Foster Whaley Honored At Roaring Springs Banquet

Foster and Lois Whaley

The Predicta Study Club and The Lions Club of Roaring Springs sponsored a Banquet on Thursday night at the Texas Wagon Train Restaurant and Museum honoring Foster and Lois Whaley of Pampa.

LaVoe Thacker, President of the Predicta Study Club welcomed everyone and Joe M. (Buzz) Thacker gave the invocation before the delicious meal.

Jeff Thacker, President of the Roaring Springs Lions Club, introduced Foster Whaley, Texas State Representative of the 84th District. Rep. Whaley has a long list of accomplishments during his 5 terms in the State, including helping Motley County get their library.

He helped with the Motley County ISD in getting the disaster grants, and helped Roaring Springs with the economic grant to get Quail Pipe Co., etc and has helped in any way he could when they called him.

As Whaley spoke to the group he stated there had been a lot of rewards as serving as State Representative and he thanked the people of Roaring Springs for being a part of that reward and how much he had enjoyed being a part of helping Roaring Springs and Motley County.

He assured the audience when the legislature returned in Sept. 89 that the Texas Education Agency Bill that Ross Perot wanted for Teachers Career Ladder and the TEA Budget would change and also the new law concerning the weight of vehicles for 10,000 pounds and over, in the DPS law would be changed. He explained that some time in these 13 or more page bills there were hidden proposals and this time part of the bill concerning the DPS law were not even filled in and it was like signing a blank check and in this case was a mistake to have passed it this way.

Whaley stated the only way a state income tax bill would pass in Texas was by secret ballot and he forsores them making cuts where they are need instead. He for one has been against excess money given for arts (giving grants for the ballet or displaying of quilts, etc.), this is frivolous and could be changed. He also stated he did not vote for House Bill 72.

Whaley named over the candidates running to replace him, due to his retirement, and gave a brief background on the two from Pampa. He stated that in the 12 county district that Pampa had one-fourth of the votes.

Following Whaley's speech, Eugene Watson, Mayor of Roaring Springs, read a proclamation making February 18, 1988, Lois and Foster Whaley day in Roaring Springs and LaVoe Thacker then presented gifts to both Lois and Foster in appreciation of their work and support. The gifts were from all citizens of Roaring Springs.

Matador Assembly Of God Church Has New Pastor

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Eason have accepted the pastorate at the First Assembly of God Church in Matador, Texas.

They have pastored a number of churches in the West Texas District and also in North Texas. Rev. Eason was licensed in 1950 and ordained in the early 1960's.

The Easons are the parents of three children, John Eason of Fort Worth, Beth Jones of Fort Worth, and Delores Cain of Houston; they have four grandsons and two granddaughters.

Rev. Eason tells us, "We are not here to share an impressive resume or to tell of past laurels. We are here to share with you the love of a resurrected Christ, One who can set us free from all sin and condemnation. I think you will agree that we are living in a very troubled time in the history of our nation. The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave sounds like something we read a long, long time ago. People are hurting and we believe the Lord has sent us here to lend a helping hand and to pray and believe with you that God will meet our needs." If anyone would like prayer, call 347-2771.

Mark, Chapter 9, Verse 23, Jesus said, "If thou canst believe all things are possible to him that believeth."

Lady Matadors Win Bi-District Championship

The Lady Matadors won, for the second year, Bi-District Championship, by defeating Chillicothe 57-51 on February 16 in Vernon. Kathy Mangram led in the scoring department with 21 points. She was followed by Chandra Brown 15; Joely Ewing 9; Leigh Barton 4; Yulanda Campbell 4; Regina Cruse 2; and Brandi Barton with 2. Kathy also led in rebounds with 11. Leigh Barton had 7 and Joely Ewing had 6 during this game.

Chillicothe jumped out to a 7-0 lead early in the first quarter as Motley County had difficulty hitting the basket early in the game. The first quarter ended with a score of 9-6 in Chillicothe favor. The Lady Matadors exploded in the second quarter, scoring 17 points to Chillicothe's 4. The half ended with the Lady Mats leading by a score of 23-13. Chillicothe bounced back in the third quarter, outscoring Motley County 23-13. This left the score at 38-36 in favor of Motley County going into the fourth quarter. The Lady Mats then went into a full court press and was able to win the game by a score of 57-51.

Chandra Brown led the team in assists with 7. She also had 2 steals and forced two 5 second turnovers against Chillicothe. Joely Ewing led the team with 5 steals and had 2 assists and forced two 5 second turnovers. Leigh Barton had Ewing led the team with 5 steals and had 2 assists and forced two 5 second turnovers. Leigh Barton had 3 steals, forced two 5 second turnover and blocked one shot. The entire team played excellent defense. Others contributing to this effort were Yulanda Campbell with 2 steals and two 5 second turnovers. Regina Cruse with an assists and 1 rebound, Brandi Barton with 2 rebounds and a fine defensive effort on Sandra Scott, one of Chillicothe's leading scorers. Tammy Taylor also played excellent defensive as well as handling the ball on offense for the Lady Matadors.

The Lady Matadors lost in the Area game to a seasoned Nazareth team by a score of 66-42. The score is not necessarily indicative of the game. The Lady Matadors put on their finest defensive effort of the year in this game. Nazareth has been scoring 80 or more points in most of their games, with several games in the 90's and at least one game going over 100 points.

Chandra Brown led the offense with 16 points, followed by Kathy Mangram with 8, Joely Ewing 5, Yulanda Campbell 5, Regina Cruse 4, Leigh Barton 2 and Brandi Barton with 2. Kathy also led in rebounds with 7. Brandi Barton had 5, Joely Ewing 4, Leigh Barton 3, Yulanda Campbell 2, Chandra Brown 2, and Regina Cruse with 1. Chandra had 4 assists to lead in that category also. The Lady Mats hustled

by Marisue Potts

Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles on the background of the people, places, and events depicted in the Motley County Library's historical mural. In the spirit of research, corrections and additions are solicited.

From various directions hunting outfits pushed into the buffalo ranges of western Texas, searching for the thundering herds. Since Mackenzie's 4th Cavalry had routed the comanches in Palo Duro Canyon, the plains seemed safer.

In the spring of 1875 Dick Bussell and his brother, who had been hunting out of Ft. Griffin, headed northwest, traveling along the Pease River and Prairie Dog Fork of the Red. On Mulberry Creek, they found all the buffalo they could handle.

As the slaughter heightened, hunters killed the lumbering beasts in record-breaking numbers. Near Childress, Frank Collinson, using a fifteen-pound Sharps .45, killed 121 buffaloes in a single stand. J. Wright Moar, often traveling with nothing more than his Big Boy, two or three hundred rounds of ammunition, and a pocketfull of salt, estimated he downed 20,500, including an albino or white buffalo near Sweetwater, in his nine years of hunting.

As Kansas hunters moved into the Texas range, Charley Rath teamed up with Dodge City cutlers, Lee and Reynolds, to buy hides and supply hunters. Wagon loads of guns, ammunition, supplies, and whiskey, accompanied by cattle, mules, and dance hall girls, started for Hidetown, later known as Mobeetie, in the Texas Panhandle.

At the merging of the Middle Pease and TeePee Creek where abandoned ridge poles formed skeletons of tipis, hide dealers Armstrong and Sharp were dropped off to establish TeePee City, an outpost which would serve buffalo hunters and survey parties. Rath and Reynolds continued southward to set up their headquarters on the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos.

At TeePee City, Issac Armstrong ruled over the two-room picket building, hotel on one side, and a saloon, complete with dance hall girls and gaming tables on the other. The team of marksman Charles Hart, and skiners John Cook, Warren Dockum, Cyrus Reed, and Frank Williamson hunted the Pease River and outfit had a freight wagon pulled by six yoke of oxen and two light wagons pulled by two-horse teams. Their equipment included two Dutch ovens and other cooking equipment, bedding, extra guns, ammunition, and a grinding stone. In three months they had 3,361 hides to trade at Ft. Griffin. The price of hides dropped to $1.25 each.

Although the Indians were technically living on the reservation, some renegades or hunting parties did return. Collinson related to H.H. Campbell that in the fall of 1876, Comanches and Kiowas, accompanied by several hundred 4th Cavalry soldiers under Major Davidson, killed 1,100 buffalo in the vicinity of TeePee City.

During an Indian scare twenty-four hunters, including Collinson, trailed the Indians. When the whiskey-fortified whites caught up with the redskins at their camp in Yellowhouse Canyon, the hunters were routed, as much by their own actions as those of the Indians. But even so, the hunters were willing to risk their scalps for the hides.

The harvest of hides peaked in 1876-1877. But by 1878, according to Frank Collinson, it was nearly over. Collinson located a small bunch of buffalo, about twenty-five cows and calves and a few yearlings, east of their camp. "The skiners and (Jim) White heard me shooting and came with the wagon. It didn't take us long to skin them. Those were the last buffalo that we killed in Motley County."

By 1879 Rath saw the end of Texas boom, and with Henry Hamburg, who had earlier ran a store out of dugout at Ballard Springs, and other hunters, pulled out, drawing a curtain on hide hunting in Texas. The northern herd remained, at least for a time.

Choices, Challenges

"You know, young people today are faced with hundreds of choices that can affect their health and their future. Making the right decision can be as simple as just saying 'no' to drugs, or saying 'yes' to opportunity. High school agriculture and FFA offers students opportunities they can find in no other place. I hope you'll join me in saluting these young people by supporting your local FFA chapter."

"Son Beams"
By June Keltz

What is the origin of our fear of asking our Heavenly Father for what we need? Could it be that our earthly Dads were not as lenient as our Moms and we avoided confronting them if possible? Are we not fully convinced that God loves us as much as the word of God has told us? Or, do we feel unworthy, carrying a bagful of guilt over past sins? Whatever the reason, none of these were mentioned in the teaching of Jesus, so they must be fears of our own making, activated by the enemy.

Eph. 5:18 tells us "Do not get drunk with wine, for that is dissipation, but be filled with the Holy Spirit." This empowering is a need we all have, but the Great Deceiver has made it into a but sit in our homes and watch horror movies that come from evil spirits.

Jesus gave us instructions for being filled with His power. "For everyone who asks, receives; and he who seeks, finds; and to him who knocks, it shall be opened. Now suppose one of your fathers is asked by his son for a fish; he will not give him a snake instead of a fish, will he? Or if he asked for an egg, he will not give him a scorpion, will he? If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him?" (Luke 11:10-13)

Our carnal, independent, prideful teaching has been, "don't ask for a gift," but Jesus' ways are not our ways and He says "ask." He is anxious to pour out of His spirit upon us, His good gifts, when we humble ourselves and ask with a sincere, receiving heart.

Barbara's Bylines

I don't know if anyone has ever thought much about all the meetings that take place in Motley County, that are the 'backbone' of the county. I never did until I purchased the Tribune. But since that time, I have been to a lot of meetings, seems they all have their own individual characteristics. Since most of the public don't attend these, I'll describe them to you. Meeting 'A' meets with most all members present on time, they get down to business, along with a few stories and funnies to keep things light and getting the business taken care of in a reasonable time frame. Meeting 'B' meets with members drifting in late, they get business going and try to keep it flowing but seems there are always interruptions, stories and a few jokes or 'funnies' and long hours.

As a whole there is always something to drink, cokes and coffee, lots of smoking at some and not much at others (those I like best). Some have food, cakes, cookies and snacks, and at one I get to eat breakfast.

Along with all the extras there is a lot of business taken care of - most efficiently and yes there are always 2 (or more) sides to every issue. Most of the time I feel real good seeing the concern and care the elected officials have for the good and future of Motley County. Yes, we always wish there could be more to help the economy, but there can't be progress until everyone is willing to do their share. Talking and griping about what isn't done is not going to every help our progress. As one person has said "sometimes we have to get off our stool of 'do-nothing' and 'do-something' to ever accomplish anything!"

- TEN THINGS TO REMEMBER
1. The value of time
 2. The success of perseverance
 3. The pleasure of working
 4. The dignity of simplicity
 5. The worth of character
 6. The power of kindness
 7. The obligation of duty
 8. The influence of example
 9. The wisdom of economy
 10. The virtue of patience.

continually throughout the game. The Swifts led 20-12 at the end of the first quarter, and once again much of this was due to poor shooting on the part of the Lady Matadors. Nazareth had 4 field goals and 3 points on free throws during the second quarter, whereas Motley County was able to convert only 3 field goals. The score at half time was Nazareth 31, Motley County 18. In the 3rd quarter, each team scored 4 field goals, with Nazareth getting 2 more points at the free throw line. The 3rd quarter score was 41-26 in favor of Nazareth.

The Lady Matadors converted 7 field goals in the 4th quarter, 2 of these were 3 pointers by Chandra Brown, as compared to 6 field goals by Nazareth. However, Nazareth hit 13 free throws to 0 for Motley County to finalize the score at 66-42.

The Lady Matadors finished the season with a 20-8 record, 6-0 in district. It has been a good year for these young ladies and they would like to express their appreciation to the many fans that have supported them so well. We would especially like to thank our student body, faculty, and business people that backed us so well in our trips to Vernon and Plainview.

Home Economically Speaking By Carolyn Smead

THE RETURN OF THE ROAST

"Ah, the smell of Grandma's pot roast." Can't you just picture the family gathered around the table in anticipation? Or picture the delighted smiles of Ward, Wally, and the Beaver as June brings a beautiful standing rib roast to her dining room table. Beef roasts have always conjured images of home family, and togetherness.

Although roasts continue to represent a "family meal," today's families have changed--and consequently, so has the roast. Households today are smaller, family members are busier, and they are more concerned about eating healthy, nutritious foods. In order to meet the needs of these modern consumers, roasts are leaner, more closely trimmed, and are available in smaller portions.

But exactly what is a roast? A roast is any cut which is a minimum of 1 and 1/2 inch thick. A roast can be cut from virtually any section of the carcass. Notice which primal section a roast is from because this is a key to its tenderness. The four primal sections are loin, rib, chuck, and round. Cuts from the loin and rib are the most tender and can be cooked by dry heat (broiling or roasting). Roasts from the less tender chuck or round should be cooked by moist heat (braising or cooking in liquid) for the greatest eating pleasure.

A little known fact is that roasts are a highly versatile food. With one roast you actually have three meals in one - the hot roast, next-day sandwiches, and for a fun version of leftover, how about serving the roast in a salad with orange slices and vinaigrette? A quick chop of the knife can turn a roast into beef kabobs, stew meat, pepper steak, or ready to batter and use for chicken-fried steak. A new rage is ethnic cooking, and the extra roast can easily be seasoned for fajitas or cut into strips and add some soy sauce for stir-fry.

Today's consumers choose foods that not only taste good, but contribute to their health and well-being. Beef earns "gold stars" in both categories. It not only tastes great but can easily fit into a heart-healthy diet. A three-ounce cooked, trimmed serving of an Eye of Round roast contains 155 calories and 59 mg cholesterol (only 20% of the maximum daily recommendation by the American Heart Association).

When watching calories, select a roast with very little outside fat or seam fat (the fat between the muscles). Interior marbling accounts for below 10% of total fat content with most cuts being in the 5-6% range.

Small end rib roasts are recommended for their lean, tender meat because they have more of the rib eye muscle like in a strip steak. This muscle is why people buy rib roasts. You can request your butcher to cut the number of ribs you would like on the roast, but remember, the more ribs, the closer it gets to the chuck.

When cooking by dry heat, the best way to estimate cooking time is to use a meat thermometer. Insert the stem into the roast with the bulb placed in the center - avoid resting it on the bone or any fat pockets. Most cuts will be done at 140 degrees Fahrenheit for rare, 160 degrees medium, or 170 degrees well done, cooked in a 350 degree oven. Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in a low-sided pan. Season to taste or marinate to enhance juiciness. Remove the roast from the oven when the thermometer reads 5 degrees below desired doneness, loosely cover with foil, and let stand for 15 minutes. It will continue cooking, and the standing time will help to firm the meat for easier carving. Carve across the grain. Look out: the roast is back.

Favorable Beef Roast

- 3 lb. beef eye round roast
- 1/3 cup soy sauce
- 1/3 cup dry sherry
- 1/3 cup lime juice
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 tbs. minced ginger root
- 1 tbs. honey
- 2 cloves garlic, minced

Combine soy sauce, sherry, lime juice, oil, ginger root, honey and garlic. Place roast in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat. Cover dish or tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight, if desired), turning occasionally. Remove roast from marinade. Place roast on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) until thermometer registers 135 degrees on Fahrenheit. Allow 20 to 22 minutes per pound. Brush roast with reserved marinade during last 20 minutes of cooking. Carve into thin slices. 8 servings.
Nutrition data per 3-oz. trimmed serving: 178 calories; 7 g fat; 2 g carbohydrate; protein 25% U.S. RDA; 334 mg sodium; 59 mg cholesterol.

East Mound Cemetery Receives Donation From Sale Of Cotton

A generous donation recently was made to East Mound Cemetery from proceeds of the sale of scrap cotton gathered by two residents of the county who have relatives buried there.

Two bales of cotton (boleys and scrap cotton picked up by hand) brought the harvesters $242.04 which they donated to the East Mound Cemetery Association for the upkeep of the burial grounds.

The cemetery is maintained primarily by contributions or donations, many in the form of memorials honoring the deceased. Funds frequently become so depleted that expenses of maintenance are barely met, a member of the association said recently.

The caretakers, Evelyn and Johnny Jackson, assisted by Mrs. Willard McCressless do a good job in maintaining the grounds, and many favorable comments are received on the appearance of the cemetery from local people, and especially by visitors from out of town, who come back to attend a funeral or to visit graves of friends and loved ones.

An expression of gratitude was extended by the Cemetery Association for many other generous gifts which have been received in the past, as well as for the recent contribution by the donors of the cotton sale, who wished to remain anonymous.

"While the Association greatly appreciates all expressions of interest in the final resting place of our former associates and relatives, we extend special thanks to these two men for their thoughtfulness and concern at this particular time of need for funds. As summer approaches and grass and weeds begin to grow, expenses also will mount as the need for mowing and equipment upkeep increase."

MAYNARD "FISH" WILSON HONORED ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

By Earlyne Jameson

Maynard "Fish" Wilson of Quitaque, a retired brand inspector for the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, was honored on his 80th birthday with a reception from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 21 in the Community Room of the First National Bank in Quitaque.

A large portrait of Mr. Wilson and a ranching decor, including branding irons, spurs, a boot with a blue bonnet flower arrangement and a western hat filled with cards, memorials and pictures added to the western theme.

Mr. Wilson was presented a levi covered book renewing memorable occasions from his childhood until the present time. Doctors, lawyers, school teachers, college professors, cowboys, farmers, ranchers, preachers and bankers told of his many charitable acts for his fellowman. Ronnie Chestnut, funeral director in Quitaque, made a video tape of the event for Mr. Wilson.

One of the more amusing memories recalled was told by Dr. Jerry Merrell of Odessa when he was a young lad. Dr. Merrell had disturbed the campers at the annual Merrell Family Reunion held in the Gray Mule community when he roared into the campsite on his motorcycle around midnight. He was given a rude awakening the next morning when Mr. Wilson doused him with a cold bucket of water for his late night antics. He warned Mr. Wilson he would "get even" if it took a hundred years. He announced he couldn't think of a better time than today to "even the score." With a flourish, Dr. Merrell dumped a bucket of confetti on top of Mr. Wilson's head!

Hosting the courtesey were friends, Sid and Eunice McFall, Booger and Garnie Taylor, Welson and Billie Jeane Griffin, Greg and Susan Ramsey, Grady and Delene Tyler and Mr. Wilson's brother and wife, Marion and Reba Wilson of Pampa.

The table was covered with a red bandana print cloth and centered with a bronze cowboy and a cake with an outline of Texas. Refreshments of cake squares with brands, mints and chocolates in shapes of horseshoes, steer heads and boots, nuts in an acrylic western hat were served with coffee and hot spiced tea. Among the 193 guests who registered from throughout Texas were Mr. Wilson's brothers and wife, Mable and Morris Wilson of Quitaque.

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hello Neighbors, it's me again just thinking again about the old ways we used to do things - like doctoring our folks at home and using the old time remedies that nobody would ever think of mixing up today.

This thinking was brought on by a letter I got this week from a lady that lived in Matador at one time. I found out that she and her family lived on the Matador Ranch and her husband worked there. She told me a lot of things that they used as remedies for bad colds. She sent me a copy of a story from a magazine called "The Tennessee Magazine" and it's title is "The Cure Was Worse Than The Cold" and that is about the same thing I thought when Mother was doctoring me.

I'll tell you some of the things from this story after I tell you who the lady is that wrote me and you may remember her. She is Mrs. A.R. (Elizabeth Payne) Black. She lives in Bethel Springs, Tennessee and still takes the Tribune. She likes my little stories about 'ole times' and she likes to read about the comings and goings in Matador but she says that there isn't much Matador news. She said, "Maybe no one goes anywhere or maybe no one ever comes." Maybe Matador needs a reporter like Earlyne to keep up with the 'comings and goings' of the folks in town. That way our folks that live away from this country could hear a little more about the folks they used to know. Something to think about anyway.

Anyway Elizabeth said she remembers well the spoon of sugar with the coal oil or turpentine in it and how bad she hated to have to take it. She asked if we could recall the treatment for a cold and sore throat where they had to have a 'black sock' to put the lard and coal oil on so you could put it around your neck and the sore throat would soon be better.

She said she well remembered having to wear the little bag of the stuff called asafetida and how bad it smelled. Said she hated the stinking stuff. So do I.

Another treatment for a cold that Elizabeth sent was this, find a hollow tree where a polecat had been and put your head in there! Said you would just have to know where the tree was to begin with or you could die of complications trooping around in the cold looking for that certain tree.

I guess I had better get this done so I can get it off. It's been fun hearing from our readers, so see you next time.

Ed Lehman Announces Candidacy For 13th Congressional District

Ed Lehman

Ed Lehman of Vernon, Democrat is a candidate for the 13th Congressional District.

As your Congressman, Ed Lehman's primary concern will be the revitalization of the economy of North Texas. This revitalization will be based on the development of a comprehensive plan which will include:

1. Revitalization of the oil and gas industry. This is absolutely vital to National Security, as well as the economic health of North Texas.

2. The development of an effective and efficient farm policy that will allow our farmers and ranchers to compete in a world economy.

3. The development of a business environment that will be conducive to the survival of small business.

"It's time to send a hard-working, dedicated businessman to Washington. My ambition is not to be the best Democrat or Republican in Congress. My ambition is to be the best congressman the 13th district has every had," stated Mr. Lehman.

This plan, when fully implemented, will lead to greater prosperity for all citizens of this district.

Mr. Lehman received his education from Vernon High School, Texas Tech University and USAF Pilot School. He has been married to Janette Pollard 41 years and their family includes 4 children.

Lehman has been a businessman in and around Vernon. He is co-owner of the John Deere Agricultural Equipment Dealership, is a farmer and rancher. Lehman has also been a Bank director and has served as director or chairman on various boards and committees in Wilbarger County. He is a member of the Texas State ASC Committee and was inducted into American Cattle Breeders Hall of Fame in 1986.

And now abideth faith, hope and love, These three, but the greatest of these is love.

El Progreso Club Celebrates Valentine's Day

El Progreso Club met Feb. 11, 1988 in the Senior Citizens building for a covered-dish Valentine afternoon. It was also guest day and it proved to be one of enjoyment for both members and guests. Though the day was bright and cold it was warm inside. Tables were decorated with red runners of crepe paper on white cloths with honeycombed Valentine's scattered about. All types of candy hearts and red and pink M&M's were scattered down the tables to be used later as "covers" for playing Bingo.

At noon the invocation was given by Mrs. Furman (Beverly) Vinson. Following the meal, club president Mrs. Douglas (Lila) Meador, conducted a short business meeting. She reminded the group of the Santa Rosa District Convention in Vernon on March 10-11. She also informed the group that Mrs. Dale (Jo Etta) Baumgardner would be this club's entrant in the "Kiss The Pig" contest.

A colorful Valentine Box made by Mrs. E.A. (Dorothy) Day had been filled with Valentines made by club members, one for their guest, one for Mrs. Frank (Lola) Pohl who was unable to be there, and one for herself. After Mrs. Meador had conducted the business session she asked Mrs. Harold (Grace) Campbell to assume duties of "Game Show" hostess. Mrs.

Campbell opened the Valentine box and distributed them, then passes out Bingo cards to everyone. It was a "fun" afternoon with nearly all winning something and for those few who didn't "door prizes" were given during a drawing.

Mrs. Baumgardner, leader for the day closed the afternoon with the theme from the yearbook: "So long as we love, we serve; so long as we are loved by others I would almost say that we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend." - Robert Louis Stevenson.

The food was plentiful and delicious, the day fun-filled and all enjoyed themselves. Guests present were Mrs. Charlie (Opal) Johnson, Mrs. France (Eugenia) Barton, Mrs. L.J. (Eva) Barkley, Mrs. Fraiser (Dorothy) Watson of Roaring Springs, Mrs. J.D. (Opal) Craven, Mrs. James Ed (Kathryn) Russell and Mrs. Leon (Greta) Smallwood. Members, other than previously mentioned, were Mrs. Joe (Loy) Campbell, Mrs. R.E. (Lucretia) Campbell, Mrs. Bob (Nell) Clem, Mrs. Robert (Winifred) Darsey, Mrs. J.E. (Marge) Edwards, Mrs. Ted (Bailey) Elliott, Mrs. John (Josephine) Hamilton, Mrs. Bill (Judine) McCaghren and Mrs. W.N. (Opal) Pipkin.

Club members, please remember Gentlemen-Guest evening Feb. 25, 1988 in the First United Methodist Church at 7:00 p.m.

STRESS MANAGEMENT

How to Win

Did you know that hydrotherapy—water massage—has been used since the days of the Egyptian Pharaohs as a way to indulge, unwind and revitalize the body? Here are five reasons you may want to indulge in a home whirlpool to relieve stress after a hard day at the office or at home.

- A home whirlpool allows you to indulge in privacy and comfort without having to travel to a fitness center.

- Home whirlpool baths are more affordable than many think. For example, six of the Dazey Corporation's TurboSpa models come at a stress-busting price of less than $100.

- The TurboSpas are portable. They're an especially practical choice for young people who frequently relocate because of career moves.

- TurboSpa whirlpools are perfect for those who want the pleasure and therapeutic value of a whirlpool but aren't ready to invest in an expensive built-in unit. The affordable luxury just may make you feel like the King or Queen of Egypt!

YES Asks You To Share Your Heritage And Home With An International Student

As Americans, we have so much to offer the rest of the world. Yet, being so fortunate, we Americans do not realize that other countries also have much to offer us. By hosting an international student through the Youth Exchange Service, your family will have the opportunity to share your American heritage, as well as learn about the culture and heritage of another country.

A special opportunity like this entails very little. YES students are 15-18 years old and attend your local high school. They are covered by excellent accidental/medical insurance and provide their own money for personal expenses. As a host family, your responsibilities are to provide a caring and loving home, complete with room and board just as you would for your own child.

YES firmly believes this is a small price to pay for an opportunity that holds so many great rewards. For complete details on just how easy it is to host an exchange student, simply contact the Youth Exchange Service at the World Trade Center Building, 350 S. Figueroa St., Suite 257-P, Los Angeles, CA 90071, or call 1-800-848-2121.

Beneficiaries who worked last year and earned over the Social Security annual earnings limit are required to file an annual report of earnings with Social Security by April 15. You should take the time to use this report for one of the things it is designed to be - a planning tool that permits you to work and receive Social Security benefits painlessly and profitably.

The report is completed to show how much you earned last year and how much you expect to earn the current year. Social Security then adjusts your benefit to reflect your estimate.

Problems occur when people earn more than they estimate and fail to report it to Social Security so that their benefits can be adjusted to reflect the increased earnings. The result is that they receive more benefits than they are entitled to - an overpayment. The law requires that overpayments be paid back. Generally, this is accomplished through deductions from future benefits, but it may be repaid in a lump sum. In any case, the process can be painful to people who rely on Social Security benefits as their primary source of income after they stop working.

When making an estimate of earnings, a person should consider such things as cost-of-living increases, potential raises, tips, etc. Employees should note that the amount that must be reported is gross earnings, not take home pay. For self employed persons, the amount that must be reported is net income after deducting business expenses.

Any change in earnings should be reported as soon as possible to avoid overpayments. Changes may be reported by telephone, mail, or in person to any Social Security office.

Failure to file an annual earnings report may require a person to pay a monetary penalty. Failure to provide an estimate of earnings for 1988 could result in an interruption of benefits.

The earnings limit for beneficiaries under 65 was $6,000 in 1987 and is $6,120 for 1988. For people 65-69, the limit was $8,160 in 1987 and is $8,400 in 1988. The earnings limits do not apply to people 70 and over.

You should have received a copy of the earnings report form in the mail. If not, call us at 293-9623 or come by and visit us at 1401-B West 5th street. Appointments can be arranged if desired.

Recollections

THE MATADOR

In 1890, Campbell released the management and control into Scotch hands, and Murdo McKenzie became the dominant factor in the Matador affairs. Those Scotchmen were born business men and were bookkeepers from Cork, and by reason of that fact, they kept tab on the money-end of the ranching industry. There was never a rope-hobble that left the Matador Commissary that they didn't learn about in Dundee, Scotland.

And those Scots thought they were the world beaters as cowmen. It is said that they wrote to the company one spring and asked how many calves would be branded that year. Some of the boys or wagon men guessed ten thousand head, and that guess was sent to the Board of Directors, five thousand miles away from the ranch. In the fall, when the branding was finished, the Matador had branded nine thousand, nine hundred and seventy-two calves, and that report was made to Scotland. Shortly, the Matador received an inquiry, as to what happened to the other twenty-eight calves. They certainly did keep a check on everything, even to guesses made that were not exorbitant in the slightest degree.

No one knew better than Henry Campbell, the expense required to run four or five wagons each season, gathering, returning, and trying to keep fifty or one hundred thousand cattle in and around a given territory without means of enclosing the lands. Whether exorbitant, I do not know, but at one time, the Matador claimed one-hundred thousand cattle.

Barbed wire was on the Texas market a few years in advance of the Matador origin, but it was not accepted by the livestock growers with very much enthusiasm, and it is certain that there were but few miles of wire fences in Texas at the time the Matador had its inception. Some small pastures were enclosed at the time, in Central Texas with rock fences.

When facilities became a reality and wire could be found a little nearer home than the Fort Worth Market, Campbell and others in the West were compelled to ship post out of the Palo Pinto breaks to Colorado City, and then freight, by wagon, both wire and posts a distance of some one hundred and forty miles, before any fencing could be started. In the Matador case, some three to four hundred miles of material was needed.

In addition, ten or twelve corrals were built, made of extra heavy material, and scattered about over the range at strategic points and made large enough to hold round-ups or herds of two or three thousand grown cattle. They had their alleys and loading pens, chutes and squeezers, and were constructed along lines of general utility purposes, in view of branding, dehorning and holding herds, and especially the weaner yearlings that couldn't forget their mothers.

As far as I know, the Matador and JA Ranches were the only ones with such equipment. Some of the Matador pens, with slight repairs, are still giving service after being in use some fifty odd years.

When the West was first roped off with steel, it was some undertaking and slow, for these ranches were fenced before the Fort Worth and Denver Railways were built far enough West to benefit them.

The Matador, branding as they did on an average of eighteen thousand calves a year, possibly meant a greater calf tally than any outfit in Northwest Texas, excepting the XIT and their calf brand was divided into seven divisions, so none of their men caught so many calves each year as a Matador roper would do.

While it doesn't mean the best calf roper to be found anywhere was on the Matador, it does mean they had possibly more good ropers at any and all times than could be found on any other ranch. They had in most part two wagons at work and ran from two to three ropers in each outfit.

John Smith, Jeff Harkey, and John Beasley all ran wagons in the seventies and on up through the eighties and were top ropers. Eli Harkey, Jeff Kutch, and Henry Brown were quite their equal in deftly lacing the wild calves. In the nineties, Bob Haley, Joe Russell, Charlie Binion, Raldo Newman, Jack Morris, Doug Meadows, and Henry Cook did much of the calf roping and all were handy with a line in snaring calves to be led to the fire and hot iron.

The Matador Ranch was started in 1879, and the present date is 1946, making it's operations extend over some 67 years. Just how many men who ran wagons for them during all that time, is a matter of conjecture, without the aid of the Matador records. They had been operating some eleven years before I knew them, Jim Harrison, John Beasley, Jeff Harkey, Jim Lovelady, and John Smith. Those men ran wagons under Campbell's management, and John Smith carried over and ran a wagon under the Scotch Management.

Since I have known them, I can recall at least twenty men that ran wagons for the Matador, all of which I personally knew with one exception. John Smith, Jess Baker, Bob Haley, John Jackson, Raldo Newman, Jack Lockett, Charlie Morris, Will Drace, Leggs Lair, Bob Allie, Matt Walker, Big John Southworth, Henry Cook, Rang Thornton, Dumont, Claude Jeffers, Burnice Harkey, Red Payne, Walker Williams, and Virgil Leonard. The one man, I somehow never knew was Dumont, and he was not with them very long. I do not claim that list is complete, since I may have forgotten some, or possibly some men ran wagons for the Matador that I didn't know, during the past fifty-six years.

All of these bosses belonged to the lower ranch, or the original Matador range. I don't think that Con McMurry ever ran a wagon here, but he was sent North where he ran the wagon for the Matador Land & Cattle Co., Ltd.

In Rollie Burn's book, he speaks of Dick Parmer running an outside wagon for the Matadors in 1885 and through the range laying South of the Matador Ranch.

Man And Mule

Editors Note: The following is a copy of a handwritten story found by Evelyn Garrison in a cedar chest. It is approximately 58 years old. Since this is election year, we thought our readers would enjoy reading it.

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a Dixie plow. The farmer was broadcasting.

"Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass and I'm a man, made in the image of God, yet here we work hitched together year in and year out I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Sometimes I think that this is a partnership between a mule and a fool. Plowing here we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I do it on two. So, mathematically speaking, I do twice as much work as you do."

"Soon we will be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested I give one third to the landlord for being kind enough to let us use this corner of God's universe, the other third goes to you, and what is left is my share. But, while you consume all of your one third with the exception of a few cobs, I divide my third with one wife, seven children, six chickens, two pigs, two ducks, one goose, and a banker. If we both need shoes, you get 'em. Bill, you are getting the best of me; 'taint fair for a mule, the son of a jackass to rob a man the lord of creation of his substance. And come to think about it, you only cultivate the corn. After that, I cut and shuck it, while you look over the fence and "He Haw" at me.

All fall, and part of the winter, the whole family from Granny down to the baby, pick cotton to help raise the money to buy you a new set of harness and pay the mortgage on you, and by the way, what do you care about the mortgage? It don't worry you any, not a darn bit. You leave that to me, you appreciative but thoughtless critter!

About the only time when I'm better is on Election day, for I can vote and you can't. But, if I ever get anymore out of politics than you do, I don't see what it is. For in most cases, when I vote I help elect a jack ass.

Rattlesnake Hunt

The 27th Annual Waurika "Fang-tastic" Rattlesnake Hunt sponsored by the Waurika Volunteer Fire Dept. and Jaycees is scheduled for March 26-27 with activities to begin both days at 8:00 a.m.

The popular event annually draws thousands of hunters and spectators from all over the United States.

One of the most popular events, besides catching a live rattlesnake, is the snake sacking contest. Professional and amateurs can enter the event. In the contest, three rattlesnakes are released and the contestant, using a hook to capture them, puts them one by one into a sack. Once pinned with the hook, the snake is placed in the sack by hand. The contestant with the fastest time wins. The event is held both days. Professional sackers win $50 each day for best time and an added $50 for best two day time. The amateur receives a plaque for the best two day time.

Trophies or cash will be given for rattlesnakes entered for the contest divisions. First place prize money for the longest snake caught is $200; second $175; third $150; and fourth $125. Plus a bonus for a rattlesnake caught over six feet long.

Prizes for snakes with the most rattlers are, first place $75; second $50; and third $25. There will also be four specially marked snakes released in the hunt area and will bring $25 each if captured. First, second, and third place trophies will be awarded for a trophy each day. All rattlesnakes entered for prizes must be live at time of contest and all snakes entered become the property of Waurika Rattlesnake Hunt. All live rattlesnakes turned in will be purchased for top market prices.

For general information about the hunt, write "Little Rattler", Rt. 2 Box 249, Waurika, Ok. 73573 or phone (405) 228-2802.

The annual series of county meetings for the election of directors to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, will get underway in February and continue through March, according to PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. A meeting will be held in each of the 25-member counties, featuring informative programs on the cotton producer organization, its activities and other subjects of interest to the cotton industry.

To avoid conflicts with other activities whenever possible, the responsibility for arranging meetings is given to the current directors in individual counties.

Directors elected in county meetings will be certified by the membership at the PCG annual meeting, after which the Board will convene and elect 1988-89 officers. Current officers include President Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenorah, Vice President Steve Verett of Ralls and Secretary-Treasurer Larry Nelson of Tulia. Although details are not complete, the annual meeting has been set for the morning of April 7 in conjunction with the opening of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association Convention and Trade Show, Johnson announced. The TCGA convention will run through April 9.

By attending these meetings, expressing their views and taking part in the selection of their representatives to the Board, Johnson said, cotton people can help assure that future PCG actions and policies will reflect the true needs and desires of cotton people in the High Plains area. An active board of directors that will devote the time and effort to adequately and accurately represent the majority view of the people is the key to PCG's success in filling membership needs, he continues.

"The newly enacted change in how the diesel fuel tax exemption is to be administered needs to be repealed, we need to protect our interests as the rules for applying the $50,000 payment limit are being formulated, the President's new budget is threatening funds for our boll weevil program, and the push for undesirable changes in the 1985 farm act is gathering strength again."

Current directors and PCG staff members will be on hand at county meetings to discuss these and other legislative and administrative issues that affect millions of dollars in producer income every year, Johnson reminds in urging attendance.

Each of the counties in PCG's area is represented by two directors, one a businessman and the other a cotton producer, elected to two-year terms on alternate years. All producers and agribusinessmen are invited to election meetings, but under PCG By-Laws only current dues-paying PCG members will be eligible to vote in elections or be elected a director.

Informative on the time and place for each meeting is announced in advance by news release, and is otherwise available by calling the PCG office in Lubbock, telephone 792-4904.

Texas Coalition For Life Endorses Beau Boulter In U.S. Senate Race

(DALLAS) - The Texas Coalition for Life this week announced its endorsement of Beau Boulter for the United States Senate.

Congressman Boulter, who faces three others in the March 8 Republican primary, was praised by Coalition Director Bill Price for his 100% pro-life voting record and for efforts to enact federal legislation to protect the lives of the unborn.

"No Congressman in Washington has a better pro-life voting record than you," Price told Boulter in announcing the group's endorsement. "I encourage all Texans who believe in the sanctity of human life to support enthusiastically Congressman Beau Boulter's campaign for the U.S. Senate. Beau has our unequivocal support."

While endorsing Boulter, Price was critical of the incumbent's record. "Lloyd Bentsen has a very distressing record on abortion, to the extent that he has regularly opposed our efforts and supported federally-funded abortion."

The Texas Coalition for Life is the largest pro-life group in the state and represents more than 40 organizations statewide, including the Greater Dallas Right to Life, San Antonio Right to Life and Houston Life Advocates.

Highlights Of 1987 Tax Changes

by Congressman Martin Frost

With passage of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, several very important changes were made in our personal income tax laws, which should be kept in mind as we approach the deadline, April 15th, for filing our personal income tax returns with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

Most of us are aware that the tax rates have been simplified. Five rate brackets are used in figuring 1987 income taxes; however, only two brackets are scheduled for use in calculating 1988 income taxes. The personal exemption has been increased for most Americans, and the standard deduction has been increased.

A major change has occurred for taxpayers having dependent children. For the 1987 tax year, many children, who have never filed tax returns previously, will need to file returns and pay tax.

First, a child with any unearned income (interest, dividends, etc.) and who has a total income of more than $500 must file an income tax return.

Second, a person who is claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer cannot take a personal exemption on his or her own form. And furthermore, when such a person files a W-4 with an employer, he or she cannot claim an exemption from income tax withholding if an income of more than $500 is expected.

Third, and very importantly, if a child under the age of 14 has investments in his or her name, any income generated from that investment above the amount of $1,000 is taxed at the parents' rate, regardless of the child's tax bracket.

The social security number of the parent(s) now must be listed on the child's income tax return, which will permit the IRS to make a cross-match to determine the parents' tax rate.

And, fourth, any child that has reached his or her fifth birthday must now have a Social Security number in order to be claimed as an exemption (worth $1,900) by a parent. The child's social security number must be listed on the parent's income tax return or the exemption may be disqualified by the IRS.

For parents with children over five years of age, this disqualification by the IRS could mean that the parent would wind up owing additional taxes. And, a failure to list a social security number may also lead to an audit of the entire return.

Taxpayers should keep in mind, also, that many additional changes, including the subjects of dividend exclusions, unemployment compensation, capital gains/losses, IRAs, and political contributions are also in effect for the 1987 tax year.

When filling out your 1987 individual income tax return, call the IRS if you have any questions.

Let us praise the name of the Lord, for his name alone is exalted; His splendor is above the earth and heavens.

Ps. 148:13

Letter To The Editor

Dear Barbara,

We enjoy the paper and keeping up with some of the goings on at home, you are doing a good job, we think.

I read a little of the history about Quannah Parker in the last paper. There's some history about Quannah Parker that has never been told that concerned my mother, Chole Elizabeth Meador.

In 1905 when the Waggoners and the Burnetts had to move their cattle out of Oklahoma Indian territory, Mr. Burnett brought a young man with him that Quannah Parker had raised.

My Grandad, Sam J. Blair was running the Burk Burnett outfit for Mr. Burnett. My mother, a young woman married this man, and they moved to the north camp on the Four Sixes.

Quannah Parker, two of his wives and four buck Indians would come by the north camp and stop as long as a week at a time. Mr. Burnett always furnished them beef. My mother would sit around the campfire and try and eat the half-cooked meat. The two wives of Quannah would laugh and make fun of her. She said even as a young woman she was scared of Quannah. Quannah told her not to worry, that he had never harmed a white woman after he'd found out his mother was white. Mother said he wasn't very talkative, but the man she was married to could talk commanche as good as Quannah.

Also, there was very little of the beef wasted. They used all of it.

Mother left the Six's and married George E. Briscoe in 1911, who died in a flue epidemic in 1920. She then married my dad, Doug Meador in 1923.

This is the story told to her children in later years.

Thanks,
James Meador

Dear Friends,

On March the 8th you will have the opportunity to vote for the candidates who will represent the Republican Party in November general election.

In 1960, I became a Republican County Chairman, and in 1962 held the first Republican primary in Armstrong County. In 1968 I was elected to the Texas House of Representatives as the first Republican to defeat a Democratic incumbent. I was unopposed for a second term in 1970. As a result of this experience, my seniority will continue when the Legislature meets in January of 1989.

When the next session is called to order, solutions will need to be found for the many problems which face Texas. It is important that as your representative, I will be able to work with the other 149 members of the House, the 31 members of the Senate and the various state agencies. I have demonstrated that I have the ability to handle complex problems, and as your representative from the 84th District, I can do that again. The ability to go to work the first day with an understanding of state government will be very important in this crisis situation.

I appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,
Tom Christian
