Homey Atmosphere Makes Hotel Turkey Unique

by Marisue Potts

A strong emotional tie to the community of Turkey persuaded Jane and Scott Johnson of Denton to invest money, at least a year of their time, and "sweat equity" in Hotel Turkey, once the most modern hotel west of Dallas.

Speaking in a soft Louisiana drawl, Jane Johnson, an interior decorator by trade, delights in showing guests through the historic halls of the old hotel.

Jane's lady-like appearance belies her determination and tenacity in stripping away the veneer of over sixty years of occupation and "improvement" by four previous owners.

"The very first thing I did when we took over in September," Jane explained on a recent tour, "for one month, I sorted, threw away, and cleaned."

Among the accumulation of many years were treasures, such as the layered quilts discovered underneath the mattresses. As Jane peeled away layer upon layer, she found many beautiful quilt tops which now decorate the upstairs sitting room.

Other unearthed hoardings included an old steamer trunk, hand-made baby clothes, embroidered ladies underwear, and a hotel nightshirt, all now "living history" topics.

Next to receive the Johnsons' attention was the lobby. Airy Victorian curtains, made by Jane during the wee hours of the morning, a vibrant teal wall color, and a high glossy white tin ceiling give the lobby an upbeat, modern feeling.

The old hotel's mauve horsehair sofa and chair blend with decorator items, both new and old, to create a "down home" atmosphere.

Once known as "The Traveling Man's Headquarters," Hotel Turkey was built just a block off of the main thoroughfare in 1927 for $86,000.

A tornado, which oldtimers claimed were never supposed to come off the "cap" (the nearby Caprock escarpment), promptly leveled the new business.

Owner H.B. Jordan rebuilt but soon sold to B.L. Knowles who catered to salesmen traveling west from Dallas. During the Depression Knowles sold to T.H. Walters for $8,000. Gordon Bain was the next owner and it was Mrs. Bain who sold to the Johnsons in September of 1988.

The Hotel Turkey of today strives to be a family experience. "We want each guest to believe all of this is done for him alone," Jane explained as she ascended the oak stairway banked by articles from the past, bits of nostalgia and living history.

Each overnight lodger will be provided with a nightshirt or Victorian gown, fresh line-dried linens, and homemade cinnamon rolls on Sunday morning.

Children may "adopt" an antique doll or teddy bear from a hall display for the length of their stay. Also adding to the feeling of home is a big blue house cat, make that "hotel" cat, who roams the halls and patiently waits on a davenport for the stroking that invariably comes from guests.

When the dining room renovation is completed, boarding house-style meals will be featured. "Everything will be made from scratch. The guests will serve themselves, and even carry their own plates to the kitchen," the multi-talented mother of two grown children revealed.

But Saturday nights will be special. Then the hotel rafters will vibrate with music as play-alongs and sing-alongs are shared by the Johnson family, guests, and local guitar pickers and fiddlers.

"The community of Turkey has been great," confided Mrs. Johnson pointing out various pieces of furniture, art, and artifacts which had been contributed by friends or relatives.

A sitting room off the lobby is reserved for western memorabilia, to exhibit mounted wildlife, old guns, saddles, and paintings, including one of the early town of "Turkey Roost," by local western artist, Otho Stubbs.

No stranger to hard work, the pretty blond grew up in Louisiana in a unique family which strived to be self-sufficient, growing their own food and making their own clothes as much as possible. With tears in her eyes and a voice choked by emotion, Jane described how the sum total of her experiences have led to this project.

"But, without my family," she said, "none of this would have been possible. On weekends and holidays my husband Scott and our two children come here and work. They are very much a part of it."

Interest in the hotel, which has been nominated as a National Historic Landmark, has mushroomed with word of mouth advertising, an Avalanche Journal story picked by the AP wire services, and coverage by two TV stations in Lubbock and Amarillo station. The Lubbock TV station has already sold the story to a national cable service.

The state architect, a recent visitor from the Texas Historical Commission, advised Mrs. Johnson about the original wall colors and the "improvements" which must be removed to restore the building to its 1927 glory.

To go are the storm windows and the window air-conditioning units. Transoms and ceiling fans will be supplemented in the future by a rooftop, central heating-air conditioning unit. Admitted the hotel owner, "It's a very fine line between practicality and historical value."

Calculating the renovation will take a year, Mrs. Johnson then plans to turn the day-to-day hotel operation over to a local employee, though she'll return to visit as often as possible.

If the phone calls she's received from other history buffs eager to learn how to revitalize old hotels is any indication, Jane Johnson may have found a new career as a historic hotel consultant.

Commissioners Set Aside Funds For County Agent

The Motley County Commissioners Court met Monday January 9, 10 A.M. with Judge Billy J. Whitaker, Commissioners John M. Russell, Prec. 1, Bill D. Washington, Prec. 2, Franklin Jameson, Prec. 3, and Fraiser Watson, Prec. 4.

The Meeting opened with John M. Russell giving the invocation and County Clerk Lucretia Campbell reading the minutes, these being approved as read.

The Court received a letter from the Animal Damage Control Center in Lubbock. The center reported that during the month of December two helicopters and two Super Cubs flew 87.3 hours and removed 740 coyotes, along with the county trapper, Jim Stockton. This brings the total for 1988 to approximately 1200 coyotes. The Center thanked Larry Angel and Matador Ranch for supplying the bait animals for a successful hunt.

The Court reviewed the bills for approximately $10,366.78. Precinct 1, $3054.79; Precinct 2, $1260.78; Precinct 3, $2187.07; Precinct 4, $118.64. The reports were read with the J.P. collecting $3261.50 in fines for December.

John M. Russell was asked by Betty Luckett to be on the Motley County Tax Board. Russell explained that Franklin Jameson would replace Joseph Simpson, but since Betty and Franklin were related Betty thought it best to elect another Commissioner. The Court elected John M. Russell for the Tax Board.

Next on the agenda Judge Whitaker had a request from the Texas Historical Commission for the Court to appoint a County Committee. The Court elected the following: Chairman, Marisue Potts, Members, John M. Russell, Bill D. Washington, Fraiser Watson, Franklin Jameson, Barbara B. Jameson, Gary L. Lancaster, Lavoe Thacker, Grace Campbell, Lucretia (Jr.) Campbell, Opal Pipkin and Eugene Watson.

Darla Gwinn and Wilda Dixon, representatives of the Motley County Library Board, were on hand to ask the court to replace Greer Willis (who has moved) with Larry Crouch of Roaring Springs. The Court accepted this.

Gwinn then asked the Court if they would agree to pay to extra parttime help during the month of December. These workers were Jimmie Hunter and Beverly Darsey. They pointed out they had the extra funds. The Court elected to pay extra hours.

Gwinn and Dixon explained that between Dixon, Hunter and Joe Campbell they had a hard time balancing the books each month. Their request was if they could have their own bank account and still report to the court each month and have an audit each year. In discussion, the Court reminded Gwinn and Dixon that the person in charge of the County funds had to be bonded and that since it was county money, they needed to have control over these funds, but they would be willing to look into this proposal and keep the funding on a quarterly basis along with the monthly reports, etc. This was tabled until further investigation.

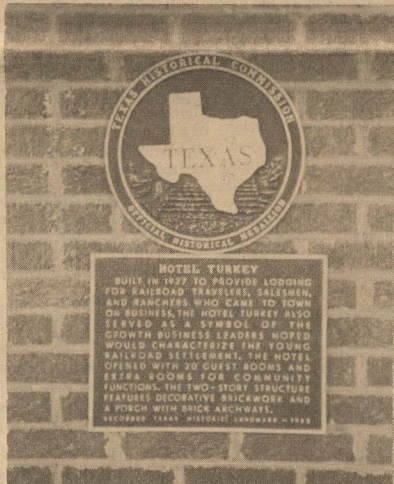

Roger Hoffman of the Springs Ranch Estates presented to the Court the Order Approving Revision of Plat and name change for the Country Lake Estates. Hoffman also stated now each landowner would have their own deed and would pay county taxes. After the Court reviewed the water well, septic system and other regulations for the Lake Country Estates. They approved this order.

Commissioners discussed the work being done by contracted County Attorney J. Lynn Barnhill and what they would do since he is moving his office to Lubbock.

Bill D. Washington said he would call Becky McPherson, the newly elected District Attorney and ask her if she could work the county's work into her schedule. Clerk Campbell reported that Barnhill had cleared the court docket of a lot of backlog cases. Jameson asked if anything had been done about the two road cases. Clerk Campbell reported that nothing had been filed as of this time.

Last on the agenda was to set salaries for the coming year. After discussion Washington motioned that they set a salary for a County Agent at $5,000 plus $1,800 for travel only. They would prefer a family man.

This passed 4-0. The Court discussed that because of the insurance hike they felt they should give the county employees a $50.00 a month raise, with three exceptions, the contract attorney, J.D. Mitchell and the Assistant County Agent. This passed 3-1. Meeting adjourned.

Savings Bonds Sales In Texas Exceed $305 Million In 1988

Sales of United States Savings Bonds in Texas amounted to $21,871,073 during September 1988 for a total of $305,278,022 for fiscal year 1988. This October 1987-September 1988 figure represents 87.2% of the assigned goal of $350 million, T.J. Morrow, District Director for the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Texas, announced today.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $19,525.00 during the October 1987-September 1988 period in Motley County, Judy Cartwright, Volunteer County Chairman, said.

Nationally, total sales for fiscal 1988 amounted to $7,264 million. The amount outstanding in U.S. Savings Bonds as of September 30, 1988 reached $107.78 billion, a gain of 9% over fiscal 1987.

All Series EE Bonds purchased on or after November 1, 1982 - and held at least five year - will earn 85 percent of the average market yield on Treasury marketable securities. The average yield for Bonds held since the beginning of the market-based interest rate on November 1, 1982 is 8.50 percent; the six-month rate for the period November 1, 1988 - April 30, 1989 is 7.35%. Outstanding Series E/EE Bonds and Savings Notes held for at least five years after November 1, 1982 are also earning this market-based rate. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Consumers can obtain current rate information 24 hours a day by calling 1-800-US BONDS, toll-free.

No Apparent Mis-Use of Funds In Roaring Springs

Fred Thayer, CPA, of Floydada called the Tribune office last week to give a follow up on his audit report of the City Council of Roaring Springs, September 6, 1988.

Mr. Thayer stated, "according to a Texas Civil Statute, in the sale of Cafe R.S. to Jerry and Marilyn Crenshaw, financed by the City of Roaring Springs through the Economic Development Grant, purchased from Joey and Ronnie Thacker, there was no conflict of interest as Ronnie Thacker did not participate in the decision process."

Previous report on this meeting, in the September 8, 1988 issue of the Motley County Tribune read as follows:

"Fred Thayer CPA, of Gary, Thayer & Bowers of Floydada, was introduced to give the review of the audit as it is today. He explained it was not complete as he still did not have all forms and receipts from all parties. His audit report covers the years from July 1984 to June 1988.

He explained the items that were documented properly and those that were not. He stated he has already reported to TDCA (Texas Department of Commerce Associations) that expenses of $8,000.00 and $3,000.00 were spent to, for, and by Ronnie Thacker and Annie Alvarado during the grant application. There are no receipts to document these expenditures. Another question he had to report was the sale of the cafe building and equipment by Joey and Ronnie Thacker to the City Council at the time Ronnie Thacker was serving on the council. He stated this could be considered a conflict of interests. These reports are now being reviewed by TDCA and Thayer is waiting on this report to complete the audit."

County Gin Totals Decrease For 1988

In compiling a final count on the number of bales of cotton ginned by the area gins, it was found that the area shows a decrease in bales ginned.

The total count of bales ginned for the 88-89 season is 15,721, compared to 16,311 for the 87-88 season. The final individual gin count is West Texas Gin with 3,786; Red Ball Gin, 3,178; Turner Valley Gin, 4,776 and Flomot Gin with 3,981. The Flomot Gin is still ginning.

In 1985, 16,142 bales were ginned and in 1986-87, 12,827 bales were ginned in this area.

Hospital Board Meeting Report

The Motley County Hospital Board met Tuesday morning January 10, 1989 at the Dream Cafe with Larry Hoyle, Darrell Cruse, H.C. Smith, Lillie Crouch and James Stanley attending.

The minutes were read and approved. The bills were reviewed and approved for $3,987.50 to be paid out. The Board noticed the electric bill being higher than previous months.

A letter was passed around from the Billy Dennison, of the ASCS office stated that "even though the bale count was down, it was not due to the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP)." This year's yield was down because of dry weather and insect problems as well as CRP. Dennison stated approximately 50 farmers had qualified for 35% to 75% disaster. He stated that even though the CRP had a major impact, it is not the full fault of low cotton yield. He was willing to say that there was only a small percent of the crop reduction due to CRP.

Texas Department of Human Services concerning the Indigent Health Care Program.

Hoyle reported that Tony Rose had completed 20 hours of EMT continued education training and could now teach an EMT course.

The ambulance was nearing the 60,000 mile mark and it is time to start thinking of replacing it. Meeting adjourned.

Reverend Willis Resigns As Baptist Pastor

Rev. Greer Willis, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Matador, the past five years, resigned this pastorate to accept the pastorate of First Baptist Church of Pecos, effective this week.

The church joined in a fellowship lunch Sunday, the Willis's last day here, with Dr. Floyd Bradley of Plainview, Director of Missions of the Caprock-Plains Baptist Area as special guest and speaker for both Sunday services.

Rev. and Mrs. Willis (Glenda) and daughter, GeNelle, left Monday for their new work and residence in Pecos.

Stolen Pickup Found In Briscoe County

On Monday, December 26, a pickup was stolen from beside Davis Fuel on U.S. Highway 70 in Matador. Katie Davis had driven their late model pickup to work. They realized after about 30 minutes, the pickup was gone, and apparently had been stolen.

On January 7, the assumed stolen pickup was found stripped down and abandoned in a field in Briscoe County.

SPAG To Host Seminar On Underground Water

The quality of the groundwater in our area is an issue of great concern, particularly in those cases where groundwater is the source of a municipal or private water supply. The West Texas municipalities of Quanah, Seagraves and Anson, for example, have recently experienced problems with groundwater contamination from leaking underground storage tanks. Such tanks, particularly those located at existing and former service station sites, pose a potential threat to virtually every community and/or individual water supply that is dependent on groundwater.

Since local governmental personnel may not be fully aware of the potential danger to their potable water supply from leaking underground storage tanks, the South Plains Association of Governments is hosting a one-half day seminar to alert you to it. The seminar is scheduled for the afternoon of Thursday, January 26, 1989 at the SPAG office located at 1323 58th in Lubbock. The seminar is jointly sponsored by the Water Resources Center at Texas Tech University, the High Plains Underground Water conservation District No. 1, and the Texas Water Commission. Designed for local governmental personnel, the seminar will highlight the potential danger to potable water supplies, procedures for detecting problems, and sources of help if a problem develops. No technical background is necessary in order to benefit fully from the material to be presented.

Senior Citizens Report

by Iris Blevins

Thursday the bus went to Plainview with nine people riding. Several of us ate lunch at the Senior Citizens and had a real good meal, and a whole bunch of nice people to visit with while you are eating. Monday the bus went to Lubbock with several people riding. Some had Doctors appointments and business, while others were shopping.

Friday evening Bill and Norabelle opened the doors to our building at 2:00 for our regular game evening and there were 13 people there. We had 84, 42 and dominoes being played. I'm sorry I couldn't be with all of you and will be glad when the flu bug disappears. Again we want to welcome you to come and be with us at all times.

LOWFAT CHOICES IN FAST FOOD

People trying to eat a low-fat diet often run into trouble when eating at fast food restaurants. But these restaurants -- all 55,000 of them -- are here to stay.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that half of the money spent on restaurant food goes for fast food - about $200 a year per person. This amounts to around $50 billion a year for the nation. Put another way, over 45 million people, a fifth of our population, patronize a fast food restaurant on a typical day.

Studies also show that the number of fast food eaters will increase as more women join the work force giving them more money (but less time) to eat out. They also take along other major consumers of fast food: their children.

Yet according to some experts, children may be susceptible to hardening of the arteries beginning at two years of age and shouldn't make a steady diet of typical fast foods.

What can we do to protect ourselves from excessive amounts of fat and still enjoy the convenience, variety, speed, and flavor of fast foods? Here are some suggestions:

* If ordering pizza, avoid pressed meats, which usually have a high fat content. Instead, choose mushrooms, peppers and onion, and skip the extra cheese.

* When the menu is limited, choose small portions, such as a single hamburger and a small cone. Avoid anything that smacks of bigness, such as "super" and "extra."

* Breakfasts can be a problem. The elegant but deceptively fattening croissants are making rapid inroads. They have almost twice the calories and about five times the fat as two slices of whole wheat bread. Instead, order a plain English muffin and fruit juice.

* If baked potatoes are on the menu, choose them instead of French fries, but leave off the sour cream, butter, cheese, and other high-fat toppings.

* Fill up at salad bars, but skip the bacon bits, potato salad, and creamy dressings. Concentrate on the vegetables and watch the amount of dressing you use. Look for low calorie dressing, or, if not available, choose vinegar and oil, using very little oil.

* If you must order deep-fried foods, take off the breading or other coatings, difficult though that may seem at first.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Barbara,

Our family was spending Christmas Day at my sister's house in Garland, when my aunt from Matador called and advised that my Mom's dog had been poisoned. I could not believe that this was going on and couldn't imagine anyone would do such a cruel thing.

Since my dad passed away and we girls moved off. I had gotten my mother her ugly little dog eight years ago thinking a pet would really keep her company and Scotty did. Everyday he was there for her and he will sure be missed.

I am enclosing a $10 check to be put in the reward fund which has been set up. I hope this person will be caught and punished before more innocent animals are killed or worse yet, possibly a child's life be in danger.

Thank you,
Lisa (Smallwood) Morrow

We're Fighting For Your Life.

Rita and Agie Groves, right, present Marriage Records of Motley County, 1891-1987, to Library Board Member, Keith Patton, left.

Many thanks to Winifred Lee for the charming snowman scene in our front window. Last Thursday, I was afraid the "snow" in the window was going to turn brown from the blowing sand. It is beginning to look like those sparkling snowflakes she made for the window arrangement may be the only snowflakes we see for the rest of the winter.

The bird collection that Joan Patton assembled for the display case has certainly gotten a lot of attention. I missed the tiny glass owl the first time I looked it over and was amazed to discover the wood carved quail on the top shelf when I took the third chance to look it over. Barbara Jameson was prompted to bring in a pottery bird from Mexico and Winifred Lee was reminded that she had painted a picture of "Quail in the Snow" which she brought in and modestly put on the stand (which she also furnished) against the wall behind our largest plant. I moved it to the window on the other side of the door where it shows up well in the morning sunshine when you are on the sidewalk, but you look at it's back from our reading corner, inside.

Jimmie D. Smith still drops in to empty our trash and sweep our sidewalk and is always willing to help get the 4 packets of film to the Post Office when new ones arrive. Thank you, Jimmie.

A "Thank You" for a donation to the Library in memory of Mrs. Mae Terry by Bill and June Moss and James and Kathy Gillespie; in memory of Lenore LaGrange by El Progreso Club. A big "thank you" to Predicta Study Club for a donation to our Multipurpose Fund.

The window and bird display is not the only new thing around the Library these days. We have a new President of the Library Board, Mrs. James (Darla) Gwinn, and Wilda Dixon is our new Vice-President. We are grateful that Devonne Dillard consented to stay on as Secretary for another year and Joan Patton will continue as the Lay Representative to West Texas Library System. Forest Campbell and Larry Crouch are our new board members replacing J.E. Edwards and Greer Willis. We hope that the new board will enjoy working together as much, as the previous board members did and know they will do their best to see that the Library meets the needs of the Community in the best way possible.

Earlyne Jameson certainly carried on efficiently after Marisee's resignation as President of the Board, and practically completed plans for refinishing the dangerously worn sidewalk in front of our building using donated labor and materials. This is something she has felt we needed for sometime. Luther Green, who has volunteered to ramrod this project, has plans to include a ramp, that would make this side of the street wheelchair accessible.

Greer Willis will surely be missed. He was very helpful in getting plans for the mural underway and worked with JB. Cooper and the Railway Commission on getting butane in the building. Besides offering many helpful suggestions on arranging furniture and saving time, he served as counselor for the Trauma Support Group which had 10 weekly meetings with five people attending. I am sure that he and his family will quickly become a part of the community life in Pecos, just as they did in Matador. We will certainly miss Glenda and GeNelle from our Library School meetings.

Thanks are also due to Mary Irvin for donating several books to the Library, and to Mrs. Pete (Dorothy) Knight for bringing in a complete set of National Geographic for 1988.

Books recommended as "really good" by the people returning them last week were The Auerbock Will, by Stephen Birmingham, Random Wind by Belva Plain and the novels of Mary Higgins Clark. A Few Good Men, by William Overgard is a new book on our selves and I picked up a copy of Cardinal of the Kremlin, by Tom Clancy at Hasting's Bookstore in Plainview Monday. We will try to have it accessioned, covered, and supplied with a pocket and charge card by the time you read this paper. Tom Clancy also wrote Red Storm Rising.

That's not all, we owe thanks to Marisee Potts for Friday cards for new and donated books Friday, until the printer quit working, then coming in Saturday to box up the computer, printer, drive disk and the display that was producing wavy pictures and loaded them in her van to take to Lubbock for a checkup and overhaul.

Thanks to Mrs. Mary Lou Bollman Lockney for signing our guest book, Thursday and making use of our genealogy section, and to Mrs. J.D. Craven, who brought her daughter, Patti Hamilton from Eagle River, Alaska in to see the mural. While they were here, Patti checked my Texas Highways Magazines and listed the missing ones, then she and Mrs. Craven joined the 1989 Friends of the Library for themselves and their husbands.

January is a very good month to pay your "Friends" dues and I'm sure that Earline Vaughn, secretary of the organization, Keith Patton, treasurer, or Frances Finch, the new president, will be glad to take your money and see that your name is listed on the 1989 roster of Friends of the Library.

I am indebted to Rita Groves for sending this picture of her and Algie presenting the Marriage Records of Motley County from 1891 to 1987 which they compiled and arranged both alphabetically and chronologically, to Keith Patton. The Groves have given each of their three sons $100.00 lifetime memberships to Friends of the Motley County Library.

If any of you readers have a friend or relative who has everything they need, you might want to recognize their birthday or anniversary in this way. The dues are: Individual, $2.00; Family, $5.00; Supporting, $10.00; Business Firms or Organizations, $25.00; Patron, $50.00 and Life, $100.00.

Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Groves for the picture and Christmas Card and for listing interments in Motley County and marriage records that are so convenient and useful for patrons and guests doing genealogical research; and for your continued support of Motley County Library.

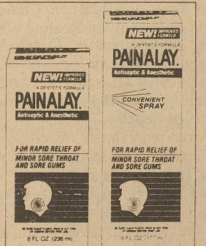

Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

Toll-Free College Information Hotline January 14-15

The Texas Association of College Admission Counselors (TACAC) and First City, Texas will co-sponsor a toll-free HOTLINE number available to all Texas residents from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday, January 14 and Sunday, January 15.

People in Texas may telephone toll-free 1-800-253-8989 with their questions about college selection, admission, testing and financial aid. The most up-to-date information regarding the application process, college majors, entrance requirements, financial aid and meeting deadlines will be available.

College admission directors and high school guidance counselors will be answering the ten (10) phone lines. Financial aid personnel will round out the team of "experts". Nearly 1,000 calls were answered last year on topics such as entrance requirements, ACT/SAT testing, college costs and scholarships.

With over 3,000 higher education institutions to choose from and over $14 million in financial aid available, selecting the "right" one is truly a challenge. The goal of the 1989 Hotline project is to provide immediate answers to all the people of Texas who have questions about college.

Review Finances For 1989 Planning

If it's January, it must be time for new year's resolutions. Lose weight. Balance the checkbook. Visit your mother. Plan your funeral.

Plan your funeral? According to family finance expert Nancy Granovsky, that's not a morbid resolution.

"Considering what would happen to your family if you or any other wage-earner should die suddenly should be a normal part of an annual review of the family's finances," she said.

Granovsky, a specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University, said January is an ideal time to go through what she calls a "financial contingency day."

"The purpose is simply to review all aspects of your family finances, update needed information and set goals for the coming year," she said.

"Its side benefits are helping you get records organized for tax purposes and having ready the financial information you'd need in case of a death, accident or major family crises."

The specialist suggested several items to consider on a financial contingency agenda:

* Write out a net worth statement. That means listing the value of all your assets, and listing all your debts. The difference between the two is your net worth.

* Plan your financial goals for the next year. Those could include such things as reducing your debt load, saving a certain amount in a college fund for the children, or financing a new car.

* Establish a household budget or revise last year's to reflect new financial goals and/or changes in the family's economic status. If one spouse is going back to work, going from part-time to full time employment or retiring, for example, it will have a great impact on income and expenses.

* Check with your lawyer to have a will drawn up or to see that existing wills are up-to-date. Review how assets and property will be handled in case of a death.

* Prepare or review a letter of last instruction. This letter informs survivors of financial matters needing immediate attention and also describes what funeral plans, if any, you have made.

* Re-calculate survivor's income and expenses in case of a death of a wage-earner. Make out a tentative budget for survivors and list all sources of income they can depend upon.

Granovsky said younger couples are often especially reluctant to go through this process, although they may need it most.

"Young families often have higher debt loads, more dependents and are less likely to have substantial resources to carry survivors through until they can get back on their feet financially," she said. "That makes some planning all the more important."

Most families won't have to put their contingency plans into action, but going through the process will help them get a grip on their family finances for 1989.

Social Security Tips

By Terry J. Clements

Everyone who applies for a Social Security number must provide evidence of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship for lawful alien status, including young children.

Parents sometimes have difficulty finding the required evidence of identity. Proof of age is relatively easy, an official U.S. public birth certificate recorded before age 5 is preferred. This document will also establish citizenship.

Documents which will establish a young child's identity, and which are usually available to most families, include a report card, school identification card, newspaper birth announcement, court order for name change, church membership or confirmation record, doctor or hospital record, vaccination certificate, day care or nursery school record, or child's membership in youth organization, such as scouts.

This is not an exclusive list. Any document enough identifying data can be used.

Foreign born applicants will also need the appropriate Immigration and Naturalization Service documents.

Only original documents or copies certified by the issuing agency can be used.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

Free Trees Offered By Arbor Day Foundation

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January, 1989.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's efforts to encourage tree planting throughout America.

The ten trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between February 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TEN TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by January 31, 1989.

Sisters Excel in Academics

Two sisters, daughters of former Matador residents have received single honors in their respective academic fields of endeavor at Texas Tech University and Evans Junior High School in Lubbock.

Sherry Campbell, a freshman at Tech, was named to the Dean's Honor List for scholastic achievement by the College of Home Economics, an award to full-time students who have attained a semester grade-point average of 3.5 or better. She is enrolled in the architect division of home design.

A letter accompanying the certificate was signed by Ruth E. Martin, Associate Dean of the College of Home Economics, extending "Congratulations on your fine academic performance for the fall semester! Your achievement is outstanding; I am happy to rejoice with you or your successful efforts." Sherry attended Motley County Schools her freshman year in high school.

Jana Campbell, a ninth-grader at Evans Junior High School was one of only three students from Texas selected for this year's 220-voice National Junior High School Choir which will perform March 12 at the National Convention of the American Choral Directors Association in Louisville, Ky. A student from a Houston junior high school, and Ivanna Woicikowski, also a ninth-grader at Evans Junior High School were the other Texans selected.

The three were chosen from among 5,000 students who auditioned and advanced through state, regional and national levels of competition, the Evans choir director Doreen Hutton announced. The national choir represents the highest artistic level in the nation for junior high choral students.

The Campbell sisters are daughters of Ann and Richard Campbell of 6205 Elkhart Avenue in Lubbock, former Matador residents, and granddaughters of Mrs. Lucretia Campbell of Matador and the late R.E. "Junior" Campbell.

Sarpalius Sworn In While Others Take New Committees

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was taken from the Childress Index. It was written by Jennifer Dixon, Associated Press Writer.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- As freshmen Reps. Greg Laughlin and Bill Sarpalius learn their way around Congress, some veteran Texas lawmakers will be leading committees with jurisdiction over such crucial issues as the savings and loan crisis and preparation of the 1990 Farm Bill.

Laughlin and Sarpalius, Democrats who represent rambling rural districts at opposite ends of the state, were sworn in Tuesday by House Speaker Jim Wright of Fort Worth, who was re-elected to a second term.

Ascending into new House leadership positions are Democratic Reps. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, new chairman of the House Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs Committee; and Jack Brooks of Beaumont, the new House Judiciary Committee chairman.

Other Texas chairmen are Rep. Kika de la Garza of Mission, House Agriculture Committee; Rep. Mickey Leland of Houston, chairman of the Select Committee on Hunger; and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Laughlin, a West Columbia attorney, and Sarpalius, an eight-year member of the state Senate from Amarillo, were sworn in as friends and family gathered in the House chamber.

"I was very, very elated," Sarpalius said. "Sitting in the House chamber, it was a unique feeling, realizing I grew up at Boys Ranch and at one time I had nothing going for me. Only in America can someone who has had nothing become something, to be honored to have the privilege to serve as a member of Congress."

Sarpalius was elected to represent the sprawling 37-county Panhandle district over Amarillo Republican Larry Milner.

The savings and loan situation is one of the most critical issues for Texas facing Congress, along with finding the money to begin building the $4.4 billion super collider south of Dallas, Frost and others said.

"The budget deficit - trying to get that down - is the top priority for the new Congress," Bentsen said. "For Texas, the top priority is the superconducting super collider, because of all the jobs it'll help create."

Sarpalius said his district produces one-third of all Texas agricultural products and about one-tenth of the nation's agriculture, and hoped that by being on the House Agriculture Committee he could help shape the 1990 Farm Bill.

Farmers in his district, he said, "are still struggling. Any money they make is going to old notes; they've borrowed so much money just to survive."

Both new congressmen said they are particularly concerned about the state's struggling rural hospitals.

Boulter Enjoys Life Out of Limelight - For now

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was taken from the Amarillo Daily News.

Expense accounts, private plane trips, baby-kissing, pomp, ceremony and notoriety.

What's a congressman to do when he no longer enjoys those political perks of public life?

Beau Boulter says it's fine to be out of the limelight for a while, though it could be only temporarily.

"I really want to practice law and possibly take a look at 1990," Boulter said Friday.

The Amarillo Republican officially ended his second term in the U.S. House of Representatives last week when his Democratic successor, Bill Sarpalius, was sworn into the 13th District.

Boulter, who vacated his congressional seat for an unsuccessful stab at unseating U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, says a bid for the state attorney general's post rides high on his list of future political options.

State observers say Democrat Attorney General Jim Mattox will vacate the office for a run at the governor's office.

Boulter, who was advised against forfeiting his relatively secure congressional seat, garnered 41 percent of the statewide vote against Bentsen, who made a separate bid for the vice presidency.

The name recognition Boulter received in his Senate run could boost his chances for a statewide run in 1990.

Some said Boulter is seeking a federal appointment under President-elect George Bush's administration. Boulter disagrees.

"If George Bush were to call me..... certainly I'd take a look at it," he said.

Boulter says the Senate battle was the toughest he's ever fought, but said he didn't shoot too high.

"Actually, it feels very good. I don't regret the race. I'm glad I ran. I don't think people should stay in the House forever," Boulter said, "I didn't want to stay there forever. I think I did a good job."

"I don't miss being in the House," he said. "I'm in a lot better political shape to do something than when I was a member of the House."

Boulter said Congress has a tough job in its upcoming session. One of the first items on the congressional agenda is a 50 percent pay raise, which President Reagan has endorsed.

"They shouldn't do it, but they will. They shouldn't do it until they get rid of the deficit," Boulter said. "I think it's just very inappropriate."

Boulter said he hopes to see the deregulation of natural gas in the upcoming session.

"I think there's a good chance we will. Bush wants it and I think Congress will cooperate," he said.

But Boulter said some lawmakers in the Democratic-controlled Congress are tax-hungry.

"There will be tension between those in Congress who want to raise taxes and George Bush, who I honestly believe does not want to raise taxes on anything," Boulter said. "I hope he sticks with that position."

Boulter says his greatest achievement in his congressional career was the 1985 founding of the bi-partisan Grace Caucus, which he said was instrumental in curbing governmental spending and cutting the budget deficit.

Also, heading the House Republican Energy Task Force was a feat Boulter is proud of.

"The thing I grew to appreciate is everybody that serves really wants to do a good job. He may have different philosophies, but everybody is really hard working," Boulter said. "You have to appreciate differences in background and philosophies and try and work with people you may not agree with and who may not agree with you, but you still have to work with them."

Boulter, 46, was raised in Levelland and became interested in politics while attending the University of Texas at Austin. Both before and after graduation, he worked on Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's staff and later worked on Smith's gubernatorial campaign while a law student at Baylor University.

natorial campaign while a law student at Baylor University.

After spending a year as a briefing attorney for the Texas Supreme Court, Boulter moved to Lubbock, where he practiced law from 1969 until 1974. He then moved to Amarillo where he became active in the Republican Party.

In 1981, Boulter took on a five-term incumbent for the city commission. In 1983, he defeated five-term U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, for the 13th District seat.

Boulter says he intends to enjoy his family and the ease and organization of private life that have largely been ignored for the past four years.

Boulter recalled making round-trip jaunts from Washington to Amarillo through the district nearly every other weekend.

"If you don't do anything extra it's hard, but it's great fun. It's absolutely a marvelous experience," he said.

Boulter said he's had little trouble retiring his campaign debt, and the checks continue to come in.

He says he has plenty of time to map out future political battles, if any.

"It's not the time to do that. I've got to get my own life settled," he said. "It's way too early for anybody to be opening up a campaign."

You're going to meet an old person down the road someday. What kind? That's a good question.

That person may be patient, kind, humble, happy, gracious; filled with faith and love; surrounded by many friends.

Or, that person may be irritable, cruel, proud, selfish, sad; filled with doubts and hatred; bitter and alone.

The kind of a person you'll meet depends on your thoughts, words and deeds. That old person will be you.

The Bible says you'll reap the kind of crop you sow.

Lord, Let Me Say

by H. Soltwisch

My sinus has been stopped up,
My appetite is shot
And now the doctor tells me
It's the big "C" I've got.
I know it's not a laughing matter
Not one at which to poke fun,
But I really don't have to worry
'Cause, Lord, I have your Son
Who bore all my sicknesses;
Shared all my sorrows
That I might have
Many beautiful tomorrows.
So, God, I pray for grace.
To be your witness through this situation
And to continually praise and thank you
For this is only tribulation.
Please give me a smile to pass along;
A song to sing of praise - not a few;
As long as there is breath in me,
Use me to sing and witness for you.
I love you, Lord!
Praise your name!

HEALTH TIPS

WEATHERING THE WINTER BLUES

While December and January are filled with happy holidays, joyous family gatherings and exciting winter sports, some people find that they just cannot get into the festive spirit. For them, winter is something to be endured rather than enjoyed.

If you suffer from those "winter blues," you know the symptoms: fatigue, loneliness and the feeling that everyone in the world is happy except you. Many people experience an increased risk of depression during winter. One of the reasons is that the days are shorter, darker and frequently overcast. Bitterly cold weather may send individuals indoors for much of the season.

Rux Hensley, clinical social worker in the psychiatric program of Methodist Hospital, offers the following "blues busters" to help alleviate depression and raise the spirits.

-- Keep bright lights burning inside when you are home during the day. A bright fluorescent light is best, but any kind of light helps because it tends to simulate the sun.

-- Wear light-colored clothing.
-- Get outside whenever possible.
-- Exercise. It is a natural mood lifter and helps fight fatigue. If it's too cold for a brisk walk, why not jump rope, invest in a stationary bicycle or buy an aerobics videotape.

-- Get the right amount of sleep. Both too much sleep and not enough sleep can aggravate depression and fatigue.

-- Watch the diet. Get the nutrients needed to function efficiently and reduce fatigue.

-- Avoid overindulgence in alcohol and sweets.

-- Do not take responsibility for all the holiday preparations.

-- Take time for yourself everyday. Read, take a walk or sit alone quietly.

-- Ask for help if needed. If the winter depression is prolonged, severe or makes the life seem not worth living, get professional assistance as soon as possible. Help is only a phone call away.

The prospect of 9.2 million bale carry-over at the end of the 1988-89 marketing year has given cotton interests a common New Year's resolution: Find a way under the current farm program to make U.S. cotton competitive in both domestic and foreign markets.

In the final months of 1988 the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, the American Cotton Shippers Association and the officers and Board members of the National Cotton Council's Producer Steering Committee (PSC) each developed proposals to that end. The job now, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is to consolidate the suggestions of all groups into a single proposal acceptable to all segments of the industry and to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Johnson attended a January 3 meeting in Nashville, Tenn., at which the full PSC agreed that the malfunction of the spring process in current law for the most part is direct result of the procedure used by USDA to determine the adjustment world price (AWP).

The AWP is the price at which cotton can be redeemed from the government loan or sold by producers without sacrificing net income. It therefore determines the price at which current farm law makes U.S. cotton available to world markets.

Since passage of the 1985 farm act the AWP has been calculated from an index of world prices published in "Cotton Outlook" by Cotlook Ltd. of Liverpool, England. Cotlook complies its index from price quotations supplied by cotton producing countries throughout the world.

The problem, Johnson explains, is that the "quotes" used by Cotlook do not reflect the actual price at which the quoting countries are offering cotton for sale. "That means the rigid pricing formula now being used by USDA, in effect, allows our competition to set an artificially high price at which U.S. cotton can be exported.

Among corrective measures considered by the PSC, most favorable comment was heard on the application of AWP adjustments based on U.S. spot market quotes, New York futures and/or actual world market trading prices. However, pending further study the committee stopped short of endorsing explicit actions and adopted a broad resolution urging USDA to use whatever discretionary authority it has to achieve the desired result. The NCC Executive Committee met later in the day and approved the PSC recommendation.

A more specific proposal is expected from the PSC's next meeting, scheduled in Dallas on January 27. That proposal, if approved by the NCC Board, will be recommended as official industry policy to the NCC delegate body at the organization's annual meeting in Dallas January 29, 30 and 31.

In other action the PSC recognized the need in future legislative activity for dealing with environmental issues and created an Environment Task Force to develop committee strategy. PCG Board member Frank Jones of Lamesa, immediate past PSC chairman and NCC producer delegate, was named chairman of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Martin returned home from a ten day holiday tour, Thursday, Jan. 5 that included tourist attractions in New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California.

Highlight of the trip was the grandstand view of the dozens of floats laden with blossoms along the five and half mile route of the colorful Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Jan. 1. They attended the exciting Rose Bowl football game when 11th ranked Michigan rallied with two fourth-quarter touchdowns for a 22-14 victory against no. 5, Southern California.

In Escondido, they toured the Lawrence Welk Village where brass instruments and musical notes were embedded in sidewalks, beautiful taped music in the air waves and bronze statues of Mr. Welk. They enjoyed a gala New Year's Eve party here and performance of the musical "She Loves Me." The champagne flowed freely after the show.

While in California, they also toured Disneyland, Sea World and San Diego Harbor where they saw aircraft carriers bring airplanes to decks of ships from below before departing California.

The World of Lights in Las Vegas, Nevada, they were entertained at a Musical Review in the Zigfield Show Room, they saw rare Joshua trees in Barstow, The Hoover Dam and in Arizona, the Saguero cactus in Tucson. They were surprised to encounter snowfall in Flagstaff.
