BIG SPRING GETS NEW AIR LINE

Selection Of Second Brady Murder Jury Is Started

Creager Libel Case Jury Picked

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Late Saturday night Western Air Express, after putting eight men and a ship up here Friday night and remaining very tight-lipped until the party had departed for Dallas announced that daily passenger service, with tri-motor Fokkers, would be started Sunday. Ships operated that day between Dallas and Los Angeles via Abilene, Midland and El Paso and also from Dallas to Los Angeles via Amarillo.

But, wait a minute. Monday morning Carl Cromwell, apostle of Aviation for West Texas, a man who has spent more time and money pioneering the industry in this section than any other resident of it, called the Chamber of Commerce and said "We're flying up there to talk with you a while."

Came Mr. Cromwell with the traffic manager, D. D. Myers, and the operations manager, Gordon Darnell—the directing heads of Cromwell Airlines.

And, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after an informal conference and a good meal, Mr. Cromwell announced his line from San Antonio to San Angelo (with San Angelo as the home port) would be extended to Big Spring effective Saturday.

There you are! This new line, which will enable passengers to leave San Antonio after breakfast and eat dinner in El Paso (something until now impossible no matter what air lines you patronized) is, we believe, a lot more important to Big Spring than it appears on the surface.

The connection at the local port between Cromwell's line and Southern Air Transport will be mutually beneficial.

Big Spring will keep right on advancing as an air center and its prestige as such will, in twelve months from now, be second to no city in West Texas.

Radio Stations Take Quick Advantage Of Order Lifting Ban

DALLAS, Tex., May 5 (AP)—Taking quick advantage of the decision last week of Texas League presidents to lift partly the ban on broadcasting baseball games, Fort Worth and Dallas stations planned to put two games on the air at 4 p. m. today.

WRR of Dallas selected the Dallas at Shreveport game for the first broadcast of the season and WBAP at Fort Worth the Fort Worth at Wichita Falls game. WBAP and KGKO at Wichita Falls, announced they would broadcast every road game of the Cats and Spudders.

Waco and San Antonio stations had not made plans to put out of town games on the air, and Houston, with the Buffs in the city for 16 games, was not considering the proposition.

The plaintiff had ordered only three witnesses subpoenaed, but had obtained a number of depositions, while the defendants had asked service upon 48 witnesses, 35 of them residents of Hidalgo county and 13 of Cameron county. Creager's suit arose from publication by Colliers of two articles, one entitled "Jobs For Jack," by William G. Howard Death Sentence Lifted

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Gov. Moody said today he would commute to life imprisonment the death sentence against Percy Howard, given the extreme penalty for the murder of N. V. Nixon, El Paso chauffeur in 1920. His latest execution date was May 5.

W. S. Ham, indicted with Howard for the Nixon murder, recently made a statement retracting his testimony given at the trial of Howard. Also Howard's former wife, who was a star state witness against him, wrote Gov. Moody that she had given false testimony. Ham was recently tried at Abilene and sentenced to 25 years imprisonment. It was after his conviction he made the statement exonerating Howard.

Howard was tried three times. The first conviction carrying 99 years imprisonment was set aside by the trial court when it granted the defendant's motion for a new trial. He was given life imprisonment on the second trial, but the judgment was reversed and the case remanded by the court of criminal appeals. The jury returned a verdict of death on the third trial and the appellate court affirmed it.

Gov. Moody gave Howard several respites pending trial of Ham. The governor said he would commute the death sentence and await the future to determine Howard's innocence. He declared with the statements of Ham and Howard's former wife before him he felt that Howard should not be executed, but at the same time he had not been convinced of the man's innocence.

Nixon's body was found in a shallow grave in the sand dunes of Ward county after he had left El Paso to drive Howard and Ham on a prospecting trip into West Texas.

Peru has established a consulate at Houston, Texas, with jurisdiction over the entire state.

According to replies of attorneys listed as counsel and Judge Smith found occasion to remark that most of the docket had been tried before he arrived here.

The criminal docket will be taken up late this week or next Monday, depending on how rapidly civil work can be disposed, it was said. However, the grand jury was asked to rush its investigations that indictments may be returned as early as possible.

CASE SENT TO DALLAS FOR TRIAL

Death Of Lehia Highsmith Cause Before Court

COURTROOM, DALLAS, May 5 (AP)—The tedious process of selecting a jury for the second murder trial of former Judge John W. Brady of Austin, charged with the stabbing of Miss Lehia Highsmith, stenographer, was begun this afternoon.

COURTROOM, DALLAS, May 5 (AP)—After a conference which lasted most of the morning, defense attorneys today announced ready for the second murder trial of former Judge John W. Brady of Austin, alleged to have stabbed to death Miss Lehia Highsmith, Austin court stenographer, the night of November 9.

Hung Jury

Brady's first trial at Austin, in which insanity induced by chronic alcoholism was the defense, resulted in a hung jury.

The state had announced ready when the case was called by District Judge C. A. Pippin.

About 15 defense witnesses had failed to answer when their names were called, but Brady's attorneys sought to communicate with them by telephone and decided to consent to going ahead with the trial.

After the long awaited announcement by Maury Hughes of Dallas, new defense attorney, the clerk of the court began calling the roll of the 600 men on the venire list.

Venire Called

About half the members of the special venire were present. Judge Pippin levied a fine of $100 each on each of those who were absent without excuse.

Some 25 of those who appeared were excused because they were not property holders, were sick, had illness in the family or could not read or write.

While the venire roll was being checked the judge became annoyed by the noise of street construction work going on nearby and ordered an officer to have the work postponed for two weeks.

Brady sat with his drawn face lowered and his eyes closed as McCraw stated the nature of the case to the veniremen. The judge invoked the rule that the prospective jurors would have to refrain from discussing the case.

All arrangements then will have been completed and a program of music by Jack Balte's orchestra, addresses by Mayor Pickle and Judge Garland Woodward, lighting of 300 electric bulbs and a large gas flare, which will surmount the 87-foot steel structure, will be included in the program.

GUSHER IGNITED BY SPARKS

This unusual picture was taken the instant this Texas oil well burst into flame. The well was "shot" in Ector county, West Texas, with 800 quarts of nitroglycerin. Rocks hurled against the steel derrick by the explosion caused sparks which ignited the oil. Men in lower left are seen fleeing from flames. The gas was extinguished with steam after 24 hours.

JOHN ALSUP GOES TO TRIAL FOR MURDER OF NEGRO SHOT DURING WOULD-BE ROBBERY

Selection Of Jury Started After Presiding Judge Overrules Motions By Defense For Continuance And Severance

FORT WORTH, May 5 (AP)—John Alsup went to trial in district court this morning for the murder of Isaac (Will) Tate, negro, would-be robber of the First State bank of Polytechnic, after Judge Hoesy had overruled for continuance and severance.

The motion for severance asked that Alsup be tried after A. P. Boyd, charged with being an accomplice in the slaying of Tate. The men also are charged in connection with the killing of George Terrell, negro.

Two jurors had been selected at noon. They were J. E. Grogan, farmer, and John M. Parker Jr., salesman.

State's attorneys were questioning prospective jurors on the death penalty. Referring to testimony of an accomplice as "tainted," Otis Rogers, defense attorney, asked if "you would require to have this testimony corroborated." Assistant District Attorney Hooper objected to the word "tainted," and he was sustained.

Duval Home Is Destroyed

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Duval in Edwards Heights which was occupied last Thursday, was destroyed by fire Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Duval suffered flesh burns on her legs while attempting to extinguish the flames and save household furnishings.

With the exception of a few pieces of furniture which were removed from the house during the early stages of the fire, all contents of the dwelling were lost.

The fire department laid 1,700 feet of hose from Gregg and Twentieth streets, where the nearest fire plug is located, in a vain effort to check the blaze. However, only the bare brick walls were left standing of what had been one of the newest and most attractive residences in the addition.

Bonds voted recently for sewer, water line and viaduct construction are to be partially used for installing six fire hydrants in Edwards Heights, it was said Monday.

Stock Prices Go Down Rapidly To New Low Levels

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—Stock prices crumbled rapidly under a new wave of selling on the New York Stock Exchange this afternoon, after leading shares had worked substantially higher during the earlier hours of trading. Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, Radio, and United Gas improvement, tumbled $2 to $4 to new low levels for the current decline. American and foreign power tumbled more than $11 to a new minimum for the year.

SPORT SLANTS

ALAN GOULD ASSOCIATED PRESS, SPORTS EDITOR

The art of center-field play no-where has been more strikingly exhibited this season than in his opening game between the Yankees and Athletics at New York.

Earl Combs fleet Yankee star, rounded far and wide to pull down slight drives. He made all three putouts in one inning. George (Mule) Haas, rising young ace of the A's, made four fine catches and converted two of them into double plays, the last on a towering drive from Babe Ruth's bat that he took as he tumbled into the bleacher wall.

Combs, fast and a good hitter, is more experienced than Haas. He is a great leadoff man. Haas, however, has a much better throwing arm. It is a trifle faster and probably will outbit Combs or any other centerfielder in the league this year. Haas is tagged to become one of the outstanding all-around outfielders in the game.

Lloyd (Sprout) Waner, considering all qualifications, probably is the ablest centerfielder in the National League. The younger Waner is a born ballhawk, great leadoff man and possibly the fastest runner in baseball at getting down to first base. His arm is none too strong but that is his only weakness.

Earl Clark, the Braves' centerfielder, set a major league record of 12 putouts in a game last season and ranks around the top. Hack Wilson is no galloping ghost in the outer garden but the Hack is a hard worker and harder hitter. Taylor Douthett of the Cardinals is a fine defensive outfielder. So is Raymond of the White Sox.

And if Wild Bill Hallahan, the sensational left-hander of the Cardinals, didn't set a record when he fanned 20 Cubs and walked 16 in two games, he deserves one. These Cubs got the whiffing habit when 50 of them fanned in five world's series games and they apparently are still swinging.

One of the curious angles of the Carnera merry-go-round is sudden rush of boxing authorities to protect the flinty virtue after the big Italian freak had about finished his cross-country fungo hitting.

The New York ring solons sanctioned Carnera's first affair, a palatable set-up with Big Boy Peterson in Madison Square Garden, yet calmly sat back and waited for evidence from California upon which to base disbarment proceedings against the Primo, after the big act had been put over 16 times in succession.

There could not have been any misunderstanding about the Italian's debut in New York. . . . Beforehand the boys enjoyed themselves discussing what brand of bathing suit Peterson would exploit. . . . The customers, plenty of them, packed the Garden; not to see a fight but to inspect the latest ring freak. . . . Carnera swished his big fists and showed mightily. Big Boy bounced up and down with a great deal of slaricity and everybody enjoyed a big laugh, including the boxing commissioners.

Richco Takes Undisputed Lead In City League

LAUNDRY IS DROPPED TO THIRD SLOT

Bankers and Cosden Booked In Game Monday At 5:30

With the assistance of two Laundrymen errors in the fourth inning, Richco took undisputed possession of the city league ramparts Sunday afternoon by winning a hard fought battle 3 to 2.

Dickinson and Crouch staged a bitter pitching battle but the Richco fielders gave their hurler better support and he won. Brown, Clover and Newton contributed liberally to the Laundry defeat by costly errors in pinches.

Until the eighth inning, the Laundry was trailing behind a two run handicap, but Manager Bruce Nesbitt's four-ply smack took a nasty hop around Cramer in center field, wiped out one marker in Richco's reserve.

Both Crouch and Dickinson started erratically. Crouch gave up three solid wallops in the first inning which secured Clark. However, the Laundry started its stick work in a business like manner filling the stations before a single man was out. Nesbitt hit to Cook at third base and Bass was cut off at the plate. Clover ended the scoring threat by bouncing one to the box and was doubled at first base in a neat exhibition of smart baseball by J. C. Moore, Richco receiver.

The Laundrymen came right back in the second inning when Brown smacked out a double to start the stanza and scored easily on George Bleivins' triple just over second base.

Richco scored two runs in the fourth which proved sufficient to win the ball game. After A. Moore

COSDEN AND BANKERS

Two clubs that have not crashed the scoring column to date tangle in this afternoon's city league bout which will start at 5:30 o'clock. Bankers and Cosden will both be fighting to dent the percentage column.

Cosden has dropped two consecutive starts while the Bankers only have one black mark against their record. However, the refiners have been mixing it with some of the best clubs in the circuit and have strengthened considerably for remainder of the campaign.

had whiffed, Reid drove out a single to left field. He went to third on J. C. Moore's liner to first base that Clover dropped. Reid scored when Newton dropped the ball in a chase between third and home. Moore came home a few seconds later when Clark singled through second. That ended the scoring for Richco, and Nesbitt's homer was the only other counter Laundrymen accounted.

Two lightning fast double plays were turned in by Richco during the afternoon. One came in the first inning from Dickinson to J. C. Moore to Holm and the other was engineered in the fifth from Clark to Reid to Holm.

German School Gives Dance Course But Rigid Regulations Bar Frivolity

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The peaceful art of ballroom dancing is beginning to make a little scholastic headway.

One of the gymnasia near here even included a course in ballroom dancing in its curriculum.

However, the carefully drawn up rules of conduct for participants in the course are not calculated to encourage dance-madness among the students.

They provide that girl dancing partners for the young men of the course will be selected, not by the students themselves, but by the rector's office upon recommendation of parents.

Furthermore, there are not to be any wallflowers among the boys, nor among the girls either. Each girl invited to the dances must be ready to dance with the young men in turn, without partiality. The young men on their part are specifically "forbidden" as follows:

To dance consecutively with the same girl instead of girl by girl, as they happen to come.

To take a certain girl to the dance and take her home again; "For the ladies will attend in the company of their mothers."

To use the familiar "Du" in conversation with any of their dance partners, unless she happens to be a relative (in other words, no frivolous humming of "Du, Du liegt mir an Herzen" during a waltz).

To try to date a girl during a dance for some future social event away from school.

To give or receive gifts from a dancing partner (this probably referring to frat pins and the like).

Presbyterians Plan Banquet Wednesday

The Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary will entertain the men of the church with a banquet Wednesday evening in the church parlors.

This will be free of charge and all church members who wish to make reservations are asked to call Mrs. T. S. Currie, phone 356.

The banquet will start at seven thirty with a short musical program in the main auditorium. Mrs. J. O. Tammitt, chairman of the program committee, also stated that there would be other entertainment during the banquet.

Federation To Have Short Final Meeting
The city federation will meet tomorrow at two o'clock in the club house. This will be the last meeting of the year and a short one, according to Mrs. E. O. Ellington, president. All members are requested to be present.

Home Looks Good To College Fish As School Nears End

DENTON, May 5.—Home rates plenty high with freshmen. A canvas of most ardent desires among students of the Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) unearthed a few doughty hearts who had romantic dreams of conquering the four corners of the earth during summer vacations. A yen for going places and seeing things, which took in Monte Carlo, Mt. Everest and the South Pole, was chalked up by a few. But freshmen ending up their first nine months away from the old homestead, were unanimous in the cry for home and mother and a sight of the kitchen sink.

Ford's Have First Of Night Bridge Series

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ford entertained Friday night with the first of a series of bridge parties for their friends.

Twelve couples were present: Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fahrnkamp, Wilburn Barcus, L. D. Davenport, Albert Fisher, T. E. Johnson, Lab Coffee, R. C. Strain, Robert Piner, George Wilke, Joseph Edwards, P. H. Liberty and Max Mahaffey.

Regular O.E.S. Meet Tomorrow At 7:30

The Order of the Eastern Star will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m. according to Mrs. Bernard Fisher. The study club will meet at 8 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8:30 in the evening.

All members are urged to be present as matters of importance will be taken up. Initiation will also be held.

In a judge it's Character in a cigarette it's Taste

WHAT INTEGRITY is to a public official, taste is to a cigarette—the one quality that wins and holds public confidence and esteem.

ON TASTE AND TASTE ALONE, Chesterfield continues to gain smokers, both men and women. Chesterfields are mild—not strong or harsh—yet they have richness of flavor and aroma. They are not insipid or tasteless.

WITNESS THE STEADY GROWTH in the popularity of Chesterfield—a popularity which proves that with smokers, as with us, it's "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

"B-but Tess, I'm asking you to be my wife," stammered Sir Sidney Sissinghart.

"What," cried the fiery fraulein, "you'd call me 'wife' in rasping tones like those. Never! Before you dare presume, sir, learn what wonders, upon frayed vocal cords, are worked by honey-smooth, queen-leaf tobacco. Relieve my tortured ears and your tortured throat with OLD GOLDS. MEMBER THE ASSOCIATED PRESS: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Sanity In News: THE AVERAGE newspaper reader nowadays does not have time to suffer through laborious paragraphs of "gush" in new stories.

Therefore news writers do not attempt to flatter or decorate a sugar-coat things in news articles—or at least they should not. For instance, if Mrs. X had a party she just had a party and certain persons were there, they played a certain game, had refreshments and gave prizes just as women have done at parties thousands of times.

We do not intend saying the news writers nowadays should not write as interestingly as possible. The art of writing for newspapers called for brevity, clarity, accuracy—all expressed in an interesting manner.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS: The Low Down On California. A GREAT DEAL has been said about the delightful climate of California, her wonderful fruit and flowers, and no doubt more of it is so.

According to W. S. Campbell, former Collin county man, taxes are high in the Golden State. In fact, people who own acreage property pay more taxes per annum than the average farm land in Grayson county costs.

Writing to his brother, C. T. Campbell of McKinney, as published in the McKinney Examiner among other things, Mr. Campbell says:

Now you know that this state is overrun with rotten politics. About four republicans to one democrat. And they have got it down so pat that they don't talk it. That is the little men don't. The big man here, tells what he wants done. That is he sets up his stakes, arms his men with post mauls and tells them to get busy. You ought to see them run over each other to do the driving. Each fellow gets on strike (with his ballot) and the only results is that the little democrat is buried so deep that all the earth quakes in California can't bring him up. The people here are the worst tax ridden that I have ever seen anywhere. I have a neighbor that has three acres of land. And he lives on it. He paid $3 per acre tax this year. And says that taxes are down some, as he has paid as much as $85 an acre. One man has a lot that is valued at $1,000 and his tax on same is $1,014. Say, now wouldn't you like to own a dozen lots like that? You would be worth so much to the country, you know!

"And just take our school law here, (common schools). All the children of a common school—negroes, Mexicans, Japanese, Chinese, Italians, Portuguese, Koreans, Indians and as Willie Tate used to say—'dang gone, ever sort.'"

Yet, according to a story published in Thursday's Democrat from

Los Angeles, more than six hundred former Sherman citizens met in one of the large parks there and enjoyed an all-day picnic, and many of them who have visited back in the old home town seem to be well pleased and prosperous.

We publish this other picture, drawn in words by a responsible former citizen of Texas to give both sides, to which folk are entitled.

HOW'S your HEALTH? The human eye is a remarkable organ, with great capacities for adjustment to different conditions under which things must be seen.

In youth, when the eye is normal, there is no difficulty in seeing objects both far and near, in poor or bright light. The eye, like a good camera, has a diaphragm which operates automatically to allow more light to enter when lighting is poor, or less when the light is brilliant.

There is also present in the eye focusing arrangement which enables us to secure sharp images of objects at different distances.

This focusing arrangement includes the crystalline lens, suspended just behind the pupil of the eye, and a set of muscles which are attached to it. By means of these muscles and because of the elastic nature of the crystalline lens, it is possible to adjust the lens so as to secure the proper focus.

At about the age of forty, however, though sometime not before, the eye loses some of its capacity to make these focusing adjustments. The eye becomes presbyopic, far sighted. Objects at a distance are seen as clearly as ever, but things close look somewhat blurred. The former reading distance will no longer allow clear vision. Book and newspaper must be held at arm's length.

At this time the presbyopic individual needs glasses for near work, failure to correct the defect in vision may result in frequent headaches, eye fatigue, sleeplessness, and a host of other unpleasant symptoms.

Hollywood Sights: HOLLYWOOD—A revised interest in educational and travel films is apparent on the movie horizon.

The always popular explorers, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, are again offering their photographic record of lion-hunting in the wilds, and are reported planning another jungle hunt, this time armed with "natural" color cameras.

More jungle stuff is afforded the film "Ingagi," which purports to depict gorilla life with weird, amazing thrills, and still more of similar wildness is to form the background for two talkie romances, "Trader Horn" being practically completed with much of its action filmed in Africa. The other is "Ourang," to film and record which a company of 30 soon is to leave on a six-months' location trip to the orient. Dorothy Lania, who has done little cinematography since she was leading lady in "The Pagan," goes along as "minnie lead."

"THRILLS AND CHILLS": By far the most thrilling effect of this movie school to date, however, comes not from the jungles but from Europe. Those who declare they can no longer tolerate on-talking pictures should see "The White Hell of Pitz-Palu," a German-made Universal which for sheer drama is remarkable even though its plot is as thin as the air around that formidable frozen peak whose steep North Wall annually tempts the daring mountaineer.

Two men and a woman attempt to conquer this North Wall, are narrowed on a narrow shelf amid blinding windstorms and terrific snowslides, and are found eventually by an aviator, the German ace Ernst Udet, who loops and swirls in his plane recklessly among the peaks and canyons.

The rescue comes fortunately before the lost ones, and the audience, figuratively, are frozen stiff.

TWO anniversaries: Lucien Littlefield, character actor, completes his hundredth movie role, while Cyril Maude begins his 1301st performance of "Grumpy" on his sixty-eighth birthday, this time for the camera and mike.

Murder at High Tide

CHAPTER I THE PUZZLE OF PARADOS

"Are you Mr. Morrison?" "I shall never get Dan Parados as I saw him when I turned my head at the sound of his arrogant voice. He was stepping through the French window in the library of his sprawling hacienda on San Lucas Island."

Dan Parados had been called "the most sinister figure on the coast."

"Are you Mr. Morrison?" His tone was tyrannical. "No," I said diffidently. "Mr. Morrison is ill. I am Allan Hunt, the junior partner."

A telephone stood on the desk. I learned later the instrument was connected with various rooms in the house and departments outside. There was no connection between the island and the mainland.

Parados dropped heavily into the chair beside his desk. "What was Morrison I wanted!" he exclaimed angrily.

"Mr. Morrison has every confidence in my abilities."

"Confidence be damned! How old are you?"

"Twenty-nine."

"And I suppose you know all about this art junk?"

"Outside there was a terrific, ominous uproar of water churning in a confined space. Its source, the boatman had said, was in the Gulf, a funnel-shaped fissure at the head of the cove. When the tide was full, as it was now, the fury of the imprisoned waters reached its height."

"I don't suppose anything of the kind," I protested heatedly.

"Then why did Morrison send me a simp who as good as tells me he knows nothing about this stuff?"

"That remark made my blood boil."

Parados' peasant ancestry was apparent in his short legs and long arms, in stocky shoulders and heavy hands.

"I am not incompetent, Mr. Parados," I asserted. "I know a great deal about pictures and antiques."

He grinned sardonically. "Then what do you know about this stuff?"

"It's worth about a quarter of a million," I said, curbing my anger. "I wondered if I should risk speaking my mind. I decided to."

"You probably swindled it out of the estate for a hundred thousand or so."

He chuckled. "I paid ninety thousand for the lot," he boasted. "How's that?"

I found myself thinking of John Brent and Don Ramon Veslaquez. It was impossible to think of Dan Parados at the same time.

John Brent, founder of the California branch of his family, had been a forty-niner. Washing a small fortune from the hills, he became a merchant and banker. The family had prospered until after the World War.

Don Ramon was different, but of similar quality. He built the fort on San Lucas Island and died in it like the gallant gentleman he was. His son and grandson had died in it, too.

And here, I reflected, was Dan Parados—fruit peddler, gambler and speculator, grafter and master of corrupt politicians—with the Brent collection in one hand and the Veslaquez lands in the other.

Young Woman To Try Lengthy Flight

CROYDON, England, May 5 (AP)—Amy Johnson, 23-year-old English aviatrice, whose longest flight has been only 299 miles, started at 8:40 a. m. today in a tiny moth plane on a lone flight of 22,000 miles to Australia and return.

Her plane is named the "Jason" after the Grecian hero who sought the golden fleece. In it the golden-haired miss, who is a member of the London Aeroplane club, hopes to best the record of Bert Hinkler, who flew to Australia in fifteen days.

Parados didn't speak. I had the feeling something inside him was being torn up by the roots. He turned to me. "Do you believe in luck, Hunt? Luck symbolized by a—"

"Talisman?"

"That's it. A man's luck piece."

"No," I said. "I'm not superstitious."

"You don't know what I'm talking about!" he exclaimed. Then: "We'll leave the junk 'til tomorrow. Have you met Mrs. Parados?"

"I said I had. Parados jerked at a bell rope. The maid, a smug-faced young woman, appeared. "Miss Jahries," Parados barked, and the maid fled. The housekeeper, tall, angular, with fixed somber eyes, presented herself.

"Is M. Filque in?"

"No, Mr. Parados."

"Where is he?"

"I don't know."

"Is there anything you do know?" Parados demanded vindictively. Then: "Keep your eye on your cuff links, Hunt."

His contemptuous tone made the inference of his remark brutally obvious, but I kept still.

"Oh, Jahries!" he called again. "Yes, Mr. Parados."

"I shall not be in to dinner."

Parados went into the library and shut the door. (Copyright 1930 William Morrow and Company)

Printing Plant To Be Improved Very Soon

The S & S Printing Company, now located at 405 Runnels street in larger, more convenient quarters than formerly, has for two years been one of the principal commercial printing firms of this section and Monday it was announced that the owner and proprietor, J. D. Boykin, was in Dallas to purchase new machinery and a complete stock of office supplies.

This firm is equipped to handle all types of commercial printing. It urgently solicits such business from local people. It is pointed out that the interests of the community are protected when local firms patronize local manufacturing plants when those plants can furnish the same product as those in other cities.

Mr. Boykin, who recently purchased the interest held by Fred Hopkins, has been in the printing business for many years. Before coming here he owned and operated a newspaper and commercial printing plant in Kaufman, where he also served as mayor and spent considerable time with matters of civic importance.

With a full stock of office supplies Mr. Boykin declares he will be in a position to meet a need long felt by local people.

The Taylor Trunks girls' basketball team of Chicago has won 228 games and lost 20 in nine years.

Phil O'Connell, captain of the 1930 boxing team at Florida, has turned pro. He is a lightweight.

Bobby Jones has been playing golf since before he was 6 years old.

Officers at Wrigley Field, home of the Chicago Cubs, are in uniforms of military cut this year.

SEWER PROBLEM

A copy of a statement by Clyde E. Thomas, addressed to the city manager, submitted to The Herald by Mr. Thomas, follows:
Big Spring, Texas, May 3, 1930.
Mr. V. R. Smitham, City Manager, Big Spring, Texas.
RE: Parish vs. City of Big Spring
The sewer disposal plant was just about completed when the Purser-Matthews administration came to a close and the council had a written agreement with Ben Allen to handle all of the effluent, but during the summer of 1929, after Mr. Allen had tried to handle this stuff for a little over two years, he fell down and the effluent began to run continuously out into the ditch and over the same course as it is now.

In August, 1928, Mr. Parish sued the City of Big Spring while the writer of this letter was mayor, and the results of the suit were as follows:
(a) That city agreed to lay an iron pipe along the course of this drainage ditch on past the 22-acre tract of Mr. Parish and keep off of his land any and all effluent.
(b) The City further agreed to build a concrete dump and place therein a pump run by an electric motor and arranged automatically, so that when the liquid sewage rose to a certain level the pump would begin operating and shove the water through the pipe, thus preventing any overflow.
(c) And the City agreed that it would place in the said pump a chlorinating plant, having more than double strength in order to prevent any poisonous elements in the water getting by and into any cattle or animals.
(d) The city also agreed that it would place a conical cap over the disposal plant with a small hole at the top for the gas to escape and this gas being combustible, would keep this escaping gas burning in order to kill the odor that issues from the plant.

This agreement was carried out by the city to the extent of placing the iron pipe in the ground and sinking the pump, purchasing the chlorinating plant and arranging for the power line and water line, the water line being built in the fall of 1928.
But when the Matthews-Montin administration went in, they repudiated wholly and flatly every agreement whatsoever had with Mr. Parish; Montin ridiculed the idea severely and deliberately sold the chlorinating plant and the city since such date has made absolutely no effort whatsoever to take care of the plant in such a way as to protect the rights of Mr. Parish to any extent.
The city has made many promises to him. But not only normal effluent in great volumes has been running upon this land and continuously for a long while, but actually raw sewage has been, with the knowledge of the city officials, running in great volume upon this land. The city manager has even made public statements that the city is threatened with suit, in connection with the political propaganda to put over the sewage disposal bond, to which there was no organized opposition, thus indicating notice and knowledge of the situation. While on the other hand if is not necessary and has never been necessary in order to protect Mr. Parish's interest, to have any large amount of money, for it would not take much money for the city to build a line to carry this effluent by and through and over his land and rest the settlement in which this plant is situated and on down into the pasture below where there are no houses or residences; it would perhaps cost $1,000.

In all candor this should have been done last winter as the most extreme and urgent need; in fact of course, the city should have in good faith carried out the agreement which Mr. Parish had in 1928.
Of course, judging from past facts with spring on and summer approaching, Mr. Parish could not depend upon any promise made by the City that his interest will be protected against the unusual bad conditions that will certainly arise as hot weather approaches with this tremendous volume of raw sewage, including his interest out there will be damaged irreparably. Owing to the continued delay on the part of the city nothing except immediate, prompt and vigorous action by way of putting men out there immediately with the pipe to be put into the ground to carry this sewage away could in any manner be acceptable to any reasonable person; so being indicative of the intention of the city to protect Mr. Parish's interest.

Mr. Parish maintained a dairy on this tract of land until he was compelled to discontinue the use; he also still attempts to maintain a tourist park having something like 17 cabins or more, and the ditch and sewer coming from the disposal plant has injured his business directly; the amount being hard to estimate but amounting to many dollars per annum; he also has a residence upon this land, and was sick a very unusual amount of time, co-incidental with the flooding of his place with this slime, soft off, rubber goods, floating and half dissolved materials, giving off its nasty odor; in fact, he and his family were sick so often that he and his wife were compelled to move from this place; he has offered the place for sale, and has when the prospective purchaser had opportunity to sell the same, discovering the proximity of the disposal plant, and the overflow of the effluent upon the land itself, the prospective purchaser absolutely refused to even further consider the purchase of the property at any price.
In the suit filed in 1928 Mr. Parish was rather gentlemanly about the matter, and stated then at that time, when it really made the matter of the dismissal of the suit possible, that he was not anxious for damages and would waive any and all damages, if the city would take care of the sewage and not allow it to run on his place any more; and the suit was settled by agreement upon such situation, Mr. Parish's frame of mind being at that time as it was. But five years is a long time to worry with a condition that Mr. Parish has had to contend with, and we are now filing suit seeking two remedies, to which Mr. Parish is no doubt due, in all law and equity, or right of any kind:

(a) First, seeking for an injunction against the city from further allowing that effluent of any nature whatsoever to pour across his land, and we are asking the court to set this case for an early hearing, and we are going to expect, and it is very reasonable, that the city make arrangements to throw that effluent into a pipe of some kind and carry it across his land or by his land without any further delay, and it will not take but very little expense to the city, particularly as the city has to build this line any way, and there is no use of waiting until this next fall; the city should be able to have this line in and working in sight of 15 days.

(b) And further, we are seeking damages. Mr. Parish should have damages, he has been rather ill-treated—I can hardly see where reasonable men could disagree upon the proposition that he is due some compensation by virtue of the continuing and daily damages he has been and is being needlessly subjected to. It has been approximately 60 days since your bond election went through, and if as a matter of fact the sewage bond was so urgent as a matter of protection of Mr. Parish it seems that the city certainly could have done one visible act during that time with a view of protecting his rights; however, it was not a fact and never has been a fact that a big bond issue was necessary for the purpose of protecting Mr. Parish for a line of quarter of a mile long would carry this effluent out of this community and down into the ditch in the big pasture east of there where there is a natural grade from which the effluent will flow easily.
While we do not expect a compromise can be had and we are preparing suit with intentions of letting it take its due course through the legal channels, yet we write this letter as a matter of explaining to all of the City Commissioners the awful situation that has existed and is now existing and pointing out the inexcusable delay, we moreover, of course, open to a discussion of the two matters, the injunctive relief we are seeking, and the damages we are asking, with a view of settling them before suit has been filed and before trial, but any effort to settle the matter must of course come from the City Commission as Mr. Parish has exhausted all his resources, pleading and ingenuity and the last promise was made him, so he tells me, that you would not let hot days come with the sewage running upon his land or in open ditches, and that promise failed.
It is the hope of the writer that you will take immediate steps by ordering this line of pipe and placing it in the ground along this land or by this land for the purpose of taking care of the sewage; the small amount of money necessary to protect him during the late spring and early summer will in no wise amount in dollars and cents to even a small portion of the damages already and heretofore been done Mr. Parish. This firm has, with one exception, refrained from taking any case against the City heretofore, but as Mr. Parish has come to our office and laid the matter before us, and the actual knowledge we have of the conditions out there, we are thoroughly of the opinion that he has certainly a just cause and is entitled to some relief, in both of the items hereinbefore pointed out; frankly, and as is usual in damage suits, we are taking this case upon the same basis as we have a number of cases of the nature of damage suits, and that is upon a contingent commission basis, and have an assignment from Mr. Parish in accordance with the terms and articles of the Statutes providing for such attorney's fees, and give notice to the City though, so that any settlement that may be made must also include not only the signature of Mr. Parish but of this firm.
I have talked this matter over casually with Mr. Brooks, your City attorney, but it is of such important nature that it demands a letter explaining the whole situation so that the City Commission may, if they desire, take what action they see fit with the purpose of settling the matter.
The writer is aware of the probable situation in that the City is furnishing water to Mr. Parish and that he is on the outside of the City limits, and then Mr. Parish has an implied contract with you to furnish him water and upon the same terms and stipulations now existing and on the same terms you are furnishing water to others in that community; there has been and is yet a natural fear on his part that you might cut him off from the use of this water and thus force him to discontinue operating his tourist camp; while I do not think that you would do this, yet we are seeking injunctive relief forbidding the city to do such as long as this suit is pending or as long as he is willing and ready and is paying you the usual price customary among the people in that community and outside the city limits.

It is hardly possible that this suit can be filed before Tuesday as the pleadings are voluminous and great care must be observed in preparing the petition; but in the meantime we shall be glad, naturally, to discuss this matter upon a frank and fair basis, plainly as a business matter, which it certainly is.
