Marshall Asks Support Of UN In Peace Fight

Day's Prayers Led By Wartime Chief

By The Associated Press
Americans throughout the world honored their war dead today and Gen. George C. Marshall urged continued support of the United Nations as a weapon in "the fight for peace."

The former secretary of state and wartime chief of staff also made a new plea for aid to the millions in the world who have "long suffered in poverty and misrule."

Gen. Marshall, now president of the American Red Cross, spoke out in an address prepared for Memorial Day services at Arlington National Cemetery.

"Some have suggested that the United States should take the lead in dissolving the United Nations and in setting up a new organization composed only of like-minded nations," he said. "Personally I think it would be unfortunate for the peace of the world deliberately to upset the precarious equilibrium that now exists."

Describing the United Nations as the symbol of an international house of democracy, Marshall said: "So long as there is a forum for open discussion of international disputes, the United States should be a participant."

"So long as there remains a conference table around which the nations can gather, the United States should be the first to attend and the last to retire."

"Admittedly, the United Nations is an imperfect organization. But remember, so long as this forum remains open there are cracks in the Iron Curtain through which some of our ideas will penetrate."

Declaring that much of the world's trouble today stems from an "upsurge" of down-trodden people, Marshall said that self-interest demands that we give close attention to these people, for their situation is the seed bed for either one of two ways of life—democracy or communism.

"We must have in mind that democratic principles do not flourish on empty stomachs."

Marshall was named to lead the nation's Memorial Day observance ceremonies beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. President Truman arranged for an Army aide to lay a wreath on the tomb and at moments to Union and Confederate dead of the Civil War.

Veterans organizations also planned floral tributes at the tomb and at other national shrines throughout this country and abroad.

An anchor of 1,000 poppies was to be cast into the Potomac River in a traditional ceremony at the Washington Naval Gun Factory symbolizing the burial of Navy dead at sea.

Across the land, from cities and farms, men and women left their work-day tasks to honor the memory of their loved ones. Government offices and many businesses were closed for the day.

General Marshall, recalling the loss of 500,000 Americans in World War II, said war no longer is just an evil—in this age it seems intolerable.

The winner of another war, he said, will "only enjoy the empty triumph of inheriting the responsibility for a shattered and impoverished world."

Chinese Reds Get Modern Jet Air Force

HONG KONG, May 30. (AP)—Mounting reports from South China indicated today that an up-to-date air force of perhaps 400 planes including possibly 75 jet aircraft is being added to the Communist war machine.

The planes have been spotted all the way from Shanghai to Hainan Island off South China.

Along with the growing Communist air strength come these significant developments:

1. The Reds are building many new air fields and reconditioning old ones all along the China coast.

2. Jet planes have been reported as far south as Canton. These are described as Soviet LA-9s, DG-3s and Yak 15 models.

3. The newspaper, Wah Kiu Yat Po, in a Canton dispatch quoted a "Communist source" as saying that Liu San-Pin, chief of staff of the Chinese Red Air Force and a party of Soviet advisors had set up headquarters at Amoy. Their purpose, the Hong Kong newspaper said, is to supervise the air reconstruction program in South China.

Oil Discoverer Dies Penniless

DALLAS, May 30. (AP)—An application to probate the will of C. M. (Dad) Joiner, discoverer of the fabulous East Texas oil pool says he died practically penniless.

A petition to probate Joiner's will was filed yesterday on behalf of his widow by Atty. D. A. Frank. Joiner died in March, 1947, at the age of 87.

The petition said, "at the time of his death, the said C. M. Joiner was possessed of real and personal property of nominal value, he having disposed of and distributed his property several years prior to his death."

The hand-scrawled will, drawn up in 1940, covered on side of a sheet of office stationery, leaving everything to Mrs. Des England Joiner, his young secretary whom he married in 1937.

Flat broke at the age of 65, he sank a battered drill, heavily encumbered with debt, into the Daisy Bradford farm between Henderson and Arp in Rush County in 1941—and made history.

He tapped a field which has produced close to three billion barrels of oil.

FISHERMEN MAROONED BY TIDE—Five anglers, caught by incoming tide, cling to jettty light off Rockaway Point, New York, awaiting rescue. The Coast Guard poured oil on the choppy waters and removed the men by boat after they had been stranded for more than seven hours. (AP Wirephoto).

FIRST PUBLIC FIGHT

Red-Led Japanese Attack Americans

TOKYO, May 30. (AP)—Communist-led Japanese today attacked four American soldiers in the first public fight of the occupation.

The fray touched off other skirmishes as American military police cracked down on instigators. At least eight Japanese were arrested.

The Americans attempted to recover the notebook. One of the soldiers was hit and struck back. The crowd, in ugly mood, threw rocks at the Americans who forced their way into the clear.

American military police moved into the crowd as it entered Hibiya park for a second rally. They arrested at least three Japanese believed to have taken part in the first fray.

The three put up stiff resistance. Clubs and fists swung freely.

Another Japanese was pulled out of a marching column when he shouted an anti-American slogan as he passed the military police. Other Japanese tried to prevent the arrest. The Americans quickly fought clear of a hostile circle of shouting, pushing demonstrators.

The white-helmeted MPs picked up two more Japanese who tried to help their friend escape. Later the Red demonstrators sent a delegation to nearby Marunouchi police station to loudly demand their release. Two leaders were arrested.

The demonstrators, gathered in Imperial plaza for a Communist rally, showered the American military observers with rocks. One soldier was knocked down.

One witness said the incident began when members of a Communist youth group snatched a notebook from a Japanese plainclothesman who was taking notes on speeches.

The Americans attempted to recover the notebook. One of the soldiers was hit and struck back. The crowd, in ugly mood, threw rocks at the Americans who forced their way into the clear.

Junior College Is Canstone Of Local Education

HCJC Graduates Hear Dr. Colvert At Commencement

The junior college is the capstone of local community education, the graduating class of Howard County Junior College was told at commencement exercises last night in the First Baptist Church.

"It carries the work of educating the young people past the regular four years of high school and equips them to earn a living," declared Dr. C. C. Colvert, professor of junior college education at the University of Texas.

One of the principal advantages of junior colleges lies in the fact that the local community has control of the education of its youth for the extra two years, and can see to it that the curriculum of the college is adapted to the needs of the young people of that particular community, Dr. Colvert explained.

Dr. Colvert had praise for the supporters of HCJC, which is beginning construction of a new college plant.

"Your new plans for a new plant are a credit to the nation, to the state and to your county," he declared.

"It is a credit to the taxpayers to this area. It is an investment of the people which will bring great returns for each dollar spent," he predicted.

Erma Jean Slaughter, first honor student of the graduating class, traced the history of HCJC and its activities, while Paul E. Deatherage, second honor student talked briefly on the prospects faced by this year's graduates.

Mrs. Lela Richards Lumpkin, a grandmother, was the third honor student among the 15 who received associate in arts degrees. Twenty-nine graduates of the HCJC academy also received diplomas from Dr. F. W. Malone, president of the college board.

The professional and recreational for the commencement were played by Mrs. Champ Rainwater, while Herbert Love, Church of Christ minister, gave the invocation, and the Rev. Lewis Patterson, Church of the Nazarene pastor, the benediction.

Joyce Howard, a member of the graduating class, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

CURTAIN HANGS DOWN

Secrecy Clamped On Fuchs Probe

LONDON, May 30. (AP)—British and American intelligence chiefs today clamped a tight curtain of secrecy over their investigation of the activities here and in the United States of the convicted atom spy, Klaus Fuchs.

They continued over the Whitsun holiday their probe of Fuchs and his connection with other agents through whom he allegedly funneled atom secrets to Russia. But all inquiries about their work was answered by "no comment."

V. R. Clegg, assistant to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and special Agent Robert Lampher worked both yesterday and today while other American officials in England had a double holiday. Neither they nor their British intelligence associates would say whether they had again questioned Dr. Fuchs in the old wormwood scrub prison, where he is serving a 14-year prison sentence.

Holcombe said yesterday he will ask the Harris County members of the State Legislature to sponsor such a bill.

He said he would like to see a minimum speed limit set for the Gulf Freeway, the Houston portion of a new express highway now under construction between here and Galveston.

500,000 COMMUNISTS DISPERSE

Next Cold War Crisis Worries Berlin As Young Reds Go Home

BERLIN, May 30.—Weary young Germans marched home today by the hundreds of thousands from the Soviet sector's Communist rally, leaving Berlin to worry about its next crisis in the cold war.

The dispersal of 500,000 Communist-controlled "Free German Youth" (FDJ) got underway with the same military precision that they had shown in parading last Sunday up the rainswept Unter Den Linden amid Red banners and cheers for Stalin.

The six-year program of ideological indoctrination—almost like mass hypnosis—produced its final slogan last night when East Germany's Communist Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl shouted to torchlight processions in mid-city:

"Our youth will one day tear down all zonal barriers and restore the unity of Germany."

But the top slogan of all, repeated time and again by youthful German lips was:

"We will fight alongside the Soviet Union."

"For peace," they added. Both sides in this East-West propaganda outpost claimed a victory last Sunday. Then 500,000 paraded but the previously-threatened invasion of allied-occupied West Berlin failed to materialize.

The official Soviet organ, Teasliche Rundschau, claimed that Germany's younger generation had been decisively won over to the "international peace movement" sponsored by the Soviet Union, and had been alienated from the "western imperialist warmongers."

The anti-Communist Daily Telegraph said "Berlin showed anew its determination to defend its freedom against all threats."

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy called the Communist rally a "serious affair—serious in that it showed what the police state can do."

"The Communist threat can be met and overcome only by wise and liberal leadership and by united action in all fields," he emphasized.

Second guessers among allied officials wondered privately whether the West had fumbled a great chance to disillusion many Communist youths about Soviet political myths.

Arrayed to repel a violent invasion which never came, the Western authorities were unable to show their tactics quickly to open up the allied sectors so that large groups of the curious unarmed Eastern youths could see the true situation in West Berlin.

A few hundred of the blue-shirted youngsters actually wandered into West Berlin and were showered with gifts by their anti-Communist countrymen.

Small Business Hearings Set For Next Month By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—Hearings on bills to aid small business probably will be started next month.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee told reporters today that he expects some measure to be passed, although he said it may not embrace the full program recommended by President Truman.

The banking committee has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, and Maybank said a time probably will be fixed then for hearings on the legislation.

Businessmen proposing some technical assistance for small business, President Truman urged steps to ease their financing problems.

He recommended five-year government-insured loans up to $25,000 for small business concerns, federally-chartered private banks to make larger, longer-term loans, and an easing of the credit restrictions of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy chief in the Senate, said in an interview that he doubted if any such comprehensive program would be approved. He added he was not opposed to government insured loans in moderate amounts to small businesses.

Sharp opposition has been expressed, however, by another Republican spokesman, Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, called the President's program another attempt to put the government in business.

Rose Is Early Racing Leader

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—Mauri Rose, the cocky little South Bend, Ind., engineer who races only once a year, grabbed the lead in the first lap of the 34th annual 500-mile auto race today.

Shooting to become the first four-time winner of the Memorial Day Grand, Rose needed less than two and one-half miles to take the Rookie Walt Faulkner, of Long Beach, Calif.

The speed for the first lap was 121.082 miles an hour, well under Duke Nalon's record 138.564 last year.

But the cars picked up speed quickly for a second lap at 124,069. The first official positions were Rose, leading; Faulkner, second; Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif.; third; Joe Chitwood, Reading, Pa.; fourth and Tommy Bittenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., fifth.

Tech Head Warns Of Confusion In U. S. Government

DALLAS, May 30. (AP)—Dr. D. M. Wiggins says it's easier now than ever before for public officials—including the President—to confuse the American people.

Wiggins is president of Texas Technological College of Lubbock. He spoke last night at a Founders Day dinner of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, here.

He said people are confused by the complexities of the nation's government and politicians are playing upon this confusion.

"We are easily preyed upon by all sorts of concepts to make us secure. Many good Americans are more interested in being secure than in being free. That is because they are confused," Wiggins said.

Gold Diggers Seek Treasure Supposedly Hidden In Texas

GOLDTHWAITE, May 30. (AP)—Treasure hunters are digging again for tons of silver and gold which legend says lies hidden in a tunnel-pocked mountain in Central Texas.

This time they are professional hunters, with modern equipment. They are boring and probing under Dry Pond, which nestles on top of the mountain three miles northeast of here.

The nameless mountain is the site of a gold and silver mine worked by the Spaniards when Texas was part of Mexico, and under Spanish rule.

Legend-backed by some evidence—is that the Spaniards were forced to flee the mine in 1762 because of an Indian uprising. They were supposed to have hoarded stored 500 jack loads (138,000 pounds) of pure silver taken from the famous last Bowie mine, and 10 burro loads of gold, weighing 3,000 pounds.

The silver would be worth about $13 million now, and the gold about $1,500,000. In addition, treasure hunters who have hacked and bored at the mountain hope to find the lost San Sabá mine believed located somewhere in this area.

The newest hunters are two professionals and three John Tarleton College students. They have formed a partnership. The professionals, J. S. Fisher and J. R. Latham of Del Rio, Tex., are at the site with modern equipment, and have staked out a location. The students will join them when their classes end. They are Charlie Harris of San Antonio, Randy Evans of Texas City, and Bill Doster of Waco.

In 1861 a foreigner came here with a map which he said he bought from a Mexican. The Mexican claimed the map was taken from Texas hero who was killed in the battle of the Alamo. The foreigner—his name has been forgotten—looked for the three post oak trees which formed a triangle—one of which had a copper spike driven into it. He couldn't find them.

But later that same year Dr. Jim Kirkpatrick of Mullis found a copper spike in the ashes of a chimney at Mullis. The woodcutter showed him where he had cut the tree. The stump formed a triangle with two post oaks still standing. Dr. Kirkpatrick began digging.

He found two copper plates with legible engravings and a hand-hammered copper box. The lid of the box bore the words "Pedro Lopez, 1762." Inside was a crucifix. But Dr. Kirkpatrick could find no treasure.

Newest Tube, Tire Are Sold By Phillips

A couple of new "hand-to-glove" products developed by the U. S. Rubber Co. are proving exceptionally popular with customers of the Phillips Tire Co., located at 211 Johnson St.

They include the U. S. Royal "Mid-Century" tire and the new nylon Lifetube.

These products combine all of the qualities sought by motorists—durability, safety and performance. They provide blow-out protection that has never been possible before. The "Mid-Century" tire absorbs the road in silence and gives full protection at any speed.

The Lifetube is a safety inner-tube that is as strong as a tire itself. It offers constant reserve strength being reinforced with nylon, and yet possessing unprecedented lightness.

These and other U. S. Royal products are available at all times at the Phillips Tire Co.

The local U. S. Royal dealer also features several other accessories and other types of merchandise. Featured at present are air conditioning units, designed to top performance on the hottest days, and such items as tailor-made seat covers.

A wide range of selection in both types of material and patterns can be made into custom seat covers.

Electric Cooking Affords Advantage

As another service to subscribers in the Big Spring area, the Texas Electric Service company is pointing out the advantages afforded in cooking with electricity.

Calling attention to the convenience and economy of electric cooking, Texas Electric Service company also reminds that there are electric ranges available in sizes and prices to fit any family's budget.

Speed is another factor favored by housewives when they consider the comparatively short time required to prepare any type of meal. TESCO officials point out. Electric cooking is also clean with no smudge formation on kitchen walls, curtains, or cooking utensils. Contact heat from the surface units of electric ranges never blackens bottoms or sides of pots and pans.

Electric cooking is thrifty cooking, too, the electric company declares. Application of heat directly to food being cooked prevents loss of cooking energy through radiation. In baking and roasting, even units are used one about one-third of the time, with stored heat taking over after the correct oven temperature is attained.

as they ever did, if processed by the Christensen concern.

Christensen's also maintains an expert dye service, and can change footwear to any desired color, including suede.

Curb service proffered by the concern is proving increasingly popular with Christensen's customers, who find they do not even have to leave their vehicles when they arrive at the shop with their orders.

Saddle repair and other types of leather work are among the services proffered by the Christensen shop.

Business telephone number of the concern is 1676.

Lehman Describes Roosevelt As Architect Of Our Victory

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 30. (AP)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) said today that "to attribute the present tragic state of world affairs to failure or error on the part of Franklin Roosevelt is a base injustice."

In a speech prepared for Memorial Day services at the grave of the wartime President, Lehman said: "Because I knew the man, and his patriotic devotion to his country as well as his boundless devotion to mankind, I am appalled at the endless repetition of the slander that President Roosevelt was naive, or short-sighted or weak or even worse in his dealings with the Russians."

The senator described Mr. Roosevelt as "the grand architect of our victory over a savage and ruthless enemy."

Commission Will Hear Del Rio Road Construction Plan

AUSTIN, May 30. (AP)—The highway commission tomorrow will hear more than 30 requests for road improvements.

Baptists In Texas Support One Of Largest Orphanages

Because one man found rain falling on a helpless, miserable child huddled between two buildings in Dallas, Baptists throughout Texas today support one of the largest church orphanages in the world.

The Buckner Orphan Home is located some seven miles east of Dallas on a hilltop dotted with umbrella, hackberry, elm and bois d'arc trees. It is a self-contained community of more than 700 persons. Most of them are destitute.

There are 630 little people — orphans — and a staff of 85 adults. The community centers on a 65-acre campus resembling a university layout. Placed on the campus are more than a score of two-story substantial brick buildings with the roofs. Since 1879, the people of Texas have opened their hearts and purses to keep it going.

Two additional dormitories to enable the home to care for 725 children by next fall are now being completed. Also nearly finished is a guest house, which will provide space for offices now housed in the basement of a chapel.

Just started is a fourth new building. Here the children will be taught the rudiments of such trades and crafts as barbering, beauty shop work, cabinet-making, photography, cooking, typing, shorthand and bookkeeping.

These four new buildings are the first postwar construction at the home. The cost of the new buildings will be in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The replacement value of the Buckner Orphan Home layout undoubtedly is in the millions. Officials of the home, governed by a board of trustees appointed by the Baptist General Convention of Texas, traditionally do not publicly release finance figures.

The home is financed principally through gifts of individuals and 3,000 odd churches affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. It is the lengthening shadow of the late Dr. R. C. Buckner, who sparked the idea of an orphan home. — MILDRED YOUNG.

Indo-China Aid Could Move U. S. Into Another Squabble

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

PROMISE OF AMERICAN AID TO INDOCHINA—just made by the State Department—could move the U. S. into another political tangle as aggravated as the Greek troubles which this country tackled in 1947.

Chinese Red troops are perched on the mountainous north border of Indochina. And world statesmen fear that if Indo-China falls under the shadow of Moscow, India and Indonesia will come under Red pressure next. So little Indochina seems to have been chosen as the holding point, much as Greece was chosen in the Mediterranean.

Until recently Indochina was a French dependence. Now it has semi-independence, and has been broken into three small nations: Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Vietnam is the most important, and it is there that the guerrilla warfare between native Reds and a combination of French troops and native Vietnamese is being fought the most violently.

BAO DAI IS OPPOSED BY A COMMUNIST-led army, headed by Ho Chi Minh, an old revolutionary educated in Moscow. He hides out in a mountain capital, supported by an army of about 60,000 trained men and as many irregulars.

Reports from the area say many Frenchmen are tired of the fracas, and there is a growing movement to go home.

Even in France the war is unpopular. It is taking about an eighth of the French budget to support it. In 1949 that was more than the equivalent of $300 million. War damage to French property is estimated at $140 million.

Vietnamese have lost much more. Whole villages have been leveled, communications have been destroyed, and crops rot in the fields.

The American job will be to rally the Vietnamese around Bao Dai, and avoid the serious pitfall of appearing to support colonialism in Asia, where so many millions have only recently shaken off the yoke of foreign rulers.

TO START WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT can draw on two sums: The $75 million which Congress voted the President for "use in the general area of China," and $40 million voted for the same purpose in the ECA bill which passed Congress last week.

Men working on the program say both economic and military problems will be tackled immediately.

An ECA adviser was to arrive in Saigon over the week end. His first plan is to move in help for both agriculture and public health, in the southern and central areas where the Communists have been driven back. That will mean medical and hospital supplies, seeds, fertilizer, and farm tools.

Military equipment will move immediately, too. But the types are being kept secret.

State Department officials are planning to ask for more money shortly. The Greek air program started with $300 million and now stands at a million. But the Greek Reds appear to be licked.

New Armed Forces Justice Streamlines The Language

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, D. C. — THE ARMED forces have undergone some modernizing in the field of justice.

From the beginning, the Army and Navy, and later the Air Force, have had rules for handling crimes and misconduct by service people.

Being drunk would be a minor offense. Desertion, disobedience, murder, theft, rape would be major crimes.

As the years passed the rules piled up. So did the general foggiest of the legal language which got written into the rules.

And the three services had different ways of handling their problems. Further, their idea of justice was not the same as the American citizens' idea of justice.

So this spring Congress passed a bill signed into law May 6 by President Truman—to do several things:

GIVE ACCUSED MEMBERS OF THE service more protection against injustice; lay down the same rules for all three services; and modernize the language covering offenses and trials.

This has been called the "new uniform code of military justice." To give the services time to adapt themselves to the changes, it won't go into effect until May 31, 1951.

Following is an example of how the new code will work. Beside it, the old, or present, procedure will be explained in parentheses. There's no room here to explain the differences under the old Navy set-up.

Private John Jones is accused of a serious crime. He must be told specifically what his offense is within 24 hours after his arrest. (He didn't have to be told under the old code till he was brought to trial.)

THE COMMANDING OFFICER APPOINTS the court which tries Jones. The judge is an Army officer but also must be a lawyer. He will act as judge only. (Under the old code he had to be a lawyer but, after the trial, acted as a member of the jury, too.)

The jury in the case must have at least five men. They don't have to be lawyers. Any enlisted man like Jones can demand that one-third of his jury be enlisted men like himself. (Under the old code, only officers set on a jury. Enlisted men were excluded.)

Jones must have a lawyer to defend him. He can hire a civilian lawyer, if he wants to and has the money. Or the commanding officer will appoint a defense counsel for him, a military man who must be a lawyer.

(Under the old code, Jones could get a military officer to act as his counsel but this officer didn't have to be a lawyer.)

IF JONES IS CONVICTED, HIS CASE automatically goes to his commanding officer on appeal. (Same under the old code.)

If the C.O. upholds Jones' conviction, the case automatically goes on appeal to a review board of three colonels—in the Navy it would be three captains—all of whom must be lawyers. (Same under old code.)

If the review board also turns him down, Jones can, through his attorney, carry his case to the "Court of Military Appeals." This is the supreme court for all armed services. It will have three civilians as judges—all must be lawyers — Appointed by the President with the approval of the Senate. Their pay will be $17,500 each. (Under the old code, final appeal was to a board of three generals who were lawyers. But this was a complicated procedure; some cases got to them, some didn't. Under the new code, any man convicted of a serious crime can appeal to the Military Court of Appeals.)

A Bible Thought For Today—

Without effort body and mind soon rot. We are in debt to Christian civilization and we should pass its benefits on. "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion." — Amos 6:1.

Despite Flood Of Advice, Fire Department Acquits Itself Well

In spite of all the free advice, the fire department acquitted itself admirably last week during the Barrow-Douglas Furniture store fire.

Two good firewalls between the store and adjoining businesses contributed no little part to retention of the blaze within its original habitat. But that was not the sole reason by any means.

Anyone who witnessed the rapidity with which the flames spread and noted the intensity with which they billowed and gnawed can appreciate that it was no small task to contain the blaze within a fixed area.

Of course the sidewalk was full of experts who wondered why the firemen didn't do this or that. However, these experts weren't burdened with the job of wrestling a whip-like hose or faced with the prospect of fighting at such close quarters that heat and smoke were almost unbearable. Nor did they have to subject themselves to the danger of a caving roof or collapsing wall.

As we say, in spite of all this flow of speculation and conjecture, which at times conceded the loss of adjoining property, the fire department came through. We think the members of the department are due a little pat on the back and those who volunteered to help are due thanks of the public for their part.

He Has Spoken, And Speculation May Now Continue Merrily Along

Everything may return to normal now—the great promoter has announced he will not be a candidate for public office—now.

That, of course, has left speculation still stirring around the head of W. Lee O'Daniel, who once parlayed a biscuit into a governorship and senatorial toga. His radio address was, as one press correspondent observed, the same old Pappy, the same old verse, and same old tune.

He said enough to virtually remove himself from the gubernatorial race and reduce it to a two-candidate field for practical purposes. The use of the word "now" was dropped as a lovely little seed to sprout into a great plant of conjecture.

Great Britain Faces Difficult Issue Of Schuman Proposal

The Schuman proposal has raised, as it was bound to, a delicate and difficult problem for Great Britain. The decision to make the offer was taken in Paris without consulting London or Washington. Though Britain is invited to become a member of the new coal and steel organization, the offer was addressed in the first instance to Germany, and it calls for direct Franco-German negotiation.

This French initiative to bring about a Franco-German partnership has aroused enthusiasm in Washington. But not in London. There it has had on the whole a frigid to hostile reception despite the fact that M. Bidault and M. Schuman have dared to do what nearly four years ago Mr. Churchill in his famous Zurich speech asked France and Germany to do—to "make an end to retribution, to bring about 'a blessed act of oblivion,' and as partners and because they are partners to make it possible for Europe to unite."

"There are," says "The London Economist," "dangers of the political consequences of Franco-German unity being other than the enthusiasts' hope." What are the dangers? "No one should underestimate the sense of defeatism and neutrality that exists in some parts of the continent," and "The Economist" is afraid that "the political aims behind the integration of French and German heavy industry are to lay the economic foundations for a separate European bloc, to withdraw Europe from the cold war, and thus remove the shield of American interest and concern from a totally undefended and 'neutral' Europe."

In order to prevent all this, "The Economist" concludes that Britain ought to join the Schuman plan at once before

Shall We Have Some "Mapes"? It's A Man, Ape Cross-bred

NEW YORK, (AP) — SHALL WE HAVE "mapes" in the world?

A "mape," presumably, is what you would get if you cross-bred a man and an ape.

Creation of this hybrid by artificial mating between humans and apes recently was proposed by Dr. Sydney William Britton, University of Virginia physiologist.

He said it was scientifically possible and might help our hairy forest cousins speed up their evolution—bring them out of the woods and onto civilized sidewalks.

THIS PROPOSAL DREW HOWLS FROM some. They said it was immoral, impossible, unthinkable, and the mere suggestion made them nervous.

Acheson Talks Bevin Into Approval Of French Coal, Steel Pool Plan

WASHINGTON, — Most important job put across by Dean Acheson during the Big Three conference was at a private Lancaster house talk with Ernest Bevin. Actually, the talk took place before the Big Three conference started and had to do with the all-important, but oh, so tender question of a British blessing for the proposed French-German iron-steel pool.

Before talking to Bevin, Acheson had been in Paris where Foreign Minister Schuman had also discussed his plan for the French-German pooling of iron and coal, and had expressed the fear that the British would be opposed. So he asked Acheson's help.

Personalities sometimes play a big part in moulding the peace of the world. One personal factor regarding the big three is that Acheson and Schuman instinctively like each other. Furthermore, Schuman, born in Alsace, a province that has been shunted back and forth between Germany and France for almost a century, realizes the vital importance of French-German co-operation.

As a boy, Schuman learned to speak German along with French, when he grew up he served in the German army in World War I. He didn't want to serve, but he had to. Now, as foreign minister of France, he believes that the two countries which have bled each other white three times in 85 years must learn to live in peace.

And the key to peace is co-operation regarding the iron and coal of the Ruhr and Rhineland. That, in brief, was the thesis which Foreign Minister Schuman sold Acheson, and it didn't take too much selling. Acheson was strong for it.

The real selling was when Acheson met Ernest Bevin in London. Here again personalities entered the picture. The British consider Acheson a staunch friend. His mother was a Canadian, a member of the wealthy Gooderham-Hiram Walker whiskey distilling family, and unquestionably many of his policies have been strongly pro-British.

Therefore, when Foreign Minister Bevin started kicking over the traces against the Schuman Plan, he found himself facing the persuasive arguments of a friend.

Bevin didn't like the economic union of western Europe for several reasons, one of them being that the British Labor government must operate under fixed prices with a protected market, and can't compete well with the free market of a European economic union.

Another reason is Britain's traditional balance-of-power policy of playing France and Germany against each other.

However, Acheson, during his private, Lancaster house conference, pointed out that co-operation between France and Germany was the only hope for future European peace and finally won the belligerent British foreign minister around.

To show good faith, Prime Minister Attlee next day made a guarded statement in the House of Commons favoring the Schuman Plan.

However, State Department officials are now worried over diplomatic grapevine reports that the British have started working backstage to scuttle the Schuman Plan. Substantiation of the reports comes from John F. Reynolds, a London observer with

McDonald Wants To Bury "The Body" Tag

HOLLYWOOD — "I wish they would bury 'The Body' and leave Marie McDonald," sighed beautiful, blonde Marie.

"The Body" tag was hung on Marie in 1944 and she has been stuck with it ever since. It happened when she was working in "A Guest in the House." She had 17th billing in the film until an alert press agent dreamed up the title for her. When the picture came out, her name was third in the cast.

"It was wonderful," she recalled. "I became famous overnight. It was right after Frank Sinatra was dubbed 'The Voice' and then there was a whole cycle of tags. I didn't realize that it would later turn into a handicap."

Like so many publicity ideas, this one boomeranged. Now I'm stuck with 'The Body' and Marie McDonald was lost in the shuffle."

The glamor girl complained that she isn't the type to fit her unwanted handle. "The Body" is a seductive femme fatale, the other woman," she declared. "It's contrary to my real personality."

"I don't mind their publicizing my figure. And I wouldn't mind 'The Body' so much if they would add a word like 'Heavenly' to it. After all, Betty Grable hasn't gone so badly on 'The Legs.' But Betty is always the sweet heroine, despite the sexy publicity."

Operetta Given By Kindergarten

Pupils of Helen Williams Kindergarten presented a colorful operetta, "Dandelion Jubilee," Monday evening at the municipal auditorium. Costumes provided the color as characters told and sang their story on an April and May day.

The story began with the mayor ordering all dandelions in Dandyville destroyed and closed with the dandelions blooming again because of the work of the fairies and elves and magic dust.

Skipper Driver as Constable Crumplitt, Patricia Moore as Mrs. Sammy, (the village widow), and Dick Dillard as Dr. Pokum, probably presented the outstanding performances of the evening.

Operetta Is Scheduled

"Cinderella," an operetta, will be presented by the Farrar Pre-school Friday evening at the Municipal auditorium.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

It's Memorial Day again, a day when we think in terms of handing down torches, a day when we feel a greater obligation than at any other time, to hold a torch high and in time to pass it on to someone else. After all, though Memorial Day is chiefly for the honoring of the war dead, it's also a good day to consider our obligation to all those who have gone on before us.

We were rather impressed by this idea of torches during the annual Methodist conference held here last week. We counted a number of the people attending as friends. Included in the small group we knew were one who was ready to retire, some who only had a few more years of active service, and good number of persons we had known in school, people just beginning a work.

Yes, Memorial Day does not need to be dedicated to the dead alone. Our work goes on a principal of leading and following. Whoever you are and whatever you may be, your present day situation held the influence of someone who walked ahead and you as a part of today's citizenship place an influence on tomorrow's world. The living and the dead who walk ahead of you are handing you a torch to hold high and to pass on to other hands.

This day, of course, is dedicated to peace, which seems far away to some. But it is as possible as the desire of the people to make it real. What others have done for us in war and peace holds us responsible for our contribution today. As long as we remain responsible, there will always be a Memorial Day.

Top Clubwoman Recommends Grass Roots Action In Foreign Policy

BOSTON, May 30.—A top clubwoman Monday recommended "Grass Roots Action Is Our Foreign Policy."

Consideration of the nation's foreign policy, she said, should begin "right down in the local community."

Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren, Second Vice-President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told a pre-convention session of junior members:

"We live in one world today, whether we like it or not. Never again can the U. S. A. live alone—let's stop being negative. Let's stop criticizing anything and everything."

Mrs. Ahlgren of Whiting, Ind., is unopposed candidate for first vice-president of the GFWC.

She told representatives of 60,000 juniors in the federation: "There is no middle way to Americanism. The time has come to proclaim to the world that our way of life is the best way. If that means getting back to our old Fourth of July soap box oratory, then let's get back to it."

The General Federation is the convention guest of the Massachusetts federation which found itself a hostess which must take polite issue with her guests.

The issue is the General Federation's proposal to include all state federations as members with annual per capita dues of 25 cents. The Bay State Federation is opposed.

The Bay State leaders say about 140 of their 380 clubs are so opposed that they would secede from the General Federation.

Mrs. J. Blair Buck of Richmond, Va., retiring president of the Federation, told newsmen Sunday that all groups would benefit from the universal membership plan and that the dues are necessary for the support of the Federation's program.

Mrs. Buck said: "I'm sure there isn't a woman who doesn't waste that much or more on an ice cream soda or a movie. The loudest shouters may leave the clubs, but they'll pick up plenty of new members before long."

Approximately 2,500 delegates are expected for the week-long convention.

Phillies Surprise Everyone By Leading Senior Circuit

Quakers Meet Brooks Today

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anybody had predicted a couple of months ago that the Philadelphia Phillies would come into Brooklyn on Memorial Day as the National League leaders as nothing more than a dead-in-the-wool Philly fanatic.

But here it is May 30 and those fighting Phillies are sitting on the half of the standings, enjoying a half game margin on the defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

The amazing part of the Phillies' tremendous showing is that they've done it with a minimum of help from Russ Meyer and Ken Heintzelman, the two pitching mainstays of 1949's third place outfit. Last year Meyer and Heintzelman won 17 games each. With six weeks of the '50 season gone, the pair have won only one game between them. They've dropped seven.

Who then among the pitchers are responsible for the Phillies' success? Just a pair of 23-year-old bonus kids—Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons. Each has won six games while losing only two. Roberts won 12 games all last season while Simmons won only four.

A year ago today, the Phils were in sixth place with only 17 triumphs against 19 losses. As they opened their important twin bill with the Brooks today the Phils boasted a mark of 22-13. They owned the best road record of any club in the circuit with 12 wins against seven losses. The Dodgers have played no better than 500 ball on the road, with a 9-9 rating.

Inability to win sufficiently on the road, a deficiency which cost them the flag the past two seasons, again keeps the Boston Red Sox from the American League lead. As they prepared to face the front-running Yankees in New York for a holiday doubleheader, Joe McCarthy's men showed only a 10-10 record on foreign fields.

The Red Sox were in third place.

It is now a matter of record, of course, that Pop took the Cincinnati job. What isn't generally known, however, is that he told Fred Haney, manager of the Hollywood club, as late as last February he'd prefer going back to the Coast league, if Brooklyn didn't keep him.

The Bums had the right to option him out one more season, but Branch Rickey called in the ex-Big Springer and informed him he had a choice.

Ramsdell mulled over the situation and finally took the offer to go to the Rhinelanders, since he knew he'd probably never get another chance to make the big leagues. His baseball age is listed as 33 but he's at least two years older than that.

Will's pay on the coast last year was good—around $6,000. He's probably making no more than that with Cincinnati.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

Willie Ramsdell, the knuckle baller who set all kinds of pitching records in WT-NM league play while with Big Spring in the late '30's and early '40's, had his choice of returning to Hollywood or being sold to the Cincinnati Reds when Brooklyn got ready to jettison him a while back.

It is now a matter of record, of course, that Pop took the Cincinnati job. What isn't generally known, however, is that he told Fred Haney, manager of the Hollywood club, as late as last February he'd prefer going back to the Coast league, if Brooklyn didn't keep him.

RAMOS SHINES IN RELIEF CHORE
Julio Ramos, the ace of the Bronco pitching staff last season, finally won himself a ball game with the Sherman-Denison Twins last week.

The leftie went in as a relief-tosser against Greenville in the sixth inning and pitched shutout ball the remainder of the way. He also bashed two hits in two trips for the winners and struck out four batters.

Pepper Martin, a one-time Bronco, is still performing at third base for the Greenville club, by the way, and hitting in the No. 2 spot.

Two athletes who look enough alike to be brothers are Odessa's Alex Monchak and Rocky Graziano, the middleweight boxer.

Two other gentlemen who resemble each other are Ted Williams, the Boston better, and Sterling Hayden of the movies.

Herschel (Red) Ramsey, the one-time San Angelo high school grid mentor, is visiting in this area.

He plans to leave for Idaho about June 15. He becomes assistant coach at the University of Idaho next fall.

Local baseballers have had their bad games. Even the best have experienced times when they couldn't pick up a ball or hit a loud foul.

All players can sympathize with George Fisher, an outfielder for Minneapolis.

Not long ago, Fisher struck out five straight times at bat and then dropped a fly ball which permitted the opposition to win.

The only ball he hit was a foul that went over the fence—for which his club received a bill for $300. It broke a plate glass window across the street from the park.

Corpus Edges Closer To Caps
By The Associated Press
Corpus Christi edged closer to Harlingen today in the battle for the Rio Grande Valley League lead.

The Aces were within one-half game of the front-running Captios.

They got that way by besting

DELATORRE HOMERS

Though he faded badly in the late stages, young Jesus Uley gave local followers hope that Big Spring might still make a fight of it in Longhorn league play when he led the Bronco to an 11-8 victory over the Odessa Oilers before around 1,100 fans here Monday night.

Uley was Mel Farnell and Ewell Blackwell rolled into one for seven frames. Odessa was hitless for three innings. Then the Oilers, noted for their sensational finishes, swarmed all over him in the eighth and ninth frames.

Finally, after two men had been retired in the ninth and the Odessans again making threatening gestures, the slight righthander gave way to Carlos (Potato) Pascual.

Pascual was up to the challenge. He zipped a fast ball past Lefty Palmer, caught him off balance with a curve ball and then came back with another smoke pitch to end the threat and save the victory for Big Spring.

The Bronco, with Manager Pat Stacey's booming bat playing a big role, beat a steady tattoo of base hits off the offerings of Manny (Dumbo) Rodriguez, who went all the way on the hill for the guests. The locals rapped out 19 blows, eight of which came in a big third frame, at which time Big Spring struck for eight runs.

Stacey crashed out four hits in five trips before retiring in favor of young Bobby Gonzales in the eighth.

Rodriguez wasn't right, but neither were his mates, as far as their fielding went. They committed six errors during the long evening.

Julio Delatorre's seventh home run, coming with one aboard, featured the Hosses' big third round.

Wayne Eaton was Odessa's big stick man. He stroked three singles in five attempts.

Colonial Best Of All Meets
By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, May 30. (Sp.)—The colonial national invitation at Fort Worth has become a high spot on the golf trail. It probably is the most perfectly operated tournament in the nation. It costs about $30,000 and is designed as a great golf spectacle—not just every aspiring linkman shooting with the hope of landing at least the $175 last place prize.

It is not under the jurisdiction of the PGA although the PGA cooperates with it by furnishing a gold clinic and the scoring set-up. In truth, the PGA does not like invitation golf tournaments—it wants only open tournaments in which all the touring pros—and they range from 45 to 100—may play.

This probably is the last one of its kind to be maintained. If anybody else tries to start one, the PGA will nip it in the bud by getting the players not to participate.

But the Colonial has grown into a fixture. It ranks with the masters at Augusta, Ga., in prominence. It, in fact, is more exclusive than the masters and more popular with the golfers who complain that they get "clogged" at every turn at Augusta and are not treated like celebrities as at Fort Worth.

The Colonial is the only tournament that pays all club house expenses (including meals and caddy fees) for the players. It is one of 15 tournaments in the nation with a $15,000 purse.

It has the finest set-up for the press of any tournament in the world. An air-conditioned room, private score board, meals—even cigars for your correspondent. It is the only tournament with a telephone at each hole so progress of play is known at the club house almost as fast as it occurs. The National Guard mans these phones.

Box scores are furnished on all players. A sports writer can get the news without raking his tender skin to the rays of the sun or the hot winds that sweep over the rolling hills.

Borger Advances To WT-NM Lead
By The Associated Press
Borger sure did some climbing in the West Texas-New Mexico League last night.

The Gassers won a double-header and leaped from third to first place by a half-game.

Borger licked Clovis 5-3 and 1-0. Fred Parker won his seventh pitching victory of the season, sitting Clovis down with nine scattered hits while the nightcap Hugh King allowed only one blow, thus barely missing a no-hit, no-run game.

Lubbock and Albuquerque, which had been tied for the lead, fell into a tie for second place.

Amarillo edged Albuquerque 7-5 as Crawford Howard doubled to drive in the tying run and an error brought the winning tally in the last of the ninth.

Lubbock was beaten 3-6 by Abilene on Tony Estrella's seven-hit pitching.

Pampa got six runs in the eighth to trim Lamesa 9-7.

Farm Problems To Be Discussed Friday At 4-H Club Building Problems facing Howard county farmers will be given an airing Friday night at a meeting scheduled for the 4-H club building at the air port. County Agent Durward Lewter has announced. All farmers in the county have been invited to attend the session which gets underway at 8 p. m. Lewter said. Availability of cotton choppers and the possibility of stabilizing chopping wages will come up for discussion at the meeting. Possibility of an outbreak of cotton insects, such as grasshoppers, bollworms, and fleashoppers, and measures for their control will also receive the attention of the group. Availability of establishing a cooperative grain elevator in Big Spring will be considered, Lewter announced.

42 Register Positively To T-B Patch Tests A total of 42 students in Howard county public schools registered a positive reaction to tuberculosis patch tests conducted recently. The group is now being given chest x-rays to determine the degree, if any, of infection. Patch tests merely indicate the possibility of tuberculosis and must be supported with x-ray examinations before diagnosis can definitely be made. Negative reaction to the test definitely establishes that the disease is not present, however. The patch tests, made available by the Howard County Tuberculosis association, were given to 909 students in 10 schools by Esther Trantham, city-county Health unit nurse. Reports have been received on only five of the x-ray examinations being given, Mrs. Trantham said. Four of the five turned out negative, the other is to be re-examined in 30 days. Schools covered in the patch test survey and the number of positive reactions found in each are Coahoma, 15; Midway, two; Forsan, four; Cable, two; Lomax, one; Centerpoint, three; Knott, 15; and Vealmoor, Gay Hill and Elbow, none.

TUESDAY'S OIL ROUND-UP Operators Waiting On Cement To Set In Cosden Offset Well Operators were waiting today on casing to set in Cosden No. 1. A. A. L. Holly, southwest offset to the discovery well in the Reinecke pool of southeastern Borden. It had topped the reef at 6,705, or 4,358 below sea level. This is 20 feet higher than the highest previous point and 110 higher than the Hyser & Heard No. 1 Holly, immediately to the north. Top of the reef did not carry much porosity and saturation, but it established (according to water table in the abandoned C. H. Sweet No. 1 McNeill, one mile to the northeast) a reef thickness of 307 feet. Location is the well is 660 feet from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 52-25, H&TC. Amerada No. 2 Cora Weathers, one location south of the operator's No. 1 Weathers, a south outpost in the Von Roeder field, topped the reef at 6,812 feet, or 4,408 feet below sea level. This was three feet low to the No. 1 Weathers and 12 feet high to the No. 1 Von Roeder, discovery well of the Von Roeder pool almost on the Scurry county line. No. 2 Weathers is 2,002 from the north and 1,958 from the west lines of section 94-25, H&TC. Tidewater No. 1 Myrgan Coates, north offset to the discovery of the Wilson pool on the central Howard-Borden line, had cemented the seven-inch string at 7,435, at 18 in the southeast corner of section 13-27, H&TC. Seven miles north of the Good pool in southwestern Borden, Don Ameche, in the center of the southwest quarter of section 4-32-5n, T&P, drilled below 8,700 feet in lime. Tokian Production Co. No. 1 W. J. McAdams, an eastern edge in the Vealmoor area, neared the critical zone at 7,810 feet in shale and lime. G. W. Strake No. 1 Lelah Davis (Bird), 11 miles north of Sterling City, plugged and abandoned at 8,429 feet in Ellenburger lime. Top of the formation was unreported. Location was in the northeast corner of section 59-2, H&TC. Twelve miles north of Big Spring, the Livermore No. 1 W. B. Hardy was drilling ahead at an unreported depth. Best estimates were that it was approaching 7,500 feet in a tight formation. This exploration, four miles south of Seaboard's Vealmoor extension in its No. 1 Akin Simpson, was being watched exceptionally closely. BEING ON YOUR OWN IS A RISK
People Can Start A Business,
But Trick Is To Keep It Going

NEW YORK, May 30. (AP)—So you want to get out from under the boss and start a business of your own. So do a lot of other people—more, in fact, than a year ago when many businessmen were talking gloom.

Current earnings statements show that the rewards are great—to those who succeed. America was made by those who started out on their own. But don't forget that the risks are perhaps even greater, before you leave the security of the weekly wage and take a chance.

If you yield to that temptation, let's see what you're up against. What you'll need to succeed, what's most likely to trip you up.

Texas Has Just The Right Hot Weather For Smothering Grads

Associated Press Staff
It's commencement season again, and just the right hot weather in Texas for those smothering gowns the graduates wear.

There'll be mothers out in the audience, moist all over with perspiration.

For the women, the graduation gowns aren't quite so bad since they think nothing at all of removing their dresses and just putting the gowns on over their slips. Conceivably they would not even need the slips. Maybe some don't wear 'em. But we have never known a male graduate daring enough to remove his shirt, tie and underwear top. They sweat, swear, pant and mop their brows, but they keep their shirts on and some, honestly, even wear coats under those gowns. These fellows really earn their diplomas.

Bolloc, Churchill Only Living Persons In National Gallery

LONDON, (AP)—Historian Hilaire Belloc, 79, and Statesman Winston Churchill, 75, are the only living commoners whose pictures hang in the National Portrait Gallery.

Normally only those dead 10 years get the honor. Belloc has just slipped into the place in a picture with two dead men, G. K. Chesterton and Maurice Baring—"Conversation Piece," by James Gunn. Churchill was already well established in the gallery.

Bill Keyes, information director of the University of Texas, sent us the "academic costume code of the American Council on Education," and also a letter in which he explained the code. The gowns, it seems, are one form of medieval torture still tolerated, even in Texas.

India Expects Capital From United States

NEW DELHI, India. (AP)—Foreign capital investment in India is more likely to come from the United Kingdom than from the United States, according to Finance Minister John Matthai.

American capital, he told Parliament, was not likely to come in except under "extremely attractive terms." He pointed out that there was a big demand for capital in the U. S. itself and that other countries had a better claim on American investment than India.

"The history of the academic dress reaches far back into their early days of the oldest universities," Bill said leaedly. "It is still a vexed question whether academic dress finds its source in ecclesiastical or in civilian dress."

"Gowns may have been counted necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars."

The U. S. Bureau of Land Management took in more than $37,000,000 from management of the public domain in 1949.

There you have it. In those days—in cold, dank, damp England, scholars wore gowns, probably because they couldn't afford overcoats. And because of that, sweltering scholars of this sizzling state still wear 'em.

But bankruptcies were up 2 per cent—from 2,006 in the 1949 first quarter to 2,559 in 1950. Perhaps even a larger number of firms folded quietly without having to go through bankruptcy. This gives you still another idea of how the competition is growing tougher, and rougher.

"About one-seventh of all business enterprises in the United States normally close their doors and an equal number open for business during the year," according to "Your Business," a handbook published by the state of New York's Department of Commerce in Albany.

The going is roughest the first year you start. The New York state fathers studied the history of 5,000 retail businesses in existence at one time or another during the last 80 years in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Thirty per cent lasted only a year; 15 per cent died in their second year, nine per cent in their third, and so on, in decreasing numbers.

Depressions furnish plausible excuses for business failures, but are not the chief cause, the state fathers say. They counsel against over-borrowing: "In the retail field at least 50 per cent of the capital should be put up by the owner, and 75 per cent if possible."

When you're your own boss "hours don't stop at 40 a week," they warn; nor are you "going to be able to keep golf appointments at three o'clock." And don't fool yourself by "living off the shelves"—keep your books right to show your true costs, including reasonable pay for your own services.

To succeed, you should: Be able to get along with people; be willing to shoulder responsibility; it's up to you to meet the payroll and pay the debts on time; like the business you choose; understand that business is a speculation and be willing to take the risk; like to sell; be able to make decisions and weather wrong ones.

Dun & Bradstreet, looking at what caused business to fail in the second half of 1949, say that 33.7 per cent of the bankruptcies were due to the incompetence of those trying to run the business; 24 per cent lack of experience in 1949; 22.2 per cent lack of managerial experience; 6.7 per cent to unbalanced experience—not well rounded in sales, finance, purchasing, and production.

Fraud accounts for 2.8 per cent; disaster for 2.1 per cent; and the agency is at a loss to explain 1.9 per cent of the failures.

Business failures aren't at the rate they were before the war, but they have been climbing fairly steadily since the comparatively fool-proof business year of 1946, when only 1,129 firms went under.

For every one furniture or home furnishing store that failed in 1949 when it was hard to find 21 folded last year. Nineteen food and liquor stores failed in 1949 for every one in 1946; 15 general merchandise stores, 14 clothing stores, 11 restaurants and bars, 10 drug stores and six laundries, for every one of their kind in 1946.

Most people can start a business, as they say in Albany. The trick is to keep it going.

106-Year-Old Negro Church Has Had Only 4 Pastors

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Green Street Baptist Church and its Negro congregation is 106 years old. And it has had only four pastors in that time.

Founded in 1844 by a group of 29 slaves, the church now has an active membership of 500. In contrast to its stately pillared temple of today, Green Street Church had its humble beginning in a livery stable which the members by the work of their own hands converted into a sabbath house of worship. The founders could neither read nor write, so an interested white friend served as secretary. The records in his clear script are still legible.

First of the church's four pastors was the Rev. George Wells, who served through six of the congregation's formative years, dying in 1850. The second minister, the Rev. Richard Sneath, served 20 years, seeing his people emerge from slavery. The Rev. Daniel Abraham Gaddie guided the flock for 39 years. And a similar period was spanned by the service of the Rev. Henry Wise Jones, who has just retired.

15,000 Jews Lay Compensation Claims

TEL AVIV, Israel. (AP)—Fifteen thousand Jews who were imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps have filed claims for compensation against the government in Western Germany. Claims amount to about $30 for each month of imprisonment. It is believed there are as many other 15,000 Israeli citizens entitled to claim compensation.

Hat Contest Perturbs The Poor Postman

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Grandmothers Club announced it would award prizes for the best miniature hats. Tiny bonnets soon began to come in from many parts of the land. Mrs. Collette Collins, chairman of the contest, received 75 of them in one day. Her mail carrier seemed perturbed and curious.

"So I smiled and told him about the contest," she said, adding: "He didn't smile back."

It Says The Only One

SYDNEY, (AP)—A new establishment has just been opened in Sydney's Central Square. Its name "The One and Only Pie Stall—Number Two Branch."

During the Idaho-Oregon State basketball game in 1945, only one free throw was converted by the two teams.
