U.S. To Act Against Japs Tomorrow

President Says Retaliation Due

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the United States would retaliate with specific action tomorrow against Japan's occupation of naval and air bases in French Indo-China.

He told a press conference there would be something out of Washington tomorrow, but would not say exactly what. But to members of the presidential party spending the weekend here the most likely move appeared to be the freezing of Japanese credits and assets in the United States.

Many persons, indeed, considered that step inevitable. But whether the United States was ready to take additional measures appeared to be awaiting future determination, depending on how the international situation develops in the Pacific.

To a question whether "events in the Far East have sharply accentuated the dangers in the international situation," Mr. Roosevelt suggested that the answer be put this way:

Events in the Far East are bringing a greater awareness on the part of the public to the dangers of the world situation.

Speaking the past tense in Washington yesterday, the chief executive had enunciated a policy under which this government had been letting Japan obtain oil from the United States with the objective of restraining her from invading the Dutch East Indies for petroleum.

"As of today," a reporter asked, "will this government follow the policy you outlined yesterday?"

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not talk about that. He said he had been describing what had happened up to the time he was speaking.

"You left the intimation that that policy might be over with," a reporter remarked.

But, Mr. Roosevelt said, he did not say so much. "We are trying to get you to today," his questioner replied.

Smilingly the president said he knew that was the case but that he just didn't have any news along that line.

Million Men Mobilize In Japan's Army

Japanese Ships Stay Out of U. S. Ports, Silence Radios

By the Associated Press

Japan's dream of conquest in the Pacific moved toward grim reality today with the reported mobilization of 1,000,000 men, while at sea her ships blanked out in silence and turned away from American shores.

Foreign intelligence reports declared Japan has informed Germany she is determined to oppose by every means any British attempt on French Indo-China or any threat to Japan's "new order" in the Far East.

Japan, taking no chances on having her finest liners and cargo vessels seized by the United States, imposed strict orders of radio silence today on her vast merchant fleet, halted suddenly on the high seas.

Japan was clearly apprehensive as a result of President Roosevelt's denunciation of Indo-China occupation.

Forty-two Japanese ships were reported marking time at sea, some just a safe distance offshore, or turning back to Japan.

Japanese ships in Pacific coast ports rushed loading operations. Sailings of two Nipponese cargo boats from Yokohama to the United States were cancelled.

The whereabouts of the fast 17,600-ton liner Tatura Maru due here at 5 a. m. yesterday, was a mystery. Last evening the big ship was seen cruising leisurely 12 miles offshore. Later she had vanished. Like all other Japanese ships, she answered no radio calls.

There were indications the Tatura Maru may be headed for a Mexican port, Acapulco or Mazatlan, to discharge her 240 passengers, including a hundred or so Americans, refuel and head back to Japan.

The Tatura Maru was laden with 5,585 bales of raw silk valued at $2,500,000—the largest single cargo of silk ever transported across the Pacific.

From Panama to Alaska, Japanese liners, freighters and tankers lay idle awaiting orders.

There was little doubt that Japanese authorities feared the valuable cargoes aboard their vessels might be impounded if President Roosevelt ordered Japanese credits frozen.

TORREDO BOAT SUNK

CAIRO, Egypt, July 25 (AP)—An axis torpedo boat which approached a British convoy in the Mediterranean Wednesday was attacked by RAF fighter planes "and left sinking," the RAF Middle East communique reported today.

Maintenance of stability in Thailand (Siam) was closely linked with the "serious situation" in Indo-China by the Japan Times and Advertiser, organ of the foreign office.

The paper made no reference to reports from abroad that Japan had gained the right to establish bases in southern Indo-China, but it asserted that Japan was "fully warranted in countering hostile activities" within her previously defined co-prosperity sphere.

The paper referred caustically to the "encroachment of Indo-China by Anglo-American and Chungking interests," which it said took the form of "aerial, naval and military bases extending from India and Burma around to Malaya and the Philippines."

Although reports from Vichy and Saigon said Japan had gained the right to install important bases in the French colony, the Japanese government refused to admit that any settlement had been reached.

The newspaper Yemhuri charged that the United States and Britain planned to obtain air bases in China to raid Japan under the guise of strengthening the Chungking air forces. It added that British-American activities in the Far East now really threaten Japan.

Air War Claims, Counter-Claims:

German - -

British - -

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—Another costly defeat for British air raiders over the English channel by German fighters said to be using destructive new tactics was claimed today by the German high command.

Thirty-three RAF planes were shot down on the channel coast air front yesterday, the communique from Adolf Hitler's headquarters asserted, including nine four-motored bombers.

All but six were bagged by German fighter planes at a cost of only four to themselves, it said, and the others were listed as shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

This was the second successive day in which high British losses were reported in channel air forays. The high command yesterday reported 43 British planes shot down Wednesday.

Authorized commentators said Germany had developed a new air-fighting method and had put it to effective use.

"We smile at enemy bombers without paying the slightest attention to enemy chaser protection," one informant said. "Our losses due to this new technique are surprisingly low. Naturally, we cannot reveal details."

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Large fires and great damage were left in the German naval bases of Kiel and Emden when the RAF finished night raids there, the air ministry announced today.

While Kiel on the Baltic and Emden on the North sea were being hammered, other RAF forces attacked objectives at Wilhelmshaven and Rotterdam, the Netherlands, and blasted air fields in German-occupied France. Five British planes were acknowledged lost.

Weather favored the thrust in force into northwestern Germany where the naval bases lie, the air ministry said, and "heavy loads of bombs were dropped." The attacks on Wilhelmshaven, another North sea naval base, and on Rotterdam were by smaller forces.

British raids are serving a political end for Britain under her joint action pact with Russia.

Informed sources said the vigor and extent of the offensive were expected to quiet Russian calls for greater aid. Conversations between British and Russian officials at the Soviet embassy for the past two weeks have been marked by pleas for more British air activity.

Write today to President Roosevelt, at the White House, in Washington, that you are against our entry into the European war. Senator Burton K. Wheeler Anti-War Cards—Like that pictured above were mailed out by Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. Wheeler, at right, is telling newspapermen that he had sent out about 1,000,000 of the cards to a cross-section of citizens all over the country and that some of them "undoubtedly were received by soldiers in service." Secretary of War Stimson called Wheeler a traitor for asking soldiers to try to influence legislation, which is against army regulations.

German-Russian Line Unchanged

By The Associated Press

London reports said today that Adolf Hitler's invasion army had renewed the offensive along the entire Russian-German line, but that there was "no decisive result gained by either side at any place."

Hitler's high command said the 34-day-old campaign was "proceeding according to plan," but it acknowledged stiff Red army resistance.

The Germans said a strong bunker group known as Emil Egan on the Stalin line, south of the Pinsk marshes, surrendered yesterday after a fierce, 24-hour battle.

A Soviet war bulletin said "stubborn" fighting raged all night in five main sectors—on the Pirovskodsk front, north of Leningrad; on the Porkhov front, south of Leningrad; on the Fofotak-Nevel front, in the center, on the Smolensk front, where a deep German salient has been driven toward Moscow; and on the Zhitomir front, in the Ukraine.

All have been scenes of fierce, intensive fighting for many days. Red army troops defending the road to Moscow reported they had annihilated an entire German infantry division (about 15,000 men) near Smolensk, and the Soviet capital's air defenses were officially credited with beating off a fourth successive night assault by German warplanes.

Unlike the three previous raids, each lasting precisely 5 1/2 hours, the Luftwaffe struck twice last night, from 9:45 p. m. to 11:10 p. m., and later in a two-hour attack.

An official Soviet announcement said that only one plane penetrated the capital's defenses and that it was shot down.

Two Escape Serious Injury In Collision

STANTON, July 25 (Sp) — Two men miraculously escaped serious injury today as their cars crashed head-on in the eastern outskirts of Stanton.

J. A. Mathews, 74, of Clovis, N. M., was carried to a local hospital with a broken leg; R. L. Chandler of Tyler received a broken rib, but continued his trip.

Both men were alone in their respective cars. Mathews was eastbound and Chandler westbound as the cars crashed head-on and were demolished.

ATTACK SIEGE LINE

CAIRO, Egypt, July 25 (AP)—Another swift-striking British night patrol dashed three miles out of beleaguered Tobruk to pound a strong point of the siege lines around the Libyan port with hand grenades in the darkness Wednesday, the British Middle East command reported today.

Oil Stocks Increase In Nation Reported

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — The bureau of mines reported today a 1,134,000-barrel increase during May in total stocks of oil.

Supplies amounted to 555,628,000 barrels, or 131 days' requirement of May 31 compared with 556,757,000 barrels for 132 days on April 30.

May 31 stocks were 8,171,000 barrels less than for the same month last year. Total demand for all oils rose from 126,953,000 barrels in April to 131,414,000 barrels on May 31, of which 10,730,000 barrels were for export.

East Texans Count Their Many Woes

MADISONVILLE, July 25 (AP)—Several farmers reported to the Madisonville Meteor that its estimate the county's boll weevil population was 4,946,438,613 was grossly inaccurate.

They said there were that many per acre.

On that basis, Editor H. B. Fox printed a revised figure of 946,432,976,412,649,357,541,436 for the county, and offered a year's free subscription to the first person who could read it correctly.

ARMY SERVICE RESOLUTION IS AGREED UPON

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — Members of the senate military committee were reported today to have agreed informally on the general terms of a resolution by which congress would declare a limited emergency under which selectees, national guardsmen and reserves could be retained in active army service beyond the present one-year limit.

Senator Lee (D-Okl.) told reporters when he came out of a closed session that a "count of noses" within the committee had disclosed no opposition to a proposal under which congress would be asked to find that the national interests were imperiled.

Lee predicted that a revised version of the bill to be considered by the committee this afternoon would not disturb present prohibitions in the laws against the sending of selectees, guardsmen and reserves outside the western hemisphere.

Administration leaders made a compromise today a willingness to compromise on a one-year extension of military service for selectees, national guardsmen and reserves, if they were convinced such a move would increase congressional support for legislation to keep the present army intact.

United States Likely To Stop Selling Japan Oil

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — Abandonment of the two-year-old policy of giving Japan access to United States oil in order to prevent aggressive action in the Pacific was considered a distinct possibility today, now that Japanese forces have moved southward to occupy strategic military and naval bases in French Indo-China.

Informed quarters here were agreed that extraordinary countermeasures were in the making as a result of the Indo-China affair—measures designed to express this country's opposition to the action already taken as well as to any further Japanese step in the direction of Singapore, the Netherlands East Indies or the Philippines.

Capitol Hill heard increasingly frequent speculation on use of the navy to safeguard American Eastern interests, while immediate prospects here were for some kind of economic action.

In this connection it was regarded as significant that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau cut short a visit with his parents in Bar Harbor, Me., to return to the capital today, explaining that the national emergency made it necessary for him to do so. In the past Morgenthau has been active in working out anti-axis economic measures.

The possibility of an oil embargo arose after President Roosevelt in short blunt sentences—all phrased in the past tense—suddenly broke official silence on why the Japanese have been allowed to obtain American oil thus far.

Had the oil been cut off, he told a group of civilian defense workers at the White House late yesterday, "they probably would have gone down to the Dutch East Indies a year ago, and you would have had war."

The president's statement was given page one display, with its references to Indo-China eliminated. (The Japanese press is not permitted to discuss the program for bases in that French colony.)

Outside government circles, the general reaction was one of astonishment and resentment at the vigor of the statement.

The statement by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, setting forth the United States position regarding the Indo-China crisis, however, was not published here, for obvious reasons. Officials withheld formal comment until, they said, an official text should be received from Ambassador Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura but indications were given that its blunt reference to alleged Japanese aggression claimed close attention.

Maintenance of stability in Thailand (Siam) was closely linked with the "serious situation" in Indo-China by the Japan Times and Advertiser, organ of the foreign office.

The paper made no reference to reports from abroad that Japan had gained the right to establish bases in southern Indo-China, but it asserted that Japan was "fully warranted in countering hostile activities" within her previously defined co-prosperity sphere.

Amarillo Officers Capture Convicts

AMARILLO, July 25 (AP)—Four escaped Texas convicts sought widely throughout Texas and Oklahoma since their break from the Harlem prison farm near Sugarland were captured today without a shot being fired.

An effective highway blockade, built under dramatic directions from the police two-way radio, stopped the fleeing men who had left a two-state trail of terrorism after escaping from the prison in a chaplain's automobile, Sunday.

Numerous hold-ups and hijacking throughout north and west Texas and in Oklahoma recently were blamed on the quartet by officers.

Captured without a show of resistance were Jack Bronson, 28, Francis Hoffman, 24, Hoyt Beasley, 26, William Ralph McBride, 21. They were heavily armed.

Fast-riding automobile poses for Amarillo closed in on the convict car early today from front and rear, trapping it at a highway barricade between here and the Canadian river bridge.

The Dalhart sheriff notified Amarillo officers last night of a robbery there in which the convicts allegedly were involved. A watch was set up at the Canadian river crossing about 20 miles north and another posse was stationed on the highway nearer Amarillo.

Keeping in close touch with each other and with headquarters in Amarillo by two-way radio, the two carloads of officers permitted the bandit car to drive past them toward Amarillo. Meanwhile, the highway was blocked by a wrecker and several police cars, nearer Amarillo.

Rider Offered To Freeze Loan Cotton

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—In a move to support recent increases in cotton prices, the senate agriculture committee today attached a rider, that would freeze all government cotton loan stocks, to house-approved legislation dealing with wheat marketing.

Chairman Smith (D-SC) said the senate committee action was an effort "to keep the government-owned cotton from breaking the market" through release of some 6,000,000 bales.

Small Craft Patrol On Coast Planned

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 (AP)—Taking a lesson from Dunkerque and the protection aid rendered the British by a motley volunteer fleet of small boats, the navy is organizing an auxiliary of small craft along the Pacific coast for close in patrol work in case of war.

"Wild Well" Sign Out Near Westbrook Isn't Just Fooling People

By MARY WHALEY

Out there near Westbrook is a sign that says, "Danger, Wild Oil Well." And this sign wasn't just fooling either. After presenting everything but our birth certificate, we got within shouting distance of the wild well that has been blowing now for two days. Shooting a steady stream for about a hundred feet, it sprayed out, which ever direction the wind blew, spreading salt water and devastation on trees and crops.

The noise of the earth monster sounded like a steam engine priming up to pull its load out of the station. But more fearsome in sound, it didn't just chug, chug away. At 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was still pounding, although the men in charge seemed to think it was getting a little subdued.

The curious for miles around were as near as they could get without getting sprayed. They watched for hours, as we did, seeing one of the earth's phenomenon. If you like this sort of thing—it seemed like Mother earth was protesting with all her age-old vigor against the hands of man who would find out her secrets and plumb her depths.

If that leaves you cold—it is still a mighty awesome sight to see man, the all powerful, helpless before the rage of such an air hole as this.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

The most exasperating thing in the world is to have to go off and leave a story half-read in a magazine. It happens with regularity in beauty parlors, dentist and doctors' offices.

It torments the mind until we go back to find out how the story came out, and the chances are one in a million of finding the same magazine.

We've left heroines dangling over cliffs that we never knew what became of and had our hero's about to marry the wrong girl and never knew whether fate stepped in or not.

Sometimes we think the beauty parlor owners and doctors are in cahoots to keep people coming back. Because just settle yourself in a chair, get half way along in a story and somebody says, "Next, please."

Of course, we could say, "Take somebody else until we finish the story," but somehow we never do. We just meekly shut up the magazine and take our turn and wonder how the triangle got back in a circle in the love story. Or worry for fear "who does it" never got found out.

Sometimes on return trips, we hunt up a story that was particularly fascinating, but somebody has always held clean-up week just the day before. The magazine is always gone, and there we are—we never find out how it ended!

Texas Surveys of Public Opinion

As the European struggle spreads further and further over the world Americans are being every day more directly faced with the war issue:

1. Should the United States declare war?
2. Is the U.S. in effect already at war?
3. Will the U.S. be able to avoid active participation?

Those are three questions under debate in every country store, in every hotel lobby; they are questions for the public to decide upon—probably soon.

Where do Texans stand?

A new state-wide poll by Texas Surveys of Public Opinion now being tabulated will give the answer. Watch for this Belden survey Sunday in

County Agent Raises Estimate Of Flea Damage To Cotton In County

County Agent O. P. Griffin today had retracted, in part, optimistic statements made earlier in the week concerning Howard county's cotton crop prospects.

Just back in the county after a week's absence, Griffin inspected several fields Monday and said that with good luck all around, a bale to the acre average could be harvested all over Howard county.

Further inspections of crops during the week revealed, however, that a large section of the county—perhaps as much as a fourth of it—centering around Fairview had suffered seriously from cotton flea hoppers.

"With cotton still growing, it would still be wise to dust with sulphur where the fleas are still working," he said. "Some of this cotton has practically no fruit on it, but is still growing so that some could be put out if the fleas were killed."

Griffin pointed out that saving one boll of cotton per stalk—a hardly noticeable amount—would mean $5 per acre more income at present prices, while cost of dusting would be only 30 to 50 cents plus labor.

The county agent remained optimistic about crop prospects in the rest of the county, but insisted that a close watch on the crop at this point will be well repaid.

He pointed out that boll worms are now in corn and feed crops in great numbers. There is a good chance that these will be eaten by ground beetles before the next generation can develop and go into the cotton.

He added, however, that if one boll worm moth is found every 100 feet, dusting with calcium arsenate should begin. These boll worm moths should appear in cotton fields, if they are going to, between now and August 15, he said. If dusting is done before the worms hatch, 90 per cent can be killed with one good dose of calcium arsenate. If they are allowed to hatch out, it will be almost impossible to prevent great damage.

Value of sulphur dusting against cotton fleas has been vividly demonstrated in the heavily-damaged section of the county, said Griffin. The R. D. Hatch and E. H. Hatch places in the midst of badly-infested territory have cotton with good load of squares, sulphur having been applied. Several surrounding fields where no sulphur was applied show severe losses.

"All fields where control measures were applied show good results," said the county agent. "Of course some farmers had the misfortune of having rain wash off sulphur after its application, and the good done was limited."

Outstanding examples of bad luck in dusting seems to have come to D. F. Bigony, who dusted his crop three times only to have a shower wash off the sulphur each time.

Edwards Places In Cheyenne Rodeo

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25 (AP)—As tophands of the western range went into the fourth day of competition in the 40th annual Cheyenne Frontier Days, an unheralded bronc-ster from Arlington, Ore., was riding high.

He is Stub Bartlemay, who conquered a sunfishing bronc named Defender to win first go-around money as a professional yesterday.

Buck Sorrels of Tucson, Ariz., took the first round calf roping crown. Second place went to Sonny Edwards of Big Spring, Tex., and Juan Salinas of Encinal, Tex., took third.

The motorist who pulls up to the curb and then honks his horn would be silenced under a newly-patented device. It keeps the horn from sounding when the car is in motion.

Railroaders Ask Big Pay Raises

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—American railroad workers laid a multi-million-dollar demand for wage increases before the Class 1 carriers.

Starting the complicated machinery set up for railroad labor negotiations, representatives of the five operating unions were the first to meet with committees designated to speak for the '25 lines which operate 80.1 per cent of the nation's railway mileage.

They were prepared to argue a 30 per cent increase in basic rates of pay for approximately 350,000 workers.

U.S. Embassy In Moscow Damaged

MOSCOW, July 25 (AP)—Windows on two sides of the residence of United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt were blown in by a bomb during the third successive night of German air assault on Moscow.

The raid, carried out in relays, again lasted five and one-half hours, but Russians declared today that it, like its predecessors, was a failure.

No officers of the United States embassy were in the ambassador's residence, Spaso House, Four American newspapermen who were there at the time were unhurt.

Air Mail 3 Years Late Due To Crash In Chile

RICHMOND, Va., July 25—Two air mail letters lost for more than two years after an airliner crashed in the hills of Chile have arrived here from South America almost three years after they were written.

The letters, postmarked June, 1938, bore an explanation in Spanish on the envelopes.

The mail had been lost June 19, 1938, on a flight over the foothills of the Andes. Later the letters were recovered and remained—this time from Santiago, Chile, Feb. 1941.

Both letters were stamped as diplomatic correspondence from the U. S. embassy at Buenos Aires and were written by Alexander W. Weddell, now ambassador to Spain. One was addressed to Miss Elizabeth Weddell, his sister, and the other to the editor of the Southern Churchman.

Peru And Ecuador Swap Accusations

BUENOS AIRES, July 25 (AP)—Peru and Ecuador charged each other today with responsibility for yesterday's day-long frontier battle between their forces along the Zarumilla river while Argentina awaited answers for a "supreme call" to both nations urging cessation of hostilities.

Peru's official version of the battle, which came after a relative calm of two weeks in the border dispute and involved more men and arms than any preceding clashes, stated that Peru's national integrity had been defended and strengthened by it.

RAF Divides Nazi Airforce

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Unprecedented opposition from increasing hundreds of Messerschmitts which are rising daily to counter the RAF's incessant daylight sweeps over northern France was cited by informed quarters today as "conclusive evidence" that Germany has been compelled to withdraw substantial air forces from the Russian front.

"They are proof the sweeps are achieving the major objectives of preventing the Luftwaffe from concentrating all its power for the destruction of the Soviet air force," these sources asserted.

Here they are at six weeks, eating heartily.

Pepper Martin's Missing, But—

Cards Return To "Gashouse" Ways

By Associated Press
There never will be another "Gas House Gang" until there is another Pepper Martin, but the present St. Louis Cardinals are the next best thing.
They are hard-hitting, fast-running, never-say-die outfit with eight hitters batting more than .30 and seven pitchers with a winning percentage, four of them having a combined won-lost record of 36-11.
They have a bristling, fiery-eyed little boss named Billy (The Kid) Southworth, who plays his cards with an abandon never equalled in the major leagues.
This explains how the Red Birds have performed, such phenomena as winning 20 games by one run and how one pitcher, Lefty Ernie White, captured three contests in as many days to sweep a series from the New York Giants.
The Cardinals nosed out the Giants, 2-2, yesterday to bag their second extra-inning tilt in two days. White, last of four pitchers used by Southern, fanned two men in the tenth to get credit for his tenth triumph of the season.

It was a strange encounter, played in 100-degree heat before 12,000 fans, only 2,000 of whom were paying customers.
The Giants made only four hits in the regulation nine innings, five altogether, but one was Babe Young's single with the bases loaded in the first. This was good enough to give New York a 2-1 lead with St. Louis having two out and nobody on base in the last of the ninth.
The Cardinals broke out with one of their famous rallies. Frank Crespi and Terry Moore, who hadn't hit all day, singled and Johnny Hopp doubled, scoring Crespi, but Moore was tagged at the plate.
In the tenth Enos Slaughter singled and Jim Brown doubled for the winning run, giving the Cards their fifth straight victory and exclusive possession of the National league lead, a half-game ahead of the 10th Brooklyn Dodgers.

The defeat tossed the Giants into a fourth-place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who edged out the Phillies, 2-2, in the ninth for their 19th victory in 26 contests. The Pirates were shut out by Les Grissom till the seventh, but got one run then and two in the ninth. Stu Martin's single with the bases loaded providing the winning margin.
Babe Dahlgren's sixth-inning homer, his 14th of the season, snapped a tie and gave the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over his former teammates, the Boston Braves, in the other National league encounter.
The New York Yankees continued their triumphant stride at the front of the American league, beating the Cleveland Indians, 4-1, and stretching their first-place margin to 10 games.
Charley Keller's 24th homer with one on in the fifth decided the issue, pointing the Yanks to their sixth straight victory and 57th in 48 games. It was the 12th time they had beaten the Indians in 16 games.

Catcher Bill Dickey was beamed by one of Jim Bagby's fast balls, but the blow was a glancing one and he was able to walk off the field unassisted, apparently just shaken up. However, he was kept in a hospital overnight.
The Philadelphia Athletics made 13 hits, including homers by Sam Chapman and Benny McCoy, to whip the St. Louis Browns, 9-7 and take over fifth place from the Detroit Tigers, who were beaten again by the Washington Senators, 6-5. Hal Newhouser gave only six hits, but walked nine, including three men in Washington's four-run ninth inning.
The Boston Red Sox retaliated for Wednesday's shelling by the Chicago White Sox with an 11-1 drubbing of the Chicago crew. Mickey Harris allowed only six hits and Boston made the most of 10. Jim Tabor hit a homer with the bases loaded and doubled two other runs across.

Schulze Holds Lubbock To Four Hits

Aluminum To Be Used As Part Admission For Series Windup
Big Spring's Bombers started clambering out of any slump they might have been in here last night as they battered three Lubbock pitchers for an 18-hit total and took a 13 to 0 shutout victory over the Hubbers. Buck Schulze hurled unbeatable ball, holding the visitors to a bare 4-hit showing and not allowing a Hubber to reach second throughout the evening's performance.
The Bombers added to the rout with four homers during the engagement. Second baseman Jack Lindsey, First Baseman Eddie Stevens, Right Fielder Mel Reeves, and Schulze came through with the 'round-the-corse blasts.
Lubbock used three moundmen in an effort to stop the Bomber attack but they were unable to put up a defense against the Big Springers' top hitting-sprees of the season.
Tonight, the clubs square-off in a three-way attraction. Big Spring winds up its current hometown series, customers are to be admitted for twenty cents plus a chunk of aluminum, and it is scheduled to be Centerfielder Pete Zmitrovich's going-away party. The fracas gets underway at 8:30 p. m. with Willard Ramsdell slated to do the tossing for Big Spring.
Manager Jodie Tate and Prexy Tink Riviere have turned tonight's game over to Pete, one of the out-hustling lads on the club. Although Zmitrovich does not know definitely when the call will come, he is due to leave Big Spring for service in the army before the club returns home. Therefore, the head men of the Big Spring ball club urge fans to turn out en masse tonight to give Pete a bang-up sendoff. He is the first of the Bombers to be taken by the draft.
Aluminum kitchenware, etc., will apply on admission to the game. Regular prices will prevail for those who do not bring an offering for the nation-wide drive for aluminum.
Big Spring was a championship club last night. Lubbock ran up against a team that was flawless in every department and full of the hit fever. In addition, four double plays stymied attempts made by the Hubbers to reach second base.
As the game started, Schulze walked the first Hubber up at the plate, Shortstop Mahan, but the hard-working Big Spring hurler soon moved into his stride and bottled up the visitors from there on out. Over the route, Schulze fanned seven Hubbers and walked six.
Big Spring started romping across home in its share of the initial inning. Eddie Stevens got a two-base hit and was driven in by Hayden Greer's single. Then Greer was stopped at second as Mel Reeves landed on first. Reeves came across the plate when Lindsey homered.
Reeves got his four-baser in the fifth frame. Stevens homered with Al Zigelman on base. Earlier in the inning, Zmitrovich had connected for a two-bagger and had been brought in by Zigelman's single. In the eighth, Schulze culminated the tussle with a mighty wallop that sent the ball far over the rightfield fence.
Stevens appeared to have regained his hitting eye last night as he marked up a spectacular three-hit count, consisting of a two-baser, a triple, and a home run in five times at bat. Greer ditted the count with three singles in five trips to the plate.

Tribe Adds Sports To Victim List

By The Associated Press
The newest winning streak in the Texas league developed nicely last night as the Oklahoma City Indians defeated Shreveport's Sports 4-3 for the Indians' third straight win.
Beaumont's seventh place Exporters, meanwhile, stopped a losing streak at eight games when Les Mueller's fine pitching found Lou going against the rejuvenated Rebels before winning 2-1, and Fort Worth knocked over San Antonio 7-1.
The Exporters chalked up ten hits and drove Julian Tubb from the mound with a five-run, eighth inning rally. Lefty Howard Pollet notched his 15th victory of the season as the Buffs cashed in on four Rebel errors to effect fine hurrying by Southpaw Clyde Humphrey and Otho Nicholais.
Ford Garrison's four-for-four batting and Claude Horton's steady six-hit pitching gave the Cats their win.

The commission will ask fellow American and Canadian legislators to accompany them on a tour of Latin American capitals to extend similar invitations, these circles said.

Whirlaway To Fight Jinx Of Arlington Park

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Whirlaway dares the grave yard of champions at Arlington Park tomorrow.
The king of the American turf will go to the post the top-heavy favorite in the $60,000 Arlington classic—a race in which many an odds-on favorite fell before the stretch charge of unheralded longshots.
Remember what happened to Johnstown in 1938? After winning the Kentucky Derby by eight lengths and the Belmont by five, Johnstown went to the post in the classic at odds of 1-5 and finished third, six lengths behind the triumphant Challedon and Sun Lover. Challedon's win price was $29.20.
Last year Gallahadon, Kentucky derby winner, and Bimelech, one of the biggest failures in turf history, staggered home behind the victorious Sirocco, which paid off at $22.80.
Back in 1921, Mate, at 5 to 1, conquered Twenty Grand which had set a record in winning the Kentucky derby that year. Twenty Grand was an even money shot.
Whirlaway probably will go to the post at odds of 1-6, and by all calculations the winner of the Kentucky, the Frankness and Zel's horse race, and anything can happen... Look what did happen to Johnstown and the others in the classic.
Probably no more than five will be in the running against Whirlaway in the mile and a quarter classic. The Woodvale Farm's Our Boots is regarded as Whirlaway's principal rival, with Attention, son of Mrs. Parker Corning, New York, as another contender. The others will be Bushwacker, To a Tee, and Daily Trouble.
If six go, the race will have a gross value of $60,132, with $43,250 going to the winning owner. Second prize is worth $7,500, third $5,000 and fourth, $2,500.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIEZE
(Herald Special News Service)
NEW YORK, July 25—Lou Gehrig's dog, Kim, is the first "player" named for "The Life of Lou Gehrig"... Weather for the start of the St. Paul open golf was almost as hot as Ben Hogan... Arlington Park will have 440 selling and cashing windows open for tomorrow's rich classic... Those Martian-looking football headgear Northwestern's eleven introduced last fall have been adopted by the army for the use of parachute troops at Fort Benning, Ga... Craig Wood keeps right on playing like champ, even in exhibitions—69 at Kansas City, 70 at Louisville, 68 at Pittsburgh and 66 at Buffalo... Dick Wakefield, the Tigers' $45,000 beauty, may not know it yet, but he's moving into a pitcher's league at Winston-Salem in the Piedmont.
Today's guest star—Sid Benjamin, Hazleton (Pa.) Plain-Speaker: "No wonder the St. Louis Browns lost to the Trenton Interstars at Trenton Tuesday night... The Browns aren't used to playing before such large crowds."
Around and about—If you think you have to play on a big college team to make a name for yourself, what about the votes for 19-year-old Phil Dyanan of little Rockhurst college is getting for the all-star team? ... Andy Scott, the he-man film star, has four birdies to his credit in the Peter Dawson national ringer tournament... Willie Turness, former amateur golf champ, now in business in Detroit, has been promoted to the point where he has to have a secretary... Attendance at pro and open golf tournaments is up 80 per cent from last year... Ben Hogan, who has finished in the money in 61 consecutive tournaments, never has seen a big league ball game but he is planning to take time off in October to see the Yankees and maybe the Dodgers... Until beamed by Kirby Higbe Wednesday night, Frank McCormick had a streak of 549 consecutive big league games.
Today's how—Since Fordham started to crash the football big-time some years back, Boston College hasn't been considered big enough game for the Ram schedule... Just the same, seven Boston College players have been picked for the eastern all-star team which will be coached by Jim Crowley—of Fordham.
Sports in tabloid—Fight top: Fritzie Zivic has fought in Newark five times and each time he went home winner by a kayo—so look out Red Cochran... Teddy Lyons was kidding Red Berg, educated catcher of the Red Sox: "Want to eight universities," quipped Ted, "and never learn to call for the right pitch." ... Bob Brumby of New York's "PM" is the only golf writer in town who ever played the game professionally... Paul Derringer will be presented with a motor boat Sunday when Redland fans toast him a "day"... And speaking of days, a piece of aluminum was the price of admission at ladies day yesterday in St. Louis... Teddy Yaross, former middleweight champion, is running for tax collector in Monaca, Pa., and here's a vote for Teddy.

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACE DOUGLAS
Within the next few days Pete Zmitrovich, Big Spring Bomber centerfielder, will be swapping his baseball regalia for a suit of khaki. Pete's leaving for active service in the army—first of the Bomber aggregation to do so.
Big Spring is going to miss Pete for a couple of reasons—he's a dead-serious, hustling craftsman and a whacking good guy in the bargain.
Pete declares he's going to keep up his baseball during his sojourn as one of Uncle Sam's crew, there-by keeping in trim for the continuation of his baseball career when he is mustered out.
This Pete is quite a fellow. Like any person who takes a job seriously, Pete does a bit of jollying when he figures it's necessary, but his whoops in his own behalf are mere whispers compared to his outburst when he decides the cards aren't being dealt right to one of his mates.
Now, we don't know what kind of a spit-and-polish soldier Pete will make and we can't predict too closely about his baseball future but one thing is certain, if the time ever comes when Pete has to help a people get a correction on a badly called play—Pete's going to be in there whooping it up for the other guy.
During the time he has been here, Pete has made a lot of friends. The Russian lad has given the customers their money's worth with a smooth brand of ball-playing. Lately he had been developing into something of a hitter.
Now, the fans have a chance to show Pete what they think of him—show it by coming out tonight and watch him give his farewell performance on Roberts Field. He will not leave for a few days but Manager Jodie Tate said he will likely be gone before the team is back for a hometown stand.
And so, we don't know what lies ahead for Pete Zmitrovich, but we can wish him the best of luck and a quick and safe return to the baseball world.
Turn out tonight—see the Ruskay off—see him off in style.
Jodie Tate's mother is in town for a few days. She expects to return to her home in Whitewright, Texas, when the club leaves on its jaunt through the bushes.

Hogan Due For Harder Tussles In Golf Wars

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 25 (AP)—Maybe little Ben Hogan can add more cash to the $11,000 or so he has won already this season by finishing well up in the $7,500 open golf tournament starting today, but if he does it will be only after a battle.
Grapevine reports say Hogan's feat of placing in the money in 52 consecutive tournaments have aroused the other pros and they are out to stop him this time. But the 135-pound Texan will take some stopping, for he apparently is definitely on his game.
Hogan fired a 67 in the pro-men preliminary round over the sunbaked Keller course yesterday, which is five under par, but he still was behind Sam Snead, the Hot Springs expert, who was as hot as the weather. Snead blasted out a 66 while the mercury soared past 100, his total including an eagle three on the 18th.
Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park, Calif., also turned in a 67 yesterday as did Johnny Bulla, the big, hard hitting Chicagoan. Mangrum's score, coupled with a 77 for his partner, Mrs. Lucille Mann of Omaha, Neb., was good enough for first place in yesterday's event.
Some of the other name golfers also served notice that Hogan will have something to beat to continue his money-winning record. Among them were Dick Metz, former Kellar champion, who had a 61 and Clayton Heafner, Jimmy Hines and Denny Shute who carded 69's.
With the pressure turned on Hogan all the way, Metz' record 270 made in 1939 could be cracked. Pressure, however, never bothers Hogan. He has put on plenty of it himself and with the incentive of keeping his winning streak intact he might easily be the one to write a new mark in the book.

Net Champ Is In The Dark About Slump

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 25 (AP)—The enigma that is Donald L. McNeill, tennis champion of the United States, remains unsolved.
"For the life of me, I don't know what's wrong. Your guess is as good as mine." This from McNeill himself. It doesn't take an expert to pick out glaring flaws in McNeill's technique. McNeill knows there's plenty wrong with it, but no one yet has been able to offer an explanation for the disintegration of a game that carried the modest, soft-spoken Oklahoma to the top of the heap last year.
Some say it's a loss of confidence. Others say it's a loss of confidence, but McNeill says not. "I feel better than I've ever felt before," he says. "When I go out on the court, I feel I can win and I play to win, but the shots just don't go where I want them to."
Yesterday, in the quarter-final round of the 54th annual Sea Bright tournament, McNeill fell victim of the tournament's biggest upset. He was beaten by 20-year-old Ted Schroeder in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5.
McNeill acknowledged he was pretty discouraged, but he's far from ready to admit that his game is beyond salvage.
"By the time the nationals come around, I hope to be myself again. After all, this sudden change from clay to grass does make a difference. And besides, Schroeder is no soft touch, and he did play fine tennis today."
McNeill wasn't the only victim of the switch to grass, for while Schroeder, Frankie Parker, who had scored virtually a grand slam in clay court competition, was being crushed by Wayne Sabin, 6-3, 6-4.

NEW MARK SET UP IN FREESTYLE SWIM

HONOLULU, July 25 (AP)—Bill Smith, Jr., 17-year-old Maui lad, bettered the world's swimming record for the 800 meters men's freestyle last night by stroking the distance in 9 minutes, 50.9 seconds. The record of 9 minutes, 55.8 seconds was established by S. Makino of Japan in Tokyo September 15, 1935.

IF LEGISLATURE MEETS TO PASS ROAD BOND LAW, GUARANTEE IN ADVANCE OF RESULTS DESIRABLE

Clamor for a special session of the legislature, which recently finished a record 171-day stand, seems to be mounting. Sources of this cry are from counties which would be placed in financial straits due to failure of the legislature to re-enact the highway bond assumption bill.

As a consequence of this failure, many counties are faced with the prospect of having to raise tax rates, many to a point beyond the ability of property holders to pay. In this particular county the picture is not so dire but the peculiar circumstance presents itself wherein the county would have to pay off several thousands of dollars.

County officials can't be blamed for being worried. But perhaps worry will do some, and particularly the Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, a lot of good. Truth of the matter is that bullheadedness and selfishness on the part of some was responsible for blocking the legislation.

Hence, we would not be in favor of a special session to re-enact the law unless it is generally understood that it will be voted on a sensible basis. By that we mean that the surplus accruing in the fund from the one cent of gasoline tax diverted for bond assumption purposes be used as nearly as possible for state highway construction and maintenance.

We have been and still are opposed to the assumption of bonds voted after Jan. 2, 1939 and prior to Jan. 2, 1941 for county roads, an action which was tantamount to counties forcing the state highway department to build roads to serve county needs or desires.

That does not mean that we are opposed to a strong lateral road system for we strongly favor such;

but we are equally firm in our position that the state highway department be given a free hand in the development of the state highway system.

As for the proposals to return the surplus in the diversion fund to counties, we are not naive enough to believe that it will promote any real economy in counties. Human nature is such that in the majority of cases it will turn out to be just as much gravy, and gravy seldom makes good roads.

If there can be substantial assurances that a sensible bond assumption law, mainly in line with the purpose of the original measure, can be speedily enacted, then we might see merit in a special session. Otherwise, if there is to be a renewing of the old fight, we think a little more sweating will prove a good teacher for the forces who want all or nothing.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Screwy Camera Views Become The Rage

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—All the gentlemen up in Canada whose business it is to inspect passports had better prepare for a shock: they're going to be handed a few of the documents accompanied by photos that look like the bearers. The photos, moreover, will be "glamorous"—a startling innovation in the passport business.

Behind all this is an unusual movie expedition, first of its kind. "Captains of the Clouds" will be the first Hollywood movie shot entirely on location in Canada. A number of films, notably "The Country Doctor" and others featuring the Dionne quintuplets, have crossed the border for portions of their footage. "Captains" plans to go all the way—and in color besides. James Cagney, George Brent, Dennis Morgan and possibly a girl lead to be named later, will make the trip, with Michael Curtiz directing.

Nobody goes who isn't an American citizen and a registered voter—this is a movie to be made under war-time conditions, in one of the very centers of Canada's war effort: Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters at Uplands Field, Ottawa.

The Warners are making the movie primarily because they think they'll get a hit out of it (that being the prime notion behind every movie) but at the same time it represents the first extension of the "good neighbor" hand northward from Hollywood since DeMille's "North West Mounted Police."

I'm sure "Citizen Kane" had nothing to do with it, but it's odd how many movie sets you'll find nowadays boasting ceilings, once comparatively rare. It's odd, too, with what enthusiasm many directors and cameramen are striving for unusual photographic effects and lighting.

Gregg Toland, who photographed "Kane" for Orson Welles, is shooting the Bette Davis film, "The Little Foxes," and you can look for more cute tricks. Like this one: While a janitor polishes a brass plate on the exterior of a bank building, a horse and wagon approach the curbstone are reflected in the brass. Passengers are Teresa Wright, the pretty young thing from the stage, and her "mammy," Jessie Grayson. The scene is played entirely in the brass "mirror," with the janitor speaking his lines in the foreground.

That's doing it the hard way, but William Wyler, the director, and Toland aren't going to let themselves be "out-innovated."

Ruth Warrick, the first Mrs. Citizen Kane, was overshadowed in the movie by Dorothy Compton, but now RKO is giving her the build-up. New tests show a personality, look and voice which her character in "Kane" could not exploit to good advantage.

Bright sayings of grown-ups: Paulette Goddard, in a kissing scene with Bob Hope, was urged by the director to play it "like a little girl, ingeniously, with just a hint of come-on."

Said Paulette: "Something like Snow White on the loose?"

Man About Manhattan Lots of Living Makes Suzanne Silvercrucy Understand People

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — One of the nicest letters I ever received from anybody was from Suzanne Silvercrucy... She wrote it sometime in the late 1930's. War hadn't been declared... She was in Switzerland... Before that, she had been in her native Belgium... I have seen her off and on since then—presenting a bust of Prime Minister Churchill here, undrapping a statue there... Yesterday I got around to dropping by her studio in the Hotel Artiste, which is high and far above Central Park, and when I walked in she said, "I have finished something new..." Suzanne always is finishing something new.

One day it will be a bust of some national hero, the next a book on the ABC's of sculpturing.

This newest achievement was a portrait bust of Lewis Douglas which she has just completed for McGill University, in Montreal. In his academic robes and mortarboard hat Douglas looks quite different from the aggressive personality one remembers him as when he served as director of the budget during Roosevelt's first administration. It is in the softening touch so noticeable in Suzanne's work, and so admirable, that is characteristic.

After all, during the first world war, she was hustled to America as a very young girl, and she toured the country making speeches and giving her version of what fate would await Belgium if the invaders were not stopped. Through, or because of, this ordeal, she learned a lot out of it with an abiding respect for other people's feelings.

I often think this feeling is reflected in her work... Suzanne Silvercrucy is a young woman with a profound belief in the fundamental goodness of human nature.

Dodgers are pennant contenders. The Giants are only in third place.

The decision to place half a dozen sea-lions in the Rockefeller Center Plaza pool was a big winner... It has proved the greatest crowd-gatherer since Balbo flew over Manhattan with his squadron of seaplanes, en route to Italy from Chicago.

HOUSTON, July 25 (AP)—A letter urging the retention of Dr. John W. Hestner of Houston, president of the association, said yesterday.

Dorothy Thompson Says—Hitler's Fight Against Russia Is Fight Against Whole World At the Same Time

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

While congress is debating whether we should extend the period of service for selectees and whether we should give the government power to dispose of the army, according to necessity, anywhere in the world, a plan is unfolding that is reminiscent of Alexander rather than Napoleon. If the Nazi attack on Russia succeeds, it will prove to be directed against the United States, and will mean the inevitable involvement of the United States in the war.

That is a very unpopular thing to say, but it is more important to present an accurate picture than it is to be popular.

Hitler is not fighting merely for the Ukraine. He has launched his attack on every sector of the Stalin line because he wishes and intends to take the whole of Russia. That is why he could not negotiate with Stalin. His goal is not Moscow but Vladivostok, where, if he can still hold Europe, he will be master of the world. We shall then have to help unseat him from that mastery, instead of preventing him from getting it, and the former is more difficult than the latter.

Japan at present is too isolated to play an efficient role in the axis war system. Entangled in China, checked by the economic and naval superiority of the United States, and always threatened by an uncertain Russia, she would be of little use to Hitler in a world war against Britain and the United States, but linked to the European sector of the axis by a Nazi-dominated Russia, and supplied with material and military help from Berlin, she would become a formidable base for axis war in the Pacific.

That Japan has any enthusiasm for participating in such a war is doubtful. But if the Nazis get to Vladivostok—and all that involves is controlling the trans-Siberian railroad—the Japanese will have no choice about it. For the Nazis will be in a position to blackmail and coerce Japan. A German force at Vladivostok would be a terrible menace to Japan, which is more vulnerable to air attack than any other country. Therefore, the Japanese will probably try to get there first and Japan will have to play Hitler's game—or else. Hitler treats his allies and his enemies in exactly the same way.

In this war the German high command is following out the military philosophy of Karl E. K. Haushofer, and fulfilling the warnings of the great British geo-political scientist Sir Halford John Mackinder. The Haushofer theory of geo-politics is that in modern warfare domination of the continents is the decisive factor, not domination of the seas, and that the power which controls the largest contiguous continental spaces will outweigh, outlast, and outfight sea power, and have the advantage in air power. The policy of the German high command is to outflank the oceans.

There can be many a slip between this policy and its realization, but it would be feeble-mindedness for us to count on slips. It is much better to reckon that Hitler may succeed in defeating European Russia, grabbing the trans-Siberian railroad, and breaking through to the Pacific for juncture with the Japanese. Intelligence recommends that we anticipate the worst possible event, instead of hoping for the best.

Political ideology has been brushed aside in this struggle for world domination. As a matter of historical fact the United States has always distinguished between the militia and its form of government, Russia under the Czar was denounced by liberal America, but Russia aided us in our civil war, and in the war of 1812, and in the Spanish-American war, all for pure reasons of national security. When Theodore Roosevelt intervened to end the Russo-Japanese war, it was to prevent the Japanese from having a decisive victory. It was not because he liked the Russian government, but because of the Pacific ocean.

Therefore, unless we can reckon that Hitler will be decisively defeated in Russia, something which is extremely improbable, the United States is going to go to war. A nation of one hundred and thirty million people still in possession of its senses will not allow itself to be encircled and will not allow itself to be pushed around.

The question is who is to decide when we go to war, and how we go to war. If congress is more jealous of its prerogatives than of American security, we will go at the wrong time and under the most disadvantageous possible circumstances. In this war you have to shoot when the shooting is good in order to avoid shooting when it is bad. But we will not be able to avoid shooting unless we want to be shot, and shot for history.

I repeat that this is a very unpopular thing to say. But it is high time that the American people were told the hard facts of life, without any equivocation whatsoever. This nation is of age. It has wasted twenty-two years in blindness, allowing the freedom and power won in 1918 with American blood to slip imperceptibly through its fingers. It will have to pay for that mistake. But this country is still worth paying for.

How high the price will be will depend on when and on the elements of secrecy and surprise. Secrecy and surprise are worth fleets of tanks and planes and whole divisions of men.

MADE UP TO KILL

by Kelley Roos

Chapter Six

PETERSON AGAIN

Jeff draped his feet neatly over my little white-potted cactus plant and deposited his shoes with a bang on my Windsor table. Sprawling out on the studio couch he dug his head into the pillows. I stood over him and raged.

"Do you really mean to lie there calmly and go to sleep while Carol Blanton is in Bellevue poisoned? Listen, Jeff, somebody tried to kill her! Aren't we going to do something?"

"Not till eleven o'clock. Then we go to see Bowers."

"And until eleven we just sit here?"

"You sit here. I sleep." He rolled over on one ear and pulled down a pillow to cover the other one.

"Sleep, damn you, sleep!" I said and sat down wearily at the desk. I tried to think of somebody who could have poisoned Carol and why and what I should do about it. I put my head on the red leather memorandum pad and closed my eyes.

It was half past ten when Jeff shook me, and then was the lovely bubbly sound of coffee perking in the kitchen. I took a cold shower, slipped into my old tweed suit and did a hasty job on my face. Then, standing wedged in between the stove and the refrigerator, we gulped cold tomato juice and cups of strong black coffee. It tasted wonderful.

It was cold and bright as we walked down Fifth Avenue to Forty-fourth and over Forty-fourth to the Colony. Clint Bowers' office was on the third floor over the theater and we squeezed into the self-operating elevator and went up.

Before the great mahogany desk that seemed to sag under its load of littered papers, letters and photographs, Bowers was sitting, his head resting on his hand. His face was drawn and grayish and his crisp hair ruffled as though he had run his fingers through it many times.

Phoebe Thompson, who did a smattering of secretarial work for him during the mornings, sat across from him, her pencil poised over a page on which nothing had been written. And striding back and forth in front of the one window was our ubiquitous new friend, Mr. Peterson. His head jerked in our direction as we entered.

"Oh, it's you two. You can come in. Sit down."

"Clint," I said, without any preliminary greetings, "do you know how Carol is?"

"I've been calling the hospital. Her condition is..."

"Favorable," I know. I've been calling them too."

Peterson said: "Your friend's all right. Lieutenant Sullivan just made a report on her. She'll be out of there in no time at all. Now, will you sit down?"

We did, on the edge of our chairs. Peterson drew a long breath.

"All right now, let's get back to where we were. Miss Thompson, you said that you have changed those glasses, didn't you?"

Phoebe nibbled at the end of her pencil. "I... yes, I do. I take them out of the prop room and arrange them on the table on stage. And I see that they're put back in the prop room after the show's over."

"And last night? Did you do that last night?"

"Yes. As soon as the set had been put up I carried all the things in and fixed the table, the silver and china and glasses. I dusted them and..."

"Dusted them? You dusted the glasses?"

"Yes, they'd been standing in the prop room all day and they needed it. I dusted each one as I set it on the table."

"And there was nothing in any of the glasses then?"

"I'm positive there wasn't."

"When did you do this dusting, what time?"

"Two... not more than three minutes before the curtain went up on the third act."

Time Of The Crime

Peterson wheezed with satisfaction. "Well! That's what you call placing the time of the crime, all right. In those few minutes after you dusted the glasses and before the curtain went up someone dropped morphine in Carol Blanton's glass."

"Not necessarily," Jeff said.

"What?"

"It could have been dropped in any time from when Phoebe dusted the glasses until Carol drank the stuff."

Peterson glowered at him. "You mean that one of the actors might have put it in after the curtain went up? While the play was going on?"

"It's a possibility."

Peterson smiled. "I think you better try again, Troy." He turned back to Phoebe. "Who was on the stage while you were fixing the table?"

"Why... why, nobody."

"No one at all? How come?"

"The company all had costume changes and they were in their dressing rooms. The set had been put up and all the stagehands had gone back to the cellar to their card game. Tommy Nelson was upstairs in the dressing rooms, I heard him calling places. And Amelia, that's Eve North's maid,

Q. Is the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps compulsory?
A. Absolutely not. Purchase of Bonds and Stamps represents voluntary action on your part. When you buy them you take your stand in the ranks of the National Defense Program. You automatically become a shareholder in your Government.

Congressmen Plan Action To Prevent Farm Price Fixing

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—An attempt to curb by congressional action any price-fixing orders on farm products was planned today by Senators Smith (D-SC) and Thomas (D-OK).

Protesting that actions of Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, were "robbing farmers of a chance for a fair price," Chairman Smith said he would ask the senate agriculture committee to act on the matter at once.

"Henderson breaks the cotton market every time he opens his mouth," Smith, known as "Cotton Ed," said.

Senator Thomas, also critical of Henderson's price-fixing attempts, said he would offer two riders to a farm bill dealing with wheat marketing, an effort to restrict action by Henderson until congressional considered price fixing legislation.

Thomas said one rider would prohibit any attempt to fix prices on farm products "either directly or indirectly, until congress passed such authorizing legislation."

The second, he said, would prevent release of any government cotton loan stocks until after the end of the present emergency, unless congress specifically ordered some stocks released. Officials in charge of approximately 6,000,000 bales of cotton acquired by the government under price-supporting loans in recent years, have been reported considering release of some of this supply to offset recent sharp increases in cotton prices.

Senator Smith said that "mere talk" of such a release "had broken the cotton market" just when farmers were beginning to move a new crop to market.

The senate recently passed a bill by Smith to freeze these loan stocks for the duration of the war but the house has not acted on the measure. The wheat marketing bill recently was passed by the house and sent to the senate. Any amendments to it normally would get prompt house attention.

Although administration and congressional leaders have announced that broad price control legislation would be introduced shortly, Smith predicted that farm minded lawmakers would battle any attempt to halt the recent increases in agricultural prices.

Army Recruiters Attempt To Form Aviation Unit Here

Anxious to organize a Big Spring aviation cadet unit, U. S. army recruiting officers will project films and interview youths on the courthouse lawn at 8:30 p. m. today.

Here for the meeting will be Capt. Everett W. Bright, Fort Bliss; Sgt. L. W. Bobb, Fort Bliss; Corp. T. K. Morris, Fort Bliss; Corp. Troy Gist, Sweetwater recruiting officer, and St. Troy Gibson, local recruiting officer.

Organization of a local aviation cadet unit would be based upon the securing of at least 10 men with approximately two years college education and between the ages of 20-28 years. Those with high school educations are eligible, but they must stand mental examinations at another place. College trained young men can qualify upon satisfying an examination by a flight surgeon who would be dispatched here if enough are interested.

Sgt. L. W. Bobb, with the party, said that if a unit were organized here it would bear the city's name, would be the first in this area and would mean that the men would get their primary, secondary and advanced training together.

The technical film to be shown on the courthouse lawn depicts many phases in the life of flying cadets. Following the show Capt. Bright and other officers will interview any young men interested in becoming a part of such an aviation unit. Sgt. Gibson will explain details to those who cannot be at the showing.

Here 'n There

Effects of that "prolonged" three-weeks drought are showing up on water bills being issued currently. For the first time this summer residents have had to turn on sprinklers. It's a mild reminder of how much it normally costs to maintain a pretty yard.

Soil Conservation Service staff members here gave a barbecue this week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. Emmett Pittman, who were wed recently. The affair, staged at the city park, was in the nature of an introductory meeting for Mrs. Pittman, who formerly was Martin county home demonstration agent.

W. E. Mann, Vincent, said Friday that big things are expected of this year's crop, that several in his area were preparing to cut feed next week. He plans to start on his case within a few days. Operators on sandy sections are troubled by an over-abundance of moisture while those on tightland are looking for a bale to the acre.

Rain cancelled the projected meeting Wednesday evening at R-Bar on a soil conservation project on the big draw northwest from Coahoma. The meeting likely will be held early next week.

The West Side Baptist church is attempting to furnish a nursery. Mrs. E. E. Mason, wife of the pastor, said that gifts of baby beds, tables, little chairs or rockers would be appreciated and make possible the nursery for the new church plant. Those who can give any of the items can contact Mrs. Mason at 504 Ayford.

C. E. Higginbotham and H. A. Stegner will be guests of the Southwestern Life Ins. Co. at a two-day seminar in Dallas on Monday and Tuesday, according to C. F. O'Donnell, president. The two local representatives have been taking the course for the past six months.

Youngsters granted "under-age" drivers licenses recently include Hayes Franklin Stripling, Jr., and Elbert Reese, Howard county; Lewis Cecil Hobbs, Russell Garrett Arnett, Jimmie Lane Watson and Jacqueline Theis, Midland county.

had just gone into the kitchenette to do something for Eve. I don't know where the doorman was except that he certainly wasn't on stage. There, that takes care of everybody, doesn't it?"

"Everybody but me," Clint Bowers said.

"How about you?"

"I had gone up to Miss North's dressing room. There was a piece of business in the third act I wanted to speak to her about."

Peterson looked again at Phoebe. "After you finished the table, what did you do?"

"Went into the kitchen. I had to make tea. We used colored tea for the wine in the last act, you know."

"And that left the stage empty. Very conveniently."

"Yes," Phoebe's eyes flew eagerly to his face. "Look, Mr. Peterson. There were those few minutes—just before Tommy brought the company down when no one was anywhere around. Couldn't someone have sneaked in through the stage door then, poisoned the glass and left again without being seen? Amelia and I in the kitchen wouldn't have been able to notice."

"Sure, that could have happened."

"How about Nick?" Jeff asked.

"Wouldn't Nick have noticed a stranger coming in between acts?"

"I've talked to him. He wasn't on the door every minute during the night. He admits someone might have sneaked in that way."

"And there's that door from the front of the house," Phoebe said. In her excitement she had risen. "Anybody in the audience could have slipped through it during the intermission and not been noticed! That could have happened easily!"

"Sure, it could have happened," Peterson repeated. "Only it didn't. Nobody came through that door, nor through the stage door either."

"But why not?"

"Missing Star"

"Because the person who did this wasn't an outsider."

"You mean that someone in the company poisoned Carol, someone backstage? Oh, no, Mr. Peterson!" Phoebe was shocked. "Who would have done that?"

"Someone," said Peterson grimly, "who knew the setup, the stage and the theater. He had to know his way around, he had to know when the glasses would be put on the table, when he could sneak in and out with the least chance of being seen. And he had to know which glass Carol Bianchi was going to drink from. Doesn't sound much like an outsider, does it?"

Phoebe admitted defeat. "No...no, I guess not. Then...then that means that someone in Green Apples is a potential murderer, doesn't it? That's what you're saying, isn't it?" She stopped, catching her lower lip in her teeth. The rest of us stared at each other and a queer little thrill of horror crinkled through my spine. "Any one of us backstage might have slipped onto the set during those three minutes and poisoned Carol's glass. Any one of us!"

Peterson said, "Yes. One of you did." He turned to Bowers. "Maybe you could tell me, Mr. Bowers, why Eve North would leave town at the crack of dawn this morning?"

"Eve! Leave town?" Bowers eyes filled with incredulity and his hand reached for the telephone on the desk. "I think you must be wrong."

"Don't bother calling. I've been at her hotel. They say that she's out of town, won't be back until ### time for her performance tonight. And they don't know where she is."

"But Eve would have phoned me. She wouldn't have gone away the day after an opening night without first letting me know."

"That makes it all the more unusual, doesn't it? Where would she be, Mr. Bowers? Long Island someplace? Westport?" He watched Bowers, obviously waiting for an answer which he didn't get.

"Okay, if she isn't back by tonight we'll find her."

"Miss North will be back tonight," Bowers said, smiling. "And in plenty of time for the performance, wherever she is."

Peterson moved back to the window and stood there a moment, contemplating us in silence. Then he slipped two fingers into his vest pocket and brought out a folded slip of yellow paper.

"Tell me, Mr. Bowers, who is Lee Gray?"

"You've asked me that before. And I told you that I had no idea."

Peterson looked questioningly at Phoebe who shook her head, and then turned to me. "Do you know?"

"I've told you before, too, that I didn't."

He tapped the paper thoughtfully against the palm of his other hand. From the way the light fell I could see that there was writing on it. He looked at Jeff and said nothing.

"Why don't you ask my friend Mr. Troy?" I said. "This Lee Gray is more than likely some old crony of his."

Jeff gave me a dirty look. "Never heard the name."

"Troy doesn't know anything about this business last night," Peterson said. "Do you, Troy?"

"No, sir."
