The first ominous portent that things might go awry for the domi-nant school of language study came a little more than a month ago. Pravds, official Communist Party paper, published an article criticiz-ing the Marr adherents. To western observers it looked like the begin-

Privacy Right Of Murderess s At Stake

PLINT, Mich., June 22, UB -Radio's "hig story" of how a Michican woman killed her husband and we children was told to a coast-to coast airwaves audience last night despite legal moves to block it. victed murderess was at issue.

There remained today the pos sibility of a federal court suit on behalf of Mrs. Julia Kulinich, 34year-old convicted slayer from Mariette, Mich.

The crime was re-enacted over the National Broadcasting Co. net work on a half-houn program entitled "the Big Story" and sponsor ed by the American Cigarette and

Schuman Plan Readied, But It Is Possessed Of Many Pitfalls

Conversations have begun in Paris calls for the cession of some sovereignty among the six European nations in-volved, looking to the implementation of the Schuman Plan to pool the coal and steel resources of Western Europe.

"We feel we will not be permitted to fall or quit without finishing our job." the plan's author, Foreign Minister Rob-Schuman of France, told the confer-

Six nations were represented: France, Western Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, all which have agreed to the central idea of a pooling of resources. Britain has spoken kindly of the idea, but will not commit herself one way or the other until there is something definite to work on. President Truman, ECA Ambassador Harriman, and High Commissioner McCley have endorsed the plan in principle. So has Secretary of State Acheson, but more cautiously; he points out that "the plan is still to be perfected and its details must be developed with great care." That goes without saying. The plan on the part of all participating nations, and this alone is a difficult enough hurdle to get over. The British have put down as an indispensable condition of their participating the right of each nation to exercise the veto in protection of its own interest. Thus the plan is already beginning to look like another United Nations Security Council.

Opponents of the plan say it will turn into a glorified cartel, suppressing competition, fixing prices, and regulating the economies of its members. M. Schuman says it won't, that it proposes to merge rather than allocate markets, expand rather than discourage competition.

Britain is afraid of it chiefly because rather than restrict production, encourage its coal-steel industry already is cartelized under government management, and it cannot see how it could maintain high wages in Britain against the pressure from the Continental competition, either as a member or as an independent.

Court's Decision Will Give The Voters Chance To Give Decision

is granting a writ of mandamus to J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, came as no great surprise.

The state executive Democratic committee had tossed out his application for a place on the ballot. He had repeatedly supported Republican presidentiall nominces, it was argued. Moreover, by his recent encouragement of a GOP Republican who copped an interim election, the committee felt he had given further aid and comfort to the political enemy.

Under the Love versus Wilcox case, the supreme court had held that a man's past party affiliations and fidelity were no criterion of his intentions in asking for a place on the ballot. So long as he took the party pledge in good faith at the time he filed his application, he was entitled to a place on the ballot, this ruling held. And now, the court has reaffirmed this position.

Perhaps it is just as well. The incident has served a useful purpose. Out of the wide publicity given the case, more people may be aware that there is to be a ner of agriculture list of candidates on the ballot they receive in July.

Theoretically, party fidelity may not be a proper consideration in choosing a candidate. Practically, in the voters' mind, it may have a bearing. Now that the voters have been alerted to this issue. they may give their own verdict at the presidential possibility, Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, also accepted an invitation to meet the press, Governor Driscoll is younger and less experienced than the old soldiers, governors Warren and Duff, and he had a lot more trouble with the usual gamut of questions about his stand on Senator McCarthy.

He, too, complained about the senator's methods but he had difficulty finding the right language to show how Communism was an issue against the administration. The cold question of whether he thought Senator McCarthy would help the Republicans in the election this fall brought a long pause. Governor Driscoll then rerather reluctantly that Senator Mc-Carthy's actions were likely to be some what more helpful than harmful.

In view of what he had already said, this appears a slight reflection on the American people and Driscoll seemed to realize it. It is, of course, the Republican dilemma. In their dire need, they can hardly bear to throw away what might prove a great possession yet as indiriduals they are eager to detach themselves from McCarthy personally. named Anita Ellis has a notable singing voice that all of us know very well. That is, we know her in person. The other day Miss Ellis came up to The Associated Press office from a Associated Press office from a nearby broadcast and I said, with apology, that I had never heard of the lass in my ramblings around the corridors of show business.

However, I must have heard her voice a thousand times for she supplies those ghostly voice substitutions for people in real life we hear on radio, television and film. Miss Ellis has a quiet, melodious singing voice a n.d when you thought you heard Rita Hayworth sing in the films, "Gilda" and "Loves Of Carmen", you were really listening to Miss Ellis.

Also in "Three Little Words" in which Fred Astaire, Vera Allen and Red Skelton were playing the starring roles, it was Miss Ellis' voice you were hearing in many of the musical numbers. While she substitutes her voice for those of such famous people, she has a code of her own and, if requested, will not However, I must have heard

Some stars, like Rita Hayworth, don't mind if it is known that they have substitutes to sing their numbers. It saves them a lot of explanations if they are asked to sing a number or two when they are attending private parties.

During the war the personable Miss Effis was a singer in her own right. However, even there she did another substitution job. For while she was singing in Me, if I had a vacation coming pronto, you know where I'd head? Right up to the small, but lovely state of Maine. And I'd do this in spite of its Republican tendencies.

There's so much to de up yonder in Maine, and the tired and weary vacationist has many choices.

Fishing-take your pick, right in the Atlantic Ocean or some cool mountain lake or stream, Mackerel, big tuna, and other large species inhabit our northeastern coastal waters. The streams and lakes feature fighting fresh water fish, particularly trout.

Hunting-well, you've got a choice here. Perhaps you won't find what you want (depending on the season) but you can at least hunt without fear of rattlesnakes, Mountain climbing-I know that's not the way I'd spend a vacation, Too much work. But some people like it. And, boy, if driving through those tricky roads is any criterion, you mountain climbers ought Swimming-now that's the way to spend a vacation, I think so, anyway. Those you crave the sea food dish, well, you can't do any better than Maine. Me, I don't relish what the water produces, but many folks do. I remember a recent trip that landed me at Booth Bay Harbor, Here we have the mecea of lobster fishing. One famed restaurant in the Harbor serves nothing but seafood. Not caring for the stuff, I asked the waitees for some roast beef.

"Roast beef," she cried out. "Ny goodness, we never have that here, and don't let these other people knew you want, ugh, roast beef."

"But I don't eat seafood," I complain-

"Well," said the waltress, "to be help-ful, I'll ask the manager if he has any meat.

And sure enough, he had see slice of roast beef. It seems he had saved it for himself. (He doesn't care for fish, either).

But, by the time I did get my de-licious beef, I lost my appetie. People in the joint were speechless with my refusal of seafood. Finally went next door to the soda fountain and had a sandwich.

But, I'll at least give credi to Maine's seafood offerings.

Congress Doesn't Have Power To Force Self - Incrimination

man is called before a congressional committee, refused to answer questions, is cited for contempt, and lands in jail, an ancient question arises:

What right has Congress to force snyone to answer questions if he doesn't want to? Where does Congress get the power to do that? There's nothing in the Constitution which directly gives it such power at all. But from the earliest days Congress assumed had the power It assumed such power this way: Congress represents the interests of the people. And, when it is making an investigation to obtain facts upon which to the people. THEREFORE, IT MUST BE ABLE TO get information which it considers neces-

pass a law, it does so for the benefit of Congress assumed two things: (1) That it has the right to demand an answer to its question (2) That it has the right to punish anyone who refuses,

And there's no longer any doubt about Congress' right to do both because the Supreme Court has ruled that Congress does have both rights;

Many times during its history, when witnesses refused to answer or refused to produce papers which a congressional committee wanted, Congress has cited people

. If it happened before a House commit-tee, he was brought before the full House,

WASHINGTON UN-EVERY TIME A tried, and, when found guilty, halled. If it happened before a Senate ommittee, the full Senate tried him.

USUALLY THOUGH, THE JAIL term was for no more than the ession of Congress. For example, is a ma was jailed for contempt and 45 days iter Congress went home, the man was released. But in 1857 Congress passed I law under which such a person could be jailed for a term longer than a corressional session. That law still stands.

IF YOU ARE CITED FOR CONTEMPT for refusing to answer a committee's question, you can be fined as mich as $1,000 and jailed for one year. That the maximum sentence allowed by the 1857 law.

The last time a House of Charless tried a man for contempt itself as in 1934.

Now the usual procedure is his:

You refuse to answer a question. The House or Senate, depending ownose com-mittee you refused to answer cites you for contempt. Then you go to trial in a steral court and, if found guilty, are find or jailed, or given both penalties. But and this is a point not often remembere Both houses still have the ight to skip the trial in a federal court and try and sentence you themselves. Corress could do that today. It has never even up the right to do so,

There is only one allowabl excuse for a person to refuse to answer congression-al committe's question. It'sthis: If he says his answer might incrimate him.

Dr. Crosby was cited for her achievements in the field of neuroanatomy, the citation being made by Dr. Margaret Elliott Tracy, chairmen of the AAUW committee on Fellowship Awards. She pointed out that Dr. Crosby s recent studies of the midbrain and cerebral cortex in the primates, including men, have won for her an international reputation in her field.

"Contents herself in the satisfactions of the teacher and of scientific exploration, yet the world has insisted on making a beaten track to her door," said Dr. Tracy, 'In 1939-40, Dr. Crosby was called upon by the University of Abe in Scotland to organize the first anatomy in that institution. In 1949, she was visiting profes at the University of Puerto Rico Her research has taken her also to the Institute for Brain Re-search at Amsterdam, Holland. In 1945, she was selected by colleagues at the University of Michigan as Henry Russel Lecturer, an honor before or since bestowed upon a woman. In 1949, she delivered the Max M. Peet Lecture

RIBBON RAMBLINGS By Mildred Young

Since our assistant insists on giving us a little story this morning, we'll go ahead and acknowledge a little more than we have already, the fact that we'll' be shoving off for Lubbock come July 1st. That's the reason, we have been asking club reporters to call us. We're trying to get things in reasonable order for who ever steps into our shoes. After you get familiar with clubs and their officials you get into the habit of depending on your head instead of a card file and you forget that someone who is not faget that someone who is not fa-miliar with clubs and individuals of the town may take over some day and may want a starting place. Though our card files have been reworked in part from time to time, this is probably the first time, they have been reworked card by card. Billie Burrell reworked them for us and it turned to be a great help, so we want Re do as much for whoever takes our place. It will be a big selp, if you will call us instead of waiting until we get to you. Incidentally, this is not our swan ong. We'll get around to

It's all in what you're used to guess. Folks up in Yankee (around Plainview, Lubbock we guess. Folks up in land (around Plainview, and Amarillo) think that the cli-mate down here is entirely too hot in the summer. They used to tell us the same thing when we were located at Vernon. Though Ver-non's heat has this beat by a long way, we've never paid much atten-tion to the climate of a place except when we were visiting. But as we've said before, we'd much rather have the heat than the cold.

Jimmy McClure, who obviously felt enough was enough, and the San Angelo Colts gave the Big Spring Brones the business here

McClure came within one out of a no-hitter as he blanked the Hoas es, 3-0. His mound show was one of the greatest ever seen in Steer Colts to the fight for third place in the standings.

The Angelo skipper, reaching top mound form that won him 18 viclast year, got the first two men to face him in the ninth frame and seemed to have all the advantage over the next man, Pat Stasey, both being left handers.

However, the Big Spring Irishman found the first pitch to his Consuegra got into an argument man found the first pitch to his with owner Clark Griffith of the liking and sent it out over the Senators about paying off an old shortstop's head for a clean sin-Venezuela contract and went home. gle. Bert Garcia pitched well - nough to win half a dozen games but he had the misfortune of facing Mc-Clure on one of his torrid nights. Bert, seeking his tenth win of the campaign, gave up only six hits eight men.

The Colts picked up all their runs in the first inning. Tony Guererro walked and went to second on Johnny Tayoan's tingle. Bob Crues brought one tally home with a double. Steve Follett hit to Jorge Lopez to account for another and Wayne Walface hit one in shallow left that accounted for still another tally.

Garcia never gave the visitors look-in after that but by then 4t was too late.

The Brones loaded the with one away in the fourth when McClure hit a streak of wildness and couldn't find the plate Pascual bounced into a play and that was that,

McClure walked five men in all and struck out seven. RAMBLINGS — The game, played in one hour and 35 minutes, was one of the fastest of the season...Garcia twice got . Ancient Perth, Proud That It Is Cattle Capital Of UK, Sits Serene In Its Green Valley

By J. EVETTS HALEY PERTH. Scotland. — This little city on the River Tay, where an annual great Aberdeen-Angus sale is held, was for ages the political capital of Scotland, Except for its inclination to put unpopular kings to death, its facetious citizens say, might still be. Its rough routine for royalty however was er extended to its cattle, which its rugged men still tend with genuine care and concern. For ancient Perth, which according to tradition was founded by the Roman general Agricola in 84 AD., still sits serene in its green valley unrepentant of its lusty past, proud of the fact that it is still the cattle capital of the United Kingdom.

Round about in every direction are farms and pasture land, many which are devoted to the production of purebred cattle. Where these are lacking, long yearlings are frequently to be seen growing fat on spring's lush grass, to be marketed at 1,200 pounds and up as prime beef in the fall. These pastures of the British Isles are regularly enriched by their owners with barnyard manure or commer cial fertilizer, or both, and rotated every few years to crops of potatoes, turnips and oats, and again turned back to grass. Thus, with a rainfall ranging upward from 30 to a 100 inches, they are among most preductive pastures in world, and the tallow they put en animal's frame is unlike anything seen on native range in America

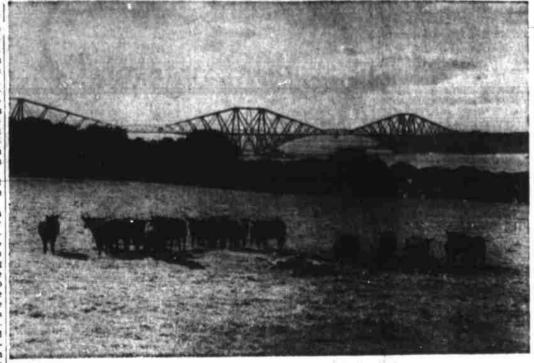

Once a week an auction sale of beef and stocker cattle is held at Perth. Consignments come by truck, rail and on the hoof, Farmers and stockmen, within easy dis tance and with something to sell, call their cattle dogs on the ap-pointed day and drive their little bunches to town. Any animal that Cowmen with dire thirst induced by long and frequent drought will suspect that a sort of providential wisdom presided over the choice of location. For whether the market is up or down, Dewar's is conveniently near. It offers solace when sales are disappointingly low; it spurs a cow-man's naturally ebullient spirits when sales are running high.

Or rather it once did. It is impossible to buy a bottle of Scotch in Scotland now, since Britain's Labor Government arbitrarily or-dered that 90 per cent of its lior should go to foreign trade, those Americans bent on drink-But if you want to buy a bull, ing Scotch had better stay at home

McCombie earried six animals to it in 1857, and took two firsts, a second and a third place. Among these was a 2,744 pound, three-year-old steer that led his class, and according to the records, dressed out a phenomenal 72 per cent. McComble showed again in 1862 and 1878, to return to bennie Scotland with tartan un blemished and with flying cattle

Meanwhile, however, he had no neglected the top competition in the British Isles, With grim sat-isfaction he took on and trimmed the English breeders of Hereford and Devon at London's great Smithfield Show, which still regularly tests the best for beef in Britain. There in 1867 his steer called Black Prince won every possible honor This remarkable animal measured six feet from the top of his shoulders to the head of his tail, lacked but one inch of being 10 feet in girth, and dressed out close to 1 800 pounds. Tuskegee Thinks It Has Found The Answer To Perplexing Problem Of Rural Housing

By BEM PRICE AP Newsfeatures TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.

They dream great dreams here and keep their feet on the ground. They try to carry on in the tradition of the late Booker T. Washington to whom first things came first—education, health, housing first—education, health, housing and jobs..

Over the last 10 years, for example, institute officials have been quietly worrying over the problem of rural housing.

They think they've just about found an answer in a homemade cement block and concrete house enclosing 1,200 square feet at a cash cost of about $2,000 and a lot of elbow grease.

lot of elbow grease.

The success of the "Tuskegee block" house has led Ernest Neal, director of the Rural Life Conference, and others to dream another dream.

They dream of a day when each county in the nation might have a "bousing agent" even as they now have agricultural extension agents.

This agent would give the farmers the know-how to build farmers the know-how to build a complete home at a cost no commercial builder could touch for the simple reason that the farmer does all his own labor, even to the making of the blocks.

The credit for conceiving of the to dry, it takes about two weeks of seasoning.

Neal reports that after one

Says Neal:

"The most practical advantage of the block is its adaptibility to all income levels. The family with little cash income and few securities for a loan need not be without adequate housing. Family labor can be used for making and laying the block. Whenever the money runs out work can stop without damaging the materials until more money

Neal adds that "Cooperative groups can use the block advantage. A block field and lighthanded" to produce good pastry that is flaky, tender, delicate and evenly browned, according to the Culmary Arts Institute's fifth cookbook. The book contains 250 recipes on pies and pastries in classifications of pastry making, pastries and meringues, fruit and berry pies, cream and cus-lard pies, chiffon pies, miscellan-eous pies, tarts and cream puffs and fancy pastries.

"Quick And Lighthanded" Cooks Are Producers Of Flaky, Tender Pastry

Pastry cannot be good if handled roughly or slowly, the book continues. The flakiness of pastry is caused by many particles of fat which are surrounded and separated by flour. During baking each fat particle melts to form a delicate flake. However, rough, slow handling may cause these parti-cles to melt and blend with the flour to form a solid mass, which is tough and hard after baking Chilled Ingredients ciety or Kid or let's call him Hogan was actually what he calls a "buddy -pal - chum" of the deceased writer. He looks like a Runyon character and sounds like one and having just talked to him I might sound a trifle Runyonesque also. If you know what I mean. The fact that Hogan is actually working may cause some large tears around Lindy's because Hogan has long been an apostle of doing as little labor as possible. He expounds the theory that a man should retire the first 50 years of life and work the rest.

Now Hogan has passed the halfcentury mark so that puts him in the working class. Even so he does it Hogan-style, by that I mean he works at the $10 window at Chicago race tracks in the daytime and at similar pari-mutuels at harness tracks by night. That way he works twice as hard for six months and then vacations the other six months of the year.

Hogan is cutting into his vaca-tion to do a job at 125 slugs a week for the Paramounts. Having copped a load of lettuce with "Sorrowful Jones," the studio is put-ting its Mr. Robert Hope into another Runyon opus, "The Lemon Drop Kid."

"I'.n helping with the script," explains Hogan himself. "Whencter really sounds like a Runyon character, they ask me. know." Moreover, he will also play role in the flick.

Now Hogan's real name is Salvatore De Lorenzo but he gets the Kid Hogan from a sports writer who thinks the young fighter looks Irish and the society because his first fight is for a society charity.
