St. Valentine's Day A Day of Love

On Feb. 14, we celebrate St. Valentine's Day with the exchange of verse or love notes on valentines and with flowers or candy to those we especially love. Do we realize that on this day we are following the commandments of the Bible. The great commandments in law are:

37 Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and great commandment.

39 And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. (St. Matt. 22:37-39)

"For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Galatians 5:14)

Now we show our love to God by reading His Holy Bible and hearing it, by keeping His commandments (which are by love), by accepting His Son as our Saviour from sins, and by telling others about the redemptive blood of Jesus Christ.

The second great commandment tells us to "love our neighbor," and who is our neighbor? We don't refer to just those living in our neighborhood but to everyone and especially those with whom we come into contact with. A good neighbor is not selfish, not greedy, not boastful, not coveting; but is forgiving, is full of understanding and is a person who prays for his neighbors. Do you rejoice when your neighbor has good news, and do you comfort him if he is in sorrow?

The Bible tells us how to be a good neighbor. "For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink. I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me." (St. Matt. 25:35-40) greeting, a helping hand, words of encouragement, etc.

In Luke 10:36 and on: The good Samaritan had compassion on the man who had been robbed, wounded and stripped of his clothing, and was left half dead by a robber; and he bound up his wounds and took him to an inn for further care. Do you likewise have compassion for your neighbor who is hungry, who is left homeless by a tornado, flood, or fire? Listen to what the Bible says: "But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother hath need, and shutteth up the bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in Him? (1 John 3:7)

Most of all we show our love if we tell others (our neighbors) about Jesus by witnessing, by our life, by our actions and deeds, by getting them to read the Bible in study groups, etc. or by giving them or lending them a book that explains the scripture line by line, by lending them a religious book which quotes from the Bible, by inviting them to church, to camp meetings, to evangelistic meetings, prayer meetings, and the like.

In conclusion: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God, and knoweth God." (1 John 4:7) And let us not love one another just on St. Valentine's Day but every day of the year!

Girls Take District, Boys Win Again

The Matadors' girls varsity team captured district honors Tuesday night by defeating the Guthrie girls 74--53. The MC boys also won Tuesday 96--39, but had the district title already wrapped up for the year.

In the girls' game Guthrie took an early lead but the MC girls fought back and lead 17--16 after the first quarter. An aggressive defense held Guthrie to only two points in the 2nd quarter and MC was able to pull away for a 33--18 half-time lead.

"We had a good overall team effort," head varsity girls Coach Larry Neighbors said. "This was the first time we have played them that we had a big lead at the half. Usually we're real close at halftime. The 2nd quarter was what made the difference. We hit a really hot streak and Guthrie got a little cold."

At the end of the 3rd quarter MC led 59--33 and never gave up. The final score was 74--53.

"One of our main assets is quickness," Neighbors said. "Quickness and constant pressure really helped. Guthrie is going to be the team to beat next year. They are only losing one senior. We are losing five."

The girls will play Robert Lee at Jayton in a practice game Friday. Robert Lee has only lost one game also. Neighbors said he would know Friday who his team will play in Bi-District.

PTA To Hear Drug Abuse Program

A program on "Drug and Alcohol Abuse" will be presented by Neal Haralson and Dude Speed at the Monday night meeting of the Motley County Parent-Teacher Association. Special guest will be a narcotics agent from Lubbock. The meeting will be held Monday night, February 18, at 7:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The program on "Drug and Alcohol Abuse" has been scheduled since the beginning of the school year and is not a result of the recent vandalism of a local business, according to Mrs. Frances Hobbs, PTA President. "We have a fine group of young people in our community and this program is a means of trying to prevent a major problem in our school and community by educating our children and their parents.

Research has proven that the best way to prevent a drug or alcohol problem is through the education of it," stated Mrs. Hobbs. "We cannot stress the importance of this program enough and we encourage all parents to bring their children with them. The program will precede the business session in order that non-members who do not wish to stay for the business meeting may feel free to leave."

A suggestion box will be available during the business session in order for members to place their suggestions for this year's PTA project. These suggestions will be studied by the Budget and Finance committee and the most feasible choices will be presented to the members to vote on at the March meeting. Members of the Budget and Finance committee will be introduced by Mrs. Sondra Francis, chairman of the committee. A nominating committee will be selected.

The Monday night meeting is a tentative date depending upon the date set for the girls Bi-District game. School officials will not know the exact date of the playoff game until after the publication of this paper. In the event the game will be scheduled

Monday, February 18, the PTA meeting will be held the following night, February 19.

Everyone interested in the welfare of our youth is invited and encouraged to attend this meeting.

Dear Friends,
Here is my check to renew my Tribune subscription. It doesn't take long to read the Tribune each week, and it's the best way I have of keeping up with what's happening in my home town, and with its people. I especially love to see pictures of old friends (Vaden Hays in the last issue) and their children. Since it's impossible to stay in touch personally with everyone, it's with a lot of affection and fond memories that I read the Tribune each week. Thanks and best wishes.

MRS. DAVID ALAN GLENN
(Tonya Marie Cross)

Tonya Cross, David Glenn repeat wedding vows in church ceremony

Trinity United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening for nuptial vows pledged by Tonya Marie Cross and David Alan Glenn. The Rev. Raymond Dyess of Stratford, retired Methodist minister, was the officiant. A greenery enhanced brass candelabra arch holding white tapers accented by a rust colored bow centered the altar area. Twin brass spirals trimmed with boxwood greenery holding white tapers flanked the arch. Wedding music was presented by Martin Duckett, organist, and Rick Cross of Canyon, brother of the bride, who sang selected songs. THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.C. (Doc) Cross, 1301 Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Glenn, Route 3, are parents of the bridegroom. Mr. Cross presented his daughter for marriage.

French veiling attached to the wide brimmed hat of white crepe formed the blusher. Two white silk roses were used as a side accent. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white Sweetheart roses and miniature white carnations, sprinkled with camellia foliage. Family sentiment was emphasized in the traditions of something old, which was the bride's late maternal grandmother's wedding ring, something borrowed, a strand of pearls belonging to her great-aunt, Mrs. Joel C. Murphy of San Diego, Calif., and a blue lace and pearl-trimmed garter made by Mrs. Murphy. She carried a white linen handkerchief purchased by her parents in Ireland. To complete tradition, she had in her shoes two one-cent pieces dated the birthyears of the bride and groom. The bride wore diamond stud earrings, given to her by the groom, for something new.

The flower girl carried a brown woven basket filled with a bouquet of the same flowers carried by the attendants. The basket had been carried by the bride in her sister's wedding. THE GROOM'S best man was his brother, Mike Glenn of Lockney. Groomsman were Danny Glenn of Lubbock, the groom's brother, and Max Jones of Kress. Serving as ushers were Steve Cross, the bride's brother, Jim Reed of Kress, and Jimmie Glenn, and Ty Blankenmeyer of Irving, cousins of the groom. Candles were lit by Guy Blankenmeyer of Irving, also a cousin of the groom. Special guests for the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Earl Stephens and the groom's grandfather, Curt Glenn, Westridge Manor.

THE RECEPTION was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a hand-embroidered outwork cloth of antique white, made by the bride's late maternal grandmother. A three-tiered white cake was topped with a nosegay of Sonja roses, Walnut and Sonia carnations and rust pompons. Garlands of carnations and poms blanketed the middle tier and miniature nosegays accented the scallops at the base of the cake. Silver candlesticks holding peach candles and silk flowers were centered on the table. Silver and crystal appointments were used. Presiding were Mrs. Douglas Eubanks, Teri King, Lisa Jernigan, Mrs. Jodie Jamison, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Don Bishop of Morristown, N.J., and Mrs. J.C. Spencer.

THE GROOM'S table was covered with an embroidered beige cloth with lace insertion from Venice, Italy. Brass candlesticks with brown candles and silk greenery was centered on the table. Brass appointments were used for serving by Mrs. Mike Glenn, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Jimmie Glenn and Mrs. Harold Blankenmeyer of Irving, cousins of the groom. The couple left for Taos, N.M., on a skiing trip. They will return here and make their home north of Plainview.

THE REHEARSAL dinner was held at El Jardin Friday evening, hosted by the groom's parents. Mrs. Cross and the bride were hostesses for the bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at the Bridal House. Miss Cross is the granddaughter of the late Earl and Marie Stephens and the great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Murphy. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cooper of Roaring Springs and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cross of Matador. She is the great-niece of Mrs. Cordie Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Murphy, Mrs. Joe Stephens and Mrs. Ed Whitaker, all of Matador.

LIFE CALLS US TO ACCOUNT FOR OUR MISDEEDS

One of life's most compelling temptations consists of trying to "get away with" something, particularly when we see those around us apparently doing it; from cutting classes in school to being less than honest in our dealings with others, financial or otherwise. However, sooner or later life will catch up with you; for you will either ruin your reputation, destroy your health or get badly hurt, depending on the nature of your transgressions. You will learn in Church that we must all pay our debt to that big Accounting Department in the sky, but that we may then make a fresh start. You will find that it pays to live by the rules, for there is no better feeling than the peace of mind you will enjoy as a result of it.

W. W. Moore Family

(Written About 20 Years Ago)

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore better known as "Uncle Billy" and she as "Aunt Patty" were considered one of Motley's best beloved couples. The many kindnesses and benevolences done by them endeared them to the hearts of many here.

He was a native of Bell County, Texas having been born there in 1865. He was married to Miss Patty Ellison in 1888 in Stonewall County. She was born in Milam County in February of 1870.

They came to Motley County in 1891 in a covered wagon, settling 12 miles east of Matador. Mrs. Moore recalls that her husband staked his claim in the midst of a terrible sandstorm. When they went to Childress to buy lumber to construct a house Mrs. Moore drove one of the wagons.

They also experienced the drought years of the early nineties. "One of the few things I disliked about the new country were the rattle snakes," said Mrs. Moore. "There were dozens of them around the house."

"But the people of the West have always been friendly," she continued. "I have never had a neighbor who wasn't, and I loved them all. During the first years the Russells, Edmondson and Cooper families were our nearest neighbors, and we often visited."

In about 1900 the Moores moved into Matador and built a home where the Motley Hotel now stands. They lived there until they moved to the place west of town where "Aunt Patty" lived until she died in 1956.

The Moores spent many years caring for old people. "Uncle Billy's" mother and "Aunt Patty's" father had died so his father and her mother had married. Soon after they came out and lived with the Moores until their death. Mr. Moore's sister "Mrs. Evans" died, so Mr. Evans and son Billy came out to live with the Moores. Billy attended school here and later entered the grocery business with Mr. R. P. Moore. Billy Evans contracted measles in 1907 and died at the age of 26. His father lived here until his death in 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Moore also took his aunt, Mrs. Rose Bash Epps, who had no home and cared for her several years before her death in 1917.

Mr. W. W. Moore was extensively engaged in the cattle industry. He also served as president of the First National Bank of Matador and was known throughout the Panhandle for his friendly personality and sterling character. He passed away in 1935.

The Moores had a pet parrot named Frank, that was a curiosity to the neighbor children. He would call "come in", when there was a knock at the door. He liked for Uncle Billy and Aunt Patty to pet him. If they didn't he would call "Poor Frank", until they noticed him. When "Uncle Billy" passed away "Aunt Patty" was sad so long and cried so much that Frank grieved himself to death. "Aunt Patty" passed away in 1956.

Beef referendum Gets Good Support

Registration figures for the Beef referendum were released today and, according to ASCS, 40,320 Texas cattlemen have registered. Voting is slated for Feb. 19-22.

"We are pleased with the registration turnout," said O. J. Barron, a Spur rancher and co-chairman of the Texas Beef referendum effort. "Now is the time for cattlemen to pull together and vote to strengthen the American cattle industry."

Only cattlemen who registered Jan. 28 through Feb. 6 are qualified to vote Feb. 19-22.

"With passage of the Beef referendum, the cattle industry will initiate and fund a national program of beef research, information, promotion and market development."

"Funding will be through an investment of 20¢ per $100 sales on cattle. We anticipate this program will raise from $30 to $40 million," Barron said.

Barron stressed that the Beef referendum effort is not a government program, as some people would like to have cattlemen believe.

"The Beef referendum is a self-help program designed for and to be administered by a Beef Board comprised of cattlemen," Barron said. "And in true democratic fashion, cattlemen who do not wish to participate may request -- and will promptly receive -- refund of their contributions."

The Beef Board will be made up of 60 cattlemen nominated by cattle organizations. The Secretary of Agriculture will confirm the appointees and assure that funds are spent within the law. The Secretary must appoint from nominations submitted from the cattle industry.

Barron stressed the Beef referendum movement grew out of the "cattle wreck" of the mid-1970's when cattlemen were seeking relief from disastrous marketing conditions.

"We found that there was no one around to help us out of the troubles we faced then," Barron said, "and we don't think we'll get much help during the next wreck -- unless we help ourselves."

Passage of the Beef referendum requires voting by at least 50% of the cattlemen who registered, then approval by a majority of those voting.

"This may be the last opportunity that producers have to vote on a self-help program," concludes Barron. "So we urge every producer who registered to return and vote 'yes' for a more profitable beef industry."

Graze Winter Pastures According to Animals According to Needs

By Jerry Cummins
County Extension Agent

Producers need to make effective use of winter pastures, particularly during mid-winter when production is limited. And one effective method of grazing management is to allow animals to graze winter pastures based on their nutritional requirements, points out Jerry L. Cummins, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

To use this approach, class livestock into three basic groups: dry or maintenance-only animals, lactating animals and growing animals. These same classes can be used in full feeding programs to determine necessary diet levels.

Dry or maintenance-only animals generally have the lowest nutrient requirement of the three groups, notes Cummins. For mature pregnant cows, the economics of using winter pastures are marginal if even fair quality hay is available for feeding. These cows are in a non-producing state and have little more than a body maintenance requirement. If they're in good condition going into winter, they can lose 10 percent of their body weight during winter without harm.

Increase the nutritional level of mature pregnant cows near calving to help them rebreed after calving. Feeding dry cows fair quality hay until near calving, then shifting them to green pasture seems to be a logical approach, suggests Cummins.

the next highest nutritional requirement of the three groups. With calf at side, a lactating cow is trying to maintain her body, provide milk for the calf, and rebreed. She needs winter pasture grazing of high quality hay (12 percent crude protein) to perform all these functions. Winter pasture grazed every other day, with good hay in between, could do the job. Fair quality hay (8 percent crude protein) or anything less simply will not allow her to do everything she needs to do. Cutting back on her diet can cause her to not rebreed or to wean a light calf.

Growing animals (steers, replacement heifers and first-calf heifers) have the highest nutritional requirement, says Cummins. They are adding weight and have not developed the mature digestive system to handle poorer quality forages. Thus they need the highest quality hay available (greater than 12 percent crude protein) or access to winter pasture on a daily basis. Anything less will cause poor weight gain, or in the case of first calf heifers, poor rebreeding and slow growth. Limited grazing on a daily basis may help provide pasture for a longer time without drastically affecting gain. However, daily grazing is necessary to enable animals to perform.

Using available forage on winter pastures to meet animals needs can pay dividends in heavier calves and better rebreeding of cows, contends Cummins.
