

Our Water Problem

Future Additions Would Be Subject To District Control

This is the fifth in a series of articles giving background on the proposed Colorado River Municipal Water District...

Should voters of Big Spring and Odessa confirm the Colorado River Municipal Water district on July 12, they would not be the "fall-guys" for a water bandwagon.

Provisions of the act creating the district as a legal entity neither open nor shut the door on future enlargement of the district.

At some future date, if the proposal for a lake on the upper Colorado River became a reality along with pipelines to member cities, no prospective user outside the district could enter the picture at its own ticket.

If another city wished to become a part of the district, 50 qualified voters (or a majority within the territory involved) could petition the district for annexation.

Only qualified electors who reside in, and who own taxable property in such territory and who have duly rendered the same to the city or county in which it is situated for taxation shall be qualified to vote.

But in calling the election, the conditions under which the territory may be annexed will be stated. These conditions will be the results of negotiations between the district and the petitioners.

Whether any additional territory would be annexed is conjectural. It could not be if the district felt its supply was not adequate for the additional burden.

But these are questions to be answered only when the occasion might arise in the future. The member cities, through representation on the directorate, would be in the saddle.

Pegler Charges Reds In Unions

WASHINGTON, July 7. (U. S. —) Communist Westbrook Pegler said today that labor unions in this country "have become infiltrated with despots, criminals and Communists."

Pegler appeared before a House labor subcommittee investigating undemocratic practices in unions. The chairman is Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind.), a freshman and a former Indianapolis labor lawyer.

"The government has long ducked the Communist question in unions for political reasons," Pegler said in a statement he read to the subcommittee. "Yet we have union after union completely dominated by Communists and pro-Communists and run by them."

"It was deliberate and made legally possible by clever labor lawyers who took care to place the necessary provision for its continuance in the constitutions of the unions."

Some unions have not had conventions for over 20 years, Pegler continued, and in some the members "received a Hitlerian 'Ja' ballot" to vote for only one set of candidates for union officers.

CASE TO JURY TODAY

Defense Completes Hiss Summation

NEW YORK, July 7. (U. S. —) Atty. Lloyd Paul Stryker completed his defense summation in the Alger Hiss perjury trial at 9 o'clock this morning. A recess was taken until 10:15 when the government began its summary.

The case of the former State Department official will go to the jury late today.

Stryker, who began his summary yesterday and spoke for 56 minutes today, delivered a plea of four hours and six minutes in all.

Stryker charged that Chambers, self-confessed Red spy courier, concocted a plot against Hiss during the 1948 presidential campaign, hoping to turn it to his own advantage.

Chambers first called Hiss a Communist before the House un-American Activities Committee last August, when the presidential campaign was in full swing.

Stryker accused Chambers of trying to gain power by getting in with the winning side.

"He could have been quite a prominent man in the successful party," the counsel said.

Any competent lawyer, Stryker declared, could have learned that "Whittaker Chambers came down to Washington to commit perjury."

"What they (the committee) had there was a perjurer—in the middle of a presidential campaign," Stryker stormed.

"Alger Hiss—Dumbarton Oaks—Yalta—Communism!" he cried. "Great stuff for a political campaign."

Hiss, as a State Department officer, attended the Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta and San Francisco United Nations meetings.

By the Associated Press It was more hot and humid weather for most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation again today. No widespread relief was in sight from the week-long heat wave.

Showers and cool air brought a measure of relief to some of the hot spots but the U. S. Weather Bureau didn't expect a general break in the streaming heat immediately.

Meawhile, crop losses in the drought-stricken northwestern states mounted daily and no heavy rains were forecast.

Deaths attributed to the hot weather mounted to at least 153.

Airline Ready To Submit Case At Austin Hearing

Continental Airlines is prepared to submit a wealth of evidence and testimony at a hearing scheduled for July 18 at Austin involving services at Big Spring and Las Vegas, N. M. It was announced today.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has directed the airline to "Show Cause" why services should not be suspended at the two cities and Continental will do just that, said President Robert F. Six.

The airline will show that its services at Big Spring and Las Vegas are not uneconomical, as alleged by CAB, and that Continental's present schedules are required by public convenience and necessity of the two cities and other areas which figure in "a great community of interest" in the existing services, spokesmen for the company said.

Evidence and testimony will be presented before James M. Verner, CAB examiner. The "show cause" directive involves a suggested one-year suspension of service at Las Vegas and a five-year suspension at Big Spring.

At present, Continental provides the only direct service from Big Spring to San Angelo and San Antonio, with connections to all South Texas points, as well as morning service to El Paso, Albuquerque and points on the west coast and Northwest United States.

Continental's senior vice-president, C. C. West Jr., will head the airline's delegation of executives at the hearing in Austin. Other members of the delegation will be C. Edward Leasure, attorney, Stanley O. Halberg, general traffic and field manager, and George Kelly, special research assistant.

Truman Optimistic On U. S. Economy

President To Give Report Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 7. (U. S. —) President Truman described the domestic economic situation today as bullish. He promised a full statement on conditions in his mid-year economic report to Congress the first of next week.

The President also indicated at a news conference that he may now be resigned to the idea that Congress will not pass his proposed $4 billion tax increase this season.

Informed that Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic House leader, had expressed such an opinion last night, Mr. Truman said John ought to know for the simple reason that tax legislation originates in the House.

The President was asked if he is bullish or bearish in the present economic situation. He replied he is bullish and mentioned the stock market movements in the last few days to bear him out.

His economic message, he added, will give his views on the anti-inflation proposal of Sen. Murray (D-Mont.), which recommends among other things a $15 billion standby public works program.

Mr. Truman reiterated he will continue to fight for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. He said House leaders are considering whether to bring out an administration bill, and they will make the decision. But he said he certainly would like to see such a measure brought out.

The President, commenting on the suggestion of Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that he lead a new crusade for peace, said he has been doing just that ever since he took office in April, 1945, and will continue to do so.

TRIO CAPTURED IN JAIL BREAK

Three men who escaped the Lamesa jail sometime after midnight this morning were captured without resistance at an abandoned farm house some ten miles north of Lamesa on the airport road at 2 p. m. today.

They are Lewis Eugene Ables, 37; Roy Gene Brown, 35; and Earl Sidney Abbott, 31, all of Ada, Okla. The three were under indictment in Dawson county for armed robbery at the time they bolted.

Making the arrest were Deputy Sheriff John Mowell, L. W. West and Sheriff Ed Reeder, the latter of Gall.

M. V. Smith, a farmer, alerted the authorities after seeing the men enter the house. They had come that far on foot.

Police are checking to see if the trio had anything to do with the slugging of Robert Ham of Big Spring in the Vainmor community sometime early this morning. Ham told authorities three men jumped him and knocked him out while he was drawing crude oil for a truck.

The trio allegedly robbed Leon Edwards, Lamesa filling station operator, with a shotgun last May 21 and escaped with $50 in cash. Ables and Abbott were captured the next day in Lubbock. Brown was taken shortly thereafter at Ada.

The escapees fled the jail after ripping the bars loose and reaching the street level with sheets tied into knots. The Lamesa jail is located on the third floor of the courthouse.

The thugs who attacked Ham searched his pockets but found no money. They made their getaway in a 1940 model sedan with other New Mexico or Arizona license plates.

Red Police Hold U. S. Vico Consul

SHANGHAI, July 7. (U. S. —) Vico Consul William B. Olive, Irontown, Mo., was held incommunicado by Communist Shanghai police today following his arrest as a result of a traffic jam during a parade.

An American consulate spokesman said he had learned Olive was beaten seriously by police in a "wayside" station following his arrest.

All efforts by the consulate to obtain Olive's release have been ignored by police who refuse to stipulate the charge against the American official. Consulate officials expressed anxiety that Olive may be in a serious condition.

MAKES CHANGE WITHOUT RULING Katy Accused Of Disregarding Rail Commission's Authority

WACO, July 7. (AP) — The Katy railroad is accused in the court of civil appeals here of trying to "pull away from the authority of the Railroad Commission."

The railroad wants to substitute mixed freight-passenger service for passenger-mail service on the line serving DeLeon, Dublin and Whitney. The Hill County district court issued an injunction against the change. In the court of Civil Appeals here, the railroad is appealing from the Hill County ruling.

The city attorney of DeLeon told the court yesterday that the railroad is trying to "pull away from the authority of the Railroad Commission" by making the change without a commission ruling.

Atty. F. O. Harmon said the railroad — the Missouri-Kansas-Texas — is using the current dispute as a "gambit ploy" to see if it can break away from commission authority.

The Railroad Commission has set a hearing on the matter at DeLeon Aug. 12.

Atty. John Abney of Whitney appeared to the court to uphold the injunction and thereby maintain the status quo until the commission has held its DeLeon hearing.

Abney maintained mixed freight-passenger service would not be dependable, and that the change would cancel two trains from the line's schedule in violation of a law.

Katy attorneys argued there is no Texas law requiring them to operate passenger trains for towns on rail lines.

They said there is, however, a law requiring a railroad to provide accommodations for passengers.

G. H. Penland of Dallas, counsel for Katy, said the only Texas law applying in this case is one providing that "there shall be at least one train operating each day by the railroad upon which passengers may be hauled."

He also said the law provides "no court or Railroad Commission may interfere with the operation of railroads unless an abuse of state statutes has been committed."

The winner of the court trial here will not be known for an indefinite period. Chief Justice Giles P. Lester said the case would be judged when it turned up in its place on the schedule.

The new offset, the second stated within the last two days, is the No. 1 W. H. Bryan, 600 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 22, T-6-N, E1&2 survey.

Tuesday, Sinclair had staked an east offset, its No. 1 Turner, in section 46. This brings to four the number of Sinclair locations in the area.

Previously the firm had staked the No. 1 Pratt, one mile west and slightly south of the discovery in section 44, and the No. 1 Reynolds, one and a quarter miles north and slightly west of the strike in section 32.

New Offset To Discovery Well Is Located

North offset to the Sinclair Oil & Gas No. 1 Sterling C. Williams, Ellenburger discovery in the Williams pool 11 miles northwest of Gall has been located, it was announced Wednesday by Sinclair officials.

SITDOWN OF 'NEW TYPE'

Crown Oil Plant Is Closed By Walkout

PASADENA, July 7. (AP) — Crown Petroleum Corp. shut down completely today. Company spokesmen blamed a "new type" of sit-down strike by employees.

A spokesman for Local 227, Oil Workers International Union (CIO), denied there was any sit-down. He said if the company closed the plant it is a lockout.

The company representative said employees sat at their jobs for several hours yesterday, writing and rewriting grievances. The company's contract with about 350 members of the union expired last Thursday.

Company officials said some 1,200 grievances had been turned in since Monday. It said only one or two could be classed as legitimate complaints.

These officials said about 20 employees appeared at a plant office at 10 o'clock Monday morning and asked to be heard on grievances. When company officials declined, the employees remained in the office several hours. Company spokesman said negotiations with the union had been underway since June 7, but the union broke off the conference July 3.

Few details of Monday's action at the plant were told. But Police Chief B. W. Payne of Houston said he had received a call from R. S. Myers, plant superintendent, asking for help in ejecting the men.

Payne said two policemen went to the plant, but that company officials would not prefer charges against the employees.

Truman Brands Dictator Tag As Absurdity

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP) — President Truman declared today it is perfectly absurd to say that the administration's bill on unification of the armed forces would make a virtual dictator of the Secretary of Defense.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that as long as the Constitution makes the President the commander-in-chief, such a thing could not happen.

A reporter had told him that Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee had raised the dictatorship argument against the bill advocated by Secretary Johnson.

Mr. Truman said that was a perfectly absurd opinion.

Vinson proposed to the armed services committee yesterday that the services be slipped from under the law permitting the President to reorganize the executive branch of government.

The Georgian said he wants to prevent the establishment of a single military chief of staff or a general staff over all the armed forces.

Formal Quitting Of 51st Is Bit Droll

By MARTHA COLE
AP STAFF

AUSTIN, July 7. — Legislators had to be prompted on the traditional formal speeches that yesterday ended the longest legislative session in Texas history.

The House and the Senate had to send committees over to each other saying they were calling it quits.

It was supposed to be as formal as any he-wigged Parliament in London ever was. But Texans added their own extras.

In the House, the doorkeeper came to the floor microphone and said:

"A committee from the Senate awaits at the bar of the House."

"Admit the honorable committee," the speaker responded.

While five senators marched solemnly through the door, representatives started yelling "let's boo them." And boo them they did.

Then the spokesman, Sen. Fred

Harris of Dallas, informed the House the Senate had completed its work and the senators marched solemnly out amid more boos and catcalls.

The House committee later went over to the Senate to tell the senators the representatives had finished their work, too. But they told it to a few clerks sitting around on a deserted Senate floor.

COME BACK

They came back and made their formal report, anyway.

"Sir, we, your committee appointed to inform the Senate the House has completed its work beg to inform you we have done so," began Rep. M. K. Thomas of Willis Point, "and—"

"And beg to be excused," Speaker Durwood Mansford leaned down from the rostrum and whispered.

"And beg to be excused," Thomas finished and his fellow members leered and laughed.

British Papers Complain Of Cripps' 'Lack Of Toughness'

LONDON, July 7. (AP) — Conservative newspapers complained today that Britain's economic boss, Sir Stafford Cripps, did not get tough enough in his talk yesterday on Britain's dollar plight.

Other papers declared Britain can not pull herself out of the hole she is in, but needs help from the United States and other countries.

Cripps told Commons yesterday Britain was down to her last $1,024,000,000. He said she must hold on to them and work harder to earn more.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said the government will stick to its policy of full employment and a steady living standard. He called for government efficiency, but mentioned no cuts in government spending.

The Tory press claimed Cripps showed himself unwilling to cut back social services to help solve the dollar problem.

The conservative Daily Mail said "there is only one way to cut costs sufficiently to make sense. That is to slash drastically at government expenditure. That is the truth he did not have the courage to explain."

The London Daily Telegraph, also conservative, said: "It is all very well to urge that such and such an expenditure, including that on the welfare state is sacrosanct. But if the effect is to disable us from paying for the indispensable minimum of imports

CRIPPS CARRIES BAD MONEY NEWS TO COMMONS — It's a tight-lipped, serious visaged Sir Stafford Cripps, (above) Chancellor of Britain's Exchequer, who is departing from the treasury building in London, enroute to the House of Commons where he told Britain that further commitments for purchases in the dollar area must be halted except where "urgent national interest" is proved. Decline of British sales in the United States was cited as the reason for the new ruling. Cripps denied that Britain had any intention of devaluing the pound. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

'Wetback' Conference Will Be Held At Weslaco On Sept. 1

WESLACO, July 7. (AP) — The Rio Grande Valley will try to solve its "wetback" problem at a conference here Sept. 1.

The Inter-American Relations Committee has invited Gov. Beauford H. Jester to preside at the conference. Those invited to attend include U. S. Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and President Miguel Aleman of Mexico.

For the past year, Texas has been on Mexico's "black list." Mexico has banned use of Mexican national laborers in Texas on grounds they have been discriminated against. Since the ban was imposed, many Mexicans have crossed the Rio Grande illegally to work in Texas fields. They are called "wetbacks."

The valley chamber of commerce is sponsoring the wetback conference. Ygnacio Garza, Jr., president of the Inter-American Relations Committee of the Valley, said: "It is the feeling of the Valley chamber that an amicable solution to the problem can be worked out when men and governments get together to discuss and have an understanding."

Others invited to the conference include members of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, which has worked for good U. S.-Mexico relations; the director of the U. S. Department of Immigration, and such other representatives of Mexico as President Aleman may wish to send.

Texas Father Loses Custody Of Daughter

BOSTON, July 7. (AP) — A Texas father's attempt to retain custody of a four-year-old daughter from his estranged wife was thwarted by the Massachusetts Supreme Court yesterday.

The court upheld a lower decision awarding Mrs. Lucille A. Conley of Brockton, Mass., custody of Lynette, 4, Louis B. Conley, of Amherst, challenged the award.

Four months before Mrs. Conley received a divorce, Conley entered his wife's home and took the child to Texas. He said that since the girl was not in Massachusetts when the divorce was granted, the court lacked jurisdiction.

In its ruling the high court said: "A husband has no power to change the domicile of his child while both parents are subject to a valid decree giving custody of the wife. In such case the domicile follows that of the wife."

Cotton Surplus Bill To House

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP) — A bill to cut down threatening surpluses of cotton went to the House today.

The measure, passed by the Senate yesterday, would authorize the Agriculture Department to limit the amount of land on which cotton could be grown, and would provide for a new division of this cotton acreage among the cotton producing states.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) sponsored the bill, with the backing of 28 cotton-state senators.

The program would set up a minimum allotment of about 10 million bales for the next two years, compared with a 14,628,000-bale crop in 1948 and one this year which is expected to be even larger.

The acreage would be allotted from a base figure of 22,500,000 acres, with special adjustments for farms of five acres or less, about 27,500,000 acres now are under control.

State and county farmer committees would set the allotments for their own areas, rather than having that done in Washington.

Allotments would be based on acreage planted during the four years prior to 1949.

SEPTEMBER VOTE SLATED

Korean Commie 'Demo Front' Orders UN Group To Get Out

SEOUL, July 7. (AP) — Communist North Korea's "democratic front" today ordered the United Nations Commission on Korea to get out at once.

The message was delivered in the ordinary mail. Mail is exchanged once a week at the 38th parallel which divides Red Korea from the independent south.

Earlier, the Communist radio at Pyongyang, northern capital, announced copies of the manifesto were being sent to UN Secy. Gen. Trygve Lie and South Korean officials.

The letter said the "democratic front" would sponsor a nationwide election in September to elect a representative body for all of Korea.

Since May a year ago South Korea has been ruled by an assembly elected under United Nations sponsorship. North Koreans have refused to occupy 100 seats reserved for them in the national assembly. Likewise they have shut their borders to UN representatives.

Sporadic fighting has ensued along the dividing line. At present a small scale war is underway on Ongjin Peninsula north of here. Only yesterday eight Russian soldiers were reported by South Korean sources as having been wounded in the Ongjin fighting.

Nightly for several weeks the UN Commission in Seoul had broadcast appeals to northern leaders to meet with them and discuss unification of Korea.

The Pyongyang radio's answer has been a curt "Koreans can unify their country without outside help."

The northern "democratic front" was organized a month ago. So far as is known here only Communists of the southern labor party and their affiliates have joined it.

The labor party is in the minority in South Korea, which contains most of the peninsula's almost 20 million residents.

Dr. Roberts Will Practice In City

Newcomer to Big Spring is Dr. Henry James Roberts, associate of Dr. G. H. Wood, eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist here for a number of years.

Dr. Roberts served on the staff of the eye, ear, nose, and throat hospital at New Orleans prior to joining Dr. Wood here. He has been taking post graduate work in surgery and diseases of the eye at Tulane University for the past two years.

A graduate of the University of Tennessee medical school where his father is dean, Dr. Roberts served five years in the Navy during World War II. Entering the Navy early in 1942, the physician was discharged with the rank of lieutenant commander. Most of his service was spent as flight surgeon in the Pacific theatre.

His wife and daughter will join the physician here in about two weeks, Dr. Roberts said. Offices of Drs. Wood and Roberts are in the Petroleum building.

DENY BOWLES SENT THEM

Connecticut GOP Solons Back Home

HARTFORD, Conn., July 7. (AP) — Connecticut Republican legislators were back at their homes today—but not, they insisted, because Gov. Bowles sent them there.

Defying a week-old gubernatorial proclamation adjourning a special session of the general assembly, the Republican-controlled House met for two hours yesterday and accused the Democratic chief executive of acting like a "dictator."

The Democratic-controlled Senate stayed away from the capitol. And so did all the Democratic representatives except for Minority Leader John P. Cotter of Hartford, who charged the House's session was "merely a Republican caucus."

Bowles, former national OPA administrator, wasn't on hand. He had set sail the day before on a coastal cruise aboard his yacht, Mara, but Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey took up the cudgels on his behalf.

Bailey said the House session was a "farce," a "foul and a fitting climax to a six-months record of clowning."

Republican legislators argued that Bowles' proclamation last Thursday was "an illegal exercise of executive power which strikes at the very foundation of our lib-ties and our constitutional government."

The episode brought to a new climax the feud between the Democratic governor and the GOP-controlled House, which began when he took office Jan. 5. The bulk of the Bowles' program was stymied in the regular session which ended June 8, and the special session which immediately followed it. Bowles then issued his "go-home" proclamation last week, but the House refused to take its walking papers.

More battling is in store. The governor has announced he will call a special session in the fall to reconsider state grants for education, one of the chief bones of contention between him and the House.

KINGSFORD, Tenn., July 7. (AP) — The drowning of a 14-year-old girl while she was being baptized in the Holston River near here last May 1 has resulted in the arrest of three persons on charges of murder.

Margaret Chapman drowned shortly after being immersed by her grandfather, Franklin W. Lewis, 53, a holiness preacher.

Arrested and arraigned yesterday besides Lewis were Howard Lee Smith, 38, of Bristol, and Edna Earl King, 34, of Kingsport. A preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday.

The warrant for Lewis' arrest charged felonious, willful and unlawful drowning "while in the act of baptism in the Holston River under dangerous conditions."

At the time of the tragedy, rivermen said river currents were treacherous, following heavy spring rains.

all three suddenly went down. He said the girl was last seen alive floating downstream.

"Brotherhood" Theme Discussed By Youth

"Brotherhood" was the worship meditation directed by Woody Wood at Wednesday night's caravan sessions held at the First Methodist Church. Emphasizing the Christian young person's responsibility in promoting world brotherhood, Wood cited the work of George Washington Carver and Roland Hayes. All men are brothers in a world globe and cross arrangement which formed the worship center.

Madelyn Guess was the worship leader for the evening.

Members of the Northwest Texas Conference Caravan team directed the usual forum sessions and recreation period which preceded the worship. Organization machinery for youth groups and their problems are the main points discussed at the sessions.

At the beginning of the evening session, supper was served.

Sessions will continue through Friday. From 2-4 p.m. each day, sessions are held for the junior high department; 4:30 p.m., a

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight" gals who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas drugist for four ounces of Barcetrane. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoons twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcetrane is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcetrane.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

Did you ever drive with a reckless driver or go through some other experience which for the moment was a thrill, but you wondered after it was over how you ever got out alive.

John Leroy Thursday out in San Pedro, Calif., had such an experience, but his relief was a little too soon.

He had an unusual escape from injury when his car skidded after blowing out a tire, sheared off a power pole and overturned twice. Despite all that, he stepped out of the wreckage without a scratch.

Police who investigated the crash asked Leroy for his registration of ownership certificate. He reached into the wreckage to get it. Leroy let out a yell and brought out his hand. It was badly cut on a jagged piece of broken glass.

Are you smoking too much? Well, if you're not, someone must be smoking your share. Reports show that Texans are smoking more than a billion and a half cigarettes each month.

To send that much tobacco from the little tubes into smoke is costing Texans $14,671,888 a month.

There's a three-year-old boy, Billy Don Sims of Jemison, Ala., who is recovering from an operation to fit his left eye socket with a glass eye to match his other glass.

Don, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sims, had to have both eyes removed when he was six months old because of malignant tumors.

The boy, who likes to listen to radio preachers, hopes to be a minister, when he is old enough to get a seeing-eye dog.

LEGION LETTER

By KAY BUGG

Approximately half a million veteran students will not receive their regular monthly GI Bill subsistence checks on time this month, but should not become too concerned, as the checks will be forthcoming in a few days. The delay is caused by failure of Congress to complete action on VA's 1950 budget, but remedied last Thursday by passage of resolution permitting agency to disburse necessary funds, pending final action on regular appropriation bill. Half million Vets affected make up one fourth of all GI Bill trainees entitled to subsistence allowances.

West Texas Water Program Is Taken Before National Congress

ABILENE, July 7.—A campaign to take the West Texas municipal water fight to the National Congress has been activated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with a series of letters to national and local officials, Chamber of Commerce managers and editors.

The letter accompanies a report just made by WTCC Manager D. A. Handeen on the West Texas water shortage damage, under application of the Hoover Commission domestic water recommendations.

"In support of your Recommendation No. 1 on priority of use of multi-purpose reservoirs—as contained in your Commission's report to the Congress on Federal Business Enterprises—the enclosed analysis and report on 'West Texas Water Shortage Damages and Application of the Hoover Commission's Domestic Water Recommendations' has been made," Handeen wrote to Mr. Hoover. "The report is an effort to show that lack of domestic water is truly a menace to public welfare equivalent to flood damages and that the adoption of your recommendation would certainly contribute greatly to the welfare of our people everywhere, including municipal corporations.

"There is widespread and militant support in this West Texas territory and all of Texas of your municipal water priority formula and our purpose is to campaign in Washington for the adoption of your commission's majority recommendation."

To other officials Handeen pointed out that although the WTCC report expresses the organized thinking of West Texas territory on surface water problems, it now is expressing a national viewpoint because of the Hoover recommendations.

In activating the program local chambers have been asked to study it and pass resolutions calling upon a revision of the federal dam building criteria, which would permit construction of dams with municipal water as the motivating factor.

As co-chairman of the WTCC Water Resources Development Committee R. M. Wagstaff has called on all West Texas mayors to give support to the program. Wagstaff was one of the authors of the Wagstaff-Woodward bill passed in 1931, giving domestic water users first priority in Texas.

"This is a challenge to you to give your personal and official endorsement of this report and do something big for your town," Wagstaff wrote the mayors.

President John D. Mitchell of WTCC called upon the organization's directors to "act together as we did in the freight rate parity campaign, and it is not at all impossible for us to secure this change in federal policy."

M. C. Ulmer, former WTCC president and now chairman of the Public Expenditure and legislative commission, has written all members of the West Texas legislature "the remedy is legislatively to correct these things both in our state and national water development policies."

STATE BOARD OF OPTOMETRY IS CLEARED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, July 7. (U)— Three members of a five-man House investigating committee decided yesterday that there was nothing wrong with the state board of optometry.

The chairman of the probe, Rep. William A. Miller of Houston, disagreed. He found that the board was biased in favor of optometrists who believed in "professionalism" over "commercialism."

The fifth member of the committee, Rep. I. B. Holt of Olton, resigned from the Legislature recently.

The investigation was asked in March by Rep. Miller Walker of Beaumont shortly after Dr. N. Jay Trovay of Beaumont resigned from the board.

Reps. O. E. Cannon of Corpus Christi, George Nokes of Corsicana, and Fred Niemann of Yoakum said they found no discriminations and commended the board on the board.

The trio made no recommendations and commended the board. Miller reported that testimony taken during the investigation "conclusively proves the board is biased and leans toward the professional group and frowning on the activities of the commercial group."

He recommended that board members be limited to one six-year term and that the board be required to give nothing but written examinations.

Prospects For Passage Of Any Tidelands Bill Appear Slim

By TEX. EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, July 7 (U)— Chances appear dim for passage of any kind of tidelands bill at this session of Congress.

Conferences between House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Federal and state officials have pointed up how completely the two factions are at odds over ownership of the oil-bearing, offshore lands of Texas, Louisiana, and California.

Texas themselves, both here and in the state capital, have genuine differences of opinion. All are interested in preserving the revenue which the Texas school system gets from oil leases in the Gulf. They differ in how to go about it.

Most of them think Texas should stand pat, and believe firmly they can win in the Supreme Court on the basis of the provisions under which the state joined the union in 1845.

On the other hand, some of them who have been in the thick of the fight are afraid Texas ultimately will lose out in the court fight and end up with total loss of revenues from the submerged oil areas. They think the smart thing to do is to compromise the issue and make sure the Texas school funds always will get an income from such oil.

Even though the controversy is not settled by Congress this year, it undoubtedly will have another chance to act before the Supreme Court decides the prospective suit of the government for title to the off-shore lands of Texas and Louisiana.

The court has ruled that the Justice Department can file the suit. The actual filing is a formality which probably will take place some time between now and the convening of the Court next October.

Consideration of the case, or at least a decision, is unlikely before next spring or early summer. Congress convenes early in January, so that would leave a few weeks for passage of tidelands legislation if the federal and state authorities could come to a meeting of the minds.

The legislators could act without regard to the opinions of the state and government officials, but they won't.

Anthracite Coal Conference Opens

PHILADELPHIA, July 7. (AP)—The United Mine Workers board of strategy and the nation's anthracite operators open contract negotiations today with the controversial three-day work week a highly possible issue. Negotiations between John L. Lewis' UMW and three branches of the soft coal industry are already underway.

Lewis, whose union includes 400,000 bituminous diggers and 80,000 hard coal miners, put a three-day work week in effect for all soft coal miners east of the Mississippi starting this week.

His order, which drew immediate criticism from both congressional and industry leaders, did not include the hard coal miners, however.

In the anthracite fields a five day work week is in effect this week after the Pennsylvania anthracite committee set the weekly production quota at 1,207,600 tons.

Legislature To Be Back In Six Months

AUSTIN, July 7. — The 51st Legislature called it quits yesterday after passing more bills and spending more money than any other Legislature in Texas history—but it will be back again within six months.

Return of the 51st to a new session by mid-January of 1950 is assured. The people of Texas may vote for annual sessions beginning next January or Gov. Beauford H. Jester will call a special session.

The Legislature will come back to provide a state building program, to give eleemosynary institutions operating funds for the second year of the biennium and to take action toward keeping the state out of the red. Jester has made it plain he thinks a new "sound" tax bill will be necessary.

Speaker Durwood Manford warned a month ago that the 51st Legislature would have to pass a tax bill or the next Legislature would face a $100 million deficit.

Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio predicted yesterday that the Legislature will have to raise $125 to $150 million in new taxes "when it returns in January." He anticipated the new Gilmer-Alkin school program will cost the state $75 million or $100 million more per year than was foreseen.

The 51st Legislature authorized the expenditure of more than $212 million directly or indirectly from general revenue. When it got through, the state comptroller figured a mere $110,000 remained for spending in the next two years if revenue trends stay the same.

A $5 million soil conservation bill was signed by the governor yesterday.

22 Loans Processed By AAA Office Here

Amount of loans amounted to $25,534, a spokesman stated. In addition, seven loans on 1,778 bushels of oats have also been completed. Total amount of money involved came to $1,159.61.

The function was notified from Washington this morning that the government loan rate on number one grade of barley would be $1.04.

Vaughan Admits Knowing 300 Engaged In Talks On Contracts

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, military aid to the President, knows of "about 300 persons in Washington who engaged in contract negotiations." He said so here last night in response to questions by reporters as to his views on reports that a so-called "five per center" had used "influence" to gain government contracts for firms willing to pay. Vaughan did not identify any of the 300. The questioning took place at the railway station where newsmen met Vaughan on his return from a 19-day vacation to Guatemala.

Vaughan also was questioned about the financing of his vacation trip. "That is nobody's business and you can quote me," Vaughan told a reporter who asked about it on his return last night. Vaughan went on to explain, however, that there were 11 persons in the vacationing party and each paid $341 fare for the trip. The boat trip was aboard a ship of the United Fruit Co. The general declined to discuss a scheduled congressional investigation of so-called "five per centers." Paul Grindle, a Massachusetts manufacturer, set off the investigation by saying that James V. Hunt, a management counselor, had claimed to have influence with Vaughan and some other government officials. (The New York Herald Tribune quoted Grindle as saying that he agreed to pay Hunt a fee plus 5 per cent gross on any government contract he got. Hunt has denounced as a liar anyone who says he tried to sell influence in getting government contracts.) Vaughan told reporters only that he knew of "about 300 persons in Washington" who engaged in contract negotiations. He did not identify any of them.

We Need International Trade But Do We Trade With Enemies?

To achieve world stability a free flow of commerce between all major regions is essential. Our reciprocal trade pacts are pitched on this assumption, and the whole philosophy of the Marshall Plan rests on this theory as it applies to Western Europe and the Western Hemisphere.

Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia the other day told a cheering mass meeting of his people that he will be happy to trade with the West, since Russia and her satellites have denied him access to their markets. He also announced that Yugoslavia has been carrying on trade negotiations with Britain, France and the United States.

The West has shown no reluctance to do business with Tito, in the belief that the split between Moscow and Belgrade can thus be widened. Anything that will widen this split, and build up Yugoslavia as a thorn in Russia's Balkan Achilles heel, it is argued, would be justified. This desire to trade with the West isn't peculiar to Yugoslavia; all the other satellites would like to do likewise, and so would Russia.

But how far can we go with this sort of thing without cutting our own throats, by strengthening our potential enemies? DeWitt MacKenzie, the Associated Press' foreign affairs analyst, raises this question, and points out that some American interests sent scorpion to Japan almost up to the moment of Pearl Harbor, and that Germany built herself up by trade with prospective victims.

"The Western Allies are agreed," writes Mr. MacKenzie, "that they shall not supply the Communist bloc with outright war materials. There is, however, considerable argument as to what constitutes war materials."

There is, indeed. Our own opinion is that anything that is useful to a potential enemy—food, so-called non-military machinery, and medicines, to mention a few—helps to build-up that country's strength for war. We should not then, you could say, deal with that nation in any way.

But then the question arises. Can we live for long in a state of trade isolation with half the world, without ourselves going into a state of economic paralysis? Obviously, the problem isn't at all simple.

Vocational Education Program Calls For Help From Business

In the formative stage, subject to various stages of approval, including that of the local board of trustees, is a program of distributive education for Big Spring high school.

It amounts to a cooperative working arrangement between the school and the business houses of the community, under which juniors and seniors receive a combination of classroom instruction plus practical training and experience with business men who give them part time employment.

The name derives from the fact that training is restricted largely to the distributive, or selling fields, and is designed to prepare for successful careers the large percentage of high school students who choose to enter distributive businesses.

Students are subjected to intensive classroom training, both in the general fields of merchandising, and then in specialized instruction to suit their own particular fields. In addition to this formal education, the job assignments are such that actual practical training is given.

The program's benefit probably will be dependent in major degree to the type of cooperation the business men themselves give to it. The business man seeking merely a part time employee at low pay obviously is not going to contribute much to that employee's education. On the contrary, if special care is given that student in letting him acquire the actual workings of a particular business, then he will finish school a fairly well-rounded young person ready to step into a full time job.

This just another step in the broad field of vocational education which, it is generally recognized, has become so important to those young people who cannot continue a formal schooling on through college. It is a combination of classroom theory and practical on-the-job learning that should pay dividends to all concerned.

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie

Chiang Sees Third World War Regardless Of What Happens

CHIANG KAI-SHEK HAS SAID IT again.

—If America doesn't come to his aid, the Communists will take all China and eventually Asia.

But the generalissimo tells us what will happen if he doesn't get American aid. He does not say what will happen if he gets it.

Maybe that would be because he has sunk to his present low estate during a period when he was getting help from America.

At V-J Day he was still a national hero. Today Chiang is the "retired" leader of a government whose hold on the Chinese mainland depends on how soon the Reds decide to push it off.

It got into this fix while getting American aid, and the evidence is that one or both of two things are true: Either the aid wasn't enough, or was misused to such an extent that it didn't do what it was supposed to do.

BOTH ARE PROBABLY TRUE. AMERICAN aid to Chiang to fight the Communists (one figure cited is $4 billion) was never more than a fraction of that voted for Europe. And the story of what happened to American-equipped and trained Chinese armies is one of the most profound studies in futility and corruption that the world witnessed for some time.

Would fresh aid be any better used? There is no concrete evidence of that. In fact the little evidence available is that what resistance there is left in China depends upon regional chieftains like the northwest whom Chiang never could depend upon in the past.

Why, then, does he ask again for American aid?

While there's life, there's hope, and Chiang says he is still the leader of the Chinese revolution. Perhaps 200 million Chinese behind Red lines will think this is a joke, but Chiang apparently thinks he still could command their respect and allegiance if America would stake him to more anti-Communist civil war.

INFORMED CHINESE SAY HE THINKS World War III is inevitable no matter what happens. His whole strategy is based on this idea. Most Asiatics seem to agree with him.

As many Chinese explained it to me, Chiang has staked everything on prolonging the existence of his regime as the legal government of China until war breaks out.

Then, they say, he will again become a necessary ally of this country against Russia, just as he was against Japan.

His price for being an ally will rise accordingly, they predict.

Japan Boosts Mine Safety, Production

TOKYO—Japanese miners are learning that increased coal production doesn't mean increased accidents—as they had expected.

A safety drive was conducted under occupation auspices at Joban coal mine in April. The monthly average of injuries was 539, but the total in April was only 297. Coal production increased 14,645 metric tons over the monthly average.

Medical Lobby Using Poor Tactics In Drive Against Health Insurance

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Latest gadget the American Medical Association lobby is using in the pressure campaign against federal health insurance is a postcard, distributed from doctors' offices, which threatens vote retaliations against members of Congress who support the health program.

The card reads: "as for myself and family, which consists of—votes, we are unalterably opposed to compulsory health insurance or any other legislation which tends to regiment our population and socialize our government."

The sender fills in the blank with the number of votes in his family. Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, a leading sponsor of health insurance, reports he has received hundreds of the stereotyped cards. Some have also been mailed to President Truman.

One sender, whose wife recently underwent an operation, wrote "Pepper that he was 'compelled' by the doctor performing the operation to fill out and sign the card. Another reported that he feared he would 'antagonize my doctor and nurse' if he didn't comply with their wishes.

Both these individuals informed Sen. Pepper that they strongly supported the health insurance program. Similar cards also are being distributed by Florida insurance salesmen.

OLD SOLDIERS Five hundred forgotten soldiers who survived past wars but are victims of old age, are waiting to get into the National Soldiers' Home at Washington, D. C.

Those on the inside would like to make room by building new quarters. They have plenty of money—$33 million, every cent contributed through the years by the enlisted men. But the money is held in trust by the Treasury Department, and the ex-soldiers can't get it out without an act of Congress.

Though this money belongs to the soldiers and not the taxpayers, the Budget Bureau has turned down a request to release $16,700,000 to expand the soldiers' home. The Bureau's recommendation has influenced Congress to refuse use of the funds—despite the fact that the soldiers' home hasn't been expanded since 1914. Meanwhile, the waiting list of aged, lonely ex-soldiers is growing longer.

THREAT TO AIRLIFT The public was never told how the Bendix strike at South Bend, Ind., involving fewer than 6,000 workers, came closer to grounding the Berlin airlift than the Russians ever did. That was the reason the Air Force urgently summoned both sides to the Pentagon last week to settle the strike at a dramatic, all-night session.

Here, for the first time, is the inside story:

After negotiations broke down at South Bend, Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington personally invited Bendix-Boss Malcolm Ferguson to Washington. Simultaneously he sent an Air Force plane to Detroit to pick up Walter Reuther, chief of the United Auto Workers.

The two men were brought in to see Symington separately. The Secretary of the Air Force warned both that plane production would be crippled, the Berlin lift forced down for lack of key parts—if the strike continued.

It was Reuther who suggested they sit down on the spot and settle the strike.

With all this talent from both labor and management," he declared, "if we can't settle this strike, then it just plain can't be settled. And I'm willing to sweat it out."

Ferguson was brought in, and the two men met face to face.

"I am convinced that by using the democratic processes," Reuther offered, "we can settle this strike, and by doing it in that way, we will enable the Air Force to continue to defend the democratic processes we are using."

Ferguson promptly agreed. Assistant Secretary of Labor John Gibson also was called in, offered to serve as arbitrator.

For several hours the two sides haggled behind closed doors, took time out only for quick snacks. Symington kept a Pentagon kitchen open all night to accommodate them.

By 3 a. m. the negotiators were still deadlocked. Finally Reuther blurted out: "The thing that bewilders me is how a situation that has dragged out 10 weeks and should have been settled at the outset, yet has been handled with good faith and good will and intelligence, could have gotten so 'snarled' up as it is tonight."

Reuther used one word that can't be repeated here which caused the tense, solemn group to burst out in laughter. This broke the ice and started the negotiators on the road to settlement. By 11 a. m., almost 24 hours after they started negotiating, an agreement was reached, ending one of the most critical strikes since V-J Day—another triumph for the democratic processes.

KEY CONGRESSMAN The President paid high praise to democratic Rep. Mike Kirwan of Ohio, militant battler for public power legislation, in a chat with another Mike the other day.

—Rep. Mansfield of Montana. Mansfield reported that the Interior Department's public power and reclamation program, which Kirwan navigated through the House, faced a "very tough" battle in the Senate.

"I'm for you all the way," commented Truman. "You know, the Interior bill was the best we've ever got through the House. Mike Kirwan deserves the major credit. He fought it through the appropriations subcommittee, through the full committee and finally through the House over the protests of the private power lobby."

"I think the world of Mike," added the President. "In my opinion, he's one of the most outstanding and ablest legislators we have in Congress."

How Slum-Clearance Will Work Under New Government Plan

WASHINGTON, (AP) — JONES LIVES in a slum. What's the government's new program—slum-clearance and public housing—going to mean to him?

Maybe nothing. Maybe a lot. It depends upon his own city wants to take part in the program. No city has to.

The government itself doesn't go in and tear down a slum or even start a slum-clearance going. It stands on the sidelines like a combination banker and rich uncle: It's ready to help with money—in gifts and loans—any city which wants to tear down a slum and set up low-rent public housing for low-income people.

The program goes like this: A city has a bad slum. It wants to get rid of it. It gets permission from its state legislature to do so and it gets a small loan from the government to survey the whole problem.

THIS INCLUDES PUBLIC HEARINGS where people with an interest in seeing the slum stay or go can speak their piece. Suppose, then, the city decides to go ahead and tear down the slum.

This is where money, maybe big money, comes in.

Buying up the slum property and tearing down the rotten buildings may take a lot of money, more than the city can spare, even though the leveled-off land. The government steps in. It's willing to stand two-thirds of any loss on the deal. The city must agree to bear the other one-third of any loss.

The government is willing to lose up to $500 million on slum clearance to get these blights out of the way and their tenants moved into better, low-rent homes.

80. FOR SLUM-CLEARANCE, IN THE next five years the government is prepared to hand out $15 billion to the cities in loans and grants, this way:

1. Loans—$1 billion. This money all has to be paid back by the cities at 2% to 3 per cent interest. But they get 40% to do it.

2. Grants—$500 million. These grants are really gifts which the cities never have to pay back. Since the loans have to be paid back, but the grants don't, the most the government figures to lose on all slum-clearance is $5 million in grants.

But—and this is important for Jones and his neighbors in the slum—the government will not help any city in any way in getting rid of a slum unless:

THE SLUM-DWELLERS FORCED TO move can be placed temporarily, or relocated, in housing at least not worse than they left and at rent within their means.

And people forced out of a slum, because the city is tearing it down, will get first crack at a new, low-rent public housing unit, provided they're otherwise eligible.

That is one of the reasons why a lot of cities, before starting slum-clearance, probably will build public housing, also with government help.

The government's end of the deal—checking, investigating, and deciding what city gets how much money and for what—will be handled by the Public Housing Administration, a government agency.

False Science Of Astrology Is Holding Its Own In Atomic Age

A remarkable thing about the human race is the persistence with which it clings to an outmoded belief. The pseudo-science of Astrology, for instance, was discredited by scholars as long ago as the Renaissance, but it apparently has as many followers today as it did in ancient times.

Lately, I have amused myself by looking over the newsstands to check on the current interest in the subject, and I find that there are dozens of magazines devoted to astrology, not to mention a great variety of folders offering detailed daily guidance which varies according to the Zodiacal sign of the customer. Incidentally, this literature appears to enjoy a brisk sale.

Perhaps you think it is only ignorant, uneducated people who buy this star stuff. By no means; many of them are college-bred and occupy places of trust and honor in the community. Undoubtedly, some of the more intelligent pursue the study of astrology merely as a hobby, but there is every reason to believe that the majority actually do order their lives in obedience to astrological precepts.

I shall not soon forget my astonishment when I learned that astrology has its adherents even in the ranks of the clergy. Recently, in a small town where I was sojourning, a defense of astrology appeared in the local paper. It was signed by the pastor of one of the town's churches. The gist of his argument was that astrology is a true science, and that it is wrong to suppose that the stars do not influence the course of human destiny.

So firm is the faith of some people in the teachings of astrology, that they refuse to take any new step without first consulting the stars. Instead of trusting to their own good judgment in business, social life and love affairs, they follow the instructions of an impersonal, printed guide. The folly even may be carried to the extent of cancelling an important trip because of some so-called threatening aspect of the planets.

Obviously, one cannot surrender his volition in this fashion and expect to retain his willpower. If there is anything to be learned from the harsh lessons of life, it is the importance of self-reliance. In the great crises of human existence, every man must stand upon his own legs, and make his decisions on the basis of his past experience and in the light of the Divine reason which has been given him. The sort of muddled thinking which is engendered by astrology is quite capable of landing one in a mental hospital.

Astrologers are fond of pointing out some fulfilled prediction in support of their extravagant claims. They conveniently forget the host of predictions which did not come true. In other words, they count the hits and not the misses. One miss in a whole series of laboratory experiments is sufficient to throw doubt upon a scientific hypothesis, but let the astrologer make a single lucky hit and his fame and fortune are assured.—R. G. MACREADY.

U. S. Business Recession Has Caused Grave Monetary Crisis

WASHINGTON, (AP) — We are in the midst of an exceedingly grave monetary crisis, which anyone having noticed it very much. The cause is the business recession in the United States, which has led Americans to reduce their purchases of British goods.

This, in turn, has brutally interrupted the remarkable progress the British were making with Marshall aid. They have had to start again drawing on their national nest egg of dollars and gold, in order to pay their bills to us. Britain's next egg has now dropped below the $2 million minimum that is considered absolutely essential to maintain sterling as a world currency. And thus the British are in the position of bankers whose cash in hand is getting perilously low, while withdrawals continue.

These significant but dry-as-dust facts have produced more tense conferring and more anxious exchanging of top-secret cables, than has been seen since the great European crisis that forced the President to ask for the special European interim aid bill in November, 1947. The danger, in fact, is wholly genuine and very great. If the British go on the monetary rocks, the Marshall plan will go with them, and so will European recovery and the whole effort to contain Soviet imperialism.

After Hercules struggles, in which Paul Hoffman and his E.C.A. staff have played the leading part, the American administration has achieved something unanimously on policy in the crisis. The State Department, the Treasury Department and the E.C.A., at least, are agreed that the time has come for sterling to be devalued.

If the British lower the dollar price of sterling from the present artificial level of $4.03 for one pound, British goods will automatically become cheaper to those who can pay for them in dollars. Thus, British products will be better able to compete in dollar markets, instead of being, as at present, badly over-priced.

Furthermore, almost all of the other European currencies, with the possible exception of the Belgian franc, need devaluation. The French, Italian and other European governments are willing and anxious to take part in a general plan for re-alignment of currency prices. And the American experts argue that if sterling is devalued as part of a broad, Euro-

Says Gentlemen Don't Take Blondes Seriously

HOLLYWOOD, July 7 (AP) — You've got to dye to be an actress, Shelley Winters advises young blonde hopefuls.

"A blonde who wants to be a serious actress has an up-hill struggle in Hollywood," said the new film find.

Shelley had a series of frothy roles on Broadway until director George Cukor picked her to be slain by Ronald Colman in "A Double Life." Colman got an Oscar for slipping her a Mickey.

The gal has been going great guns at Universal-International. But she claims the average blonde has a rough go.

"Every woman is flattered by male attention and the average blonde; female actress in Hollywood gets more than an adequate share. But how vain can you be? After while you want to find someone who takes your ambitions and your ideas about an acting career seriously."

"The typical male attitude here is: This is just a cute blonde cookie who knows only about looking sexy." When you try to convince them that you want more than that out of acting—you get blank stares."

Her solution: Dye your hair and save yourself a pack of trouble.

After seeing Shelley do a sexy song number in a far-east bar room for "East of Java," I think I'd rather see her in that sort of thing than in Shakespeares.

(She studies the bard in Charles Laughton's class.)

But then maybe I'm that typical Hollywood male she talks about.

Cayuses Rally Belatedly To Stash Odessans, 15-3

Garcia Gains Fourth Win

Don't be astonished if you catch Alex Monchak of the Odessa Oilers singing, "There Must Be A Way" to his charges.

Monchak, straw boss of the Ector county lads, is still looking for his team's first victory over the Big Spring Broncs.

The Hosses did it again here last night, padding the Oilers with a savage outburst in the last three innings.

After being blanked by Lefty Jim Carson for five beats, the Cayuses went base-hit crazy in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds to crush the Odessans, 15-3.

Carson, seeking his sixth win against four losers, seemed to be in command until Pat Stacey of Our Twoon fairly blew him over with a steaming drive in the sixth. Carson recovered but, in trying to throw out the Irishman, twisted his ankle.

After a ten-minute halt for repairs, Carson continued and promptly passed Ray Vasquez and Bert Baez. Al Valdes then singled off Carson's glove for Big Spring's first run and the lefty committed a wild pitch to permit Vasquez to spike the dish.

The Oilers came back in the seventh to tie it up when Frank Mormino doubled, and Bert Baez followed with a sacrifice bunt to tie the game at 1-1.

Mormino doubled, and Bert Baez followed with a sacrifice bunt to tie the game at 1-1. The Oilers came back in the seventh to tie it up when Frank Mormino doubled, and Bert Baez followed with a sacrifice bunt to tie the game at 1-1.

Odessa changed pitchers during the storm, sending Ed Patterson in to spell Carson, but it didn't do any good. The Hosses got to Pat for seven more runs on as many hits, a base on balls and a misplay in the eighth.

Monchak had staked Carson to a one-run lead with a home run cannonaded over the left center field wall in the second and, for a long while, that appeared to be ample.

So, after nine games, which just about represents the Cayuses' longshore league lead, the Oilers are still looking for their first win over Big Spring.

Bert Garcia achieved his fourth win as against one loss for Big Spring. He appeared in rare form, fanning ten of the opposition, including the opposition pitchers every time they faced him.

BRIEFS — A very ordinary crowd contributed liberally to the fund for the widow of the late Umpire Clarence Brown, who died here this week, shelling out $145.55 when the bats were passed.

Ace Mendez, Ray Vasquez and Bert Baez were all held harmless until the seventh, after which the first two came up with blows each and Baez banged out a one-baser.

Rex Pearce, the league's leading base thief in 1947, was caught neatly by Valdes on an attempted steal in the sixth. Vasquez making the putout.

Julio Ramos, the Broncs' leading pitcher, didn't even suit out. He had a tooth pulled earlier in the day and went to bed early.

Monchak brought a roar of applause from the stands on two brilliant stops in the eighth, catching Garcia's 110 ft drive and then almost throwing out Felix Gomez after slowing his ground ball.

Rex Pearce elected to let Potato Pascual's boulder go in the eighth, expecting it to roll foul, but it hit the bag.

Jorge Lopez made another sensational play when he fielded Les Palmer's scorching drive in the eighth.

Gomez turned in a brilliant catch of Gus Enderlin's fly after a hard run in the third.

Lopez had his head in the game in the third when he permitted Palmer's drive to fall safely in short right and then threw the runner out at second.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Our Town's new high school football coach, Carl Coleman—who, after all, isn't so new (he was an aide to Pat Murphy here at the turn of the past decade) — says he believes the spirit of the boys he will handle here is better than any place he has ever been.

He's managed to interview most of the lads who'll wear Steer toggery next fall and all have expressed eagerness to begin the fall's work. And most of them, are firmly convinced the team will be a winner.

COLEMAN HAS ALREADY LINED UP GAMES WITH SEAGRAVES HERE SEPT. 16, STANTON HERE SEPT. 21 and COAHOMA HERE OCT. 7. He's also booked tentative games with the Robert Lee regulars, Midland reserves, Stamford reserves, has had a letter from the O'Donnell coach wanting a game there and has written to Sweetwater and San Angelo asking for B games with those respective schools.

NO TRAINING EXPEDITION PLANNED FOR STEERS

It's fairly well decided that the Steers will do their early training here, rather than in a river camp. Coleman points out only a limited number of boys could make such an expedition and he wants all the lads who want it to get the chance to play.

Too, good camp sites with passable practice field are hard to find and the coach feels the boys will get more out of it by training on a good, grassy field.

COLEMAN IS TICKLED PINK OVER THE SUMMER RECREATION WORK TWO OF HIS CO-WORKERS, JOHNNY MALAISE AND CONN ISAACS, ARE DOING HERE. MALAISE IS DIRECTING AN ALL-AROUND CONDITIONING PROGRAM FOR THE YOUNGER FELLOWS WHILE ISAACS HAS HIS HANDS FULL WITH THE AMERICAN LEGION JUNIOR BASEBALL PROGRAM.

Together, they must be putting more than 100 boys through their paces.

Coleman opines that, if such programs are conducted here annually, it can but help mature the school's athletic program.

MCCLURE, COLEMAN'S AIDE, IN SCHOOL AT ABILENE

Bill McClure, who'll come here in late August to serve as assistant to Coleman, is working toward his MA degree in Abilene.

Coleman has great faith in McClure's ability to build a defense.

BRADEN LEADING SOONER LEAGUE WHEN RELEASED

Glynn Braden, Odessa's new first sacker, is a one-time captain of the West Texas State college basketball team.

He was with Ardmore of the Sooner league earlier in the season and led the league with a .406 average but experienced rough sailing defensively after being moved from first to the outfield and club directors influenced Dutch Prather, the Ardmore manager, to return him to his parent club, Amarillo.

All observers agree that Braden is quite an operative with the hickory.

WHEN LEON HAYES, TRADED FOR SAM VAN HOOGER TO MIDLAND BY LAMESA, ARRIVED AT THE GYMW, HE BROUGHT WITH HIM A 4-3 WON-LOST RECORD. HE'S GOT GREAT STUFF BUT IS SUPPOSED TO BE A BIT SHY ON CONTROL.

Flock Stumbles Again As Cats Stretch Lead

By The Associated Press

That sinking feeling in the Texas League these days is in Dick Burnett's pocket book.

He shells out the dough for anybody who even looks like he can throw in the general direction of home plate in a desperate effort to halt a slide that has the Dallas Club falling dangerously near third place in the standings.

The Eagles lost another one last night and skidded six and one-half games away from front-running Fort Worth.

Shreveport beat Houston 6-3 and climbed within a game and a half of Dallas.

Fort Worth clubbed across five runs in the first inning and never was headed in blasting Tulsa 12-4. The Cats slugged 14 hits.

Great relief pitching by Jack Hallert brought Oklahoma City's 6-5 win over Dallas. He stopped the Eagles with the tying and winning runs on the sacks in the ninth. Jerry Witte of Dallas hit his 27th home run.

Shreveport came from behind to lick Houston, getting five runs in the fifth inning with two out.

Charley Grant hit a two-run homer in the ninth to bring San Antonio a 4-3 victory over Beaumont. San Antonio got only five hits off Zeke Meliganso but two were homers.

Bombers Take On Stanton

The American Legion Bombers of Big Spring seek their seventh win in as many district starts in their game with the Stanton nine in Stanton this afternoon.

Regular district Legion play will be wound up this week. Coahoma meets Foran at Coahoma this afternoon. The Bombers return to action Saturday in a game at Steer park while the Big Spring Hawks tangle with Foran on the Cosden diamond the same afternoon.

The Hawks and Foran also have a game to be made up. It possibly will be played next week in Foran.

Standings:

Stanton	5	2	.714

All-Stars Boost Pitching Talent

DALLAS, July 7. — Seven pitchers who have won 62 games between them will be at the disposal of Tulsa's Al Vincent next Tuesday night when the Texas League all-stars play the Fort Worth Cats.

Fierly Al was selected as manager and these hurlers were picked by sports writers of Texas League cities. League Secretary Milton Price announced today (season record in parentheses):

Henry Wyle, Shreveport (8-4); Dave Jolly, Tulsa (8-4); Roy Sanner, Dallas (8-0); Tommy Fine, San Antonio (10-0); Tommy Reis, Oklahoma City (11-4); Al Gerbesauer, San Antonio (8-6); Gale Pringle, Beaumont (8-7).

Fort Worth, the host team because it led the league race through July 4 (it's still on top), can't quite match that array and has only one left-hander. The seven regulars on the Cat staff have 50 wins between them.

The four outfielders, five infielders and three catchers to go with the seven all-star pitchers will be announced tonight.

Oilers, Broncs Play Two Tilts

The Big Spring Broncs and Odessa's Oilers will tangle in two seven-inning games at Steer park this evening, the first of which begins at 7 p. m.

The afterpiece will be a make-up bout, the Oilers and the Steeds having been deprived of a chance to meet here in a previous game because of rain.

Odessa will use a newly acquired hurler against the Big Springers in the first go. He is Rusty Walters, who won six games, lost eight for Henderson of the East Texas league before being purchased by A. D. Enayre. Henderson is in last place in that Class C loop.

Harty Diaz of Three Rivers, Tex., will probably lose the stab for Odessa in the second go.

Gene Melba, who has won nine decisions while losing two, will probably go to the hill in the initial game for Big Spring, while Manny Rodriguez (7-3) is slated to toil in the second go.

Big League All-Star Teams Conform To Fan Dictates

DIMAGGIO, WAITKUS ADDED

NEW YORK, July 7. — The major league all-stars won't settle their annual argument until Tuesday in Brooklyn, but the nation's baseball fans already have won.

The all-star squads followed exactly the dictates of the 4,637,743 fans who balloted for their favorites.

Managers Lou Boudreau of the Americans and Billy Southworth of the Nationals were bound to use only the top choice for each of the eight positions. But they exercised their judgment solely in the pitching department which wasn't included in the popular voting.

Two additions brought on by peculiar circumstances were sure to meet with the fans' approval.

Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees, who suddenly returned to his brilliant form after missing the first 65 games of the season, was included on the American League squad for the 11th time.

Eddie Waitkus, of the Phils, who was leading the National League first base poll when he was shot by a crazed girl admirer, was named an honorary member. He finished second to Johnny Mize of the Giants in the final vote. Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, who finished third, was picked for the active squad.

Brooklyn and St. Louis dominate the National League roster announced last night. They each landed seven players of the 25-man squad.

Three of the eight National League pitchers are Dodgers—Ralph Branca, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe. Rounding out the staff are Howie Pollet and George Mueger of the Cardinals; Warren Spahn and Vern Bickford of the Braves and the biggest surprise of the squad—Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati.

In picking Blackwell, who has won one and lost none while recovering from a kidney operation, Southworth left off several hurlers with more impressive records: Ken Heintzelman (10-5) and Robin Roberts (8-6) of the Phillies were bypassed as was Blackwell's Cincinnati teammate, Ken Raffensberger (8-4) who has pitched four months, tops in both leagues this year.

Witte On Way To HR Record

DALLAS, July 7. — Big Jerome (Jerry) Witte, Dallas first baseman, is on the way to his greatest home run season. He also may wipe out one of the storied records of the Texas League—the 55 circuit smashes of Clarence (Big Boy) Kraft of Fort Worth in 1924.

Last night Witte got his twenty-seventh home run in the campaign. That brought him even with Kraft's record. On June 6, 1924, Kraft had 27 over-the-fence blasts.

There are 67 more days remaining in the Texas League season. This means that Witte must get three home runs a week—or one every 2.4 days to beat Kraft's record.

Winners To Get Choice Of Awards

Something different in the way of awarding golf prizes is promised Sunday evening at the Big Spring country club, at which season premiums will be distributed to winners in the recent club championship meet.

All prizes will be exhibited and the champion and runner-up in each flight will be privileged in turn, to select the award they want, beginning with the title fight. Tournament medalist will be privileged to make his choice immediately after the champion.

All winners should be present at the club house by 6 p. m. Sunday, if they expect to participate in the drawing, club officials have stated.

Scotsman Holds Lead In Open

SANDWICH, England, July 7. — Going into today's second round of the 72-hole medal play tournament of the British Open, Scotsman Jimmy Adams held a one stroke lead with a 67.

Ireland's Harry Bradshaw and Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina shared second place with 68, then tournament favorite, Africa Bobby Locke—tied with six others at 69. Five players followed in a bunch with 70.

Down in sixteenth place behind that group came Johnny Bulla and Frank Stranshan with 71, tied with five others.

Hogan Vacationing In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, July 7. — "Only time will tell about my future gift plans."

So says Beniamin Ben Hogan, the nation's top money-winning golfer until he was critically injured in a traffic crash in Texas last February.

The Fort Worth ace arrived here yesterday with his wife, Valerie, for a 10-day rest. It's strictly a loafing expedition, he explains.

GOSHEN, N. Y. — Miss Tilly, one of the highly regarded 3-year-olds in the $87,500 Hambletonian trotting stake here Aug. 10, is stepping off such fast miles in training that Fred Egan is confident the filly will bring him a second victory in the classic. Egan, veteran trainer of trotters, won the Hambletonian in 1940 with Spencer Scott. He had a good chance to win in 1933 but Brown Berry stumbled while trotting in the stretch. Miss Tilly, a bay filly by Nibbia Hanover—Tilly Yonks, in 1946 gained the distinction of winning more money than any previous 3-year-old in trotting history. She is owned by Charles W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn.

Cooper Comes Onto Own As Cincy Slaughters Chicago Cubs, 23-4

By JACK HAN

Associated Press Staff

All Walker Cooper needed was a change of scenery or was it a change of managers?

Big Cop, who popped off publicly about his trials with the New York Giants under Leo Durocher, sounded off with his big bat yesterday for his new boss—Bucky Walters—at Cincinnati.

Six straight base hits, including three three-run homers, added up to a big 10 runs batted in for the ex-Giant who went to Cincy for Catcher Ray Mueller on June 14.

Since Cooper led the big town he has been nothing short of sensational.

Here's the before and after story:

All this thumping doesn't make much difference at Cincy where the Reds have dipped into seventh place and are in danger of falling into the basement. In New York, a Cooper hitting at that pace could have made a contender out of the fifth-place Giants.

The big fellow who cost Horace Stoneham $175,000 in January of 1946 had the biggest day of his long career against the Chicago Cubs yesterday afternoon. It was also the biggest day for the Reds in many a day as they rolled up a 23-4 landslide for Ken Raffensberger's 11th victory.

Cooper had a chance to tie Uncle Wilbert Robinson's all-time record of seven consecutive hits when he came up in the eighth inning. He grounded into a force play, breaking the string. The 16 RBI's were only two short of the record set by Sunny Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cards back on Sept. 15, 1924.

In the third, sixth and seventh innings, Cooper hammered home runs, each time with two men on base. Earlier in the season, Pat Mullin of Detroit and Andy Seminick of the Phils also hit three homers in one game.

The heavy firing in Cincy overshadowed the pennant race which almost—but not quite—resulted in a first place tie. Brooklyn's one-game lead was cut in half when the Dodgers lost to the Boston Braves, 7-5, but the runner-up, Louis Cards blew a 3-1 lead in the last of the ninth and bowed to Pittsburgh, 4-3. As a result the Brooks still lead by a full game.

Tommy Holmes sank the Dodgers with his third homer in the last three days, it came in the eighth with Jim Russell on base. Johnny Hopp was the hero of the Pirates' ninth-inning rally against the Cards. His single with the bases loaded scored two runs for Pittsburgh's fifth straight victory.

Murry Dickson, the ex-Cardinal who was sold to the Pirates for $125,000, accounted for his third victory, two over St. Louis, by an eight-inning relief job. Dickson has lost 11.

Major Steel Strike Threat Seen In U. S.

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—The nation today faced the threat of its first major steel strike since 1946. U. S. Steel Corp., industry bellwether, yesterday said "no" to demands of the CIO-United Steel workers for a fourth round wage increase and for company financed pension and insurance programs. The union immediately called a July 13 meeting of its wage policy committee to consider a possible strike July 18. Contract negotiations were recessed indefinitely. Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers, told a press conference:

"They (the steel corp.) merely say no to the union and they say so with an air of complete finality. The conferences are deadlocked. The present contract has almost a year to run. It was reopened this summer on "rates of pay" and insurance. The contract permits a strike if no agreement is reached by July 18. A statement from U. S. Steel covered the union demands this way:

- 1.—Wages: "We are convinced that no sound reason justifies an increase at this time."
- 2.—Pensions: "We propose that this issue of whether or not the contract can now be reopened by the union on this subject be presented to the board of conciliation and arbitration for decision."
- 3.—Insurance: "The companies (six U. S. Steel subsidiaries) continue willing to arrange for insurance benefits but only on the express understanding that the cost of such insurance shall be divided equally between the companies and the participating employees."

EVANGELIST AT ABBEY—Krishna Venka, of Los Angeles, Calif., who claims to have lived 1,500 years ago, walks with his 34-year-old wife, Ruth, past Westminster Abbey, London.

of U. S. Steel, said in New York that "with business now receding in almost every industry across the land, nothing could be more damaging to the economy of the nation that generally to increase labor costs at this time." Present wage for steelworkers is $1.69 an hour.

Air War Temporarily Averts 'Hopper Plague'

By BEN FUNK
 AP Staff
 DENVER, July 7 (AP)—The air war on grasshoppers in Wyoming and Montana has "temporarily" put down the threat of a plague. But in Nevada, an outbreak is spreading. Jim R. Dutton, U. S. grasshopper control division chief, emphasized the word "temporary" in an interview today on the results of an airplane poison-spreading campaign against the hungry insects. If the Wyoming-Montana 'hopper armies had been left alone, Dutton declared, they would have been as destructive as the locust swarms in the 30s that laid waste millions of acres of croplands from Canada to Texas. "We have killed a whole lot of grasshoppers and saved lots of range grass," Dutton said. "But the million and a half acres we sprayed represent only the primary danger area. Outside that area are millions of acres of infested land on which the 'hoppers are multiplying at a terrific rate." On these lands, he said, many farmers and ranchers are attacking grasshoppers at their own expense. The USDA started the unique aerial campaign against 'hoppers with a $1 million appropriation. Congress now is considering another, larger emergency fund. But in Nevada, where there was no campaign, herds of full grown migratory grasshoppers have crossed the northwest border on a 70 mile front into the fringes of California and Oregon. Moving two to six miles a day, they now cover about a milli a acres. Dutton said Texas ranchers had done "a swell job of helping themselves" by buying and spreading their own bait and in California, farmers killed many of the 'hoppers in the foothills before they could invade the valley croplands.

Enough people have been lucky to give rise to this expression. But by and large the people who get hit with a horseshoe are few and far between. GENERAL SAYS ATOM BOMB MODEL CHANGED SINCE AEC TOOK OVER

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—An Army general said today there has been a "complete model change" in the atomic bomb since the Atomic Energy Commission took over the project in 1947.

Brig. Gen. James McCormack, Jr., director of the AEC's military application division, also said that all production bottle-necks "worthy of serious concern" now have been broken and weapons production is on a "stable basis."

McCormack testified at the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee's hearings on charges by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that there has been "incredible mismanagement" of atomic projects under the AEC and its chairman, David E. Lilienthal.

In a general denial, Lilienthal and the AEC contend that, on the contrary, the project was "hogged down" when they took it over and has been infused with new life.

McCormack told the congressional committee that weapons production, formerly concentrated at Los Alamos, N. M., on a "custom" manufacture basis, is being carried in plants "dispersed widely" throughout the country. The plants, he said, cost in excess of $100 million and are staffed by "thousands of people."

It is eaten by another animal or meets with an accident. To propagate, it simply divides itself in two.

Rial Freed In Double Slaying

BEAUMONT, July 7. (AP)—A murder charge against C. P. Rial, in connection with a 26-year-old double slaying, was dropped here today. Rial was freed and will be given transportation back to his home in Dallas County.

Rial was charged with murder in the 1923 death of his brother, P. O. Rial.

Justice of the Peace Horace Blades dropped the charge at the request of Asst. Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin. Griffin asked this action at a hearing in Justice Blade's court today on the grounds of "insufficient evidence."

The prisoner was released immediately. He was arrested Saturday at Seagraves, also in Dallas County.

The bodies of P. O. Rial of Beaumont and his sweetheart, Miss Beatie Carl, 18, of Houston, were found in a wooded area in the Beaumont City limits Sept. 5, 1923.

Rial had been shot through the head. The girl had been beaten about the body. No charge was filed against Rial in connection with Miss Carl's death.

Shortly before the charge was dropped, Tommy Grant, chief deputy sheriff of Jefferson County had announced that "truth serum" tests given to Rial at Austin had proved "inconclusive."

Truman Says World Moving Toward Peace

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—President Truman said today the world is moving slowly and gradually toward world peace.

At the same time, he said no steps can be taken looking to disarmament until there is agreement under which the United Nations will have firm control.

Mr. Truman's remarks at a news conference were prompted by the prediction of Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) that, after the Senate ratifies the Atlantic Pact, President Truman will lead a new crusade for world peace.

The President said he expects to keep up the crusade he has been making.

Railroad Seeking To Abandon Track

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The Nanogoches and Southeastern Railroad today asked authority to abandon about 28 miles of track between Calgary and a point near Woden, Tex.

The application filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission said discontinuance of service is proposed in connection with prospective abandonment of logging operations by the Frost Lumber Industries, Inc., in the area.

Housing Bill May Reach HST Today

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY AP STAFF

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The administration's vast housing bill today hit the final lap of its long trip through Congress.

Democratic leaders confidently expected to hand the trimmed-down measure to President Truman today, following its approval in compromise form late yesterday by a House-Senate conference committee.

The bill, marking the first major success for Mr. Truman's "fair deal" program, calls for a multi-billion dollar program of public housing, slum clearance and farm housing aids.

All that was needed before Mr. Truman could sign the compromise into law was its approval by the two chambers of Congress.

Housing Administrator Raymond Foley said he is all set to swing into the public housing program as soon as the President signs the bill. He said he hopes to get 50,000 public dwelling units under way the first year.

Here is what the compromise housing bill would do:

1. Provides a five-year slum clearance program, with one-third of the cost to be met by the federal government and the balance by local communities. The bill provides $1 billion in loans and $500 million in grants to states and local public bodies.
2. Requires local authorities to select the low-income occupants of the planned $10,000 public housing units, and to set the rent at what these families can pay. The federal subsidies would make up the difference between the rents and the amount needed to pay for the housing projects.
3. Divides the farm housing program into three parts. The first part provides long-term loans at not more than 4 per cent interest to owners of self-sustaining farms unable to obtain financing elsewhere. The second part sets up a similar loan program, with annual federal contributions, to owners whose farms were not at the time self-sustaining. The third part provides loans for minor improvements on farms that could not be made self-sustaining.
4. Sets up a research program to find cheaper ways of building homes.
5. Provides (A) a 60-day extension of temporary government authority to insure loans by private lenders up to $2,500 for repairing and remodeling existing structures; (B) a 60-day extension of authority to insure mortgages for construction of small homes costing up to $5,000; and (C) a $500,000,000 increase in the amount of mortgage insurance, that the government can issue for single family and multiple dwelling units.

Canada's Position In 'Dollar Area' Menaced

By HOUSTON HARTE
TORONTO, July 7. — Oil may save Canada for the "dollar area" and preserve our largest as well as our most accessible customer. But the U. S. quickly will have to face the issue of how to provide Canada with the dollar funds with which she is to continue her buying of American goods.

May, the last month upon which import-export figures are available, shows Canada had the largest dollar deficit of the year. Canada bought 65 million dollars more U. S. goods in May than the U. S. bought from Canada. In the same month the Canadians had the largest excess of sales over purchases in the "pound sterling area" of the year. The excess of sales in the sterling area transferred into dollars at the official rate, was 115 million dollars for May.

In the old days Canada took her excess sales in the sterling area and transferred them into dollars which settled her excess purchases in the dollar U. S. market. Now England not only has not means of paying Canada in dollars, but is about depleted of American funds even with all the Marshall plan pump priming.

Oil in Alberta and Saskatchewan may provide Canada with its motor fuel, thus eliminating the use of dollar credits. It may even provide dollars by exporting oil to the Minnesota, Wisconsin, Dakota section of the U. S.

Claud E. Alkmen, San Angelo oil man, and I overheard an Alberta farmer telling about the oil development, and "ran the swab" on him. He lived 400 miles north of Edmonton, the capital of Alberta. Oil has not been discovered on his land, but near him a new well has been brought in.

There are a number of producing sands throughout the Alberta area and like the Benedum field in Upson County the sand in these wells is in some places 500 feet thick. Devon, a new town, takes its name from the Devonian production area. Redwater, Golden Spire, Devon as well as Leduc have been developed from prairie villages to thriving oil towns with all the bustle and hustle of McCamey and Texon in the early days of the West Texas Permian Basin development.

In 1945 oil development brought into the prairie states of Canada about $12,000,000 American dollars. This year the American oil companies will spend about $100,000,000 there. Oil men believe western Canada will be producing 400,000 barrels of oil a day within the next five to six years. This will provide the motor fuel for this nation of 12 million people.

About 100 drilling rigs are in operation in the Edmonton area. There are more than 70 geophysical exploration parties shooting wildcat sites in the region and more are coming in.

Canadian oil presents a number of peculiar problems, particularly for the independent operator. The minerals in Canada are owned by the states, with few exceptions. A few land purchases made before 1900 contain the minerals. Since that date the minerals were held by the Crown and later the Crown mineral rights were transferred to the states. This provides an ideal setup for the big majors and practically eliminates the small operators. The lease men and land men in Canada are the counterpart of our super Washington lobbyists.

Today Alberta, where the state government is controlled by the Social Credit Party, may become one of the richest state governments on the North American Continent. A few years ago Alberta went through a fiscal reorganization. Its public debt was scaled down and the interest rate just about cut in half. Today it looks forward to becoming the original welfare state, without taxes and provide cradle to grave benefits for its socialistic minded farmers.

Geophysical crews use the public roads for their shooting work. If they trespass on the property of a farmer he is paid a nominal consideration. The provincial governments hand out a tough lease to the oil man. The state retains checkerboard in any drilling block. But leases are made in the millions of acres, not thousands. Because the state has a virtual monopoly on all the minerals, the oil company can't argue. They either take it or leave it. With the unusually productive fields the companies, have signed up immense development blocks.

Well spacing is on a 40 acre pattern. The surface landowner goes before an appraisal board to get damages for the use of his land as an oil field. The oil companies agree in the lease to pay what the board awards. Reports indicate that the boards have been reasonable in their appraisal of the land. In some cases the landowners accept the damages for the life of the field. In some instances the operators buy the land from the farmer.

The present price of wheat and the unusually heavy yields during the last few years has increased the value and the selling price of Alberta wheat land. A 320 acre wheat farm 400 miles north of Edmonton made 52 bushels to the acre in 1947 and 30 bushels in 1948. The prospects for another bumper crop are good for this year, but of course the wheat crop in that section still has to fill out and mature.

The farmer we talked to not only did not resent the fact that he would not "make a fortune" if oil were found on his land, but seemed to welcome the idea of the "social gains" which he would receive in the form of increased medical benefits and bigger and bigger old age pensions as a result of the oil development. He hoped he would do as well as a neighbor who got $100,000 damages from the oil company and went back to his old home in Sweden a rich man.

It did not do anything to create the oil," this hearty giant of a man said. "Why should it belong to me?"

When it was suggested to him that he could hardly claim to have created the good earth from which 52 bushels of wheat was grown in a single year, he looked a little puzzled, but said he "at least sowed the wheat."

Reds Blame American Egg Powder For Ills

MOSCOW.—The Soviet medical paper "Medical Worker" claims that large numbers of Europeans are suffering from stomach ailments as a result of eating Marshall Plan egg powder.

"Medical Worker" claims that most American egg powder sent to Europe is infected with bacteria of the salmonella family, dangerous bacteria held responsible for epidemic meat poisoning and other serious diseases.

"Medical Worker" cited an essay by a German doctor which appeared in the American zone of Germany. The Soviet paper said the German doctor had been exceedingly careful not to draw any conclusions from his study, but that he had given the basic facts.

Five Burglars Die In Police Raid

BANGKOK.—It's fatal to get caught red-handed in a burglary in Thailand (Siam). An informer tipped off police who rushed to the house near the Rama VI bridge where five burglars were at work. In the ensuing struggle all five were shot to death.

U. S. Aids Greek Communications

ATHENS.—The ECA will help the Greek government put the country's tele-communication system on a sound, technical and financial basis. The project was arranged at the request of the Greek government.

Six American technicians from the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. will give technical assistance. They will study the present system and will help a ten-year plan for its expansion and improvement.

Song Published By Photographer

CINCINNATI.—For 15 years, Harry Carlson took photographs—with a dream in his heart, and a song in his trunk. The MGM recording company bought the tune, "I Thought I Was Dreaming", after listening to an arrangement by Francis Craig, a renowned songwriter himself.

Carlson, a successful portrait photographer, said the tune and words for the song came to him 15 years ago while he was sleeping. Craig, then a rising young orchestra leader, and writer of many song hits—among them "Near You"—introduced it at the time on a radio "Hits of Tomorrow" program.

Not more than 150 copies of the song were sold. It went into the trunk. There it stayed until Carlson went to Nashville, Tenn., a few months ago to visit his old friend, Craig.

Craig said the current musical trend was for "sweet music", and he decided to dust off Carlson's dream. The sale to the recording company followed. The photographer-songwriter is not closing up his studio, but he is digging down into that old trunk again.

"Why, through the years, as a hobby, I have picked on about 25 songs, with words and music," Carlson said.

Union May Attack Constitutionality Of Decontrol Law

HOUSTON, July 7. (AP)—The constitutionality of Texas' rent decontrol law may be attacked in a union-backed court suit.

An official of the International Assn. of Machinists revealed this move.

Charley Poe, the union's grand lodge representative at Houston, last night told the Houston Post he is on a "sound out" trip to learn whether Texas' rent decontrol law will be attacked in the new law.

Poe talked to the Post by telephone from Dallas. He said he had conferred with the law firm of Mullins, Wells and Bell, which will handle the case should it be filed.

The Dallas law firm, he said, is counsel for the Texas State Federation of Labor. The IAM is not affiliated with either the AFL or CIO.

Romans Told Not To Blow On Horns

ROME.—One of Rome's post-Mussolini freedoms is slowly being snuffed out. That is the freedom to blow your automobile horn.

Acoustic signaling, as it is called in Italian road manuals, was strictly taboo in Rome during the Fascist Regime. With the fall of Rome, June 4, 1944, Italians went on a tremendous toot. The seven hills rocked—and continued to rock for five years to the unrestrained sound of automobile horns.

Editorials finally began appearing in the Rome press calling for a return to the once-oppressive days of silence. And just the other day, traffic signs were erected near the Palazzo Venezia. They show horns with lines drawn through them—meaning don't blow them around here.

Russian Factory Managers Sentenced

MOSCOW.—The Supreme Court of the USSR has upheld sentences handed out to two factory officials for manufacturing defective goods, "Eveading Moscow" said.

"Poor quality household soap appeared in the stores. The soap was manufactured by the Khimprok Works. The director of the works and the chief technician have been sentenced to 6 and 5 years imprisonment respectively."

Too Many Seasonings Spoil The Chef And Peel The Hair From The Scalp

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Now that food is fashionable in America, we are going after cooking the way we once leaped into the modern art, ballet, Emil Coue and ball-point pens.

People always have enjoyed food, as a nation we've been fond of our vittles. But until recently, our staple foods were prepared without too much tarrare, in kitchens and almost entirely by the womenfolk. We ran to such things as stacks of griddle cakes with good maple syrup, Southern fried chicken and beaten biscuits, hearty stews and such. The words "good, plain American cooking" evoked a mental picture of a groaning board, and a hungry family diving into a well-filled plate, with the housewife running in with both hands full of more things to eat.

Recently, however, we've been changing our food attitudes. Perhaps it started when someone got fooling around with salads; chopping up apples and nuts and dropping them on tired lettuce leaves or combining pineapple, raisins and cheese under a dab of mayonnaise.

Those were, perhaps our maiden efforts to go long-hair on food. But right now we are in the process of building up such a ritual about such simple items as cooking a steak, compounding a stew (ragout, it's called now) or spit-cooking a capon that we're making African witch-doctors look like kindergarten students.

Part of this trend, undoubtedly can be attributed to the delayed entry of men into the world of cookery. Men, it is conceded by all men, are really the best cooks of all when they like to cook. As a matter of fact—this is the argument—take a look through history, and you'll find all the really great chefs were men. To which women will answer that it may be true abroad, but when American men are left to their own devices, they usually eat a fried egg.

Be that as it may, there's scarcely a male over 18 today who hasn't his own special method of broiling a steak—and it's usually over an outdoor fire. The rest of the family fall happily into the plot to turn Pop into a chef, and shower him with big aprons, starched white hats, murderous honed-steel blades. And they pick up after him. Father is the king of his ovens or outdoor fireplace, and he's an extravagant user of pots, pans, butter and expensive items which make the budget short the rest of the week.

Whatever he's cooking, it's a secret recipe. Male cooks seem to specialize in cooking meats or compounding salads or stewing up strange sauces, and I think that it's because they are the items people are most apt to exclaim over. I know one guy whose family almost swoons when they speak of his way with steaks. I watched the whole business from a discreet distance one week-end, and preparations started early in the day. It was a matter of getting the outdoor fireplace to a proper degree of heat. Then he slipped about two-inches deep of salt all over the biggest steak I've ever seen. Finally, he threw the whole thing right into the fire.

Within a short time we were eating the steak, which tasted to me pretty much like any steak I've eaten right out of our gas oven, except that there was a pretty salty taste to it. Anyway, I'd peeked, because he wouldn't tell a soul his secret.

Women cooks always have been a little leary about passing around their favorite recipes, just as they do not want the lady next door to have a dress in the same color and style. But these same ladies get eye-rolling and ecstatic nowadays when they are telling you about a "little restaurant" they've discovered.

The "little restaurant" usually turns out to be one of those routine little joints which advertise a French or Italian cuisine and suggest a glass of domestic wine with the spaghetti. But it has a flavor about it, and a girl who can turn out the best baked beans in all of North Overcoat, is dew-eyed about filet of sole marguery, when eaten on a red-and-white checked table cloth. And she's just as proprietary about her restaurant as father is about his barbecue sauce, (he puts 15 times as much pepper in it as most recipes say, and the secret is the effect of peeling the hair from the scalp.)

This, one suspects, is another American fad. Sometime, soon, someone is going to rediscover the joys of the kitchen-prepared groening board and we'll start selling the French and Italian delights of New England clam chowder, prepared by daylight, in the open.

GUAVA JELLY TURNOVERS
Ingredients: 1 cup all-purpose flour, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup creamed cottage cheese, guava jelly, broken walnut meats, milk or water, sugar.
Method: Do not sift flour but stir with a spoon before measuring. Put flour in mixing bowl; add butter or margarine and cut in with a pastry blender or two knives until fat particles are about the size of a rice grain. Add creamed cottage cheese and mix well with a fork to distribute evenly. Turn out on a floured pastry board or prepared pastry cloth and with floured hands shape into a round ball. Using a stockinet covered rolling pin, roll at least 1/4-inch thin. Cut out rounds with a 2 1/2-inch cookie cutter, placing them on a piece of waxed paper as you go. Put a teaspoon of guava jelly and a few broken walnut meats slightly off center on each round; moisten edges with a pastry brush dipped in a little milk or water. Fold each round over so edges meet and seal by pressing edge down with a sharp-tined fork. Prick top with fork, brush with milk or water, and sprinkle with a little sugar. Line baking sheet with brown paper or aluminum foil and place turnovers on it. Bake in a very hot (500°F.) oven for about 5 to 10 minutes, or until top is lightly browned. Serve warm. Makes about 30 small turnovers.
Note: Dough must be rolled thin and turnovers must be well baked if they are to be as crisp as is desirable.

BRAISED VEAL KIDNEYS WITH TOMATOES
Ingredients: 3 veal kidneys, salt, flour, 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup cooked tomatoes.
Method: Cut kidneys in half lengthwise; remove white membrane. Soak in cold water for about 15 minutes. Drain and cut into 1-inch pieces. Roll in flour that has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Lightly brown the onion in the melted butter or margarine in a deep skillet. Add the kidneys and cook with the onions for about 5 minutes; cover skillet. Add the tomatoes; cover until kidneys are tender, 5 to 6 servings.

Use soap and water to wash refrigerator ice trays. Never use metal sponges, steel wool or coarse powders. Never use boiling water as it will remove surface film which helps make it easy to remove ice cubes.

Dairy Products Are Very Versatile Foods

"Crème De La Crème," "With milk and honey best" and similar phrases that drift through literature and language show the high regard in which dairy products are held the world over.

The month of June, traditionally the month of fullest dairy production, is dedicated to her majesty, the cow.

Cheese was probably the first product made from milk since references to it are made as early as 1000 B. C. in Greek literature. Now a staple food in most homes, cheese is an excellent source of protein; it is also rich in vitamin A and riboflavin. A one and one-fourth inch slice of cheese is nutritionally equal to a glass of milk.

Cheese is one of the most versatile foods. It may make its appearance in any course of lunch or dinner; in the beginning, as a stuffing for celery or as a garnish for soup; in the main course, as a soufflé or Welsh rarebit; in the salad course, as the principal ingredient or the garnish; in the dessert course, as an accompaniment to pie; even after the dessert, as crackers and cheese with after-dinner coffee.

Most of the cheese companies have new varieties that are available locally. Cream cheese and cottage cheese in salads are wonderful for summertime, meals since they are light on the digestive system, yet tops on the nutritional scale.

And without milk, meal planning as we know it would be impossible to imagine.

In the United States there are five people to every cow. This makes necessary an exceedingly full production schedule for the cow, the farmer and the processor. Since the recent drop in the price of condensed milk, many budget-minded housewives will have it frequent the market list more often.

It is the basis for several very delicious desserts. A can of it chilled whipped with a little lemon juice and the addition of fruit gelatin just as it begins to set makes one of the most popular of these desserts.

Cheese Soufflé
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup cheese (1/2 pound), cut in pieces

Few grains cayenne
2 egg yolks
3 egg whites.
Make a sauce of the butter, flour, milk and seasonings by melting the butter in a saucepan or the top of a double boiler, stir in the flour. Remove from direct heat and pour in the milk. Stir slowly but steadily over direct heat until the sauce boils, then add seasoning. Next, stir in the cheese, and heat until it is melted. Remove from stove; stir in the unbeaten egg yolks; fold into the stiffly beaten whites.

Four the mixture into a buttered baking dish; bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 or 45 minutes until the center is firm to the touch, when pressed lightly with the forefinger. Serve immediately. The soufflé can be baked in two dishes, one being placed in the oven 10 minutes after the other and used for the second serving.

Political Assassination Indicated In Death Of Jap Railway Tycoon

TOKYO, July 7. — Doctors' reports indicated today the death of Japan's national railway tycoon, president was the first political assassination of Gen. MacArthur's occupation.

Informed Allied and Japanese sources said medical investigation indicated Sadamori Shimoyama was dead before he was hit by a train July 5 after ordering wholesale firings of railway workers.

The doctors' findings were disclosed as the Japanese cabinet was considering declaring a state of national emergency because of an upsurge in labor violence.

One Japanese source said a medical analysis disclosed bruises and internal bleeding which could not have resulted had the railway official been alive when his body was mangled under the train on Tokyo's outskirts.

A high Allied headquarters official said the Japanese government was "in general agreement that Shimoyama was murdered." Japanese officials have told headquarters they regard the rail chief's death as one of the most important incidents of the occupation.

Japanese police have set up a special section to pursue the investigation which has failed to turn up any suspects.

Shimoyama had just given discharge notices to 20,000 of 90,000 rail workers to be laid off under MacArthur's new economy program for the Japanese government.

The economy was ordered to reduce governmental expenses and ease the occupation cost for the American taxpayer.

After consultation with Mrs. Emma Marcus, the colonel's widow, the eight students have decided to give royalties from the book to the Colonel Marcus Scholarship Fund for the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Marcus attended a New York High School, went to West Point and was New York City commissioner of prisons before going to Palestine as an officer in the Israeli Army.

Detroit Opens Drive Against Red Employes

DETROIT, July 7. — The city of Detroit today set about getting rid of any Communists among its 20,000 municipal employes.

For an investigation, Mayor Eugene I. Van Antwerp named a three-man loyalty board headed by Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy.

The board was ordered to make a report next Monday.

A non-Communist oath also may be required of all city employes. Among its supporters is the superintendent of schools, Arthur Dondineau.

Dondineau said he suspected "four or five teachers" of being Communists.

Mayor Van Antwerp preceded his appointment of the loyalty board by ordering the firing of George Shenkar, 25, "junior" engineer in the water department.

The mayor said Shenkar refused to state whether he is or ever has been a Communist. In turn, Shenkar charged "illegal political persecution" and indicated he would fight to keep his job through civil service.

Also named to the mayor's loyalty board were City Atty. Raymond J. Kelly, former national commander of the American Legion, and Chester A. Cahn, a civil service commissioner.

Air-Conditioned Bed Latest Thing

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 7. — If you can't sleep these hot nights, how about an air-conditioned bed?

There is one on display at the current Grand Rapids furniture market.

Shown by Walter B. Stiles, Inc., the bed is low-slung and set on casters. The mattress is made of foam rubber with holes at intervals.

Through these holes circulates air from a conditioning unit underneath. The bed can be just as comfortable in winter as in summer because the conditioner is set for either warm or cool air.

Double Seven Day Is Celebrated

SHANGHAI, July 7. — Double Seven Day—anniversary of the beginning of the Sino-Japanese war 12 years ago—was celebrated today by 100,000 parading Chinese in Shanghai.

They marched under leaden skies that balked any attempt to bomb them by Nationalist planes from Formosa.

Today's demonstration — one of the largest in recent Shanghai history—hailed the "liberation" of Shanghai and the Yangtze valley by the Communists.

Massed formations of workers moved noisily down the streets and over the Bund clanging cymbals and waving red banners. The traditional dance with the long twisting paper dragon stopped traffic on the Bund.

Killings In Siam

BANGKOK — The bamboo drum in the village of Tangow sounded the chief's alarm: beware of bandits in the district. Nai Roon and Nai Rau, two residents, hastened to report to the village chief as called for by regulations.

Police arrived and arrested the two young men. Then they took them out and shot them to death without trial. Nai Phan Nantow, the two youths' father, is complaining to his representative in parliament.

Virginia, Maryland Warrants Are Issued In Fatal Shooting

ACCOMAC, Va., July 7. — Virginia and Maryland both have issued murder warrants against a Virginia fisheries commission deputy, David Acree. But only Virginia was expected to serve its warrant on Acree some time today at his home at Exmore, Va.

Virginia and Maryland authorities don't agree on whether it was in Virginia or Maryland waters that a Maryland crabber, Earl Nelson, was fatally shot Tuesday morning. Nelson, a former Crisfield, Md., police chief, was 50 and the father of seven.

The 36-year-old Virginia deputy, who is charged with the shooting, normally operates a crop dusting airplane. He was deputized the day of the shooting to help out in enforcement of Virginia's fishing laws.

Acree and his superiors say that Acree attempted to arrest Nelson for alleged violation of Virginia fishing laws in Virginia waters, about two miles below the state line. They hold that the shooting was accidental and occurred when Nelson grabbed several times for Acree's rifle.

Maryland authorities say they are convinced the shooting took place in Maryland waters.

The Virginia warrant was obtained by Commonwealth's Atty. E. Almer Ames, Jr., of Accomack County, who said he acted on his own, based on his own investigation, and without any Maryland request. This warrant was turned over to Sheriff George Turner of Northampton County by Sheriff George C. Hope of Accomack County last night. Acree's home is in Exmore in Northampton County.

Maryland officials yesterday accompanied Hope to Northampton county, but Virginia authorities have steadfastly maintained they will not surrender Acree to Maryland unless it is established the shooting took place in Maryland waters.

Virginia's Gov. William M. Tucker said last night that so far as he knew no request had been made by Maryland for extradition of Acree but that he would consider such a request if and when it is made.

Tucker said he had confidence in the investigation being made by state and local authorities. He said if investigation showed the shooting took place in Virginia, then proceedings would be held in Accomack County.

Pirate Or Not, Capt. Kidd Captures The Imagination

By DAVID A. STRIN
AP Writer
NEW YORK, July 7.—Was Captain Kidd a pirate—or wasn't he? Did he bury millions in looted treasure—or nothing? Historians still seek the answers. But the balladeers who made Captain Kidd the most famous pirate in American history had no doubts. They made his life story a scenario for a full color extravaganza in crimson and gold tones. It has everything, including a news peg based on Captain Kidd's arrest in Boston just 250 years ago—July 6, 1699. "The Famous Pirate's Lament," written when Kidd was hanged for murder and piracy, was one of many songs which celebrated his deeds. The words dripped with blood and roared with cannon thunder. Wandering troubadours popularized them throughout the colonies. The lines "I murdered William Moore, and laid him in his gore" became as famous as the later Jesse James ballad of "The Dirty Little Coward Who Murdered Mr. Howard."

into sailor's logs, letters and musty documents wonder whether the fabulous swashbuckler ever swung a vicious cutlass or made anyone walk the plank. Many say he was the victim of a political frame-up and never crossed the narrow dividing line between a privateer and a pirate. William Kidd was born in Scotland about 1645, and is believed to have been the son of a Calvinist minister. Well-educated, he prospered as an honest seaman. Eventually he came to New York, in command of an English privateer. His marriage license was issued to "William Kidd, gentleman," and he lived in a good house and raised a family. Captain Kidd might have led an uneventful life, had he not met the crafty Lord Bellomont in 1695. The ambitious governor of Massachusetts and New York, Bellomont needed an honest, able sea captain to head a privateering expedition. Kidd, it appears, didn't want the job. The governor, however, could refuse clearance papers to Kidd's trading vessels. He held the access and won. A company which included King William III and a number of English aristocrats in high government posts bought a ship and equipment. Letters of marque were issued to Captain Kidd, legalizing his seizure of French ships and cargoes. (England and France were at war.) Captain and crew were to work on a "no plunder—no pay" basis. Bellomont and his fellow shareholders hoped to gain huge profits from captured loot. What followed after Captain Kidd set sail aboard the "Adventure Galley" has been a matter of debate for two centuries. Some say the only ships he plundered had French passes. Others say he turned pirate and fraternized with the freebooters he was supposed to capture. Kidd himself says his practical crew mutinied against him and deserted the ship.

Among the mutineers was William Moore, his chief gunner. The trial record reports a fight in which Kidd called Moore "a lousy dog." The gunner answered "If I am a lousy dog, you have made me so." The irate Captain Kidd picked up an iron-bound bucket, struck him violently on the head, and killed him. Ugly rumors began to reach England. Captain Kidd was pictured as a villain and blackguard, raising havoc with honest merchantmen in the Indian Ocean. Off the Malabar Coast, Captain Kidd and his men had captured a rich prize, the "Quedah Merchant." He brought the ship, loaded with goods, gold and jewels, to the West Indies. There he learned for the first time that he and his men had been proclaimed pirates. Leaving his prize at Hispaniola, Captain Kidd sailed for New England aboard the sloop Antonio. He obviously hoped for a pardon. But the breath of scandal was hot on Lord Bellomont's neck. Kidd was arrested in Boston, sent to England, and hanged after a dramatic trial at Old Bailey. To this day the search for Captain Kidd's "Hidden Treasure" has continued. Pirates had no banks. They had to cache their plunder in caves or in the ground. Sometimes they themselves forgot where they stored their loot. The next few years are expected to witness the greatest treasure hunts in history. New scientific apparatus will be brought to play in an effort to solve ancient riddles. Those who seek Captain Kidd's gold must not only find the hiding places, but must overcome superstitions as well. Legend has it, for example, that a big dog, Asiel, guards Captain Kidd's treasure (if there is any) on Oak Island, Nova Scotia. Superstitious folk say Asiel is a demon who guards the treasure for Satan. Repeated attempts to reach Kidd's cache have failed. At his trial, Captain Kidd admitted he had buried some coins at Gardner's Island, off the north shore of East Hampton, Long Island. This treasure was recovered and the spot is designated by a small marble marker. Edgar Allan Poe is believed to have dug for loot on Gardner's Island on two occasions. His mystery tale, "The Gold Bug," is based on these treasure hunts. Poe is supposed to have decoded the first seven digits of a number reportedly left by Captain Kidd. The number is 4410818, according to one authority. The Gardner family, which has owned the island since 1638, has vetoed all further search for Kidd's treasure—with or without the magic number. A hoax that has had wide circulation since 1894 has led to many treasure hunts along the coast of Maine. This story claims that the Astor fortune was founded on the discovery of buried gold deposited by Captain Kidd on Deer Isle, at Penobscot Bay. No matter how often the report is denied, there are still plenty of people who refuse to believe it's false. Chances are the search for Captain Kidd's treasure will continue for many years, if not for centuries to come.

SHOVEL and HOE

A Garden Column by Virginia Scott. Presented by the Big Spring Garden Club.
By VIRGINIA SCOTT
A reader from North Carolina wants to know the difference between a garden and an outdoor living room. That is a broad question as the terms are used interchangeably. The word "garden" is all-inclusive and could apply to any type from a row of carrots to the furnished terrace or largest ornamental planting. The outdoor living room is a garden adapted to outdoor living. Usually, it is related closely to the house, is always enclosed and should be equipped with features suited to family needs, from baby's sand box to grandmother's chair.

VACATIONING AT HOME
While we are on the subject, we may as well discuss the outdoor room more fully. Everybody can't leave home for the summer but a surprising amount of rest and relaxation may be found at home, right in one's own garden. Many of us have flower gardens that we care for, look at and take pride in, but do we actually make the most of them by furnishing them for living and general use? If the family likes to entertain, or picnic together, the garden room should be equipped for such. If you just like to sit and knit, plenty of shade will be your special blessing. One of summer's greatest joys

Rewards Offered For Conviction of Thornton Killer

AMARILLO, July 7. — Rewards amounting to more than $4,000 have been offered for information leading to conviction of the killer or killers of W. A. (Tex) Thornton. The noted oil well fire fighter was found dead on a blood-soaked bed in a tourist court here June 23. His skull had been fractured in two places and a sheet and towel were knotted around his throat. A young man and woman who came to the tourist court with Thornton the night of June 22 are sought by police. The couple left later that night in Thornton's car, hours before his body was found. Thornton's diamond ring and money were missing. The Amarillo News-Globe offered a reward of $1,000. Individuals built it to $3,845. The Amarillo Times has also offered a $1,000 reward.

is water in the garden. A pool adds the cooling touch so much needed at this time, and if you can add a waterfall or fountain, you are fortunate indeed. It is not too late to construct such accessories on a small scale. The simplicity or elaborateness of the outdoor room depends upon the amount you wish to spend. Most of us take what we can and improve as we go along. A feature added, from time to time, soon will make a livable garden. Often, an outdoor room can be connected to the house merely through changing a door, adding a terrace, or converting a seldom-used back or side porch into a glazed or screened passage. One of our own gardens was brought into view from the house by making a glass passage of a dark lattice porch that ran the length of the house. THIS AND THAT All things considered, July is an up-and-coming month. Bright annuals are nodding their heads and doing a fine job of covering up for the vanished perennials. Many shrubs are in bloom, birds are still with us demanding their bath and drinking water. Keep soil cool about plants not mulched. Holly and Rottonepsa enjoy an oak leaf mulch applied after trees have been worked and watered. Trim hedges, look for bagworms and spray for red spider. When laundering rayon shirt-skin it is not necessary to use starch.

1949 Could Be Worst Year Yet For Polio

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK, July 7.—The polio virus is striking farther and faster so far this year than last.

By the third week of June, 37 states had more cases than a year ago. The number of new cases each week was running about 10 per cent higher over the nation.

This could signal the worst year yet for polio. Last year was the second worst in the country's history, with 27,894 new cases.

But there's no way to predict what will happen in the next few months, the most dangerous ones for epidemics. The rate might keep going faster and higher, or change suddenly.

The Public Health Service reported 2,309 cases by June 19, or 26 per cent more than last year at that time. But more than 900 of this year's cases were really hangers-over from 1948. They came from epidemics that began late last year, and which didn't die down until early this year.

One danger signal is that the virus is so widespread this year, said Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

That means it may be spread easily to people who haven't been exposed to it in the last few years. The best medical guess is that it spreads by person to person contact.

An encouraging fact is that no statewide epidemics had appeared yet, such as swept North Carolina in 1948.

The picture in late June, Dr. Van Riper said, pointed to two potential danger areas.

One is a circle of southern states—Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The rate this year is higher in all of them, and all-but-Texas-escaped serious outbreaks last year.

Texas was one of the hard-hit states in 1948, with the epidemic centering along the Rio Grande Valley. This year, most of the Texas cases so far are in Tom Green County and other areas some 200 miles to the northwest.

Texas had 535 cases by the third week in June, compared with 501 at that time last year. Louisiana had 44, against 29; Mississippi 56 against nine; Arkansas 55 against 13, and Oklahoma 99 against 14.

The second potential danger area is the northeastern states, including New England. The rate is up in all those states except New York and New Hampshire.

The states in this region are densely populated, and haven't had epidemics recently. New England has escaped really severe outbreaks since 1935. If an epidemic started in the northeast, it might travel quickly and easily because of the crowded population.

There was no sign yet of any epidemic in this region, Dr. Van Riper said. Massachusetts and Maine had localized outbreaks, but they hadn't spread outward to other areas.

Massachusetts had 28 cases by June 19, compared with three a year before; Maine 10 against zero; Connecticut seven against one, and New Hampshire zero, the same as last year.

New Hampshire was the only state in the union without a single case of polio at this date. Virginia was even with last year, with 15. The states reporting fewer cases than last year were Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

March To Award Tuition Prize

PARIS, July 7.—Caso March says he will give a year's tuition at any college in Texas to the high school student who writes the best 50-word statement "why Caso March should be elected governor."

The candidate passed through here yesterday en route to Texarkana from Sherman and Denison. From Texarkana, he will swing through East Texas to the Rio Grande Valley.

March said he will award his tuition prize in the spring of 1950.

Australia Has More Men Than Women

CANBERRA.—(U.S.)—Girls, there are more men in Australia than women. The difference is about 25,000.

Last December 31 there were 7,794,890 people in Australia. They comprised 3,910,051 males, 3,884,839 females.

This was an increase of 156,252 in a year. The natural increase, excess of births over deaths, was 101,137. Net migration—arrivals over departures—added 55,115.

Swindlers Pose As Policemen

BANGKOK.—(U.S.)—Two men went to Thonburi to buy a motor boat. They didn't buy the boat, but instead lost $1,500 to five men who posed as police.

Nai Yuang Sisek and a nephew, Nai Toi Sisek, found themselves in the hands of the quintet of swindlers who said they were looking for plotters against the government. The bogus officers took Yuang Toi on a ferry boat ride to a distant landing and there made off with the money.

HOLIDAY FIRE SWEEPS RESORT — Flame and smoke rise from several cottages and automobiles which burned July 4th at Severe Beach, Boston shore resort, as nearly a million people sought relief from the 100-degree heat. Police estimated 350,000 persons and thousands of autos clogging roads to the scene as fire apparatus from Boston and surrounding communities responded to the general alarm. (AP Wirephoto).

Daily Newspaper's Relation To Communist Party Investigated

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The relation of the newspaper, the Daily Worker, to the Communist Party got top attention at the Communist conspiracy trial yesterday.

Government prosecutors drew from a defendant, Gilbert Green, an admission that the paper "could not exist" without the party. However, Green denied the paper is the party's official organ.

Green, the party's Illinois chairman, also testified that he "may have" once proposed civil war as a means of aiding Russia against an enemy.

Asked if he had once said in a debate with a Socialist youth leader that "we will defend the Soviet Union" against attackers "by turning the imperialist war into a civil war," Green said:

"I may have said that—it was in 1936."

Green is one of 11 top Red leaders on trial on charges of conspiracy since 1945 to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

In an innuendo-packed courtroom exchange on the status of the Daily Worker, published in New York City, Green conceded the

Ford, UAW In Wage Talks

DETROIT, July 7. (AP)—Ford and the CIO United Auto Workers stuck to it at the bargaining table today.

There was no comment from either side in the post-holiday resumption of negotiations on the union's wage and pension demands.

After exploratory talks yesterday, Chrysler negotiations were adjourned until July 20.

The two-week period was arranged both to give Chrysler time for study and, to avoid conflict with next week's national convention of the UAW in Milwaukee.

The union makes the same demands of Chrysler that it does of Ford. Both companies are resisting the demands.

Whether Ford talks will continue through next week was not announced. The Ford contract expires July 15. It will be extended on a day-to-day basis, however.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR GRADS

Agriculture Is Promising Field

By ALBERT S. GOSS

Master, National Grange

The graduation class of 1949 does not differ greatly from those of other years. After receiving their diplomas, vocational guidance is the main concern of thousands of young men and women who have finished their four-year course in high school or college.

When these young people make their plans for the future, I hope that many of them will turn toward the field of agriculture. More than at any time in our history as a nation, the lifeline of the world's agriculture—offers its share of opportunities to well-trained, well-informed men and women.

But success in farming or its related fields is still no easy road to follow. Although modern machines and a higher standard of living on farms have reached a peak in many areas, diligent effort and hard work are still prime requisites.

Many of the graduates of our high schools and colleges this year have had considerable training in the field of agriculture. In the rural high schools, vocational agriculture has been a tremendous aid in training young men and women for farm life. Later on, in agriculture colleges and universities, some of these same persons have taken advanced courses.

Because of the growing popularity of such courses, there is an increased demand in both high schools and places of higher learning for qualified instructors. This field offers many opportunities for both men and women who wish to aid in the task of training our future farmers and homemakers.

The field of agriculture, however, is not limited to those men and women who have had their training in rural institutions. In cities all over America, courses are being taught which are strongly related to this field—especially in research. As an example the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Laboratory at Beltsville, Md., has employed both rural and urban trained workers on its staff. This is just one of the many such places throughout the country where there is a growing demand for trained personnel.

Like the field of research, economics is playing an even more important role in the field of agriculture today. No longer is the farm considered a remote segment of our economic structure, but the very basis of that structure. With the important task of feeding the world resting on our shoulders, farming has become big business. There is a real challenge to any young graduate who wants to put the theories of the classroom into actual practice.

For those who do not care to follow the suggestions mentioned above, there is the field of business administration. Large farms and small farms alike are as much a business as any other type of business. Making a success of the "farm" business takes as much careful planning as running a drug store but, unlike the drug store, the successful farmer must cope with the weather, fluctuating market conditions and a host of other things. The work of the business-man-farmer, therefore, is aided greatly by researchers and economists but no one of these trained persons should feel that he is doing the more important task. All are important, all have an equal service to give to agriculture.

paper's masthead once carried the designation of "central organ" of the party.

Commented Federal Judge Harold H. Medina:

"YOU HAVE the funniest way of reasoning things out that I have ever heard."

U. S. Atty. John F. X. McGohey asked Green who owned the paper.

"I believe the Freedom of the Press, Inc.," Green answered.

Q. "Who is its president?"

A. "Mr. Davis."

Q. "Benjamin J. Davis, one of the defendants and a member of the Communist Party's National Board?"

A. "Yes, and a city councilman."

Q. "Who is its editor?"

A. "Mr. Gates."

Q. "John Gates, one of the defendants and a member of the Party's National Board?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Isn't it a fact that all staff members of 'The Worker' are members of the Communist Party?"

A. "I don't know."

A. "Where is the editorial office of 'The Worker'?"

A. "35 East 12th St., on the eighth floor."

Q. "Where is national headquarters of the party?"

A. "35 East 12th St., on the ninth floor."

Q. "Where is state headquarters of the party?"

A. "35 East 12th St., on the fifth floor."

Green said the "Communist Party does officially support the Daily Worker which is the only daily newspaper which conveys the Communist point of view."

"Without the backing of the party the Daily Worker could not exist."

He said official statements of the party were carried in the Worker because others newspapers "will not print the statements in full."
