Moisture Boosts Area's Sagging Spirits

Farmers Rally: Outlook Optimistic

Recent rains over the past two weeks in south Bailey County, where the largest part of the dryland farms are have been especially "beneficial to the restoration of land blown out, back to a farming condition," said Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County Extension Agent.

Lewis Dale, a farmer in the Needmore Community reported "11/2 to 2 total inches of rainfall directly south of Needmore, which is probably enough to plant on." At second location, south of Monument Lake, Dale reported two inches on dryland. Still another location 2 miles west and a mile north of Muleshoe on the Friona highway, he has received from 1/2 to 1 inch during this rainfall period.

West from Needmore. Baileyboro area farmer, Frankie Fine reports a total rainfall since April 10 of approximately 3 inches. Fine said, "Everything is really wet now and we can begin planting as soon as it warms up, but we'll probably wait another 3 weeks. The weeds are beginning

On west toward Shafer Gin area, up to 21/2-3 inches of moisture has been reported.

Although Stegall rains were lighter, further west on the State line 1 to 11/2 inches has been received on dryland awaiting plantings. One farmer in this area stated, "This rain has been a life-saver. Underground moisture has met the new moisture and the outlook now is favorable. We could possibly plant on this; however, another 2 inches would put us in excellent shape." He added, "Wheat was under stress before the rains, but has been helped with the rains; however, harvest of wheat could be difficult due to the shortness of the stalk."

Pasture land in areas of rainfall is greening up; and pasture will be good if rains continue.

Residents Unite Against MX Plan

Though stated ubruptly, solemnly, intellegently, or emotionally, the answer to having the MX Missile System located in Eastern New Mexico/Texas was "not on our land."

This response was given over and over at the two MX Hearings in Clovis Wednesday along with questioning why this area is even being considered in the DEIS. Approximately 350 attended the first session and about 600 attended the evening session.

A lack of patriotism was not evident but strong loyalty and ties to several generations of homesteading was evident.

Although time was allotted for questions about the system, the major question was why, this agriculturally rich area is even being considered.

It was voiced that if as much indepth study had been done on this area as was done in Nevada/Utah this area would not be an

The DEIS is not in its final form and it is hoped reactions from the Clovis hearings will be included. The Reagan administration is expected to decide whether or not it wants a land-based missile system by July 1. The United States Congress will make the final decision on the

Sewing Denim 'Popular'

Sports Fabrics

Denim, a "popular" in sports fabrics, has special characteristics and sewing requirements, advises Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

Ms. Brown is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Denim has body, it is a firm twill weave, and it tailors beautifully. In selecting a pattern for denim, choose one that has few curves and no extreme bias," the specialist says.

In cutting denim, use the "with nap" layout to make sure all pattern pieces are going in the same direction. When pattern pieces are cut from a double thickness of fabric, always fold the fabric lengthwise. she advises.

When sewing denim, use cotton or cotton/polyester thread of a size that is suitable for the fabric weight.

In finishing denim seams remember that it ravels more than any other sports fabrics, so it does require a seam finish. Which kind depends on a type of garment being constructed.

For a tailored look, use welt or flat-felled seams. These will eliminate bulk, and they'll add an interesting detail to the seams. Zigzag or edge stitch the seam edges.

Seams of an unlined jacket may be bound by encasing the edge of each seam allowance with doublefold bias tape and then edge stitching.

Top-stitching will add a finished touch to pockets and detail areas.

Hospitals To Participate In Disaster Drill

Like Boy or Girl Scouts, Lubbock hospitals must also be prepared. Twice a year the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals requires that a mock "disaster" to be held to test staff responses and the hospitals' disaster plans.

In compliance, a drill is planned for Tuesday, April 28, at 1:00 p.m. Lubbock General, Methodist and West Texas Hospitals will be participating in the

The setting for the planned disaster drill is an outdoor concert at Stumpy Hamilton Park, 22nd and Ave. X. During the concert a makeshift grandstand, full of people, collapses. Approximately 75 casualities, equally divided between ambulatory and non-ambulatory, will be taken by LCHD EMS, Aide Ambulance and Rescue and Recovery to the three hospitals.

These drills give the hospital employees the opportunity to evaluate disaster plans and identify problems which occur during the drill. This also gives the participating hospitals a base to work from in evaluating and amending cooperative plans as needed.

Emphasizing

Unless Congress modifies the figures, the Reagan Administration plans to reduce civilian non-postal federal jobs by 41,600 over the next year and a half. In some agencies the cuts may be accomplished by not replacing people who retire or leave voluntarily, but in others a reduction in force (RIF) - the government equivalent of layoffs - may be necessary. Under new RIF regulations published in the January 16 Federal Register, veterans with a compensable serviceconnected disability of 30 percent or more are placed at the top of their group for retention. Previously, veterans and disabled veterans had preference in federal hiring but none in RIF retention.

REMINDER: If you are a veteran of the Mexican border period or World War I, a 1979 law provides that the Veterans Administration may issue certain medical services such as eyeglasses, a hearing aid, etc. Check the nearest VA Medical Center for details.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of candle light organza, fashioned with a high Victorian neck line. The empire bodice had a deep sheer yoke edged in Chantilly lace, and long, slender lace sleeves with a ruffle at the hemline and extended up the back to form an apron effect that swept up into a chapel length train. The headpiece was a lace edged mantilla of imported illusion. Her bridal bouquet was of candle light

You see, before my Pat Walker's program my "lumps" poked thru the spokes of my rocker. Now, after losing 281/2 pounds and 431/2 inches I can sit in my rocker, or an airplane seat, and feel slim and trim. There is space on each side!! Before Pat Walker's I wore only full skirts - to cover up. Now when I wear full skirts it is only because I want to.

Before Pat Walker's I felt heavy, my choice of clothes was limited. Now my body feels strong, I feel healthy - and I shop in size 7, with nothing to hide.

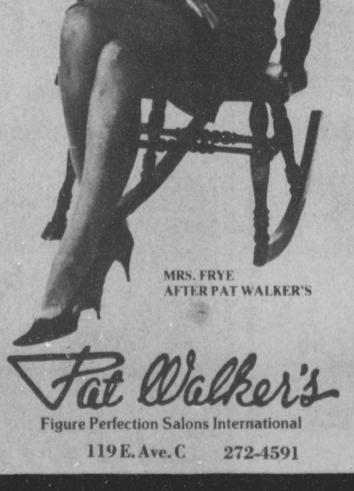

The above testimony is important. But equally important - I've been able to main tain my present weight this past year even though I had surgery and 2 three week vacations. There was no problem, I followed the Pat Walker's method of eating. Sound good??? IT IS!!

Not only have I purchased a "new body", I now know the lovely ladies at the Pat Walker's Figure Salon as my friends. THEY CARE! I'd love for you to meet them. Tell them I sent you.

Several who want the MX to be located in this area were in attendance at the hearings but did not voice their opinion. The Clovis City Commission and members of the Committee of 50 have publically expressed their approval.

Sabra Watson, wife of an area farmer, stated: "We have heard the Committe of 50 wants it here, but we have not heard from them at any of these hearings. They are eighter ashamed of their feelings or don't have the guts to voice their opinions. All they have in their eyes are dollar signs."

In Maple area farmers have received 3 to 4 inches generally. Bill Hodnett, a farmer in this community said, "The ground is very wet now, but enough rain has been received to probably begin planting."

The Bula Community has received from 1 to 1½ inches of rain, comparitivly light for some other areas in the county. Bennie Claunch at Claunch Gin reported that "moisture has been met but another 1 to 1½ inches is needed to plant on." He further stated, "Farmers' attitudes are much better and optimistic since the rains."

Lazbuddie, Lariat and Pleasant Valley communities seem to have been shorted, so far. With total rains in these areas ranging from 3/4 to 1 4/10 inches of rain. In Pleasant Valley, irrigated areas, corn is up and looks good. One farmer expressed the "thankfulness of not having to water up his corn." Another added, "If another couple of inches would fall prior to June, excellent shape for plant-

Lazbuddie at this time remains relatively dry. Corn is planted, but not up. Wheat looks a little better now as well as pasture land. However, another 2-4 inches is badly needed.

Warren Givens, who farms east of Muleshoe on the Plainview Highway, reported approximately "1 and 1/10 general rain, with wheat, hay and pasture coming back." Givens also reported weavils and grasshoppers beginning to hatch out now.

All in all, it would seem that the outlook for Bailey County has greatly improved, along with farmers' spirits and the area will be a virtual bee-hive of activity within the next week and increase along with additional rains hoped for.

Gleason accumulated more points in the Polled Hereford Division than any other TCCA member in the association's eight sanctioned shows.

In addition to coping the Polled Hereford title, Jerry also exhibited the Reserve Champion Simmental Steer at the San Antonio Livestock Show in 1981.

1981 Rebate Checks Down For April - Up For Year

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said Houston was not among a list of nearly 1,000 Texas cities to receive April rebates of the one percent city sales tax.

Bullock said he is holding a $5.5 million city sales tax rebate for Houston until the city clears up a $287,699 debt owed to the state as the result of an audit of interstate highway traffice fines collected in the city that were not turned over to the state.

Not counting the check due Houston, April rebates totaled $18.3 million, compared to $24 million in rebates handed back to cities in April of 1980.

Total rebates this calendar year to Texas cities reached $180.8 million, about 14 percent more than cities took in during the first four months last year.

State law allows Bullock to withhold checks from the state to persons indebted to the state.

"The results of the audit
--from June of 1975 through March of 1980-are final and have been for the past nine months and the city's lackadaisical attitude about this debt has been beyond belief," Bullock said.

Bullock said he notified the city last month that he planned to withhold city payments if the debt was not cleared and that the city hasn't even bothered to acknowledge the letter.

"I don't think this will bankrupt the city, but I think we'll definitely get their attention about this liability," Bullock said.

For 1981, Muleshoe has received $56,734.33 which shows a 14 percent increase of $7,064.54 over the $49,669.79 this time in 1980. Rebates are down for the April period some $1,449 from 1980, with 1981 total showing $4,799.64 this period as compared to April 1980

Our neighboring town of Morton shows a 5 percent increase, with 1981 payments in the amount of $14,520 as compared to $13,793 in 1980. Morton also shows a small monthly increase of this period of $186.00. Net payments for the 1981 period are $1393 as compared to $1,207 in April of 1980.

A 7 percent increase in tax rebates is shown for Friona. They are, however, down in net payments for this period; showing $3,725.39 for 81 against $3,635.93 in 1980. Friona is up for the year's period from $23,239.35 in March 1980, increased to $24,944.59 in 1981.

Fort Worth's rebates are up some 10 percent overall. However, the net payment for the 1981 period shows $818,163.85 as compared to $853,624.76 for 1980. 1981 payments to date are $6,854,165.00, up from last year's total of $6,490,211.59 in this period

 May Medicine Show Scheduled By Chamber

For the third consecutive year, Tommy Scott's Old Time Medicine Show is scheduled to appear at the Bailey County Civic Center at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, May 1. The Medicine Show billed as the last of it's kind, has been featured on PBS and "On The Road" with Charles Kuralt on CBS. The show is a variety of music and comedy in the style of vaudeville.

"This show is one which has a little of everything, especially for the children in the audience," according to John Gulley, Manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. The Chamber is sponsoring the show.

Tickets for the Old Time Medicine Show are available at the Chamber office in City Hall at 215 South First for $3.00 each. Many civic-minded merchants in Muleshoe have purchased free coupons which may be redeemed at the door on the night of the performance.

Dancin' People Thrill Students

Over eight hundred Muleshoe K-5 graders exclaimed at the graceful movements, thrilled at the dancing animals and sachs, and joined in on simple dance movements as Dancin' People performed in Muleshoe Thursday.

Part of the Lone Ballet Company, the nine member group captured the attention of the school children with samples of all kinds of dance; ballet, jazz, pantomine, gymnastics and others.

The Epsilon Delta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sponsored the group from Canyon which is under the direction of Alex Hess, instructor in dance at West Texas State University.

In a professional performance the 15-19 year old dancers sought not only to show the different types of dancing but also teach timing, rhythm and emotions through dance.

Sponsored by the National Endowment of the Arts, the group will dedicate the Amphitheatre on the shores of Lake Meridith in Fritch.

How To Get Credit -- And Keep It

Getting credit and keeping it is challenging--and possible, one specialist in-

Building a credit record poses special problems for women and teens--but there are several ways to establish credit in your own name--and keep it, says Bonnie Piernot.

Mrs. Piernot is a family resource management specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Credit is important in credit-oriented today's acquiring economy--for "luxuries" in most cases and even for necessities in some cases, the speicalist

This will set up your financial identity. It also may provide you with access to such sources of credit as bank credit cards, overdraft checking privileges and personal loans.

Cost of such a loan is usually low. And because this loan -- a personal loan -- may be fully secured by your savings account, it may be easier to obtain than other forms of credit.

After you pay off the loan, you can use this credit history to qualify for additional sources of credit.

Another way to establish credit is to apply at local retail stores for small amounts of installment

Once you've paid off the charge account, again, you can use that history to obtain additional credit.

That wasn't always true. Prior to the enactment of the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act in 1970, credit records were rather mysterious things, Mrs. Piernot says.

Inflation Increasing Costs Of Agricultural Production

AUSTIN-"Inflation could devastate agriculture, if changes don't come soon," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said recently, citing increases in fuel prices, interest rates and other production costs.

Brown recently testified before the House Committee on Agriculture in Washington and noted that the first and foremost need of agriculture at the present time is profit. He urged that commodity loan prices be set to cover the true cost of production on included crops plus a fair and equitable profit for the producer.

"Not only is inflation making it difficult for farmers to make a profit as costs rise faster than commodity prices; it is changing the ownership patterns of farm and ranch land," Brown continued.

"Inflation, at least at current levels, is a relatively new phenomenon in this country and people have only recently begun to understand its ramifications for agriculture," Brown said. "It really started to get serious in 1978 and since then, has just tightened the noose."

Brown cited the latest figures from a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) annual report which indicated that although costs are going up in nearly every segment of the production cycle, the biggest increases stem from higher fuel prices, interest rates and fertilizer

The overall rise in per-acre production costs ranged from 18 percent for cotton to 25.5 for rice in 1980

"Corn, sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, soybeans and peanuts,...they're all increasing in production costs," Brown said. "But farm and ranch prices have increased only marginally. "According to the latest estimates, Americans spend the lowest percentage of their take-home pay on food than any other people in the world," Brown said. "We spend approximately 14 cents out of ever dollar we earn on food. But the farmer or rancher only sees about 5 cent,...the rest goes to the processors and retailers for packaging, processing, shipping and other marketing costs."

Brown also stressed the importance of explaining to the 97 percent of our population, the importance of an abundant and healthy food supply. "It's vitally important that we do everything possible to help keep the other 3 percent in agricultural production, to insure that we never have to depend on other countries for our basic foodstuffs," Brown said.

Methane Production: Is It Economical?

Rising energy costs affect poultry producers just like everyone else. They can, however, take advantage of the energy potential of thousands of chickens. Aided by technology, 200,000 laying hens can generage about 66,000 cubic feet of methane gas every day.

But is the value of methane worth the cost to produce it?

That issue was addressed here recently by Dr. Edward L. Fulton during the Texas Commercial Egg Clinic. Fulton is an associate professor at Tarleton State University, Stephenville, where an anaerobic digestion plant has been in operation since last Anaerobic digestion is a process that converts animal wastes to methane or biogas and fertilizer. The process also practically eliminates odors and flies, Fulton explained.

"The digester at Tarleton was designed to be practical for farms and ranches in Texas," Fulton said. According to his findings, an anaerobic digester would be feasible for poultry operations with 40,000 or more laying Fulton's research shows that gas production for a poultry enterprise with 200,000 hens would total 66,000 cubic feet per day. Part of that could be used to heat the digester, which must be kept at 95 degrees F. During the winter, that would still leave at least 49,500 cubic of gas or 29,000,000 BTUs of energy per day.

The equivalent amount of energy in propane would cost $75,766 for a year. Natural gas would cost about $43,360. According to Fulton's figures, construction of an appropriate digester for the operation would cost approximately

It is important to intergrate the design of a digester with the individual farm or ranch. "A standard plan or design cannot be used on-site in an energy-efficient way, the anaerobic digester on that farm is too large," Fulton said.

Besides being a direct energy source for heating desired food temperature and variable cooking control. Lighted digital display: recipe file. 24 5/8.

things to consider, Fulton said the feasibility of anaerobic digestion becomes more economical as the cost of energy goes up and other methods of waste disposal become more of a problem.

Population Growth Outpaces Milk Production in Texas

AUSTIN-Texas dairymen have an excellent productivity record, reports Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. However, the state's booming population has created a sharp gap between milk production and consumption, with much of the milk being supplied from outside Texas.

"In Texas, milk ouput in relation to population has dropped sharply, due to the tremendous influx of people into the state," said Brown. "Texas now produces less milk per capita than any other southern state, and this means that there is a market for much more production within the state."

Brown noted that within certain geographical areas of the state, there are wide discrepancies between production and consumption. In 1980, for instance, over 67 percent of the state's total production of raw milk was centered in the northeastern portion of the state. However, only 33 percent of Texas' population lives within this

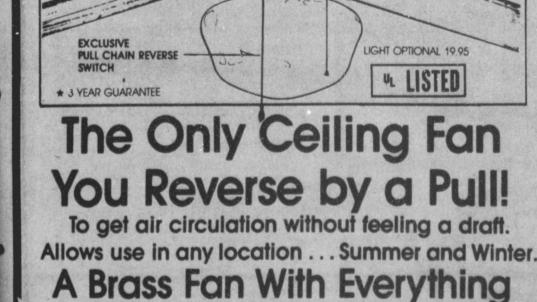

According to a paper presented at a recent meeting of the Texas Dairymen's Associations in Stephenville, about one-half of the population of the southern region of the U.S. now resides in Texas. (This region includes Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Missouri and Arkansas.) The percentage is expected to grow to at least 53 percent over the next nine years. Accompanying this increase in population is a growing demand within the state for milk and dairy products, which is expected to be up by 20 percent over the next two decades.

"Due to many economic pressures, the number of dairymen in Texas has declined steadily, and is now down to less than 2,600," said Brown. "Dairymen have improved their productivity greatly, but production has been outpaced by the state's huge population growth."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek takes a look at car prices this week and shudders.

Dear editor:

I was listening to some farmers talking about the high price of pickups. They now cost around $8,000 to $10,000, maybe more if you insist on tires and airconditioning.

"Why, you used to could buy a small farm for that," one pointed out.

It's true, not only are pickups sky-high, but cars are too. This got me to thinking. The weak link in the car manufacturing business must be the people they've hired to try to guess what the people

First they under-estimated the people's desire for a small, fuel-efficient car, and now they've over-estimated the people's wealth.

If this keeps up, the two car family will gradually disappear and the one car family will walk or take the bus, as soon as the buses are put back in

The only solution I can see for this is to bring cars into the economic pattern houses are in. I understand you can buy a $40,000 house today and a year later sell it for $60,000. Nobody would object to paying $10,000 for a pickup if a few years later he could sell it for $15,000, provided pickups at that time didn't cost $20,000.

However, there's a bright side. We may now have the OPEC countries worried . If cars get too high to buy and gasoline too high to run the ones we've already got, OPEC's oil market may shrink to almost nothing and the sheiks will have to go back to riding camels. If those guys are smart they'll start offering a $2,000 bonus to anybody who'll buy a car. They ought to learn from razor, it's in the blades. Yours faithfully, the safety-razo people.

Our nation is witnessing a building boom, such as has never before been seen. Every day new foundations are being dug and laid. Any builder will tell you that it takes a firm foundation to support today's skyscraper.

Our Lord, in His sermon on the mount, compared those that heed His word, to the wise man that built his house upon a rock, and those that did not heed His word to the foolish man that built his house upon sand and it was washed away.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
