John moved to Motley County with his friend, Harold Dempsey, in 1979. He met and married Mitzi Marvel of Roaring Springs that same year. In 1981, John was working at the Hale County Gravel Pit, outside of Matador.

He became friends with a co-worker and through visiting, John mentioned he was born in Odessa, and wondered about his natural mother. It turned out this man not only knew this woman, he was her brother. John's uncle. He told John where to locate his natural mother.

John and Mitzi traveled to Odessa soon after that and met with his natural mother and other family members. They contacted Ruth and she met with them also. John and Ruth have kept in touch with their natural mother through the past ears, but she did not know where Debbie and Judy were.

John and Mitzi contacted the Hi-Plains Children's Home in November of 1989. Through a series of contacts, John and Mitzi were notified on the morning of Monday, February 12, that Debbie and Judy had been found and contacted and very anxious to see their brother and his family. MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR FOOD DOLLAR

Using your food money wisely means more than cutting your food bill. It also means making sure you get good nutri-tion and eating pleasure for the money you spend on food. Wise use of food dollars is a challenge, requiring planning and the use of basic tools to make sound cost comparisons. Here are some tips to help you sharpen your food money management skills: * Plan meals first, them make a shop-ping list. Use your list to save trips to the supermarket and help you avoid buying items you don't really need. * Shop at a store that gives you the best

"Look," bragged a wife to a stranger, "we've been married 25 years, and we still hold hands."

'If we didn't," added the husband, "we'd kill each other." Marriage for many is a duel, not a duet. But it's what you and your companion make it. For a happy home, God must be your architect, the Bible your blueprint, and Christ your

Second MMR Immunization

The AAFP has revised its immunization guidelines to recommend routine second measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR) immunizations for children ages 4-6, or just prior to entering school. For-merly, only an initial vaccination was recommended. In addition, the Academy now recommends that children in high-risk areas should receive their first MMR vaccine at 12 months of age, rather than 15 months. The Academy announced the guide-line revisions in a Jan. 4 news release.

The revised AAFP guidelines concur with the recently published report, "Measles Prevention," of the Immunizations Practice Advisory Committee of the Centers for Disease Control (CDC). The Academy has a liaison representative to the CDC committee. The Academy revised its schedule for MMR vaccinations because of the increasing number of infants, children, and adolescents who have contracted measles. Some of these cases occurred in children who had been vaccinated but had not developed immunity, says Gerald C. Keller, M.D., an AAFP director and chair of the Commission on Public Health and Scientific Affairs. "It appears that about five out of every 100 children who were properly immunized failed to develop protection against measles," he says. Although the AAFP and CDC recommendations generally call for a second vaccination for children ages 4-6, some states may require the second vaccination to be given at a later age. Arrival Announced funds to pay benefits in the next century. Projections show that, as the overall population ages, fewer workers will be paying into the system and more retirees will be receiving benefits. During the 1990's the "baby boom" generation in the workforce has assured a ratio of three workers for each person receiving bene-fits. However, when the baby boomers reach retirement age, around the year 2010, the ratio will drop to only two workers for each beneficiary. The gradual increase in trust fund reserves now is today's dollars by the year 2020. Some of the current debate centers on consideration which is being given to needed to allow payment of benefits to these future retirees. While the debate will, no doubt, confits, or the lowering of Social Security taxes to return social security to a pay-astinue, the new Commissioner of Social time, the new commissioner of social Security, Gwendolyn S.
