Aided By New War Materials, Madrid Forces Fighting Back

Loyalists On A Successful Counter Drive

One Of Bloodiest Battles Of War Rages; Three Towns Recaptured

(By the Associated Press) Government forces, reinforced with new war materials, battled today to drive the fascist line back from Madrid.

In the second day of one of the civil war's bloodiest battles, the Madrid army was shelling Torrejon de Velasco preparatory to a renewed charge.

The fascists claimed they had captured many prisoners, including three hundred Russian soldiers.

Pavia reports said the Madrid government had mobilized a secret army in southern Spain to strike at the fascists' unguarded rear lines.

Retake Three Towns The government counter-attack against an insurgent siege of the capital resulted in recapture of three strategic towns in the beleaguered sector, socialist officials claimed.

Government reports were not confirmed by advices from the fascist side of the lines, where the forces of Gen. Jose Varela were declared to be organizing for the "final push" against Madrid.

A weak socialist attack near Chapineria, 25 miles west of the capital, was repulsed, the insurgent high command declared.

Beginning at dawn in response to a militant proclamation by Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, the socialist militiamen advanced rapidly southward along the Madrid-Torresblanca highway, retaking Torrejon de la Calzada.

Other Forces Drive Fascists East of the highroad, other forces drove fascist warriors from Seseña, just west of the Madrid-Aranjuez road, and approximately 22 miles south of the capital.

Fascist bands which have been approaching Madrid have already exhausted their strength and while they are disintegrating, our forces are becoming stronger every day," asserted Largo Caballero.

"We now have tanks and aviation which are important arms to pursue and destroy the enemy, but we need also the courage of the valiant militia and the complete will to conquer.

"The militia will advance with tanks and aviation to complete its work definitely and vanquish the enemy. Insurgent columns—destroyed by our aviation and overwhelmed by our tanks—are already retreating before our drive and soon will be completely conquered."

The socialist premier did not elaborate his assertion of receipt of new war materials. Observers in the Spanish capital, however, recalled Italian charges before the London neutrality committee that Soviet Russia had sent tanks, planes and men to the assistance of the Madrid government.

Insurgent commanders continued to consolidate their forces in the battle sectors, marshaling 200 "navy tanks" and armored cars for a prospective drive against Madrid.

Stanton Girl Death Victim

Funeral Service Scheduled Today For Edith Mae Wiswell

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. Friday at Stanton for Edith Mae Wiswell, 12, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Dave C. Wiswell who succumbed at the home in Stanton Thursday night at 11:20. The girl had been ill for a week.

Rev. Range, Stanton Baptist minister, and Rev. W. B. Garrett, pastor of the Fourth Street Baptist church of Big Spring, were to officiate at the service, at the Stanton Baptist church of which the girl was a member, and interment was to be in the Evergreen cemetery. Classmates of Edith Mae were to serve as pallbearers. Eberley Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Brothgum of Stanton; and the following uncles and aunts: Legs Brothers of Big Spring; Clark and Virgil Brothers, Stanton; M. Brothers, El Paso, and Dan Wiswell of Stanton; Mrs. H. O. Mayo, Roosevelt, Okla.; Mrs. Herschel Howard, Midland; Mrs. Nell Casey, Elmore, N. M.; and Mrs. Marvin Graham of Stanton.

Texas Demos After Record Vote For FD

Campaign Leader Urges Big Turnout At Polls Next Tuesday

AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—Texas democratic leaders maintain that this state next Tuesday will be larger than in any other state if they can persuade the Roosevelt supporters to take the time to vote.

Heads of the organization are working hard to make the vote reflect the party's strength. They point out that apathy has resulted frequently in Texas registering fewer votes for the democratic nominee for president than less populous doubtful states.

Four years ago, Roosevelt carried Texas by more than 7 to 1 yet his vote was smaller than in Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri or New Jersey, each of which has less population.

Roy Miller, head of the campaign in Texas, said there were several indications the Roosevelt vote this year would be larger than in 1932. Democrats must vote in large numbers, he said, to protect this state's representation in the national democratic convention. The last convention abrogated the two-thirds rule for presidential nominations but placed the south to some extent by agreeing to consider the democratic vote in determining how many delegates each state would have in the future.

Interest Stimulated The statewide campaign against the president conducted by the Jeffersonian democrats has stimulated interest in the election, Miller said, "and the net result will not be harmful to the Roosevelt cause."

"There is more enthusiasm among the Roosevelt supporters," the director continued, "than I've ever seen before in a general election campaign in Texas. We have used almost 15,000 postcards to acknowledge Roosevelt-Garner contributions of $1 or less. That shows the interest of the average voter this year."

BILLROY'S SHOWS TO BE HERE WEDNESDAY

A one-night engagement of the Billroy comedians has been booked for Big Spring next Wednesday, November 4. The tent will be on the showgrounds on West Third street.

The 12th anniversary edition of the Billroy shows presents Daphnia, fan dancer; the Palais Royale orchestra, a girl dancing chorus, and a three-act comedy drama.

Full Program Is Ahead For Scout Groups

Training School, Board Meeting, Annual Council Session Slated

Big Spring will be the center of interest and activity of the Buffalo Trail council for the next three months, Alfred J. Stiles, area executive, said on arrival here today.

In successive order these events will occur in this city: Celebration of 25 years service by troop No. 1, training school for leaders, council executive board meeting, campfire reunion, and annual council meeting, biggest event of the year for scouts.

The 26th charter, marking the completion of 25 years of active operation, will be presented to troop No. 1 with an appropriate celebration in which it is hoped scores of former members will participate. The ten-year program award will also be presented to the troop at that time.

Campers' Reunion Tentative date for the reunion of all scouts and leaders who attended the annual council summer camp at Barkdale this year has been set for Dec. 29. Stiles said he expected virtually all of the 241 boys and their leaders who qualify to come here for the gathering.

George Gentry, chairman, is planning the program for the annual meeting here in January with help from Claude Crain, Midland, and Lee Langley, Sweetwater. The event attracts more than 100 scouts here each year. One of the features will be the presentation of the Silver Beaver award to someone selected as giving outstanding service to the movement.

Sees Membership Gain Stiles was enthusiastic over interest in scouting in the area and looked for a 10 per cent gain in membership during the year. Another 10 per cent increase will be sought for 1937, he said. Three new units, one troop and two packs, are being added in Big Spring.

An indication of interest in the scouting program was shown in the total attendance of 140 men at six district meetings just completed, declared Stiles. At these meetings the men discussed training school's, senior units, new troops and packs, participation in the national jamboree, health and safety troop program planning.

He said that results were very noticeable from the addition of a field man in Darrell Wilson who will be here this week-end en route to Colorado and Snyder where he is to conduct training schools, terminating in a joint camping session at Dunn on Nov. 13.

CENTENNIAL PARTY NUMBERS OVER 200

More than 200 school children, patrons and teachers rode toward Dallas and the Centennial exposition today aboard a Texas and Pacific passenger train.

The number making the trip was estimated at 200, 196 of them paid fares, the others riding passes. Three special cars were added here to care for the extra load. More Centennial trippers were expected to board the train at Colorado and Sweetwater.

The group was due to arrive in Dallas this afternoon at 3:40 p. m. and will return here Sunday at 9 p. m. Some few indicated they might stay over in Dallas a little longer and return on the 7:10 a. m. train Monday.

125 BALLOTS CAST BY ABSENTEE VOTERS

Absentee voting totals jumped to 125 shortly before noon today as the deadline for voting neared. Saturday evening is the last time for that type of vote. It is predicted by observers that over 150 votes will be cast, indicating greater interest in the presidential election than was shown four years ago when only 93 absentee votes were cast.

Landon Victory Forecast In Final Returns Of Literary Digest's Poll

Landon receives 1,295,969 votes to Roosevelt's 972,897 and Lemke's 82,610 votes out of a grand total of 2,378,523 ballots tallied in the final returns of The Literary Digest's presidential poll of the forty-eight states.

The balance of the votes are divided 11,822 for Thomas, 9,484 for Browder, 8,771 for Polvin, 633 for Alken and 586 for others. The magazine observes in its columns that the tabulated figures represent the voted ballots just as they were received, neither weighted, adjusted nor interpreted. It is also noted that ballots were sent out to better than one out of every five voters in the entire nation.

"Never before in an experience covering more than a quarter of a century in taking polls have we received so many different varieties of criticism," The Literary Digest has taken in all these years. "Are the figures in this poll correct? We make no claims at this time."

STRIKE STOPS SHIPPING ON WEST COAST

(By the Associated Press) Pacific coast shipping was paralyzed today by a strike of 37,000 maritime workers, members of seven federated unions.

The possibility arose that the walkout might spread to Eastern and Gulf ports, tying up virtually all American shipping, said Rando Meriwether, western secretary of the Marine Engineers Beneficial association, predicted a national strike.

A port-wide "sit-down" strike expected in New York at noon, did not materialize. Union ship labor tonight was to vote on a general eastern seaboard strike.

Disagreement over points in new labor contracts caused the trouble at start. It has had little effect as yet on Texas Gulf ports.

From Buffalo, N. Y., Secretary of Labor Perkins announced she was making efforts by telephone to bring the shipping workers and employers together for negotiations, saying she had hopes of arranging meetings.

On the Pacific coast extra squads of police were on duty to prevent a repetition of the bloody 1934 clashes.

Workers on the West coast walked out at midnight, after last-minute efforts to settle the dispute failed. Prospects for ending the difficulty had been seen yesterday after the strike call was postponed 24 hours. Some of the ship line operators had offered agreements, but four major lines were still holding out and notified the unions that further negotiations would be useless.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady said he would attempt to arrange new meetings between the unions and all the shipowners.

McGrady declined to comment on reports that he had been in communication with Washington. What part the Maritime Commission was playing in the situation was not apparent.

The commission came into existence last Monday, assuming jurisdiction over the $100,000,000 in governmental ship subsidies. Some of the West coast operators participate in the subsidy program.

Texas Wants Pair On Murder Charges

Sheriff George Humphreys of King county was enroute to Little Rock, Ark. today seeking custody of R. L. Lamb and his son, Alfred "Sonny" Lamb, West Texas badmen.

He was asking extradition on an application filed today by Howard county officials on an indictment charging robbery of the Floyd Thomas place in Coahoma in August.

Lamb and his son, hunted by Texas and objects of a spirited search by the state department of public safety, were arrested last week in the Arkansas capital on a minor charge.

Indicted Here Although facing numerous complaints over West Texas, the Lams are indicted only in Howard county, hence the request for extradition from this county, County Attorney Wilburn Barcus said.

If extradition is honored by the Arkansas governor, they will be returned to King county to face charges of murder as the result of a shooting which occurred during a hold-up.

They were charged here and subsequently indicted for the robbery of the Thomas liquor store, a raid which netted $35 and 300 pints of whiskey. Both Lamb and his son were also wanted here for questioning in another liquor store hijacking and for theft of automobiles.

The Coahoma robbery occurred only four days after Sonny Lamb had been released from the state prison.

Judge Charles Klapproth set bond at $10,000 after the indictments were returned here during the September term of 70th district court.

COMMUNIST LEADER SAYS 20 STUDENTS MEMBERS OF PARTY

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 30 (AP)—Homer Brooks, communist candidate for governor, arrested here yesterday when he was found with circulars advertising a communist speech, estimated today his party has 400 Texas members, "about 20 in the student body of the university."

A few days ago a legislative investigation was abandoned after trying to bring out evidence that communism existed at the university.

Brooks and two companions were held in jail a few hours and finally were taken to the city limits and told to "get out of town and stay out."

Later at Houston, Brooks announced he would seek police protection for a meeting slated tonight at Port Arthur.

Last Speeches Are Scheduled For Saturday

FD Concludes Vote Drive In Manhattan, Landon In St. Louis

(By the Associated Press) The presidential campaign entered its final phase today, President Roosevelt speaking in Brooklyn tonight and Madison Square Garden in Manhattan tomorrow night; and Governor Landon homeward bound, stopping off for a speech in St. Louis tomorrow night.

Bidding for votes in the populous east, both candidates spoke to large crowds last night, Mr. Roosevelt appealing to myriads of Abraham Lincoln to show the new deal is right, Landon challenging the president to "tell us where we stand" on such questions as NRA, AAA and executive powers.

Social Security Debate The debate centering about the social security act continued, republicans denouncing it as "unfair" and Secretary of Labor Perkins saying "it is so much for the good of the people."

Senator La Follette announced a senate committee would investigate "grossly misleading" statements about the act, inserted in worker's pay envelopes.

Before a crowd that filled Madison Square Garden, Governor Landon last night urged the president within 48 hours to state "his purposes and intentions" toward the constitution "he swore to uphold."

Landon said that "the people of this country will not trust a man who does not trust them" and that "if he trusts them he will answer the questions being asked from one end of the country to the other."

Roosevelt Confident At Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg and stops in New Jersey and Delaware on his way back to Washington, the president attacked republican campaign arguments and expressed confidence in the result next Tuesday.

He spoke of the interdependence of industrial and farming sections, said the opposition was promising one thing to some sections and the opposite to others, and that payrolls had increased faster than food prices under administration policies.

In the last trip across his own Illinois, Col. Frank Knox lengthened his several attacks on Roosevelt policies. Republican votes, he said at Peoria, would "sweep the new deal into the Pacific." At West Frankfort, Knox said "sheer waste" by the new deal amounted to "10 billions, or more."

Among the other national candidates, William Lemke of the union party promised in Pittsburgh to continue relief "until it is substituted by a living American wage," if elected president. From there he took his campaign into Indiana.

The Salem Evangelical church in Buffalo opened its door to Earl Browder, the communist nominee, after his assistants had difficulty getting a hall. Browder said he attributed "the denial of halls there directly to the efforts of the republican organization."

Electioneering over the air occupied many hours and schedules were even fuller between now and Tuesday. Republican sources announced Richard Cleveland, son of President Grover Cleveland, would enter the anti-Roosevelt lists under auspices of the "Jeffersonian democrats."

Re-Employment Cited In a speech broadcast from Arkansas City, Kan., General Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, said the "whole issue" of the campaign is "big business versus popular government." He asserted that the "torries have taken" Governor Landon.

Secretary Hull took his exposition of the reciprocal tariff treaties before a Detroit audience, Secretary Perkins argued before a feminine rally in Chicago that re-employment evidenced business improvement.

State Amendments No. 5—A Proposal To Increase The Salaries Of Certain State Officials

When the present constitution was framed in 1876, one of the foremost thoughts in the minds of its authors was to prevent the waste, extravagance, and lavish salaries of the "Carpet Bag" regime; consequently the salaries of many state officials were fixed by the constitution. Among those so fixed were the salaries of the governor, attorney general, commissioner of the general land office, the comptroller of public accounts, the treasurer and the secretary of state.

The attorney general might be termed the general counsel for the state. It is his duty to advise the various departments and officials of the government as to their duties and rights. He must represent the state in all suits in the supreme court and in other courts as may be provided by law. He must meet in the courtroom the best legal talent obtainable anywhere, reward, or the promise thereof for the same; nor receive any salary, reward, or compensation or the promise thereof from any person or corporation for any service rendered or performed during the time he is governor, or to be thereafter rendered or performed.

At present the constitution limits the salary of the governor to $4,000 per year; the proposed amendment would raise his salary to $12,000 per year.

Mollison Sets Speed Record on Sea Flight

CROYDON, Eng., Oct. 30 (AP)—Captain James Mollison landed here today, shattering all speed records for an eastward Atlantic crossing. He made the flight from Newfoundland in 13 hours and 37 minutes.

It was the first time a trip with Landon as the eastern goal was completed without a forced landing. Mollison, with this feat, became the first man to fly a plane across the Atlantic four times.

Mollison took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 3:40 p. m. yesterday. His time was a record, but it was short of the mark of 17 1/2 hours flying time between New York and London he hoped to attain. It took him six hours and 41 minutes yesterday to fly from New York to Harbor Grace.

The "Dorothy" as he named his big Bellanca monoplane for a "very dear friend," carried 610 gallons of gasoline on the Atlantic hop.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Rowley

WE MAY be doing San Angelo a favor, as Bloddy Cross says, but we're still picking Breckenridge over the Bobcats. We'd like to see the Cats win, however, to uphold the old district 3.

GIBSON HAS quit the Steer squad, Coach Brandon announced this week. He didn't explain the trouble.

THERE HAS been considerable friction between Beaumont and Port Arthur high schools, and the following circular letter from M. E. Moore, Beaumont school superintendent, explains the ruckus:

"There is some speculation as to why the Beaumont athletic council has severed athletic relations with the Port Arthur high school. It has been asserted that the Beaumont position is merely an 'attitude'—the result of a general city feud between the two cities.

"No such 'attitude' exists in the minds of the athletic council. For years the relations between the two school systems have been cordial and congenial. This is true at the present time.

"The simple contention of the Beaumont athletic council is that an 11-graded school is not the athletic equal of a 12-graded school wherever the two may exist. Furthermore, we are not interested in the number of grades Port Arthur may have provided that their athletic relations exist between the first 11 grades of their school system and other 11-graded systems—the remaining grades competing against junior colleges if they so desire.

"The council did not deduce this position from theory but from hard experience gained through the eight years since Port Arthur changed from an 11-graded system to a 12-graded system. For years we endeavored to overlook the difference but each year it becomes more and more apparent that the unfairness of it cannot be further ignored by those who believe that one of the major elements of true sportsmanship is that the contestants shall compete on equal terms.

"Only ONE of the 88 Class A high schools of Texas is at the top of a 12-graded system—all the other 88 being at the top of an 11-graded system. To this one school the Interscholastic League gives the exclusive right to begin counting athletic semesters in the ninth grade, but requires all of the other 88 schools to begin counting them in the eighth grade. This gives one system the distinct advantage of (1) an additional year of football experience for every boy who has come up through the grades and (2) a larger number of 18, 19, and 20-year-old boys to select from since the extra grade has been added at the END of the system instead of the beginning, taking in OLDER children instead of younger ones.

"That this unequal and unfair situation is beginning to dawn on some of the other of the 88 high schools is attested by the enclosure which speaks for itself."

BIG SPRING produced 23 winners last week in the Coca-Cola football guessing contest. That's a good batting average for the prognosticators.

OUT OF THE ARMY LINE-UP

Woodrow Wilson, who has played on the Big Spring gridiron many times, was an excellent football prospect at West Point this season until lost to the team last week because of an attack of flu. Woodrow played high school football at Stanton, 20 miles west of here, and attended the El Paso College of Mines before going to West Point. Wilson came to the attention of the experts in the Army-Columbia game where his defensive work and pass shagging was excellent. He played for a short time in the first quarter of the Harvard game for Bears Saturday. Not a tie game, however, but a tie on the all-time record between the two schools.

Rayson has 19 victories to T.C.U.'s 18 in the 42 games that have been played during the past 35 years. Five games have been ties.

AN ENTERPRISING reporter for The Skiff, T.C.U. student newspaper, set out to discover whether or not the co-eds know football. He came back with a definite conviction that they do not.

"They agreed on one thing," he wrote. "They all know what a huddle is!"

"It was generally agreed that the safety man is the one who plays way back. Why he plays there was a matter of varied opinion. One sweet young thing said it was because he is the one who is so good that he is kept out of the game until he is needed."

"A first down is made by gaining 10 yards on one play, or gaining 20 yards on four plays. A few radicals declared that a first down is made by gaining 10 or more yards in four downs or less."

"What do girls watch at football game? One watches the center because she knew a center at home. Another watches to see what her friends are wearing. Still another watches to see if Bill gets hurt. Several said they watch Sam Baugh."

COACH DISARMS CRITICS LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 (AP) — "Red" Strader, one of St. Mary's greatest and now backfield coach of his alma mater, didn't like it when some bay area newspapers said he called signals from the bench. In answer to his critics, Strader didn't smoke or wear a hat when St. Mary's beat Loyola the next time but he was supposed to have tipped off signal calls by the angles of his hat or cigar.

MADISON TO RIDE BENCH TONIGHT

Louis Madison, Steer quarterback who had just recovered from early season injuries and appeared to be heading into fine condition, will be riding the sidelines again tonight, coaches reported this morning. Madison has not been feeling any too well this week and mentors decided to bench him for the Comanche game. They have the San Angelo affair staring them in the face and they're not willing to take any chances.

Burrus will probably be named to start the game for Madison, and Henninger will be worked into the secondary before the halfway mark.

Devils Make Plains Trip

Coach Daniels Names 19 Players For Journey Tomorrow

With victories over Coahoma and Colorado, Big Spring's junior football team will leave early tomorrow morning for Plains.

Coach Daniels named the following players for the trip: Centers—Hart and Savage, guards—Deal, Alexander and Hogg, tackles—Craig, Callihan and Creek, ends—Danner, Bethel, Owens and John Blomfield, backs—Womack, Winslow, Bostick, Harry Blomfield, Weier, Miller and Martin. The probable starters will be Hart, Deal, Alexander, Craig, Creek, Danner, Owens, Womack, Winslow, Bostick and Weier.

The Devils play at Coahoma Wednesday afternoon.

FOOTBALL BROADCASTS

An interesting Saturday afternoon is in prospect for radio followers of Southwest conference football. Three games, engaging six of the seven conference teams, are scheduled for broadcasting under the sponsorship of the Humble Oil & Refining company.

Leading the list, because the Aggies lead the league, is the game between Texas A. & M. and the University of Arkansas to be played on the Kyle field at College Station. The Aggie conference record, and for that matter, non-conference, too is unblemished except for the tie game with Baylor at Waco last Saturday. Arkansas has only played two conference games; in one of these the Razorbacks came off second best, by a touchdown, to TCU, and in the second, they came from behind to win from Baylor 14-10. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30. The Humble company's broadcast will start ten minutes earlier at 2:20, with Kern Tipton handling play-by-play, and Bill Hightower the color. Stations KPRC, Houston; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Port Worth; WQAI, San Antonio; KRGV, Waco.

In the second game of the afternoon, Southern Methodist university makes its first conference start against the powerful Texas university club. The broadcast, under Humble's sponsorship, begins at 2:20 p. m., with Bill Ware and Tom Jacobs at the microphone. Stations KNOW, Austin; KTRB, San Antonio; KTRH, Houston; KRLL, Dallas.

The third game of the afternoon brings together Baylor and Texas Christian university at Fort Worth. This is an old rivalry, made keener this year by the fact that each will be battling to stay in the conference race. The Humble company's broadcast will begin at 2:30 p. m., with Gene Wyatt and Cy Leland alternating at the microphone. Stations WACO, Waco, and KTAT, Fort Worth.

BASEBALL STILL POPULAR, CARDINAL SCOUT SAYS DENVER, Oct. 30 (AP)—Charles F. Barrett, St. Louis Cardinal scout, doesn't believe the sources of major league baseball talent are drying up.

Oilers Lose Opening Tilt To Lueders

Hometown Quint Takes Rough Basketball Contest, 35 To 33

By HANK HART LUEDERS, Oct. 30.—The Coahoma Oilers and the Lueders Casers took sides in a regular feud Thursday night to give the fans a taste of rough basketball, and the hometown won out, 35-33.

The performance of Jake Morgan at guard was little short of sensational, overshadowing the play of Ferrell, former McMurry ace, and Walker, whose alma mater is Abilene Christian college.

The Coahomites were sorely in need of Horace Wallin, who picked a bad time to hurt his knee. To make matters worse, "Skeets" West was asked to join the spectators at the sidelines when he committed his fourth foul in the third period.

Morgan with four field goals and two free tosses, was tops in scoring for the Big Spring quint while Ferrell, who recorded a quartet of field goals and four free tosses, led the scoring parade of the victors.

The score at half time favored the Taylor county quint, 15-14. The two teams will play a return engagement in Big Spring November 14.

TEXAS-MUSTANG TILT IS LEADER

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—Rice stadium at Houston will be the scene of an inter-sectional conflict between George Washington university of the nation's capital and the Owls of Rice Institute. The TCU Frogs and Baylor's Bears will argue for four quarters Saturday afternoon in TCU stadium, and Texas A&M and Arkansas will clash in College Station, but the real spotlight this week-end will be on Austin where the conference champions, the Mustangs of Southern Methodist University, and the twice-beaten Texas Longhorns, will get together in a game that should go a long way in deciding who is going to lead this year's parade.

Never before has a champion repeated, and the six teams of the Southwest conference are out to stop SMU's headlong charge to top honors. It remains to be seen whether Texas can hold the galloping Ponies.

Both Baylor and TCU have already been beaten twice this year, but neither team is out of the race

District Champs Expected To Come Out Of Game At Breckenridge

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 30. (Spl) — Breckenridge football fans were preparing this morning to welcome hundreds of San Angelo fans due here this afternoon for the crucial District 3 clash tonight between the Buckaroos and Bobcats.

The winner of tonight's game will be odds-on favorite to cop the championship.

Breckenridge will hold an advantage in weight in the line of average being 177 pounds. San Angelo will rely mainly on the speed of Halfbacks Harry Hays and Harry Harrison.

The Bobcats in midweek were in good physical condition, but rain interfered with practice. The starting lineup likely will be the same as last Friday night when San Angelo defeated Brownwood here, 12-0.

by a means. The Bears lost to Arkansas in Fayetteville, tied A&M in Waco last week-end, and lost an early season encounter with Centenary, while the Christianists went down before Texas Tech in a non-conference affair and were defeated by Texas A&M, 18-7.

Arkansas, beaten in the conference only by TCU, takes on A&M in a tossup affair. The Aggies' only blot thus far was the tie fought with Baylor in mud and rain.

The Owls, who defeated the Washington eleven last year, 41-0, have no Bill Wallace or John McCauley this year but should take the easterners Saturday and even the score for the Southwest conference. The capital eleven defeated Arkansas earlier in the season, 13-6.

Cowboys Drill For Clash With Kansas Wesleyan

ABILENE, Oct. 30. (Spl) — Kimbrough's victorious Cowboys were set to riding range on erring plays again this week in preparation for the November 7 inter-sectional game with Kansas Wesleyan university from Salina.

The Abileneans will play host to visiting Coyotes an even two weeks after their victory over Creighton Bluejays in Omaha and for a second consecutive time will meet an undefeated northern eleven.

Kansas Wesleyan came through the 1935 schedule to lead the Kansas conference and according to Coach A. B. Mackie has taken five of eight conference titles.

The Coyotes however have the ranch hands outweighed considerably and through their mentor promise Cowboys a tough battle November 7.

CLUBS

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gage left this afternoon for Denton to spend the week-end with Mrs. Gage's parents.

HE MADE A TEN-YEAR TEST WITH ALL-BRAN

Say good-bye to the headaches, the low spirits, the sleeplessness that often follow common constipation. Just read this letter:

"In 1926, I started using ALL-BRAN. And now, after ten years, during which I have put Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to a long, hard test, I am writing you this letter. It is better to eat this food and be in condition, than to resort to laxatives."

—Bernard Altman, 63 Goodale Road, Mattapan, Mass.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will help you too. Its "bulk" absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Tests prove it is safe and effective.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Either as a cereal, or in recipes. How much better to use this food than to take patent medicines. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Reading And Writing

By John Selby

A couple of weeks ago a large and quite puffy book arrived which bore the title "Fifty Years of American Golf." As the office boy deposited it on the desk, the mouth of a certain young man who berths nearby dropped open and a look of longing came into his eye. So he got the book, on condition that he would report on its content.

There are the championship matches, and the facts about the players, and the descriptions of the courses used. But much more interesting to one not a fanatic about the game is the story of golf's rise from very humble beginnings to a swollen, plutocratic state; of the sudden and dramatic fall from that state; of the rise again from humble foundations. This holds up still another mirror to our national history, and because the reflection is from an odd angle, it is especially amusing.

"Fifty Years of American Golf," by H. B. Martin; (Dodd, Mead).

Crocheted Table Doilies

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 349

We've really decided to make a bread tray doily for our Nearest Neighbor's Christmas. We had tea with her the other day and did so enjoy her wafer thin bread and butter. Like all the English, she can butter the thinnest slices of bread without having it crumble away, and we always feel envious of that achievement.

But we did notice she didn't have a doily for her bread tray; that's why we came to the decision to crochet this one for her for Christmas.

We're sure that any of your friends would be overjoyed to find a bread-tray doily in her Christmas stockings, and you might slip her this pattern, too—in case she feels ambitious, she can make a luncheon set to match—large oval doilies and round tumbler doilies. Anyway, she's sure to find an attractive oval doily has dozens of uses that a simple, round one lacks.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 349 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address: Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

which is evil; cleave to that which is good" (Romans 12:9).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it" (1 Corinthians 10:13).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Passions, selfishness, false appetites, hatred, fear, all sensuality, yield to spirituality, and the superabundance of being is on the side of God, good" (page 201).

Erno E. Cammerer, director of the national park service, will be here from Washington with Assistant Directors Conrad L. Wirth and G. A. Moskey, to head the American delegation. The commission from Mexico will be under Daniel F. Galicia, of the department of forestry, game and fish.

The two sections international park would be joined by a bridge over the Rio Grande linking the proposed Big Bend National park, the entire area of which would be in Brewster county, with a national park the Mexican government plans to establish in contiguous territory south of the river.

Boundaries the American commission has tentatively adopted for the Texas park would provide entrances (each) from Alpine and Marathon. From Alpine, the distance would be approximately 85 miles to a point in the boundary line through Paint Gap, in the Christmas mountains, on a spur of the road that leads to Terlingua and Study Butte mining camps.

The approach road from Marathon, a distance of 70 miles, would enter the park through Perishmon Gap and Dog Canyon, in the Santa Maria mountains. From there, the park line would go south to Boquillas, and west through Johnson's ranch and Castellan to Lajitas, thence north and east to Paint Gap on through the Rosillos mountains to tie in at Perishmon Gap.

This area would take in the entire range of the Chisos mountains, together with the Santa Helena, Boquillas and Mariscal canyons.

Investigation Asked On 'Fraudulent' Posters Concerning Social Security

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (UP)—A request by the social security board that the department of justice investigate the source of "fraudulent" posters today climaxed a bitter partisan fight over the social security act.

The board announced it had "brought to the attention of the justice department" posters tacked up in places of employment in at least six states indicating the board had ordered wage reductions.

"No regulations dealing with wage reductions have been published by the social security board," an official announcement said. "No instructions to employers to post such notices have been issued by the social security board."

The board made public photostatic copies of such posters announcing pay reductions and concluding with the words: "Regulations are published by the social security board, Washington, D. C., the name and address of the board placed so as to appear to be the signature to an official notice."

"Any effort to have the name of the board appear as a signature to such notices is misrepresentation and fraud," the board said.

"The social security board cannot ignore this unauthorized and misleading use of its name on posters which is impeding the orderly process of administering the social security act."

"The board feels it is its duty, in the view of such misuse of its name, to bring these posters to the attention of the department of justice for investigation as to authorship and responsibility for circulation," the board said.

The board's request for an investigation followed previous charges that "misrepresentation" of the act was being "inspired" by the republican national committee headquarters "knowing them to be false" for political gain.

The board complained that in some instances employers have been putting enclosures into pay envelopes indicating the new deal is responsible for a "pay cut" beginning January 1 and making no mention of employer contributions.

Campaign Issues Same As In 1932, Allred Declares

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Oct. 30. (UP)—Gov. James V. Allred declared in a democratic campaign speech here last night that the election issues were the same as those of 1932 when "republican money changers were literally driven from the halls of government."

This speech was the first of a series the Texas governor plans to make on invitation of Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico and the democratic national campaign organization.

"Embrace Any Platform" "Now the republicans are clamoring to get back in," Allred said, "and most of their spokesmen have become so desperate they are willing to adopt almost any platform or embrace almost any creed while at the same time dealing in glittering generalities and pure platitudes."

"Today the leaders of the republican party shout denunciation at our greatest humanitarian president. This republican leadership has not hesitated to vilify and condemn the president's motives. They point to the mistakes they may have made without substituting a workable program of their own save in the most vague and general terms.

"Mistakes For The Millions" "The president has never contended, nor does the democratic party contend, that mistakes have not been made. The president of course, with his tremendous responsibilities, must necessarily operate through appointive agents. He has probably more people to make mistakes for him than any other person in the history of the world.

"Under republican administrations we made mistakes in the interest of less than a million people. Under Roosevelt's administration the mistakes we have made have been in the interest of more than one hundred million people."

Boys Copy The Law GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP)—The Green Bay police court has formed a "penmanship class" in which traffic law violators are "enrolled." Recently two boys, one arrested for speeding and the other for illegal possession of an automobile, were ordered to write the laws covering their offenses 5 and 25 times, respectively.

AUSTIN, Oct. 30. (UP)—A "hot" check contributed to the Roosevelt-Garner re-election campaign was made good today by the donor.

Famed Executioner Of France Hints He May Quit His Job

PARIS, Oct. 30. (UP)—Grey-bearded Anatole Dibiai, better known as "Monsieur de Paris," looking more like an absent-minded professor than a man who had chopped off 260 heads, hinted today he was about to resign.

The 64-year-old official executioner—son of an executioner and grandnephew of an executioner—operated his collapsible guillotine for perhaps the last time when he lopped off the head of 30-year-old Andrew Martin at Caen yesterday.

The executioner, sturdy despite his advancing years, inherited his job from his father, Henri Dibiai, in 1888 and in the years since has become such an important individual in France that the ordinary laws do not affect him.

But he told the United Press he feels he is getting too old to arise early in the morning and go about the country setting up his collapsible "Lady Guillotine," which he invented 10 years ago. Besides, he considers his lanky son-in-law, Andre Perrier, who has been his understudy for several years, a master of the "art" and ready to take over the job which pays 20,000 francs (about $900) a year.

FAMOUS JOCKEY IS VICTIM OF ATTACK

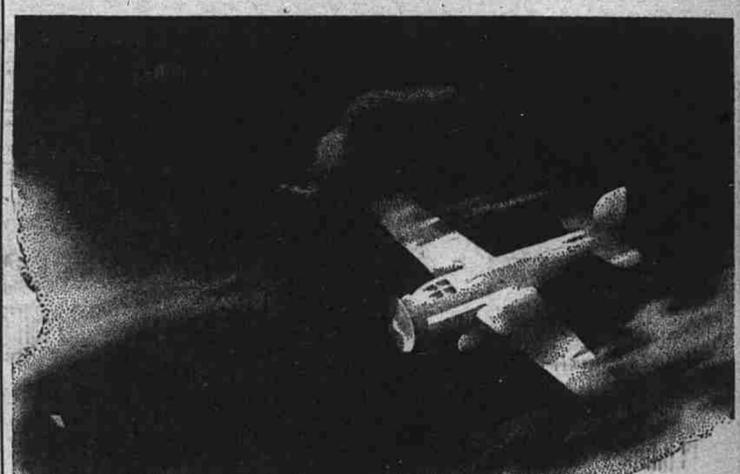

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 30. (UP)—Mack Garner, 36, one of America's top ranked jockeys for the past two decades, died of a heart attack at his home here late Wednesday.

Garner, one of four brothers who made an imprint in the thoroughbred racing world as riders had mounts at the River Downs track at Cincinnati yesterday and was astride one winner, Blant Eye.

After he returned to his home Garner complained of being ill. A few hours later his condition became serious and he collapsed. A life saving squad was called to administer restoratives and he was rushed to a hospital. The rider was dead upon arrival.

Garner was a native of Centerville, Ia., and had been riding since he was 16.

Mrs. Garland Woodward, Mrs. R. H. McNew, and Mrs. Ralph Houston were to leave Friday afternoon for Austin where they will visit with relatives and witness the Texas-S.M.U. football game Saturday afternoon.

Senate Is Due For Rookies

At Least Ten New Members Will Be Seen In Upper House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (UP)—Regardless of what happens at the polls Tuesday at least 10 "rookies" representing nine states, will win election to the U. S. senate. In addition, 25 incumbent senators seek re-election.

The rookie senators will represent Colorado, Florida, Iowa, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire and Oklahoma. Certainty of rookies from these states is due to defeat of two incumbents in primary elections, withdrawal of seven and the death of one since the last congress adjourned on June 30.

Two of these "freshmen" candidates—Claude Pepper, D. Fla., and Alton J. Ellender, D. La., will have no opposition at the polls.

Pepper, lawyer, former member of the Florida house of representatives and unsuccessful candidate for the U. S. senate in 1934, succeeded William L. Hill, who was appointed to the vacancy created by the death of the veteran Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher. Fletcher died three days before congress adjourned and Hill, who was his secretary for many years, never saw active service.

Ellender, former speaker of the Louisiana house of representatives and a follower of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, succeeds Long's widow, Rose McConnell Long. Mrs. Long withdrew after serving out the remainder of her husband's term. Thus, Sen. Hattie Caraway, D. Ark., again becomes the lone woman member of the senate.

Major candidates for other "rookie" memberships:

Colorado: Ed C. Johnson, D., and Raymond L. Sauter, R.

Florida: C. O. Andrews, D., and Howard C. Babcock, R.

Iowa: Guy M. Gillette, D., and Berry Halden, R.

Massachusetts: James M. Curley, D., and Henry Cabot Lodge, R.

Michigan: Prentiss M. Brown, D., and Wilbur M. Brucker, R.

Minnesota: Theodore Christianson, R., and Ernest Lundeen, F-L. (The democratic candidate, Patrick J. Delaney, withdrew.)

New Hampshire: William N. Rogers, D., and H. Styles Bridges, R.

Oklahoma: Josh Lee, D., and Herbert K. Hyde, R.

Eighty Year Cyclist Hazards Traffic With No Sign Of A Brake

NORTH BROOKFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Jonas T. Shee recently celebrated his 80th birthday by riding his rickety bicycle down the long hill leading from his home to the center of the town.

He is a familiar figure to townspeople. But to see a be-whiskered old man pedaling merrily along Main street, ducking in and out of traffic, or along a country road creates considerable interest among visitors. "You know, I'm taking a chance," Jonas said, "because there's no brake on this machine and no sprocket chain. I go like the wind downhill so I can coast up the next hill. When I want to slow up or stop, I use my right foot." His riding was curtailed for a few weeks because of the brake problem, but he said he uses plenty of "foot brake" and all kinds of caution.

As a cyclist for 40 of his 80 years, he has ridden thousands of miles and has spent hundreds of hours in what to him has been sport, exercise and conveyance.

The SPORTSMAN

By JARRY BAUER

Autumn again. The hunter's season. And the hunter's moon. The great golden disc emerges above the timber across the quiet lake and floods the unspoiled wilderness with a silvery light.

A fish rises near the shore. A large bird, probably an owl, goes overhead. Then a long silence, broken by a slight rustle in the brush. The creatures of the night are stirring. Curiosity will bring some of them creeping towards the fire, soon. We put a bit of wood on the embers and saugie into the blankets, with a prayer of thanks that civilization is far beyond the moonlit horizon.

Tomorrow? Why worry about that. The shadows cast by the tiny flames bring sleepy memories of other campfires, other days. . . . Stalking deer in sock feet with a ten-gauge gun. When the pounding of our boyish heart seemingly made more noise than our boots could have made. . . . Springtime, and the return of the prairie chickens to their booming grounds. . . . We'll never forget the sound. Now they're breeding the birds in captivity. . . . Wonder if the cocks dance as of old?

A lonely cabin in Canada almost buried in snow. . . . Then came the gaunt, starved wolves and game was scarce. . . . Need sharp eyes to see ptarmigan in winter dress. . . . War weary and half sick, we took a lesson from the wild things and crawled away to seclusion. . . . Found peace and rest and health in the white north.

ACCIDENT ALIBIS

With the coming of winter and the accompanying rains, snows and sleet, motorists who need an excuse for accidents will have another to add to their list—slick roads.

The idea that when roads are slick they should drive slower and more carefully does not seem to have entered their minds, but they go blithely ahead, driving just as when the weather is fair and the roads dry and visibility perfect...

Care in driving is in every motorist's mind, but too often it is the belief that the care should be exercised by others. That care should be a part of the equipment of every driver, without exception, seems not to be a part of the mental processes of a great number of drivers.

Nor do all of them care for regulations made for the common convenience and safety. Take the case of a driver who heads his car into a loading zone and parks. If he knows enough to know how to drive a car he knows, or should know, enough to be aware that the markings are for some specific purpose, and if he is ignorant of that purpose his duty is to inquire.

Sometimes there is an accident that really is one. More often the collisions, slides, sideswipes, all the list of troubles, are due to carelessness or indifference, and it is against these that laws have to be made and regulations laid down. Until these laws are obeyed these regulations observed, and greater care in driving exercised by drivers, there will be a continuance and likely an increase in the number of tragedies, few of which may truthfully be called accidents.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Not since the days when I trooped (largely as a mental roustabout) for Ted Lewis, Polly Moran, and others of the spangled parade have I encountered so varied a character as Charles Lucas.

You've seen him at first nights, or ripping sporadically through the town, but Broadway is only a minor facet to this many-sided filibusterer of the world.

His right hand is practically useless—the result of a bayonet wound in Cuba. Once he was wrecked in the North sea, and picked up by a British fishing schooner. When the grand stampede on the Klondyke began, this gadabout was already there. Clutched in the grip of an Icelandic famine, he crossed the great barrens with a team of dogs and bartered food from Mongolian trappers in Siberia. During the war he was torpedoed off the Spanish coast and, after a harrowing experience, dragged safely into Malaga.

Made Fortune With Club

You begin to acquire a taste for these episodes after 30 years at sea—and also a restlessness that leads you up many strange streets. There was Borneo, and Sumatra, and the South seas. It was inevitable that, in time, he should come to Broadway.

Remember the old Donahue mansion in 56th street, one of the testimonials that Stanford White left to his memory? Charlie and Tommy Guinan, Tex's red-haired brother, made it over into the old Napoleon club, and they earned a million dollars. They introduced Jules Biedsoe as an entertainer there and this was the first indication that Harlem was moving uptown.

Then came the Montparnasse, in 52nd street, in a house where the Countess D'Balliscourt used to live, and the Biarritz, and now the Kit-Kat club, the umpha-umpha of all Senegalese hideways in New York.

His Biggest Moment

Charlie had a birthday not so many nights ago. The girls from the "Follies" descended on him en masse and gave him a platinum cigarette case. They bounced in on him and smeared him with lip-stick, and kissed him on his bald head, and danced till dawn.

That meant more to him than a decoration from a foreign government (he has four or five of these). It was, he says, one of the most gratifying things that has ever happened to him.

Considering the pulse-quickening, unbelievable experiences he has had, such a statement might be disbelieved in some quarters. But not if you know Charlie. He's just that specie of bozo.

Engineers Seeking Roadable Autogiro

LONDON, (UP)—British and American engineers, co-operating in one of the most interesting personal travel experiments of recent years, are attempting to produce a two-seat roadable autogiro. The machine is a development of the "autodynamic" or direct take-off airplane. It gives motor car accommodation, with a closed cabin and side-by-side seating, and it will run on the road or in the air. When the traveler decides to change the highway for the airway they extend the machine's rotor blades to a jump take-off and continue the journey as a fully flying autogiro.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There is something about the present political campaign not unlike a baseball season. One team has a great bunch of players, all the ballyhoo in the world, plenty of money to spend, but lacks that indefinable but absolutely essential "something" it takes to bring home the bacon.

In 1932, Dame Fortune handed him the depression and the tidal wave of resentment against Herbert Hoover, which would have swept almost any candidate into office. This year, as if enamored of his golden voice and captivating smile, Lady Luck has given him all the breaks. When he appeared in Chicago it was warm and sunny. Landon's entry was made in a deluge of rain. In Detroit, Landon addressed a shivering audience huddled in one end of the ball park. To Roosevelt Dame Fortune gave a lovely Indian summer evening.

Roosevelt Silence: Landon has been pushed out in the open on foreign affairs, the tariff, farm aid, relief, and so on down the line. Roosevelt has coasted along without putting himself on record on hardly anything. There isn't a person in the country (and some of the president's friends say this includes FDR himself) who can state with assurance what he will do regarding the constitution, the supreme court, taxation, labor, agriculture, the NRA and industry.

Here again is where luck has smiled on Franklin Roosevelt. He was able to get away with what he has, chiefly because of the deep cleavage within GOP ranks over basic policies. They themselves haven't known what they wanted. Liberal vs. Liberty League.

On one side has been the little band of Kansas editors who first launched Landon, built him up to presidential stature, put him across at the Cleveland convention. They are the soundest advisers Landon ever had. But they are definitely on the left flank.

On the right flank are the big moneyed boys, who jumped on the Landon bandwagon after he was built up in Cleveland. They are the boys who furnish the jack-the-stuff which makes election wheels go round. They are the J. P. Morgans, the Rockefellers, the du Ponts, the Liberty League. They are essential, and they know it. So they have their say.

With Al Smith, Herbert Hoover and other old guarders baying at the moon, Roosevelt has been able to rest on his oars, point to the top hats and observe: "Look who is against me. I must be good."

More Roosevelt Luck: Roosevelt had other luck. His opponent not only was pulled between two camps, but he lacked the skilled advisers to prevent campaign "boners."

Every candidate pulls them. Even Roosevelt, veteran campaigner that he is, has dropped a few. But the efficient campaign manager has his candidate surrounded by expert politicians whose job is to reduce boners to a minimum.

Coming through New Mexico, a state whose civilization dates back to before the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, Landon said: "Many of your citizens once lived under the flags of other countries. You are now citizens of the United States."

To which an irate New Mexican editor replied: "Well isn't that just ducky?"

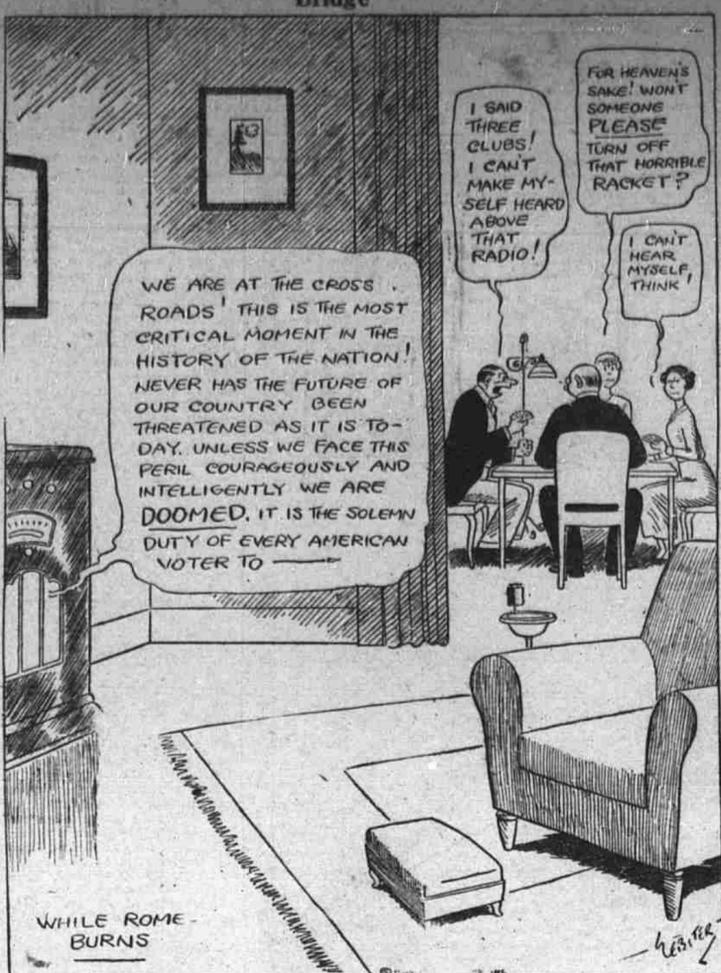

Alfalfa Bill: Traveling through Oklahoma, some energetic Landon politico had the bright idea of inviting Alfalfa Bill Murray, ex-governor of the state, to introduce Landon when he made his main address. Murray, of course, is an anti-Roosevelt democrat. But he happens to be one of the most unpopular democrats in the state. The bright idea actually lost votes for Landon.

Landon Personality: Roosevelt's luck has been Governor Landon's personality. In the small areas of Kansas, Landon was a great success. There, everybody knew Alf, knew him for what he is—a sincere, capable, personable governor out for the best interests of Kansas.

But Alf lacks the personality, the platform experience, the appeal to make himself felt in the great arena outside the Jayhawk state. It is no good at a nation-wide, rough-and-tumble brawl.

At first his advisers did not think this was necessary. They figured that anti-Roosevelt resentment would sweep their candidate into office. All he would have to do was sit on his front porch, shake a few heads, pose for a few photographs. But when they decided that a slashing aggressive campaign was necessary, they discovered that their candidate was not built for this type of fighting.

Even his intimates now admit that Landon has lost personal stature as the campaign progressed. Or as the Albuquerque Journal (a Landon supporter) mournfully reported: "Governor Landon's personal appearance in the state campaign probably hasn't had much effect in changing the political mind."

Britain Tests High Altitude Speed Flying

LONDON, Oct. 30. (UP)—Great Britain is planning to conduct intensive research into the upper air in an effort to solve the problem of speed flying in the stratosphere. Squadron Leader F. R. D. Swain recently piloted a special type monoplane to a world height of 49,867 feet. Following this feat the Air Ministry announced that a second plane similar to the one Swain used will be liquid cooled instead of air cooled. Both planes will be used in further experimental work in the stratosphere.

ARMY IN HAWAII WILL BE TESTED

HONOLULU, Oct. 30. (UP)—The most extensive military competition ever held on American soil will take place here from November 9 to 14, according to an announcement of Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the Hawaiian Department of the United States Army. The competitions are not maneuvers but merely a test of the strength and competency of the troops now stationed in Hawaii. More than 20,000 officers and men will participate in approximately 30 events, furnishing competitive tests of all phases of training for all arms and branches of the military service. Entries in the various events will range from a squad to a battalion. Each soldier must be entered in at least one event. The program will be the most elaborate ever ordered for an American army in peace time. General Drum announced: "No athletic events are scheduled. The entire program is military. Events will consist of infantry, field artillery and coast artillery drills, combat range firing, marches, scouting, patrolling, close order drills and daily training schedules in the handling of each bit of equipment, whether it be a rifle or a tank. The program will mark the end of a year of extremely hard training units at Schofield barracks have undergone. This post, the largest in the United States, expects to set an example for army divisions in other parts of the nation. "Such a competition is most valuable in building esprit de corps," points out General Drum. "These military events will be our army's greatest peace time competitive meet."

35 Seats In Senate To Be Filled Nov. 3

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (UP)—Thirty-five senators and the full house of representatives will be chosen in the general elections Nov. 3. The political line-up of the major parties in the two houses in the last congress was: Senate—democrats, 70; republicans, 23. House—democrats, 315; republicans, 104.

Nine Democrats, Those In The Solid South, Are Unopposed

There are 35 places in the senate to be filled as one-third of the house is elected every two years. In Maine's September election, Sen. Wallace H. White, R., was re-elected. Three republican representatives also were elected. The other 47 states will vote on congressional candidates in the general elections.

Among veteran senators seeking re-election are: George W. Norris, R., Neb.; William E. Borah, R., Ida.; Arthur Capper, R., Kas.; J. Hamilton Lewis, D., Ill.; Daniel O. Hastings, R., Del.; Lester J. Dickinson, R., Ia.; Charles McNary, R., Ore.; Jesse H. Metcalf, R., R. I.; and Morris Sheppard, D., Tex.

Unopposed democratic veterans whose nominations were tantamount to election are: Carter Glass, Va.; Pat Harrison, Miss.; Joseph T. Robinson, Ark.; and John H. Bankhead, Ala. In the senatorial races probably the most unusual situation exists in Nebraska where Norris is running as an independent against regular republican and democratic candidates. President Roosevelt is actively supporting Norris for re-election; and he paid a tribute to the veteran legislator in a campaign speech in Omaha several weeks ago.

Under the existing line-up, republicans could elect all their candidates outside the South without overthrowing the democratic senate majority in the next congress. In 1938, however, 27 democratic senators end their terms. Many of these are from normally republican territory, having been swept into office in the 1932 democratic landslide. Only five republicans will end their terms two years hence.

The house situation is different. Each of the 435 members is elected every two years. Thus, it is possible for the balance of power to shift in a single election. Impartial observers agree that the republican party will gain house seats in the Nov. 3 balloting. Democrats argue that they will not lose a seat. Republican hopes are based on past elections which almost invariably show that the winning presidential nominee carries his party into power in the house.

A survey of past elections reveals forged the name of his mother Mrs. Sallie Barnet of Center, to the claim. The veteran reported that he had died in White City, Tex., in February, 1935. He was arrested several months ago at Logansport, La.

Less optimistic experts however, believe that cruising speeds of 300 miles an hour and more will be reached at levels between 40,000 and 50,000 feet within the next few years. Translated into terms of efficiency of military and commercial aircraft, speeds of this kind are considered of major importance and the world's aeronautical nations are seeking most determinedly for ways and means of counteracting the many technical obstacles that at present close the higher levels of the stratosphere to the airliner and the bomber.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 15
RUTH AGAIN

There was another brief pause. Elsa had been growing restless during this process of questions and answers. It seemed to her to be a flagrant injustice that Mahony should be standing there so very much alive, and with such an unworried air, when he had just killed her uncle.

He was guilty; he ought to be made to suffer for it, and the sooner the better.

"What are you wasting time for?" she demanded wildly. "You know he did it. Why don't you take him to prison?"

Her vindictiveness stung Mahony again.

"Miss Little," he said very earnestly. "I swear on my honor that I did not kill your uncle. Won't you try to believe me?"

It was unlike Mahony to speak in that fashion. He was not the kind of man who went about swearing things on his honor. But he wished desperately to convince Elsa that he was innocent.

He did not convince her. His outburst only seemed to her to be evidence of his consummate hypocrisy.

"Honor!" she exclaimed scornfully. "What does a creature like you know of honor? Do you think I don't realize that all the things you told the inspector about your movements last night were lies? I know it was your voice I heard in the study last night when my uncle was killed. I know you were there and that you killed him."

"I tell you I didn't kill him," said Mahony vehemently.

There was nothing he could do. He shrugged his shoulders slightly. What was the good of going on arguing?

Lawson turned aside and busied himself lighting a cigar. He had savored this last bit of by-play with all the enjoyment of a connoisseur of the theater enjoying a well-acted scene from an amusing play.

The inspector was frowning slightly. As yet he had not quite made up his mind what he was going to do. He rather thought that he was going to detain Mahony on suspicion. He was just about to put these intentions into effect when the door of the room opened, and the maid's voice announced:

"Miss Fraser to see you, Miss."

Ruth Fraser entered the room.

Ruth's sudden appearance is quite easily accounted for.

She awakened late that morning after a good sleep, and her breakfast was brought to her in bed. While she was breakfasting, her guardian entered her room to see her.

"Good morning, my dear," he said. "I just looked in to remind you that you'd better fix up your story about staying with an old school friend pretty quickly. As soon as you've done it I must inform the police that you have returned."

"I'll do it now," said Ruth.

There was a telephone by her bedside, and she lifted the receiver and called a number in Sussex. The number she rang belonged to a girl named Anne Dowson, with whom she had been at school. Anne was a wild, eccentric, good-natured girl, who lived in a tiny cottage on the edge of nowhere and painted landscapes for a living.

"Hello, Anne," said Ruth. "Look here, old hag, if anybody asks, can you tell them that I've been staying with you for the last three or four days? Do you mind?"

"De-lighted, I'm shore," replied Anne. "But if anybody does want to ask, they'll have to do it pretty quickly, because I'm off to Berlin for a show of pictures today. I don't suppose you'll mind that, though."

"That's grand," said Ruth. "Thanks ever so much, Anne. How are the landscapes going these days?"

"They've gone," answered Anne, who had rather a literal mind. "They went a fortnight ago. The show starts tomorrow."

"Oh, you're going to a show of your own pictures, are you?" said Ruth. "That's good. But what I really meant was, how is art going. Are you selling lots of stuff, and making a heap of money?"

"I'm hanged if I know," answered Anne. "Incidentally, I can hear my hired car stopping outside. So I must fly. Good-bye, my pet. Be careful."

Ruth hung up the receiver, laughing. Anne was quite mad, but a terribly good sort. She was glad she had fixed that up all right.

She told her guardian what she had arranged, and went on with her breakfast. The previous night she had been much too tired to bother much about the whys and wherefores of things; her only curiosity had been about the identity of her rescuer.

This morning, after a good sleep, that curiosity was intensified, and added to it was a curiosity about the rest of the story. Mysterious things had been happening to her. Not many girls of her age had had such adventures.

The one fly in the ointment of her bliss was the fact that she did not know her rescuer's name. That did not suit her at all. One thing she had to work on—that he had been friendly with Billy Ross. In that case, other friends of Billy would probably know him. Elsa Little, for instance, would probably know him; there was not much about Billy that she didn't know. Ruth decided to go to see Elsa, describe Mahony to her, and try to find out who he was.

After breakfast she drove round to Elsa's home in her big cream-colored sports car. The maid who admitted her knew her as a frequent visitor, and showed her at once into the drawing-room, where Elsa, Mahony, Lawson, and the two detectives were assembled.

For a moment she was astonished; she had not expected to find all that assembled present. But her astonishment was swallowed by her delight in meeting Mahony there.

"Hello, Elsa," she said. She turned to Mahony and smiled; her eyes sparkled with mischief.

"Hello," she said casually, "fancy meeting you?"

Instantly she was purring with glee. Mahony had said that they would not meet; she had been quite determined to prove him wrong; and by the most incredible good luck she had succeeded first shot. She could not resist the temptation to rub it in a little.

She looked at him, smiling. He had a look of a man who was not at all pleased to see her.

"No, had Elsa. Then, for the first time, she perceived that somewhere something was definitely wrong. Her glance travelled round the solemn circle of the people in the room.

Lawson was staring at her with an expression of the almost bewilderment on his face, as if he could hardly believe that she was real. Nobody had yet told him of her rescue from the house near Watford; her presence in the room was his first intimation of it.

"What's the matter with all of you?" she asked. "Why are you all looking at me as if I'd come out without any clothes on? What's wrong?"

"For a moment nobody answered. Then Inspector Kennedy replied to her.

"I'm sorry to have to tell you that Mr. Little, Miss Little's uncle, was murdered last night."

"Murdered?"

Ruth was horrified.

"How... how dreadful. Elsa... I'm terribly sorry to hear it. If there's anything I can do? Have they... have they caught the man who did it?"

Elsa made a little gesture with her hand indicating Mahony.

"That man did it," she answered stonily. "He came in here late last night and stabbed my uncle in the back."

"I... I don't believe it," said Ruth instantly. "He couldn't have done it. He was with me nearly all last night."

Everyone except Mahony stared at her in a shocked fashion. Mahony scowled ferociously at her. Was this fool girl, he wondered, going to spill all the blasted beans, when he had particularly asked her to keep her mouth shut?

Ruth guessed what he was thinking; she went on hastily:

"He came down into the country, in his car, to fetch me from my friend's cottage. I've been staying with a friend named Anne Dowson in a cottage near Harfield, in Sussex. I asked him if he'd come down and give me a lift back to town, and he came."

"I am Inspector Kennedy, of the Criminal Investigation Department, and I am investigating the murder of Mr. Little," said Inspector Kennedy. "May I ask your name?"

"My name is Ruth Fraser," answered Ruth.

"Aren't you the girl who has been missing from home for several days?" he went on.

"Yes," she admitted. "But that was all a false alarm."

Story Of Mounties Offered At Lyric Friday, Saturday

Riding into fresh adventures and conquests, Charles Starrett, new outdoor star of the screen, will be seen at the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday in "Secret Patrol."

This story, a drama of the Northwest, was adapted from a story by Peter B. Kyne, and was filmed entirely in Canada against the colorful background of the Canadian Rockies. Its photographic beauty is one of its features.

"Secret Patrol" concerns the efforts of the world famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police in stamping out a band of ruthless criminals intent upon creating labor troubles in a large logging camp.

Starrett is seen as a Mountie in love with pretty Fina Barton who is engaged to his pal, Henry Mollison. With this situation presenting itself as a problem, additional complications arise when Mollison is reported dead while on a dangerous mission and Starrett is assigned the task of solving the case and avenging his lost friend.

In addition to Starrett, Miss Barton and Mollison, the cast includes J. P. McGowan, LeStrange Millman, James McGrath and others.

Headliners To Be Seen At Ritz In 'Big Broadcast Of 1937'

All the music and nonsense of the major radio programs are brought to the screen in the new picture, "The Big Broadcast of 1937," which is offered at the Ritz Sunday and Monday. It is a successor to that earlier film hit, "The Big Broadcast," and is hailed as an improvement over the earlier production.

Big names of comedy and the musical world are included in the cast. First, there is Jack Benny, and the genial master of ceremonies of the air whose program ranks at the top; the comic team of Burns and Allen, with Gracie offering her usual nonsense; Bob Burns, the Arkansas citizen of bazooka fame; Martha Raye, the girl with the big mouth who scored in Bing Crosby's "Rhythm on the Range"; and Shirley Ross, Frank Forest, Ray Milland and Benny Fields.

In the realm of music, "The Big Broadcast of 1937" brings to the screen for the first time symphonic music as it is interpreted by famed Leopold Stokowsky. The great maestro conducts an orchestra in some of the better known classics. As a contrast, the picture also introduces Benny Good, man, master of swing-music, and his band.

Strange Title Suit Won SALLINAS, Cal. (UP)—Louis Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, has won a title suit to a lot here against Tiburcio Vasquez. The suit was won by default, the defendant not appearing, having been hanged here on March, 19, 1876.

As part of the registration procedure this year, every student was photographed. Small prints of each picture were made and have been affixed to student identification cards.

Loretta Young And Don Ameche Starred In 'Ramona'

Declared to be a new triumph for the new film color process is the picture "Ramona," which headlines the Friday-Saturday program at the Ritz theatre.

The story, based on Helen Hunt Jackson's popular novel, presents Loretta Young in the title role, with Don Ameche as Alessandro, and these other players: Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick, Jane Darwell, Katherine DeMille and John Carradine.

Since a large part of the picture called for out-of-door scenes, the main location for the filming of "Ramona" was a 55,000-acre ranch in the Mesa Grande area in the San Jacinto mountains.

"Ramona" carries the romance of adventure-crowded California of the early days. It tells the story of the great love between Ramona and Alessandro and the difficulties they encountered in that romance.

Spanish-American War Is Background For 'End Of The Trail'

A picturization of the historic hundred days war against Spain, culminating in the famous charge of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders up San Juan Hill, will be seen in "The End of the Trail," starring Jack Holt, at the Queen Friday and Saturday.

The picture brings Holt back to the type of adventure stories in which he scored his greatest successes. He is supported by a cast which includes Louise Henry, Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Douglas Dumbrille, Gene Morgan, George McKay and John McGuire, Eric C. Kenton, who directed the film, also appears as Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt in the attack on San Juan Hill.

The story, taken from Zane Grey's "Outlaws of Palouse," is that of two friendly enemies in a small western town who answer the call to colors in the war with Spain.

Dale Brittenham, played by Holt, saves the life of Bob Hildreth played by Guinn Williams and loses the sight of one eye. They meet Louise Henry, as Belle, a Red Cross nurse, and their rivalry is intensified.

WAKE ISLAND LOSES ISOLATION TO BECOME SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY SPOT AS CLIPPER SHIP AIRPORT

WAKE ISLAND, Oct. 30. (UP)—(By Clipper Mail)—This coral atoll from the air looks like a "Robinson Crusoe Island," but the Alexander Selkirk on the ground live very well with seawater showerbaths, radio news-reports and Hollywood films.

Judged from its location on the map, a traveler would expect to find a wayward Wake to find all that is left of Daniel Defoe's picturesque fiction pattern, but instead finds a new kind of "pioneering," a struggle not for the primitive elements of existence, but for a technical perfection and physical comfort which already make this three-island atoll the place where tourists' dreams come true.

Of problems plenty, Stewart A. Saunders, airport manager, will discuss as a Chamorro lad from Guam serves a breakfast of ham-and-eggs and wheat cakes.

Rat Population Expunged One of the problems was rats. There were multitudes of them—some say millions—only a few months ago, living on birdlegs and hermit crabs. But now it is impossible to find a rat on the island. They were trapped in tubs, driven to sea, poisoned by department of agriculture experts, and otherwise lured to oblivion by the scientific pipers of the new era.

Then there was rust. The temperature here isn't high, averaging only about 85 degrees Fahrenheit, and there isn't an extraordinary amount of rain. But the moisture-laden breezes off the ocean leave things damp; tools rust, showerbaths become unsightly, and the delicate instruments of aeronautical science need most careful attention.

They are both in love with the same girl. When they return from Cuba Hildreth is made sheriff and Brittenham, unable to get a job, follows a questionable vocation but becomes very rich.

With the girl between them and the two former buddies in arms on opposite sides of the law, "End of the Trail" develops into a dramatic story that moves swiftly to a surprise climax.

Many Diversions Offered At this point the story catches up with "Robinson Crusoe." For it is the same element pleasures that sated Alexander Selkirk's joys and cares for posterity which will delight the fleeting tourists. There are many diversions—fishing, swimming, the observation of bird and shore life, the cooling relaxation of the evening breeze, the night sounds of the terns, the rails, and maybe a frigatebird, and the introspective joy of reflection on great distance.

Saunders took the newsmen to the fishing grounds and they caught plenty of fish, including a parrot fish which weighed 112 pounds, and another of 110.

As for swimming, the water is clear, warm enough, and with easy walking distance of the hotel, All in all, Wake Island (to be exact it's a horseshoe combination of Wake, Fale, and Wilkes islands) is a grand place.

NOISE MAKERS AND FAVORS FOR EVERYONE

Angelic Husband Ordered To Take Wife To The Show
NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (UP)—Samuel Rubenstein, a necktie salesman, today was ordered to take his wife, Nellie, to a motion picture next Dec. 2 and to hold her hand while the film was showing.

Magistrate Sylvester Sabatino, in Brooklyn, said that on the following day, Dec. 3, he would make a decision on Mrs. Rubenstein's charge that her husband was disorderly, called her names and struck her.
Rubenstein said his troubles with his wife originated because he was too poor and too tired to take her out nights.
"Give some money by cutting down on your smoking," the court advised.
"I don't smoke, drink or gamble," Rubenstein replied. "I do nothing bad."
"You appear to be so good that maybe a little dissipation would help you," the court said. "Take your wife to the movies next Dec. 2. Hold her hand while you are there. Come back the next day if your wife still wants to press charges against you. If you strike your wife between now and Dec. 3 you'll get a chance to flip your angel wings in jail for ten days."
