TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

No form of weakness is more abominable than the abuse of authority.

Advertising for a minority group is contained in the pleasant advice to "Eat Beef Every Day." A surprising number of Texans don't own oil wells or beef cattle.

The past has a somewhat morbid tendency of bringing to our attention the possibility that in the future we will witness the reincarnation of many former mistakes.

If Mary's Little Lamb's itinerary included Wall Street, the little animal is apt to need some rock wool insulation if it gets through the winter.

Many of us are so devoted to our prejudices that we refuse to divorce them even after repeated betrayal.

Any man who looks at the price tag on decency is just shopping.

To disregard the truth is to proclaim a point of view which denies the basic concepts of religion.

The way some drivers drive is a caution -- to everyone who uses the roads and streets for the peaceful pursuits of commerce and travel.

Selfishness is a condition of despair which drives its victims into the farthest and coldest corner of society.

Tower Reschedules Visits

U.S. Senator John Tower has rescheduled for December a tour of the Lubbock area that he had planned last week.

The tour was to have begun Tuesday. But an aide said Senate business required the Republican to stay in Washington instead, where he is involved in action on President Carter's energy tax bill, Social Security proposals, including one Tower has introduced himself, and a supplemental defense appropriations bill that deals with the FB111 aircraft.

Senate majority leader Robert Byrd now has predicted that the Senate will be adjourned by Thanksgiving, the aide said. So on that basis, Tower's South Plains-Panhandle tour has been set for Dec. 5-8.

The itinerary calls for him to be in Guthrie, Aspermont, Jayton, Spur and Crosbyton on Dec. 5, finishing that day with a 5 p.m. press conference in Lubbock and then staying overnight there.

On Dec. 6, plans are for him to travel to Tahoka, Morton, Matador, Silverton and Tulia, with an overnight stop in Amarillo.

The Dec. 7 swing will cover Claude, Clarendon, Wellington, Dimmitt, and Friona.

He is to wind up Dec. 8 with visits in Miami, Booker, Stratford and Vega.

The tour will include "town hall" meetings.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Marrs of Matador and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Winegarner of Campo, Colorado.

Mrs. Bob Hinds of Campo presented prenuptial music selections as well as the traditional wedding march. Verlan Winegarner, brother of the groom, sang "Annie's Song," and Mrs. Gary Ross of Lubbock sang "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of candlelight qiana knit, designed by her mother. The dress was fashioned with a shaped standing collar of silk organza and edged with Venise lace. The empire bodice featured a yoke of silk organza with matching lace adorning the yoke and contour shaped waistline. The full sleeves were gathered into V-shaped cuffs with button and loop closings edged with lace. The chapel length train extended from a bustle back-effect. Her veil was a Juliet cap of lace and pearls which held two tiers of finger-tip length bridal il-sion edged with lace.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of silk gardenias and sweet pea accented with babys breath and tinted in the bride's chosen colors. Streamers of candlelight ribbon were tied with love knots.

Mrs. John Dunlap, Floydada, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a formal length terra cotta qiana knit gown featuring a drawstring waistline forming a blouson and bateau neckline. Short flared kimona sleeves slit at the shoulder with attached self ties to form shoulder gathers. She carried a rose trio of long stemmed silk peace roses tied with candlelight ribbon.

Norlan Winegarner, Spearman, served his brother as best man.

Rolan Winegarner, brother of the groom, and John Dunlap of Floydada were ushers. Registering guests at the wedding was Mrs. Norlan Winegarner of Spearman. The round table was covered with a lace edged linen cloth, centered with a bud vase of silk roses and babys breath, featuring a picture of the bride in her wedding gown and a hand made plaque of the couple's wedding invitation.

The reception following the wedding was held in Martin's Restaurant adjoining the garden room. The bride's table was draped with a white floor length skirt and a white knit overlay with lace edging. The bridal bouquet and attendant's roses graced the table. Nuts and wedding bell mints were served in crystal appointments. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped and outlined with fresh tinted daisy muras, babys breath and greenery.

Mrs. William King and Mrs. Richard Booth of Spearman served the cake from a revolving stand and Ms. Cathy Gist of Panhandle served punch from the crystal appointment.

Coffee was served by Miss Carolanne Marrs, Lubbock, cousin of the bride, from a silver appointment on linen covered table featuring a floral arrangement of silk roses in the bride's chosen colors.

Guest's tables were covered with white cloths and centered with silk peace roses and babys breath in white vases.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in Arkansas and Oklahoma, the bride wore a tailored two-piece suit of beige suede cloth accented with a pin stripe blouse and silk corsage of gardenias, sweet pea and babys breath.

Mrs. Rubie Barton and daughter, Helen Patrick, went to Tulsa, Okla., Friday to visit with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Amburn. She also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Amburn, and Eugene Amburn. Mrs. Barton visited Saturday in Ardmore, Okla., with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Swinde and Saturday night in the Patrick home in Breckenridge, returning home on Sunday.

Mrs. Rubie Barton attended to business in Breckenridge Thursday and in Plainview on Friday.

Mrs. John Barton hosted a birthday dinner for John Barton recently. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Barton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McFall.

For reroofing, use light-colored shingles, says Glend Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Light shingles absorb about half as much direct solar heat as black or dark shingles do.

Michael Peacock Attends Training

Graduation exercises Friday afternoon, October 21, in St. Louis, Mo., climaxed a week of intensive training for Michael L. Peacock, of Phoenix, Arizona. He and 38 other Management Trainees of the Ralston Purina Company took part in a headquarters school designed to update the sales force at the Chow Division.

Held at the Learning Center of the Purina Agri-Business Institute in downtown St. Louis, the Basic Sales School combined information gathered from both research and marketing segments of Ralston Purina. One and a half days were spent in the middle of the week touring the sprawling Gray Summit Research Farm operated by the livestock feed manufacturing company. At the farm, Peacock and the other "students" saw tests being conducted with experimental feeds and ultra-modern equipment. "I've come home convinced that when any new techniques are developed to help the American farmer produce more food at a faster, more economical rate, it will very likely come from research work being conducted at the Gray Summit Research unit," Peacock said.

Peacock is a team member of the largest feed manufacturing company in the world. Ralston Purina Company, which was founded in 1894, produced more feed for U.S. livestock than the next four largest feed companies combined. He has been with the Chow Division of Ralston Purina since June, 1977. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Peacock of Roaring Springs and a former Motley County resident.

CLOG-FREE DRAINS

Clogged drains are the most common plumbing problem we face. But happily they are also the easiest to prevent!

Clogs are formed by materials like grease, food scraps, hair and even soap scum that collect at the base of the U-shaped pipe under the sink.

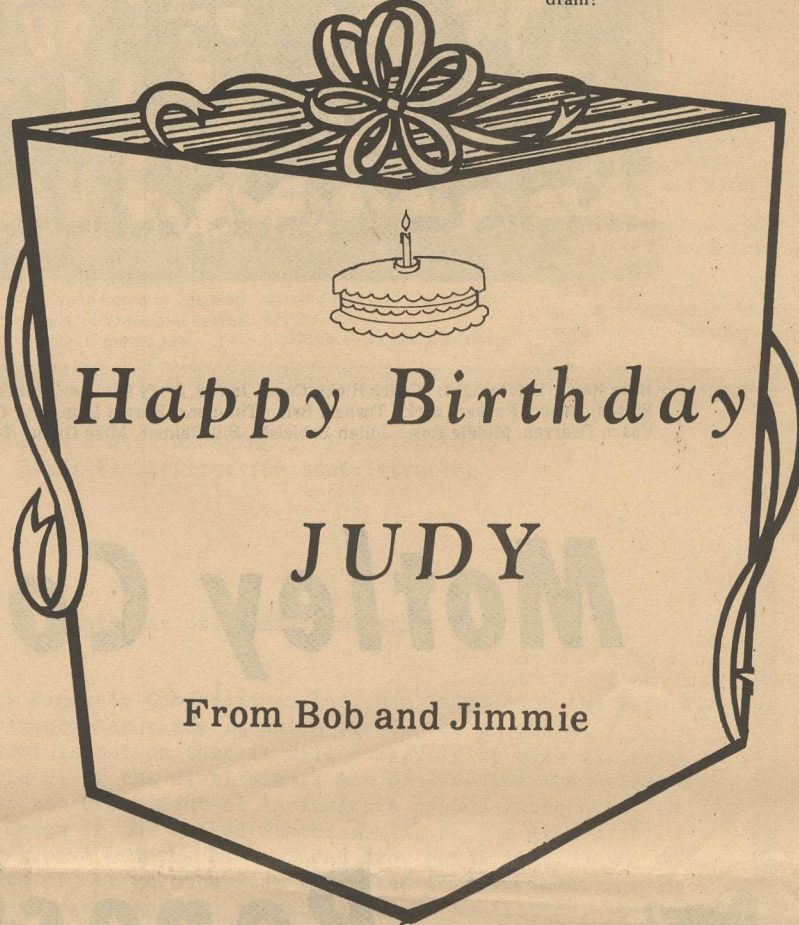

Here are some tips to keep your drains running freely:

- * Don't put fat, grease or oil down the kitchen drain.
- * Use a sink strainer to trap food particles.
- * Don't flush coffee grounds down drains.

- * Once a week use Drain Power, the one-second drain opener that works without hazardous lyes or acids, to help prevent clogs from building up.

- * Don't dispose of hair from combs and brushes in the sink.

Once you become aware of how to prevent clogs, it's easy to make sure your drains remain clear. And teach others in your family to be as careful as you are about what goes down the drain!

County Agent Says

According to research, POINSETTIAS are not poisonous. This study was made by the Society of American Florists, and was conducted to counteract stories since 1919 which were unsubstantiated by medical and scientific date relative to danger of one of our favorite Christmas plants.

The study established that when rats were given unusually high doses of various portions of the poinsettia, no mortality, no symptoms of toxicity and no changes in dietary intake or general behavior were observed.

Even with this study, the public is reminded that the Poinsettia is to look at, not eat, for the maximum satisfaction.

Learning can be fun and the 4-H program will show you how. The best learning experiences for youth come from working together with other youth, and 4-H activities provide for "learning by doing."

A wide variety of projects concerning agriculture, animal care, leadership, safety, home economics, farm machinery and a wide variety of other areas allow for youth from 9 to 19 to take part in the program which is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System.

The best award is the learning, but additional awards are provided to those who excel in a particular program area.

4-H also helps to bridge the generation gap, and evidence of this involvement can be seen at livestock shows, fairs and other 4-H events where the entire family gets into the act. At times there is criticism of too much adult involvement, but generally the more involvement, the more learning experienced, and the less the generation gap.

If borers were noted on your trees the past summer, now is the time to start treatments.

Where borers are present, there will be large masses of gum mixed with brown frass or sawdust at the base of the trunk. If infestations are allowed to continue, their damage will eventually girdle the tree, killing it.

Borers can be controlled now by adding paradichlorobenzene crystals properly. Clean an area around the trunk for about one foot, and place the crystals in a circle around the trunk, about 2 inches from the trunk, and mound clean soil around the base of the tree to a height of about 6 inches, covering the crystals. Don't allow any crystals to touch the trunk of the tree, and for trees 2 to 3 years old, use 1/2 ounce per tree, and for older trees, use 3/4 oz. per tree.

In early April, rake the soil from the tree trunk. Other borers are found on limbs and other parts of the trees. Control of these insects will be given at a later date.

Brighten children's clothing for darker days, recommends Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. When the

Mrs. Franklin Price visited in Eastland during the week end with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bailey and children, Lance, Kevin and Andrea.

Put People At Ease

COLLEGE STATION -- Putting people at ease is an art, says Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. Some people appear warmer and more responsive, but it's no accident, the specialist says.

We can all learn to put people at ease. Miss Taylor offers these suggestions:

--Use your voice to respond to people. A mere nod seems to withhold messages.

--Don't talk too much or too little. If quiet, shy people talk more, others will respond. Talkative persons may want to just summarize and not tell the whole tale.

--Use "I" in your conversations. If you open up, you invite others to share themselves.

--Think (and talk) positive.

--Laugh at yourself. When you share a "put-dow," others recognize their own shortcomings and warm to you.

--Show your feelings in your face. A "mask" turns people off.

--Make eye contact when you talk. It lets others know you're tuned in and interested.

TDPS Urges Compliance

AUSTIN - The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today issued an appeal to Texas motorists to give better voluntary compliance to the 55 mile per hour speed limit on the state's highways.

Col. Wilson E. Speir said he is alarmed over the increasing percentage of drivers exceeding the speed limit, particularly in light of the increasing number of fatalities and major accidents in the state.

"From our observations as well as surveys conducted by the Department of Highways and Public Transportation, it is indicated that the vast majority of vehicles on our roads are exceeding the legal speed limit of 55 mph," he said.

"Meanwhile traffic fatalities are on the increase, showing an eight per cent rise over the same period last year. At last report traffic deaths have increased from 2,467 at this time last year to 2,675 - an increase of 208 deaths.

"What's more, the percentage of increase in deaths is becoming greater with each passing week.

"The latest report indicates that some 74 per cent of motorists are exceeding 55 MPH. This compares to 69 per cent exceeding 55 during the calendar-quarter year ending December 1, 1976.

Speir noted that while the DPS enforcement effort has been increased tremendously - well over 100 per cent since the new speed law went into effect - shortage of highway patrol personnel makes the task extremely difficult when some three-fourths of the driving public is violating the speed law.

"We are therefore issuing this appeal to motorists in the hope they will realize that slower speeds will pay off in the saving of lives, suffering and money in the form of better gas mileage and insurance costs," he said, "in addition to extra wear and tear on vehicles."

Speir reported that there is an alarming increase of 50 per cent in deaths on the interstate system over last year, clearly indicating that excessive speed is a major factor in fatal accidents.

And he said the efforts of highway patrol troopers to remove dangerous drivers from the traffic stream will be continued.

"The ultimate solution to the problem of speeding above the limits on Texas highways will come only when the majority of Texas drivers accepts their responsibility under the law," Speir added.

Review Amendmtns.

Seven amendments to the Texas Constitution, voted on in an election Tuesday, were reviewed Monday night for members of the American Legion Fleming Post No. 337 and Legion Auxiliary in regular meeting at the Legion building. The program followed the usual covered dish supper. Furman Vinson presented the program, explaining the amendments, and led in a discussion of each.

Game Preserve Slides Shown To Lions Club

Slides of scenes of the Matador Wildlife Game Preserve were shown Tuesday of last week at regular luncheon-meeting of Matador Lions Club by Richard Cranford of Paducah. The game preserve is located in Cottle County.

The meeting was in the Methodist Church basement with Boss Lion Emilio Aguilar presiding. He led the club in thanking the Methodist ladies for a delicious luncheon.

Announcement was made that the Community Chest Drive will be conducted the latter part of November.

A light bulb sale by Lions Club members will also be conducted this month, according to announced plans.

Following the narration and slides, Mr. Cranford answered a number of questions from the club members, and said that hunting is allowed on the preserve, at certain specified dates.

Visitors introduced included Lamar Zabielski, B. C. Cox of Brownfield and John C. Moore of Southampton, Pa.

Halloween Carnival Is Success

The Patton Springs Halloween carnival, held Saturday, October 29, sponsored by the Patton Springs Young Homemakers was a big success and well received by an enthusiastic crowd. Theme, "Moon Madness" was carried out as a spaceship appeared, carrying several space creatures and the "Man from the Moon", who crowned the three Halloween Carnival Queens.

Kristi Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Patrick, representing the second grade class was crowned first. She was escorted by Jerren Slaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Slaton. "The Man from the Moon" then placed a crown upon Cynthia Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Patterson. Cynthia, candidate for the sixth grade, was escorted by Chad Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Mullins. Freshman candidate, Deanne Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Nunn, escorted by David Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Baxter, received the final crown.

After the coronation, fun and games began in booths prepared by classes and organizations. A bingo game, cake walk, nail drive, and a dunking board were just a few of the various forms of fun. Good food was prepared by the Young Homemakers for the concession stand. A "Country Store" featured many items and plants for sale.

Appreciation is expressed to everyone who donated, participated or attended the Carnival. The proceeds from this event will be used in various ways to help with the school and benefit the classes.

Be cautious in buying anything makred down for quick sale. Never buy canned goods that are dented or have swollen lids. Swollen lids indicate bacterial growth.

Produce marked "reduced" is not always a bargain after you trim away spoilage and burred spots.

Don't Be Misled At Market

COLLEGE STATION -- Don't be misled at the supermarket, advises Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. A product may be in a new location, or it may bear a bright new tag and seem like a bargain, but it's not necessarily so, the specialist says.

Shoppers have become accustomed to assuming that "end of the aisle" products are on sale. Often this is not the case. If the sign doesn't say that the item is "marked down from" or "regularly priced at" or "now on sale for" -- be skeptical. Often consumers buy ahead on items they think are on sale. Be careful, says Miss Haggard. Don't overstock on foods at regular price by mistake.

If the store had unit pricing and the pricing is current, you can easily tell if an item is on sale. Simply check the unit pricing tag on the appropriate aisle -- where the item is displayed.

Next read the brightly colored shelf tags carefully. The tag may be there simply to call attention to the product and not to indicate that the item is specially priced.

If an item is not marked, find out the price from store personnel. You have the right to ask. Let the store manager

Where Your Money Goes

COLLEGE STATION -- To know where your money goes, devise a Personal Spending Plan, suggests Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Make decisions about what you need, what you dream of, and exactly where you want your personal spending plan to lead, the specialist says.

Ask yourself these questions:

1. What are your goals? The first step in making a spending plan is to set goals. These must reflect your family's needs and be realistic in relation to present and future estimated income. Decide which goals are most important.

2. What is your income for the planning period? This money may come from a job (include only take-home pay), life insurance benefits, pension payments, etc. If your income is irregular, consider making two estimates. Plan first on the basis of the low income figure and then consider how you would use additional income.

3. What are your "fixed" expenses? "Fixed" expenses include basic necessities and any regular monthly payments, installment contract payments, basic expenditures for food and utilities and insurance premiums.

4. What amounts remains for discretionary spending? Money left after step 3 can be used for additional expenditures for basic items, for other needs and for wants or for savings.

5. How does your spending compare with your Plan? This comparison helps you locate imbalances and make revisions.

Your financial record book could be a loose-leaf notebook or a record book from the variety store. If this is your first budget and expenditure record, you may want to set up a 3-month trial plan.

When you see how your plan works, you can revise it to cover a longer period.
