Marshall Asks Standard Arms For Americas

Leader Says Plan Necessary For Security Of US

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall told Congress today that the western union hemisphere must get together on the type of arms it uses.

Testifying before the House Foreign Affairs committee on the administration's arms standardization bill, Marshall said that if the United States failed to furnish arms to the other countries in the western hemisphere, some other country would be added.

He added: "We may be sure that if we are not willing to assist our Latin American friends as well as Canada in the procurement of arms and in obtaining instruction and training for their military personnel, they will of necessity seek this help elsewhere."

Asked by Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) whether he thinks the measure is in "full accord" with the United Nations, Marshall replied: "I do, sir."

Then Representative Bloom (D-NY) inquired: "If we don't do this some other country will?"

"That is correct, sir," the secretary answered. Marshall said that during World War II this country was "very seriously embarrassed by the lack of such legislation as your committee is considering."

Senate Over-Rides Truman Labor Veto

Supreme Court Upholds U. S. Oil Land Claim

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the federal government's claim to ownership of oil-rich submerged lands of the California coast.

The United States contended it had title to a belt beginning at low tide and extending seaward three miles.

California claimed ownership of the land, on which it has issued about 100 leases for withdrawal of oil by various companies.

The oil and other mineral deposits at stake in the litigation were believed to be worth many billions.

Justice Black delivered the court's 6-2 decision. Justices Reed and Frankfurter wrote separate dissents.

Justice Jackson took no part in the case. Attorney General Tom C. Clark, at the time the case was argued before the supreme court, said in a press statement that the suit involved only the area off the California coast and would not affect oil rights in submerged lands off other states.

Attorneys for California, for the national association of attorneys general, and for the American Association of Port Authorities, disputed this interpretation.

Price Daniel, attorney general of Texas and counsel for the national association of attorneys general, told the high tribunal that the case "has turned out to be a full-fledged challenge of the rights of the coastal states to lands under their navigable waters."

Clark told the court the government was not seeking to obtain title to tidelands (the areas between high and low tide), to any lands under bays, ports, harbors, rivers or lakes, or to any other inland waters.

The last congress passed a bill which would have given title to the coastal lands to the states, but President Truman vetoed it on the ground that the question should be decided by the supreme court.

Clark informed the court that, in the event the government won title to the lands, President Truman wished "to do substantial equity" to California and to private interests involved.

Clark said Mr. Truman planned to ask congress to decide what should be done with the oil, including possible use as a reserve for the Navy.

Decision Big Threat To State Property Rights, Says Daniel

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP)—The U. S. Supreme court decision in the California submerged land case was characterized today by Attorney General Price Daniel as the greatest blow against "property rights of the states since the Civil War."

Daniel said he would advise the State School Land Board to continue leasing submerged tidewater lands Texas claims, and meanwhile he was studying the decision before announcing details of strategy for a continuing fight in behalf of Texas.

He emphasized that Texas' claim is distinctive because of the terms of its treaty of annexation to the United States.

Governor Beauford H. Jester expressed surprise at the decision. He also said the annexation treaty gave Texas a stronger case. The 50th Legislature attempted to bulwark the Texas claim, extending state and county boundaries approximately 65 miles into the Gulf.

In Washington Rep. Bradley (R-Calif.) predicted that legislation will be introduced in Congress "very quickly to return the offshore submerged lands to the states."

Thundershowers Dot Texas Map

Thunderstorms continue to drench Northeast Texas today, but elsewhere the weather returned to what the weather bureau called seasonal.

Last week's torrential rains have slackened, and only points reporting moisture today were Wichita Falls, Dallas and Fort Worth, which had thundershowers.

GOP Musters Six Votes To Spare

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The Senate voted the Taft-Hartley labor bill into law today by overriding President Truman's veto 68 to 25.

This was six more votes than the two-thirds margin required to enact the hotly-contested curbs on labor unions.

The action was taken despite an 11th hour appeal from Mr. Truman to Senate Democrats to uphold his June 20 veto and kill the measure as "dangerous legislation."

Mr. Truman wrote Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), just before the Senate vote that he is convinced the bill will "do serious harm" to the country.

But Senator Sparkman (D-La.) and Lucas (D-Ill) were the only senators who voted for the act who switched to sustain the veto.

Senators Tobey (R-NH) and Overton (D-La.), who were absent when the senate first passed the bill, voted to override the veto.

Senator Wagner (D-NY), who has opposed passage of the measure since May 13, did not vote today, although his position was announced as opposing overriding the veto.

Twenty-two of the democratic members voted to sustain the President; 20 to override his veto. In addition, two absent democratic members were announced as against overriding the veto.

The split among republicans was 48 for, three against overriding the veto.

Immediately after the senate vote, CIO President Philip Murray said: "The situation which now confronts American labor resulting from passage of the Hartley-Taft bill will be assessed by the executive board of the CIO at a meeting scheduled for Friday, June 27 in Washington."

AFL President William Green said the law will "force widespread warfare" on the American industrial front. He announced an immediate campaign for its repeal.

Green added: "Congress has made a tragic mistake. The new law provides for government injunctions to halt national emergency strikes for at least 80 days. It also bans the closed shop and amends the Wagner act to restrict some other union activities."

The result was a major victory for the republican-controlled congress over Mr. Truman. Last week the house sustained by a two-vote margin the President's veto of the $4,000,000,000 republican tax-cut bill.

The house overrode the labor bill veto last Friday, by 331 to 83, a four to one margin. This more than two-thirds of the members of congress, including many of his own party, went against Mr. Truman's wishes.

Labor leaders bitterly assailed the measure. Calling it a "slave bill," they and their followers flooded lawmakers with thousands of messages urging them to sustain the President's veto.

Before crowded galleries supporters of the bill and backers of the veto fought the ballot all over again in a three-hour period before the showdown came.

The senate action places on President Truman his administration the enforcement of a law that he denied flatly in his veto message as "unworkable" and "a clear threat to the successful working of our democratic society."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of the authors of the measure, expressed confidence, however, that Mr. Truman will do his best to administer it.

Apparently localized, the shower did not extend as far east as Colorado City.

British Are Accused Of Austrian Plot

BUDAPEST, June 23. (AP)—Hungary's government, under communist control, has published statements purporting to link the British with a movement to restore the Hapsburg monarchy in Austria and Hungary and accusing ex-premier Ferenc Nagy of issuing orders for unauthorized "armed formations."

These statements were contained in a 150-page white paper, made up by the communists with some help from Soviet occupation forces and released yesterday.

The white paper quoted Maj. Gen. Soltan Szugyi, now in prison, as saying in a deposition that three British officers were on hand for negotiations with Austrian royalists late in 1945 aimed at "the restoration of the Hapsburgs both in Hungary and Austria."

Two other men—Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of Nagy's majority small holders' party, and Paul Jacko, small holders deputy—were quoted as saying in similar depositions that Nagy had ordered formation of an armed group "for the struggle for power in Hungary" on behalf of the party in event of an anticipated communist attempt at a putsch.

Nagy, while on vacation in Switzerland, resigned a few weeks ago under communist criticism based on Kovacs' deposition. Subsequently United States and British authorities asked the Russians to let them see this deposition but were refused. Nagy, now in Washington, has denied charges made in it.

Harbor Blast May Claim 14 Lives

WILMINGTON, Calif., June 23. (AP)—Two more bodies were recovered today from the burning hulk of a tanker which exploded yesterday and set off Los Angeles harbor's costliest fire.

Known death toll in the $10,000,000 disaster stood at four. The bodies recovered today were craped beyond recognition. The toll may reach 14.

Others were sighted in the hulk but heat, flames and smoke forced the boarding party back. Another attempt will be made later today.

The 11,083-ton tanker Markay blew up with 2,940,000 gallons of fuel in a triple explosion that rased several docks and—harbor authorities said—missed igniting huge petroleum storage tanks only because of favorable winds.

Two bodies were recovered from the harbor shortly after the blast yesterday and searchers planned to board the Shell of the the tanker today to remove others which were spotted by Coast Guard observers last night after the vessel stopped burning.

The blaze—at its height visible some 12 miles at sea—required six hours to bring under control. The harbor, since the Texas City disaster, had been alerted for just such a blast. Within moments fire equipment rolled from as far distant as downtown Los Angeles 23 miles away, under an emergency disaster plan, and fireboats raced out from Long Beach.

As investigators began their probe today, 12 men were listed as missing, with some 30 injured, 12 sufficiently to be hospitalized.

Cause of the explosion was undetermined, but crew members charged the operating company, Keystone Shipping Co., of Philadelphia, with negligence. A company agent, however, declared that "all ordinary precautions and many more" were observed.

William Anderson, division superintendent for Keystone, said investigation would be made at once, but declined comment until "We account for everybody."

At least 15 crew members were believed aboard the Markay, which had been loading high-octane gasoline, when the first blast split the 520-foot vessel at 2:05 a. m. (P.S.T.) yesterday. Flames leaping 200 feet or more, engulfed the ship, and leaped across oil flows to the American President Lines docks.

Awakened crewmen scrambled down hawsers. A survivor, Donald D. Grams, 20, of Augusta, Wis., one of the signers of the crewmen's complaint, said: "The whole main deck was in flames. I could see men fighting their way to the rails through the blaze. Two of them jumped off the fantail. They apparently thought they couldn't make it, and turned back toward the blazing oil which surrounded the vessel. I never saw them after that."

Hirohito Is 'Guest' Of Diet

TOKYO, June 23. (AP)—Japan today went through a day of politics without parallel in its history. It started off with Emperor Hirohito formally opening the first session of the diet under the new constitution with a plainly written script which he read as a "guest" of the parliament.

Hirohito addressed "We, the Japanese people," instead of the traditional "Ye, our people," in keeping with his deflated position under the constitution.

The diet adjourned a short time later for two days. Its actual legislative business probably will not begin before July 1.

No sooner had Hirohito shattered precedent than the little men and women were given the chance to present their troubles personally to the prime minister of Japan for the first time.

DDT Sprayer Purchased To Fight Polio

A fog spraying machine to be used by Big Spring and Midland for applying DDT on a large scale in efforts to preclude outbreaks of infantile paralysis is due to arrive here this week, city officials announced this morning.

The machine is being purchased jointly by the Howard County chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation and the junior chamber of commerce in Midland.

City Manager H. W. Whitney, who placed the order for the machine in behalf of the two organizations, said a distributor in San Antonio indicated that the spraying apparatus would be shipped from there today.

The machine is to be used first in Big Spring, and the city already has enough DDT crystals on hand to prepare something over 1,000 gallons of insecticide.

New Radio Sending System Developed

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—NBC President Niles Trammel said today a new radio communication system has been developed which can send 1,000,000 words a minute.

He said the new system, known to ultrafax, "could transmit twenty 50,000 word novels from New York to San Francisco in only 60 seconds."

It's so speedy, the National Broadcasting Company head told congress, that present communications methods will seem as "slow as the ox-cart compared with a stratonolner."

Ultrafax was developed by Radio Corporation of America, and will be ready for a public showing some time this summer. Trammel said this is the way it works:

"Each printed page is treated as a picture and (is) flashed in rapid succession. At the receiving end, the pages are reproduced by high-speed photographic processes for quick delivery."

Trammel told a senate interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee that the new process may mean that the newspaper of the future will be delivered by radio.

"Many radio broadcasters of today will become the electronic publishers of tomorrow," he predicted in his prepared testimony.

"Radio newspapers will become commonplace. Practically every form of artistic expression will become available to the people direct from studio to home."

A game guaranteed as a body conditioner is Beteka-Rio, a South American version of handball which is being introduced in local sporting goods stores.

The beteka-rio is a ball with a sponge-rubber base covered with feathers. It can be approached either with the bare hand or a light glove.

Court for either singles or doubles play is 27 feet by eight feet. Players serve as in tennis or volleyball and a team scores a point when the foe fails to return the ball within the boundaries. Each score counts a single point and a team achieves victory when it attains an aggregate of 20 points.

The game can be played either with or without a net. When a barrier is used, the contest is referred to as Beteka-Rio Volle.

US Dollar Value Jumps In China

SHANGHAI, June 23. (Sp.)—The black market rate on U. S. currency jumped 27 percent today, with one American dollar bringing 38,000 Chinese. The official rate remains at 12,000 Chinese to one U. S.

Despite a continuing slump in the government's economic and military efforts, the black market quotation had held unexpectedly to 30,000 to one for more than two weeks.

One factor in today's sharp rise was believed to be the traditional celebration of the dragon boat festival. As is customary on Chinese holidays' commodity prices—especially food—soared rapidly.

Passenger Abandon Sight Seeing Boat

NEW YORK, June 23. (Sp.)—The cry, "Women and children first!" echoed from the Harlem river ship canal late yesterday after the North Haven, carrying 217 passengers on a sightseeing tour around Manhattan island, ran aground. Although the 112-foot excursion vessel kept an even keel—and so did the passengers, so to speak—100 of them accepted the offer of the fireboat Cornelius W. Lawrence to take them off the North Haven. The fireboats loud-speaker gave the instruction, "Women and children first!"

Less than three hours after the North Haven got stuck on bridge pilings in the waterway, a rising tide, helped by the lightening of her load, freed her.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dugan of Fort Worth are spending a visit here with Mrs. Dugan's mother, Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Dean attended the Shrine Roundup in San Angelo Sunday.

One Simple Way To Control Floods

Floods along the Mississippi and its tributaries, together with devastating rises in spotted areas of the East have once more brought attention to a tremendous loss which is incorrectly laid to the door of nature.

Floods can be controlled with rare exceptions. The first step, usually begun as a stop-gap proposition and continued out of necessity, was to build levees, which in some cases result in the river being higher than surrounding bottom lands.

Another step has been the creation of dams on the main rivers. These have made singular contributions and brought benefits in power and irrigation reserves, but they are inadequate. Ultimately, a series of smaller dams on tributaries, reaching far up stream, is needed to take the stinger out of rises from sudden or prolonged rains. All of this is costly, even though it conceivably would pay for itself in the long run.

However, there is one device which is too often overlooked in flood control, and that is soil and water conservation. In the cornbelt and East, folks are not so concerned with saving water as we are, but they are or should be concerned about their soil. By managing their land and their crops they could trap or control a tremendous amount of water that otherwise would aggravate flood conditions. In those belts reforestation could be stepped up with great results.

Our own area is not too frequently troubled with floods, but once in a great while they come. Land management in this area could solve the great proportion of our water troubles, and yield returns that would be felt immediately.

Penalty To Fit Crime And Criminal

Commenting on the recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles that the death sentence of Walter C. Young be commuted to life term because two others charged with the same crime got off with life sentences, the Dallas News reacts favorably to the proposal.

But, the newspaper points out, the recommendation doesn't go far enough. The board had suggested that in cases where more than one defendant was charged with the same crime, the jury returned only findings as to guilt or innocence and leave to the court the assessment of the penalty.

With considerable merit, the News observes that this practice ought to be extended to all cases. It is pointed out that this is the federal system, and the same as in all other English-speaking countries where the level of justice is higher than our own; and even in many other states.

No criticism of the jury's ability to weigh the facts is intended, for despite miscarriages here and there, juries do a reasonably good job. But under Texas law they are not permitted to know or take into consideration the defendant's background. Hence hardened criminals frequently get off with a sentence as light as an impulsive first-offender. The court would not be subject to such restrictions and might well be in a better position to fix a just penalty, not only to fit the crime but the criminal as well.

Bewildering National Affairs

WASHINGTON, (P)—This week made the little guy, any little guy trying to make up his mind on what's what, feel all scrambled in his head.

Congress worked for months on a bill to cut his taxes and, when, this week the president vetoed it.

Congress couldn't re-pass it over the veto and there it was. Dead. No tax cut for him in 1947.

He told himself he wasn't griping so much about no tax cut. But what got his head all twisted on the inside was this: Congress said this is a good time to cut taxes. The president said it isn't. Who's right? The president or congress?

He shook his head. He shook it twice because, when, right behind the tax bill the president vetoed the labor bill.

Congress has worked for months on the labor bill. There'd been more arguments about it, inside and outside congress, than on anything in years.

The Republicans pushed it through. The bill was intended

Britain Takes Democratic Stand

This column yesterday called attention to the fact that the current investigation of ownership and control of the British press by England's socialist regime—launched some time ago amidst an outcry among communists and fellow travelers for regimentation newspapers—has been causing uneasy speculation as to whether this indicates a further leftist tendency by the government.

We now have a sensational clarification of the government's policies in British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's blistering "shirt-tearing" speech in commons, telling Russia bluntly what the score of international relations is and in Prime Minister Attlee's pointedly anti-Russian speech before a miners' rally in Barnsley today, in which he declared that "so-called democratic government is a travesty" in "several countries of eastern Europe."

Bevin—one of the most outspoken of England's major public figures—flatly declared himself against "one-party" government (totalitarian). He said he would regret a conflict between ideologies "but if it is forced upon us we must face it." He didn't believe that in the long run the western world would be the sufferers in event of a conflict, because the many dictators who have tried to suppress liberty in the world have failed.

It was a fighting speech which was a direct challenge to aggressive communism and to the tactics which that ism has been employing in eastern Europe. It would seem to line Britain up squarely with America.

An interesting aspect of this fiery pronouncement is that it was delivered while London and Paris were awaiting Moscow's reply to the joint Anglo-French invitation to Russia to join in drafting a program of aid for Europe in accordance with U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's

Xavier Cugat thought he had the world's tiniest poutch, his Chihuahua, Tacó. But little O'Brian dropped into town with one even more microscopic, a miniature fox terrier which looks as if it could sleep nicely on the head of a pin.

Salt Lake City critics liked Judith Evelyn immensely in "Joan of Lorraine," probably the season's toughest act to follow after the extravagant hutz umuzz still ringing from Ingrid Bergman's portrayal of the same part on Broadway.

Bette Davis and Gary Cooper copped acting honors in a French exhibitors' poll. . . Eugene Ormandy off to wave his symphony baton in Hollywood film. . . Huge ballet at Radio City Music Hall has 70 gals dancing at once, probably something out of one of Arthur Murray's fanciest dreams.

San Francisco Myth

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—This isn't really a city—it's a matter of faith.

There is no such thing as San Francisco. You can see it on the map, and drive through it, and get run over by a motor car in it. But it isn't really there.

This is the second time I've been in it, but you can't convince me it really exists. It is like London in Shakespeare's day or Paris for restless Americans in the ten years after the first world war.

It is Ninevah and Tyre and a mist-ridden Babylon will policed. It is the far east in confusion, and the old west wrapped in amber. It is a melting pot where the ingredients mix without anger.

San Francisco is a product that sells itself. The people who make up the place are glad to see you when you come, but they wouldn't give you a lead nickel to induce you to stay. They would pay money to keep from being a second New York, and they'd mortgage their homes to prevent becoming another Los Angeles.

They are one of the most history conscious communities west of Cairo, but they never have got the idea that history doesn't keep on happening.

There is always a fog coming up here, and there is always a breeze to blow it away. That is what is known locally as the climate.

It is the only settled place in America where a stranger wishes in summertime he had brought along his long woolen underwear. When the hot sun sets he starts looking around for the penguins. Nature air-conditions it to the temperature of a Kansas movie theater in July.

San Francisco is grown up. Like New Orleans, it believes in food. It is the happy hunting ground of the finicky alimentary canal, a palace of the palate, be it steak-hungry or in quest of tapioca-tasting oriental bird's nest soup. A shrimp is shrimped here as it is in Copenhagen. If you want what the staturoushipping Manhattanites call a "shrimp" your pocketbook is in pawn to a "Prawn."

You have heard of the "Hollywood diet?" You will never hear of a "San Francisco diet!" A fat man here doesn't have to apologize every time he reaches for the olive oil. He isn't embarrassed to stick his fork into a well-flavored caloric.

San Francisco is one of the few places left in the world under a million population that is still lusty, gusty, sentimental and individual. It builds the country's most modern underground garage—but it is wants to get out its sixshooters when somebody tries to abolish its historic cable cars.

It has both Alcatraz, the symptom of quarantine, and Treasure Island, which carried on the legend of the Golden Gate.

It built the two great bridges of tomorrow without letting go of its bridge to yesterday, when the gold miners and clipper ships gave it the peculiar clutter it has never lost.

But San Francisco still isn't so. It doesn't exist and never did. Yet here it is. And while you're here—you have to believe in it. For San Francisco is purely a city of the heart, a projection of whatever you came to find.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Bad Scandal In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, (P)—In austere and dignified supreme court circles there is a situation which the justices don't talk about publicly, but which is causing mild embarrassment, chuckles and resentment. It's the fact that one member of the court is soldiering on the job.

He is Justice Harold Burton of Ohio, who to date has written only three majority opinions during the entire year. This is the lowest output in several years of supreme court history, and court attaches whisper—behind their hands—that if Burton wasn't protected by the "supreme court union" he would have been reprimanded or jostled off the bench long ago.

In contrast Justice William O. Douglas, even though sick for two months, has written 28 majority opinions, while Justice Hugo Black also has written 28.

Justice Burton, on the other hand, seems to think that being on the supreme court is not for the purpose of handing down opinions but to enjoy a continual round of parties. There is scarcely a party of any importance in Washington where he does not appear—including also some parties not so important.

Justice and Mrs. Burton were to be seen recently at the Afghanistan reception—a country where people scarcely know exists—and when Ambassador Javard of Iraq entertained in honor of his majesty, King Faisal of Iraq, the justice turned up to drink a toast. Whether it be a reception in honor of Ohio congressmen, in this case given by Burton himself, or a cocktail party to inspect a portrait of Ex-Attorney General Francis Biddle, painted by his brother; or a tea party at the Czech embassy, Justice Burton always seems to be there.

It's got to be more than a joke the point that when Justice Hugo Black leaves a dinner party at 10 p. m. in order to go home and work on an opinion, guests wouldn't have to burn the midnight oil if Burton would pull his full weight.

The illness of Justice Douglas also has been attributed by friends to overwork as the result of writing more than his share of the court's opinions.

Although Black and Douglas stand out as the most prodigious workers on the court, no other justice comes anywhere near Burton's low mark of only three majority opinions. Frankfurter and Rutledge wrote five and four majority opinions, but counterbalanced this by a very large number of dissents and concurring opinions—24 for Frankfurter and 19 for Rutledge. Burton, on the other hand, wrote only three dissents.

Justice Murphy is next highest to Black and Douglas with 13 majority opinions, followed by Reed, 11, with Jackson and Vinson 10 each.

Last year no one paid too much attention to Burton's low output since he was a junior justice. Now, however he has been on the court for two full years, which for other justices is considered ample time to begin to earn the $20,000 a year.

PROFESSOR "IKE" EISENHOWER

General Eisenhower was talking to friends the other day about his desire to be president of a university.

"This job," he said, referring to his present duty as chief of staff, "is a come-down, after being in Europe during the war. However, I felt that I owed it to the army to help get appropriations through congress. But I'm going to get out soon. There are several good men who could step in here and I owe it to them to make room for them."

When a friend asked Eisenhower if he would be a candidate for the presidency, he replied:

"No man would ever refuse to be president of the United States and therefore I certainly would not refuse—provided I were given the nomination by acclamation without going out to campaign for it. But you and I know that it just doesn't come that way."

In talking to the trustees of Columbia, Eisenhower indicated that one reason he was interested in becoming its president was because Columbia did not go in for racism, but was open to students of all religious faiths.

Note—Talking to friends about the Russians recently, Eisenhower remarked: "Dealing with the Russians is like telling your wife a lie. If you tell her a lie once, you keep on and it piles up until eventually she finds out. It's much better to tell her the truth. Eisenhower's best to talk straight to the Russians."

VIOLATING AIR RULES

All week the civil aeronautics board has been huddling to determine whether to slap a fine on United Airlines for allegedly taking off overloaded from La Guardia Field on May 29, resulting in one of the worst commercial crashes in aviation history.

CAB records show that the plane was overloaded and that the pilot violated CAB rules in making the flight.

If the CAB slaps a fine on United Airlines it means that every passenger's family aboard the ill-fated plane can sue the company for a total of several million dollars.

Naturally, the CAB is loath to take a step which will hit the already financially burdened airlines. On the other hand, CAB officials feel that it is up to them to enforce the law, and, once before, United Airlines was found guilty of breaking CAB rules and was fined $5,000. This followed the crash at Elk Mountain, Wyo., on Jan. 23, 1946, in which the plane was permitted to fly "off-air flight," in violation of CAB rules, between Rock Springs and Kemmerer, Wyo., a distance of 70 miles, in order to save about 20 minutes time.

In the recent crash at La Guardia field, the Cleveland-bound United Airlines plane took off from strip No. 13, the shortest at the field, in an overloaded DC-4. The CAB has established fixed rules for the weight to be carried by each plane on certain lengths of runways, and the CAB probe so far indicates that United Airlines was in violation.

Meanwhile congress, while demanding greater air safety, and holding CAB responsible, is simultaneously blaming CAB for too much regulation. A recent report by the house appropriations committee states that the "industry is overregulated" and suggests that the CAB give more discretion to the airlines.

On the other hand, however, recent crashes indicate that when greater responsibility is placed on the airlines, more crashes result.

CIVIL SERVICE GESTAPO!

Meeting behind closed doors, the house civil service committee is putting some sockeroo catches in the president's plan to check the loyalty of all federal employees. Only one voice inside committee was raised against the gestapo tactics—that of Los Angeles' Democratic Rep. Geo. P. Miller.

"Before we vote," Miller declared, "I want to make my position clear. I believe we are rushing into this program without appreciating the consequences. It is a serious violation of rights to take a man's job away from him. If a person has a grudge against an employe, he can bring false charges against him. It seems to me that the bill will brand the employe guilty until he can prove himself innocent. That is not the American way."

In Hollywood—Bob Thomas

Irene Dunne's Norwegian Accent

HOLLYWOOD, (P)—Women are better actors than men. This profound statement arose when we were discussing Irene Dunne's accent.

Perhaps I should begin at the beginning. Irene is now playing a Norwegian immigrant in "I remember Mama," and she was telling me the difficulty she had in finding the right instructor for her accent. She tried several coaches and non-professional Norwegians, but they all had a common fault. The gals were so theatrical in their attempts to teach the accent that the result would have been dangerous to U.S.-Norway relations.

Finally she found Mrs. Judith Sater, house-keeping wife of a gym teacher, and now Irene's "Umping Yimlines" are coming along fine. The experience impressed the star with a vital fact. "Most women want to be actresses," she analyzed, "and they all are to some extent. Did you ever watch the way one will take off her hat, or put on her gloves?"

I admitted that most gals give it a De Mille production.

On the other hand," she continued, "very few men want to become actors."

That did it. As I left the set, I began analyzing this peculiar type of work for which so few are paid so much. And I concluded that acting is fundamentally a woman's work.

Not that it is unmanly. But women are better suited for this kind of occupation. The female sex, it would seem, is more accustomed to giving vent to emotion which is the essential nature of acting.

On the other hand, the male has usually trained himself to conceal his emotions, so his girl friend won't know what he's thinking.

(Note: The views expressed in this article are the result of vast study, particularly the viewing of umpteen psychological movies in the past year.)

Horses Vanishing

CHICAGO, (UP)—Horses are disappearing from the streets of Chicago, Acting City Collector William P. Geis reported. Only 546 licenses for one-horse vehicles were taken out in the first five months of 1947, compared with 717 for the same period last year. Only one license for a two-horse vehicle has been issued by June 1, 1946.

No 8 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS
There is no such thing as a Chiropractic "Treatment". ASK FOR AN ADJUSTMENT. In a restricted sense, an adjustment is an action where by an expert trained as a specialist in the human spine, delivers a scientific thrust, using only his bare hands in contact with the various processes of the vertebral units.

Such a thrust is practically painless and never causes injury to a patient. A complete adjustment is the giving of sufficient thrusts to effect normal realignment of subluxated units.

In taking a Chiropractic adjustment the patient lies on an adjustment table. Preparations for an adjustment require no disrobing. No immodest ordeal is encountered and no portion of the body is presented to view except the restricted area immediately over the spinal column.

Chiropractic is unlike any other science which purports to relieve the suffering. The chiropractor does not treat, heal, or cure. He uses no drugs; does not practice surgery, osteopathy or other ther-apeutical means or agencies. He adjusts the spine.

CASE HISTORY No. 27297. A middle aged housewife who for five years had been treated for what was described as High Blood Pressure. At one time she had been told that her blood pressure was 250. She experienced torturing pains at the base of her skull, dragging pains in her back and legs, dizziness and weakening vision. Shortly after taking some pills, her condition suddenly became worse and a neighbor called in a nearby Chiropractor. An immediate adjustment of the spine brought instant relief and other adjustments were given later at the Chiropractor's office. She made what she herself describes as "a wonderful recovery" and gives Chiropractic full credit for her present excellent state of health.

Dead An Past Are Buried

Texas City Plans For Future

TEXAS CITY, June 23. (AP)—Texas City today returned to its tremendous job of reconstruction after pausing briefly, sixty-seven days after the April explosion-fire disaster, to bury its unidentified dead.

Sixty-three ash-gray caskets, each containing a charred or broken body, were lowered into six trench-like graves yesterday morning at a small memorial cemetery on the city's opposite outskirts from the wrecked water front area.

Among the 2200 people attending the brief, all-faith services were relatives and friends of the nearby 100 persons still listed as missing from the explosion disaster. Many were relatives who were identified and claimed 405 bodies of other victims.

Today, however, residents of this little coastal city returned to rebuilding and redesigning an even greater industrial port.

Officials of one of the most severely damaged plants early today were reported ready to announce signing of reconstruction contracts running into millions of dollars. The officials declined comment but one source said the announcement already had been prepared.

Meanwhile, there still is evidence of the disaster throughout the city. Roofs continue to be patched, several business establishments still have boarded fronts and a few are operating in temporary quarters.

At the high school gymnasium, scene of the original temporary morgue for victims of the explosions and fires, a blackboard still holds several typed sheets of names of identified dead.

There were few tears yesterday during the 20-minute rites in which five clergymen read services of their faiths. Following the benediction, however, several mothers and wives of missing victims collapsed and were given first aid treatment at a Red Cross tent at one corner of the little cemetery.

The quiet-spoken crowd stood patiently in the hot sun during a two hour delay caused by late arrival of the bodies from the Camp Wallace morgue. Only 51 hearses were available to carry the identified

Equipment For Electric Show Is Arriving

Vanguard of trucks bringing electrical equipment and other paraphernalia for the Texas Electric Show of '47 began to arrive here during the weekend for the opening of the three-day show Wednesday through Friday evening at the Big Spring high school auditorium.

Outwardly, a show touch was added by the erection of a "big top" tent between the auditorium and the high school to house the enlarged agricultural and soil conservation exhibits.

The show has been presented at Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Breckenridge, Graham Sweetwater, Lamesa, Midland and Odessa drawing an aggregate estimated at 200,000 persons.

Latest models of electric appliances for the home will be displayed in the auditorium. Included will be such items as electric ranges, refrigerators, radios, cooling and ventilating equipment, automatic laundries, home freezers, and other types of equipment, most of which will be demonstrated.

The farm and ranch exhibit will include the latest electrical devices adapted for agricultural pursuits. Another feature is the soil conservation displays, calculated to show the results in erosion from poor land management. A Hereford heifer and three baby pigs will be given away the last night of the show. An electric roaster and 50 baby chicks used in a demonstration also will be awarded.

Continuous entertainment is also planned during the free shows, which run from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m. daily.

Army Planning Great Center For Medicine

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—The War department announced it will build "the greatest medical research center in the world" costing $40,000,000, at Forest Glen, Md., near Washington.

It will consist of five major units, including a 1,000-bed general hospital as the Army's chief medical center, and a number of other buildings such as a working library, animal farm and staff quarters.

The Corps of Engineers will construct the project, officially designated the "Army Medical Research and Graduate Teaching Center", for the office of the surgeon general. A spokesman believed it would be a year before construction could be started and had no estimate on completion times.

Forty million dollars was described as the "initial" cost. The hospital will be built for a proposed later expansion to 1,500 beds. Other units also will be designed for enlargement.

One Bad Inning Defeats Tigers

One bad inning cost the Big Spring Tigers a ball game Sunday at San Angelo when the Greyhounds chased across five runs to top, 8-7.

Manager Ynez Yanez, Sr. had the hits to win, his Tigers having collected 12 against 10 for the Greyhounds, re-enforced by recruits from Villa Acuna, Mexico. San Angelo picked up a couple of runs in the first and second and then capitalized on a hit, two errors, a walk and hit batsman to shove in five runs in the fat fifth. The Tigers got one across in the third when Tom Fierro got a life on an error and came around on fielder's choices and tallied on an error. With two out, Subia and Fierro connected and came home on Isa Mendoza's safety in the sixth. Chavez singled, Fierro and Mendoza doubled and Gus Fierro doubled to ram four more across in the sixth to knot the count. Angelo scored the winning tally in the ninth on Pablo's double and a single by Richard.

Five doubles were included in the Tiger assortment of hits, while the Greyhounds collect four two-ply knocks and a homerun by Camarillo in the first. Isa Mendoza, twirling for the Tigers, whiffed eight San Angelo's while M. Casco got nine Tigers over by the strikeout route. Each team got a base on balls.

The Tigers go to Abilene Sunday for a tilt and meet San Angelo's Greyhounds here June 6.

States Reject 80,000 Vet Training Sites

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today state governments have withdrawn their approval of 80,000 business and industrial establishments for veterans' on-the-job training.

Most of the firms were eliminated because they were unable to meet established job-training standards, the agency said.

Other approvals were cancelled at the request of employers because no veterans were in training and no further training was contemplated, or because pay scales exceeded the income ceiling for subsistence allowances.

Since the states gave blanket approval to 400,000 training establishments at the time the job-training program was enacted last August, they have been re-examined and re-certifying their lists. To date, the Veterans Administration said, 160,000 institutions have been re-certified with an equal number yet to be acted upon.

HAIR-RAISING ADVENTURES OF WAYNESBORO CLUB IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Gen U. S. Grant would have felt right at home.

For 200 members of the Waynesboro, Pa., Whiskers club came to town yesterday. By a happy coincidence, they wore exactly 200 beards.

They got a welcome delivered from the capitol steps. Waynesboro's mayor, Harry C. Funk, was given a huge key to the capitol. And they even got to sit in the house of representatives. They made the old place look as it must have looked when a beard was an essential part of every statesman's equipment.

It was back in February that these men decided it would be a nice idea to let their beards grow, to advertise Waynesboro's 150th anniversary party July 6-11. And so they did.

The effect was startling, even hair-raising. (oops! sorry).

For they came up with everything from spade beards to mustaches. And many of them wore 19th century costumes to match.

House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) welcomed the group, looking a little out of place with his non-bearded face.

But Rep. Gross (R-Pa) got right into the spirit of the thing.

He led the group on a tour of the senate and house. While they sat in the house, he delivered a short speech.

But Gross never would have made the whiskers club. That bushy Red Beard of his was false.

Jones Make Gift To Austin College

SHERMAN, June 22. (AP)—A gift of $40,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Jones of Houston has been made to Austin college to set up a chair of economics as a memorial to the late John T. Jones, brother of Jesse Jones. The gift was accepted by Dr. W. B. Guerrant, Austin college president.

Dr. Guerrant said the gift makes possible completion of plans for building an economics department. The professor holding the John T. Jones chair will head the department which now has three professors in the faculty.

John T. Jones was a pioneer Texas lumberman, hardware dealer and prominent in the Presbyterian church.

90 Fish On Trip To Devil's River

G. G. Moorehead, Shorty Dunbar and son, Preston Dunbar, will call for a little proof that they are not the local fishing champions for the current season.

Friday they returned from a week's stay at Lake Walk on the Devil's river near Del Rio with a bag of 90 fish to prove their claims of success. A bulky 30-pound yellow cat, snaggled on a trot-line, was the prize piece. Dunbar suffered a finger wound when he gaffed the fish with his hand, landing a three-pound channel cat in the boat at the same stroke. The channel cat was on the next stay, about four feet away. In addition to what they brought home (89 of the fish ranged from one to six pounds), they gave away a large number. They had intended returning Thursday but were waterbound by heavy rains.

DEPT. OF COMMERCE WEATHER BUREAU. BIG SPRING AND VICINITY—Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday. Scattered showers in vicinity this afternoon. Not much change in temperature. Expected high today 96, low tonight 68. High 97.

Markets

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular in moderately active trading today. The market was dominated by considerable liquidation in nearby July futures, prior to first price bid Tuesday.

Medical Exam For Garsson Witness Set

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The government arranged for a heart specialist to tell the May-Garsson war fraud trial today about the condition of an ailing key witness, Joseph F. Freeman.

Freeman, one time Washington agent for the $70,000,000 Garsson Munitions Combine, is one of the few witnesses remaining to be heard. He spent the past week in a hospital.

Former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.), wartime chairman of the house military committee, is accused in the case of federal bribe conspiracy charges along with munitions makers Henry and Murray Garsson.

The government claims that May pocketed $55,000 in payments from the Garssons for government favors he obtained for their war firms.

Freeman, a fourth defendant in the case until he won a bench-directed acquittal, collapsed a week ago in the midst of testimony in behalf of May and the two Garssons.

With the defense claiming that Freeman is too ill from a heart condition to return, government attorneys hired a specialist to examine him and report back to court today.

Justice Henry A. Schweinhart indicated that if he decides Freeman is too sick to come to court, the judge and lawyers may go to Freeman's bedside to obtain a statement to be read to the jury.

Closing arguments in the trial, now in its tenth week, may start tomorrow or Wednesday.

Ole Dobbin's Still Plugging

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—This may be the atomic age, but old Dobbin and the mule are still the big source of working power on the farm.

The census bureau reported today that almost two-thirds of all farms entered the postwar period depending wholly or partly on horses and mules for power.

Of the remaining farms, fewer than one in 10 use tractors exclusively. Farms in the North and East had the highest proportion of tractors, those in the South the lowest.

Oil Treaty Is Attacked

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—J. Porter of Houston, said today the proposed Anglo-American oil treaty would permit the government "to obtain control and regulation of this great and vital industry."

Porter, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, told the senate foreign relations committee that this nation can meet its petroleum demands if:

- 1. The amount of piping available to independent producers is increased by cutting down on exports of steel.
2. The government will sell the approximately 15,000,000 acres it has acquired in the past 15 years, retaining only what is essential for the Army's and Navy's needs.
The committee is considering the treaty, signed in the fall of 1945, which affirms that adequate supplies of petroleum should be available to all countries in international trade and that the interests of producing countries should be safeguarded.

Porter urged that it be rejected by the senate, saying:

"Any treaty, no matter how it is written, will be just an entering wedge to obtain monopolized international regulation of the oil industry and direct federal control and regulation of the domestic industry."

Elmer Patman, of the Superior Oil Co., Houston, said ratification of the treaty would result in unlimited oil imports and that this would "halve our total domestic production within the next few years."

Swimming Class Draws 48 Youths

Forty-eight youngsters enrolled in the YMCA swimming class for beginners at the opening session this morning at the Municipal swimming pool.

Included in the initial group of registrants were eight from Stanton, with the remainder from Big Spring.

The classes are being conducted under supervision of Burl Haynie, Red Cross certified instructor. Others on the instructors' staff are Gloria Strom, Pattie McCormick, Amos Jones and Clarence Long.

The next YMCA class will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Munny pool. Others are invited to register then.

Camp Ready For Registration

The District 8 Baptist Youth camp south of Big Spring was ready this morning to receive an expected 400 boys who were to launch a five-day program at the camp this afternoon.

Registration was to begin at 2 p. m. The boys will remain at the camp until Wednesday noon, at which time girls from over the district are due to arrive for a two and a half day tenure.

Camping will close Friday afternoon at conclusion of the girls' session. Several activities, including handicraft work, organized games and others, are to be conducted during the camping period in addition to regular scheduled religious services.

Zoning Ordinance Second Reading Is Slated For Tuesday

Second reading of the zoning ordinance and discussion of several matters pertaining to the Municipal airport will head the agenda at Tuesday's meeting of the Big Spring city commission.

The meeting is scheduled for 5:30 p. m. at the city hall. Bids will be opened in preparation for awarding new contracts for aviation gasoline at the port, and a further discussion of instrument landing facility possibilities is expected.

Lubbock Lake Dragged For Youth

LUBBOCK, June 23. (AP)—Buffalo lake ten miles southeast of here still was being dragged today as the search continued for the body of 11-year-old Gary Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Robinson of Lubbock, who drowned yesterday afternoon.

The boy fell from a motor boat in which he was riding with his parents and a sister, Jo Rita.

Truman Names Foreign Policy Committee

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—President Truman, going part way with Republican Senator Vandenberg, called for outside help today in weighing America's foreign aid policy with this country's ability to pay.

The democratic chief executive designated 19 leaders of business, labor, agriculture, education and research as a "non-partisan" committee to advise him on how much help can "safely and wisely" be sent abroad.

The implication was plain: that the United States may find it necessary to stem the flow of dollars, food, fuel and materials to war-damaged nations.

The "impact upon our domestic economy" of such aid is of "grave concern to every American," said Mr. Truman's announcement last night, and "merits most careful study."

It was equally clear that the president was making a final effort to prevent the bi-partisan foreign policy from piling up in the veto-strewn wreckage of his domestic legislative program.

Mr. Truman took the words "safely and wisely" from the call Vandenberg sounded 10 days ago for a council of Democrats and Republicans to help set the limits within which this government can plan its economic help to foreign nations.

But whether Vandenberg, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and his Republican colleagues will be satisfied remained to be seen.

The Michigan senator himself steered clear of mentioning specific candidates for the study group, but some of those close to Vandenberg let it be known they wanted former president Herbert Hoover to have a place on the council.

Mr. Truman did not include him. Hoover declared earlier this month that the United States has been "over-exporting" and cannot continue to shoulder immense overseas burdens without weakening the economy at home.

Brothers Die From Shooting

EDENBURG, Tex. June 23. (AP)—Two brothers were dead today as the result of a weekend shooting at a local rooming house.

District Attorney Jack Ross of Hidalgo county said Frank Evans, 23, was killed outright Saturday while Frank's 26-year-old brother, Jesse, was critically wounded. The elder brother died in a hospital here yesterday of his injuries.

Ross said a charge of murder was filed against D. G. Woodruff, 25, oil field worker, shortly after the shooting. No additional charges were filed in connection with the second death, he said.

At the time of the shooting Jesse Evans had gone to a rooming house where his estranged wife lived across the hall from Woodruff, Ross said. Frank Evans and a friend, Perry Langford, accompanied him to the house.

Questioned by a reporter, he declined to say when and where this speech was made.

No Action On Wool Bill Soon

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will act "shortly" on the wool price support bill and probably will send congress a message about it whether he signs or vetoes it.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said there will be no action on it today.

He told reporters also that action on the measure extending rent controls will follow that on the wool bill.

In the case of each measure, the president has until July 2 to act.

The wool bill continues price supports for American production, but contains one provision disliked by the administration. This is an authorization for the president to boost tariffs or impose restrictions on imports if he finds that imports of wool are pushing down domestic prices.

Wichita Falls Gets Hospital Group Meeting

Officers and trustees of the Northwest Texas Hospital association selected Wichita Falls as the convention site in November at a meeting held here Sunday.

Dates for the meeting were set for Nov. 20-21, and program for the session was drafted, Schley Riley, Big Spring, president of the association, announced.

Don G. Burk, Big Spring, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Joe Bush, Lubbock, who recently resigned as trustee.

Attending the meeting were Riley, T. H. Morrison, Abilene, Joe Erickson, Midland, Mrs. Lora Johnson, Odessa, W. U. Paul, El Paso, and Mrs. Patty Maneely, Big Spring, secretary of the association. The association takes in all of West Texas and the Panhandle and extends south of Waco and west to the border.

Prober Of Dope Ring Is Murdered

MEXICALI, Mex., June 23. (AP)—Chief of Police Juan Meneses was killed last night in a blast of bullets apparently from a machine gun as he was on his way home, the police department of Calexico, Calif., across the border, reported.

Night officer Nick Finn of Calexico said he was informed that Meneses, a recent appointee to the chief's position, had been investigating narcotics traffic across the border.

Seven bullets riddled his body, Finn said, and it was reported the killer's fired from a black automobile on the unsuspecting chief.

Finn also said he had reports that U. S. customs border patrolmen last night captured an alien narcotics smuggler amid gunfire in which no one was injured.

There was no apparent connection between this incident and the killing of Meneses.

CIO Head Urges Communist Cleanout

SIoux CITY, Iowa, June 23. (AP)—President Milton Murray of the CIO Newspaper Guild today urged President Phillip Murray of the CIO as saying that "devotees of the philosophy of communism" who propagate it in a union "should be kicked out."

He also quoted Phillip Murray as saying that anyone on a union payroll who loans his services to the communists is "nothing short of a traitor."

Milton Murray included the quotations in an address prepared for delivery at the guild convention. He said merely that they were from "a Phillip Murray speech."

Questioned by a reporter, he declined to say when and where this speech was made.

Mexican Laborites Fight Unemployment

MEXICO CITY, June 23. (AP)—Efforts by any industry to curtail production and consequently cause unemployment will be opposed by the Mexican federation labor (CTM), federation spokesmen said today.

Labor department approval to slow down production and layoff workers had been obtained by some mining and textile companies because market demands had declined.

CTM said, "In some states serious problems of unemployment are resulting. In the opinion of the CTM most of these factories could not only maintain production but increase it, particularly cheap textiles."

Virtually all of France's railways, more than half of which were destroyed during the war, have been reconstructed.
