Story next week

Northfield School

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on the background of the people, places and events depicted in the Motley County Library's historical mural. In the spirit of research, corrections and additions are solicited.

CORRECTION ON MURAL STORY

Our thanks goes to Frances Dixon who caught an error in the Whiteflat Methodist Church story. The Baptist Church at Whiteflat was the first organized church in Motley County, being started in 1891. The Methodist, Whiteflat and Matador, followed in 1892, and the Matador Baptist in 1893. We appreciate this correction.

NORTHFIELD BITTER LAKE FOSTER SCHOOL

By Beverly Vinson

At one time there were two schools located at Northfield, one on the east side (on land now owned by Mrs. Delmont Hayes) and one on the west side (back of land owned by the Dobbins family). Kate Denny was the first teacher at Northfield. The school was a dugout and in all probability a subscription school (one in which money was collected from the citizens of the community to pay for the teacher's salary when no funds were available from the county). About the middle of 1900 the schools consolidated and a wooden building was erected on land given by B.F. Simpson, a little south of the one now standing.

Northfield, our isolated community with beautiful vistas and winding roads through ranch country, is located in the northeastern corner of the county. First known as Bitter Lake, it became Northfield when D. Cook, a native of Minnesota, settled in the area and renamed it for his old home town, famous for the foiled bank robbery attempt by the Jesse James and Cole Younger gang.

Cook ran a general store and in 1890, it is said, he became the first post master of the first post office in Northfield. Records indicate that Lillian Cook was appointed as post mistress in March of 1892, with Francis Bain taking the post in September of that year.

Northfield School District was created on July 28, 1906. The mural scene shows the Consolidated Northfield School and school wagons. School wagon drivers were Walter Carpenter, Curtis Cryer and Anderson Cagle.

In 1917 a brick and stucco two-story school was put up. After it was condemned, the cream colored brick one that stands today was built in 1934.

Anna Kimbell who moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Kimbell, to Whiteflat in 1889 taught at several county schools, one being Northfield. At times it was quiet exciting for her class of four pupils. Class was held in a dugout, and on one occasion a large rattlesnake was coiled on the dirt ledge near

Beef Checkoff Goes For The Gold Race For The Consumer Dollar

Like a fleet Olympic runner, the beef checkoff came out of the blocks full steam on Oct. 1, 1986. That was the date the nation's producers began contributing $1 per head for research, promotion and education about beef.

Now the beef checkoff is entering the stretch run of its 22-month trial period as cattlemen ready for the May 10 vote on whether to approve it permanently.

However, unlike that Olympian whose energy is spent as the finish line comes in sight, the beef checkoff's momentum becomes stronger as the referendum date comes closer. Ongoing programs on national, state and local levels

LIBRARY NOTES

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

Last Thursday morning, I had just gotten inside the Library and greeted Earline when we saw two ladies and a man get out of the car that had pulled up to the curb, and noticed that the man had a padded envelope in his hand. It looked like the kind books are mailed in. When introductions were over, he presented us with a copy of Never On My Knees, by John T. Webb, in memory of his mother, the late Opal Morrison of Dougherty. The visitors were Mrs. Virginia Cage, of Floydada, her brother, J.D. Morrison of Fort Worth and his wife, the former Esther Herd, who was a classmate of John Webb when they both went to school in Oklahoma. The book is a very welcome gift, for though it is fiction, the research has been very thorough and the dates and the facts about the Choctaws will be reliable. The most information I could find on Choctaws in our Library recently, had been in an encyclopedia. Thank you, J.D., Virginia, Bessie Mae and Bill.

Please Note

Because our Green Thumb workers hours have been cut, the Library will be closing at 5:00 p.m. beginning May 3, 1988. The Library will now follow this schedule:

Monday, 2:00-5:00 p.m.
 Tuesday, 6:00-9:00 p.m.
 Tuesday - Saturday, 9:00-5:00

Monday and Tuesday will be manned by volunteers.

We hope closing thirty minutes earlier Tuesday through Saturday will not inconvenience anyone.

Last Tuesday, Skylar Clifton, Leah Burns, Ashley Stevens, Rachelle Renfro, Kala Minkley, GeNelle Willis, Elizabeth and Sondra HoGland, Brenda Gillespie, Cassie Campbell, Luke and Hannah Boedeker, and Clint Cooper met with Robin and Lola for Library School at 10:30. We saw THE ZAX from Dr. Seuss on the loose, then sang such active songs as "Jim-o-long, Josie", "She'll Be Coming Around the Mountain," and "The Exercise Song". While we were singing "Ring The Bells For Library School," our adaptation of "Ring The Bells For Sunday School" that we have taken for our theme song, Robin reminded the children that soon they would be in Vacation Bible School and would have to be careful not to say "Ring the Bells For Library School, Ding Dong", when they meant to say Sunday School. Mrs. Boedeker brought her little son, Will, along, and he was so quiet through all the singing and the final film "T Is For Turnblweed," she confessed that she had forgotten he was there, but you can be sure that she didn't go home without him. He was such a good boy that none of us got to hold him.

Katie Wheelock brought her daughter in one day this week, and I did get to hold her a little, but we let Katie leave without checking out so much as a book of nursery rhymes to read to the child!

It was good to have the Cub Scouts meet in our Library again Tuesday, April 26, at 6:30. Seven boys met with their leader, Jeff Thacker.

We owe thanks to volunteers Grace Campbell, Keith and Joan Patton, Beth Turner, Larry Crouch, Bailey Elliott, Irene Welling and Winifred Lee for keeping the Library open on Monday afternoons and Tuesday evenings in April. On Tuesday evening, one mother came in with her son and daughter who checked out three books each. In about an hour they were back to return those books and check out more! I hope they enjoyed them all.

This month, we have exchanged the old wire book holders that we found so difficult to slide on the shelves for yellow metal bookends that set on the shelf and are much easier to handle. With the help of Jo Amandes, all the adult fiction books have been culled and arranged in alphabetical order according to the authors last name. Notice how much neater our shelves are looking the next time you are in. Before June we hope to find time to go through the Biographies, and non-fiction books and rearrange the Juvenile and Reference section.

Lola Pohl, who is as talented with her printing as she is with music, has promised Earline Vaughn to print the list of Friends of the Library for 1988 soon. If you did not pay your dues at Open House or since that time, and would like to be included in this years listing, please see Earline Vaughn at the library, or stop Keith Patton on the street or mail your check to Motley County Library. The annual memberships are $2.00 for Individual, $5.00 for a family, supporting $10.00, Business Firms, Organizations, and Civic Clubs $25.00, Patron $50.00, and Life $100.00. We appreciate your support.

If you looked in our window late Tuesday afternoon or Friday, you were able to enjoy the Bluebonnets that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery brought from their yard after they had been in to see the mural and make a donation in memory of Boyd Perkins.

A donation in memory of Morris Burkes was received from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cooper. Thank you.

We welcome two new Library Card holders, Deborah Wilson and Jo Scott of Roaring Springs.

The people in Flomot can find books to read at either of the gins. To check out one of these books, just sign your name beside the date on the check-out card in the book and place the card in the pocket on the box holding the books. When you have finished reading the book, replace the card in the book and return the book to the box so that another person may check it out. A different group of books will be brought to Flomot each month, and you may renew a book for a two week period by calling June Hale, 469-5233. You may also request a certain book by calling June after ten in the morning, leaving a request in the book box, calling the Library, 347-2717, or catching me at home on Monday, Wednesday or Saturday, which has been hard to do lately.

Doctors tell us that being overweight and out of shape play an important role in back pain.

Being overweight contributes to back pain because carrying around extra pounds increases the mechanical load or stress on your lower back.

So if you're overweight start a sensible diet and exercise program to take off those extra pounds.

But, whatever your weight, it's important to get your body into better physical shape.

It's always best to check with your doctor before starting an exercise program and especially if you already have back problems. But experts generally agree that an exercise program to strengthen abdominal muscles can help prevent backaches.

A good way to strengthen abdominal muscles is to do exercises that are variations of the common sit-up. And all sit-ups, by the way, should be done with your knees bent, never with your legs straight.

never with your legs straight.

One of the easiest versions is to lie on your back with your knees bent and simply suck in your stomach muscles as hard as you can. Hold this position briefly, then relax and repeat. Be sure not to hold your breath but to breathe normally.

Another easy variation is, again lying on your back with your knees bent, to raise your head far enough to look at your feet.

A slightly more difficult version is called a "curl-up". Lying on your back with your knees bent, curl your head, neck and upper back up off the floor as far as you can. Then slowly uncurl your body back to the starting position. And again be sure not to hold your breath.

As with any exercise program, start gradually and advance at your own pace. And to see the best results exercise every day.

No matter what the sit-up version your knees should be bent, never straight. And be sure you aren't holding your breath.

Absentee voting is no longer available.

The beef promotion and research program is funded by a $1.00 per head assessment on domestic and imported cattle and by an equal assessment on imported beef and beef products, according to AMS officials.

Davis Ranch Day Unfolds In Hall County

by Marisue Potts

For the fifth year, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Davis of Floydada opened the gates of their Hall County ranch to out-of-town visitors on April 30, 1988, for Ranch Day.

A full day of activities, including breakfast, trail ride, cutting horse and barrel racing horse demonstrations, roundup, barbecue, and cattle working, began at 5 a.m. when guests joined a caravan leaving Floydada to make the seventy mile trip through the Pease River breaks.

Ranch Day started as a work day with Mrs. Davis' Oklahoma cousins, Jim Goins of Norman and Bill Harris of Shawnee, volunteered to help Davis work cattle on the place. As word spread among friends, the guest list expanded to include the likes of Western artists Bob Moline of Ft. Worth, Daniel Franks of Albuquerque, and Angus McPherson of Holy Ghost Canyon, N.M.

The early morning mist obscured the sunrise as a hearty breakfast of sourdough biscuits, sowbelly, scrambled eggs, and boiled campfire coffee was served on the tree-lined banks of a small creek. Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Hinsley, Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Stout of Ft. Worth, and Dale Goen were in charge of feeding the approximately sixty-five wranglers and guests attending. Following the breakfast, Mrs. Frank Potts gave a brief sketch on the colorful history of the buffalo hunters and settlers of the area.

Davis and Sid Waller led a trail ride across the Running Water Creek to the site of an old dugout and an abandoned wooden bridge which once served the route from Matador to Tell.

A highlight of the day was the barrel racing-cutting horse demonstrations by Lee Ann Thunderbird of Lubbock. The vivacious horse-trainer, a friend and competitor of Mrs. Joe (Ann) Jones, gave insights into the intensive training required of these horse-athletes, and thrilled the audience with the superb skills of both horse and rider in cutting cattle from the herd.

Artist Bob Moline and Daniel Franks exhibited some of their paintings and drawings in the Santa Fe Box Car "Gallery." Of special interest was ex-cowboy Franks' lifelike character sketches of O.D. Williams, Waller, and Davis.

A herd of about sixty mother cows and calves, ranging from longhorn, Brahman, and Limousin influence, were rounded up from the mesquite-dotted pasture and driven to the working pens.

Waller, one of the few professional cowboys on hand, displayed the skills of a working cowboy's cutting horse, but it was no demonstration, just part of the job of sorting. The crew then branded, castrated, and vaccinated the cattle and calves, as needed, in the chute. Providing a little excitement, one tawny red cow, known for her leaping ability, cleared the chute gate.

As the guests, including such professionals as doctors, lawyers, a stockbroker, and a professor, began drifting back to their widely scattered homes, each expressed appreciation of the Davis family for giving them a chance and a place to experience the unique time warp of ranching in the red hills of the North Pease in the lower Panhandle of Texas, if only for a day.

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hello Folks, this sand and wind this morning is bad to start the week off with, isn't it? But this is West Texas after all and we should be used to it by now, but I guess you never do that. Still like it better than a flood any day.

We were talking about what things were like when Leon was young and all the kids went over to Turkey every Saturday to the movie and after the show was over then off to the drug store for ice cream and a pop. That was when the stores stayed open late on Saturday so everybody would have a change to get groceries and such even if they couldn't get to town early. Folks close up now on Saturday and if you need anything, why - you better get there early. That isn't just in Turkey - it's everywhere.

Remember when the grocery stores had a kerosene tank with a hand pump? Seems it always sat out front of most stores so it was no trouble filling your Coal oil can and taking it to the wagon or car or whatever you were in.

And then the 'store-bought bread' came wrapped in wax paper with a seal at each end - remember that? Just getting a real loaf of bread from the store was great - then later it came already sliced and that was even better.

Who remembers when you bought milk in bottles with a cupboard top? I do and thought that was fine. The reason I liked it so well was that I had to do some of the milking. Back in East Texas after a lot of rain like we had - well - I would come out of the cow lot with more than water marks on my ankles - if you know what I mean. Did you ever have chickens that roosted on the rafters in the barn? We did and I never will forget going in the barn before good daylight and having to leave right quick and go wash my hair before I could milk. I thought that was about the worst thing that had ever happened to me. Rather step in it any day hadn't you? Was cold that day, too.

Back in those days we didn't have anything much in the way of money but we did have a lot of fun. If it wasn't anything but riding the old mule or an old cow we had. She would let all of us kids get on her so we would let her take us wherever she wanted to go and most of the time that was to the cotton yard so she should eat cotton out of the bales where they had cut out the samples. I think that's what killed her - just too much cotton.

Ruth Lee and I were talking this morning about the clothes and shoes that we had or maybe I should say 'that we didn't have', when we were kids. We didn't know we were poor cause everybody else was in the same shape our folks were. We wondered how the young folks now days would handle living like we had to. Hope they never have to find out but it could happen if we can't get this country on an even keel again. It's hard for some to think that they have to do without some things.

Better go but we'll be back and 'remember when' again soon.

continue to encourage increased beef consumption. All these programs are coming together to improve the profit potential of cattle production.

"Studies reveal that the number of Americans who believe beef fits into their lifestyle increased from 59 percent in January to 64 percent in June," said James Palmer of Matador, Texas, chairman of the Motley County Steering committee. "Those who believe beef is an important part of a well-balanced diet increased from 51 percent to 56 percent. These increases show that every dollar checked off by Cattlemen in this program is an investment that pays dividends."

In the first year of the program, checkoff dollars collected nationwide totaled about $73 million. About $5 million of this amount came from beef and cattle importers. In Texas, checkoff dollars totaled $12.6 million.

"The checkoff is structured so that all producers invest an equal amount for each animal sold in the program," said Palmer. "Importers and all producers participate. The law sets a 5 percent cap on use of checkoff funds for administration so dollars go to their intended purposes of promotion, research and information. And the state council decides how to invest 50 cents of each dollar. This allows our Texas Beef Industry Council to respond to those needs within our state. The remaining 5 cents goes to the Beef Board for national programs."

Major programs on both national and state levels resulting from checkoff dollars include:

--Announcement of a working relationship to promote "heart-healthy" diets between the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate and the Texas Beef Industry Council.

--Cooperating with health professionals to produce brochures on the nutrition of red meat (distributed to 4.5 million supermarket shoppers), cholesterol and heart disease, and the truth about common misconceptions of beef.

--Getting the word out to the media that beef is back. More than 4,700 positive articles reaching approximately 371 million consumers have recently run in major prestigious publications.

--Providing secondary and elementary school teachers with lesson plans, films, software and multi-media packages for the classroom. Through these tools, educators can instruct millions of students on beef's proper role in the diet.

--Airing more than 500 television spots and 1,920 radio spots about beef. For instance, during the Winter Olympics coverage on ABC, beef checkoff dollars sponsored 109 commercials, one Olympic Diary, and one Olympic Moment. Overall, the beef ads have reached 94 million adults between the ages of 25 to 54.

--Cooperating with Paul Harvey, America's best known radio personality, to promote beef two times per week. His spots run from December 1987 to June 1988.

--Using point of purchase (POP) materials effectively. A recent study of 18,000 supermarkets showed industry POP materials increased fresh beef sales from 3 to 5 percent in a four-week period. In other words, every checkoff dollar invested for POP returned $62 in projected additional beef sales.

--Distributing beef promotion placemats that provide nutrition information. More than 500,000 have been used by Texas restaurants and 200,000 by Texas hospitals.

"It's just good business for beef producers to join together through the checkoff to sell our product," Jimmy Owen, chairman of the Texas Beef Industry Council board of directors, said. "This joining together is paying off. Hundreds of projects are currently being funded through checkoff dollars. In addition to our TV spots and magazine ads, checkoff dollars support projects in research, education, food service, and retail, as well as provide nutritional information to consumers, food editors, dietitians, and doctors."

Anyone who has owned or acquired one head of cattle between Oct. 1, 1986, and March 31, 1988, is eligible to vote May 10. One vote per business entity is allowed. For purposes of the referendum, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has defined a business entity as any individual or group of individuals who has a common ownership in cattle, such as partnership, corporation or family.

Registration and voting will take place May 10 at county extension service offices around the nation. You may vote in your county of residence unless your cattle are corporately owned.

"Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is his reward. As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.

FARMERS OF 1970s ELIGIBLE FOR MONEY BACK

Forget here and now, this is a matter of here and then. If you were a farmer in the 1970s, you're entitled to a refund for some of your fuel expenses. But you have to act before June 30.

The refund is a result of a settlement reached by the Dept. of Energy with oil companies that allegedly overcharged for crude oil during a period regulated by price ceilings.

Consequently, farmers can get back about $80 or more for every 100,000 gallons of fuel used between August 19, 1973 and January 27, 1981. That equates to a little over $14 for every 100 acres of cropland in production during the seven-and-a-half year period, according to economists with the Extension Service.

This refund should not be confused with the income tax credit for federal excise taxes on fuel.

The Dept. of Energy will base refunds on actual gallons purchased, estimated gallons used or a USDA estimate of 23.8 gallons per acre of cropland per year. An explanation of filing procedures for the refund and a simple two-page filing form can be obtained from Ray Minkley at the County Extension office.

USDA Invites Comments On Conservation Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture plans to update the National Conservation Program and invites public comments on the proposed changes by June 4.

Billy Wayne Denison, County Executive Director of the Motley County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service, says the program will place more emphasis on natural resource problems. "The program will continue to focus on priority conservation efforts on reducing erosion, but will increase emphasis on reducing offsite damage and innovations to protect the quality of surface and ground water," he said.

USDA would especially like public views on what the National Conservation Program priorities should be: the balance of Federal, state, and local conservation responsibility; and USDA efforts as they relate to increasing assistance to small-scale, limited-resource, and minority farmers, research on alternative farming systems that may result in reducing chemical use, linking benefits to conservation programs and management of rangeland and forest land.

Recent conservation appraisals revealed that approximately 1.5 million acres of land are being removed from agricultural use each year; nearly half of the cropland is eroding too fast to maintain long-term productivity; and 57 million acres of cropland and pastureland are affected by excess salinity.

USDA's efforts through the National Conservation Program are expected to reduce erosion on agricultural land, especially highly erodible cropland, and protect, surface and ground water from contamination from nonpoint pollution.

Persons interested in submitting suggestions and recommendations for the National Conservation Program should mail written comments to reach their State SCS Conservationist before June.

The Way It Was

by Emmett B. Jenkins

Some Saturday afternoons I would go to town, one of my first stops would be to the L.C. Gober Blacksmith Shop, which was located where the V&S Variety store is now. I enjoyed watching the blacksmith shoe the horses. Sometimes the horses were so snakey, they would have to be tied down to be shod. Other horses were so lazy they would lean on the blacksmith while they were being shod. In front of the shop, to the right of the door, there was a fence post that was piled to the top with used horse shoes around it. There must have been hundreds of them in that pile.

Our Uncle Walter Ellithorp worked for Mr. Gober for several years. Wages were three dollars and fifty cents per day.

The clock that hangs in the vestibule of the Methodist church was presented by the same Mr. Gober.

Across the street, where Don's Conoco is located now, was the Johnson Wheeler Carriage Co. He had buggies, teams and also riding horses for hire. He drove a pair of matched gray horses to a carriage, to meet the train at the Depot. He brought the passengers to town. The horses were also used to pull a horse drawn hearse. I have often wondered what became of those vehicles.

On the lot, west of where the Matador Motor and Implement Co. is now, was the Bob Patton Wagon Yard. They had stalls and feed for the horses and a small room where the travelers could put his bed roll and sleep and have protection from the weather. There was a sign that said, "There will be no loose horses to bother the customers."

Between the Matador Hotel and the Gober Blacksmith Shop, there was a Picture Show building owned and operated by the Goss family. If at all possible, I would attend the Saturday afternoon matinee. Price of admission was a dime. There was a Saturday afternoon serial, "The Spider" that was quite a thrill. To top off the movie, we saw Charlie Chaplin and others.

I would visit the City Barber Shop where I would watch the barbers work and that was when I decided to become a barber.

Doc Craven's Drug Store was north of R.P. Moore's Grocery Store. That was where I drank my first coke.

There was the Matador Mercantile owned by Jack Lockett. It was a wooden building and was located where the Stanley Pharmacy is located now.

In later years there was a Drug Store, east of the Lockett Mercantile and was owned by Tony Freeman. Webb Cammack was the Prescription Pharmacist.

The Kanzler building was east of the drug store. It was a two story building with a balcony. Lud Harris operated a Cafe in the lower part of the building. That was where I ate my first Chili. Later Tom King operated a Care and rooming house. He and his family lived there.

North of the old First State Bank, there was a grocery store. The Patton brothers had a Harness and Saddle Shop. The Post Office was located north of the Saddle Shop. Harry Campbell's mother was the Post Mistress. She was the wife of H.H. (Paint) Campbell, founder of the Matador Ranch. I remember going to the Post Office with my mother and we visited with Mrs. Campbell. Also I remember seeing her husband H.H. Campbell. He was in the street between the Post Office and Court House.

North of the Post Office was a Hotel, owned and operated by the father of Lem and Dave Standefer, and he was the grandfather of Mrs. Denver Anderson (Ruth) of Quitaque. Ruth recalls that grandfather traded the Hotel for sheep and possibly some cattle. The Hotel was a two story building with a balcony and was located north of where the old Rogue Theater was.

Matador Student Top College Roper

Clarendon College's Spring Saddle Roping was truly a coed event as 24 young men and one lady competed for the Rodeo P.E.'s classes top symbols of roping expertise. Three full afternoons were required to determine the winners.

This semester's saddle was won by Darryl Perryman of Matador. Darryl tied for 4th place in the Autumn contest and proved his consistency by being the only one in the top four positions to repeat the ability, persistence, and horsemanship required.

Randy Crump of Clarendon and Archie Romero of Dalhart won the breast collars in Second and Third places and Terry Baggett of Claude will have a saddle blanket to show for his efforts.

The Saddle Roping has been very successful for its first year. Rodeo Instructors Kelvin Sharp and Jerry Gage have had exceptionally large Rodeo P.E. Classes this year with very talented young people who have participated eagerly in the training activities of the class.

For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God.

Corsages were presented to the honoree, and to the mother of the groom, Mrs. Carter Lockett, and grandmother, Mrs. Travis Payne of Roaring Springs.

Special out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sheridan of Lubbock.

Kindergarten Roundup

Parents: If you have a child that will be 5 years of age on or before September 1, 1988, that child is eligible for the Kindergarten program at Motley County Elementary School. To aid the school in making preparations for next year it is necessary that you call us concerning that child. Please come by or call the school (347-2676) before May 13 and give us the child's name and birthday. Your help in this will be appreciated.

He who has begun a good work in you will perfect it in the day of Christ Jesus - have a blessed day in Him.

Taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the man who takes refuge in him.
