Financial Planning Program Introduced To Area Extension Agents And 4-H Leaders

Beverly A. Thomas of the Motley County Extension staff recently returned from an orientation to a new financial management educational program being undertaken by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in partnership with the College for Financial Planning. The program is a nationwide effort to teach young people essential concepts of personal-finance and sound money management.

The financial planning program materials are geared to the 16 to 18 year old group and emphasize such concepts as understanding the financial planning process, earning income to meet your goals, protecting your assets, saving, and

CARING FOR CLOTH DIAPERS

Recent magazine and newspaper articles concerning the environmental effect of disposable diapers have led some parents to select cloth diapers for their babies. Cloth diapers require special care to make sure they are clean, sanitary and free of any chemicals that could irritate

The first steps in caring for cloth dia-pers are the same whether you are laun-dering them yourself or using a diaper service. Scape or shake off solid waste and flush it down the toilet. Store soiled diapers in a tightly sealed container in a soaking solution until ready to launder. Soaking solutions can contain one of the following -- one or two tablespoons of chlorine bleach, laundry detergent, borax, or special diaper soaking product. Soaking helps remove stains and controls amonia-producing bacteria, which

To launder the diapers at home, pour

To launder the diapers at nome, pour the diapers and soaking solution into the automatic washer and set the machine on the spin cycle. If your machine does not have a spin cycle, wring the diapers by hand before putting them in the machine. Do not wash more than three dozen diapers in a standard size washing machine sthey empt be agitated adequately. Do as they cannot be agitated adequately. Do not launder diapers with other clothing. Soak heavily soiled diapers in warm water and detergent or run them through a prewash cycle with detergent. Then wash them in hot water and the amount of detergent recommended for the washer size and water conditions. Use a regular wash cycle and full water level. Add chlorine bleach to the wash water after the cycle has begun, following package

Rinse diapers thoroughly using at least two cycles. Detergent or bleach left in diapers can contribute to skin rashes. If your water is extremely hard, you may need to add packaged water softener to the final rinse to aid in detergent removal.

Fabric softener may be added to make the diapers softer, but they will be less absorbent if it is used in every wash load. An alternative to home care that is returning to many communities is diaper service. A diaper service owns the dia-pers, delivers clean diapers to your home, collects the dirty diapers and launders them. A good diaper service will use hotter water than home laundering and will adjust the alkalinity of the final rinse to help prevent skin irritation when the diapers are worn.

DINGY LAUNDRY

Underused detergent is the most common cause of dingy laundry. Using too little detergent can cause greyness and yellowing due to a build up of body soil and poor soil removal.

TRAVEL IS HARD ON YOUR SKIN

Travel can be hard on your skin, Buildings and planes that have low air humidity, stress from schedule changes and disruption of eating, sleeping and exer-cise patterns are the reasons. To avoid some of the damage, start taking precau-tions before the trip. Drink plenty of water and avoid caffeine. Protect skin with a moisturizing lotion. And remem-ber to take cleansers, moisturizers, sun-screens and hair care products that you are accustomed to using.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

In a united show of support Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Direc-tors voted April 11 to re-elect their entire 1990-91 officer corps to a second term. The vote came at their Board of Directors' meeting at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Returning PCG officers are: Larry Nelson of Tulia, President; Wayne Huf-faker of Tahoka, Vice President and Frank B.Jones of Lamesa, Secretary-Treasurer. Each of the returning officers was eligible for re-election under terms set forth in PCG's By-Laws. As a result of the election Steve Verett of Ralls will continue to serve as PCG Chairman of the Board.

Board.

The Board met in the afternoon following PCG's 34th Annual Meeting. The meeting was held in conjunction with the Texas Cotton Ginners' Annual Convention and Trade Show which kicked off the 11th and will run through Saturday the 13th.

Highlights of the annual meeting, which ended at noon with a complimentary buffet lunch for everyone who attended, were the two guest speakers, J. Nicholas Hahn and Keth Henley. Approximately 225 attended the PCG meeting throughout the morning.

Hahn, President and Chief Executive Officer of Cotton Incorporated, spoke of the importance of the upcoming referendum concerning changes at the research and promotion program conducted by Cotton Incorporated. The referendum will deal with changes in the way current producer assessment funds are collected and the addition of a mechanism to place the assessment on imported cotton and the assessment on imported cotton and the raw cotton equivalent of imported textiles. The current assessment rate is $1 plus six-tenths of one-percent of the value of the bale.

If passed the referendum will make the assessment uniform and non-refund-able and would allow importers to pay their fair share of the promotion efforts designed to increase cotton's market-share in the U.S. Hahn noted in his remarks that the referendum, originally scheduled to be held May 20-29, was being postponed until probably mid-July. The delay is due to the difficulty of identifying which importers will be eligible for the assess-

"Our industry has worked hard to get to the place we are today, and with the passage of this referendum we can rec-tify the inequity that exists between domestic producers and the importers of cotton products. This referendum will provide the Cotton Board a way to make importers pay their fair share of the cost to promote cotton in this country," explains PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

In the second address Henley, a director of CotLook Limited, described in detail several of the paths that cotton could take in the future. He also expressed his belief of the important role that high volume instrument testing (HVI) would play in that future.

"HVI is not a thing of the future. It is here today being used by U.S. merchants and mills as well as those abroad," noted

Henley.
In other activities U.S. Maid of Cotton
Crypolo Mississippi, Meg Williams of Tupelo, Mississippi, addressed the gathering in PCG's morning session. Also featured during the meeting were reports on the Plains Cotton Improvement Program by PCIP committee chairman Myrl D. Mitchell and the Boll Weevil Diapause Program by Roger Haldenby, PCG Boll Weevil Program Director.

POT LUCK IS FUN, BUT IT'S NOT GOOD BUSINESS

Pot luck dinners are a favorite American past-time, and an excellent way to put a good meal together for a large gathering of people. Pot luck, however, is a poor way to do business. Most doctors, den-tists, and other professionals will allow unannounced visits only in an emergency. They work best from an appointment schedule.

For many years Social Security offices served the public primarily on an unscheduled walk-in basis. In the last few years Social Security has emphasized telephone and walk-in appointments as the standard way of conducting business. It has proven both more efficient and more economical.

In fact, we began appointment scheduling as an experiment. As late as two years ago, only 20-30 percent of our work was conducted this way. Many offices now process over 70 percent of their now process over 10 percent of their claims by appointment.

The public has responded very well. They like not having to wait to talk to a representative, something that can happen in many offices. With an appointment, people know that on a certain day at a certain time, they will see or talk to a Social Security representative.

When we handle work by telephone, all the paperwork is sent through the mail.Claimants often don't have to visit the office at all. In urban areas, this is a real help to the public.

GOOD NEWS for local walleye fishermen. Joe Kraai, the biologist for the West Texas region of TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE, reports that walleye in LAKE MEREDITH are in great shape. The declining lake level is cause for some concern, and an old fashioned rain dance soon may be required, but "the number of keeper walleye (over 16 inches) has never been better", according to Kraai. He is the area's leading proponent of those toothy monsters that seem to disappear during prime summertime fishing. Perhaps this is the year to start catching the tasty walleye and give the bass a rest.

If and when Joe shares his how-to-catch-em walleye secrets, you will read them first in this column. Catching walleye remains a mystery to all but a handful of anglers, and these experts keep their lips sealed and sneak around the lake on those moonless nights.

As a Navy Pilot raised on the high plains of Texas, I had two goals. One was to be an astronaut and the other was to catch a limit of Walleye. A call from NASA seems more likely than a livewell full of those yankee transplants, but his year just might be one for the record books.
