TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The longest road reveals no distance than the crest of the next hill. The greatest of the are accomplished a little at a time.

The man who can remember automobile running boards, can probably remember when gas-propelled vehicles belonged to the people instead of to the companies.

Only the eloquence of silence qualified to speak for friends as great stress is placed upon their hearts.

Some forms of evil seek justification on the basis that good brought into being because of the presence. The argument under the sunlight of truth, that of the dunghill may produce incubation for the serpent's egg, but it can nowise become a friend.

Today is the parent of tomorrow and mindful of the responsibility that will shape its destiny.

Each memory is a graven stone of a forever passed hour. A delicate object which may shatter instantly if exposed to an atmosphere and subjected to the conditions which inspired its creation.

Five Hurt In Accident

Five persons were injured, one seriously, when a car and pickup truck collided about a mile south of Matador on U. S. 70 Thursday afternoon.

Atland Hill, 76, widely known as County rancher was admitted to Stanley Hospital here.

Other injuries: Marcia Morrison, 20, Pampa, was conveyed to Lubbock to Methodist Hospital with a head injury. Her condition was not believed critical.

Others hurt were Leslie A. Morrison, 45, Pampa, the injured father, and LaFolia Watt, Pampa, who accompanied to Lubbock and were released from Methodist Hospital after treatment, and D. A. Caldwell, Cleburne, who was treated at Stanley Hospital here.

Matador County Deputy Sheriff J. Rogers said the collision occurred as the car driven by Morrison moved north on the highway and the pickup driven by Watt turned from the highway onto FM 656.

Watt was alone in the pickup. Others hurt in the wreck were in the Morrison car. The car was owned by Humble Pipeline.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m.

Morrison is a student at Matador State College, Stephenville.

COOKING SCHOOL SCHEDULED HERE

A cooking school will be held at the American Legion Tuesday afternoon 2:30 to 5 p. m. under the sponsorship of the West Texas Utilities Company and featuring Frigidaire equipment.

Mrs. Abbie Andrews and Hel Harst will conduct the school. Gifts for the ladies and favors for the children have been arranged by manager Freddie Harst.

The public is invited to attend. There is no cost or obligation.

Hunters Stalk Antelope In Foothills of Caprock

HUNTERS RETURNED to the foothills of the Caprock during the past week to shoot antelope after a lapse of more than half a century. The hunt was staged under different conditions than when the pioneers shot buffalo, deer, antelope and wild turkey in the once game-rich area in western Motley County. Only 45 special permits were issued (one antelope to each hunter) by Campbell brothers to hunt on the Campbell Ranch.

The hunt was under the auspices of the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission, with four game wardens supervising the area during the six days of hunting. These were Woody Pond of Canyon, Victor Lowery, Jayton, Cecil Fox, Spur, and Weldon Fromm, Matador.

Local Game Warden Fromm said one antelope was killed for each of the 45 permits issued (one antelope was shot illegally). From the herd of antelope on the Campbell Ranch (estimated at 75 to 80) 28 bucks and 18 does were killed. Most of the hunters live in this immediate area.

The antelope were placed on the Campbell Ranch about 15 years ago by the Game Commission. Mr. Fromm said there are now several herds that have drifted away from the original area, some as far south as Dickens County. He believes the total may now be in the neighborhood of 200.

Youngest hunter to bag an antelope was Joey Meador, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Meador.

Largest antelope was killed by T. B. McGee of Arlington, Texas, which measured 17 inch curl and 13 inch spread. Second largest buck was killed by Roy Grundy, with 16 1/2 inch curl and 12 inch spread. Fromm estimated the weight of the largest antelope (field dressed) at 80 to 88 pounds.

Lions Hear Patrolman

"TRAFFIC OUTLAWS" are the big problem to highway patrolmen and to the drivers of automobiles in this country, according to Capt. J. W. Higginbotham of the Texas Highway Patrol, featured speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Matador Lions club, Tuesday in the Methodist Church basement.

"Speeding and drinking in that order, are the greatest problems on our highways today," Capt. Higginbotham said, "with the factor of human behaviour figuring in almost every accident. . . a man may become a law violator because he does not have respect for the particular law he is breaking or because he has established a pattern of breaking the law which finally results in his arrest."

Capt. Higginbotham said that many accidents are the result of carelessness in which the driver does not apply his eyes and mind to what he is doing when he is at the wheel of a vehicle.

"He looks without seeing," he said, "and there is the type driver who feels that the police officer's duty is a personal attack on him. . . he forgets that the law-abiding citizen, placed there by society because

Speech Directed to Safety in Driving

Commander J. L. Woodruff of the Legion extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend, as does Mrs. Sterling Price, president of the Women's Auxiliary.

The program will follow a covered dish supper that starts at 7 p. m. and it would be appreciated if those attending for the meal, would bring a dish of food. The program will be followed by separate business meetings of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Rattlers Snuggle Pavement Warmth

These are strange times in which such wild things as rattlesnakes enjoy the comforts of man's creation. The reptiles have discovered the warmth that radiates from asphalt paving and found it to their liking after darkness during crisp October evenings.

J. C. Cross who drives a large truck told the Tribune that he saw 12 rattlesnakes coiled along the edge of the paving one night last week between Matador and Roaring Springs. He said he killed five of the snakes.

Cross was hauling cotton to the Roaring Springs compress. He said the snakes were visible from the high cab of his truck and when possible he crushed them with the heavy wheels of his vehicle.

It is his theory that the rattlers sense the radiated heat of the paving (stored from the day's sun) and find it comfortable after the chill of night has arrived.

He suggests that motorists use extreme caution if required to change a tire, or stop a car beside the paving for any purpose.

MUSICAL POSTPONED

United Nations is Workshop for Peace

"The United Nations means the difference between hope and hopelessness, is my opinion," declared Mrs. Audrey Barnard of Floydada, speaking Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service.

"We can't understand the United Nations unless we understand the foreign policy of our country-or until we can appreciate the difference between east and west," the speaker continued.

The program was a continuation of the study on the United Nations, begun earlier in the month with Mrs. L. W. Tucker as leader.

Mrs. Barnard, as well as Mrs. B. C. Cox, who had spoken at a previous meeting of the U. S. C. S., had visited the United Nations headquarters in New York, and spoke from first-hand information.

The programs are coincident with observance of United Nations Week and the 14th anniversary of the organization. Colored slides were shown by Mrs. Barnard, of U. N. headquarters during her talk.

Unity in Diversity
"Every country that comes in to the U. N. bears its own background and prejudices," Mrs. Barnard pointed out. "But we can appreciate each other by recognizing these differences between east and west-the greatness, character and individuality of these other countries - there is unity in diversity."

Nationalism is the perfect antidote for communism, Mrs. Barnard believes. On the other hand, a study of Africa below the Sahara reveals dire contrast where there are only two choices-the choice of violence or non-violence.

"If we can avoid violence, it will be the greatest thing on earth," Mrs. Barnard declared. "Our missionaries are preaching Christ - if we can go and give Christ, we can change things." In many instances, she asserted, the small country is the conscience of larger countries.

"The United Nations is a workshop for building peace. If we hope to accomplish this, we must be neighbors to the world, following the course set forth in the Bible, 'Thou shalt love thy God with all thy heart . . . and thy neighbor as thyself'."

To Give Book Review
Mrs. Barnard will be guest speaker this afternoon at a meeting of El Progresso Study Club, when she will give a review, "A Quick Tour Through Wintertur Museum" by Joseph Winter. The meeting will be in the home of Mrs. G. E. Hamilton.

PLUNGING INTO DISTRICT

Friday night the Matador Matadors fired their bid for the crown here on Burleson Field, leaving the Estelline Bearcubs counting down the score that read 36-14.

Dink Wilson took care of most of the scoring for the Matadors. He chalked up three and passed for a pair of two-point conversions. Right by his warm side in the scoring business were Guy Campbell and Bill Crenshaw. They made one each with Crenshaw and Buddy Davis taking extra points passes.

The Matadors' defense was tight, yielding only seven first downs. The Matadors' pass defense held the Bearcubs to only five completions out of 13 attempts, two completions, however, were for touchdowns. Leading Matador defenders were Clem Edwards, Buddy Davis, Gale Stafford, Billy Crenshaw, Jimmy Green and Dale Dixon.

In winning the game the Matadors evened their season's record at three wins and three losses. The setback was Estelline's fourth, giving them a 3-4 seasonal record.

The Matadors started early, scoring the first three times they had the ball. Wilson made the touchdowns on runs of 8, 4 and 22 yards. Taking the opening kick-off the Matadors covered 68 yards in 15 plays (five first downs included). Wilson made 8 yards around right end for the score. Try for extra points was unsuccessful.

The next Matador TD drive covered 81 yards in 10 plays, chalking up 4 of the total of 23 first downs. Longest run during the series was a 29 yard scamper by Bos Bearden. Wilson went 4 yards up the middle for the score. Campbell brucked over right tackle for the extra points, upping the score to 14-0. The tally came in the second quarter.

An Estelline fourth down try fell short to hand the Matadors their next scoring opportunity. Wilson went 22 yards around right end for the score.

The Bearcubs stopped a Matador drive on the Estelline 12 yard line in the late part of the second quarter. They then launched their first scoring drive. Three passes figured prominently in the thrust, quarterback Mike Cope throwing all three. Kenneth Sweatt caught one for a 38 yard gain. Mike Davidson for 12, and Sweatt hauled a 20 yard toss in on the goal line for the score.

Motley County's Population Remains Firm Despite Big Nationwide Moving

NEW YORK (Special Contrary to the situation in many parts of the country, where urban expansion has been taking place at the expense of farm population, such has not been the case in Motley County.

There has been no mass migration of local farm families leaving a different way of life in the cities. The great majority of the county farms, despite the consolidations that have occurred, are still owned and operated by individuals, most of whom are making a good living from the land.

Facts and figures on the situation locally and in the other counties across the country are brought out in studies made by the U. S. Commerce Department, Department of Agriculture and others. They were made to determine how much of the nation's land area was populated, and to what extent, in the various parts of the country.

In Motley County, since the 1950 census, the proportion of the population living in non-strychnine is fast in its effect. Best supposition seemed that the child found some poisoned food outdoors, ate part of it, came in doors, and shortly after became ill.

CHILD POISONING BY STRYCHNINE ALARMS OFFICIALS

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 15—Aroused city officials Tuesday issued a strict warning to anyone with intention of poisoning dogs in Plainview. Their advice—don't do it.

The city crackdown came after a three and a half year old child lay for hours in critical condition, probably as a result of eating food which contained strychnine left for a dog.

The child, Walter Drinkard, son of Mrs. Ruby Drinkard, 207 Austin, was rushed to the Medical Center Hospital shortly after 11 p.m. Monday. His mother said that the child collapsed at the home.

The attending physician, who said the youngster was probably out of danger this morning after a touch-and-go battle throughout the night, said that

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION — INCLUDING YOU — EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

About Your Health

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.
Henry A. Holle, M. D., Commissioner

In all nature there is an elementary truism: The mother always protects her young. The truism applies fourfold in human civilization.

In our complex society there are so many things for parents to do to protect their young that they are apt to let certain aspects of child protection slide.

One of these is seeing that their children have the entire battery of protective inoculations against polio.

This is especially important for small children—the preschooler. Last year there were 1,618 cases of paralytic polio up to the middle of September. This year, by September 19, there were 3,407 cases in the United States.

The largest percentage of victims were under five years of age. In Texas three have already been 257 cases of paralytic polio, a slight rise over last year.

The overwhelming majority of paralytic polio victims have been persons who have not completed the entire series of three shots.

Immunization programs are in effect in many schools, so that large numbers of school children have been polio-protected.

However, that still leaves huge numbers of adults and small children unprotected. Parents have a responsibility to themselves to start and finish the series of three Salk shots.

More important we need to protect our children—the preschoolers.

Mary areas of Texas have active polio immunization programs in operation. It would be wise to take advantage of such a program, if present in your community.

Whether or not such a program exists in your area, you should have your whole family polio protected.

Also, if you have already completed your series of 3 shots, you may obtain added protection by getting booster shot.

Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today.

The first Texas-New Mexico boundary fight came close to being down in history as a shooting war between Texas and the United States.

"Texas was so mad they threatened secession and war," Attorney General Will Wilson said.

Background for the Texas-New Mexico fight began with the 1819 treaty which settled the western limits of the United States, establishing the eastern boundary of Texas at the Sabine River.

Many people at the time, including Thomas Jefferson, thought this a bad bargain.

They believed the boundary should be the Rio Grande. As will-on headaches brought out later in an Oklahoma-Texas dispute.

In 1821, Mexico revolted from Spain, falling heir to the Spanish lands south and west of the United States. This included Texas up until 1836 when Texas won their independence at San Jacinto.

One of the first acts of the new Republic of Texas was to draw up a declaration of its boundaries, fixing three leagues of the Gulf of Mexico, which is now being fought out in the islands case, and claiming the Rio Grande to its source in present day Colorado.

This gave Texas the eastern half of present New Mexico and a large part of southern Colorado.

U. S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri voiced Mexico's complaint by saying the Texas boundary was "an act of unparalleled outrage on Mexico."

"It is a seizure of 2,000 miles of her territory without a word of explanation to her," he raged.

Kingpin of Missouri politics, Benton used his rugged strength to fight Texas to the end—his end as it turned out to be.

In the 1844 Congress Benton successfully opposed a treaty that would have admitted Texas to the Union. Six years later he shook Texas and disrupted Congress by introducing a bill to reduce Texas to 150,000 square miles (about the size of Montana) with the right to divide it into two states of 75,000 square miles each.

"This bitter stand on the Texas question eventually defeated Benton after he had served 30 years in the Senate," Wilson points out.

"—all the Senate knew that Thomas Hart Benton was a rough and tumble fighter off and on the Senate floor—no longer with pistols but with stinging sarcasm. He himself was immune to the wounds of these political clashes from which his adversaries retired bleeding and broken. For his great ego and vigorous health had him thick skinned mentally as well as physically."

"The leathery quality of his skin was in part the result of a daily brushing with a horsehair brush—when asked if the brush was truly rough, Benton would roar: 'Why sir, if I were to touch you with that brush, you would cry murder, sir!'"

The next article will describe how the Federal government bit off a large chunk of the territory and paid Texas fifteen cents an acre for it.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

WATCH FOR PRUSSIC ACID AFTER FROST

Johnsongrass or sorghum after a frost is sometimes extremely high in prussic acid content and is very dangerous to livestock, warns Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian.

Certain chemical changes sometimes occur in the plant and it develops a content of prussic acid, or hydrocyanic acid when wilted by frost or drought, he explains. The poison acts quickly and can kill an animal within a short time after the damaged plant is eaten.

An appearance of nervousness, difficult breathing and difficulty in standing are symptoms of the poisoning. Whether a poisoned animal can be saved depends upon how quickly a veterinarian can get to it. Treatment involves injecting antidotes directly into the blood stream.

Young plants will develop more prussic acid after frost or drought than those approaching maturity, points out the veterinarian. Their leaves will contain from 3 to 25 times more acid than leaves of plants in the boot stage. Also, upper, young leaves will contain more acid than lower leaves.

Dr. Patterson cautions against grazing frosted Johnsongrass or sorghum before it is completely dry. If Johnsongrass or sorghum is ready to cut for hay before a frost, it may be cut the first day after the frost, if care is taken to see that it is completely cured before baling.

It may also be used for silage, he adds. Generally, enough prus-

Whose Free Press Do We Seek to Maintain?

This being National Newspaper Week, we are again hearing much about freedom of the press. But whose free press do we mean? We like the answer given by Charles T. Duncan, dean of the school of journalism at the University of Oregon. Said he:

"No one should make the mistake of thinking that press freedom is merely a right of editors, publishers, and reporters. In America it is one of the fundamental rights of all the people."

Journalists, he added, are but the chief custodians of that right.

"When a newspaper fights for press freedom," he said, "it is fighting for the right of free citizens to know the facts of public affairs."

How important for them to know these facts was emphasized by Thomas Jefferson long ago when he said:

"The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right, and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

fresh new beauty
from the only car with Wide-Track wheels!

A car is a living thing. And all living things must change. This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.

The prow is styled for excitement. The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical. The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm. The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical. For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving. You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

CAMPUS CUES:

by Carolyn Pohl
 Terror struck driver's education class Wednesday of last week. An accident occurred when Barbara Bird ran into a post in the car of the driver's education department.

According to Barbara, the reason for the accident was that she was used to power brakes, and also according to her, just a few scratches were put on the car. To hear some of her buddies tell it, Barbara had her mind on other things.

Senior pictures arrived last Thursday from Webb studio in Childress. All the seniors were pleased with them.

Last week Jan Barton's name was omitted in the Senior News in listing the tri-captains of the girl's basketball team.

See ya next week, and remember "drive carefully!"

SOPHOMORE NEWS

By Judy Hobbs

The sophomore class is breathing freely again now that six weeks test are over. Even though we probably all failed, it's nice not to sit up so late at night studying.

Our pictures arrived and almost all are good. There are a few exceptions, though, and we all got a big laugh out of them. If you see about six or seven of the sophomore girls dragging around at about 5:00 p. m. with their hair down in their eyes, and red faces, you'll know they have been at basketball practice.

We have really had a lot of fun so far, and we're not expecting a dull moment all year.

Farming Programs Educational to Local FFA Chapter

Supervised farming programs are among the most important educational activities conducted in the Matador FFA chapter. During the past few weeks, members of the chapter have been planning their individual farming programs for the coming year.

To have individual farming programs that will contribute to the educational experience of everyone, much planning and organizing must take place. This is being done under the direction of the chapter's supervised farming committee composed of Guy Campbell, chairman; Clarence Davis, and Loyd Martin.

For FFA members to acquire the maximum amount of educational training from farming programs, the committee plans to encourage members to acquire full ownership of their projects.

For example, if students plan to have livestock projects, they will be encouraged to acquire full ownership of the animal rather than having partial ownership with their parents. In this manner, students will have more interest in their projects and will therefore learn more as a result of raising them.

The supervised farming committee will assist members in locating animals, seed, and supplies needed in their farming projects. Having good supervised farming programs provides life-like problems to be studied in the ag classroom. Instead of the instruction being taken from "make-believe" situations, students are able to learn about scientific farming by using their own problems.

This makes learning more enjoyable and meaningful.

In addition to the educational benefits from supervised farming programs of FFA members, the programs contribute to the total economy of the community. The planning of well-rounded supervised farming programs for each member pays big dividends—in the form of dollars and education.
