PASSAGE OF BOND ASSUMPTION BILL TO RELIEVE HOWARD CO. OF $127,000, IT IS ESTIMATED

COUNTY TAX RATE ALREADY LOW This Figure May Be Larger When Measure Is Finally Approved; County Rate May Be Reduced 15c; Total Bonded Debt $238,000

After State Aid Is Applied, Total Bonded Indebtedness Of Howard County Will Be Less Than $100,000, Says Judge Debenport

(By JOE PICKLE)

For several months now citizens of this county have listened to the airy nothings of politicians clamoring for tax reductions brought about by reduced governmental operations cost.

This decline in the tax rate here has come about, or will come about, due to the passage and signing of the highway bond assumption bill proposed by the governor and enacted into law during the special session terminating Wednesday.

Bluntly it will relieve Howard county of the duty of paying on $127,000 of bonds. Perhaps the figure will be larger when finally approved. It is possible that the local tax rate will be reduced as much as fifteen cents, despite the fact that Howard county's rate is already one of the lowest in Texas in ratio to population.

Howard county has assets totaling $10,867.29 in sinking funds. County Judge H. R. Debenport estimates that $127,000 of this amount will be lifted by the state. He even says there is a possibility that only $100,000 or less will be left as bonded indebtedness for this county.

Of course, he reminds, such figures are only rough estimates. His reasons for believing that this county will be eligible for more than $127,000 is that engineering costs, preparatory to building Highway No. 1 and No. 9 are not included.

It appears in the light of late developments that such is highly probable as construction costs. Too, there is a possibility that the Gregg street viaduct will fall under the classification of "highway bridges" since it is a vital part of No. 9 in Howard county.

Certainly Howard county will assume nothing by asking since the assumption bill declares that the state will be final as far as commissioners courts are concerned. The state, however, reserves the right to correct any errors made.

Final checks is left to commissioners courts of the respective counties, but they will then be able only to sanction the action of the state board composed of State Treasurer Charles Lockhart, Comptroller George H. Sheppard, and State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist.

Another feature in the county's favor is the clause providing that each county may determine means and manner of payment. The bonds can be paid off at once or over a period of years; whatever method is followed, the state will fall in line.

In 1920 Howard county spent large sums placing gravel on Highway No. 1 through the county and No. 9 many miles in each direction. In 1923, No. 9 was given the most thorough working of its career before being turned over to the state.

It was in 1922 that this county agreed with the state to lay a three-layer asphalt topping on all of No. 1 and on ten miles of No. 9. The county went through with her end of the bargain but it is history that the contractors for the state only placed one layer of the three on the roads mentioned.

Regardless of what happened to the other two layers, it is a fact that this county paid for thirty-two miles of topping on No. 1 and ten on No. 9. Not only that, this county paid all engineering costs.

Right now Judge Debenport is the busiest man in Big Spring. He must finish his budget at once and have commissioners approve it. Then he must search all records to find exactly what Howard county is entitled to under the provisions of the assumption bill.

This done, he will supervise efforts to have everything ready to wards procuring right of way on No. 9 south once Glascock takes actual steps in the same direction. Next it is probable that the problem of obtaining right of way for No. 1 will be before him. Last he may face the same situation on No. 9 north in accordance with an agreement with the state to furnish state roads.

But back to local tax relief. Indications are that the county commissioners court will levy the rate of 15c on $100 of assessed value. This is a reduction of 15c from the present rate of 30c.

DETECTIVES ARREST NINE COUNTERFEITERS IN FOUR TEXAS TOWNS, SAYS PAPER

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—The Houston Chronicle says upon authority of Norman York, of a private detective agency, that nine men suspected in a counterfeiting ring which is alleged to have operated over several Mid-Western states, were under arrest Wednesday.

The surprise which B. E. Robbins, president of the Business Men's Luncheon Club, promised last week materialized Wednesday in the announcement of a series of five-minute talks by different speakers of words of this spring and Howard County.

Bruce Frazier initiated the series by a talk on the usefulness of a local slaughter house for properly killing and chilling meat for human consumption.

Mr. Robbins supplemented Mr. Frazier's talk with an explanation of the idea and announced an out-of-town speaker for the next meeting. He appointed on a committee to look into the advisability of procuring a slaughter house, E. V. Spence, Fox, Stripling and E. A. Kelley.

The program was in charge of M. H. Morrison, who introduced the Rev. Irye Townsend, pastor of the First Christian Church of Sweetwater, who is holding a revival here. Rev. D. R. Lindley and Mrs. (CONTINUED ON PAGE 6)

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Rangers and county officers were trying today to fix the responsibility for the slaying of Edgar Collin Arledge, Junior, 21, of Crockett, while seated in a automobile Tuesday night. The shooting occurred on the upper Georgetown road behind the State Insane Asylum. Margaret Jean Trull, 22, of Austin, told officers that a man approached their car and flashed a light and when the youth raised his hand to shade his eyes, the intruder fired, the shot entering his left eye and piercing his head. Miss Trull was slightly wounded.

Officers believed they had found the bullet lodged in a house nearby, but the calibre was not made known.

The tragedy was the second similar occurrence in this vicinity in the past year.

County Tax Rate Set At 75c Per $100

Commissioners Court Approve Budget In Session Tuesday Afternoon

Howard county tax rate for 1933 will be seventy-five cents per hundred dollars valuation. The rate is the same as for the past year.

County commissioners Tuesday afternoon heard and approved the budget compiled by Judge H. B. Debenport, county judge, for the year of 1933. A certified copy of the budget and tax rate has been filed with the county clerk.

In reality the tax rate will be lower. Once it is determined the amount Howard county is eligible to be relieved of under the highway bond assumption bill, commissioners and Judge Debenport will authorize the tax collector to collect only a certain per cent of the levy.

A county home demonstration agent was not provided for by commissioners in approving the budget. Cognizance was taken of a possible responsibility in buying goods for the state.

The tax levy funds: General fund 25 Jury fund 11 Road and bridge fund 11 Special road and bridge fund 04

Court house and jail warrants 01 Viaduct warrant fund 04

TOTAL LEVY 75 Common school district tax levy in each district of the county were announced. Only four districts did not assess the one dollar limit. They are Morris, Forsan, Clark and Green Valley. Chalk had by far the lowest levy with only 67 1/2.

Tax rates by districts follow: R-Bar, 75 cents maintenance, 25 cents interest sinking fund, total $1.00. Vincent, 80 cents maintenance, 20 cents interest sinking fund, total $1.00.

Morris, 75 cents maintenance, 40 cents interest sinking fund, total $1.15. Green Valley, 60 cents maintenance, 40 cents interest sinking fund, total $1.00.

Exporters Defeat Lookouts In Opener

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

There is going to be a very warm district committee meeting in Big Spring on October 1. The business of the meeting will be to discuss certain members of the Sweetwater eleven and at least one member from Harry Taylor's San Angelo Bobcats. We intend to be present at this said discussion, that is we will be hovering near the spot. However, we will stay very close to Obie Bristol and will not make any statements either pro or con.

Sweetwater is really going to be very bitter about the whole thing and the Oct. 22 game between the Mustangs and the Bobcats in Big Spring is due to be even more bitterly fought than in previous years. If possible, only yesterday we were personally acquainted with the hostile attitude of the Sweetwater citizens.

It all came up over the introduction to Supt. B. H. McClain. It was our intention to be very polite to Mr. McClain in chairman of the district committee of "How" he inquired amicably enough, "is the Sweetwater football team coming along?"

In one glance the Sweetwater superintendent included us, Mr. George Gentry, and Mr. Bill Olsen. "You fellows," he growled, "seem to know more about that than we do."

All district berths are being reserved for Homer Barnett, McCamey, and Leroy Grimley of Sweetwater for the tackle berths. Ney Sherman of Sweetwater, former halfback position, Sam Baugh of Sweetwater for quarterback and Elvie Stagner of Colorado for a wing position. The latter revelation came to us on the Colorado practice field where "Big Jim" Cantrell was sending his charges through their daily workout.

Incidentally Cantrell does not need a tackling dummy, providing a member of his squad for the task each day. The former T.C.U. star each afternoon dispatches the member of the squad that loaded the most on the previous day to one end of the field and the other and more energetic candidates begin tackling him.

Ben Daniels is pulling every wire he knows of to return to Big Spring this fall to coach the Black Devils for another year, and the school officials are working on this end of the connection just as enthusiastically.

A political upheaval in Sweetwater, we have learned, caused the breaking up of Ben's Roosters, a stellar junior club for eleven years and Daniels is not looked upon with any too great love by the Colorado officials.

"But," as George Gentry put it, "there's always one athlete that will be glad to have Ben hanging around."

Miss Arsh Phillips has coached her last Lomax basketball club. The mentor of the blue-and-white notes last year has become a teacher in Khett High School, along with "Boss" Tombs' coach of the "snitch" High Mustangs in 1931.

Is Obie's Face Red?
The following is copied from the San Angelo Standard Times:

"Doesn't it seem strange that Big Spring, of all places, should be raising such a fuss about intelligibility this year? It was the Big Spring coach who forced the Dallas issue. Big Spring is making the major howl about Sweetwater. Yet was there a coach not excusing Ted Jeffries of Cisco, who more flagrantly violated the prohibition league rules last year than did Obie Bristol? And as there is a coach in West Texas this fall who has subsidized more raw-boned country boys than any other, is the coming campaign 'breakers' on subsidization of class athletes by the new one-year transfer rule? Bristol has found a loophole whereby he could move out the entire into the fold, the big strong-backed boys from the rural schools of his county, and he has been successful."

The raw-boned giants referred to are Eldon Hare and Weston Woods Lomax, neither of whom put the scales over 100 pounds, and neither of whom have had previous experience concerning the prohibition sport. Conversations with the boys' parents have led to the belief that if the two youths are being "quarantined" that the fathers know nothing about it, and that the sacrifice they are making in order that their sons might attend Big Spring High School is entirely useless.

Ring Matches Thursday Are Plenty Tough

Jack Kirkland Expected to Give Kid Wellington Lots of Competition

Kid Wellington, Wellington Texas, who has backed down every thing with two legs that has entered the Casino ring with him, may find some one Thursday evening to put himself in reverse. Jack Kirkland, well proportioned Waco slugger, is working to reduce his weight to 145 pounds by Thursday, and if he does, it looks like a fast battle.

Whittington has engaged in three Casino fights, cleanly winning two and being given credit for a victory in the third, according to a majority of local critics. He is fast, the best boxer to step in the Casino ring, but is a bit light. Kirkland is powerful. Until Tommy Irwin of Midland smashed an elbow against Kirkland's shoulder, he was taking punches from every angle from the Waco fighter.

When Holcomb, Quanah mauler, is slated against Tuffy Jackson, formerly of here but now of San Angelo. Unless Jackson can give in large quantities and take it in still larger measures, Mr. Holcomb will beat him to the mat in mucked the same fashion as he knocked Joe Brichhouse to sleep last week. Holcomb possesses a punch that would powder a tombstone.

In a four round preliminary Alabamian Curran, scraggy shiner, will meet Pug Heffner. Nothing is known of Heffner, but Curran is a name fighter, despite he takes many unnecessary licks by ducking his head continuously.

Casey Jones, who made T. J. Jimenez dislike boxing, is to fight Red Williams of Colorado in a three round preliminary. Black Knight, copious and slugger, has no opponent yet, but one will be ready when the curtain comes up Thursday evening.

Bud Holland is slated to appear against Shorty Hull, the pie maker. Their scrap is to be another of the three round preliminary affairs. The remainder of the card has not yet been completed.

Sweetwater To Make Vigorous Bid For Title

Coach Hennig To Send His Team Against Abilene Eagles October 2

By CURTIS BISHOP

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the Big Spring District Three team.

Sweetwater's maturing Mustangs, District 3 champions last season and a worthy foe for the state champion Abilene Eagles, in the district eliminations, stand ready to make excellent defense of their laurels this year.

Coach E. A. Hennig, the all-Danish mentor, will send his charges against the Abilene Eagles on Oct. 2 in the spotlight non-conference battle, will meet the strong team of Snyder Tigers a week later, and will then open his conference schedule on Oct. 10 against the Midland Bulldogs in Sweetwater. Last year the Mustangs defeated the Bulldogs 7 to 0 on Thanksgiving day.

All however, will not be a bed of roses for Sweetwater this year. Graduation deprived the Mustangs of the services of Bob Baugh, Bob Brooks, Trapped Blewett and Strenuous from the forward wall, leaving Coach Hennig with a depleted line. The only regular center, Virgil Jones, one of last year's winners, has been shifted to the backfield, leaving the Mustangs in the line for Hennig's well known center, N. B. Hall, Sr. and Frank Newberry head the list of candidates for line positions.

No football berries are likely to come forward this year, including the Mustangs' footstep, the quarterback the Poms will have Sam Baugh, the best forward passer in the district last year, and a stout defensive man as well. Mike Hicks, the "Strenuous" Hambley, will not be on hand to bear the brunt of the fullbacking duties, but still department should be handled exceedingly well by Sprague Woods and Newberry. Sheridan last year was one of the best all-around backs in West Texas, and will be the punting and a portion of the line in addition to maturing in the backfield.

A change from the Hennig system of last year is expected to feature the Mustangs' play this year, with Strenuous and Baugh featuring a wide-open, offensive game.

Following their opening conference game with the Midland Bulldogs on Oct. 21, the Poms will meet the Big Spring Tigers on Oct. 21 in Big Spring in a traditional game that will have an important bearing upon the district championship. Last year the Hennigmen won out in a hard-fought battle 7 to 0 in Sweetwater.

GREENBERG CRACKS OUT HOMER IN SEVENTH FOR ONLY RUN OF GAME—9,000 FANS WITNESS TILT

BEAUMONT—Beaumont won the first game of the Dixie series Tuesday by beating Chattanooga, 1 to 0. Henry Greenberg's home run in the seventh inning was the lone run. Art Herring held Chattanooga to five hits and was never in danger of losing. Clyde Barfoot limited Beaumont to four hits. An estimated crowd of 9,000 saw the Exporters win.

Neither club threatened in the first inning. Herring, struck out Kingdon and Bonowitz, walked Gill and then struck out Reese. The Exporters went out in order.

In the second Chattanooga muffed a chance to score. After Bolton had struck out and Travis rolled out, consecutive singles by Boss and Wilburn put runners on first and second, but Barfoot struck out. It was Herring's fifth strikeout. Beaumont was relieved in order. Barfoot was hurling beautiful ball and had perfect control.

Herring retired Chattanooga in order. Stagner started out by making Benton and Taubey easy victims, but Greenberg punched a single to left, bringing up Paul Easterling, home run climber. Easterling's best was a weak roller to third for an easy out. Both clubs had three each at the end of the fourth.

Neither club had a scoring chance in the fifth and sixth innings. Kingdon, who walked after two were out in the fifth, was the only man to reach first. Herring got the seventh strikeout when he fanned Bolton in the sixth.

Kingdon started Chattanooga's eighth with a single to left. Reese hit for Greenberg, but made a bad throw to first. Greenberg made a complete turn on the bag, caught the ball with a sensational backhand stab to retire the Lookouts.

Beaumont went out in order. After Travis had rolled out starting the seventh for Chattanooga, Boss ripped a double down the first base line to offer the Lookouts their best scoring chance. It was Boss' second hit. Herring fed Wilburn a change of pace with a 3-2 count and Wilburn fled out to Easterling, no advance. Barfoot worked Herring for a 4-0 count, then filed to Taubey.

Greenberg gave Beaumont a run when he hit one of Barfoot's knuckle balls over the left field fence after Taubey had fled to Bonowitz. Easterling fled to Reese and Fritz fanned. Barfoot fed Greenberg two consecutive knuckle balls. The first was a call-up strike and the second sailed out of the park.

ELIGIBILITY WARS FLAME A NEW

Eligibility wars flamed anew Tuesday as District 3 school officials went about the business of preparing evidence to be used in the district committee meeting Nov. 5. Oct. 1, when four players from Big Spring and San Angelo, and a number of individuals from all over the district will come in for protests from neighbor schools.

George Gentry, principal of Big Spring high school, Bill Olsen a member of the high school faculty and Curtis Bishop spent Tuesday in Sweetwater as investigators of the Woods-Sheridan dispute. Gentry was named along with Supt. B. McClain of Sweetwater by the district committee to prepare the evidence for this case.

Both of the Sweetwater players, star backfield men, are being protested under this district's special interpretation of the four year participation rule. Sheridan and Woods admittedly played with an organization called the Sweetwater Roosters in 1928, appearing against Big Spring team among others on their schedule, and should it be proven that the Roosters were affiliated with or assisted by the high school the committee will probably bar both stars from 1932 competition.

Gentry would make no statement as to the material gathered, other than he had a very strong case. Supt. McClain and other Sweetwater officials scoffed at the idea and declared that no testimony could be introduced to show that Sweetwater high school was in anyway responsible for or connected with the actions of the Roosters.

Sam Raugh, the third Mustang backfield man to be protested, is accused of participating with a semi-pro baseball nine this summer in Abilene. Supt. McClain of Sweetwater stated that Mose Simms, manager of the Oilers, the club on which young Raugh played, had prepared an affidavit saying that he did not pay any of his players at any time during the season.

Casey Jones, who made T. J. Jimenez dislike boxing, is to fight Red Williams of Colorado in a three round preliminary. Black Knight, copious and slugger, has no opponent yet, but one will be ready when the curtain comes up Thursday evening.

Bud Holland is slated to appear against Shorty Hull, the pie maker. Their scrap is to be another of the three round preliminary affairs. The remainder of the card has not yet been completed.

YOU would be astonished too, if you could see this machine that turns out 750 Chesterfields a minute... and every one as near perfect as cigarettes can be made.

But please bear this in mind. It is what happens before the tobacco goes into this machine that matters most. Rolling and packaging are important, but not nearly as important as the selection, blending and treatment of the tobacco.

That's why we keep telling you about the tobaccos used in Chesterfields. They're fine, mild, and pure tobaccos. We tell you about ageing and curing the tobaccos... about blending and cross-blending them... because they are things that count.

Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. Prove it for yourself... Just try a package.

CHAPTER I

THE offices in the Equity Building are spacious and attractive. They have the atmosphere of successful business. The corner offices overlooking Tenth street are equipped with mahogany furniture, easy chairs and convenient ash trays. A great glass-topped desk stands almost in the center of the deep rug. In spite of this atmosphere on a Friday afternoon at 10 minutes past one the air in Suite 216 was surcharged with something almost explosive.

"Mr. Ball from Blind River, eh?" Asper Delo's face was purple with anger. "Mr. Ball, you are a dirty Irish snoop!" The owner and operator of the Delo Timber Company sprang to his feet and moved ponderously around his desk.

The tarket of his wrath, a lean young man with a freckled nose and wide, firm mouth, looked the big boss over with amused gray eyes. He shoved his Stetson back as though to allow a shock of unruly, dark hair a little more freedom. It was plain that he was a man more accustomed to the saddle than to the soft carpets of Suite 216.

"Never!" the words chided him.

"I came here to tell you the truth and I aim to get it out of my system." Stan Ball grinned, showing a set of even, white teeth. With an easy swing of his booted leg he seated himself upon the wide window ledge overlooking Tenth street.

Asper Delo's bony jaws worked until his blue eyes bulged but no words came.

"You have committed several murders and you are a prime thief." Stan Ball made the statement easily. As he spoke his eyes wandered down into the crowded street. He gazed thoughtfully at the tops of the hurrying cars while the timber king spluttered and strove to gain control of his voice.

A SHINY limousine pulled up at the curb. Stan's firm mouth twisted into a sneer as he watched a liveried driver step out of the car and walk across the street with two very attentive companions. Old Asper Delo, two-fisted lumber man, had gone swanky with a town car and a uniformed driver.

The young man's thoughts were rudely interrupted. "You'll eat these words!" Asper Delo's nose was thrust almost into Stan Ball's face.

The lanky cowboy slid from the window ledge and his high-heeled boots clicked on the polished floor beside the rug. With a short laugh he roused himself and faced Asper Delo. The amused light left his eyes and they flinched as he shoved the timber king away with a lean arm.

"Maybe you never shot a man in the back yourself but your straw boss up at Three Rivers has hired it done. Not once but three times!" Stan Ball's jaw thrust out aggressively. "You own that outfit and you're responsible." He leaned toward Asper Delo and his eyes were hard. "I'm going up there to get a report of your workings, an honest report—get that?" Stan pushed his hat back a little farther. "I came up here to tell you so that you could call your man, Swergin, and have him hire a breed to shoot me in the back."

Asper Delo was past words but he was not past action. In the days when he had run his own crews he had ruled with his fists. Now his Viking blood boiled within him. With a rasping roar he swung a fist at Stan Ball's chin.

That irritating young man sidestepped with lightning smoothness. Without seeming effort he slid in nearer and in a second Asper Delo was neatly tied with his own big arms holding themselves. Stan Ball shoved him back against the desk and his wicked grin returned.

"You will fight, won't you? But you haven't the sand to do your own killing." There was a taunting edge to the words.

Breathing heavily, Asper Delo collected himself. He was not licked by any means but he realized that he was no match for the lean youngster who faced him. He shook his fist impotently and retreated around his desk.

"You'll never set foot on the Three Rivers cuttings, you lying whelp!" We have that tract inspected and the timber checked by a government man and we don't allow fools meddling with our business." Asper gripped the top of his desk and his words jerked from between his teeth.

"Yes? Inspected and reported? Well, Mr. Delo, we are getting our own report and we are turning it over to the Department of the Interior. Your game is up at Three Rivers." Turning upon his heel, Stan Ball left the room with the speechless timber king glaring after him.

around and headed back down the narrow road. Stan gave them only a glance. "Now for the rescue of the fair one," he grinned and began a stealthy approach to the cabin.

HE advanced upon a brush-covered side of the building and leaned forward to peer through a crack that had lost its chinking. What he saw made his lips pull tight and his eyes darken.

A slender girl sat on a backless chair facing a heavy-set man with beetling brows. The fellow had taken the only chair with a back for himself and was titled back watching his captive with evident enjoyment. He was armed with a short, black automatic and looked capable of using it.

"You most likely won't get mussed up none, lady. Leastwise not for a spell. When the boys get back with a flivver you can write a little note to your old man telling him to slip us 25 grand." The thug spat accurately through a knot-hole in the floor.

Stan Ball's hands closed narrow as he squeezed his eyes to see the girl. She was shaking her head and stamping her feet. Her hands were on a silk scarf and her mouth was gagged with a handkerchief but her blue eyes were uncovered and they were wide and angry while her nose was tipped up defiantly. Even in his haste to go to her aid Stan paused to note the finely chiseled nose and the curved throat exposed below it. The girl was not afraid. Noiselessly he slid around to the door which stood open and inviting.

The heavy-set thug had placed his chair close to the opening and his back was partly turned. It was evident that this enjoyment of his captive's irritation had diverted him from his job of watching the clearing and the road. Possibly a feeling of security made him lax. At any rate he was totally surprised as a lanky form shot through the open door and descended upon him.

Stan landed at the fellow's side at one leap. With a smashing blow to the butt of the ear he sent the kidnaper reeling from his chair. Grinning a hard smile and with a boot ready to kick the automatic out of the ruffian's hand should he go for it, Stan Ball stood over the wiled man and waited for him to rise. The prostrate enemy failed to move a muscle. Stan's blow had been a knockout punch and what had looked fair to be a he-man fight had frizzled.

GURLING sounds from the captive caused Stan to start guiltily. He sprang across the room and freed her. She did not faint or fall into his arms. Instead she stamped over to the prostrate thug and bent over him. With a savage jerk she relieved him of his gun. Stan Ball burst out laughing and his freckled nose wrinkled until the brown spots danced.

"You have a way with gunmen, Ma'm." He bowed with a flourish of his wide hat, then held out his hand for the gun. "Better let a man from the mountains have that gat, Miss."

They faced each other for a second. Then the girl joined Stan's laugh with a soft alto voice. "It is really funny isn't it?" She passed him the gun without hesitation.

"Great fun, but we better herd ourselves out of here, Miss." Stan was no glitzy modern youth. Women were beings to be met properly in his little world. Even such unusual circumstances did not alter the case.

"Delo, Dona Delo." They were at the door as she spoke.

Stan had his hat off again and was about to present himself but her words halted him abruptly. He looked upon her slender beauty and her wind-blown hair that had not come from city air and his lips parted as he realized who she was. "Old Asper's daughter—with all the old boy's spunk," he thought as he followed her outside without speaking.

Dona Delo did not notice this omission. She was still angry and excited. She wheeled and laid a small hand upon his arm. "You must not think me silly or unappreciative but I'm mad clear through. That cad, Graham, put it over on me that he was a college chum of Dudley's and got me out to the car. But for you I'd most likely have stayed tied up and Dad would have had to pay." She smiled at him so radiantly that Stan became at once aware of his dust-covered clothing, his freckles and his shock of unruly hair.

"Nothing out of the way that I did," he stammered uneasily.

"How did you happen to be here?" She removed her hand but continued to smile.

Stan opened his mouth, then closed it and gripped her arm. "I hear a car coming. We'd better hit for cover." With a strong arm he pushed her into the willows.

He struck through the timber in the direction of the remembered highway to be. A half hour's breathless hiking brought them to a main road and Stan flagged a passing motorist. Dona was eager to get to a telephone and call her father before the two missing thugs could send him a note. They stopped at a lunch stand and filling station and Dona rushed inside with Stan at her heels.

ASPER DELO was appraised of the kidnaping and rescue at the same time. Dona turned from the phone and called to Stan. "You haven't told me your name?"

"Stanley Black," Stan lied without batting a single freckle. He was not going to have Asper Delo hand him the keys to Three Rivers on a platter. He would get his report and make the old man sweat it.

Twenty minutes later he was kicking himself for what he had done. Her name gone, Dona Delo was a very striking feminine creature. As she munched a hot dog and sipped soda from a bottle Stan thought her the most attractive girl he had ever seen. He made up his mind to tell her so as to be able to see her again. Of course she was unattainable for one of his standing but he was sure she would be friendly. He just sat and looked at her for what seemed only a few minutes. She broke into his thoughts abruptly by leaping up.

"There's Dad!" With a wave of her hand she darted out side.

Stan looked through the window and saw Asper Delo striding across the patch of gravel between two red pumps. He watched Dona smothered in her father's arms and saw her take his hand and lead him toward the lunch room. With a half smile at the turn of his luck Stan slipped through the back door, tossing a dollar on the counter as he hurried by.

"HE'S gone!" There was more than surprise in Dona's voice as she entered the lunch room with her father behind her.

"What's his name?" Asper Delo pulled a green-backed memo book from his pocket. "I'll mail him a check." He slumped down heavily beside one of the tables.

"His name is Stanley Black but I didn't ask his address." Dona was close to nervous tears now.

Old Asper grunted and wrote down the name. "He'll be underfoot from now on, don't worry. He and Dudley will be fighting a duel." He squeezed Dona's hand affectionately. This had been a hard day and he was tired.

Dona shook her head. "He's not that kind, Dad. I won't see him again unless I find him."

"Well, I haven't time to look him up now. I have to go to Three Rivers on business. A dirty-mouthed whipsnapper insulted me not two hours ago and I aim to settle with him personally." Asper's spleen rose as he remembered his conversation with Mr. Ball of Blind River.

"But you have Swergin at Three Rivers and you've always said he was your most efficient man! You haven't been up there since the work stopped. Why go now?" Dona protested. She was more interested in locating Stanley Black and repaying him in a proper manner than in having her father rush off to an obscure timber camp. She felt he would be just the person to handle Stanley Black. They seemed to have many traits in common. "Swergin is all right but this is a personal matter." Asper Delo's face began to purple again as he remembered.

"What was it all about?" Dona asked resignedly. It was clear that the Three Rivers affair would have to be heard before anything else could be considered.

"A whipsnapper nosing around for a report on the Three Rivers tract," Asper grunted.

"That is supervised timber. Why not let him help himself?" Dona was impatient.

"The Three Rivers tract is paying and it's been handled right but that brat doesn't get to check it over or anybody else! It is a tough stand to make a profit on. That's why I have Swergin there." Suddenly Asper bent over and patted Dona's hand. "I'll leave orders to find Mr. Black and have him shipped out to the house tomorrow." He rose and held out his arm. "Now we must get back and report this mess to the police."

HARTFORD MAN EXTOLS DRY LAW

The Christian Century, for March 23, quotes Mr. Bernard Lyon, president of the Hartford, Connecticut, Builders' Exchange, as saying at the last annual meeting: "We hear much about the plentiful supply of liquor; but in the last five years 30,000 men have applied at our bureau, yet none could be classed other than sober. Here are great numbers of unemployed, fighting the hardest kind of battle, but always courteous, understanding and sober! Once intoxication constituted the greatest evil in our trade. When weather stopped construction, men would flock to the saloons; and a superintendent, when the weather cleared, would have to send messengers to the bars to round up the gang. Now

A KENTUCKY POLICEMAN

Mr. Ed Keel, county patrolman, of Hopkinsville, Ky., in a letter recently to the Courier-Journal, of Louisville, wrote: "We notice, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin charges that the Eighteenth Amendment has financed crime and is poisoning our national life. We beg to differ with Mrs. Sabin in this thought as we are in position to know that where the law is enforced, and the Eighteenth Amendment is backed by the enforcement of the law, the crime wave is checked, as we have been on the job as an enforcement officer for five years and feel that where any officer wants the law enforced and gives his men to understand that he means that the law shall be enforced, if they stay on the job, crime and booze will leave that city or town. An officer who indulges in booze himself is not worthy to be an officer. "We hear people, even church members, say that times are worse than when whisky was allowed to be sold in saloons. In Hopkinsville on what was known as Hopkinsville Day, with a crowd estimated at about 15,000, there were only two arrests for drunkenness—one by rest by our chief of police and I making the other. Gentry Shows Present Added Feature Here

Freckles, Of Our Gang Comedies, Will Be Seen Here

The Gentry Brothers Famous Shows which come to Big Spring Monday, Sept. 26th for two performances daily, bring as an added feature attraction this year none other than that famous kid of the movies, "Freckles" of "Our Gang" comedies.

"Freckles" who in private life is known as Jackie "Ho" Ray, he is, and this year is traveling with the Gentry Brothers Famous Shows and Pony shows, making a film that will be entitled "Toby of the Circus."

Surely a no more fitting feature could be added to the Gentry Brothers Shows.

John Roper, claims to have locked up as many as seventy-five drunks in one day when open saloons existed.

Let us be fair with our Eighteenth Amendment. We know men today who have their homes and automobiles and happy families, who before the Eighteenth Amendment were almost destitute and whose families suffered on account of this booze."

ers Famous Dog and Pony show than "Freckles." Gentry Brothers, who for a generation have catered to ladies and children, are giving the many fans of this famous kid a chance to meet him in person.

"Freckles" is still in his early teens and a real boy through and through, and takes great pleasure in meeting as many of the other kids in each town he visits as is possible. "Freckles" has a pet pony and is only too glad to let those that wish to go to take a ride on his pony after each performance, and if the "kicks" are real small there is an attendant to see that they do not fall off.

NEW CREDIT BANK OPENS AT ANGELO

SAN ANGELO—The San Angelo Branch of the Agricultural Credit Corp. opened for business Monday morning in its office in the Western Realty Building with a half dozen out-of-town bankers and live stock men in town, eager to get the application blanks and begin to receive the benefits of the credit which the corporation is prepared to furnish.

And a dozen or more baskets of flowers, Duwan E. Hughes, chairman, G. C. Magruder, manager, and Miss Katherine Hughes, secretary, were on hand to receive the steady stream of persons who gathered at the office of the concern seeking information.

No instructions were received with the application blanks. But they were compiled by the agricultural branch of the Department of Commerce and just released.

The planes of the 24 companies flew a total of 24,341 miles and were involved in eleven accidents from which a fatality resulted to either pilot or passenger. The planes flew an average 2,242.5 miles per fatal accident. Of the 11 accidents having fatalities, the fatalities were confined to pilots in five instances and included passengers in the other six.

During this period passenger traffic increased 55,000 over that of the same period of the preceding year.

However, the application blanks can be filled in and filed with the organization, ready for action, as soon as Mr. Magruder returns and the directors can get together for their first meeting.

There are two application forms—one for range live stock—and one for feeder loans. The applications are so fixed that they can be used by a corporation or by an individual.

Low Percentage Of Deaths From Plane Mishaps

Of the 258,954 passengers carried on American operated air lines during the first six months of the year, only 16 were killed in accidents and 10 others were injured, none seriously, according to figures compiled by the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce and just released.

Slaughter Ranch In Old Mexico To Be Reopened Soon

LUBBOCK—Closed for two and a half years because of the high tariff on cattle coming out of New Mexico, the Slaughter ranch 70 miles south of Douglas, Ariz., in Sonora, Mexico, is being opened by R. L. Slaughter, Jr., of Lubbock.

Two car loads of horses for cowboys have been shipped from Lubbock and a third car will go from California. As soon as possible 2,000 head of cattle will be shipped to the ranch and stocked by him.

The ranch, which covers about 250,000 acres, is owned in fee simple by R. L. Slaughter, Sr., of Lubbock. It was opened in the then sparsely settled and bandit-infested state of Sonora in 1913.

R. L. Slaughter, Jr., will be manager. He has purchased an airplane and will use it in operating the property.

on the McCamey field, will entertain the Colorado Wolves in Sweetwater on Armistice Day, and will close the conference season against San Angelo on Thanksgiving Day in Sweetwater!

Despite rumors to the contrary, Coach Hennig and Supp, Ben McLean are not leaving the entire squad will be eligible for competition this season. The "trick" ruling that was passed by the district eligibility committee in the winter is not expected to stand up under severe attacks, and the players supposedly affected by the legislation are unworried over the outcome.

Hennig sees no reason why his red-jerseyed warriors should not repeat their championship march of 1931. His club should be every bit as strong as in last season, with a backfield that will compare favorably with any club in the state and a line that will be heavier, if less experienced, than the forward wall of a year ago. Big Spring and San Angelo, however, will come in for their share of attention, and the Mustangs are not taking the McCamey Badgers too lightly.

son against Lamesa on Sept. 30. Brown will be lost to the club for at least two weeks because of an appendicitis operation Monday morning while Harris' injured ankle may keep him out of the lineup during the major portion of the season.

Two flyweight seniors in their first year of competition continued to set the pace for the backfield candidates, and unless a sudden transformation develops both Fred Koberg and Freddie Townsend will be in the starting lineup against Lamesa. Schwarzenbach, the only real veteran in the backfield, has a cinch on the signal-barking post and Richburg, co-captain, is the best bet for fullback. Woods and Hare, the two Linnox youths, and J. C. Morgan are sure to see service against Lamesa.

The Steer forward wall, missing the guiding hand of George Brown, expects to hold its own this season with Coats and Vines at ends, Armstrong and Sanders at tackles, Smith and Martin at guards, and Flowers and Dyer battling neck and neck at center with one or the other due to see occasional service at end guard or tackle.

Herbert Fletcher, tackle, Ralph Duval, guard and Jack Dean, end, leap up as the brightest newcomers to the line department.

and down a perfect sacrifice bunt and we safe as Gus Suhr pegged wildly to catch Jungt, at second, Billy Herman advanced both runners with another perfect bunt and the Pirates called huddle.

It was decided to use the dangerous English to go. Kiki Sweetomic put everything behind his every pitch and the setting stood at three balls and two strikes. With a mighty heave, Sweetomic fired Cuyler met it squarely and the ball sailed on a line right over third base to the extreme left corner of left field. The blow cleared the bases and it was all over with Bush holding the Cubs to a harmless single by Traynor in the eighth with one out.

It was a dazed and happy crowd of Cubs that frolicked about the clubhouse with the prized pennant and a World Series chance against the New York Yankees in their pockets. Billy Herman won the race to the clubhouse, but nothing much was said until Manager Grimm poked his head through the door. He was pounced on immediately by his happy mates.

"Great, great, great, boys," he choked with tears in his eyes. That was all he could say.

President William Veech joined the crowd, shook his fist with each player and then turned to Grimm: "Thanks, manager. But we knew we could do it."

Not a word was mentioned about the World Series or the Yankees. Grimm dismissed most of his tired regulars for the second game of the double-header and there was a big rush toward the ice cream stand.

"I'm glad that job's over," Grimm reflected as he took his shower. "We've played pretty hard and can stand some rest."

The Cubs were first to score in Tuesday's deciding game that Cuyler swiped.

Herman slammed the first pitched ball for a single to start the bat-tle, stole second and scored on Stephenson's single. Another run was added in the third. HERE'S SECOND COLOR PICTURE THAT MAY WIN GENERY BROTHERS CIRCUS TICKETS

Here is the second of three pictures in the Daily Herald-Genery Brothers coloring contest that offers boys and girls a chance to get free tickets to see the Famous Genery and Pony Shows when they come to Big Spring on Monday, September 26.

Any kind of crayon, water color or ink may be used. Originality or coloring, neatness of presentation and artistic effect will guide the judges in their decision. Their decision which will be announced next Sunday when the names of the winners will be published, will be final.

When you have finished coloring all three pictures either bring them or mail them to the Genery Brothers-Herald Color Contest Editor.

All pictures must be in the office of The Herald before 10 o'clock Saturday.

First prize, 20 tickets.
Second prize, 10 tickets.
Third prize, 5 tickets.
100 other prizes.

Five Stars Shine In Spectacular Vicki Baum Novel

Mrs. Earnest, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Pitman sang beautifully "Just Awearyin' For You" and "The Task."

Mr. Townsend announced at the beginning of his talk that sometime ago he came to the conclusion that he was spending too much time from his job as a speaker appearing before luncheon clubs as a special speaker and he resolved hereafter that most talks of that nature should deal with his profession, a resolution which seemed to have won more approval than disapproval, he said.

"The Soul of the City" was his topic. He said that no nation could exist without God and that a nation could endure only with God and that a city could not achieve or accomplish except with God.

He stated, it is his belief, that Jesus was community minded and quoted scripture to that effect, referring to Christ's spiritual disengagement over Jerusalem. It was necessary, he said, for every community to realize that beyond the aims and ideals of every person or the heart of every town must stand with Him, whom to know is to love.

On the committee for next week's program were named J. B. Pickle and V. H. Flewelling.

Five Stars Shine In Spectacular Vicki Baum Novel

Five stars instead of one shine in "Grand Hotel," spectacular picture of the celebrated Vicki Baum novel and play, which will head the program at the Ritz Theatre this week, starting Thursday.

Probably no film in recent years has attracted as much advance attention as this unusual screen drama which is described as a "symbolical study of human nature in startling realism." The play ran in New York for more than a year with similar success accorded its presentation in other American cities as well as the capitals of Europe.

In bringing it to the screen Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer placed five of its major stars in the central characterizations and engaged Edmund Goulding, director of "Devil's Holiday" and "The Trespasser," to handle the ambitious assignment.

The remarkable cast is headed by Greta Garbo with John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore playing outstanding roles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Knickerbocker and family left Wednesday morning for Graham to make their home.

Bicycle will be given away at the Petroleum Pharmacy Saturday afternoons at three o'clock. Cunningham & Phillips—adv.
