school system and a hospital. J.K. was in charge of the government," Limmer said.

The boys said they spent about three days on the project in all. Parents Day was held on the last day of the two-week session and both Limmer and Palmer helped put together a slide presentation which was presented to parents.

According to Limmer, he liked learning about aerodynamics best of all. "I wanted to learn how to build a better plane."

Limmer said he chose this particular session because he is interested in having a career in the space science field someday.

Besides learning about the space program and designing and flying rockets and aircrafts, the boys said they also engaged in extracurricular activities. Movies were shown every night and dances were held. During a swimming pool Olympics contest, Limmer took the best dive award.

Bank Franchise Taxes Lower This Year

AUSTIN, Tex. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock on Tuesday sent checks totaling $51.2 million in bank franchise tax allocation to 2,070 Texas taxing units.

This year's allocation is 21 percent lower than last year's allocation of $64.9 million because of last year's poor economy, according to Bullock.

"Although most state industries have seen an economic upturn, banking and finance haven't shown signs of recovery yet. Tax revenues from these industries won't improve until the businesses stabilize," Bullock said.

Bullock said the allocations represent franchise taxes paid by banks that do business in Texas. Banks must file a report with the Comptroller's office by March 15 each year.

The bank franchise tax rate is the same as the state's corporate franchise tax rate - $6.70 per $1,000 of taxable capital and surplus, with a minimum tax of $150, according to Bullock.

The Texas Legislature authorized the bank franchise tax in 1984, and the tax was collected for the first time in 1985.

Bullock said that a portion of the tax goes into the state's general revenue fund, but most of it is allocated to local tax jurisdictions, such as cities, counties, and other local taxing units such as school, water, and hospital districts.

For the City of Matador: Net payment this period, $1,326.72; comparable payment prior year, 0.00; 1988 payments to date, $1,326.72; 1987 payments to date, $1926.87; percent change to date, -31.15.

Social Security Tips

By Terry J. Clements

Medicare hospital insurance can help pay for hospice care if a doctor certifies that a person is terminally ill. In addition, a person must sign a statement choosing hospice care instead of standard Medicare benefits for the terminal illness.

Hospice care is a special program of care designed to provide pain relief, symptom management, and supportive services to terminally ill people and their families.

Medicare can pay for two 90-day periods of care, one 30-day period and one extension period if patient is still terminally ill.

During a hospice period, Medicare pays the full cost of all covered services for terminal illness. There are no deductibles or co-payments except for part of the cost of outpatient drugs and inpatient respite care. Respite care is a short-term inpatient stay which may be necessary for the patient in order to give temporary relief to the person who regularly assists with home care. Inpatient respite care is limited each time to stays of no more than 5 days in a row.

For respite care, the patient is responsible for 5 percent of the cost or about $3.25 per day up to a maximum of $520 during a period that begins when a hospice plan is first chosen and ends 14 days after such care is cancelled.

The Health Care Financing Administration publishes a pamphlet, Hospice Benefits Under Medicare, which is available at any Social Security office.

Grandson Competes In Soccer Tournament In Europe

Ross Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter of Midland and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter of Flomot, recently competed in a soccer tournament in Denmark and Sweden.

His mom, along with 17 other members of the Midland Soccer Association were chosen to compete in this tournament.

Mrs. Hunter, the former Rhonda Dickerson, is a graduate of Silverton and accompanied the group on their trip.

Ross is a member of the 11-year-old team, and six of his Midland teammates were also chosen for the trip.

Midland's Mayor, Carroll Thomas, issued the soccer players a proclamation, making them "Midland's Good Will Ambassadors to the People of Europe" during the tour.

A two-week training camp was held in June in Dallas. The Midland Soccer Association members lived with their Dallas counterparts for 10 days.

The Midlanders were members of the Dallas Flames, one of 125 soccer teams from more than 30 countries which took part in Denmark's Dana Cup and Sweden's Gothia Cup.

The Flames' '76 team (representing boys born in 1976) lost in the quarterfinals of both events.

Tryouts for the European teams were held in Amarillo, Lubbock, Tyler, Longview, Arlington, Midland and the New Mexico towns of Carlsbad and Las Cruces.

Ross captained the '76 team. In the Dana cup, the only goal against the Flames was the one that Norway scored to eliminate the 76ers.

In the Gothia Cup, the '76 team defeated Peru 2-0, Sweden 7-0 and tied Finland, 0-0. By virtue of goal differential, the Flames advanced to the quarterfinals, but lost to Italy, 2-0.

Ross is also the grandson of Carrie Dickerson of Silverton. He is the great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hunter of Quitaque.

DPS Urges Caution For Labor Day Weekend

The Labor Day holiday will be the last holiday of the summer. While the motorists of Texas are making their plans for the holiday, the Texas Department of Public Safety is also making plans for Labor Day.

Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, stated, "The Labor Day weekend will run from 6:00 p.m., Friday, September 2nd until 11:59 p.m., Monday, September 5th. During that time all available Department of Public Safety troopers will be on duty. These troopers have been instructed to be on the alert and direct their enforcement efforts toward those violators causing the most accidents - speeders and those who drive while drinking. Troopers are also aware that traffic deaths are sharply higher at night. There are more fatal accidents at night than daytime even though there are fewer vehicles on the road at night."

He added, "The Texas Department of Public Safety urges all Texas drivers to slow down to the legal speed limit, avoid the use of alcohol, if they plan to drive, and to use their safety belts and above all do not try to crowd a weeks vacation into 3 days."

Michel Parks Completes Basic Training

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1987 graduate of Spearman High School, Texas.

Gymnastics Club Generates Excitement

Friends and relatives packed the Motley Co. High School gym on August 17 to watch an entertaining presentation by The Tri-County Gymnastics Club. About forty youngsters, ages ranging from pre-school to high school, and a special cheerleading class, including junior high and senior high girls, showed off the skills acquired during workouts of the last year and the summer at the Flomot Community Gym.

Coached by Albert Treto, a competing gymnast himself, and Joe Herrera of Lubbock, members of the young club generated enthusiasm for the demanding sport during the Wednesday night program. From the heart warming antics of the younger set the demonstration progressed to the tumbling skills of the more experienced competitors.

The cheerleaders performed chants, dance routines, and tumbling, showing off skills picked up during their twice weekly summer sessions.

Sixteen members plan to compete in novice, intermediate, and advanced classes at various meets held in Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo, Snyder, and Sherman.

Fund Raisers to Buy New Equipment
The club is working toward purchasing a new "ski floor," a runway which actually uses skis and will allow improvement in new skills at a faster rate. Also in the future is a fold-up trampoline which will allow the gym to be used for other purposes.

Fund raising plans include the sale of tapes of the presentation, a program-cake auction to be given at the Flomot gym in the near future, and a bake sale in Matador on September 24. Tapes of the "recital" may be ordered from Syd Pipkin for a donation of $7.00 but must be ordered before September 13.

Mattresses Needed
Used mattresses are needed as crash mats, protection for the gymnasts against hitting the walls and floor. If anyone has a mattress to donate, please call Betty Stevens, 347-2809, or Linda Jameson, 347-2440.

Business Session Elects Officers, Makes Plans

In a called parents business meeting on August 24 with thirteen attending, the following new officers were elected: Betty Stephens, president; Linda Jameson, vice president; Pam Morris, secretary; Brenda Osborn, treasurer; Marisue Potts, reporter. Representatives from the different communities are Lisa Fuston, Turkey; Kathy Taylor, Quitaque; Pam Morris, Flomot; Mrs. Brooks, Silverton; Penny Taylor, Cedar Hill.

Annual Dues of $10 per family will be requested to go toward purchasing needed equipment. The club will join Barnyard Academy for competition reasons but will try to train parents as judges so that next year, the club can compete under its own name. Red, black, and white competition suits were selected and will be ordered soon.

The fall workouts begin on Wednesday, August 31. Classes will be offered on Wednesdays and Fridays, beginning with the beginner classes at 3:30, intermediate at 4:15, advanced at 5:00, and cheerleaders at 5:45. Parents interested in signing up children at the low rate of $10 a month for one session per week or $16 for two sessions per week should contact one of the officers.

During the month of September, all classes will be held at Flomot Gym. However, because of the interest shown by Matador parents who are unable to car-pool to Flomot, the Wednesday class will be held in Matador at a later time, to be announced.

Efforts continue to secure a building in Matador with high enough ceilings and long enough runways. Members look forward to an exciting year with many challenges and goals met.

Barbara's Bylines

In interviewing several people of different ages I asked the question, "What does Old Settlers mean to you?"

These were some of the answers: "It means alot to me, getting to see old friends and coming home." C.J. Cornett of Wingate, Texas.

"This is the biggest time of my life, seeing people I haven't seen in a year or 20 years or so, I was away so long, now it is the highlight of my year." Ed D. Smith, Lubbock.

"Lots of old people, rides, kids, dancing and fun." Christi Potts, Matador.

"It brings back memories to me of getting up early and helping Daddy load the horses to come to ride in the parade, then ride all day and eat out of the car trunk loaded with food and just enjoying getting together." Marisue Bursleson Potts.

I hope those that attended or took part in the 65th Old Settlers reunion enjoyed themselves this year.

It always reminds me of my Daddy. He loved Old Settlers from beginning to end. He looked forward to seeing old friends and meeting new friends.

I enjoyed talking to people who remembered him or his dad or brothers or sister and telling me stories about them. One family (the Smith's of Nevada) came to the Dumont reunion last weekend and stayed for the Old Settlers. They had lived on the Bird Ranch before I was born and I met one of the sons and his son (who rode a bull on Friday night) but I never did get to meet Mrs. Smith. Maybe next year.

If you didn't watch part of the Rodeo you really missed a show, the stock producers and announcer were real professionals and really know how to put on a good Rodeo. I hope they come back next year. Also the Cowboy church service each evening before the Rodeo was a blessing.

Carla and I say thank you for all the help and complements on our Old Settlers Tribune.

Judge not, that ye be not judged.

I would like to thank all of the people in the community that donated their time, clothing and money to the foster children we have in our care from Motley County. Also, I would like to thank the Matador Church of Christ for the large donation that was made. The children are thrilled to have clothing to wear this fall and I appreciate everyone that helped with this project. You answered some prayers and made some children happy. I am proud to say I live in this community with such good people.

We thank you,

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

A third grade teacher asked her class, "Why did the Puritans come to America?"

"To worship in their own way," said a boy, "and to make others do the same."

But God doesn't make you worship Him, if you don't want to.

You were created by God, and you live in a world made by God. You are what you are because He made you that way.

What you do, matters to God. Where you go after you die, matters to God.

He wants to save you from sin and its consequences, and to enjoy the happiness of heaven forever. But the choice is up to you.

The Bible says, "Whoever wants to, let Him come." Come to Him, won't you?
