

Skids Put To Old 'Taboos' On Foods

Old timers' tales about food taboos were given the bump's rush at the Foodhandlers' School here yesterday.

Contrary to what most people believe, it is safe to leave canned food in the opened container when storing it in a refrigerator, said Robert E. Monroe, instructor.

He also pointed out that eating fish while drinking milk has no harmful effects, that raw eggs are not more easily digested than cooked eggs, that celery and fish are not "brain" foods, and that it is safe to eat acid fruits and drink milk.

The instructor said that it is proper to drink water with meals, and that a man doing hard labor all day does not need large quantities of meat as most believe. Other foods, especially carbohydrates, will suffice.

There is no one food that can build up resistance to weakening condition or illness, he explained. Honey and brown sugar do not have vitamins as most seem to think, and it is harmful to use soda in cooking green vegetables.

These points were stressed before some 300 professional foodhandlers in Big Spring who are attending the week's school, ending today. Most of the foodhandlers were surprised at the statements Monroe made.

The instructor explained that a can in which food is now sold are being sterilized and are safe for storing food originally packed in them. However it is not safe to store other foods in the cans, he said.

Cans have been made safe for storage only in recent years, and most people can remember how more of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders died of food poisoning than of bullets.

Topic of Thursday's discussion was "Sanitation, Storage, and Handling of Dishes, Utensils and Food." Monroe, a State Department of Health instructor from Austin, outlined a number of "donots" for the cafe waitresses and dish washers.

Waitresses should not put their hands over a glass lips, because their hands definitely are not clean, he said, and must spread germs. Carrying glasses one on top of another, gripping the top of one and the bottom of the other, contaminates the lips of the lower glass, he points out.

Stacking one coffee cup on top of another is an easy way to serve several people, Monroe explained, but it also is unsanitary. The bottom of a saucer is usually the dirtiest part, and this is the part over the lips of the cup underneath, causing contamination.

Waitresses should also grip the handles of utensils, rather than touch the part which is used in the customer's mouth, he said.

Dish washers should always have three compartments — for washing, rinsing, and sanitizing. Temperature of the sanitizing water should be 170 degrees, in accordance with state law.

Monroe also cautioned dishwashers about drying dishes and glasses. He said that many dishwashers work without shirts, and that when they pick up something they invariably stick their dish rag under their arms in the process.

This causes the arm sweat to get on the rag, and the sweat is in turn transferred to the dishes when the drying process is undertaken. This is worse than not washing them, he said.

Editor Arrested

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Police arrested Luis Orlando Rodriguez, editor of the newspaper La Calle, last night and took over the paper's offices. A member of the opposition Orthodox faction, Rodriguez recently had published articles government officials said were "offensive to the armed forces."

Rewards For Missing Judge

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Rewards totaling $11,500 were offered today for the return of missing Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife.

The family designated the Rev. Harry H. Waller, pastor of the First Methodist Church, as intermediary, indicating a belief the wealthy and highly respected couple may have been kidnaped.

Sheriff John F. Kirk, weary from two days of intensive search for clues, had no comment on the kidnaping theory.

The family, speaking through the sheriff, asked that "only persons who are positive concerning the Chillingworths' whereabouts contact Rev. Waller."

The sheriff said luminous dust, brought from the Miami Police Department, uncovered a greater quantity of blood on a lower step leading from the house to the beach where the 38-year-old jurist and his wife Marjorie, 37, disappeared sometime Tuesday night.

More bloodstains also were found around a small shelter on the beach below the house, Kirk said.

The couple's three daughters—Neva, of Gainesville, Fla.; and Mrs. William Cooper, of Roselle, N. J., spent last night at the house, where two deputies were there to keep watch and answer the phone.

Courthouse associates of the veteran jurist expressed belief he may have been kidnaped for ransom or revenge.

"If anybody has intended to end their lives, they would have done so right there and not carried them away," said Phil O'Connell, state attorney.

John Hiatt, county investigator directing the field work, said: "This could be anything—a kidnaping for ransom or carrying the couple away for revenge."

Robbery was ruled out because jewelry and money were still in the house. Most authorities discounted revenge because the judge had not handled criminal cases for years. If it was kidnaping, no ransom note was found.

Palm Beach offered a $5,000 reward and the Palm Beach County Bar Assn. $6,500.

Big 3 Take Up German Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—The Western Big Three, preparing for high level talks with Russia in a hope that Soviet peace moves may be sincere, turned to Germany's problems today.

The three foreign ministers were to take up their new ally and World War II opponent after a morning session on procedures for the Big Four talks which begin Monday in San Francisco and culminate in the summit meeting at Geneva July 18.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to New York to join U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay at lunch.

The conferees were mum beforehand on whether the group would approve the date Adenauer will go to Moscow on a Soviet invitation. Adenauer has made it clear that the date must follow the Geneva conference.

President Eisenhower is to meet at that high level conference on world tensions with British Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. West Germany will have a team of observers there.

Spokesmen for the West said the foreign minister's first strategy meeting yesterday agreed on procedures for the summit talks. These procedures will be discussed with Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov Monday in San Francisco, where all the foreign ministers will attend 10th anniversary celebrations of the United Nations.

Western sources said the ministers generally agree that Russia appears to be making some moves to ease world tensions. By going into the meeting with the Russians they want to determine if Soviet words will be borne out by further deeds, these sources said.

Macmillan told the pilgrims of the United States here last night: "The Russians will always find us ready to take account of their legitimate requirements and to give them the security which is their due. But we are equally de-

Close Touch To Get And To Hold

We ran across some figures the other day attributed to the National Retail Grocers, running this way: Out of every 100 customers a store puts on its books the first year, 15 are lost the following year, 28 at the end of the second year, 39 in three years, 49 in four, and 56 in five years.

Dr. Elkins Rounds Out First Year As Maryland U. Prexy

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins, 45, Texas born-and-reared, is rounding out his first academic year as president of the University of Maryland.

The former head of Texas Western College at El Paso, an honor student and star athlete at the University of Texas where he graduated in 1932, Dr. Elkins maintains offices on the rolling campus along the Baltimore highway just outside the nation's capital.

Kept on the job making talks or testifying for increased funds, the 5-foot 8-inch Texan, a solid 160-pound man, was interviewed as he got ready to leave for Heidelberg, to speak on May 20 to the first graduation class of Maryland U.'s branch school in that German city.

Although only some 10,000 students are enrolled for courses at the College Park campus, approximately 25,000 attend the various schools and colleges of the university in widely scattered parts of the world.

With a typical Texas accent—more Western than Southern and as yet unsoftened by living in the East—Dr. Elkins summarized his experiences and reactions to running the large school.

He has persuaded the Maryland Legislature to increase appropriations for the university and feels that another few months will see the school's scholastic difficulties straightened out. Of course, he's confident the football team will keep up its reputation.

"It's been a most satisfactory and enjoyable year," he remarked, "but I'm looking forward even more to my second year here.

"They've had me doing an awful lot of talking, partially to satisfy a natural curiosity about me. Next year I hope to do a lot more listening and learning.

"There's a lot of exploring to do in a large university. You have a large staff and faculty to get to know. We're a land grant college as well as the state university, so our scope is not unlike that of Texas A&M and the University of Texas combined."

This is how Maryland U. happened to get a Texan for its president: Dr. Elkins didn't seek the job. A Texas U. classmate, Judge Eugene Worley of the U. S. Customs and Patent Appeals Court the former Panhandle congressman, knew of the vacancy and the large number of applicants for the position. An associate, Judge William Cole, was a regent of Maryland. So Worley told him of Dr. Elkins. The member then also heard highly of the Texas Western educator through a mutual friend, Deputy Defense Secy. Robert B. Anderson. That's how it happened.

Dr. Elkins was born on a small ranch near Medina, but the family moved to Edgewood, now a part of San Antonio, when he was 3. His father was a gardener and later opened a grocery. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Elkins, still live in San Antonio.

While attending Brackenridge High School, he got the nickname "Bull." He was a star football player there and also at Schreiner Institute before going to the University of Texas in 1928.

He is convinced there is nothing incompatible about high academic standards and first class football. He was known as the "Phi Beta Kappa, quarterback" during the 1931 season. He also lettered in track and basketball. He got both

A. B. and M. A. degrees in 1932, and later attended Oxford under a Rhodes scholarship.

It was tough going though, keeping up with his school work and playing football while at the University of Texas, he admits.

Geniuses, Too

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — In addition to being undeterred by sleet or storm of night, the couriers of the U. S. Post Office have also managed to deliver a letter from someone in Syria to the State Conservation Department. The letter, inquiring about vacation cabins, was addressed: "Holly River, 1592 acres near Webster Springs, Webster County, 9 cabins, U.S.A."
