Reviewing The Big Spring Week

The annual July 4 party at the City Park proved as big a drawing crowd as usual. With practically every space inside the park, on the highway approaches, and surrounding areas taken by cars, there must have been around 12,000 on hand for the fireworks display provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

national security. The House wrote into the bill a rider which, Truman's letter said, "forbids the Atomic Energy Commission to start any specific construction project unless funds are available to complete" it.

This sent the bill — biggest in terms of money of the session — to the White House. The drive for adjournment suffered its second setback when Sen. Maybank (D-SC) announced that the civil functions money bill "is not going to pass."

All Contested Delegations File Appeals

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP) — All seven states with contested delegations to the Republican National Convention filed appeals today from seating decisions of the National Committee.

Both sides in the Texas dispute appealed from the ruling that seated 22 delegates for Sen. Taft and 16 for Gen. Eisenhower.

The appeals will be considered by the Credentials Committee of the convention starting Monday. They involve 81 delegates.

The Texans repeated their previous arguments. The Eisenhower faction led by Houston oilman Jack Porter maintained they had the majorities. The Taft people, led by Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth, charged that the Eisenhower people were mostly Democrats trying to overturn the regular Republican Party organization.

"Balls O' Fire!"

The photographer's time exposure strung them out a little, but balls of fire were bursting right and left over the City Park amphitheater Friday night during the city's annual Fourth of July fireworks display. Several thousand people saw the aerial spectacle, probably the best ever staged here. The fireworks included 116 items, set pieces and aerial "blockbusters" and displays.

City Spends A Safe And Sane July 4th

A safety-conscious Big Spring celebrated Independence Day Friday with family outings, the annual beauty contest fireworks display in City Park and the usual suspension of work and business.

Only one traffic accident, in which no one was injured, marred the holiday's safety record, although probably a record number of automobiles jammed streets and park roads to and from the Fourth of July festivities.

Nancy Whitney and Ann Spaulding won city and county divisions of the dress revue and beauty contest, held in the park amphitheater.

A turnout estimated as large as 14,000 persons watched the "Miss Howard County" and "Miss Big Spring" contests and fireworks display. All available parking space in the park was filled and latecomers looted roads and highways throughout the area during the evening program.

J. H. Greene, Chamber of Commerce manager, estimated the crowd at "fully as large" as the record number that saw the 1951 fireworks spectacle. Other observers said they thought the turnout might have been even larger this year.

Many also thought the Friday night fireworks display was the best ever seen here. "Blockbuster" reports certainly were louder than on earlier occasions, and the aerial displays were more varied.

National Guardsmen were in charge of firing the 116-piece exhibition which was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The dress revue was staged by the Business & Professional Women's Club.

Prior to the evening program, Big Springers swarmed over city parks with picnic dinners and for afternoon outings. Municipal swimming pool, opened only Tuesday, had its biggest day and local golf courses got a holiday workout.

Absentee Voting To Start Monday

Two political deadlines fall on Sunday this time.

Candidates for public office are due to file their third reports of campaign expenditures and gifts today, and according to the prescribed calendar absentee voting for the July 26 primary begins.

Some candidates were filing their expense statements at the County Clerk's office Saturday, since that office is not open on Sunday.

County Clerk Lee Porter said he would begin filling requests for absentee ballots for the primary on Monday.

Persons who will be out of the county on the date of the primary election, or who are unable to come to the polls because of illness, may obtain absentee ballots by making proper application at the clerk's office.

Fire On Transport Is Put Out Quickly

BREMENHAVEN, Germany, July 5 (AP)—A short-lived fire broke out tonight on the 9,875-ton U. S. transport Gen. Maurice Rose carrying 1,300 American troops plus 455 officers and dependents to Germany.

Comdr. Dillon R. McMullen, commanding officer of the Military Sea Transportation Service here, said there were no casualties. The blaze was under control in 20 minutes.

Rejection Of Tanker Protest Is Predicted

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 5 (AP)—Denmark tonight was reported planning flat rejection of an American protest against delivery of a Danish-built tanker to Russia.

No one would guess what the results might be, but it was generally agreed that even if the U. S. government cuts off all military and economic aid to Denmark, a 1948 contract for the tanker must be followed through.

Contrary to expectations, no final decision on Denmark's reply to the American protests was reached at today's hastily summoned Cabinet meeting. But a government source indicated the ministers will tell party leaders Monday to turn the tanker over to Russia.

The informant said party leaders will endorse the government's stand unanimously.

Meanwhile, the controversial 13,000-ton tanker Apsaron—still flying a gilt hammer and sickle emblem on her funnel and with a Russian crew aboard—was at the shipyard of Burmeister and Wain Company here. The vessel was ready to clear out at a moment's notice.

Niels Munch, president of Burmeister and Wain, said earlier he knew nothing of newspaper reports that the tanker might sail tonight.

Two Polio Deaths Reported In State

By The Associated Press

One and possibly two polio deaths occurred in Texas Saturday. The case load in the big cities mounted. Definitely diagnosed as the victim of polio was George Devore Fairtrace Jr., member of a prominent Texas family, who died in Fort Worth.

Albert Randolph Alexander, 19, Houston, died in Houston Saturday but hospital authorities said the cause of death was not finally determined. Symptoms indicated polio.

The Fairtrace youth was the son of the late George Fairtrace Sr., former city manager of Fort Worth, Dallas, Highland Park, Wichita Falls and Tyler.

He died of bulbar polio in Fort Worth only two days after being admitted for treatment.

Houston hospitals reported eight new polio cases Saturday.

FOUR MEN IN RACE

Mexico's Voters To Choose A New President At Polls Today

By LAURENCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP)—Mexico's nearly five million registered voters—all men over 18—choose a new President tomorrow to run this country the next six years.

Throughout the nation at 1,250 polling places, the voters have a choice of four candidates whose politics range from the extreme right to the extreme left.

Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, candidate of the middle-of-the-road Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI) which has dominated Mexican politics since 1923, is considered the likely winner by a wide margin. President Miguel Aleman is forbidden by the Constitution to succeed himself.

Opposition parties failed in early campaign efforts to agree on a single coalition candidate who could more effectively challenge the powerful PRI.

The voters also will elect senators for six-year terms and congressmen for three-year terms.

Women may vote only in some state elections and Ruiz Cortines has promised to give them nationwide suffrage if he is elected.

The polls open at 9 a. m. (EST) and close at 6 p. m. The preliminary counting begins at once in the presence of party representatives who report the results to their headquarters. The party headquarters usually have fairly complete, unofficial figures by midnight. The formal count is made the following Sunday in the state capitals.

Since the great Mexican revolution of 1910-1920, elections in this sunny land south of the U. S. border have grown progressively more calm. No major disorders are anticipated, although three persons have lost their lives in minor campaign fights since June 1.

Nevertheless, the Ministry of Defense has ordered Army officers to maintain the peace and stay out of politics. All Mexico's 60,000 regular Army troops will be on duty tomorrow, either on the alert in their barracks or patrolling the streets. Some 3,000 parachute troops will be stationed at the airport in the capital, ready to take off for any part of the country where they may be needed.

The chief issue among all the parties in this nation of 25 million people is whether the present regime has complied with the aims of the Mexican revolution, which holds the same place in the country's esteem as does the American revolution of 1776 for the United States. Opposition candidates say they can do the job better and in all but a few instances their platforms closely resemble each other.

Three of the candidates are fairly certain to pledge a continuation of Mexico's policy of close friendship with the U. S. The only unfriendly one, Vicente Lombardo Toledano, candidate of the Communist and Popular parties, is expected to chalk up only 2 per cent or even less of the votes.

Ruiz Cortines, 62-year-old former minister of interior in the Aleman Cabinet, was an Army paymaster during the revolution. His party, whose forerunners (under various names) closed the churches, expropriated foreign oil properties and wrote into the Constitution the most advanced labor legislation of its time, now opposes the leftist platform of nationalization of the coal and power industries and the banks. But the PRI still calls the rightists "counter-revolutionaries" and the right still charges the PRI with being communist.

Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, the only military man in the running, is the candidate for the Confederation of People's parties. His party stands for modernization of industry and agriculture but is against extending federal power to the states.

Gen. Henriquez is one of the richest men in Mexico. His fortune, estimated at more than 50 million dollars, grew out of government road building contracts.

The right-wing candidate is Efrain Gonzalez Luna, a Guadalajara expert on constitutional law and leader of the Roman Catholic-supported National Action party (PAN). His party assails the whole line of revolutionary governments on the grounds that their agrarian reforms have been "a joke" and that there is "only misery" among the farmers.

Lombardo Toledano, who calls himself "a Marxist without a party," says he is friendly to "the real American people who are represented by the (Communist) Daily Worker." But his newspaper accused the U. S. of launching germ warfare in Korea. Lombardo blasts "Yankee imperialism" and otherwise hews to the pro-Moscow line.

Drouth Is Plaguing Glasscock Ranchers

GARDEN CITY — Drouth continues to be a plaguing problem for Glasscock County ranchers, and now a severe infestation of worms is adding to woes.

In the face of this, however, there have been reports of a good record of shearings. Alton Cook reported that his lambs sheared out 12 pounds and his ewes 10.40 per head. Ira Lee Watkins averaged about nine pounds on his clip. Buster Cox reported around 10 pounds when he sheared. B. A. Harris pegs his average at 8.5 pounds per head. J. H. Cox had an average of 9 1/2 pounds.

"I figure the mild winter we had contributed to the greater number of cases of worms," said Cook. At this time last year he had only a couple of cases. So far he has counted more than 25. The winter was so mild "it was never cold enough to kill any of the flies," Watkins said he thought infestation of worms was the worst he has had in 11 years of ranching in Glasscock County. Usually it has been past mid-June before there has been trouble from this source, but this year cases showed up by May 15.

Watkins is one of the more fortunate ones on rain. He had a 2.5 inch shower on his place which freshened his pastures and helped relax the feeding program. Calves are being creep-fed not withstanding. He sold some dry ewes due to the drouth.

Cox said that his place had missed rains and that he had had no relief from his daily feedings.

J. H. Cox kept his cattle, but he sold his sheep after shearing. He plans to leave this week to look for pasture for his cattle.

Another old timer has been out for the past two weeks seeking a place. He says he is leaving Glasscock County, adding "I don't know where I'll settle, but it will be a place where they at least know what rain is."

Truckers have been busy shipping out cattle and sheep to grass areas. Some have gone to Palo Pinto, Comanche and Hood Counties; some to the northwest part of the state. Two herds went to grass near Taos, N. M., and some have gone as far east as Mississippi. Some of the stock from the John Phillips ranch went to Arkansas.

Now ranchers are holding their breath for fear summer breezes will subside. If they do, they will have a water problem for there are few electric pumps in the county. Gasoline pumps have not proven very popular.

If there is a silver lining, ranchers think they know what it is. "We won't have to worry about income tax next year."

Venire Is Called In Murder Trial

HASKELL, July 5 (AP)—Thomas Clifford Livesey, 36, of Amarillo, charged with murder in the death of a colorful Panhandle recluse, will go on trial here Monday.

A special venire of 100 prospective jurors has been summoned. This will be the state's fourth attempt to try Livesey, one of two men charged in the death last fall of Joshua Blocher, aged Bailey County recluse and founder of the little hamlet of Progress near Muleshoe.

The case originally was set at Muleshoe in Bailey County, was moved to Farwell in adjoining Farmer County, and then to Tulsa in Swisher County.

Lester Douglas Stevens, 51, also of Amarillo, already has been sentenced to death for his part in the slaying. The two men were allegedly trying to find money which Blocher was rumored to have hidden in his shack.

General Gives A Lesson In Oriental Psychology

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—A tough, Chinese-speaking American general has given the Western world a lesson in Oriental psychology on Koje Island.

Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner apparently has won uncontested control over the tumultuous prison camp in less than one month.

Communist prisoners so defiant they once kidnapped the American commandant and threatened to capture the island now are being sorted into smaller compounds without benefit of headlines.

Boatner used the one language that his prisoners understood—force. The Communists, grown arrogant on leniency, tried defiance, then capitulated quickly when they saw they were overpowered.

This doesn't mean the hard-core Communist prisoners have changed their views or abandoned hope of becoming strong again. It means they followed the usual pattern of giving up when the odds turned against them, hoping for a better chance later.

That is why classic Oriental military strategy is to encircle an enemy force so it will quit, instead of trying to annihilate it. This, in reverse, may explain some of the strange story of truce negotiations.

The Chinese evidently never were beaten sufficiently to bow to the inevitable at Panmunjom. As they grew stronger during twilight war, the chances for peace based on a military decision grew slimmer. They appear to rest now much more on political considerations.

Now the Boatner lesson may be under study for wider application. Tokyo military circles said the recent heavy American attack on Yalu River power plants, cutting electricity to war activities, was more likely to stimulate truce talks than, as the British said, to jeopardize them.

At any rate, Koje is a capsule example of an Oriental truce centuries old—force rules, and softness only invites defiance.

Some residents of the Lower Rio Grande Valley may have been skeptical a few months ago about the effectiveness of cloud seeding to increase precipitation, but recent showers seem to have removed all doubt from their minds, says Sam Taloe, executive committee chairman of the Valley Rain Increasing Association.

He says that from the way growers have been calling him and other officials of the association asking that seeding be called off, he is pretty well satisfied that they are convinced cloud seeding really works.

Leading meteorologists say that atomic bomb explosions have absolutely no effect on the weather and the drouth in West Texas and elsewhere cannot be blamed on them. Two or three atomic bomb explosions a second would be required to precipitate even a light rain, they comment, but that 50 blasts a second might start a hurricane provided all other necessary atmospheric conditions were met.

Compared to the enormous forces at work in the atmosphere, the blast effect of 100 atomic bombs would be quite feeble, these scientists explain.

These meteorological speculations resulted from a deluge of inquiries from all over the country as to whether the series of test explosions near Las Vegas, Nevada, may have been responsible for the floods at some points and unusual drouths in other sections.

The best explanation for the drouth in this section still appears to be: Not enough rain.

Texas Tech at Lubbock has become the first college in Texas to have a herd of registered Guernseys.

The college was allotted $15,000 to buy such a herd and approximately $9,300 has been spent for a bull and 12 cows, the latter ranging in age from two to five years. The animals were selected by Roy Neeley, associate professor of animal husbandry, and Dr. Casey Pine, assistant dean of agriculture.

The 14-month-old bull has already been received on the campus. He was bred by Mulhowsay Farms in New Jersey, and was sired by a $29,000 bull. His dam is a cow with a record of 601 pounds of butterfat and 13,407 pounds of milk.

Jake Hodges of the Big Spring office of the Soil Conservation Service reports that Arthur Little, who lives south of Lamesa, and who is co-operator with the Dawson Soil Conservation District, has taken delivery of 400 pounds of Guar seed with which he plans to cover approximately 400 acres of his land both to prevent erosion, to add organic matter to the soil, and from which he will also derive some cash income.

Guar may be planted, according to Hodges, on a minimum of crop moisture any time up until the end of this month, and possibly even a few days later depending upon circumstances at planting time and the season that can reasonably be anticipated to follow.

Farmers interested in such soil protection should communicate with the SCS offices at Big Spring, Lamesa, Stanton or Midland.

Conservationists say that unless cover crops are established on blow land immediately and brought up to good stands that the blowing next winter and spring, and possibly into next summer is going to be the worst this section of the Southwest has ever known.

One of the largest groups of buyers ever to attend a purebred livestock sale in the state of Iowa invested a record-breaking $514,325 in Herefords at the Pearson dispersal sale held at Indianola. The 301 lots sold averaged $1,709.

Over 2,500 persons from 32 states and Canada crowded the 120-foot tent in which the sale was held on the farm to see the top bull, Baca Duke I, register of merit sire, return an all time high for Iowa of $51,000 on the bid of the Duncan Hereford Farm of Orangeburg, S. C.

The high selling female was Pearson Duchess 17, going to Pollock Hereford Farm of Mountainburg, Arkansas, for $8,050. The bulls averaged $3,248 with the first five through the ring making an average of $27,000. The 232 females, some with calves at foot, set an average of $1,251.

The top bulls were sold by Col. Art Thompson of Lincoln, Nebraska, leaving him the only auctioneer in the country to sell a Hereford bull for more than $50,000.

Driving Count Brings Biggest Fine For Week

A $100 fine resulting from a reckless driving charge was the largest assessed in Corporation Court during the week.

The levy helped boost the week's aggregate to $960. Sixty-three persons were fined. In addition, four charged with driving while intoxicated were transferred to the custody of county authorities, seven forfeited bonds amounting to $155, and five were turned over to the district attorney's office.

Drunkness continued to top the list of offenses with 33 persons being fined a total of $543 after conviction on intoxication complaints. The seven bonds were abandoned by drunkness defendants.

One offense appeared on the Corporation Court docket for the first time, and another complaint alleged a rare violation.

First fine for violation of the city's water conservation ordinance was assessed in the amount of $50. A like fine resulted from the sale of beer on a Sunday.

Seven persons were fined a total of $110 for speeding, and three were assessed $65 for driving without license. Making prohibited left turns cost four motorists $5 each. One other reckless driving fine—for $1—was assessed.

Other fines included three for $5 for prohibited parking, one for $2 for improper parking, one for $5 for excessive noise, one for $15 for passing in a prohibited zone, five for $5 for disturbance, and a $9 levy for vagrancy.

Transferred to the district attorney were four persons subsequently charged with robbery by assault and one charged with assault with intent to kill. Four cases of vagrancy were dismissed and another was transferred to the county juvenile officer.

MAJOR REQUE

MEN IN SERVICE

Pfc. Castle John Shortes recently completed Marine boot training at San Diego, Calif. and has been awarded the Sharpshooter badge.

Pfc. Shortes is with Military Police company of the Third Marine Division, now stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Shortes of Knott.

WITH THE EIGHTH FIGHTER BOMBER WING IN KOREA—Airman 2nd class Jack E. Durham, Lubbock has just completed a tour of duty in Korea and the Eighth Fighter Bomber Wing and expects to be home sometime this month.

Durham is a graduate of Big Spring High School and formerly an employee of Texas Electric Service in Big Spring. His parents live in Lubbock.

Word has been received that Major Herman A. Reque was recently assigned to the 502D Tactical Control Group somewhere in Korea as a personnel officer.

Major Reque's mother, Mrs. Julie Reque, and his wife, Mrs. Constance Reque, reside at 812 W. 18th Street.

In previous overseas duty, Major Reque served two years in Calcutta, India, and in Alaska for three years.

Cadet Huey Dyson Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huey Jones Rogers, 1806 Johnson Street is attending a thirty-day camp at Le Bess Beach Air Force Base, California.

A student at Texas Tech, Rogers is attending the camp for Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps students of 186 colleges and universities from Texas, Colorado,

PFC. SHORTES

New Mexico, and Arizona.

Cadets are required to attend at least one month of camp during their junior or senior year, in addition to four years to become eligible to a commission as 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve following their graduation.

Jimmy Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Montgomery, 2201 Nolan, a recent Navy recruit, is at the Naval Training Station in San Diego for his boot training. Jimmy was a 1952 graduate of Big Spring High School.

Pvt. W. C. Seely, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Seely, Lamesa, is serving with the 45th Infantry Division on the front lines in Korea.

Private Seely, a National Guardsman, entered the Army in October, 1951 and was stationed at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, before his embarkment for Korea.

Yarborough Says He Favors Federal Aid Programs

BRADY, July 5 (AP)—Much of the present suffering for want of water could be relieved by a comprehensive plan for the conservation and use of Texas flood waters, Ralph Yarborough said today in his campaign for governor.

Yarborough said Texas loses an average of 35 million acre feet of water per year because the water is allowed to flow into the Gulf.

The candidate also declared himself in favor of federal-aid programs such as those for old age assistance, highways and airport construction.

He attacked what he termed the short-sightedness of state officials who declare their complete independence of the union of 48 states.

Such an attitude, he said, will lead the way in halting federal assistance to states.

"Sixty-five cents out of every dollar that goes to old age assistance comes from the federal government," he told his listeners at the Brady July Jamboree.

"Texas gets more federal highway aid than any other state. Our airport construction program is financed largely by federal assistance."

"I have no regard for the permanent politicians who spend their time denouncing the union."

Midland Outpost Is Spraberry Failure

A failure in northeastern Midland County is the Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc. No. 1 Well. This Spraberry prospector drilled to 7,171 in lower Spraberry and had no signs of possible production. Operator plugged and abandoned. The hole was located C SW NE 38-36-1s, T&P, a mile and a half east of Germania or Tex Harvey production.

Europe Hot, Too

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Europe still is suffering under a broiling sun.

Italy was hardest hit today with temperatures around 100. So far 19 deaths in Italy have been blamed on the heat wave.

Peace Is Predicted

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 5 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie said today he thinks the Korean truce talks will bring peace to Korea and also open the way for ending the East-West cold war.

Convention Hall To Be Expanded By TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The Republican National Convention opening Monday will be staged in the biggest arena the world has known to date, due to television.

The convention hall, Chicago's International Amphitheater, has rooms for only about 12,000 persons inside. But television will put the proceedings in closeup view of persons in more than 17 million homes from coast to coast in areas with 61 per cent of the nation's population.

All the television networks are pooling facilities to enable the TV viewer to watch every move on the convention floor or dais as if he were practically at the speaker's or delegate's elbow. They will supplement the actual proceedings with their own separate interviews, briefings and other special features.

The addition of 19 cities to the Bell System's television network facilities this week will make possible the biggest hookup yet together so far — 65 of the 66 cities with TV stations.

But how many persons actually will see the convention via TV? The Columbia Broadcasting System estimates "over 65 million" and the National Broadcasting Company forecasts "around 70 million."

NBC estimates 17,900,000 homes have sets, with 99.9 per cent or 17,880,000 in range of the telecasts. Whatever the actual total will be, it probably will exceed all previous TV audiences by a good margin due to the increase in number of sets and network expansion since any previous event of similar public interest.

For comparison, you can take the recent Ezzard Charles — Joe Walcott heavyweight championship boxing bout telecast in 50 cities. The American Research Bureau estimates it was tuned in on 10,000,000 sets. But in many of those cities, it was in competition with one or more other programs. The convention will be telecast from 65 cities and, with the possible exception of New York and Los Angeles, which have seven stations each, will be the only program on the air.

While it's the first nation-wide telecast of a political convention, it isn't the first to be telecast.

The 1940 conventions in Philadelphia were carried over a single 75-mile network channel to New York, and there were only about 5,000 sets in the two cities in range of the telecasts.

There were no telecasts in 1944 due to the war but the 1948 sessions in Philadelphia were carried by 18 stations in seven cities along the Atlantic Seaboard, from Boston southward to Richmond. But there were only about 400,000 sets in use then and only 70-odd per cent of them in range of the telecasts.

So the 1952 convention telecasts will reach more than 40 times as many sets, and people as did those of 1948.

As for the schedule, you can hardly miss. Starting with preview programs tomorrow, the convention will dominate television for the next several days.

For actual convention sessions, you can tune in at 11:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and 8:30 p.m., EST, each day. There's no time limit for each session to end.

But the networks plan to have numerous convention programs both before and after each session with summaries and analyses.

According to present plans, nominating speeches in behalf of various candidates are due to get under way Wednesday, with a possibility that balloting also may start.

What about radio? Well, radio will be every place TV is, and possibly a number of places besides. One network alone plans 230 convention broadcasts. As for potential audience, it's limited to the size of the population, as more than 95 per cent of American homes have radio sets. Even in TV areas, radio will have many listeners in automobiles, places of business, and in homes among

AF Had Been Ready For Blow 18 Months

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
TOKYO, Sunday, July 6 (AP)—The U. S. Far East Air Forces had been ready for 18 months to smash the 13 big Communist hydroelectric plants in North Korea which were demolished last month.

This was disclosed Saturday to the Associated Press by an Air Force spokesman who described the elaborate planning that preceded the raids beginning at 4 p.m. June 23. It was a crushing blow to the vast power complex that fed war factories in Communist Korea and Manchuria.

"We were ready to go," said the spokesman. "All someone had to do was ring the gong." In nearly two years of bitter fighting the Air Force had spared the plants. Their eventual destruction resulted in prolonged debate in Britain's House of Commons with opposition leaders expressing concern that the raids might spread the war.

Air Force, Marine and Navy fighter-bombers flew more than 1,373 sorties in the opening phase of the raids without losing a plane. The Navy planes, operating from four carriers, flew 573 sorties and Fifth Air Force and Marine planes "more than 800."

Biggest target was the huge powerhouses on the south bank of the Yalu River at Suho Dam, largest hydroelectric system in the Orient and the world's fourth largest. It was hit by 250 planes in 40 minutes.

The Air Force spokesman said intelligence officers knew the exact thickness of the roof shielding Suho's vital string of generators, hand-made years ago by the Japanese. Bombs selected for the job easily smashed through and destroyed the installations.

A year and a half ago all of the hydroelectric plants were "targeted"—meaning they were photographed from all angles from which they could be hit by attacking planes. The spokesman added that all other intricate details of the raids were worked out then.

Not until the night of June 22 did most of the pilots know of the forthcoming raids. Many learned of it at their pre-dawn briefings the next day. Weather delayed the strikes until 4 p.m. the 23rd.

Except for the Suho plant, demolished in the first raid, the plants were hit again on the 24th and the 26th.

"It would be impossible to estimate the crippling effects of the poundings on the enemy's military effort," the Air Force spokesman said.

Farmers Give Up On Cotton

GARDEN CITY — Farmers of Glasscock County have written off a 1952 cotton crop and are planning on some alternates in event of later rains.

With one exception, no farms in the northern half of the county have planted anything. Near Lee's the Bakers planted a little feed and cotton, but neither came to a stand.

Around St. Lawrence in the south end of the county, showers aggregating about two inches helped get up some crops. But only the few irrigated patches seem to be holding on, and here the incessant high winds have been hurting them severely.

H. M. Fitzhugh, county agent, said that a considerable volume of 60-day maize could be made if rains came. If showers hold off until autumn, then he said farmers were counting on planting guar, a legume which is acceptable for winter pasture and which also would furnish a good cover to protect against wind erosion.

Kilgore Girl First Miss Texas Entrant

GALVESTON, July 5 (AP)—Ann Ramey, pretty 19-year-old Kilgore Junior College student, today became the first entry in the 1952 Miss Texas contest here Sept. 1-3.

The contest will determine who will represent Texas in the Miss America contest to be held Sept. 1-6.

The Texas contest will be held at Galveston's Pleasure Pier. Junior Chamber of Commerce organizations throughout the state are holding local contests to determine official entries from various cities.

Comets often move at variable speeds, faster when they are near the sun, slower when they are farther away.

Moss Appointment Approved In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The Senate today approved, without objection, the nomination of James A. Walsh of Arizona to be federal judge for Arizona.

It also confirmed the nomination of Paul Moss of Texas to be a member of the advisory board for the Postoffice Department.

PRESTON MASON

Preston Mason Is Carrier-Of-Month

Ten months work as a Herald "Little Merchant" has netted a lot of benefits to Preston Mason—because he has worked at his job and has been thrifty with his earnings.

His outstanding record during June has brought him the "Carrier of the Month" award. It means that he has a month's possession of a gold trophy offered by The Herald; that he wins a $5 merchandise certificate to be used at the local store of his choice; and that he and his family will be treated to a dinner and a show.

Preston won the award with a top record of getting new subscribers and giving good service on his route, by paying his bills promptly and attending Carrier Club meetings regularly.

He can testify that a newspaper route can be made a "good thing."

Since becoming a Little Merchant 10 months ago, he has purchased a Mustang motorcycle, an Encyclopedia set, and is now buying an outboard motor for a boat. With all this he has had his own money for clothing and pleasure expenditures, and is saving $5 per week in The Herald bond fund.

Preston serves the east and south portions of Washington Place. Fifteen years old, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mason, 1405 East 15th and will be a sophomore in school this next fall. He has made A's and B's in his school work, has played in the school band for four years, and has time for fishing and model plane building as a hobby.

Jet Propulsion Is Taking Over Model Airplane Field

NEW YORK July 5 (AP)—The age of jet propulsion is taking over the model airplane field.

Already, more than 2,000 miniature plane pilots around the country are flying jets. Before long, it is expected they will reach a speed in excess of 200 miles an hour.

One junior jet already has been clocked at 170 miles an hour. That was a record set in a national meet by two boys from Minneapolis—Bob Thor and Glen Temjl.

Their little plane blew up in mid-air after setting the record, but that hasn't discouraged them or other pee-wee jet fans.

The average jet model, weighing 16 ounces and costing about $35, whizzes around on a wire at about 140 miles an hour. With improvements in design, they'll soon better 200, according to Arthur Hassebach, president of a Bronx model plane club (the Model Knights), one of the pioneers in junior jets. He is also a manufacturer of the tiny machine.

The development of model jets began in California about eight years ago.

"Many of us all over the country," says Hassebach, "exchanged information in the pioneer work. The biggest problem was to get the tanks to feed properly."

"My first jet set a national record at 89 mph. Today we have jets which take off that fast."

The chief problem among junior jet pilots is the noise. A jet model, he says, makes almost as much noise as the real thing. That makes it difficult to find urban airfields.

A jet model looks like nothing more than a pipe on wings. Actually, it's complicated, but, of course, far less intricate than the real thing.

The fuel, ordinary automobile gas, is fed across a spark plug in the engine, which ignites and creates an explosion. This closes valves forcing pressure out through the tail pipe.

This also creates a vacuum in the tube, starting another cycle, drawing fuel into the engine again.

The average jet gas tank holds between four and eight ounces of fuel. On that much, it can travel only about 15 laps, or one mile. The conventional model plane flies three times longer on the same fuel supply.

Wage Of Workers Declines In May

AUSTIN, July 5 (AP)—The average weekly pay of petroleum refining workers dropped $19.45 in May as the result of a labor-management dispute involving 22,955 workers.

Average pay of all factory production workers in Texas was $62.73 per week in May, down $1.64 from April, the Texas Employment Commission reported today.

The refinery dispute ended in May, sending all but 3,442 oil workers back to their jobs.

The number of workers involved in labor-management disputes for the month was 20,151, the largest number on record. Before the month ended, only 5,338 employees were still in disagreement with their employers in 35 disputes.

Unemployment increased slightly in May, totaling 88,809. This meant three out of every 100 in the Texas labor force were without jobs.

Slaying Two Bulls Is Day's Work For Girl

By DON HENRY
VILLA ACUNA — Killing two bulls in one day is quite a feat for a woman. But Patricia McCormick accomplished it Friday with ease and nonchalance before a sardine-in-a-can sized crowd that packed the small arena in Villa Acuna, Mexico.

The fourth of July crowd that jammed the arena built for about 2,000 saw what it came for—to see Miss McCormick down her bulls. And she did it in fine fashion. She was awarded an ear for each bull, symbolic of a command performance.

All in all four bulls were killed, two by Miss McCormick and two by Latin American toreros but Pat's performance highlighted the afternoon's show. Neither of the Latin Americans received ears for their kills.

Preceding the official kill, each bull absorbed the jabs of long sharp lances wielded by "picadores"; six banderillas—two-foot long harpoons, which were stuck in the bull's neck, and numerous empty capes to both infuriate and weaken him.

The bull fighter then entered the ring and, after angering the bull into making blind charges at the red cape, and after receiving permission from the fight judge, prepared for the kill.

This is accomplished by driving a sword into the point where the bull's neck joins his shoulders. Then if the sword strikes true, the bull drops instantly.

The most dangerous, appearing task of the fight is the placing of the banderillas. They are planted in the bull's neck by a young fighter who must run in front of the bull, lean over his horns and sink two banderillas in his neck—all in one motion while evading the bull's horns.

Smiling constantly and waving occasionally to the crowd, Pat went about killing "el toro" with the calmness, but alertness, of a cat stalking a mouse.

And following each kill, she sighed, turned to the shouting, pleased spectators and bowed. Then after getting the approval of the ear from the judge's stand, she circled the arena waving the prize and smiling to the crowd.

Which signified a "job well done."

Baptist Laymen Hold Outdoor Revival Here

Baptist laymen in Big Spring will sponsor an outdoor revival meeting this week at Seventh and Johnson.

For their leaders in the religious effort, they have an Oklahoma City layman, Fred Cherry, as the evangelist, and the man who perhaps is the best known of revival song leaders in this section of the nation, Joe Trussell.

Cherry, who holds a degree in petroleum engineering, is a Baptist deacon and has been active in lay evangelistic work for many years. He comes here from a three week's tent meeting sponsored by Illinois Baptist laymen. He has a record of having spoken at least one person a day for 17 years about Christ.

Throughout the Southwest there perhaps is no better known name among religious singers than Joe Trussell. He is considered the top man in his field, both as a singer and as a leader of song services.

For almost a score of years efforts have been made periodically to secure his services here. Services will be held each evening Monday through Saturday at the meeting site. A platform has been provided and seats moved in to accommodate a large crowd. Laymen in all the Baptist churches in Big Spring are supporting the revival, in which, of course, the general public is invited.

In the morning services today at the First Baptist Church, Cherry is to be the speaker.

Rites Are Conducted For McDaniel Infant

Mark Baskin McDaniel died in a local hospital at 5 p.m. Friday, about 24 hours after he was born. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. McDaniel and was their first born.

Services were held in Garden City Saturday morning and burial took place in the Garden City cemetery.

Paternal grandmother was Mrs. McDaniel, Garden City; and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Richards, Odessa.

Miss West Texas Named At Odessa

ODESSA, (SC) — A brown-haired, brown-eyed Odessa girl, Miss Nellie Byrnum, 17, was selected as Miss West Texas from a field of 11 contestants, and was crowned by Jimmy Wakely, cowboy star, at the fifth annual Independence Day Festival here Friday night.

Diligenti Quintuplets Are In Five Different Schools

By ROMAN JIMENEZ
BUENOS AIRES, July 5 (AP) — Argentina's most famous team has been broken up for disciplinary reasons. The Diligenti quintuplets, now in their eighth year, have been sent to five different English boarding schools.

Father Franco Diligenti, the well-to-do, Italian-born factory owner who ever since the quint's birth has been sheltering them from the glare of publicity, quietly decided earlier this year that the children should be treated as single units.

"They were becoming an increasingly serious problem," he said in an interview. "Their team spirit, a wonderful thing in most cases, was just too much for their mother and myself and their teachers and servants."

"Just a year ago, I commented happily on how closely knit a team they were. Since then, their squad behavior meant that they defied discipline and any corrective influence from outside."

Diligenti, a busy man who has little time to spare, and Mrs. Diligenti, whose restraining influence was strained to an end, agreed that, harsh as it may seem, the best for the kids was to have them separated.

"Besides," Diligenti explained, "we wanted the children to be educated as any other boys and girls. We wanted their individualities developed. When they went to the same school, the teachers and other pupils could not help treating them as the quint's."

The five now study, play, eat and sleep in schools miles apart. They get together only on rare occasions on week ends—but never the five of them at the same time.

Their father takes them out for a couple of hours, singly or, at most, by twos, every Saturday.

Francisco, Jr., who has not yet decided what to be when he grows up, and Carlos Alberto, the prospective airman, met only once in the last three months. That was when playing a friendly soccer game for their respective schools.

Their three sisters—María Cristina, María Fernanda and María Esther—have changing ideas about their wishes for later in life.

Diligenti said this is the beginning of proof that he was right in splitting the team apart. Before, he said, the five were apt to keep to a thought-pattern when one of them had any idea.

Webb AFB Fund Is Not Changed By Bill

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Funds for 22 military construction projects in Texas were included in a 10 billion dollar supplemental money bill approved today by a Senate-House conference committee.

As approved by the committee, the Texas money allocations included reductions voted by the Senate in the case of 16 Texas projects, and a lone increase.

Biggest Texas cut voted in the Senate was in funds for the All-Valley municipal airport at Harlingen, reduced from the $11,488,000 voted by the House to $5,796,000.

The only boost voted in the Senate was in funds for Goodfellow Air Force Base at San Angelo, which were increased to $3,820,000 from the $2,741,600 House figure.

Texas projects by the military construction authorization bill, giving first the money voted by the House and then the Senate figure, were:

- Army—Fort Bliss, El Paso, $5,036,000 and $4,856,000.
- Fort Hood, Killeen, $10,516,000 and $10,090,000.
- Air Force—Biggs AFB, El Paso, $773,000 (unchanged).
- Carwell AFB, Fort Worth, $15,844,000 and $13,389,000.
- Tye Field, Abilene, $32,273,000 and $23,472,000.
- Majors Field, Greenville, $23,000 (unchanged).
- Galveston Municipal Airport, Galveston, $6,289,000 and $5,746,000.
- WEBB AFB, BIG SPRING, $6,270,000 (unchanged).
- Bryan AFB, Bryan, $3,791,000 and $3,440,000.
- Ellington AFB, Houston, $4,787,000 and $4,563,000.
- Foster Field, Victoria, $5,129,000 and $4,583,000.
- Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, $3,741,000 and $3,820,000.
- Harlingen, All-Valley Municipal Airport, $11,488,000 and $5,796,000.
- James Connally AFB, Waco, $7,829,000 and $6,333,000.
- Laredo Municipal Airport, Laredo, $4,943,000 and $4,266,000.
- Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, $4,958,000 and $4,661,000.
- Moore Field, Mission, $10,858,000 and $10,509,000.
- Perrin AFB, Grayson County, $1,576,000 and $4,810,000.
- Randolph AFB, San Antonio, $2,693,000 (unchanged).
- Reese AFB, Lubbock, $8,230,000 and $7,356,000.
- Kelly AFB, San Antonio, $8,000,000 and $7,964,000.
- Brooks AFB, San Antonio, $8,000,000.

People Need Bigger Voice, Daniel Says

Price Daniel brought his campaign for the Democratic nomination as U. S. Senator to this area Saturday with a plea for the people to exercise a greater voice in party and governmental affairs.

Most of his brief visit in Big Spring was spent in visiting on the street. He spoke informally at a public luncheon at the Settles before he left for Amarillo to fill a speaking engagement there Saturday evening.

"If a majority of the people in Texas want a U.S. Senator whose only obligation is to the people of Texas," he declared, "Then I'd like to go to the Senate. If not, then they ought to work for someone else, for the people ought to have what they want."

Daniel called for a presidential preferential primary in Texas, declaring that it was the only way they were sure that their votes would be for the person they desired. An outmoded convention system has led to division and bolting in both parties so that none attending the conventions is certain his vote will be felt.

Similarly, Daniel called for amending the electoral college so that the vote of each state there would be expressed exactly in relation to the popular vote.

"In that way a vote in Texas would be worth as much as one in New York, and you'd see more presidential candidates campaigning down here," he asserted.

He touched lightly on the tides-lands fight, in which he has been a leader, declaring that "more than revenues for the public schools are involved. Actually the principle of private ownership of property is at stake if this doctrine of 'paramount rights for the U.S.' were extended. That's why we have fought so hard and will continue to fight until we win."

Daniel said he would work to curb the trend toward over-centralization of government, to insist upon honesty in government and not "be content to be quiet" in the contrary conditions are revealed. He pledged himself also to work for greater economy as a means of thwarting the Stalin and Lenin blueprint of the U.S. spending itself to death.

"We must balance the budget," he asserted, "and get on a pay-as-you-go basis like we are in Texas. We have got to stop heaping greater debt upon the already greatest public debt in history that our children and their children's children must bear."

In domestic, foreign aid and military affairs he said "I know we can eliminate much waste and extravagance, particularly if Congress will get the purse strings back." The President gets credit for a lot of things that Congress abdicated to him, when in fact Congress is to be blamed for its failure to exercise its own responsibilities, he said.

While he believed considerable waste could be milked out of military appropriations, he said "I am not going to take a chance. I'm going to work to see that we stay strong."

He would not be found trying to wreck the sound accomplishments for the people, he asserted, but he would be "doing my best to do what is right to instill moral and spiritual values into government."

Ana Pauker Is Removed From Office By Reds

By RICHARD O'REGAN
VIENNA, Austria, July 5 (U)—Romanian Foreign Minister Ana Pauker, the international darling of communism and one of Stalin's former friends, has been shoved from her office in a tightening Soviet stranglehold over the Black Sea nation.

Her ouster was formally announced by Communist news agencies today. Western diplomatic reports from Bucharest said the fact that she is a Jewess was a major factor in the internal est-throat rivalry for power that led to her purging.

Western observers here believed the time is coming when she will be put on trial as a traitor despite the fact she was a faithful, lifelong Communist who once had the special privilege of being able to get the ear of Stalin by long-distance telephone at any time.

The Soviet-licensed German news agency ADN said her dismissal was ordered by the National Assembly in Bucharest. Simion Bughici, a Russian-infiltrated official who formerly was Romanian ambassador to Moscow, was given her job to make sure Romania is kept under the Kremlin's heel.

There was nothing in the files of diplomats here, in Washington or Berlin that shed any further light on him.

Obviously Mrs. Pauker, 59-year-old daughter of a rabbi, was removed with the consent of the Kremlin. The ouster of the woman whose iron-gray, close-cropped hair made her a prototype of Eastern Europe's woman Communists had been expected more than a month.

At the end of May she was abruptly dismissed from the Romanian Politburo for "anti-Marxist, capitalistic tendencies." Her fall corresponded with that of Finance Minister Vasile Luca and former Interior Minister Teohari Georgescu.

Since then there have been unconfirmed reports she was in a Bucharest prison or enroute to Moscow as a captive. The meagre official announcement today offered no light on the whereabouts of the tough, hefty woman.

Since 1947 she had been in charge of Romanian foreign policy. She spent long years in prison for the Communist cause. Her son fought for the Russians in the Second World War.

The Communists have been removing Jews from many high positions in Eastern Europe, however, partly because the Russians fear too great a concentration of any ethnic group in high places. She arranged to have her aged father sent to Israel two years ago.

Cotton Plantation Is Laid Out In Cuba

By BEN F. MEYER
HAVANA, July 5 (U)—One of the world's most modern cotton plantations is being laid out in Cuba, where cotton hasn't been grown for years.

Dayton Hedges, who came to Cuba from New York in 1919 "when the contracting business got to be a headache," is establishing the plantation on 30,000 acres he bought in Pinar del Rio Province, on the Southern coast of Cuba, about 80 miles from Havana. Hedges, now a veteran textile manufacturer, says the plantation "probably will be one of the most modern in the world. It may be one of the largest, too, since I don't know of any that run to 20,000 acres."

"It will be mechanized through-

Swimming Classes Resume Schedules
The YMCA swimming sessions get back on regular schedule this week.

"That means that the beginners will report to the pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Boys in this category report at 9 a.m. and girls at 10 a.m."

For the intermediate and advanced swimmers, the hour is 9 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, with divers taking instruction at 10 a.m. Those who have not yet enrolled may do so by reporting to the pool Monday or Tuesday morning, depending on which category they are to receive instruction. Prospects are that around 200 youngsters will be taking part.

Schedules had to be altered last week to avoid conflict with the Baptist district-encampment for girls, who also were making use of the pool.

out," he said. "There won't be a hoe on the place. We are going to plow, plant, cultivate, dust and pick the cotton mechanically."

When Hedges came to Cuba, he first bought up a number of electric power plants in little towns near Havana, ran them for years. Later he got into the textile business.

"I've always thought about growing cotton, but never really had time before. Now that my boys are running the mills, I'm going to give it a whirl."

"We will start planting in September, with the main planting to be done in November."

"The fields and rows are being laid, of course, to fit the machinery. Fields will be irrigated, with a pump on each unit of about 300 acres. Once we plant, we will spread a chemical on the rows to kill weeds and grass. By the time it loses its strength, the cotton should be up enough to throw shade and keep out weeds."

"So far as I can see, there is no real obstacle to growing cotton in Cuba. We do have boll weevils here, but they were not too serious, even without spraying. We plan to get them by airplane dusting."

Farm experts say cotton was abandoned as a crop in Cuba when Spain began buying Egyptian cotton, and the United States became a big exporter of cotton. Anyhow, Cuba found sugar brought better returns per acre.

Senate Passes Gas Measure

WASHINGTON, July 5 (U)—The Senate today passed a bill giving the right to regulate natural gas distributing operations exclusively within one state's borders to the states.

The bill went to the House after provoking a vigorous floor fight. By a 52 to 21 roll call vote the Senate rejected an amendment proposed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) designed to preserve FPC authority to make findings of fact on original cost of interstate pipeline facilities, which are connected to interstate lines.

Johnson opposed the amendment as a move "to gut this bill." Douglas retorted that he thought the bill itself may have been designed "to cloud the valiant fight on cost evaluation." He said his amendment would help in states like Ohio which consider replacement costs more than the original cost of facilities in rate making.

Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) told the Senate the measure would exempt from federal regulation any company which meets these three conditions:

1. The gas received is consumed within the state of receipt.
2. Its transportation facilities are not used for or in connection with the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale or in connection with the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce for hire.
3. The company is not engaged in such transportation or sale.

Issues Identical, Shivers Asserts

EL PASO, July 5 (U)—Gov. Shivers said today the issue in July 28 Democratic precinct conventions and in his race for re-election is "one and the same."

Talking to his precinct leaders and campaign workers here, Shivers told them:

"The issue is, shall the Democratic Party of Texas and the governor's office be controlled by the same forces and influences that now control the national administration, or shall we continue in Texas the middle-of-the-road, conservative policies that I have tried to maintain?"

The governor urged his workers to "see to it that Democrats representative of your true beliefs and interests turn out for these conventions."

Shivers' visit to El Paso completed a two-day tour of West Texas. He returned to Austin late today, where he announced plans for a week-long swing through East Texas, Central Texas, the Panhandle and Permian Basin areas next week.

Drafters To 'Tone Down' National Defense Plank

By OVID A. MARTIN
CHICAGO, July 5 (U)—Republican platform drafters, at the insistence of Eisenhower forces, were reported tonight to have agreed to "tone down" a proposed national defense plank stressing a sharp expansion in air power.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chief rival of Eisenhower for the nomination, has advocated a greatly expanded Air Force and less reliance on land armies.

Meanwhile, platform drafters, in a declared move to take farm problems out of politics, propose to strip the politically-appointed secretary of agriculture of powers to fix farm prices and other policies.

FFA Delegation To Attend State Meet

A delegation of three members of the Big Spring Future Farmers of America Chapter will go to Dallas July 16-18 to attend the 24th annual convention of the Texas Association of the FFA.

The group will be headed by Jackie Fryar, chapter treasurer, and the first representative of the Big Spring chapter to win the Lone Star Farmer degree. Other Future Farmers making the trip will be Jim Damron and Wiley Wise. They will be accompanied by R. E. Baumhardt, their vocational agriculture teacher and FFA adviser.

E. L. Tiner, district supervisor of FFA activities, and Truett Vines, vocational agriculture teacher in the Big Spring High School, will attend a state meeting of the FFA at College Station July 21.

The three going to Dallas will be among 7,500 Future Farmers from over the State of Texas who are expected to attend the convention. Scene of all meetings during the convention will be at the Baker and Adolphus Hotels.

Some of the activities planned for the Future Farmers include a gigantic parade up Elm Street and a Gold Key Banquet Thursday evening, where over 600 Future Farmers, including Fryar, will receive Lone Star Farmer Keys for rendering outstanding service. More than 25,000 in awards will be presented to the outstanding farmers during the three-day meeting.

Among those making the Dallas arrangements for the convention is a committee of Dallas and Fort Worth businessmen headed by Cal T. Johnson, Southwestern public relations director for Sears Roebuck; C. G. Scruggs, associate editor of Progressive Farmer, and Murray Cox, farm director for Radio Station WFAA.

Deaths Nearing Total Of 400

Violent deaths of the July Fourth holiday period pushed grimly toward the 400 mark Saturday. The timetable of traffic fatalities was ahead of the National Safety Council's forecast.

With the crush of homeward-bound motorists still to come, auto mishaps already had claimed at least 226 lives. The council predicted a toll of 430 for the period from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

The highway death rate was at a much faster clip than the three-day 1952 Memorial Day week end when 363 persons were killed—an all-time record for a Memorial Day holiday.

In addition to the mounting highway toll, 191 persons had drowned, and 43 had died from a variety of other causes.

Only two were victims of fireworks—one death each in Maine and Arkansas—to give the only encouraging aspect to the over-all toll of 371 violent deaths. The nation could well acclaim the vigorous campaigns against careless use of fireworks.

Three other fliers landed here today and then took off for points in Oklahoma and Missouri. The rest of the contestants, in 30 planes planned to spend the night here and take off shortly after daylight tomorrow.

Most of the planes spent Friday night in El Paso.

Contestants in the air race are not allowed to fly at night.

Wages Have Kept Up With Price Hikes, But Dollar Has Dropped

WASHINGTON, July 5 (U.S. —) Labor Department figures indicate that the average American factory worker has had enough pay increases since the Korean War to more than cover the rise in the cost of living.

However, while Factory Joe has been getting more money in his pay check the dollar has cheapened. As a result his savings and his insurance policies have lost value.

Non-factory workers have had less luck on wages. And even inside the factory worker group some are doing better than others. For example, makers of electrical machinery have had pay increases that put them much farther ahead of rising prices than workers in textile mills.

If the steelworkers get all they're asking they will top the whole manufacturing field for pay raises since Korea.

It is possible to get vehement arguments that Americans are better off because of rising wages and full employment and that they're losing ground every day as the dollar buys less and taxes take so much.

Both sides have to depend on records of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics to compare manufacturing wages versus the cost of living. The following figures show by what percentages average prices and wages had risen in April this year over prices and wages at various previous times:

Year	Consumer Hourly Earnings	Prices In Manufacturing
1929	54	192.6
1939	89.8	161.6

Hourly earnings rose between three and four times as fast in the past 23 years as the cost of living.

Even youngsters who didn't start working until after World War II have had an advantage. Since the start of the Korean War in June, 1950, living costs have risen 10.9 per cent, while average factory wages have risen 14 per cent.

But not all workers are faring equally well.

Labor officials feel that the white collar worker is taking it on the chin, but it is difficult to sift the statistics on them out of those for the industries in which they work. There is no average figure for the white collar group. There is, however, a figure for workers in retail trade, and this is taken as indicative of white collar troubles.

Here are percentage wage rises for different worker groups from June, 1950, to March this year:

Retail trade	9.2
Textile workers	11.5
Auto workers	12.8
Durable goods	14.7
Non-durable goods	11.9
Electrical machinery	16.9
Steelworkers (through March)	13.0
Steel workers (if they get current demands)	27.0

These figures are taken from Wage Stabilization Board records.

The money saved by all groups and the insurance they have bought have dropped in value. Taking the 1939 value of the dollar as a base, a dollar has dropped 5.9 cents in value just since the Korean War. This means that for every $1,000 saved since that time the saver would only get about $940 worth of goods if he were to spend his savings.

BLS records, coupled with those of the Department of Commerce, show how factory wages and corporate profits compare from June, 1950, to December, 1951, the period in which prices rose most swiftly.

Hourly earnings in manufacturing rose 12.5 per cent.

But after corporation income taxes were taken out, corporate profits actually fell 17.5 per cent. The amount distributed in dividends still had to pay individual income taxes on them.

Hoover Group Says It Saved Four Billions

WASHINGTON, July 5 (U.S. —) The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report shut down operation today with an estimate that government reorganization proposals it has helped push through eventually will save the American taxpayer four billion dollars a year.

The committee was formed in April, 1949, to work for adoption of the recommendations made by a commission under former President Herbert Hoover. That group, after extensive studies, proposed sweeping measures to streamline the executive branch of the federal government.

Robert L. L. McCormick, research director of the citizens committee, said in summing up its accomplishments that 70 per cent of the 300-odd Hoover recommendations have been written into law.

He made the four-billion-dollar savings estimate and added: "Of this amount, preliminary surveys show that identifiable economies of $1,244,000,000 are now being realized. To the 40 million families of the nation, this amounts to approximately $30 each."

"The heaviest savings, approximately 800 million dollars per annum, have been achieved in the national military establishment. The substantial cuts in the military budget made in the closing days of the congressional session would have been impossible without the Hoover Commission's recommendations."

In civilian activities, McCormick claimed these among other savings:

- Federal personnel management, 12 billion dollars.
- Creation of the General Services Administration for government housekeeping jobs, 150 million.
- Reductions in the potential postal deficit, $78,500,000.
- In budgeting and accounting, $11,900,000.
- In veterans affairs, $18,500,000.
- In the conduct of federal medical activities, $180,700,000.

Beard Lashes Out At White's Record

DALLAS, July 5 (U.S. —) Billy E. Beard, Bryan, candidate for Texas agriculture commissioner, declared today incumbent John C. White's administration is marked by "incompetency, immorality, extravagance and inability."

The farmer-stockman, 34, addressing a gathering of Dallas County farmers and ranchers, declared: "I have traveled over 24,000 miles since January seeking votes, and I'm convinced the incompetency, immorality, extravagance and inability existing under the present commissioner of agriculture is costing lots of money in exchange for no service."

Luxury Liner Continues On Race For Atlantic Record

ABOARD THE S. S. UNITED STATES AT SEA, July 5 (U.S. —) The S. S. United States, plowing through dense overnight mists and swelling seas, continued today to streak ahead of the record Atlantic crossing pace of the Queen Mary.

The sleek new American superliner covered the second day's run out of New York in an average of 35.600 knots. Her first day's average was 34.11 knots.

An announcement at 2:30 p. m. said the United States covered 801 miles in the past 22 hours, compared to 696 miles the first day. The Queen Mary's pace for her second day on the record run was 31.728 knots, for 790 miles.

Now they're saying unofficially the streamlined, 53,000-ton streak of power will pass Bishop's Rock off the English Coast before dawn Monday and rip from six to 10 hours off the transatlantic speed record held by Britain's Queen Mary.

Bishop's Rock is the terminal was still footing it along at that point of passenger ship speed tests, which originate at Ambrose Light, off the American coast.

Severe test last night—her second severe test last night—second at sea on this maiden voyage—and came through like a champion while her 1,700 passengers, unaware of the drama, dined and danced in Independence Day celebrations.

She ran into a heavy mist sweeping down from Newfoundland and the visibility went down to zero. Her radar system was put to work. Commodore Harry Manning, sleepless almost 24 hours, stuck to his post through the night and other officers also secured to their positions.

The graceful superliner churned through the misty curtain at a speed that reached 36 knots (around 42 miles an hour on an automobile speedometer) and maintained it most of the night. When the fog lifted, just before daybreak, she

Dixie Republicans Get Set For Fight On Civil Rights

CHICAGO, July 5 (U.S. —) Republicans from Dixieland are getting set for a possible fight on their party's convention floor over a proposed civil rights plank promising federal efforts to end racial discrimination.

Delegate L. S. Parsons, from Norfolk, Va., said today he and "many other" Southern delegates are bitterly opposed to recommendations of a resolutions subcommittee on the civil rights issue. Parsons is a member of the subcommittee.

The proposed plank would set up a federal Fair Employment Practices Commission directed to encourage and persuade employers to avoid discrimination against workers because of color, race or creed.

The commission would have authority to summon witnesses and hold public hearings on alleged violations. It would not have authority to mete out punishment.

Parsons, who contends the problem is one for local and state but not federal agencies to handle, said such hearings could in themselves have the effect of punishing, if not literally destroying those involved.

Funds Stopped For Suit In California

WASHINGTON, July 5 (U.S. —) House approval has made final a ban against use of Justice Department funds to continue a suit against thousands of water users along the Santa Margarita River in California.

By voice vote the House approved a Senate amendment to the Justice Department Budget Bill prohibiting use of departmental funds to prosecute the suit.

Discoveries, Staking Of Tests Numerous

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, July 5—West Texas oil activity, in one of its most productive weeks, ranged all the way from a strike completion in Tom Green County to the staking of 22 wildcat locations in 14 different counties.

In between, there were strike indications in several counties including Tom Green, Crockett, Runnels, Andrews and Glasscock plus extensions in several others.

An Ellenburger discovery in Crockett County, Lion No. 1 J. M. Shannon, greatly increased its flow when it made 181 barrels of oil in 24 hours from perforations between 7,380-413 feet. Earlier, from the same perforations, it flowed 82 barrels of oil in 24 hours. Location is C SE NE 46-U-GCA-S.

Crockett gained a wildcat, No. 1 D. A. Friend, to 12,000 feet. Location will be 3,300 from north, 600 feet from east line of J. McClelland survey 284, on a 7,504-acre lease, 2-3 1/2 miles southwest of Sonora.

Late in the week, American Republics and J. K. Dorrance, trustee, flowed a 24-hour gauge on their Palo Pinto discovery, No. 1-A C. A. Atkinson, making 59.10 barrels of 41.5 gravity oil, average shakeout 1/2 of one per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 87.1-1. The test is now shut in for bottomhole pressure surveys.

Earlier, a 24-hour flowing gauge of 198 barrels of 43 gravity oil plus five per cent water was filed with the Railroad Commission by Dorrance, who drilled the well. Location is 1,980 from north, 600 feet from west line of section 5-30-H&TC survey, 3 1/2 miles southwest of Knickerbocker.

Ellenburger oil flowed from a Northwestern Scurry wildcat 2 1/2 miles northwest of Fluvanna, Superior and Inex No. 13-574 R. H. Jordan, developed the flow after the tool was pulled on a 90-minute drillstem test from 2,360 feet. Recovery was 7,900 feet of 41 gravity oil. On a one-hour test from 2,350-65 feet, recovery was 180 feet of free 37.5 gravity oil.

The wildcat is 600 feet out of the southwest corner of section 378-97-H&TC.

In extreme Southeastern Glasscock County, Seaboard and Texas Pacific No. 1 S. J. Bishop, wildcat, was running electric logs after recovering an estimated 3,504 feet of clean oil and 128 feet of mud-cut water from a Permian lime. The well was from 4,190-90 feet in a lime just below the bottom of the Spraberry sand. Originally contracted to 4,500 feet, No. 1 Bishop is 600 feet out of the northeast corner of section 31-32-5a-T&P with nearest production in the Harrell (Clear Fork) field in Western Sterling County.

Standard No. 1-A Claude Owens, Pecos County wildcat C NE NE 2-4-G&GS, flowed 98 barrels of oil in five hours from open hole between 8,851-9,321 feet in the Ellenburger and then died. The recovery was 50 per cent new oil and 50 per cent old oil. After remaining dead overnight, the fluid level was 3,000 feet from the bottom. The flow was through a 1/2-inch choke.

The east side of the Wilshire (Ellenburger) field of Upton County was extended one location east and one location north with completion of Standard No. 11-150 McElroy Ranch Co. for a daily flowing potential of 1,129.4 barrels of 54.6 gravity oil, no water. Production was through a 3/4-inch tubing choke and open hole between 12,250-391 feet, the total depth.

Location is 600 feet out of the northwest corner of section 118-D-CCSD&RNGG.

A 1 1/2 mile north outpost to the Warfield (Pennsylvanian) field of Midland County, Bill Roden and associates of Odessa No. 1-18 Clarence Scharbauer, recovered 2,790 feet of free gas in the drill pipe. Data compiled by the PAD shows the long-range oil and gas production picture already has been adversely affected and the situation gets worse by the day.

Here are some figures rounded up by the PAD:

The shutdown of steel mills means a loss of 5,000 tons a day of oil country tubular goods, which is the equivalent of 3,400 wells a month.

Twenty per cent of the drilling rigs that were exploring for oil before the steel strike began have

WASHINGTON, July 5—Continuation of the steel strike is causing the Petroleum Administration for Defense increasing anxiety. Data compiled by the PAD shows the long-range oil and gas production picture already has been adversely affected and the situation gets worse by the day.

Nolan Wildcat Has Indication Of Oil Pay In Ellenburger

Operator will run casing and complete in the Ellenburger in an outpost five miles east of Sweetwater.

J. C. Barnes No. 1 Faver, located 1,880 from the south and west lines section 47-31, T&P, topped the Ellenburger at 5,895 and had developed some free oil in two drillstem tests from 5,985-6,130. Details of these tests were not reported fully.

However, on a drillstem test

Wildcat Pair Due In Yoakum

Two wildcat tests have been projected in Yoakum County, one to the Pennsylvanian and possibly to the Devonian. The other will seek the San Andres.

Ryan, Hays and Burke of Midland and San Antonio No. 1 H. T. Fillingim will be located 600 from the north and 1,989 from the east lines of section 661-D, John H. Gibson survey. This puts it 10 miles southeast of Plains and in the western part of the County. Projected depth is 11,000 and operations will start at once. The depth is calculated to take it through the Pennsylvanian and possibly into the Devonian.

Plymouth To Make Tests In Martin

Plymouth No. 1 W. R. Morris, C NW SW 7-35-1a, T&P, wildcat a mile and a half northeast of Stanton, is preparing to test.

The liner, set at 7,946, has been perforated from 7,863-7,897 in the Lower Spraberry. Operator is preparing to fracture the zone and then follow with a test.

This exploration found no possibilities of production in the upper Spraberry, but on a drillstem test from 7,864-7,848, 35 feet of free oil and 30 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud were recovered.

Glasscock Potential Discovery Coming Out With a Core

Seaboard and T&P Coal and Oil Co. No. 1 S. J. Bishop, 14 miles southeast of Garden City, cored from 6,191-4,211 and was coming out of the hole with the core Saturday.

This is in a time zone immediately below the base of the Spraberry. Last week on a test from 6,180-80, gas surfaced in four minutes, and after one stand of pipe was pulled, the test unloaded for 35 minutes. Recovery was 5,940 feet of oil and 126 feet of mud cut salt water.

El Tee No. 1-85 Classen, northwest Dawson venture in the Murgerville-Pennsylvanian field, drilled ahead Saturday at 6,764 in shale. Location is C SE SW 95-M, EL&RR, a mile west of production.

Humble No. 1 Mrs. Marvin Dayvault, southeastern Sterling explorer, drilled to 7,578 in shale and sand at the end of the week. So far this prospector, which is a mile and three fourths northeast of the Martin (Wichita-Albany) field, has had no shows.

FIVE-YEAR JOB

Researcher Hopes To Learn More About Ellenburger

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, July 5—Research by a geologist bent over a microscope in a gloomy building at the University of Texas may lead to more oil after 1955.

The project just starting is a study of the Ellenburger formation, a thick series of rock layers formed during the Ordovician Age. Best guesses say that was probably 500 million years ago.

The man at work is Dr. Virgil E. Barnes, research scientist in the university's Bureau of Economic Geology. He has been contributing to scientific knowledge and to the oil industry's progress for more than 20 years.

A grant of $51,000 by five oil companies will pay the expenses of the study, which basically will try to give oilmen a sure-fire method of identifying what layer of the Ellenburger they are drilling in.

This is important because some layers will produce more oil than others due to differences in porosity and other factors.

Barnes is counting on research agencies in scattered parts of the nation to help him. Core specimens from wells drilling to the Ellenburger will be sent to a firm in California specializing in spectrochemistry.

Tests there will check on whether traces of certain minerals or elements are found only in certain layers.

Barnes hopes facilities at the University of Wisconsin will be available to run thermo-luminescence tests. This research technique is based on the fact that minerals of different ages will glow under varying intensities of heat. The University of Wisconsin is the only place with apparatus to make the tests.

Tests for clay minerals will be made by X-ray and differential thermal analysis in the University of Texas ceramics department.

Barnes will do microscope work to identify minerals and will be responsible for conclusions drawn from all the research.

Though only five companies are contributing money, others are sending in cores from wells drilled to the Ellenburger. The Ellenburger extends from Cooke County, in Central North Texas, south-southwest approximately 400 miles and west some 600 miles into New Mexico.

The same formation runs into Oklahoma, where it is named after the Arbuckle Mountains. In Texas, it derives its name from the Ellenburger Hills in San Saba County.

The Ellenburger is found on the surface of the ground in Central Texas in what is known as the Llano uplift. Cores from the same formation have been found as deep as 15,000 feet in Val Verde and Pecos Counties.

Why will it take three years to do the research?

"You have to keep prodding these oil companies to get the cores for your study," explains Barnes.

"They may get a core and decide it doesn't look any good, so they just throw it in the trash pit. Then it sure enough isn't any good for anybody."

Completions Drop Again

AUSTIN, July 5—Oil well completions dropped again this week, when 171 were drilled compared with 177 the previous week, the Railroad Commission reported.

The year's total rose to 5,904 compared with 5,559 a year ago. Six gas wells were brought in, making 430 for the year against 442 last year at the same date.

Operators abandoned 115 dry holes.

Wildcat operations led to six oil wells and 82 dry holes.

Pluggings included 113 dry wells, 4 gasers and 39 oil wells.

The total average calendar day allowable today was 2,724,533 barrels, a decrease of 172,229 barrels from last week as the curtailed July permissive flow went into effect.

An indicated lower Fry discovery was uncovered in Central-East Runnels, Midland Operating Co., Inc., No. 1 Adkins-Henson flowed oil at the rate of 20 barrels hourly on a 40-minute drillstem test between 3,805-12 feet. Gravity of the oil was 40 degrees. Operator plans on drilling plugs on seven-inch casing cemented at plugged-back total depth of 3,746 feet on total depth of 3,842 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of tract 15, A. Loysa survey 315, 1/4-mile southeast of upper Gardner pay in the Crews, South field.

This is the second deal Tennessee has made this year involving properties in West Texas and New Mexico. Last January, the firm acquired all of the outstanding stock of York & Harper, Inc., Midland.

BASIN OIL SHOW

Odessa Set To Promote Largest Oil Exposition

ODESSA, July 5—Preparations are being made to handle more than 300 exhibitors and crowds totaling 100,000 at the second Permian Basin Oil Show here October 16-17-18-19.

The non-profit exposition, which will feature both indoor and outdoor exhibits of oil and related equipment and services, has already attracted more than 200 manufacturers and service companies from all parts of the nation.

The show will be open to the public all day each day Thursday through Sunday with no admission to the buildings or grounds. Tickets will be sold for evening dances and entertainment and for the big Saturday afternoon barbecue.

Heading the committee handling sale of books of tickets for the big name band dances, barbecue and other entertainment will be W. D. Lane of Midland, West Texas district superintendent for Plymouth Oil Company.

He will work with committees from oil and supply companies in pushing the sale of ticket books for oil field workers from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande and Dallas to El Paso.

Lloyd French, president of French Tool and Supply Co., of Odessa, is president of the oil show board of directors. Houston Crump is secretary of the board and manager of the show.

A new 50 by 150-foot steel and concrete exhibit building is nearing completion on the show grounds. In spite of the added room in the new building plus extra outside booth areas, plans are being made to secure additional space through use of a semi-permanent structure.

Kickoff event for the show will be the downtown parade on the opening day. Don Payne, president of Empire Machinery Co. of Odessa, is parade chairman.

The oil show, scheduled as one of the major events in the national observance of Oil Progress Week, is nicknamed "the oil field workers' show" and last year attracted some 70,000 persons.

Some blankets are still sized in "points," going back to the days when they were traded for beaver skins according to a point system of value.

Dedication Of New Gasoline Plant Is Set For July 19

Dedication ceremonies of the gasoline plant will be held July 19 on the 30-acre plant site located in Upton County, 11 miles northwest of Crane, according to Frank W. Lake, Midland, vice-president and manager of the Texas Division of the Wilshire Oil Company, Inc.

Meanwhile, Lake said, special invitations are going out to more than 2,000 persons in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and California, including Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

Keynote of addresses at the dedication, Lake stated, will be the conservation of the natural petroleum resources of Texas. Speakers include Olin Culberson, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas; Maurice A. Machris, Los Angeles, administrative consultant for Wilshire, an. D. A. Hulcy of Dallas, president of Lone Star Producing Company.

Following the dedication program starting at 11 a. m., a barbecue luncheon will be served under a big tent by the Odessa Chuckwagon Gang. Open house and conduct tours of the plant and adjacent big drilling rigs of Wilshire will be available within a short distance of the plant and the area will be sprinkled to settle the dust, Lake pointed out.

The plant, owned jointly by Lone Star and Wilshire, was built by Lone Star and will be operated by that firm, Lake said. The plant capacity is approximately 16 million cubic feet of natural gas every 24 hours, with initial production to be 30,000 gallons of natural gasoline, butane and propane. The residue gas will be purchased by the El Paso Natural Gas Company for utilization in its transmission system extending from the Permian Basin in Texas to California.

Sweetwater Opposes Broncs Again Today

Guerra Gains 12th Victory

Second of a three-game set between the Sweetwater Braves and the resident Broncs will be unrecalled at Steer Park, starting at 3:30 p.m. today.

The Braves, who had lost five of eight games to Big Spring before they started this series, will remain over for a Monday night engagement.

Big Spring will be here through next Thursday. Vernon's Dusters, a much improved club in recent weeks, comes into town Tuesday for a three-game stand.

Local fans will get their first look at the new Broncs hurler, Oscar Reguera, in this series. Reguera won his first start last week at the expense of Midland.

Gil Guerra had an easy time picking up his 12th mound win of the season here Saturday night, as the Big Spring Broncs slaughtered the Sweetwater Braves, 17-2, before a turnout of more than 1,000 fans.

The Broncs grabbed a 3-1 advantage in the initial inning and steadily added to the margin. They closed out by crowding nine runs across the dish in the last three frames.

Marcelano Solis went all the way on the mound for Sweetwater, despite the fact that the Cayuses rattled the boards for 16 hits.

The crippled Braves had to use three pitchers in the starting line up. Manager Alex Carrasquel went to left and Joe Martinez to right. Charley Buck was sitting out the contest due to an injury and Charley Tuttle was missing because his wife was ill.

As if it were Carrasquel wasn't around for the finish. He was chased in the eighth by Umpire Bill Valentine for arguing too strenuously on a play at first base.

None of the Steeds' 16 blows went for four bases, but Witty Quintana and Juan Visteur hit triples. Ernest Cortes of the guests touched Guerra for a bases-empty four-master in the seventh.

Ossie Alvarez perhaps tied a league record when he scored six runs. He worked twice, reached first on a misplay once, and collected three safeties.

TRIVIA—Pat Stacey returned to the Big Spring lineup and drove in five runs before retiring in the eighth for a pinch hitter.

Quintana had four RBIs for Big Spring. Guerra had seven strike outs, running his aggregate to 141 for the year.

Every player in the Big Spring lineup hit safely but Gonzales, who scored three times on the Braves, who beat the Broncs, 17-2, last time out.

Middlecoff Gains Motor City Lead

DETROIT, July 5 (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff fired three straight birdies on the back nine today to grab a one-stroke lead over Ted Kroff at the three-quarter mark of the $15,000 Motor City Open golf tournament.

Middlecoff used only 13 putts on the second nine for a 31 after an even par 36 over the par 72 Red Run Course. This gave him a 13 under par 54-hole total of 69-67-67—203.

Kroff, leader after the first round and tied for top after the second, slipped to a 39 on the back nine after a 53 going out for a 71 today. His 54-hole total is 65-68-71—204.

Lloyd Mangrum, the defending champion, remained within striking distance by firing a 37-33-70 and a three-round total of 205.

Just one more stroke back was Dick Mayer, 27-year-old St. Petersburg, Fla., pro with 68-65-73—206. This big four stood out above the rest of the 80-man field going into the final 18-hole round Sunday. Behind them at 208 were Fred Haas Jr., and Jim Ferrier. Old-timer Johnny Bulla was all alone at 209 and four men—Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas; Max Evans, Detroit, and National Open champion Julius Boros—were deadlocked at 210.

DETROIT, July 5 (AP)—Floryd Baker's base-loaded double in the seventh inning scored two runs and lifted Washington to a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox tonight before a crowd of 13,066, including President and Mrs. Truman.

Washington's lead was extended to 4-0 in the eighth by a home run by Visteur. The Red Sox scored twice in the ninth but were out of luck.

Warriors Gain 3-2 Triumph

CLEVELAND, July 5 (AP)—Joe Tipton's single with one out in the 11th inning scored Al Rosen from second base with Cleveland's winning run in a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox tonight.

It settled a pitching duel between Bob Feller and Joe Dobson and sent the Indians into second place ahead of the White Sox.

Dodgers Again Defeat Boston Braves, 5-3

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers whipped their Boston "cousins" for the 12th straight time this season tonight as righthander Carl Erskine held the Braves to five hits and George (Shoogun) Shuba blasted a three-run homer in the 5-3 victory.

The verdict moved the pace-setting Braves a full four games ahead of the second-rung New York Giants who lost a day game to Philadelphia.

The 17-year-old bombshell, also holder of the U. S. singles crown, brouder from behind twice to end the comeback hopes of the veteran Miss Brough, three times Wimbledon champion from 1945 to 1950.

Playing with the precision of a mechanical doll, Miss Connolly cut down Miss Brough with a display of faultless ground strokes and unerring anticipation.

Frank Sedgman, Australia's magnificent Davis Cupper, completed a "triple" by sharing in the doubles and mixed doubles title.

The Aussie teamed with countryman Ken McGregor to retain the men's double crown. They scored today to become the first teenager in 65 years to win the coveted women's singles title in the All-England tennis championships.

Odessa Nudges Vernon, 7-6

VERNON, July 5 (AP)—Manager Bob Martin stole home here tonight to provide the winning margin when the Odessa Oilers continued their supremacy over the Vernon Dusters 7-6.

Martin stole home in the top of the ninth inning with the win producing run after Lefty Loyko had scored on a single by Martin.

Vernon took the lead in the game in the first inning off two runs, but watched the Oilers forge ahead 3-2 at the end of the fifth.

The Dusters bounced back in the bottom of the sixth with four big runs to control a 6-3 lead.

Managers, Writers To Name All-Stars

ABILENE (AP)—Pat Stacey is the only Longhorn Leaguer around who has participated in all of the circuit's previous All-Star games and when the voting gets underway this week it looks like he'll be on hand for the sixth time.

The Big Spring owner, manager and right fielder is still cutting fancy capers on the diamond with a batting mark of .335 through the midseason averages.

The League's All-Star contest will be played at San Angelo on the night of July 25.

Voting for the places on the East and West squads will be done this year by the managers of the eight teams and sports writers in the circuit's cities.

Tulsa Edged

DALLAS, July 5 (AP)—Dallas, breezing along atop the Texas League, took another one tonight, defeating Tulsa, 5-2.

June Heat Wave Breaks Records; Another Torrid Month Foreseen

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
 WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—That June heat wave really was a sizzler, branding the month one of the hottest in all history for many cities.

And weathermen say all July likely will be hotter than normal in most of the nation.

The hottest time and place in the heat wave country last month was 108 at Malden, Mo., June 29, on the basis of official U. S. Weather Bureau temperatures that have reached the Washington weather office. There were higher readings in Death Valley and in Arizona and some other southwestern places. These were near normal for these regions, which weren't considered to be in the grip of the unusual heat wave. It was 111 at Yuma, Ariz., on June 18 and 112 at Presidio, Tex.

A bubble of cold air from the Hudson Bay country of Canada pushed southward in the last week of June and brought cool weather to most of the East. It took about 10 days for this to travel as far south as Florida.

Temperatures tumbled as much as 30 degrees within a few hours as the cold front moved south.

Most of the Eastern United States felt the heat wave at some time in June.

These new high-reading records, for June, were reported:

North Platte, Neb., 107, highest in 77 years; Wilmington, N. C., 104, highest in 80 years; New York, 101, highest in 81 years; Mobile, Ala., 102, as high as anything in 80 years (also 102 in June, 1932);

Tallahassee, Fla., 103, highest in 12 years.

In St. Louis it was over 100 for six days and reached 104 on June 27 and 28. High temperatures for the last week in June averaged 102, possibly the highest for a week on record in St. Louis.

Temperatures of 108 degrees were reported from South Carolina; it was 106 in Detroit, Mich., and 100 at Boston. This Boston temperature was the equal of any recorded in 80 years, in June.

The hottest average June weather in the history of these weather stations, or back to the year 1900, were reported at these cities:

Denver, 74 compared with the previous high of 71.3 in 1931; Cairo, Ill., 85 compared with 81.7 in 1914; Evansville, Ind., 81, compared with 80.5 in 1933; Dodge

City, Kan., 82 compared with 80 in 1934; Wichita, Kan., 83, compared with 83.6 in 1933; Columbia, Mo., 81, compared with 80.4 in 1934; Kansas City, 84, compared with 83.2 in 1934; Springfield, Mo., 81 compared with 79.4 in 1934.

Others were Chattanooga, Tenn., 82 compared with 81.7 in 1936; Amarillo, Tex., 80 compared with 79.8 in 1934; Greenville, S. C., 82 compared with 79.9 in 1914; Memphis, 85 compared with 84.2 in 1914; St. Louis, 84 compared with 82.6 in 1934; and Knoxville, Tenn., 81 compared with 79.9 in 1943.

Weather Bureau long-range diagnosticians, who base their predictions mostly on conditions in the upper atmosphere, say the normal weather-making elements exist over the hemisphere.

There is a high pressure area off the West Coast, and another high pressure bubble in the Southeast United States, or just offshore.

It is normal for these two bubbles to move closer together in the summer, with most of the United States under the influence of the eastern bubble.

The heat wave was broken temporarily when the bubbles shifted and let in a blast of cold air from the North Polar regions.

But now the bubbles are shifting northward again, keeping the cool air up north.

When will this let up?

The Weather Bureau says when a persistent pattern develops, like this one, it usually means the weather, literally, is in a rut. There may be some cool spells, but the outlook for July is:

"Temperatures to average a few degrees above seasonal normals over most of the nation..."

Headline Mix-Up Lists Wrong Charge

A mix up in headlines resulted in the wrong one getting over a court story in Thursday's issue of the Herald.

The account dealt with the case of Donald Hughey. He was faced with a driving charge and was sentenced under it. The caption for the story had dealt with a burglary case, which had nothing at all to do with Hughey.

The French people contributed $450,000 for the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor and the people of the United States $350,000 for the pedestal.

Big Welcome For Water In Pool

Big Springers had to go along for the first six or eight weeks of Spring and Summer without the fun of a swimming pool. The critical state of the municipal water supply just wouldn't permit the use of the pool at the park. Everybody was unhappy.

That is, until a solution came along, with a big assist from Cosden Petroleum Corporation which donated water from wells on nearby land it owns, and put down the water line besides. Then it was a matter of waiting impatiently for a few days, until the plunge was filled. Finally, the happy day came last week, and the opening of the pool saw a record attendance. Subsequent days are bringing just as large crowds, and today may see another record-breaker. Swimming classes are going full tilt, and people of all ages are responding to the call of water in the summer time. Some are fancy divers, others are active at swimming, others just loll around the water for sheer enjoyment of being close to a wet spot. Add it all up, as the photographer has here, and you get nothing but fun.

POOR FORM, BUT FUN—One way of getting into the water is just to put the hand clamp on the schnozzola and jump. This is considered poor form, but it's a lot of fun, as Tommy Porter (above) will testify.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE—A life guard is on duty at the pool at all hours, and safety comes first for everybody around. James Nuckels is the husky on duty, above, and gets a little admiration from young Bill French.

AH, SUMMERTIME! You can see from the above photo that water in Big Spring's swimming pool is royally welcomed. The splashing proves it.

IN THE SHALLOW END, the youngest generation takes to the water, too, and in another year or two will be at the deep end. That's Suzanne Cook paddling in the inner tube, below.

SUN-BATHERS—Near the water, but not wet, are two sunbathers pictured in the top photo. They are Joyce Sanders and Lynn Porter.

THIS IS BETTER—More in the fashion of the accomplished diver is the back dive off the springboard performed above by Charlie Wright.

LOOKS LIKE FUN—Sybil Ann Smart (right) is not quite 2, and must study the situation awhile before deciding to enter the water. She's with her father, Floyd Smart.

MR. AND MRS. R. L. LOSURE, AND SON

Losures Are Aided With Practical Philosophy

It isn't easy to break the ties and move to a strange city. But Mrs. R. L. Losure has a practical philosophy about the situation, that makes moving easier for the entire family.

"When you move to a different place you'd better like it," she opines, and she doesn't hesitate to prove her point.

Mr. and Mrs. Losure and son, Kenneth, 15, have moved here recently from Nocona. They are living at 204 Goliad and he is assistant district foreman for the Sinclair Oil Co.

Maybe being an oil company family cushions them for the blow when notified of a transfer. At any rate, adjustments don't take long.

Prior to living in Nocona, the family made their home in the Kilgore-Gladewater area for 17 years.

While living near Nocona, Mrs. Losure was active in the Home Demonstration Club, Eastern Star and the Presbyterian Church of Saint Jo.

Kenneth is a rabid baseball fan. He hasn't missed a Bronc home game since his arrival here. And to make things complete, he works out with the team.

"My husband once worked on clocks, but now he has no time," smiling pointed Mrs. Losure, discussing the family hobbies.

The couple met in Breckenridge, her home, and were married a short time later. Mr. Losure is originally from Marion, Ind.

In any conversation with Mrs. Losure, the weather topic is bound to crop up. And like any native, she has her opinions.

"I wrote back to my friends that the Bible says it will rain on the just and unjust, but that I has failed to do either here," she laughed.

Beauties

Nancy Whitney Chosen 'Miss Big Spring' Before July Fourth Crowd

With upward of 7,000 people looking on, "Miss Big Spring" and "Miss Howard County" for 1952 were crowned at the City Park amphitheatre in a climaxing July 4 program Friday evening.

Selected by judges from a field of 46 contestants were Nancy Whitney as "Miss Big Spring" and Ann Spaulding as "Miss Howard County."

Miss Whitney, a North Texas State College senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitney. Miss Spaulding is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Spaulding of Knott.

All of the young women were dressed in formal, and the variety of colors and delicate shades combined with the beauty of the participants to furnish a lovely background for the presentation.

In second place for the title of "Miss Howard County" was Jan Masters, and in third place was Janie Echols. Runners-up were Jo Ann Gray, Francis McClain and Mary Ann Fitchchild.

Second place winner for "Miss Big Spring" honors was Janelle Beans, while third place went to June Cook. The runners-up in this division were Joan Smith, Margy

Beth Keaton, Mary Gerald Robinson, Dot Cauble, Rosemary Lawson, Lila Turner, and Marilyn Miller.

Little Jane Kay Tamplin was introduced as "Miss 1952" to lead off the presentations by Bill Dawes, the master of ceremonies for the Business & Professional Women-sponsored contest.

After Kenneth Briden and Tommy Thigpen had sounded the fanfare opening the program, Dawes introduced escorts, including Hollis Harper, Daryle Hohertz, Jackie Little, Ben Hill, Jerry Houser, Eddie Houser, Lt. Jannie Zober, and Sgt. Frank Maimone.

Dawes then presented last year's winners, Marie Petty, Elbow, as "Miss Howard County" and Thelma Tucker, "Miss Big Spring."

The amphitheatre stage had been decorated by Faye's Flowers and Conley's Flower Shop to carry out the garden party motif, and the contestants each appeared through an archway decorated with appropriate greenery.

First place winners, armed with beautiful bouquets, were presented with sterling silver place settings by Zale's Jewelry. To each of the second place winners, the cision—and the wealth of talent and beauty made it a tough one—Mr. and Mrs. George Amos, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Whitley, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Felts gave a precision exhibition of square dancing. The arrangement was one designed by members of the team, which has won several regional and a national title. The women wore yellow blouses and billowing black skirts; the men black trousers and yellow shirts.

B&PW presented gifts of $15, and to each of the third place winners went a $10 award provided by the Herald.

Not all the seats in the amphitheatre were taken, but there were more than enough sitting and standing on the side rails and at the entrances and rear to more than fill it. In addition, several thousands of others sat in their cars in the park, on the highways and other nearby points awaiting the fireworks display.

Basic Coattress Voted Most Likely To Succeed

EVER READY, EVER CHIC is this basic coattress of Toni Owen's. If you follow these patterns, you know that we, along with America, are staunch admirers of Miss Owen's glamorously practical clothes. She is better known for her wonderful line of separates than for, possibly, anything else. So this one-piece dress will come as a surprise to some of her fashionable fans.

By way of an injected note, we would like to tell you that fashion editors, in a body acclaimed this dress as being the one most likely to succeed—for them—and to a woman, every discerning fashion editor in New York is wearing this dress in cotton, and has another on order for fall-in wool.

Need we say more? Perhaps we'd better, because you'd probably like to know more about it.

Well, it is a coattress, as we have told you, and it buttons all the way from stem to stern. The collar stands up, and the skirt is full, the sleeves are three-quarter and cuffed. The one we have seen was made of a heavy ribbed black cotton, but it is the type dress that will look good in linen, taffeta, faille or wool. Size 12 requires 5 yds. of 30-inch material, while size 12 requires only 3 1/2 yds. of 54-inch material. Pattern 1105 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. To order Pattern 1105, send $1 to Spades Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 164, Box 258, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N.Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25 cents. To order our pattern booklet VI, send 15 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Dunca have as their week-end guests her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Broyles and children, who are en route from a vacation trip in Canada to their home in Harlingen.

Other guests in the Duncan home are Mrs. Don Page and Donna of Odessa.

G. T. Duncan will be in Fort Worth several days next week.

E. M. Bailey and Muri and Clay Bedell attended the Stamford rodeo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith of Penwell are on the Gulf Oil Co. lease temporarily. The Smiths are former residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hogue are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Elrod and children had as their guests last week Mrs. Elrod's cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Beard and daughter, Becky, of Monroe, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bedell and family of Coahoma were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Bedell.

Lemon Squeezer

A new little silver-plated lemon squeezer holds a slice of lemon which can be squeezed gently into a tea cup without squirting lemon in your companion's eye. It is available also in sets of four.

Beverly Stulting Leaves On Cruise

Beverly Stulting left Saturday afternoon for Los Angeles, Calif., where she was to meet Nina Curry, a former resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Curry, who now live in Chula Vista, on a cruise to Honolulu and other points in the Hawaiian Islands.

Beverly, who teaches in the local schools, plans a month's cruise in the Pacific.

Bathing Fido

Stuff cotton in Fido's ears before his bath. If he's the outdoor type, lather the neck area first. This helps prevent any possible flea from hopping to the head when the

Linen Blouse Is Charming With Skirts

A charmer anyway you look at it is a soap 'n' water linen blouse. Wear it this summer with cotton skirts, next fall under suits. Four sparkling buttons and a petal collar add interest. A perky polka-dot grosgrain ties it all into a neat package. Comes in pink, white, navy, beige.

Miniature Garden

Teach your children to develop a "green thumb" by obtaining a miniature garden that grows in four days. It's an instructive project with no mess or dirt. Real little flowers and fresh green grass spring up in days. Included are Dutch figures and bright butterflies.

Young Son Has Party On Birthday

Mrs. Tommy Hubbard honored her son, Mike, with a party Thursday on the occasion of his first birthday.
 For Mike it was a slightly delayed party, for his actual birthday a week ago caught him in the hospital.
 Favours were presented to the guests and refreshments served to John Wesley Deane, Penny Traylor, Beth Frasier, James Stroup, Sherry Stroup, Angie Tidwell, Ann Gibbs, Mary Lynn McClure, Susie Hubbard, Lu Ellen Tinker, Arlington.
 Among those assisting were Mrs. C. W. Deats, Jr., Mrs. James Bruce Frasier, Mrs. Walter Stroup, Mrs. H. C. Tidwell, Mrs. B. E. McClure, Mrs. B. S. Hubbard Jr., Wanda Chandler, Mrs. B. S. Hubbard Sr., and the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. D. W. Conley, at whose home the party was held.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Utilize Space In Walls Broken By Doors, Windows

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
 Why not use the seldom-used space in a doorway? Find out away space there you didn't know the room had. Don't stop short at curtaining windows, — design the complete doorway wall like this and two roomy drawer chests fit in. Here windows, chests and the door become a single, unified design. The trick is a simple one, a long cornice to range wide over everything to tie everything together from one side to the other. Wall space designed as a complete unit makes a big difference in any room, — it gives an effect of smoothness that isn't possible when room elements are separated and scattered about. Cover the cornice with the drapery fabric, set it high on the wall so the door opens easily, and hang the drapery fabric in full, plain folds. The cornice might conceal traverse rods so the windows can open wide to the sunshine and be covered at night.

Bambi Marchant Feted On Fourth Birthday At Party

Bambi Marchant was entertained on her fourth birthday with a party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Marchant, 1407 Sycamore.
 Games were played and refreshments served to Ruth, Barbara and Russell Neefe; Cindy and Susan Nobles; Nancy and Sandy Sessions; Sherry and Bobby Kent Odum; Sharon and Cheryl Bell; Cooper Lee Proctor, Patricia and Adrian Rowell; Daphne and Adrian Cates, Dee Roby and Michael Gartman, Lynn and Tommy Williams, Yay Weeg and Rip and Mike Marchant. Mrs. Roy O'Brien, Mrs. R. K. Sessions, Mrs. John Nobles, Mrs. Charles Neefe, Mrs. D. R. Gartman, Mrs. Reese, and Carolyn Bailey.

Attends Wedding Of Soldier Son

Mrs. Charles C. Jones has just returned from Champaign, Ill., where she attended the wedding of the Joneses' son, S-Sgt. Bryson E. Jones, to June Eileen McKloney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. McKinney of Champaign.
 S-Sgt. Jones is stationed at Chanute Field.
 The church wedding took place June 29. The bride is a 1943 graduate of Champaign High School and has been active in USO work. At present she is secretary-treasurer of Illinois University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of H.C.I.C. and attended Baylor University three semesters. He served two years in Europe during World War II and re-entered service in January 1950. He has recently seen service in Greenland and is now stationed at Chanute Field.

Where to shop for what --- HELEN'S HINTS

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE POWER OF A WOMAN . . . to judge good values . . . because the woman of wisdom knows that the well spent dollar will give her great returns on her investment. What better way could you spend your dollars and pennies than on the sale priced skirts, blouses, dresses and a host of other articles at ZACK'S Of Margo's, to fill out your summer wardrobe. Bargains such as these are the best way I know to stay beautifully dressed at penny-wise prices. You'll be proud of your clothes and proud of pampering your pocketbook; so visit Zack's now to round out the summer months in style.

COMFORT TO A "T" . . . For your "faller", there's a man's casual "T" shirt at ELMO WASSON'S worth cheering about. The advanced knitting techniques result in a crisp and handsome new fabric creation that's as comfortable as a cooling breeze. In pullover style, with short sleeves and open collar, it's designed with a metallic thread running through the weave that distinguishes this shirt with that extra dash so important to the well dressed man. He'll be set to take the sizzle out of summer and look like a cool million in this latest of heat-wave wearables that's priced at only $5.95. In brown, copper and white, it'll mean new comfort for his casual wear.

KEEPING YOUR BUDGET IN MIND . . . The chrome dinettes at the GREGG STREET FURNITURE are certain proof that good taste is not limited by budgets. These reasonable beauties are table-talk that's really new. Styled by such outstanding names as Arvin, Daystrom, Brookshire and Texachrome, you'll find their Formica tops and plastic covered chairs a happy blending of utility and charm that will stand up under years of use and abuse. A decorator's formula for friendly charm. These dinettes are the newest and most modern design for colorful living. With either four or six chairs and 36"x62" tables, they're styling created for today . . . destined to be used and loved through many tomorrows.

IT'S COLD . . . inside the new 34 cu. ft. Phico refrigerator at HESTER'S SUPPLY, and it will keep your foods fresher and more conveniently than you ever thought possible. Just look at these wonderful new features . . . the Phico Dairy Bar—a new concept that gives the refrigerator door greater utility, storage, convenience and harmony of design and doubles the front row storage space for foods you use most often . . . the Phico Cheese Keeper—preserves cheese color, flavor and texture and prevents drying . . . Frozen food storage . . . Adjustable shelves . . . Twin crispers. All in a unified design of rich green plastics and bright chrome for matchless luxury, convenience and style appeal.

"MR. FIX-IT" will be ready for any fix-up job that needs attention with the book that makes any man a handyman . . . "The Better Homes and Gardens Handyman's Book" from the BIG SPRING HARDWARE. 510 pages, 1600 illustrations in easy-to-do-it style show how to save hundreds of dollars on home repairs and improvements by doing the work yourself. Every task is easier . . . tab-indexed . . . ring bound . . . loose leaf. Better Homes and Gardens also has a Garden Book that's a year-round guide to practical home gardening and landscaping. The books are $3.95 apiece. Why not inspire your own family handyman with these wonderful books, and live happily ever after in a more comfortable, attractive and livable home?

MARY HAD A LITTLE LAMB . . . but this time it's not in a story book. It's a charming little ceramic planter at FAYE'S FLOWERS . . . only one of many especially designed for tiny tots. You'll also find ABC blocks, dainty cradles, rocking horses, tiny shoes and "Little Shaver" and "Little Angel" mugs . . . all in soft pastel colors and at quite a varied range in price. They can be fixed with delicate cut flowers or planted in ivy as a delightfully different approach in nursery novelties. They'll serve to brighten up your proud parents of a new baby.

THE PRETTIEST THING ON TWO FEET . . . are the new Fall shoes arriving at MARGO'S every day. They're knee-deep in unpacking boxes and boxes of the smartest styles and most beautiful shoes imaginable to keep you stepping high, wide and handsome for the coming season. The heel heights range from high, low and in-between, and there's an almost unlimited selection of colors and styles. This is only a preview of what's in store for you to look forward to, and in the weeks to come I'll be telling you in detail about the shoes you'll want most to grace your fall wardrobe. Take it from me, it's the most style-conscious collection of flatterer footwear I've seen in many a day.

Trends As Well As Totals Might Be Included In Precinct Study

Initial step toward some possible reform of the county's commissioner precincts was taken during the past week with the appointment of a committee to study the situation. Although there has been a need, and often a demand, for corrective action for several years, this is the first time that the idea has progressed beyond the procrastination stage. Perhaps the present approach is a sound one—that having a committee composed of two private citizens, a county official and two members of the commissioners court analyze the imbalance that now exists and to explore the possibilities of remedial steps. The results or findings will not, of course, be incumbent upon the commissioners court in any manner. The court, which must take what ever official action is taken, will consider the report only as a recommendation. As a practical matter, however, the recommendation will likely have to master only one other vote to have a majority on the court provided the recommendation is clear cut and enjoys full support of the committee. This study probably needs to encompass trends as well as to compute what already exists in the way of population and voting potentials. Right now Precincts No. 2 and No. 3 have a preponderance of population and voting strength, so much so that it amounts to a lack of representation on the commissioners court. This is particularly true in relation to Precinct No. 1. It also is true to a certain extent in the case of No. 4. A few years ago No. 4 was as badly out of balance as No. 1, but recent developments and residential spreads have brought it back nearer a par with the two major precincts. With more development underway and indicated, it might be well to take this factor into consideration in suggesting a course of action. If we should be as long getting around to talking seriously about another balancing of the commissioners precincts as we have this time, we might as well do a little projecting in the current reshuffle if and when it is undertaken.

Big-Money Pressure For Eisenhower Is Slowing Down Taft's Steamroller

CHICAGO.—The outcome of this convention is going to depend on pressure politics—the political steamroller vs. the pocketbook steamroller. Taft has already shown how he can ride roughshod over the Eisenhower forces in the preliminary skirmishes, but the big-money boys are quietly dismantling the steamroller right out from under Taft. With a few strong tugs of the financial strings, they are pulling key men into the Eisenhower camp, and the Taft steamroller has already lost momentum. It's still a question as to whether Taft's frontal pressure or Wall Street's backstage pressure will win, but here's how the battle of the pressures is shaping up. Taft has complete control of the convention machinery. His hand-picked people will be swinging the gavel, delivering the key speeches and running the committees. Taft is counting heavily upon his keynote speaker, General MacArthur, to take the convention by emotional storm. MacArthur will blast the Democratic administration's "Europe First" policy, thus take an indirect swipe at Eisenhower. Taft forces also have cornered the bulk of the gallery tickets, will stack the bleachers with Taft rovers. And the Chicago Tribune will add to this psychological advantage by bursting Taft bombshells throughout the convention. Eisenhower high pressure—Biggest blow to Taft was the little-noticed announcement that Sinclair Weeks had come out for Eisenhower. As GOP Finance Chairman, Weeks holds the key to the Republican treasury. In the past, he has leaned toward Taft; raised $82,000 for Taft in 1950. But Weeks couldn't withstand the financial pressure from Wall Street, has now pitched his tent in the Eisenhower camp. Other key men, who have felt the financial needle, include Pennsylvania's Gov. John Fine and Michigan's Arthur Summerfield. Both have been under terrific pressure from the big-money boys to come out for Ike. Meanwhile, the nomination still depends on which way the following pivotal states will go. Michigan—the Michigan delegation will caucus on Sunday night, and Arthur Summerfield, a Chevrolet dealer, has already promised General Motors privately to come out for Eisenhower. This announcement is supposed to launch the Ike handwagon on the eve of the convention. However, Taft has been busy pulling strings with Michigan's Sen. Homer Ferguson, who will try to trip up Summerfield. Ferguson has promised Taft to fight inside the caucus to keep the delegation uncommitted. This is the most Taft forces can hope for. Pennsylvania—Governor Fine is caught in a terrific cross-current. The Wall Street crowd, working through some of the big steel companies, is pressuring Fine to throw his weight behind Eisenhower. However, Taft has been working through General MacArthur, whom Fine worships. At Taft's behest, MacArthur telephoned Fine, urged him to support Taft. As a result, the governor is still tight-rope walking precariously down the middle. But the majority of his delegation is no longer with him. Governor Dewey has been meeting quietly in Philadelphia with Pennsylvania county chairmen, who swing the most weight in Pennsylvania politics. As a result, no matter what Fine decides, the majority of Pennsylvania's delegates will vote for Eisenhower. Fine can swing about 17 votes at the most. California—delegates will stick with Gov. Earl Warren for the first ballots. When they start to break, most of them are expected to go for Eisenhower, though 20 to 30 are in Taft's pocket. Maryland—the Maryland delegation, except for a few strays, are sewed up for Eisenhower. Thus the majority of the key delegations are lined up for Eisenhower. But if Taft goes into the convention with strong first-ballot strength, he may be able to pick up enough scattered votes from Pennsylvania and Michigan to put him across. As it now stands, it looks as if Governor Fine's 17 votes might be deciding. The real issue at stake in the battle to seat delegates at Chicago is more important than whether Eisenhower or Taft is nominated. It gets down to the basic question of whether the Republican Party really wants to function in the South. Once every four years, Republicans have a chance to demonstrate whether they mean what they say about organizing the South by breaking up the GOP absentee-landlord feudal system which keeps the Republican Party in a more degraded state of peonage than tenant farmers on the worst Mississippi plantation. Here is how it works. In South Carolina, the Republican National Committeeman is Edgar Morris, supposed to live in Pickens, S. C., but who actually lives in Washington, D.C., has an electric-appliance store there, a $100,000 mansion, and is so well established that he has long been a member of the D.C. board of public welfare, on which he could not serve unless he were a D.C. citizen. Last week, South Carolina Republicans got irked with their absentee landlord, got a preliminary ruling from a South Carolina court that Morris "in every legal and moral sense" a resident of Washington, D. C., and has no right to represent the Republican Party in South Carolina. Yet illegal-resident Mr. Morris is now in Chicago, sitting on the key credentials committee where he rules on the legality of himself and other Southern delegates to sit. It is hardly necessary to add that he is for Taft.

GOP's Sharp Division Prompts Stevenson To Change His Mind

The pressure on Gov. Stevenson has been heavy. But it is fair to suppose that he would not be yielding if it had not the Eisenhower-Taft contest shown how deeply divided is the Republican party. It is not much of a secret, I think, that Gov. Stevenson, like many another Democrat, has felt that his party had been in power long enough and that it was time to bring the other party in; that it would be good for the Democrats to refresh themselves in opposition, and very desirable that the Republicans should learn, what they have almost forgotten, the responsibilities of power. Against Eisenhower, who is demonstrably the popular choice in these sections of the country where the Republicans are a party, and not merely a machine, the Democrats had no animus. They had rather an affectionate admiration which went with a strong disposition to retire as gracefully as possible for one term, and to return to the fight four years later. Mr. Taft's famous victory in the Senatorial election in Ohio was not achieved, at least mightily assisted, because the Democratic party leaders decided to let him win. There was nothing far-fetched, in saying that during this winter and spring there was a very considerable feeling among leading Democrats that it would be a good thing for everyone if the Republicans came in behind Eisenhower. It would not have been the first time in the history of politics that party leaders have preferred to go out of office for a while. Gov. Stevenson, who has gone the whole course in the education of a public man, is known to have held this view.

But all of this depended on the Republican party's recognizing, indeed welcoming, the verdict of those primaries which have truly tested popular feeling. It depended on a rally by the Republicans behind Eisenhower as the Republican who had by all odds the best prospect of uniting the country around the Republican party. But the national Republican organization would not have it that way. Their leaders have felt, quite passionately, that a victory of this kind, even if it happens, would be only in name Republican—that it would be in fact a kind of bi-partisan version of the Roosevelt-Truman regime. What they mean by Republicans is—as respects what they would do in the future—not clear. But I think it would be correct to say that they regard the Roosevelt-Truman Democratic party as having carried out—as in fact they have—a revolutionary change in American domestic and foreign affairs. The Republicans of Taft's persuasion intend to carry out, if they can, a counter-revolution. As total Republicans they have no use for the "me-tooers," that is to say for the Republicans who think that no one can now undo and reverse the main consequences of the great depression and of the two world wars, and are determined instead to reform, to liberalize, to decentralize, and to bring under constitutional control the great and irreversible changes.

The Republican faction which supports Sen. Taft is dominated by men with a deep conviction that this is their last chance, and the country's last chance, to arrest and to reverse a movement which is altering radically the American government and the American way of life. They are playing for all stakes—for all or nothing, for a total victory by the total Republicans, or a sixth successive defeat which would almost certainly mean an internal convulsion within the Republican party. So they have drawn the factional issues so sharply within the party that the nomination is not worth nearly so much today as it looked like its being worth three months ago. The kind of fight that Eisenhower has had imposed upon him was deliberately designed to demonstrate that he lacks experience and skill in factional political fighting. How much, and how irreparably it has damaged his chance of being elected, assuming he is nominated, cannot be proved. But what is certain is that all the Democrats now think that the Republican nomination is a piece of badly damaged goods, and that they are no longer disposed to accept, even quietly to welcome, a Republican turn in power. While Gov. Stevenson's statement giving consent does not guarantee his nomination, he is the first choice of the strongest elements of the Democratic party. The Republicans at Chicago now know that that certainly he is, the man they will have to beat. He should be on almost every count a most formidable opponent.

Uncle Ray's Corner Sunday Talk: Story Of Nutkin

An interesting letter about a squirrel has come to me from Mrs. A. H. Vories, Jr. She writes: "Here is our experience with a black squirrel. My husband saw it in a stone window one day. It was a young one, and seemed very small in the large cage where it had been placed. A good deal of smoking was going on in the store, and the air was murky. "Mr. Vories came home in an upset mood, and told me about the plight of the little squirrel. We decided to save it by purchasing it. "We gave the squirrel the name of Nutkin. At first we fed him lukewarm milk, but before long he was able to eat pistachio nuts. "Then we wrote to the Bronx Park Zoo and found a home for him there. He raced to the top of a tall tree, and a park authority later told us that he was welcomed by his gray-furred cousin. He has lived in the zoo ever since."

Thank you, Mrs. Vories, for telling me about Nutkin. I think you and your husband were kind to take care of the squirrel, and were wise to give him his freedom in the park later on. Squirrels are built to scamper about trees. Nutkin must be a member of the fox squirrel group. Fox squirrels often have black fur, and are described as "black fox squirrels." Some fox squirrels, however, are covered in large part with clay-colored fur. Fox squirrels are the largest of all North American squirrels. The adults are likely to be about 25 inches long, counting the tail. In the case of these squirrels, as with other kinds, it is usual for the tail to make up half of the total length.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP Colonel Jose Antonio Mexia sails for Texas on this day in 1832, fully expecting to arrive in the middle of a revolution. Settlers in East Texas had been somewhat rambunctious in recent weeks. They objected primarily to the Mexican government's procrastination in issuing titles to the land on which the settlers lived—and had lived, some of them, for years. And they didn't like John David Bradburn, a Kentuckian who commanded the garrison at the head of Galveston Bay. The actions of one Colonel Fisher, collector of customs for Texas, added further to the indignation of the settlers. But Mexia had a pleasant surprise awaiting him at the mouth of the Brazos. The insurgent colonists greeted him warmly and assured him of their loyalty to Mexico. He returned to his homeland convinced that all the Texas settlers wanted was a liberal government and that Santa Anna, the new president, would give it to them. Things of course did not turn out that way. In the revolution which eventually came, Mexia staunchly supported Texas even after having his offer to participate actively spurned by Texans suspicious of Mexican-born adherents. The enthusiasm he aroused in New Orleans for the Texas cause, however, contributed to the founding of the New Orleans Greys and substantial financial assistance.

Bible Words to Live by

JOHN 11:25-26—"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die..." When the history of the ages is finally written, these words may turn out to be the greatest words ever spoken. The Lord Christ has already claimed that He is the way to God—"I am the way..." that through Him salvation comes—"I am the door..." that He is the spiritual nourishment for the believer—"I am the bread..." and that He illumines our pathway and keeps us from falling—"I am the light..." Now comes the supreme claim—"I am the resurrection and the life." Most men do not want to die. Death lurks in the background of all our thinking and overshadows all our days. You do not want to die? Then come to Christ, take Him, love Him, live Him, and you will taste a quality of life which you know in your heart of hearts can never end. It is everlasting. You now are immortal. This is my favorite word from Scripture because it deals with man's last question, What about death? Dr. Ansel Cunningham Moore Sixth United Presbyterian Church Pittsburgh, Pa.

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff Since It's The Political Season, It's Also Time Of The Big Smear

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

It is a fair observation that this week marks the real start of the political season. Things have been getting pretty hot in Texas already, what with the Republican squabble, and the increased campaign tempo of Lindley Beckworth for the Senate (against Daniel) and Ralph Yarborough for Governor (against Shivers). But the steam should really begin to rise right away, and you either are going to have a good time witnessing the political spectacle, or you are going to get well fed up with all the shannigans.

It is rather a shabby commentary on the U.S. practice of politics that as soon as a man becomes an aspirant to public office, he becomes the subject of a smear campaign. Too frequently this smear is the below-the-belt type of stuff that is beneath answering, but yet manages to wield an insidious influence.

You will recall that Herbert Hoover caught it. He was painted as the sole instigator of the depression, was linked in an underhanded manner with the idea that he was working for the interests of Great Britain, rather than the United States (this when we weren't in so close an association with Britain). Al Smith caught it, too, on the basis of his religion. Through the years, nearly every candidate has.

There has come across my desk, and I'm sure has found its way into all newspaper offices, and to a great cross section of the public, a propaganda sheet called "Headlines And What's Behind Them." This publication is dedicated to the cause of smearing Eisenhower, and takes the tack that General Ike as a Red leanings. Now this is the effective type of weapon to be used at this particular time, and it is being used with vicious shrewdness. Eisenhower is not called a Red, you understand, but article after article in the pamphlet links him indirectly with the Communist ideology. There is a veiled hint, for instance, that Eisenhower backers were among the defenders of Alger Hiss. One headline reads, "The Will Get Advice About Reds From Top Defender of Communists." The stuff goes on for about 16 pages. I probably ought not to be giving

It added circulation here, but the propaganda is so obviously baseless that few people of judgment would give it any consideration at all. The pity of it is that the same man who, up until a few weeks ago, was revered as the great leader against Communism as well as the other ills, now linked by innuendo with Communism. All because of politics.

Certainly Eisenhower is not the sole target. I am sure that some factions have put out as filthy material against Taft. And I presume other candidates catch their share. It doesn't take much talk, you know, to start a big story about religion, or creed, or family background, that can damage a man's reputation. We Americans seem to go for the scandalous stuff in political years, whether it's true or not.

While we're on politics today, I will also make another wonderment: That would be why a man who has lived in, say, Howard County, for 24 years is better qualified to hold a county office than his opponent who has lived in the county only 22 years. It has always seemed to me that the boys who go after office put too much emphasis on: "I have lived in this county for 24 years and feel that I know the problems of the people. If elected I will do my best to make you a good official." Well, take this statement and analyze it, and what kind of a candidate have you got? You probably will never know until after he gets in office, and you find that you either were lucky in helping elect him, or you made a big mistake in voting for him. But citizens at large don't seem to care much for honest-to-goodness platforms from their local candidates. I remember a few years ago one man conscientiously outlined his stand on various county issues, in his bid for a place on the commissioners court. He told what he would do about this, and that. He got a county whipping at the polls.

It all goes back to that same old truth—the people get the kind of public officials they deserve. —BOB WHIPKEY.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Individual Owners Of Stocks Fewer Than Popular Estimate

A month ago, I wrote: "The typical Dewey (Republican) voter in 1948 was 45 to 54 years of age, a manager of a business or a professional man, with some college education and an income of $4,000 a year or more." That was based on a study by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan. Now comes the Brookings Institution with a study of ownership of common and preferred stocks in American corporations. It reveals that there are only 6,500,000 individual share owners. That ought to slay for all time Wall Street's fanciful estimates of 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 individual share owners. It corroborates a Federal Reserve estimate of 5,500,000 shareholders four years ago. The characteristics of a shareholder as found by Brookings resemble the characteristics of a Republican as found by Michigan. The study says: "Owners of publicly held stock issues are relatively more frequent among people of 50 to 59 years of age than in any other group. An estimated 77 per cent of all share owners are in this range. "There is a direct relationship between share ownership and education." An estimated 18 per cent of those who had four years or more of college are share owners. Those who attended college less than four years rank next at 15 per cent. "Of the family units with incomes of $10,000 and over, 55 per cent include one or more share owners. For the $5,000 to $10,000 bracket, the figure is about 20 per cent. In the $4,000 to $5,000 range, the incidence is over 7 per cent. The proportions drop to 4.6 per cent for families with $3,000 to $4,000 income per year, 3.8 per cent in the $2,000 to $3,000 bracket, 2.2 per cent for families with less than $2,000. Ownership of shares among executives is highest at 45 per cent. Supervisory officials follow with 19 per cent, and professional persons with 13 per cent. It would not be stretching the Brookings findings to typify the American shareholder as 50 to 59 years old, manager of a business or a professional man, with some college education and an income certainly above $4,000 a year, and more likely $10,000 a year. The surveys, undeliberately but unmistakably, correlate Republicanism and stock ownership.

Perhaps that explains why persons associated with banks, brokerage offices and investment companies have often been poor election forecasters. This hasn't been due to party loyalty entirely, but rather to two very human errors: First, the identification of national well-being with one's own personal well-being. Second, the assumption that one's own observations are representative observations. This is described by sarcastic statisticians as the Survey by the Sample of One. You can reconstruct what happens: The average investment banker or broker goes to lunch at a private club or an expensive restaurant. His companions are usually college educated, own stocks, and have "that man" and don't feel so good about it to clerks in stores, plumbers, steelworkers, shoemakers, or street cleaners, though they always include the ubiquitous and garrulous taxi driver. The taxi driver rounds out their sample; he represents the other side of the tracks. Only trouble is this: His customers are in the middle- and upper-income groups. For conversation purposes, he may be Democratic decoy. For him, it may be just good business to hate that man, too. To the extent that the Republican Party

Japan Firms Buy Iron From Malaya

New Type Of Onion

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The "flaming onion" is not something you would want in your garden. It was cultivated by the Australians expressly for the consumption of Communist soldiers in Korea. The "flaming onion" is a rocket with a load of napalm-jellied gasoline—in its head. It was designed by Flight Lt. John Smith of Newcastle, New South Wales, head of the Royal Australian Air Force armament office. The napalm bomb scatters flaming jellied gasoline over a broad area. Lt. Smith produced a few experimental models in Japan after several months of research. The "flaming onion" was given its first field test Feb. 8. Only recently have the Australians begun to use it in combat.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Carrier Crew Shows Warm Regard For Homeless Kids

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief, Children's Bureau
Federal Security Agency

The crew of the USS Leyte has extended a friendly hand to a group of children they have never seen.

The gesture of friendship was in the form of a check for more than $1,500, sent to the Hillcrest Children's Home near Portsmouth, Ohio, Ohio.

The story of the Leyte crew's gift started when the aircraft carrier recently was on a cruise in the Mediterranean. As the huge vessel made its way from port to port, many children were invited aboard as guests.

The sailors on board the Leyte saw Italian, French, Greek, Turkish children, many of them homeless after the ravages of war. They watched the children's eyes light up as they visited on board the carrier.

The ship's commanding officer, Captain F. N. Taylor, put it this way: "We have seen the joy of creating happiness, even if for a short time, in the eyes of the homeless children of the Mediterranean lands. We are well aware of the like need of our own children for a friendly hand."

When the Leyte came home again, a representative for the crew approached a Children's Bureau staff member stationed in Cleveland and asked her if she knew of any "orphans" in the area which could put a donation of "about $1,000" to good use.

The Hillcrest home was one of the places suggested by the Bureau staff member. Later, a letter went to Leyte crew members, telling of life at Hillcrest.

Children are at Hillcrest because they have been judged to be dependent and neglected. They attend public schools and those who are handicapped can attend special classes for crippled children, deaf and hard of hearing, and for those with sight deficiencies. The people who run Hillcrest have been successful in keeping the community interested in the home, its problems, and its achievements.

A real effort is made there to try to give individualized care to the children. Those children who can benefit from foster home care are placed in foster homes under the supervision of Hillcrest. Those who can grow up in the environment of an institution live at the home itself. There are approximately 300 who live at Hillcrest, and the remainder of the average of about 300 dependent and neglected children under care at Hillcrest live in foster homes.

The children and staff members meet in assemblies to air their grievances and establish rules of procedure. Teachers volunteer to give the children piano, voice and dancing lessons. Pets, such as ducks, hamsters, dogs and cats have become a familiar part of life at Hillcrest.

Along with the letter, telling about Hillcrest, the Leyte was sent a collection of cartoons, drawn by one of the boys at Hillcrest, depicting a boy's humorous conception of life on board ship.

When the check was sent to Hillcrest recently, Captain Taylor wrote that the Leyte's officers and men wanted "to help in a small way your efforts to promote the present and future happiness of those in your care."

It is heart-warming to be reminded that men in our armed forces have such a tender regard for children everywhere.

Bonds Are Set On Felony Cases

Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard set bonds Saturday for four persons who had been charged with felonies.

A bond of $7,500 was set for Dolis Barber, who was named in a complaint alleging robbery by assault. Barber is already under grand jury indictment for a similar offense and is under suspended sentence for car theft conviction.

Two others who were allegedly implicated in the same robbery had their bonds set at $1,500 each. They are Robert Thompson and Eddie Bryant. A juvenile arrested at the same time has been turned over to A. E. Long, county probation officer.

A bond of $1,000 was set for C. B. Gildwell who has been charged with fondling a minor.

Holiday Halts TEC Activities

The Fourth of July holiday season hit deep into the activities of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission, Leon M. Kinney, manager, said yesterday. Not only was it a holiday for the office force but also for persons seeking employment and those wishing to hire workers.

Only 243 visits to the office were recorded for the balance of the week, Kinney said. Forty-eight persons were referred to non-agricultural jobs and of these 36 were placed in employment. Thirteen new applications for jobs were filed, and 17 claims for unemployment compensation were made. Kinney said a number of persons have made application for jobs as general laborers.

Hicks Service Is Held In Ft. Worth

Funeral services for R. M. Hicks, 40, for more than 20 years a trainman operating out of Big Spring, were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Fort Worth.

Hicks apparently fell from the rear of a fast freight caboose Thursday night near Santo. He was killed instantly.

He had entered employment of the T&P here in 1925 as an operator and switched to train service in 1928. On occasions, he had served here as locomotive and as yardmaster.

Rites were held at the Owens-Grimsley funeral home in Fort Worth. Burial was in the Garden of Memories cemetery there.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Louise Hicks; two daughters, Mrs. John C. Larey and Barbara Hicks, Fort Worth; a son, F. E. Hicks, Fort Worth. Other relatives include a sister, Mrs. Ernest Potter, Big Spring.

Daylight Burglary Attempt Is Foiled

What apparently was a daylight burglary attempt was foiled at noon Friday when a burglary alarm went off at Dibrell's Sporting Goods Store, 304 Gregg.

Police Patrolmen M. L. Kirby and Alvin Hillbrunner converged on the building after the alarm sounded, but the prowler had fled. Bystanders reported seeing a man run away from the rear door of the establishment.

Officers arrested a man shortly afterward, but their investigation failed to connect the subject with the incident.

Early Riser

Smart housecoat is made from two striped feed bags, trimmed with red heart pockets dyed from scraps.

A Winning Combination

Ronald Reagan, as Grover Cleveland Alexander, supplies the pitching and Doris Day, as his wife Almee, supplies the courage as the couple emerge as stars of "The Winning Team". The film opens at the Ritz today.

End Of The World

Only nine months remains before another planet is calculated to collide with the earth. This is the theme of "When Worlds Collide," the Wednesday and Thursday movie at the Ritz. Barbara Rush, Richard Derr and Peter Hanson play the leading roles.

Shawnee Uprising

Built around history's famous Tippecanoe Indian battle, "Brave Warrior," with Jay Silverheels, Christine Larson and Jon Hall comes to the State today. Silverheels plays the great Shawnee chieftain Tecumseh and Hall the part of a government agent.

'WINNING TEAM' AT RITZ

Grover Cleveland Alexander's Baseball Career Put On Film

The story of Grover Cleveland Alexander—that's "The Winning Team" which opens the week's bill at the Ritz today. Starring in the picture of one of the greatest baseball pitchers in history are Ronald Reagan and Doris Day.

'Carson City' Western Fare At The Ritz

"Carson City," Warner Brothers' adventure story of the capital of Nevada during the 1870's begins its engagement at the Ritz Thursday for a three-day stand.

Starring Randolph Scott and Lucille Norman, the film has Raymond Massey and Richard Webb in feature roles. The picture is in color by Warnercolor.

Scott portrays the role of a construction engineer of a railroad being built to haul gold and silver ore from the rich Comstock Lode in the mountains to the main line.

Opposition forces, led by Massey, resort to sabotage and murder in order to hamper the project.

The townsfolk look to Scott, as Jeff Kingsaid, for justice and get it in the form of a man hunt atop a mountain ledge.

"Carson City" is the second film to employ the new Warner Brothers' color process. It was first used in "The Lion and the Horse."

James Millican, Larry Keating and Vince Barnett play supporting parts in the picture, directed by Andre De Toth. David Weisbart was the producer.

Indian Warfare Provides Drama At The State

Columbia Pictures brings in the screen at the State today and Monday "Brave Warrior," the story of a great Shawnee uprising in 1811.

In color by Technicolor, the picture stars Jon Hall, Christine Larson and Jay Silverheels.

Hall plays a government agent seeking to uncover the British agents who are attempting to stir up the Shawnee tribe.

Hall wins over the Shawnee chieftain Tecumseh but Tecumseh's brother, the Prophet, turns renegade and goes over to the British.

When the Prophet sounds the war cry, thousands of Shawnees begin their raids of the Western frontier.

With the British backing him, the Prophet and his men attack the American militia at Tippecanoe in what is the film's and history's decisive battle.

Silverheels, a full-blood Indian, plays Tecumseh and Michael Ansara plays the Prophet.

Written for the screen by Robert E. Kent, "Brave Warrior" was directed by Spencer G. Bennet and produced by Sam Katzman.

Bogart Back In 'High Sierra'

Humphrey Bogart again plays the part of a tough guy, in "High Sierra," beginning Friday at the State Theatre.

Ida Lupino plays opposite Bogart and Arthur Kennedy, Alan Curtis, Cornel Wilde and Henry Hull have supporting roles.

"High Sierra" tells the story of a man, a pardoned criminal, who is ordered to do just one more job to repay an old debt. His assignment takes him to California and a mountain camp in the High Sierras.

From here he is to "case" a desert resort laden with the jewels of its wealthy patrons. It is at this hideout that he meets Miss Lupino, a girl to whom life has shown its seamy side.

End-Of-The-World Fantasy Offered As Ritz Feature

Dealing with the destruction of the world, Producer George Pal brings to the screen "When Worlds Collide," which opens at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday.

The picture is based on a best-seller by Edwin Balmer and Philip Wylie and is in color by Technicolor. Richard Derr, Barbara Rush and Peter Hanson head a large cast.

The film traces the consequences

after astronomers observe a new star and calculate that its orbit will carry it to a collision with the earth in nine months. While the world awaits dooms day, a small group of scientists and technicians set about to construct a rocket ship that will carry a fortune few to a new life on another planet.

The picture includes the simulation of the earthquakes and tidal waves preceding the catastrophe, the last-minute rocket-burn search for a landing in outer space and the collision spelling the end of our world.

HIGHLIGHTS ON KBST

Radio Offers Full Convention Reports

The Republican national convention in Chicago will be spotlighted all this week on KBST, with extensive coverage of the activities as they take place.

A hand-picked staff of 40 ABC newsmen and commentators will be on hand with a complete-on-the-spot report together with their analyses. In addition, approximately 250 news reporters will be working with the ABC radio staff to assure complete coverage.

Broadcasts of the convention on KBST will begin each evening at 7:30 p.m., and continue until adjournment.

Monday evening will feature the keynote address of the convention, to be delivered by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. Tuesday evening, the convention program calls for the introduction by Joseph W. Martin Jr. of the permanent chairman, an address by the chairman and an address by Herbert Hoover.

Wednesday evening the convention fireworks will get under way with a vengeance as nominations for the presidency begin. This session may run until the early hours of Thursday morning, and KBST will remain on the air to give full coverage of this most important session until adjournment. Starting times of the Thursday sessions are tentative at this moment, since the start will depend on the time the Wednesday night session concludes.

In addition to the convention broadcasts themselves, an impressive list of special programs will be broadcast from the convention city. Paul Harvey will originate his news commentary from Chicago, as will Elmer Davis. Headline edition, heard on KBST each evening at 6:05, will originate from ABC's convention headquarters with an on-the-spot news program.

The women's side of the convention activities will be covered by radio's first lady, Mary Margaret McBride, heard on KBST each day at 3:30 p.m.

Other ABC commentators who will present their regular programs from ABC convention headquarters include Drew Pearson, George Sokolsky, and Martin Agronsky.

Convention broadcasts will make it necessary for several regular KBST-ABC programs to be moved or displaced during the week. The Bill Ring Show, regularly heard at 1:45 p.m. will be moved to 10:15 a.m. this week only. The Jack Berch Show, regularly heard at 11:00 a.m. daily will move to the 10:30 a.m. slot, displacing "Break the Bank."

Scheduling of regular night-time programs will be on a tentative night-to-night basis, since they will depend on the length of the evening convention sessions. "America's Town Meeting," a Tuesday night feature, the "Amateur Hour" on Thursday nights, the "Cosden Concert," a nightly feature, and "Hymntime," on Thursday nights, will not be presented to make way for the convention coverage.

It was necessary for ABC to move almost five hundred people and over $1,000,000 worth of radio and television equipment to Chicago to adequately cover the many activities.

Globetrotting Cage Team Gets Film Treatment

The story of the world's greatest professional basketball team, "The Harlem Globetrotters," comes to the State Theatre Tuesday. The cast includes the Globetrotters themselves and Thomas Gomez, Dorothy Dandridge and Bill Walker.

The story is built around the signing of an All-American college basketball star, Roy Townsend. The trials of Townsend and his sweetheart, Ann, played by Miss Dandridge, add the drama while the Globetrotters add the laughter.

Full Radio Coverage Republican National Convention Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday 7:30 p.m. to Conclusion on KBST - ABC

Convention broadcasts will be headed by the full ABC news staff of 40 people, assisted by over 250 news reporters. Hear Elmer Davis, Drew Pearson, Paul Harvey, Martin Agronsky, Taylor Grant, Henry J. Taylor, Walter Kiernan, Mary Margaret McBride, John Daly, Pauline Frederick, George Sokolsky and many others with their analysis of convention activities.

Few Breeding Places Left For Mosquito

If there are any mosquitoes buzzing around your house, it's almost a certainty they come from some place in your own neighborhood. "Any mosquito breeding going on now almost has to be due to a localized condition," states Lige Fox, city-county sanitarian.

The fact that "there's no rain in the rain barrels" and no water standing around anywhere was cited as the reason for the presence of mosquitoes only in "local" spots in the city.

About the only place left for the pests to propagate is in air conditioners or the overflow from septic tanks, Fox said. He also mentioned the possibility that some mosquito breeding may be taking place in storm sewers, although it is doubtful that any water remains in any of the subterranean tubes.

The sanitarian said he had reports of mosquitoes in one vicinity near the city where a septic tank had overflowed. That condition has since been corrected, he reported.

Water in air conditioners might lend itself to the breeding of mosquitoes, Fox said. However, this may be prevented by a film of pine oil on the water, or through periodic spraying with an insecticide, it was advised. Pine oil also will act as a deodorant.

What in past years was a bountiful source of mosquitoes — the drainage ditch through T&P railway yards — has been eliminated this year. Both the drouth and the oiling of water that does reach the ditch are credited with curbing insect breeding there.

Melon Crop Is Late And Small

Dry weather has caused the watermelon crop to be smaller this year than usual and therefore the price has not taken a drop here as has been expected.

Merchants note that the melon crop is late this season in addition to being small, which is keeping the prices almost even with prices charged when the crop first reached Big Spring.

Prices in Big Spring retail stores range from 5 to 8 cents per pound for unchilled melons and from 5 1/2 to 10 cents cold. At the same time last year, melons were selling for 2 1/2 cents per pound cold.

Most stores guarantee their melons thus insuring the customer of getting his money's worth.

Many people boast they can tell a good watermelon just by looking at it or by thumping it. Merchants note there is little way to accurately judge a ripe melon without "plugging" in — cutting a small chunk from the melon.

Another merchant stated a person can judge how long the melon has been picked by the stem — whether it is green or dry.

But one groceryman added, "there's no way to tell except by the thump."

Few Indications Of Rodent Harborage Are Found Here

Maybe it's too dry in Big Spring for rats and other rodents.

Whether it is or not, the "varmints" don't seem to like it around here.

City-County Sanitarian Lige Fox reports that he finds no indications of rat harborage around feed stores or other buildings where the animals usually put in their first appearance.

One rat, of the sewer variety, was killed recently after it entered a residence here, but that is the only report Fox has received of rats in the city.

Some area farmers, however, are calling at the local health unit for poison to use in combating the pests. No bad infestations are reported even around farm buildings, Fox said.

There have been a few reports of mice infesting storage warehouses and in the basements of a few downtown buildings, the sanitarian said.

Ground squirrels, are noticed occasionally in the city's outskirts.

For persons bothered by rodents of any kind, the health unit has a supply of Warfarin, non-toxic killer which is relatively safe for use around pets or children. Warfarin is an anti-coagulant which irritates the intestinal tract with resultant internal hemorrhage eventually causing death.

Information on rat-proofing of buildings may be secured from either the sanitarian or the county agricultural agent.

DAV Meeting Set For Monday Night

There will be a meeting of the Disabled American Veterans chapter at the VFW hall Monday at 7:30 p.m.

LIL ABNER

BY AL CAPP

Synopsis: DAYLIGHT COMES, THE GUM ON PRINCE VALIANT'S FACE HAS LONG SINCE DRIED AND HIS FALSE BEARD HAS FALLEN AWAY. HE SITS IN THE DARK SLEEPING STALL WHILE SLAVES CLEAN AWAY THE DEBRIS OF LAST NIGHT'S DEBAUCH. FINALLY HE PARTS THE HANGINGS AND BECKONS ONE OVER. HE MUST NOW RISK TREACHERY!

"I AM YOUR PRINCE. COME TO FREE YOU FROM SLAVERY," VAL WHISPERS, "WILL YOU HELP ME?"

"YES, SIRE, EVEN THOUGH IT MEANS MY LIFE IF I AM CAUGHT!" ANSWERS THE MAN.

VAL DISCARDS THE GARMENTS OF JARL ODER AND DONS A SERVANT'S RAGS. SOME REVELERS ARE STILL SPRAWLED ON THE DINING HALL FLOOR AS HE MAKES HIS WAY OUT.

HE BUSIES HIMSELF WITH MANY TASKS UNTIL HE CAN GAIN THE STABLES UNOBSERVED. HIDDEN IN THE HAY, HE STUDIES THE LAY OF THE STRONGHOLD. THREE SIDES ARE WALLED AND GUARDED, THE FOURTH A DEEP ABYSS!

VAL HAS A WAY WITH HORSES AND THEY MAKE NO SOUND AS HE GATHERS EVERY BIT OF ROPE, THONG AND STRAP HE CAN FIND. DARKNESS HAS FALLEN AND NOW THE GUARDS ARE NO LONGER CONFIDENT, BUT LISTEN FOR EVERY STRANGE SOUND!

THE EVENING REVELRY IS WELL ALONG BEFORE JARL ODER IS MISSED. BY THAT TIME NOBODY GIVES A HOOT AND THE ORGY GOES ITS NOISY WAY.....

..... WHILE, ON HIS BELLY, VAL GOES HIS QUIET WAY, INCH BY INCH, UNTIL HE REACHES THE PLATFORM OVERHANGING THE ABYSS.

SLOWLY HE DESCENDS AND THE ROAR OF PLUNGING WATER GROWS LOUDER. THEN HE COMES TO THE END OF HIS ROPE!

Next Week - The End of the Rope!

No GRIN and BEAR IT

"We had a grand time... just wait till you get our postcards and letters describing our trip..."

"It's ideal spot for picnic, comrade wife... is even fine clump of poison ivy for secret police to hide in..."

"Hey!... it ain't Pop that's hurt, doc!... it's this finger I cut!..."

"Could you inch up a little, Fignewton!... we might as well visit. it's a good chance to visit with the Fisbee's, up there."

HERE'S PACIFIC HOUSE! - DROP ME OFF IN FRONT!

WHO IS (IF WHAT YOU WANT THIS HOUR O' TH' MORNIN' EVIBODY'S SLEEPIN'!

MARSHAL RUGGLES! IS MARSHAL RUGGLES OR KIT CARSON IN ?!

OF ALL TH' CRAZY--/ WHY'N'T YOU COME CALLIN' IN TH' DAYTIME?/ THEY AIN'T IN! HAVEN'T SEEN 'EM SINCE TH' INJUN KID'S COURT-MARTIAL YESTERDAY! MESSE THEY'RE GONNA WATCH TH' EXECUTION AT SUNUP-I DUNNO!

EXECUTION ?/ AT SUNUP?/ GOOD LORD, IT'S ONLY MINUTES 'TIL SUNRISE NOW! QUICK, MAN, WHERE DOES THE COMMANDING ARMY OFFICER LIVE ??

I DUNNO, NIGTER, I'D HAFTA ASK SOMEBODY...!

TIME! I HEAR THE SQUAD COMIN'!

RIGHT!

ALL RIGHT, KID...LET'S GO...!

TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"WHY SUCH DESOLATION?" ASKED TARZAN. "A PLAGUE--?" WAMBA SHUDDERED FEARFULLY. "YES, PLAGUED-- BY THE GHOST LION!"

"WE WERE STRONG ONCE, BUT THAT WAS BEFORE THE CALAMITY. ONE NIGHT A VILLAGER WAS CARRIED AWAY BY A LION-- A MAN-EATER. BRAVE WARRIORS WENT AFTER HIM, BUT NONE RETURNED--"

WAMBA SIGHED. "THUS IT HAS BEEN. THE RAIDS CONTINUED-- AND EACH TIME WARRIORS HUNTED FOR THIS TERROR, THEY MET DEATH!"

"WHY NOT MOVE AWAY?" SAID THE APE-MAN. "NO USE," REPLIED WAMBA DEJECTEDLY. "THE TRIBE IS CURSED. THIS 'LION' POSSESSES FIENDISH CUNNING. HE IS FILLED WITH SPIRITS WHICH WOULD DESTROY US!"

"YOUR STORY IS SAD, BUT HARD TO BELIEVE," MUSED TARZAN. "WAIT!" EXCLAIMED THE WITCH DOCTOR. "THIS IS NO SUPERSTITIOUS BELIEF-- I MUST CONFESS TO WHAT I ALONE HAVE SEEN--"

THE OLD MAN COLLAPSED, SOBBING. "IT WAS HORRIBLE. THE THING IS NOT A LION AT ALL-- IT IS A DEVIL IN DISGUISE!"

RUSTY RILEY

CLEM, BY THE TIME THE TIDE IS ALL THE WAY OUT, I BELIEVE WE CAN PRACTIC'LY WALK OUT TO THE SHIP... AN' MAYBE GET THE HORSES OFF!

YOU MIGHT BE RIGHT, RUSTY... BUT THAT TUB DON'T LOOK LIKE IT'S DAMAGED NONE... SHE'S ONLY AGROUND... A COUPLE O' GOOD SEA TUGS'LL PULL ER OFF SOON AS THE SKIPPER NOTIFIES THE COAST GUARD!

THAT MIGHT BE TRUE, CLEM, IF THE SKIPPER NOTIFIES THEM... BUT... WELL... I DUNNO...

SO FAR, I CAN'T FIGGER WHY, BUT I DON'T THINK THE CAPTAIN AND KIRK WANT HELP... CAUSE IF THEY DID, WHY DID THEY PUT THE SHIP'S RADIO OUT OF COMMISSION?

I THINK, BEFORE WE DO ANYTHING ELSE, WE OUGHT TO EXPLORE THIS ISLAND AND SEE WHAT KIND OF A PLACE WE'VE LANDED ON!

YOU'RE RIGHT, PETE... CLEM AND I WILL TAKE THE SHORE LINE... YOU YOUNGSTERS EXPLORE THE INTERIOR... YOU'RE BETTER FITTED FOR SCRAMBLIN' UP THEM ROCKS!

OKAY, TEX... WE'LL MEET BACK HERE... C'MON, RUSTY.

JEEPERS! THIS IS WHAT I HOPED FOR... GRASS, AND A FRESH WATER SPRING... A SWELL PLACE FOR THE HORSES IF WE CAN GET THEM OFF THE SHIP!

HOLD IT A SECOND, RUSTY! COME HERE! I THINK I SEE A MAN DOWN THERE ON THE BEACH!

GOLLY, PETE!... IT'S THE SHIP'S RADIO MAN!... THE ONE THEY CALLED "SPARKS"!... IS HE... IS HE DEAD?

I DON'T THINK SO... NO... HE'S IN BAD SHAPE, BUT HE'S ALIVE!

MEANWHILE

CLEM, I'M PLENTY WORRIED ABOUT THEM HORSES... IF WE CAN GET 'EM OFF, I BELIEVE WE COULD PRACTIC'LY WADE 'EM ASHORE!

WE CAN DO IT WITH A RAMP FROM THE DOOR IN THE HOLD... AND WE BETTER LAY TO IT WHILE THE LOW TIDE KEEPS HER LISTIN' TO PORT!

WE'RE NEARLY OUT OF GAS, BLACKIE... AND WE HAVEN'T GOT TOO MUCH DRINKING WATER!

OKAY, CRUMP... START LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO PUT IN... BY THIS TIME THAT TUB MUST BE SMASHED TO SCRAP IRON ON THOSE ROCKS!
