

Lawmakers Do Orating Alone During Holiday

Hundreds Of Bills Speed Through In Thursday Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's lawmakers are doing their Independence Day orating to each other today rather than on platforms at Fourth of July celebrations.

The senators and representatives called off their holiday plans to act on bills which must be passed if Congress is to meet its final adjournment deadline tomorrow.

Literally hundreds of bills sped through the congressional mill yesterday but a dozen major items still must be sent to President Truman before the 82nd Congress quills.

Some Republicans were demanding that adjournment come in time for them to catch late afternoon trains and planes tomorrow for Chicago and their National Convention.

The Senate plainly showed its get-out-of-town mood last night by passing a $1,389,587,800 military construction authorization bill with less than five minutes of consideration.

Also passed by the Senate yesterday was a 10 billion dollar measure which will authorize the actual funds for many of the projects included in the military construction bill.

The Senate allowed two billions more than the House for the atomic program. It also put on a rider to make sure that there would be no road block in the way of using some of the money for new projects in connection with hydrogen bomb developments.

These other four money measures also still are in conference: The $4 billion dollar military spending bill.

A $1,015,000,000 measure to finance the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

A 76 million dollar bill to pay congressional expenses.

A 667 million dollar civil functions measure providing for numerous rivers, harbors and flood control projects.

Other major items of business left: A bill hiking social security insurance and public assistance benefits.

A GI Bill of Rights for Korean War veterans. It would establish education, mustering-out and loan benefits of about a billion dollars a year.

Conferees reached agreement on it yesterday.

A bill assuring farmers of high price supports in the next three years. This has passed the House and is the first item of business in the Senate today.

A measure aimed at a $1,395,000,000 expansion of the defense housing program. The compromise version has passed the Senate; the House still must act.

Yesterday these measures went to the White House.

A nine-month extension of 48 of President Truman's wartime emergency powers.

A long-range shipping bill with a broadened system of subsidies and tax benefits.

City Park Is Scene Of City Celebration

Plans have been completed for Big Spring's Fourth of July celebration which will be climaxed with the beauty contest at 8 p.m., and then followed by the fireworks display at 9 tonight.

The scene of both events will be the City Park Amphitheatre and both events are open to the public.

Most business places and all public offices in Big Spring are closed today and some of them have announced they will remain closed over the week end in order to give employees a three-day holiday.

The 116-piece fireworks display, the largest ever presented here will be handled by National Guardsmen under the command of Lt. Pete Jones and is being sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The beauty contest 46 young ladies will vie for the titles of Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County. In addition three prizes will be presented winners in each division.

City and county officers are urging motorists to drive carefully as the traffic toll had already started mounting yesterday afternoon.

This referred to a union demand for the union shop, a form of compulsory unionism. That demand is generally considered one of the main obstacles to settlement.

The six major companies named by the union are U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland. Together they produce 70 per cent of total U. S. output.

A spokesman for the six companies quickly issued a statement saying the union "apparently will go to any length, ridiculous though it may be, in its effort to force employees in the steel industry to join the union."

The assembly adopted a series of compromise constitutional amendments which may mean an end to Korea's political crisis.

The 77-year-old president also won adoption of his demand for a two-house legislature, replacing the present one-house Assembly.

Under the compromise, the lawmakers gained the right to overturn the cabinet by a vote of non-confidence, and the prime minister rather than the president will name the cabinet.

The assembly voted 163 to 0 approval of the amendments, climaxing six weeks of feuding with the president. Three members abstained.

NLRB Plans To Probe Charge Of Conspiracy

President Accuses Steel Companies Of Drawing Out Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board plans an immediate investigation of charges by striking CIO steelworkers that major steel producers have "entered into a conspiracy" to prevent settlements with any struck company unless the Big Six agree.

President Truman made virtually the same charge at a news conference yesterday. He accused the major steel companies of conspiring to draw out the strike, and said the situation does not call for use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Truman indicated strongly he did not plan to follow the "request" by Congress that he try to end the 32-day work stoppage by asking the courts for an 80-day injunction against the strike, as provided for in the T-H law.

Industry spokesmen promptly said Truman knew about the latest union move before it was made. They noted the timing of the two comments, and compared the similarity of the wording.

The union said, shortly after the President's news conference, that the purpose of the alleged conspiracy is to "prevent any one of the (Big Six) companies or any other smaller company from reaching final agreement on a new work contract."

The six major companies named by the union are U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland. Together they produce 70 per cent of total U. S. output.

Taft Offers To Divide Contested Texas Group

Ike Off For Chicago

Ike Is Counting On Revolt At Chicago

By DON WHITEHEAD
ABOARD THE EISENHOWER SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at a key presidential moment today on a revolt by Republicans at the Republican National Convention delegates against the forces of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The theme of revolt ran through the speeches and talks of the general as he moved on Chicago for the great battle of his short political career.

He pin-pointed it when he said: "If I know the American people, this ruthlessness in Chicago will boomerang."

He was referring to the fact Taft backers had shut out television and radio broadcasts of delegate disputes and to the way in which delegate decisions were going to his chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower was expected to continue his bitter and angry assaults on the Taft maneuverers as his train rolled across Iowa. His schedule offered plenty of opportunity.

The 13-car Eisenhower special was due to leave Omaha, Neb., at 9:45 a.m. EST, and stop briefly at Denison, Iowa, at 11:15 a.m. for a rear platform talk by the general.

This afternoon, Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, were scheduled to visit Mrs. Eisenhower's birthplace at Boone, where the townpeople have invited them to a picnic.

Tonight, he was slated to appear on a television show (NBC's "We the People" at 7:30 p.m., EST) at Ames, Iowa, and later to make a brief talk in the Ames football stadium. He will arrive in Chicago tomorrow at noon, EST.

All these occasions afforded the general new chances to continue the barrage of criticism which he fired at Taft all during the day yesterday.

Departing from Denver, Eisenhower told a trainload crowd: "There is a fight on in Chicago; not only a fight to name the candidates, but just as important, a fight to keep our party clean and fit to lead our nation."

Agreement Is Reached For Bell Contract

ST. LOUIS, July 4 (AP)—Agreement on a new labor contract covering 32,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone Company employees in a six-state area was reached early today.

Company spokesmen said the agreement provided for wage increases totaling approximately 12 million dollars for the workers in some 500 towns in Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and part of Illinois.

The company and the Communications Workers of America (CIO) began negotiations on the new contract May 6.

The company said the average increase for each employe would amount to 9.2 cents an hour. The company's 1951 payroll amounted to 180 million dollars and spokesmen estimated the new agreement would add from 1 1/2 to 12 million dollars to that figure.

The 12-month contract becomes effective July 6. Wage increases incident to the agreement are beyond wage stabilization limits and the contract must be approved by the Wage Stabilization Board.

The agreement also calls for the reclassification of several cities in the wage scale level.

Dallas was moved into the same bracket as St. Louis, Houston and Kansas City. Wage increases in that bracket range from $3.50 to $6 weekly, bringing the scale to $85 top weekly for plant craftsmen and linemen and $96.50 for operators.

Perhaps, Taft said, that can be done by seating both delegations with voting power split according to the number of delegates agreed upon.

That, he said, would amount to 22 for the delegation backing him and 16 for the group supporting the general.

Hoover Sends Special Appeal For Agreement

Ike Would Get 16 Delegates Under Ohion's Proposal

CHICAGO, July 4 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft formally offered today to settle the Texas delegate dispute on the basis of a split of 22 votes for him to 16 for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower campaign manager, rejected the offer.

"It is, of course, rejected," Lodge said in a television interview a few minutes after Taft followed up a harmony appeal from Herbert Hoover by offering to divide the 38 disputed Texas votes.

Lodge declared: "There will be no compromise. They waited until they had stolen Georgia and Louisiana before they offered it."

That was a reference to the outcome of contests involving Georgia and Louisiana delegations. Taft won all 17 Georgia votes.

He was awarded 11 of the 13 in dispute in Louisiana. Eisenhower got the other two.

The decisions had been made by the Taft-dominated Republican National Committee, which had planned to open its hearings this morning on the Texas contest.

The hearing was recessed until 12 noon (CST) to permit a study of the Taft compromise offer.

In his letter, Taft said he was anxious that "unity be again brought about in the Republican Party in Texas—so anxious that the bitterness and prejudices be ended that he was proposing the compromise. He wrote:

"While I will suffer a delegate loss in making this proposal, I am doing so because I think it is so generous that its equity cannot be questioned, and I am willing to take that loss as a contribution to the strengthening of the Republican Party."

As soon as the Taft letter was read by Gabrielson, the National Committee of the National Committee to hear the last and hottest of the delegate disputes—recessed until 12 noon (CST) to permit both sides to study the compromise plan.

Taft said that if the Eisenhower camp accepted the idea, a subcommittee of the National Committee should review it and work out the exact method for carrying it out.

Perhaps, Taft said, that can be done by seating both delegations with voting power split according to the number of delegates agreed upon.

That, he said, would amount to 22 for the delegation backing him and 16 for the group supporting the general.

Proposals May Cause Revision

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—West German proposals may lead to a revision of the American, British and French replies to Russia on German unity, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

He added that representatives of the three Western Powers would meet in Paris to consider suggestions of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He said changes in the text "would always be a possibility."

Adenauer proposed some changes in a three-hour meeting yesterday with Western high commissioners in Bonn.

"He made certain observations on the note, both orally and in writing, which will be considered," the Foreign Office spokesman said.

The Western Powers, informed sources said, are ready to talk with Russia about free all-German elections under supervision of an impartial commission. The West has insisted all along free elections must be the first step in trying to unite Germany.

Adenauer's suggestions may delay delivery of the Western replies to the Kremlin.

A. Van Fleet declared: "We continue the crusade of the Minute Men of 1776 in the interest of 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"

Across the land, parades and patriotic speeches were the order of the day in the biggest cities and the smallest towns.

With most work at a standstill and summer's heat in full swing, millions dragged out the swimming suits and picnic baskets and headed for holiday. The National Safety Council estimated that some 90 million Americans, riding in 40 million cars, would take to the highways during the three-day week end.

Of these, the council predicted at least 430 would die in accidents. In New York, hundreds of extra ticket sellers at train, bus and air terminals faced long queues of men, women and children eager to get out of town for the holiday.

But for a million or more Americans the only celebrations were pitched on a frugal note. They were the families of the 600,000 striking steelworkers, idle since June 2, and of the 400,000 or so persons in allied industries laid off as a result of the walkout. Many of them just didn't have the money to leave home.

For at least two groups of politicians, too, there was little progress of rest. In Washington Congress remained in session, hoping to clean up pending business before the week's end and adjourn for the summer.

Republican bigwigs in Chicago pushed ahead with final details before the opening of the party's National Convention Monday.

U. S. Embassies throughout the world held receptions and parties. One of the largest was given by the U. S. high commissioner to Germany, John J. McCloy. He invited 4,000 guests to a reception at his headquarters in Bonn.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in Brazil on an official courtesy visit, took time from his official duties to speak at a Fourth of July picnic of American residents in Rio de Janeiro.

Senior ships of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, scattered in ports throughout the Mediterranean Sea, fired 21-gun salutes in celebration of the anniversary.

Thief Gets Jewels Of Belgian Entry

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The Belgian entry in last week's Miss Universe contest here told police yesterday that $5,000 in jewelry and cash were lost or stolen.

Marianne Mullender, 25, who competed as Miss Belgium under the name of Myriam Lynn, said she checked a bag containing the money and jewelry at her hotel. During her stay she frequently had access to the bag. When she went to check out, the valuables were gone, she told police.

Listed as missing were family jewels, $300 in American money and 700 Belgian francs.

Man Electrocut At Softball Game

POST, Tex., July 4 (AP)—Jeff Fowler, 29, electrician, was electrocuted here last night when he sought to replace a light bulb at a softball game.

One hundred fans, including Fowler's 5-year-old daughter Jane, heard Fowler cry out "Oh! Oh!" as he came in contact with a 220-volt line and then saw him slump in his safety belt atop the pole.

The accident occurred at 8 p.m. shortly before the game was to get under way. Thirty minutes were required to lower Fowler's body from the pole.

He will continue to name the prime minister.

Filipinos Observe A Double Birthday

MANILA (AP)—Filipinos celebrated a double birthday today—their own anniversary as an independent nation and that of the United States which set them free.

The islands were still drying out from typhoon winds and heavy rains but flags and bunting flew from public and private buildings.

President Elpidio Quirino exchanged greetings with President Truman and said in part: "May our joint celebrations give notice to the world that we will stand together in enduring friendship and common devotion to the ideals of freedom and democracy."

Security forces were on guard throughout Central and Southern Luzon against any raids the Communist Huk might attempt. The Army placed troops on a 24-hour alert on the strength of intelligence reports that the Huk planned a "show of defiance."

British To Sell Arms To Spain

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—Britain announced today it would permit arms sales to Franco Spain for the first time since 1945.

A Foreign Office spokesman said this switch in British policy toward Spain would be conditioned by the availability of supplies after priority needs are covered. These, he said, were that the arms needs of Britain, the Commonwealth and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would come first.

He indicated that any shipments of arms from Britain now would not be of the latest types.

The spokesman said the United States and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty were consulted before Britain decided to sell arms to Spain.

Unofficially it was indicated surplus arms, bordering on obsolescence, would be those for which export licenses might first be granted. The spokesman was unable to say whether any export licenses have been granted or any shipments made, as yet.

Senate Of Chile Okays U. S. Aid

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A pact sending U. S. military aid to Chile today awaited the signature of President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla following approval by the Chilean Senate.

The upper house ratified the pact yesterday by a 25-6 vote as armed police stood guard around the legislative building.

The guards were ordered after seven persons were injured last week in leftist demonstrations while the agreement was being approved by the Chamber of Deputies.

The treaty is similar to those the U. S. has negotiated with other Latin American countries under a program for hemispheric defense.

NOW MOTH IS IN SPOTLIGHT

VIENNA, July 4 (AP)—First it was Colorado beetles, then it was germ warfare in Korea, now it's the "American white spinning moth."

This is the latest Communist bug accusation against the United States.

Hungarian newspapers reaching here claimed "American white spinning moths" had made their appearance and villages were waging a "fierce fight" against the moths, which had destroyed fruit trees.

In Czechoslovakia, meanwhile, the newspaper Rude Pravo announced that in future potato bugs will be known as "American beetles."

Jets Down 12 MIGs, Artillery Opens Up

By JIM BECKER
SEOUL, Korea, July 4 (AP)—American Sabre jets today shot down 12 Communist MIGs while Allied artillerymen unlimbered every big gun on the Korean battlefield for a double-barreled July Fourth blow against the Reds.

The toll of 12 MIGs shot down, one probably destroyed and six damaged made the air battle the second biggest jet victory of the Korean War, the Fifth Air Force said.

Few MIGs have been seen over North Korea for more than three months. But Friday the Reds hurled 115 of the swift swept-wing fighters against U.N. fighter bombers, and the 97 Sabre jets flying protective cover.

The Air Force did not identify the target of the big force of F-84 Thunderjets. However, it said the Communist installation was about 20 miles southeast of Suho, site of a giant power plant smashed June 23.

Some observers said the secrecy and the unusually big fighter cover gave the raid the appearance of something out of the ordinary.

Allied plane losses, if any, were not announced.

The MIG toll was just short of the all-time record set Dec. 13 when 13 MIGs were shot down, two probably destroyed and one damaged. The total number of MIGs destroyed, probably destroyed and damaged topped the earlier battle, 19 to 16.

Two wings of F-84 fighter bombers pounded the unidentified target with 1,000-pound bombs and napalm, the Air Force said. Then the jets dived low to strafe anti-aircraft positions with .50 calibre machine gun fire.

Returning pilots said it was impossible to evaluate damage because of dense black smoke.

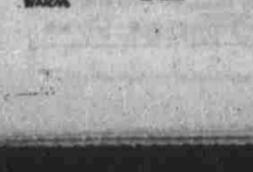

Fighting broke out in three sectors of the ground front as Allied artillerymen wheeled every big gun on the 155-mile line into action for a murderous Fourth of July barrage.

West Germans Are Ready To Cooperate
BONN, Germany, July 4 (AP)—The West German government is ready to co-operate in forming a European parliament and constitution, a government spokesman said today.

The government headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer welcomes a proposal by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman to set up a European political authority, the spokesman said.

Senate Feud Moves Behind Shut Doors

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Rules Subcommittee called a closed-door meeting today to plan the next move in its explosive investigations of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Sen. Benton (D-Conn.).

McCarthy and Benton flung charges of fraud, deceit and other malpractice at each other in a full day's testimony under oath before the group yesterday. The bitter session was marked by:

1. A declaration by Sen. Welker (R-Ill.) that he wants a jury to decide whether Benton violated election or tax laws in his handling of $600 received in 1950 from Walter B. Cosgriff, Salt Lake City banker.
2. A move by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) to set off an investigation of the entire Senate membership to show whether members and lobbyists have abused senators' free mailing privileges.
3. A demand by Benton that the subcommittee send the official record of his testimony and McCarthy's to the Justice Department to be checked for possible evidence of perjury.
4. An issue before the subcommittee are Benton's resolution seeking the expulsion of McCarthy from the Senate, and McCarthy's counter-move demanding investigation of Benton.

Benton's resolution alleges that fraud, perjury and deceit have marked McCarthy's accusations of wide-spread Communist infiltration of the government. It also accuses McCarthy of misconduct both in and out of the Senate.

McCarthy—whose resolution stops short of seeking Benton's ouster—accuses the Connecticut lawmaker of having followed a pro-Communist line and seeks investigation of Benton's campaign spending and income tax reports.

McCarthy, who testified first, swore that Benton as assistant secretary of state, gave haven to seven "low travelers, Communists, and complete dupes" and moved among "a motley, pink-tinted crowd" in the State Department.

Benton followed McCarthy as a witness and called McCarthy "a hit-and-run propagandist of the Soviet type" who engages in "the tactics of blackmail."

Welker clashed with Benton repeatedly over the $600 item which Benton acknowledged he had handled "badly."

Benton said Cosgriff first gave him $300 to pay the printing costs of speeches Benton had made advocating congressional approval of the Hoover Commission's government reorganization plan. He said Cosgriff collected another $300 from some bankers and gave it to him about a month later, also to pay the printer. Benton circulated copies of the speeches by mail.

Benton said he did not mention the money in a report on campaign contributions required by law and did not pay an income tax on it. Welker told him he would demand a ruling from the Bureau of Internal Revenue on whether it was taxable income.

Cosgriff, at a Senate banking subcommittee hearing in 1951, called the $600 "a campaign contribution."

Benton insisted—as Cosgriff did in 1951—that the 1950 payment had nothing to do with the fact that Benton a few months later urged the banking subcommittee to approve Cosgriff's nomination as a member of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Board of Directors. The committee never acted and the board later was abolished.

Telegraph Rate Hike Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 9.6 percent increase in Western Union telegraph charges, scheduled for next Sunday, will not be made effective until Aug. 1.

The Federal Communications Commission said today the company itself had postponed the proposed effective date after giving notice of the increase 30 days ago in the wake of a wage settlement which ended a prolonged strike of employees.

Progressives Opening Their National Parley

CHICAGO (AP)—The left-wing Progressive party opened its National Convention today and with its national candidates already selected the drafting of a platform was the top order of business.

C. B. (Beany) Baldwin of New York, secretary and driving force behind the party, said the platform will chart a "clear and complete" course for civil rights and call for an end of the "cold, warm and hot" war.

Succeeding Henry Wallace as the party's candidate for President is Vincent Hallinan, San Francisco attorney currently serving a contempt of court jail sentence scheduled to end Aug. 17.

Wallace broke with the party after the start of the Korean War. The party's choice for vice president is Mr. Charlotte Bass, New York Negro who formerly published the California Eagle, a Negro paper.

The proposed platform, in its present stage, also calls for ending of the Korean War by negotiation; the seating of Red China in the United Nations, the "end of U. S. intervention in the Far East and the world," an end of the blockade of Formosa and an extensive U. N. sponsored plan for rehabilitation of Asia in which Red China will participate.

"The party also will demand... a formula... which will allow the American people to live at peace with the 200 million people of the Soviet Union and the 400 million people of China," Baldwin said.

Public hearings on the platform were on tap today and Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, Negro scholar and one of the founders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will deliver the keynote address tonight.

Elmer Benson, former governor of Minnesota, and Paul Robeson, Negro singer, are national co-chairmen. The permanent chairman will be Vito Marcantonio, American Labor Party congressman from New York.

Truman's Alternate To Know His Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 54-year-old Kansas City councilman, Thomas J. Gavin, probably will be the first man in the country to know for sure who President Truman wants to succeed him in the White House.

Truman told his news conference yesterday that he will express his choice through his alternate at the Democratic National Convention starting July 21 in Chicago.

Gavin is Truman's alternate, and the President said he is a political friend of his.

"At what stage will you tell your alternate what to do?" Truman was asked.

After the nominations are made, he replied, and on the first ballot. "You will tell your alternate what to do on the first ballot, is that correct?"

If he asks Truman's advice, as he will unquestionably do, the President said, he will make a suggestion to him.

Speculation on Truman's choice of a successor has centered largely on Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, who insists he is running only for another term as governor.

Truman, who repeated that he would not accept another presidential nomination himself and said again he would not run for the Senate, told newsmen he doesn't think the Democrats have been in power too long.

He said the people are best served by the party that is now in power and he will continue to preach that until the first Tuesday in November.

Truman said it will look more and more like a Democratic victory as the campaign progresses and he told the reporters they would not be as much in the dark as they were in '48. They will come to the same conclusion he did, he said, as events develop.

As for the Republicans, Truman said he is just as glad as he can be that he is not a Republican.

"How would you characterize the scene in Chicago today, Mr. President?" he was asked.

He wouldn't characterize it, Truman replied, it is none of his business.

Crusade Plans New Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—The Crusade for Freedom has announced a new campaign to intensify its war of ideas to win over the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Rear Adm. Harold B. Miller, Crusade's president, said last night in a CBS radio broadcast that the new effort will be carried on between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15.

Meanwhile, he urged all Americans to write and sign messages of good will to be broadcast during that period.

"We will deliver these messages, millions upon millions of them, behind the Iron Curtain by every workable means of communication," Miller said. "This could mean the use of balloons or floating casks and bottle down the Danube."

Miller spoke on the eve of the second anniversary of the opening broadcast of Radio Free Europe, which the Crusade established. Besides that outlet, Radio Free Asia and the Voice of America will take part in the new message barrage.

News From Webb Air Force Base
By A-3C FERD J. BORSCH

BIRTHDAY

The initials ATRC can be found painted in yellow on every Air Force vehicle at Webb Air Force Base. There is no deep mystery or secret code surrounding those initials. It's the AF's abbreviation for Air Training Command.

Webb Air Force Base along with 41 other bases, constitute the vastness of ATRC, the largest Command in the Air Force.

On Monday, July 7, ATRC celebrates its ninth birthday. When organized of wartime necessity nine years ago, ATRC was charged with the responsibility of supplying skilled airmen and officers capable of utilizing the products of America's scientific and industrial mission. Today its basic mission is still the same.

ECONOMY

Webb has opened an all out economy drive. This program, which is in progress at every ATRC base in the country, has as its mission to produce more with less. A poster campaign covering every function on the base opened the economy drive Tuesday. These placards are centered around a killed Scotsman named MacTorchy, who gives advice and helpful hints on how to save on operational expenses.

Also in another move for increased economy, the first in a series of management classes were held on the base the past week. These classes, held in conjunction with an Air Force-wide effort to streamline the USAF and to effect greater utilization of manpower and realize greater savings, are being conducted by Capt. William Huerstel and M-Sgt. Charles Burk of the Manpower and Management Office.

GOOD CONDUCT

Six Webb airmen received Good Conduct medals the past week. Airmen awarded include S-Sgt. Edwin D. Heisel, S-Sgt. Don H. Weathersby, S-Sgt. Clinton R. Spaulding, A-1c Albert O. Bracklin Jr., A-1c Hobert J. Smith and A-1c John R. Teller. First awards of the GC medal went to M-Sgt. Fred Hardy, T-Sgt. Preston F. Hurd, T-Sgt. George A. Ryan and S-Sgt. Orman D. Suter. M-Sgt. Charlie Johnson received a second award and M-Sgt. Avery V. Reid gained his fourth award.

"BOOTSTRAP"

"Operation Bootstrap" will again offer courses to Webb personnel when the second summer session opens at Howard County Junior College July 16. At present 89 officers and airmen are taking courses at HCCJ under the first "Bootstrap" program offered here.

HOBBY SHOP

The Hobby Shop, where Webb personnel can spend their off duty hours pursuing their favorite past times whether it be woodworking or leathercraft, has received circular and band saws, jointer and drill press to supplement the tools now on hand. Soon a base photo hobby shop will also be in operation pending arrival of necessary equipment.

CAMERA CLUB

Camera enthusiasts stationed at Webb have been invited to join a Camera Club to be sponsored by Hugh Mathis, owner of Mathis Studio. Interested personnel have been instructed to leave their names at the studio so they may be included when the club is organized after the July 4th holidays.

OFFICERS' WIVES

The Officers' Wives Club will hold a "States" luncheon at the Settles Hotel Thursday, July 10. At this luncheon members will be seated according to their home states. The program will start at 1 p.m.

SPORTS

Webb's five-man golf team left Monday for the North Zone Conference tournament at Ferrin Air Force Base which winds up a three-day, 54-hole medal play grid today. Webb linksters vieing include Lt. Col. John L. Campbell, Capt. Artie Garner Jr., Chaplain (Lt.) John C. Little Sr., M-Sgt. Norman E. Gardner and T-Sgt. Preston F. Hurd.

Field Maintenance clinched the first half base Inter-Squadron Softball League title the past week by chalking up two triumphs. This gave the undefeated FM team ten victories for the season.

AF Has A Total Of 765 Generals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Davis (R-Wis.) says a Pentagon "promotion spree" has given the Army and Air Force a total of 765 generals and 7,500 colonels.

The total, he said, exceeds that of the last war, although top officers command about a fourth as many men.

Davis cited the figures yesterday in urging Congress to establish an officer ceiling.

"The Pentagon," Davis said in a statement, "may collapse from the sheer weight of the great accumulation of brass."

Nothing Threatens Liberty Like Taking Bits To 'Protect' Whole

We suppose that if you ask most people the source of the famous lines—"All men are created free and equal and endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights. That among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness"—a good percentage would say it was in the Constitution and the law of the land. The statement is, of course, the basic step upon which the bold journey of independence was undertaken by our forefathers. For that day and time it was considered the rankest sort of political heresy, and even now, the interpretations of this remarkable objective are subject to sharp differences.

This does not, however, detract from the ideal expressed in the statement, for it is essentially the essence of democracy. Like heaven, it is above contradiction, but the best avenue of approach may be constantly a topic for debate.

The important thing is to keep the approach positive. One of the greatest threats to liberty in the largest sense of the term is the gradual, imperceptible shacking of the building blocks of liberty. Because each of us fancies ourselves just a bit wiser and more able to judge what is best, we are prone to "protect" liberty by curbing or regulating that of someone else whom we think, although we do not say it, is less able or responsible to handle this great right. We should remember that the taking of one liberty begets a compensating taking of another.

Top-Heavy Majorities For Pacts Shows Bi-Partisan Policy Alive

In spite of the clamor over domestic issues, and intimations of serious schisms party-wise over foreign policy, the Senate gave a convincing demonstration on Tuesday that the bipartisan foreign policy is alive and kicking.

By top-heavy majorities it ratified two pacts designed to bring the potential military and industrial power of Western Germany into the free world defensive alliance, to use the AP's phrasing.

One of the pacts, the "peace contract" with Western Germany, was ratified by a vote of 77 to 5. It will end the military occupation of Germany as such, but U.S. troops will stay on as part of the NATO military set-up. Senator Connally, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, who skillfully piloted the issue through the Senate, expressed regret that it was only a peace contract, and not a peace treaty, which can only be written with the whole of Germany—a move that has been blocked by Soviet Russia.

The second pact, ratified 72 to 5, extends to Western Germany the reciprocal security provisions now enjoyed by the 14 North Atlantic Treaty Organization partners. This makes Western Germany a member in all but name.

Backing up Senator Connally in putting these pacts through was Senator Alexander Wiley, Republican minority leader of the committee, who in recent months has reflected the views of his predecessor, the late Senator Vandenberg, with increasing vigor and devotion, somewhat to the annoyance of his isolationist colleagues.

Thus additional strong links with the free world against Communist aggression have been forged by the Senate in a fine demonstration of unity and co-operation. The overwhelming nature of the vote on these two pacts can but impress our friends and depress our enemies.

In spite of disagreement and criticism, the nation's determination to impose every barrier to Russian imperialism seems to be as decisive and unanimous as ever.

Gallup Poll

Special Weapons, Small Army Favored Over A Large Military

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Some of the candidates in this year's elections will undoubtedly appeal to the people with arguments that the United States should have a small, highly-trained defense force ready to strike with powerful weapons, instead of a large, expensive standing army. Which of these two alternatives is the wiser course is something for top level military and security experts to decide. But there seems little question that the idea of a small armed force with highly specialized weapons has a great deal of appeal to the average voter.

This was shown when interviewers for the Institute personally questioned a cross-section of the public on the two alternatives.

The issue was recently high-lighted when Sen. Brian McMahon of Connecticut, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, came out in favor of a big stockpile of super atomic weapons rather than spending large sums of money on standing armies or the more conventional weapons of war.

Each voter in the survey was asked:

"Looking ahead for the next few years, which of these two policies do you think we should follow with respect to our Armed Forces:

"1. Spend most of the defense budget in developing special military weapons and maintaining a small but highly skilled Army, Navy and Air Force, or

"2. Continue to spend more of the defense budget in maintaining a large Army, Navy and Air Force than in developing special military weapons."

Here is the vote:

Special weapons and small armed force	53%
Large armed force	27
Neither	4
No opinion	16

The vote in the survey tended to follow education lines.

Persons who have had college training favor the idea of developing special weapons and maintaining a small, highly trained, highly scientific army by about 5-to-3, as follows:

College Trained	100%
Special weapons, small armed force	61%
Large armed force	23
Neither or no opinion	18

Those with high school training only also favored this idea, but by a somewhat narrower margin:

High School Trained	100%
Special weapons, small armed force	56%
Large armed force	27
Neither or no opinion	17

Persons with grade school training only voted as follows:

Grade School Only	100%
Special weapons, small armed force	48
Large armed force	34
Neither or no opinion	24

Radio Plugs Art

NEW YORK (AP)—The arts—modern painting, architecture, opera, classical music—are about to be sold to the radio audience as if they were soap chips, beer or champagne.

New York City's independent station WNEV will soon start singing little musical jingles plugging long-hair pleasures. For instance, one jazzy jingle starts: "Maybe Mr. Bach wrote tunes that didn't rock..." It goes on to advise giving an ear to his music. Another notes that people laughed at Rembrandt when his style was new and follows by admonishing: "When you look at modern art, don't laugh with consternation. Just look awhile and maybe you'll smile a smile filled with admiration."

The starting jingle plugging a non-commercial product is the idea of Berenice Judis, manager of the station. The station picked up a handful of awards a few years back with singing commercials on tolerance, safety and other concepts of public service.

Montana Colder

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana has grown colder and wetter during the past 10 years. Mountain glaciers have grown larger in the cold weather, and the state's growing season has shortened.

R. A. Dightman, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Montana, claims Montana and the entire Northwest, is in the midst of a cyclical cold period. He has told the Montana Academy of Sciences that Weather Bureau figures show temperatures for the last 10 years have averaged 42.2 degrees in Montana, two degrees less than the previous 10-year mean. In 1937 the 10-year average moisture fall was slightly over 12 inches. In 1932 it had climbed to 15 inches.

The increased cold has brought dramatic growth to the state's glaciers. Dightman said. His figures showed that Grinnell Glacier in Glacier National Park has gained 5 feet in thickness and has extended itself 25 feet downward in the past year. Over a period of years, since its smallest area was measured at 250 acres, the glacier has grown to cover 270 acres.

You're Lucky If You Can Celebrate Independence Today Without Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little man got up from the table feeling good. He stuck his head out the door to see if the day was good. He almost got his head knocked off by a firecracker. The kid who threw it yelled: "Look out!"

The little man was going to say something to the kid. But he didn't. He knew you never win, arguing with a kid. He got mad at himself. He had used up five minutes of the Fourth of July already and nothing done. This was one day he was going to make the Declaration of Independence mean something to him, personally, all day. He was going to be free. All day. From politics.

His wife never talked politics and nobody else all day was going to get the chance to say: "Who's gonna win?" Not all day. He wouldn't hear anybody say it. Trouble was when anybody did say it, he always answered back. And that always got him into arguments.

And it wasn't because he was interested in politicians. He wasn't. In fact, the little man thought politicians were like medicine. You took pills not because you liked them but because you had to and then you had to wait to see whether they would do you good.

Then the little man got mad at himself again. With nobody around except his wife, who hadn't said a word and was busy fixing the lunch they'd take with them, the little man was having an argument with himself about politics. He began to put on his old best up pants and the heavy shoes that kept out water.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Death came on this Independence Day in 1826 to the great American for whom Jefferson County is named.

Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States and author of the Declaration of Independence, was the first Chief Executive to scheme western expansion of the young nation. As early as 1776 he began his efforts to initiate exploration beyond the Alleghenies and the Mississippi. When the Continental Congress considered proposed treaties which would divide the territory beyond the Alleghenies between France and Spain, Jefferson led the movement which defeated the measures.

The outstanding accomplishment of Jefferson's first term as President was the completion of the Louisiana Purchase, under which was acquired by the United States. Certainly the acquisition of the Louisiana territory contributed much to American colonization in Texas.

He knew how to get free of politics: Go fishing. No newspapers, radios, TV, or guys with questions about the Democrats or Republicans or guys with opinions about Democrats or Republicans. Out in a boat there'd be just him and his wife. Which reminded him: He wanted to write a letter to a fellow named Hal Boyle who writes a column for The Associated Press. This Boyle wrote a piece a couple of weeks ago. This Boyle was just carrying on in the column about fishing. Not really about fishing. About women fishing. Boyle was saying women now are taking up fishing in a big way.

I guess that Boyle never went fishing with a woman in his life, the little man thought. He went fishing all the time and he knew better about women in boats. Women don't go fishing. The little man knew any time you see a woman in a boat she's there just because her husband brought her along to paddle or get the bait out of the bucket.

"Hey, honey," the little man called to his wife. "You ready? Let's go." His wife was in the car already. She said: "Since I been catching all the bass the last four or five times, you use my rod and reel today and see if you can do some good. I keep telling you not to keep changing plugs all the time. You don't give the fish a chance. You know, that Eisenhower's a fisherman. I wonder if he does any good."

Handy Guide Of Do's And Don'ts For The Fourth

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—This is the anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. It is now 176 years since young Tom Jefferson said everybody has an inalienable right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

What does this mean today? I have compiled a handy guide to what a citizen can and cannot do on Independence Day. First, let us take up what a man cannot do, as that will help keep him out of trouble:

- You cannot smoke on a bus.
- Or walk on the grass.
- Or take your dog for a stroll unless you are both on the same leash.
- You cannot cash a check at the bank.
- Or find a place to park your car.
- Or give firecrackers to your children.
- Or strew orange peelings on a public bench.
- You cannot drive while intoxicated (but to many will anyway).

No Move Made Yet To Annul Marriage

DENISON, July 4 (AP)—Mrs. Cleo Kendrick, Durant, Okla., says she has made no move to end the marriage of her 11-year-old daughter, Mary. Mary and Sergio M. Tristan of San Antonio married 15 days ago. After a one-day honeymoon, the two were parted. Mrs. Kendrick kept Mary at home and Tristan returned to Perrin Air Force Base, Grayson County, where he is stationed.

CAA Will Probe Plane Collision

DALLAS, July 4 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board will hold a public hearing here July 15 and 16 on the collision of a light plane and an American airliner over Love Field June 23.

- Or find a good five-cent cigar.
- Or forget your bills.
- Or go swimming in your underwear.
- All these are things the sensible citizen will find are banned or impossible of accomplishment on Independence Day. What, then, is he at liberty to do in his pursuit of happiness?

- Well, you can listen to a politician patriotically point with pride, or view with alarm.
- Or put in a kind word for motherhood.
- You can criticize the government.
- Or the income tax.
- Or the way people in Hollywood live.
- Or corruption in Washington.
- And you don't have to dig a hole in the ground and whisper your objections into it. You can bellow them out loud.

- You can load the wife and kids in the car and take to the open road.
- Then eat your lunch in a poison ivy bed by the side of the highway because you are caught in a traffic jam 27 miles from a picnic site.
- There is one thing more you can do:
- You can stay at home and have a nice, cool pleasant dinner with the family. Then you could assemble them all in the living room, get out a copy of the Declaration of Independence and read it aloud, word after ringing word, and ask what it meant to each one there.
- Probably there won't be many families who will celebrate Independence Day in this manner. But in the homes where it is done the children will remember the day for many a year thereafter.

Grasshoppers Are Threat In Panhandle

DALHART, July 4 (AP)—County Agent Marvin Simms warns that the entire Panhandle has a serious grasshopper infestation, with Dalhart County the worst spot. Simms said yesterday that surveys of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine show an unusual concentration in Dalhart County particularly in the Shallow Water Irrigation area of the northwest part of the county.

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

Date For 'The Fourth' Is Same, But Celebrations Have Changed

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

Don't get the idea that Congress or someone has changed the Fourth of July. That piece in the Herald the other day about July 2 being the exact date of America's Declaration of Independence referred to a technically that has existed all of these 176 years.

The celebration of today falls on the same date that has been observed annually since it first started. There have been some changes, though, in methods of celebrating Independence. Picnics and general family outings are still popular among a large portion of the country's people, we understand, but they are somewhat different from the picnics of earlier years.

Where we grew up such functions often were community affairs, and there were many family reunions. Unless a person attended one or more of these on Independence Day, he figured that he had missed out completely on "The Fourth." Something extra was thrown in when a "political year" rolled around. The people who sought public office usually tried to make at least half a dozen picnics, and in most cases they were given an opportunity to say a few words.

The hand-shaking that went on was something to behold. In fact, the candidate who could spend an hour at a Fourth of July picnic and still display a dry shirt was considered lucky.

Baseball games, not exactly of the sandlot classification, but the cow pasture variety, were organized on the afternoon of The Fourth. Sometimes political candidates were pressed into service as umpires, but not if they could avoid it.

The ball games usually continued until someone slid into "what he thought was third base," as Frank Grimes, the venerable Abilene editorialist, once recalled.

Yes, The Fourth has changed up some, but the date is still the same on the calendar.

Lush Changes In Armed Forces In Years Of U.S. Independence

WASHINGTON.—One year ago today, Americans in two widely separated parts of the U.S. showed a shocking lack of knowledge—even fear—of the Declaration of Independence, signed by the founding fathers in Philadelphia 176 years ago.

In Madison, Wis., John Hunter, a reporter for the Capital Times, asked 112 people attending a 4th-of-July celebration to sign a petition embodying the wording of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. Only one out of 112 was willing to sign.

In New Orleans, Allen Johnson, a reporter for the Item, had somewhat the same experience. Only 12 out of 36 people were willing to sign. The reaction of those approached was that "the stuff sounds Russian," that it ought to be "narrowed down," that the man circulating the petition was a "Communist."

Subsequent editorial reaction was that "McCarthyism" had instilled such fear of any free doctrine or belief, that people were afraid to sign anything having to do with freedom.

Yet freedom was the founding principle which the nation fought for on the anniversary we celebrate today.

Following this woeful lack of understanding of the Declaration of Independence, this columnist suggested to a printer in Virginia, birthplace of Thomas Jefferson, that he print several hundred thousand copies of that document for distribution to schools, veterans' posts, and business offices.

So August Dietz of the Dietz Press, Richmond, patriotically did so. He not only prepared a decorated copy of the declaration for five cents, including mailing charges, but he went further. He arranged with the Sertoma (service to mankind) clubs, of which he is a member, to circulate about one million copies of the declaration to schools all over the nation.

The Bank of America in California did the same thing, and this distribution of the Declaration is continuing. However, one million copies of Jefferson's stirring words, signed in Philadelphia July 4, 1776, is a mere drop in the bucket among a population of 150,000,000.

And this 4th of July might be an excellent time to begin a new drive with the to study the precepts of the founding fathers and their effort to make democracy live.

The Continental Army which opposed the well-equipped British and Hessians 176 years ago was a hobbler array of militia-men, farmers, and city riff-raff, carrying rifles, pitchforks, and anything else they could lay their hands on. They ate off the land, had a bizarre assortment of uniforms, and not only during the historic winter at Valley Forge, but at other times, many did not have shoes.

This week a Senate report is prepared by Sen. Lyndon Johnson's Preparedness Committee which will shock many Americans. It will show that, in contrast to the days of the tattered Continentals, the American armed forces are the best-equipped, the lushest, the costliest, and least combative per man in the world.

It will show that, whereas every man in the Continental Army carried a gun and could account for himself, today, few American troops carry guns. Furthermore, the Russians with less equipment, less money and less fat, have ten times the fire-power per man as the American Army.

In other words, most of the Red Army is trained for combat. Most of the American Army, on the other hand, is trained to be cooks, orderlies, personnel experts, chauffeurs, mechanics, mailmen, grave-diggers, behind the relatively few men who carry the guns and do the fighting.

Illustrating the "fat" in the American Army, the Johnson Committee points out:

"At one point in the (Korean) campaign, the enemy enjoyed a numerical superiority in the theater of three to two. But this imbalance—unfavorable as it was—was a minor factor as contrasted to the numerical superiority of the enemy in the front line. At the point of contact—the actual area of battle—the enemy superiority was five to one. The Communists were capable of putting about four-fifths of their theater strength into the front line while the best of the United Nations could do so about one-fifth."

"The American rifle company of 204 men has 39 men who perform a number of jobs other than shooting at the enemy," continues the report. "The Russian rifle company—slightly more than half this number—has only two men who do anything but shoot. The American heavy weapons company has 123 men who are not engaged in direct combat operation. Its Soviet counterpart has only nine. The American infantry battalion has 100 men engaged in communications work. The comparable Russian organization gets along on 23."

The committee blames the traditions and luxuries of the past for bloating the Armed Forces with fat.

The committee didn't address its stinging rebuke solely to the Army, but also took a few swipes at the Air Force and Navy.

"We cannot consider an organization efficient when it requires 1,600 men—plus a supply line too long to be estimated—to put 75 single-seat aircraft into the air," the report fires its bars at the other two services. "We cannot consider a training base efficient when it requires two men to handle every three pupils. We cannot consider a ship efficiently run when it is manned by three and one-half times the number of seamen required to conduct a similar operation in private commerce."

"Victory," says the Johnson Committee, "has usually gone not to the largest army but to the best-organized army. Military superiority has been measured not by the number of guns but by the destructive power of the guns that can be brought to bear. We face an enemy who outnumbered our manpower as the grains of sand on the beach—whose vast resources have yet to be encompassed in numerical terms. Against that manpower and those resources, we must counterpose our superior ability at organization and our superior productive capacity."

The committee's recommendation: "It would appear to us that the most eminent Americans should be assembled to devote themselves to this task. Ample authority exists under the National Security Act of 1947. The Secretary of Defense can appoint a commission to make the necessary studies and make the necessary recommendations without further actions by the President."

Canadian Carries His Shoes

The marathon race is a great event at the Olympic games. The winner is likely to find himself famous in his native country, and he is honored in other lands as well.

The marathon is a long race. The standard distance is a few yards more than 26 and one fifth miles.

We may ask why the race is so long, and why the particular length was chosen. The answer comes from Greek history.

In ancient times—2,442 years ago—the Battle of Marathon was fought. This conflict marked an important victory for Greece against the Persians, who were trying to conquer Greece.

News of the victory was taken from the battlefield to the city of Athens by a Greek soldier. The distance of the modern race is supposed to be the same as that ancient soldier covered.

The story goes on to say that the soldier, on reaching Athens, fell dead after calling out: "We have won!"

There is great strain in running 26 miles. The first marathon of the modern Olympi-pics was won by a Greek named Loues. His time was two hours, 35 minutes and 20 seconds. It took 10 years for an Olympic runner to break that record. Then a Canadian athlete, W. J. Sherring, cut the time by a few minutes.

Sherring wore a hat during his long run. He came to the finish line carrying his running shoes in his right hand.

Since then the marathon time has been whittled down. Runners from South Africa, Finland, France, Argentina and Japan have reduced it from one Olympic to another.

The best Olympic record for the Marathon was made by the Japanese runner, Kikui Son, 18 years ago. His time was just under two and a half hours.

JEHOVAH APPOINTED WISE MEN TO AID HIS PEOPLE

Scripture—Judges 1:1-5; 2:1-5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

BEGINNING a new series of lessons today, we go back to the Old Testament to see how in those times (possibly 1275-1000 B. C.) the people disobeyed God's laws of morality and their allegiance to him, even as they did in the time of Jesus and even are doing today.

It seems so easy for man to sin, to forget God's goodness and all He has done for him, and to slip into evil ways. If he could only realize how much happier he would be—and the world with him—if he obeyed the laws of morality and followed the Master's teaching.

Joshua had died, the man who had led the Israelites after Moses' death, and had conquered the people of the land. Jehovah had promised them. He had made the walls of Jericho to fall; and had ordered the sun and moon to stand still to give this people a victory over their enemies.

gona, the next that "knew not Jehovah, nor yet the work which He had wrought for Israel, did that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah, and served Baalim."

Jehovah's anger was kindled against His people, "and He sold them into the hands of their enemies round about, so that they could not any longer stand before their enemies."

Israel was "sore distressed," and Jehovah, relenting, "raised up judges, who saved them out of the hand of those that despoiled them."

"And when Jehovah raised them up judges, then Jehovah was with the judge, and saved them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge; for if repented Jehovah because of their groaning, by reason of them that oppressed them and vexed them."

An angel of the Lord had warned them that if they obeyed not Jehovah and did not drive out the inhabitants of the land they had conquered, The Lord

"Blessed is the nation whose God is Jehovah."—Psalms 25:18.

this great leader? Jehovah appointed Judah, saying, "Judah shall go up; behold I have delivered the land into his hand."

Judah asked his brother, Simeon, to go with him, promising him that if he would "come up with me in my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot." Simeon did as his brother wished.

The first part of the book of Judges tells how the Israelites divided up the land, conquering one section after another and assigning their land to this one and that. Caleb, one of the agents who was sent out to spy the land for his people, offered to give his daughter, Achah, to whoever would conquer the land he had chosen. His younger brother, Othniel, won the girl, and the book tells how she went to her father later and asked for his blessing. He had given her a south land and now she wanted springs of water. He gave them to her.

During Joshua's life the people faithfully served Jehovah. So did they during the life of the elders who had seen the wondrous works of Jehovah in their behalf, in leading the people out of the land of Egypt, protecting them in their wanderings in the wilderness, and helping them to conquer the promised land.

When all that generation had died, the people forgot Jehovah, and they did what was right, there would be no need for police, the FBI, and similar agencies to detect and bring offenders to punishment. The Book of Judges says that in spite of what the judges appointed by Jehovah did for the people, they largely disregarded their control and sank lower and lower in sin.

would not break His covenant with His people, but He would make these people "as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you."

After the death of the judges, the people became more corrupt than ever. They intermarried with the heathen people of the lands, forsook Jehovah, and freely worshiped these pagan gods.

"And the anger of the Lord was hot against Israel; and He said, Because that this people hath transgressed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto My voice:

"I also will not henceforth drive out any from before them of the nations which Joshua left when he died;

"That through them I may prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the Lord to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not."

"In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did that which was right in his own eyes."

TWO MINDS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT...

Meet Jeff and Kim! (Jeff's the one with the curly ears!) They're inseparable pals. They both go around on all fours, and they're generally interested in the same things.

For instance, right now they're both wondering just what Daddy and Mama are talking about.

They seem to be discussing something called "religious education." It is carried on weekly by all the churches. It is the bulwark of America's moral strength and her religious faith.

Daddy is saying that he wants Kim to have the priceless advantage of religious training in Sunday School. And Mother is saying that she has been thinking the same thing.

That's the way it ought to be in every home! Two minds with but a single thought . . . wise parents planning together the moral and spiritual development of their child.

Wag your tail, Jeff! Things look mighty bright for your pal Kim!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Two Will Be Awarded County, City Titles In Annual Contest Tonight

Tonight at 8, the third annual contest sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club will be staged at the amphitheatre in the City Park.

It will take the form of a dress revue with 46 girls vying for the title of Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County of 1952. They will be attired in formal or ballroom frocks, according to Edith Gay, chairman of the arrangements.

Of the total, 38 girls are competing for the city title and eight for the county honor.

Immediately following the revue, a fireworks display sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will be given.

The organization has purchased 118 combustible pieces, which will release a galaxy of color, shape and size. One type, the Wisteria Shells, break and release green stars, then break again into a dazzling brilliant fire which resembles the purple wisteria in full bloom. The Betheguese Shells, when they burst, show the globe of the world with the principal plants.

In addition, the grand finale consists of 48 individual presentations including a 40-foot Niagara Falls and the American flag.

George B. Jones, in charge of the fireworks, says that there will be a loud report immediately after the beauty contest is over. Ten minutes later, there will be two loud reports. This will announce the beginning of the fireworks proper.

Mr. Jones has stated that there will be adequate traffic control furnished by the City Police Dept. The fire department will be on hand in case of an emergency.

Each of the 46 beauty contestants and their sponsors will be announced by W. R. (Bill) Dawes, master of ceremonies. Tommy Thippen and Kenneth Briden will herald the start of the program with appropriate fanfare.

Escorts for the girls will include Hollis Harper, Darlyle Hoherz, Jackie Little, Ben Hill, Jerry Houser, Eddie Houser, Lt. Johnnie Zober and Sgt. Frank Malone.

There will be three prizes offered in each division. Zale's Jewelry store will give place settings of sterling silver to the first prize winner in each section. The B&PW Club will give the two second prizes of $15 and the third prizes of $10 will be presented by The Big Spring Daily Herald and Hardesty's Crawford Drug.

Nathan's Jewelry will award a gift to each of the six runners-up in the final judging. In addition, each girl entering the contest will receive a favor.

Estah's Florist will give the two first place winners a bouquet; the Cottage of Flowers, the two second place winners and Caroline's Flowers, the two third entries.

Conley's Flower Shop and Faye's Flowers will supply floral arrangements for the background setting.

Contestants for the Miss Howard County award and their sponsors are: Janie Echols, Coahoma, Earl Reid, Cosden dealers; Sue Buchanan, Coahoma, Nixon Cleaners and Barber Shop; Mary Ann Spaulding, Knott, Walker Drug; Ellouise Carroll, Center Point, Big Spring Hardware; Frances McClain, Knott, Sam Fisherman; Mary Ann Fairchild, Forsan, C. Howard Washburns Are Making Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Washburn are making their home at 805 Johnson following their recent marriage.

The bride is the former Melva Jane Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Ray, 1702 Eleventh Place. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Washburn, 902 E. 12th are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. J. W. Fielder performed the ceremony at 1:30 p.m. at the 4th Baptist Church as the couple stood before an altar decorated with pastel gladioli and maroon daisies interspersed with greenery. White tapers in candelabras illuminated the scene.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, pianist, played a medley of nuptial music. She also accompanied a trio composed of Jimmie Bennett, Della Sue Reynolds and Shirley Riddle, who sang "I Love You Truly." Shirley Riddle also sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white dotted net dress over taffeta. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a rhinestone coronet. She carried an orchid surrounded by feathered carnations and tied with white satin streamers, atop a Bible.

In keeping with the bridal tradition, who wore as something old her aunt's wedding ring, something new was a necklace, a gift of Florence Kobanck, something borrowed a Bible. She wore a blue garter and a slipper in her shoe. Ladeane Cravens attended her cousin as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sue Robinson and Bobbie Adams. The maid of honor wore an orchid net gown. The other attendants chose orchid and green dresses. All three carried colonial bouquets of pink and yellow carnations.

Jack Lee served as best man. Ushers were Jackie Jennings and Harold Rossion.

Towana Cravens and Betty Lou Thames lighted the candles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ray wore an aqua crepe dress with a pink carnation corsage.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a blue linen suit with beige accessories and an orchid corsage.

They will enter Howard Payne College, Brownwood, in the fall. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School. Her husband is a Big Spring High School graduate, where he was a four-letter baseball star and a member of the football team. He is also a graduate of Howard County Junior College.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

The bridal couple met the guests at the door. Tall baskets of pastel gladioli flanked the lace laid refreshment table. Placed on a reflector was the three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, which formed the centerpiece.

Low Tucker served the cake and Florence Kobanck, poured. Frances King presided at the guest book.

MRS. HOWARD WASHBURN

Other members of the house party included Mrs. Clyde Edwards of Morton, Mrs. J. W. Fielder of Grand Prairie and Mrs. Gladys Flournoy of Odessa.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cravens, Ladeane and Towana of Morton, the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Fielder, Jackie and Phil of Grand Prairie, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edwards of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ray of Morton, Mrs. R. E. Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Flournoy of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Johnson of Brownwood. Among the nuptial courtesies extended the bride was a bridal tea in the home of Mrs. R. T. Lytle. Co-hostesses were Mrs. A. C. Kloven, Mary Ralley, Mrs. O. B. Warren, Mrs. Ed Strangefellow, Mrs. J. B. King, Mrs. Ruth Davidson, Mrs. J. C. Harmon, Mrs. Della Schultz, Mrs. C. M. Harrell, Mrs. Walker Bailey and Mrs. Lee Nuckels.

Approximately 50 guests called.

Moore Field To Be Reclaimed By AF

DALLAS, July 4 (AP)—The Defense Department is determined to keep its right to reclaim Moore Field, near Mission, which the state has turned into a tuberculosis hospital.

The agency did agree yesterday to give up all rights to part of Camp Fannin, near Tyler, which also has been converted into a TB hospital by the state.

Both former military posts were declared surplus after World War II and given to the state with the provision they could be taken back if needed.

The Air Force plans to reactivate Moore Field. Announcement of the Defense Department's stand came from James H. Bond, regional director of the Federal Security Agency.

The loss of Moore Field would hurt the state tuberculosis hospital system, said Dr. George W. Jackson, medical director for the Board of State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Pictures Add Distinction To Rooms

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
One thing that a good decorator has that so many others haven't is the ability to organize, to put things together so they mean something. Could be the worst fault of most homes is that they are full of scattered little things, things that could, but don't decorate at all. The single small picture affixed on a big wall space in prime example of the decorative attempt that completely misses, and the picture is usually hung too high besides. Plan to decorate with pictures, don't be satisfied with merely hanging a few. Here a grouping of pictures decorates a whole wall and ties the two beds and the nightstand between them together into one unit. The pictures themselves can be simple, the flower or fruit prints you've been collecting, but framed alike and designed for the space, they give distinction to the whole room.

Two Feted At Shower

Mrs. Woodrow Dowling and Mrs. T. E. Hendricks were honored recently at a pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. M. H. Box by members of the Kolonia Class of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. A. C. Brown served as co-hostess. Gifts were displayed and refreshments were served to Mrs. Clyde J. Clark, Mrs. Ed Cherry and Frankie, Mrs. Ted Phillips, Mrs. L. C. Shipman, Mrs. Jimmy Trotter, Mrs. Bob Mead, Mrs. Pat Patterson and Mrs. Leroy Hollingshead.

El Paso Gas Co. Seeks Rate Hike

Drouth, Strike Hurt Local Auto Markets

Local business conditions, attributed largely to the drouth, have created what is described as a "local" situation with reference to the sale of both new and used cars according to a survey of Big Spring.
The situation is described as "local" to distinguish it from the situation which prevails over areas of the Southwest where rain has been received and where both sellers and time-buyers see better prospects for meeting the installments as they fall due. When credit restrictions were lifted recently there was a slight upswing on the Big Spring market for both new and used cars, but apparently this temporarily greater demand was soon dissipated in the face of the drouth and the high, hot winds.
Perhaps the major contribution to the slowing down of activity on the automobile market has been the steel strike. "This can't be called a buyer's market," one man well acquainted with the situation says, "nor yet is it really a seller's market, either." This man said the picture is such that the buyer cannot walk into the place of a dealer in the lower priced field and always drive away with the color and model he wants, and at the same time it is a seller's market, mainly because of the steel strike, to the extent that both new and used car dealers can almost pick their customers, if any of them should be so inclined although the steel strike is not an indication that any dealer is taking this view of the matter.
Viewing the situation from all angles it is difficult to determine just where the lack-of-buying because of the drouth ends and where the lack-of-buying because of the steel shortage begins.
A man whose business is closely associated with the automobile industry says he thinks Big Spring dealers could sell plenty of new automobiles if they could make delivery, and that there are far more "live" prospective buyers for new cars than for used cars, on the time-payment plan.

In view of local conditions due to the drouth it has been indicated that the finance companies are being required to exercise greater caution in accepting the papers on installment sales.
But over a wide area it appears that the lifting of credit controls has definitely strengthened the wholesale market in used cars.
Local conditions are far from normal and it is impossible to say positively just what they would be with credit controls lifted and no drouth and no steel strike. However, it may be said to be the consensus of dealer and finance company opinion that business would be booming in both the new and used car fields if there was neither strike nor drouth.

Action Planned On Sanitation
STANTON (SC)—Several complaints of unsanitary conditions around town have been handed the city council this week and Mayor Woodford Sale has promised that steps will be taken immediately to correct these conditions.
In the meantime Stanton's seventh case of polio has been diagnosed at the Medical Arts Hospital in Big Spring, the patient being 15-year-old Annie Bell Heckler, daughter of Councilman A. W. Heckler, who is chairman of the Clean-Up Campaign Committee.
Miss Heckler will probably be hospitalized about another two weeks, it has been reported, but is expected to make a complete recovery.
The unsanitary-condition report was presented at the council meeting by Mrs. Leo Turner, a member of the steering committee of the current clean-up drive. She is also president of the Martin County Forum, which is co-operating with city officials in sponsoring the program for cleaning up the city.
City officials have indicated that those who are permitting unsanitary conditions to exist on their premises will first be asked to correct them and will be allowed a reasonable time within which to do so. If that fails officials have suggested that court action be taken.
Conditions covered in the complaint presented by Mrs. Turner range from overflowing cesspools to unclean lots and outdoor toilets.

Reunion Is Held By Hobbs Family
Twenty-three persons attended the W. R. Hobbs family reunion Thursday evening at the Hobbs home in the Lees community.

Present for the reunion were L. P. Sumpter, Mr. and Mrs. James Ware of Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Higginbotham of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. James Sumpter of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hobbs Jr. and son, Barry, of Lees; Mrs. R. K. Stoker and Russell Dean of McCamey; Mrs. Ruby Thompson and Mrs. Cecile Owens, of Lubbock; Melba Hobbs of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ware and daughters, Lorena and Brenda, of Fort Worth; and Rev. W. Ben Brown Injured In Traffic Mishap
Ben Brown, former Vincent resident and kin of local people, was injured painfully in a car mishap west of Seminole on Thursday morning.
He was enroute to his ranch 12 miles west of Seminole when his car was struck from the rear, causing it to roll over three times. He sustained lacerations and a crushed cheek bone as well as possible back and neck injuries.
Friday he was resting well in a Seminole hospital.
Brown had resided at Vincent until a year ago when he moved to Seminole. His daughter, Mrs. Joe E. Fortson, resides here, as do a sister, Mrs. Bob Wolf, and a brother, Charlie Brown.

Former Resident Killed In Action
Jim Thomas Hazelwood, former Big Spring resident, has been killed in action in Korea.
His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hazelwood, who moved from here to Dallas in 1948, wrote friends that they had received word that he had been killed on June 15. Other details were lacking at the moment.
The family moved here from Lubbock and resided in Big Spring several years. Jim Thomas was graduated from Big Spring High School in May 1947.
Besides his parents, he leaves his wife and one brother.

Dies In Amarillo
C. W. Rogers, 64 of Amarillo, brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Horne of Big Spring, died of a heart attack Thursday morning at Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. Horne left Friday morning for Amarillo to attend funeral services.

General, Civilian To Vie On Mexico Ballot

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
MEXICO CITY (AP) — A civilian and a general lead the clash of voters at the polls in Mexico's presidential election Sunday.

Back in the days when the Army dominated Mexican politics the general would have been the likely winner, but this time the odds favor the civilian, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, Government party candidate.

His strongest opposition is expected to come from retired Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, wealthy contractor.

The Government party, now known as the Partido Revolucionario Institucional, never has lost a presidential election in its 32 years. There is little reason to expect a different outcome this time.

There are some who, mindful of Mexico's turbulent political past, fear that a government victory will provoke the opposition to violence. Some of Gen. Henriquez's more fervent supporters have threatened to win "by fair means or foul."

Henriquez himself has warned the government that unless the elections are honestly conducted "the indignation of the citizens may provoke situations which it is not easy to foresee." But he has also promised to give up his presidential ambitions "if the people turn against me."

Whatever hopes the opposition might have had of upsetting the official candidate are compromised by its lack of unity. There are three important anti-Government candidates left in the field. A fourth candidate, Candido Aguilar, withdrew after collapse of an attempt to form a united opposition ticket.

The contenders are: Ruiz Cortines, 62, an Army paymaster during the revolution but a civilian since, heir apparent to President Miguel Aleman. He has been in civil service for 20 years and has served as governor of Veracruz State and as minister of the interior.

His campaign promises are to carry on the government's past program of more land for farmers, more industrialization and friendship for the U. S.

Gen. Henriquez, 54, who has made a fortune in road building and contracting, leads the Federation of Peoples Parties, which he formed. His campaign has plugged the theme that the present regime is slipping its wheels in carrying out its program. He holds that grafters and misfits have crept into government service, using it as a means to get rich or live easily.

Vicente Lombardo Toledano, 56, a labor lawyer, candidate of the Communist party, the Poplar party and several other small ones thought up for the occasion.

Efraim Gonzalez Luna, 54-year-old constitutional lawyer from Guadalajara, candidate of the conservative National Action party. He has the backing of most of the Catholics, although the church itself has gone on record as keeping hands off the campaign.

Don't Pack A Bellyache In Your Picnic Basket

By JO HILL
Don't pack a bellyache in your basket!

This may be over-simplified and perhaps a bit crude, but it's good advice when you start planning and packing for a picnic.

Picnics are wonderful in the summertime, but sometime they can supply a short cut to food poisoning.

try, baked ham, turkey, chicken or potato salad which has stood too long at room temperature. Other foods in which the disease germs grow are shellfish, milk and milk products, salads, sauces, dressings and gravies.

"The important thing to remember about picnic fare is to keep hot things hot and cold things cold," warned Jewel Barton, county health nurse. "Then picnics can be fun and safe," she added.

Another point to watch for is the danger in buying fresh foods. Fruits and vegetables can be contaminated through polluted irrigation water, fertilizer or insecticide sprays. Hence, they should be washed well.

Beware, too, of unrefrigerated much-handled food on open counters. Too many housewives are personally responsible for food poisoning themselves, by failing to wash their hands or dishes properly; allowing flies, cockroaches and rats to flourish. These pests eat the same foods as humans and pass on their germs.

Watch for sores and infected places on the hands. Too often, the same germ appears in the cook's hand as in the pie, salad or soup. Occasionally, unsuitable cooking utensils bring on food poisoning. Keep food away from galvanized iron pails, lead-soldered cans and cadmium-plated utensils. Much misery has resulted from drinking lemonade in which the acid has dissolved the zinc lining on the pan.

One more thing, in the average case of food poisoning it's a good idea to call your doctor immediately. But don't let this spoil your appetite or drive you away from the kitchen.

Because food misery can be avoided by observing cleanliness, coldness, carefulness and above all, common sense.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Why Not Read Declaration Of Independence?

Dear Sir:
Since the Herald has always been a public spirited vehicle dedicated to community service, you will undoubtedly devote considerable space in your July 4th edition to discussion of The Declaration of Independence.

Many of us in recent years have learned to look forward to this date for the entertainment and respite from work it affords, with never a thought of its main purpose. It is our duty, to ourselves and our children, to realize that it is not merely the Fourth of July—but that it is INDEPENDENCE DAY—a day on which we should call to mind and reflect on the ideals and principles set forth in our Declaration of Independence, and on which our great system of government is based.

Less than two hundred years ago our ancestors lived and fought and died to secure for us the God-given rights which are the foundation stones of our Republic. Today our men are living and fighting and dying in the far corners of the world to retain these rights for us and our children, and to secure them for the oppressed peoples of many lands. Let us then not fail them. Let us realize and be grateful for our many blessings and seek always to preserve and further "These Truths we hold to be self-evident."

If on this INDEPENDENCE DAY the head of each household were to call a few moments pause in the holiday activities to read to his entire family the Declaration of Independence and the Preamble to the Constitution, then his day will not have passed in vain.

Respectfully submitted by
R. T. C.

Among the killers in the kitchen are lack of refrigeration, leftovers, undercooking, shipshod shopping, bad housekeeping, sores on hands, and cooking utensils. Most germs grow best at body temperature. To be safe, store all perishable food in your refrigerator at or below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Custard filled pastries must be kept under cover and refrigerated at all times. Meat should be unwrapped, wiped off, (never washed) and recovered with waxed paper. Place it in the refrigerator so that air can reach all sides.

And here are some don'ts: Don't refrigerate food in large quantities. Don't forget to refrigerate canned food after it's opened. Don't leave food standing that has been prepared in advance. Don't keep cooked hams out of the refrigerator.

Unrefrigerated leftovers can be particularly dangerous in warm weather. So be careful about parking leftovers on the table or stove. If cooked pork has the slightest trace of pink, it should never be eaten. Remember, too, that such terms as "pre-cooked," "par-broiled," "tenderized" and "smoked" don't mean that the pork is free from trichinae parasites.
