

UN Artillery Is Taking Toll As First Snow Falls

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD SEUL, U.S.—The biggest guns in the U.N.'s Korean arsenal hammered Red positions on the Central Front today and jubilant artillerymen claimed they were winning the bloody battle of the hills.

Allied officers said about half of the 200 Chinese field pieces around Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge have been destroyed or damaged. The Kumhwa valley shuddered under the impact of the all-out Allied barrage.

As the big guns roared, the first snowfall of the winter sifted down from leaden skies. Infantrymen of both sides huddled in bunkers and foxholes, leaving them only for scattered patrol clashes across the dismal 155-mile front.

Chinese Reds threw two feeble attacks at Sniper Ridge in the pre-dawn darkness. Allied artillery and mortar fire chopped them to bits. The U.N. High Command turned over the Central Front battle to the artillerymen Wednesday night.

AP Correspondent John Randolph at the front said Allied artillerymen figure it will take them about 10 days to destroy the Red guns "if they stay there and shoot it out with us."

The continual barrage already was showing its effect. Tuesday about 23,000 rounds of Chinese fire hit the Allied lines. Wednesday only 11,000 rounds were counted. Thursday it dropped to 4,000. Friday was quieter still.

Randolph said the big guns can't do the job alone. Some Chinese field pieces are protected by log and earth parapets up to 23 feet thick. Others are hidden in tunnels and caves.

The artillery hopes to get most of them. Air Force attacks with searing napalm and big bombs may take care of the rest. The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds launched several "hit and run" attacks along the front Friday. It said they probably were harassing attacks only, with no intent to capture Allied ground.

All were beaten back. The season's first snow brought a bitter taste of the miserable months ahead. Last night B26 invader bombers ran over Red lines in their continuing attacks on Communist transport. Pilots reported 120 Red trucks destroyed.

Two Baylor Students Are Arrested After A Series Of Fires

Texas GOP Primary Assured; Vote Total Is Over 2 Million

By The Associated Press Texas' unprecedented general election turnout boomed on far past the two-million vote mark Friday but Senator Lyndon Johnson told REA men that the Republicans would not scuttle rural electrification.

Senator-Elect Price Daniel was to speak to the electric co-op men today. DALLAS, Nov. 7 (U.S.)—Returns to the Texas Election Bureau at 12 noon from 254 counties, including 191 complete, show the following totals for candidates in Tuesday's general election:

Democratic: President—Stevenson 954,009 Senator—Daniel 1,064,926 Governor—Shivers 1,114,945. Republican: President—Eisenhower 1,076,964 Senator—Daniel 369,141 Governor—Shivers 390,503. Prohibition: Hamblen 2,128. Progressive: Hallinan 315. Christian Nationalist: MacArthur-Kelmes 545. Constitutional: MacArthur-Tenney 557. Amendments: Workmen's Insurance-Approval, 567,988; Against 354,150. Medical Education Funds—Approval 453,783; Against 452,271.

The vote for Gov. Allan Shivers and Senator-Elect Daniel in the GOP of a primary in the next election in Texas. By state law, any political party polling more than 250,000 votes in a general election must nominate its candidates in the next election by primary instead of convention. Senator Johnson told 400 representatives of 77 Texas electrical co-operatives Thursday in San Antonio that they had little to fear from a Republican administration.

Said the Senator: "There may be some misapprehension as to the future of rural electrification. There may be some understandable fears based upon the written records of some members of the party that will soon take office. "I want to say that I do not share those fears and those misapprehensions. That which the American people have built themselves, they will not tear down."

"There have been attempts by some bureaucrats to exercise arbitrary control over the life of the co-operatives. There have been attempts by selfish private interests to destroy the co-operative. I intend to go on fighting for the right of the farmer to handle his own affairs."

Johnson, who backed Adlai Stevenson for President, praised Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as a "great American who will do his death-level best to serve our country."

In an interview after his speech, Johnson was asked what Senator-elect Daniel's backing of Eisenhower would do to the unity of the Texas congressional delegation. Johnson answered, "I've never seen anything affecting our state that we didn't get together on."

The senator would not answer for publication a question on who would introduce in the Senate the bill for return of Texas tidelands to state ownership but said he would continue to vote for their return.

Rep. J. Frank Wilson, Dallas Democratic congressman who took no active part in the party's campaign in Texas this year, said he found the Eisenhower victory "refreshing."

"The Republican Party did not win the election," Wilson said, "a great man won."

The Dallas Congressman, who often votes with the Republican Party, added: "It restores my confidence in the future to see a nation raise up in righteous wrath and tear apart the socialistic welfare state administered by people who have been kicking Texas in the teeth."

Texas Democrats who supported the losing party in the general election remained silent but honors continued for the winning bolters. A group of Dallas citizens wired Shivers and Daniel yesterday an invitation to be guests of honor at a Dallas banquet some time this month.

Republican Fight Looms Over Choice Of A Floor Leader In New Senate

Ike Keeps 442 Electoral Votes In Late Report

By The Associated Press This was the election picture at 11 a. m. Friday, with nearly all returns tabulated: Eisenhower elected President by an electoral vote of 442 to 89 for Stevenson. Eisenhower carried 39 states; Stevenson 9.

Eisenhower's popular vote, the greatest ever achieved, stood at 32,995,608 with 142,182 of the nation's 146,370 voting units counted. Stevenson received 26,549,961 votes. Total vote of 59,545,569 is a record high.

Eisenhower won all states but these: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia. Kentucky still in doubt pending an official canvass. Stevenson led in Kentucky by 1,047 votes.

Senate: 35 races — Democrats elected 12; holdovers 35; total 47. Republicans elected 23; holdovers 25; total 48. Independents 1 (hold-over). Republicans gained 6 seats (Arizona, Connecticut, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Wyoming); Democrats gained 4 (Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Washington).

House: 435 races — Democrats elected 209; Republicans 220; Independents 1; undecided 5. Democrats lead in 4 undecided races, Republicans in 1. Needed to control: 218.

Governors: 30 races — Democrats elected 9; Republicans 20 (gain of 5). Democrats lead in one undecided race (Michigan). Total GOP gain: 5.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.S.)—President Truman today asked President-elect Eisenhower to send representatives to the Defense and State Departments and Budget Bureau "at the earliest possible moment."

In a telegram to Eisenhower, the President also confirmed Nov. 17 as the date for a White House meeting with his Republican successor to arrange an orderly transfer of executive authority.

The White House disclosed that Truman sent a personal messenger yesterday to Eisenhower, who is resting at Augusta, Ga.

WASHINGTON, Ill., Nov. 7 (U.S.)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson plans a meeting tomorrow with two of the Democratic Party's top leaders for a discussion of the party's future plans and leadership.

Stevenson, an aide said last night, will meet with Stephen Mitchell, Democratic National Committee chairman, and Wilson Wyatt, the defeated presidential nominee's campaign manager.

JACKPOT HIT ON TELEPHONE

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Nov. 7 (U.S.)—Coin-operated telephones played like slot machines yesterday. During a breakdown at the telephone office, service in one area was cut off for an hour. Callers would put a coin into the phone to make a call and would not get their money back.

But when the operation was corrected — bang — all the money that had been deposited in all the boxes came tumbling back out. "People are pretty honest," commented Manager F. H. Elder of the telephone company. "Most of them called us and then redeposited the coins."

AMARILLO, Nov. 7 (Staff Correspondent)—The head of one of the new corporations which replaced the Pinkie's Liquor Stores corporate structure told state probate here today he had sold frequently and knowingly to bootleggers for resale.

Paul Harper, Odessa, president of Herco Corp., one of the new organizations set up as owner of the dissolved units of Pinkie's, formerly headed by Tom Roden of Big Spring and Odessa, testified under a special rule which offered immunity for truthful answers.

Previously he had refused to answer questions put by the state House's Investigating Committee probing Potter County grand jury allegations of a multi-million dollar bootleg syndicate operation in West Texas, on grounds it might tend to incriminate him.

He then was put under the new rule which offered immunity for truthful answers and a penalty up to $1,000 fine and a year in jail for refusal to answer.

"Have you ever sold knowingly to bootleggers for resale?" Rep. Waggoner Carr, Lubbock, committee chairman, asked. "Yes, Sir."

"How often did you make such sales?" "Numerous times."

Harper, who had managed the Pinkie's Farm Store north of Odessa before assuming his new position, then testified that vehicles drove behind a concrete wall behind the store to load up. Asked if the store had a two-way radio system for warning, he replied "yes."

He also confirmed that the store left a light burning when the coast was clear and turned it off to warn if anyone was watching the store. The store also used a car to patrol the highway to see if anyone was watching for several miles around, he continued.

Carr asked if he was ever sold on commission to a bootlegger. Harper said he never had, but he had sold on credit to bootleggers. Then Carr wanted to know if the series of new corporations, set up following a precursory inquiry by the committee in Austin, were bogus. Harper replied he didn't know, adding that "All I know is I bought my shares. He said he paid $500 for them. He was the only one of the officials of the new corporations, appearing before the committee so far, who seemed to know whether or not they actually had bought their shares."

Nixon Hints Ike To Take A Hand

By JACK BELL, Associated Press Staff Congressional Republicans bickered over the spoils of the Eisenhower landslide victory today as the President-elect prepared to send his first invasion wave into Washington.

Senate GOP members found themselves embroiled in a possibly bitter fight over their party floor leadership. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire spread the word he would rather be temporary president of that body—and third in the line of succession for the pres-—than keep the job he now holds. Bridges also could be chairman of Appropriations or Armed Services Committees in a Republican-controlled Senate. Senators Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, William Knowland of California, Homer Caphart of Indiana, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Everett Dirksen of Illinois were projected by speculation into the scramble.

Although Saltonstall was the only early and enthusiastic Eisenhower backer in this group, it seemed likely that Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—still commander of the Republican policy makers—would have a great deal to say about the choice of the floor manager.

Taft also indicated in Cincinnati he may take a seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in preparation for active participation in foreign policy decisions. The Ohio senator lost the nomination to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but his campaign support of the GOP nominee assures him a major voice in Senate affairs.

Caphart and Dirksen were original Taft supporters. Hickenlooper and Ferguson were neutrals until after the nominating convention. Knowland supported Gov. Earl Warren of California but worked for Eisenhower after the nomination.

Sen. Richard Nixon, who said yesterday he will resign before the new Congress meets to give an appointee of Warren a break on seniority, hinted that Eisenhower will interest himself personally in selection of the floor leader. Nixon will take over as vice president Jan. 20.

Nixon's hint was interpreted as a sign that Eisenhower might back Knowland. There were no advance indications of a "squabble for power" among House Republicans. Rep. Joseph Martin Jr., Massachusetts, is not likely to be opposed for Speaker of the House, a post he held during the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

Rep. Charles Halleck, Indiana, floor leader when Republicans last were in power in 1947-48, is expected to take the job again. In most cases, the men to whom chairmanship of the key House committee will fall have been outspoken critics of the Truman administration. And the men who will lead the key financial committees will have backed legislation to reduce taxes, restrict controls and cut spending.

Rep. John Tabler, New York, will take over as chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee; Rep. Jesse Wolcott, Michigan, of the Banking Committee, and Rep. Dan Reed, New York, of the Ways and Means Committee.

In foreign affairs, the committee chairmen will be men who are strong critics of all-out foreign power at the polls transcended party lines. Non-partisan organizations such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the DAR and even the Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls threw the weight of their membership of millions into the drive to awaken the responsibilities of citizenship.

Among the women of widely different political background who took part in the campaign were such divergent personalities as Mrs. Wendell Willkie, widow of the Republican standard bearer of 1940; Oveta Culp Hobby, wartime head of the WAC; Mrs. Florence LaGuardia, widow of New York's long-time mayor; Mrs. Robert Patterson, widow of the former secretary of war; Sara Delano Roosevelt, young granddaughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Another woman whose power was felt in the campaign—in a different way—was quiet, smiling Mamie Eisenhower, who knew how to exchange homey woman-talk with feminine constituents across the country. She made no campaign speeches but won the hearts of many of her countrywomen simply by being at her husband's side, as a good wife should.

98 PER CENT CAST VOTES

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Nov. 7 (U.S.)—A campaign drive sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to get 100 per cent of the Bartlesville area voters to cast ballots in last Tuesday's election nearly hit the jackpot. John Tyler, chairman of the committee directing the drive, said tabulations revealed 98 per cent of all eligible voters in Bartlesville, Limestone and Tuxedo cast ballots.

TO MIX BUSINESS, PLEASURE

Affairs Of State Crowding Ike's Vacation In Georgia

By RELMAN MORIN AUGUSTA, Ga. (U.S.)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ploughed into a mountain of mail today, and began drafting his plans for the "conversations and conferences" that he said must precede his meeting with President Truman.

He also planned another round of golf this afternoon — a more serious round than he played yesterday. The new President-elect came to Augusta for a rest, settling into a secluded white cottage about 200 yards from the first tee of the National Golf Club course. But the affairs of state are crowding in on him more rapidly than he expected. An aide said he will go back to work immediately, even though this is only his second full day of vacationing.

In large part, this was made necessary by Truman's suggestion for a meeting "at your early convenience" to discuss the problems attendant on the transfer of government to a new President and a different party. Eisenhower messaged back agreement, and suggested the week of Nov. 17 as the date. He added: "I obviously require a reasonable time for conversations and conferences leading up to the designation of important assistants."

Consequently, it appeared that the white cottage on the golf course may soon see numerous persons coming and going. The general's intention seems to be to ask his confidantes to go to Washington for conferences "in several departments of the federal government." Eisenhower in his telegram to the President used the Army phrase "for indoctrination."

The men he selects for these talks may very well be the ones he has in mind for Cabinet assignments in the same department. So far, in his conversations, he has not pointed toward anyone. It is generally believed, however, that he will keep with him some members of the team that carried him first to the party's nomination, and then to victory in the election. The leaders of his shock troops were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts; Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas; Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska; Paul Hoffman, former director of the ECA; and Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Among his close associates were Gen. Lucius Clay, former military governor of the American zone in Germany, and John Foster Dulles, foreign policy adviser. His proposal for the week of Nov. 17 appeared to indicate that he is not planning to go to Korea much before the end of this month. He pledged himself to make the trip, while he was campaigning, and he confirmed in a message to the President that he will keep with him some members of the team that carried him first to the party's nomination, and then to victory in the election. The leaders of his shock troops were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts; Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas; Sen. Adlai Slates Meeting With Top Leaders

WASHINGTON, Ill., Nov. 7 (U.S.)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson plans a meeting tomorrow with two of the Democratic Party's top leaders for a discussion of the party's future plans and leadership.

Stevenson, an aide said last night, will meet with Stephen Mitchell, Democratic National Committee chairman, and Wilson Wyatt, the defeated presidential nominee's campaign manager.

Stevenson has been silent on his future political plans since his crushing defeat by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stevenson ends his first four-year term as governor of Illinois in two months. He is expected to disclose after a vacation, his personal plans after his term expires. There has been some speculation on whether he will relinquish his claims to titular head of the party.

Ladies Outdid Men In Voting Numbers

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Women's Editor Never underestimate a woman with a broom.

U. S. women, voting in the greatest numbers in history, held the balance of power in the recent election. For the first time, women outnumbered men on voting registers.

Old-time politicians, analyzing the results of one of the greatest election sweeps in generations, agreed on one point—keep an eye on the girls from now on.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower predicted on the eve of election that "morally indignant women" would sweep the Republican party to victory. Through television, they sat in at the political conventions last summer, chose up sides, rolled up their sleeves and went to work.

Kansas Congressional Winner

Howard S. Miller, 73-year-old Democratic lawyer-farmer, sits at his farm home desk in Morrill, Kansas, after winning election to Congress from Kansas' First District. Miller, the first Kansas Democrat elected to Congress since 1940, was the only member of the party's ticket to overcome the Republican surge in Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's old home state. He is an avowed opponent of the long-fought Tuttle Creek Dam project for which funds already have been appropriated by Congress. (AP Wirephoto).

UN Guns Winning Kumhwa Ridge Fight

By JOHN RANDOLPH
KUMHWA FRONT, Korea, Nov. 7 (U) — Allied artillerymen today said their guns are winning the battle of the Kumhwa ridges, now 25 days old.
Since the artillery took over the battle from the bloody, battered infantry Wednesday night, it has claimed the destruction of nearly 20 Communist field pieces and the damaging of about 70.
These were part of the 200 or so Red guns that threw the South Korean Army back in bitter defeat from Triangle Hill and held the South Korean attack on nearby Sniper Ridge to only a half-victory.
The last shattered remnants of South Korean assault troops pulled back off Triangle Wednesday afternoon in the face of enemy mortar and artillery fire.
Immediately, the Allied High Command gave the artillerymen practically carte blanche to use the guns and ammunition necessary.
Their mission was to destroy the mass of Red artillery that has been concentrated in the Kumhwa sector and has turned the fighting for the ridges into the bloodiest battle of position of the Korean War.
The Allied gunners laid down 42,800 rounds Tuesday, the heaviest barrage since the Allies forced Hurler Forest in the final World War II battles against the German Army.
Communist artillery and mortar fire dropped from 23,000 rounds Tuesday to 11,000 rounds Wednesday to 4,000 Thursday. However, American artillery commanders cautioned against too much optimism.

"With the ending of the infantry battle, the Reds have not had to use their guns like they did before," said Lt. Col. Rex Rawie, Quincy, Ill. "Also, the Communists know exactly what we are trying to do and they are keeping their heads down as much as possible."
Rawie estimated that at least a full Chinese Communist artillery division is opposing the Allies on the Kumhwa Front—plus the ordinary artillery of the Chinese infantry divisions on the line. The total probably reaches six artillery regiments. This means from 190 to 210 field pieces.

Area Farmers Urged To Answer WRDC Questions

Sam Allen of Lamesa, manager of the West Texas Weather Improvement District, spoke to area ranchers and farmers early yesterday afternoon over Station KBST in Big Spring.
Allen urged his listeners to make immediate use of questionnaires that have been mailed them in expressing their wishes as to whether or not the district's cloud seeding contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation should be continued. Allen explained both proposed one-year and five-year contracts.
He pointed out that several of the counties comprising the WRDC area have failed to meet their financial quotas under the contract which was negotiated with the WRDC earlier in the year and that it will be necessary to close down the district's office at Lamesa within a few weeks unless a new contract can be agreed upon and financial support for the project assured.

Delegates Are Selected For Legion Meeting

Delegates were elected to the 19th district convention by the American Legion Auxiliary No. 853 at its meeting Thursday evening. Named were Mrs. Bert Wall, Mrs. Harold Steck, Mrs. L. H. Steward. Alternates elected were Mrs. H. W. Wright, Mrs. Jack Pearson, and Mrs. Ruth Nichols. The convention is Nov. 22-23 in Plainview.

Also up for final planning at the meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. Bert Wall, was the Poppy Day sale on Saturday. Mrs. Frank Sabatto is chairman and Mrs. Steward is co-chairman. The newly organized Negro unit No. 994 is to assist in the sale of poppies. Proceeds from most of the sale go to the work by the auxiliary in the VA hospital here.

Guests at the meeting were officers of both the Legion and Auxiliary of Post No. 994. Included were Delina White, commander; Frank R. Odum, adjutant; Clinton Mouse, vice-commander; Odie Smith, second vice-commander; Zeplene Angella, member; Mrs. Margaret Johnson, auxiliary president; Mrs. Dorothy Mae Green, vice-president; Mrs. Pennie Lee Anderson, secretary; Mrs. Meomia Hudgens, assistant-secretary.

J. T. Adams Rites Are Held Here Today

Funeral services were conducted at the Eberley Chapel this morning for J. T. Adams, who died unexpectedly while plowing on his farm near Lomax at 9 a. m. Thursday. Leonard Leftwich, pastor of the Lomax Baptist Church, was in charge.
The body was to be shipped to Goldthwaite, where another service will be held at the Baptist Church there at 2 p. m. Saturday and where burial will take place. Adams was born June 19, 1907, in Hamilton County, Texas.
Survivors, in addition to his wife, include seven daughters, Mrs. L. W. Huntsman, Big Spring; Mrs. J. E. Teacher Is Elected At Board Meeting

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District eased through a light schedule of business Thursday evening, electing one teacher and attending to some routine matters.

Dewey Martin, who has been out of town for several months, was welcomed back by fellow board members.

The board's June policy statement on use of school buildings was clarified to include Cub pack meetings on the same basis as Courts of Honor. Brownies (youngest Girl Scouts) were allowed use of the Airport School for their meeting as was troop No. 7, the Boy Scout troop serving Latin-American boys at Kate Morrison

Pop Knows The Answer

DALLAS, Nov. 7 (U)—Drought-scarred Texas crunched today over this year in "Big D" front-page column in the Dallas Morning News by Paul Crume:

"The long drought is doing something. Mrs. Loyd M. Richey was awakened at 4 a. m. Wednesday by calls from her 11-year-old son, Loyd. She heard him mumble something about his window. Mrs. Richey roused her husband and sent him to check up.

"Water is running outside my window," complained Loyd Jr. sleepily.
"Oh, I've just lighted the bathroom heater. That's what you hear," replied the father and went back to bed.

"Roused a little later by calls of 'Mamma, Mamma,' Mrs. Richey went to the boy's bedroom. She came running excitedly back to her husband.
"There is water running outside his window," she exclaimed.
"Mr. Richey investigated and came back complaining.
"I'd have expected it of Loyd," he said, "but you're old enough that you ought to remember rain."

Two Are Decapitated

MANILA, Nov. 7 (U)—Head-hunters in wild Nueva Ecija province decapitated two Christians and offered the heads as trophies to a young woman, the Philippines News Service reported today. The agency said the victims were hunting game.

School, Gil Jones, district Boy Scout chairman, and Larson Lloyd, head of the local Girl Scout organization, together with James O. Hale and W. J. Sheppard, had asked the board for clarification of the policy.

Elected as a teacher was Mrs. Mary A. Christensen, junior high music instructor. The board provided $20 monthly car allowance to Mrs. Lucille B. Everett, an elementary school music instructor, and Mrs. Jennie McEvers, new member of the school nurse staff.

J. O. Hagood, tax collector-assessor, will be sent to the state meeting of tax collectors and assessors, the board announced. On petition of Earl A. Read, the board asked the board of equalization if it desired to reconvene to consider Read's request for valuation adjustment. He said the increase of value by $34,200 on 25 acres on W. 3rd Street and west of Bell Street was confiscatory. In asking the equalization board, the trustees did so without any recommendation, said Marvin Miller, president.

Other actions included a resolution of appreciation to the City of Big Spring police force for its increased patrol of school areas during school hours; receipt of a report from Fire Marshal F. W. Shivers Declares November 27 As Thanksgiving Day

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (U)—Gov. Shivers today declared Thursday, Nov. 27, Thanksgiving Day in Texas and said American people have "abundant reason to give thanks for the blessings that a Divine Providence has bestowed on this favored land."

"Thanksgiving is one of the most revered of our national and state holidays, and its observance is traditional among our people," the governor said in an official memorandum.

"For almost a century Thanksgiving has been a national holiday, set aside to express our humble gratitude for the bounty of the harvest and for the heritage of freedom that is ours."
The last Thursday in November has been declared the date of the Thanksgiving observance in Texas by the 52nd Legislature.

Man Killed In Oklahoma Naval Depot Explosion

MCALISTER, Okla., Nov. 7 (U)—One man was killed today in an explosion at the U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot eight miles south of here.

He was identified as L. J. Yancy, Red Oak, Okla. Yancy was loading a five-inch projectile when the explosion occurred. There is no indication of what caused the accident.

Thirty-seven other persons were working in the building but escaped with no worse injuries than cuts from flying glass.

All windows were blown out of the building and the roof was damaged. A small fire was extinguished quickly with little damage.

It was the second fatal accident at the depot since it was established in 1943. The other was Dec. 5, 1944, when 11 persons were killed in an explosion.

The depot, which covers the southwest quarter of Pittsburg County in the hill country of South-east Oklahoma, is the second largest in the U. S.

It employs about 3,500 civilians. The explosion occurred as many of the workers were reporting for duty.

Hallock, district engineer of the Corps of Engineers, said owners of land in the expansion area will be notified as soon as a final decision has been reached.

He said under present plans it is contemplated acquiring as first priority tracts in the vicinity of the Belton Reservoir project.

Diplomats Join Stalin To View Moscow Parade

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—One of the shortest military parades ever seen in Moscow marked the 35th anniversary celebration today of the Bolshevik Revolution. Prime Minister Stalin reviewed the parade from his usual place atop the big marble tomb of Lenin in Red Square.

Because of low clouds, there was no display of Soviet air power.

Before the parade started, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, commander of the White Russian Military District and one of the Soviet Union's military heroes in World War II, told the nation the armed forces have everything necessary to repel an invader.

He denounced "warmongers," saying they dream of a new world war while carrying on a barbarous war against the Korean people. He said Russia "can be confident that the Soviet armed forces are prepared to fulfill the task of defending the peaceful labor of the Soviet people."

Stalin who will be 73 Dec. 21, walked up about 40 steps to a leading, where he raised his right hand in greeting to foreign diplomats, including those of the U. S. and other Western powers, who were in reviewing stands. Then he walked up the remaining 30 or 40 steps to the usual reviewing place.

The military section of the parade included motorcyclists with submachine guns, armored cars and anti-aircraft weapons, motorized weapons, tanks, armed paratroopers, rocket firing trucks, motorized artillery including great open-mouthed cañon with 20 men assigned to each.

Dems Ahead In 4 Of 5 Undecided Races

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Democrats were ahead today in four of the five undecided contests for election to the U. S. House of Representatives. Final tallies in some of these states may not be made for weeks.

With 218 seats needed to control the House, the Republicans have elected 220 and the Democrats 209 while one independent has been chosen. One of the elected Democrats—Adolph Sabath, Illinois—

Texas Families Meet Children They Adopted

HOUSTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—An airliner landing here last night brought a plane load of happiness to two families from Beaumont and one from Port Arthur.

The last passengers off the plane were three babies ranging from 10 weeks to seven months. The babies had been sent to this country from Ireland for adoption by the three families.

Meeting the plane were the new foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlo J. Schumaker and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Budwine from Beaumont and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Leblanc, Port Arthur.

Schumaker (1510 Ave. F) is a poultry market operator, while Budwine (525 Church St.) is a motion picture operator. Leblanc (2325 7th Ave.) is a boilermaker.

None of the couples have children of their own. Catholic charities of Houston had approved their applications to the Irish orphanage operated by the Sean Ross Abbey.

Dr. Elizabeth Seager, who accompanied the babies—Shelia, Mary Monica and Michael—was tired when she got off the plane.

She seemed a little bewildered when she was hugged by the foster parents and besieged by questions.

Sailor Visits Brother At War Front

WITH U. S. 40TH DIVISION, Korea, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Starlight infantrymen on the Korean front asked: "What's a sailor doing up here?"

"I'm looking for my ship," was the stock answer.

Actually Octavio Garza, radarman from the carrier Bon Homme Richard, was looking for his brother, John, a corporal from Austin, Tex. They hadn't seen each other since Christmas, 1950.

They finally met.

"Neither of us could say anything; then we couldn't say enough," Octavio said.

The sailor donned Army combat garb, grabbed an M-1 rifle and saw some action while the 40th Division took three Red-held hills during his five-day stay.

After the first day, Octavio had to wear "one of those 100-pound Army helmets." That was after an officer yelled at him:

"Take off that white hat, sailor! You're a living target."

When Garza left to hitch-hike back to his ship, he said:

"Five days on the front really make a guy appreciate clean bedding, showers and hot meals."

Govt. Power Said Corruption Cause

FORT WORTH, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Concentration of power in government, not individuals, causes corruption, the Texas Manufacturers Assn. heard here yesterday.

Clarence Manion, South Bend, former dean of the Notre Dame school of law, told a luncheon session of the TMA's annual conference that if concentration of power in Washington is not dissolved, "this new administration will be as corrupt as the old one."

Twenty-five new directors were elected by the TMA board. Among the new directors are Paul W. Powers, Abilene; T. A. Rogers, Lubbock; A. S. Donnelly, Midland; Don R. Williams, Odessa; Harold Hinn, Plainview, and Ross M. Sams, Waco.

Arabs And Asians Seeking Solution To End Korea War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Asia and Arab delegates get together again today to try to consolidate a strong neutral stand in the U. N., hoping to find an end to the bitter deadlock over Korea.

The Arab-Asian group, until now comparatively inactive in the Korean question, have decided to join their forces in an effort to mediate in the dispute.

They have before them an Indonesian compromise proposal which envisages bringing together the American stand against forcible repatriation of prisoners and the Russian demand for an international commission to work out a peaceful settlement.

18 Persons Dead In European Storms

LONDON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Storms that raged from the North Sea to the Mediterranean claimed at least 18 lives in Europe today and left considerable property damage.

Winds of up to more than 90 miles an hour buffeted the British Isles, the English Channel, the Irish and North Seas.

AF Took 'Risk' In Carswell Disaster

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—The Air Force has labeled the tornado which wrecked Carswell Air Force Base in Texas Sept. 1, a "calculated risk" that must be taken.

But Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), releasing an Air Force report on the multi-million-dollar disaster, today called that explanation "inadequate," "unsatisfactory," "highly displeasing."

The Air Force position, as expressed by Maj. Gen. William F. McKee, assistant vice chief of staff:

A. Tornadoes are unpredictable.

Local Woman's Father Succumbs In Lamesa

J. M. Strawn, 84, father of Mrs. P. L. Bradford of Big Spring, died Thursday in Lamesa.

Funeral services were to be conducted at 3 p.m. today. Survivors include four other daughters; Mrs. Pool Johnson, Mrs. Jack Barrow, and Mrs. John Chidress, all of Lamesa, and Mrs. Olan Yandell of Fort Worth; and five grandchildren who live in Big Spring, Mrs. Henry Long, Mrs. Rayford Gillman, Mrs. Jimmy Felts, Mrs. Judson Lloyd, and Bobby Bradford.

Leaves For Georgia

Dr. Nathan T. Frolks, formerly on the staff of the local VA Hospital, left Thursday for Augusta, Ga., where he will be connected with a similar institution. His family will remain in Big Spring until a suitable home can be secured in Augusta.

"In a matter of seconds," out of a thunderstorm just as the storm reached the air base. At many other points within a 100-mile radius the wind did not exceed 20 miles an hour.

Lovers' Quarrel Results In Death Of Refugee Student

AUSTIN, Tex (U.P.)—A refugee student from Austria, upset after a lovers' quarrel with his young American fiancée, committed suicide late yesterday by eating poisoned cookies, a city detective says.

The student, 27-year-old Heinz Berger, killed himself in a University of Texas science laboratory.

His body was found slumped in a chair by his fiancée, Miss Elizabeth Tracht, 22.

Berger and the Ft. Worth co-ed were to have been married next week.

After they quarreled yesterday afternoon in the Berger's laboratory, Miss Tracht went to another lab to continue her own experiments. She returned an hour later with another co-ed to see her fiancée again. His door was locked and the building superintendent was called.

Detective Merle Wells said Berger, described by professors as "very brilliant," had smeared cyanide on cookies and ate them.

'Carmen' Performance Tonight In Auditorium

A rare opportunity will be given citizens of Big Spring this evening at 8 when the Charlie L. Wagner Opera Company of New York presents Bizet's opera "Carmen," at the City Auditorium.

The local performance is being sponsored here by the Big Spring Concert Association.

Ushering this evening will be Mrs. J. D. Elliott, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. Pete Harmonson, Mrs. R. E. McKinney, Mrs. W. C. Foster, Mrs. George Thomas, O. R. Cole and Mrs. Harrol Jones.

The opera troupe, travelling by bus, is due to arrive here around 5 p. m. They will spend the night here and leave early tomorrow for the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

Ernst Barbin, distinguished coach and conductor on the musical staff of the Metropolitan Opera, will conduct Bizet's masterpiece in its Spring performance.

Dubbed "Opera-a-la-carte" by Time Magazine, the Wagner Company began touring the country in 1940 with a two-piano accompaniment, eight string parts, a small chorus and one bus.

Realizing that there is a definite demand for opera throughout the country, the troupe has been enlarged to 70 people travelling in two buses with a special truck for scenery, costumes and orchestral instruments.

An entirely new production has been built for "Carmen," the story of the fiery cigarette girl, with new sets, new costumes and a hand-picked cast. Leading singers alternate and each applicant for leading parts and ensemble is chosen not only for his voice and acting ability but because he looks the part.

MR. AND MRS. G. T. PALMER

State President Of AAUW Speaks To Local Chapter

Dr. Vera R. Maxwell of Fort Worth, state president of the American Association of University Women, was guest speaker at a meeting of the local chapter Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. James Wilcox, 304 Washington.

Mrs. Jennie McEvers was co-hostess.

Dr. Maxwell, a professor at Texas Wesleyan College, spoke on "AAUW, the State Organization," outlining the set-up and telling what the state organization had done.

Mrs. Ann Reagan was appointed representative to the VA Hospital. Appointed to a committee to assist in the TB Christmas Seal drive were Mrs. W. N. Marshall, Mrs. Betty Ross and Mrs. Mary Arnold Heffley.

Members were reminded of the banquet Monday night in the High School cafeteria, when Dr. Eduard Taborsky of the University of Texas faculty will be guest speaker. The banquet is a joint project of the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association and the AAUW.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with gladiolas and red roses.

Brotherhood Has Meeting At Church

FORSAN (Sp1) — Members of the Brotherhood of Forsan Baptist Church met for the monthly meeting in the church annex, with Wayne Monroey presiding over the business session.

Kenneth Cowley spoke on the objectives of the organization and refreshments were served to 20 members.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Dan Fairchild arrived a few days ago from his Air Force base in Colorado Springs, Colo. He returned there Monday.

Mrs. Fairchild is living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merworth, in Big Spring until he receives his discharge Dec. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lonsford and daughter were in Midland visiting the first of the week.

Henry James McElreath was a home for the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McElreath and family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robertson were Snyder visitors Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner and Steve.

Muri Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bailey, suffered a broken right arm between the shoulder and elbow Tuesday during football practice. He is a pupil in the seventh grade.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild and Mary Ann were in Colorado City Tuesday night and Wednesday following the death of Mrs. Fairchild's grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Conaway, 92, who has been ill for a year. She is survived by nine children, 33 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. C. M. Adams left Tuesday for Austin to visit in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Weaver and Susan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Disney and baby have returned from their vacation in Oklahoma City and several Texas cities.

Guest during the week with the C. D. Fowlers was Mrs. Rosa Lee Sagar of Duncan, Okla.

Palmers To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Perhaps Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Palmer, 510 NE 12th, owe the secret of their 50 years of marriage to her grandmother who insisted they couldn't be married "across the boards."

By this, grandma meant that when they stood to repeat their wedding vows they must stand "with" the boards in the flooring—that is, facing the way the flooring was laid.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at an open house, recall that this ultimatum issued by grandma required quite a bit of maneuvering on the part of the bride couple because the arch of flowers before which they were wed in a home ceremony had to be placed in a particular spot to satisfy the requirement.

As a result the bride couple was forced to circle around through the wedding guests before reaching the improvised altar. The wedding, at Prescott, Ark., came off as scheduled, however, although the ceremony was a little later than planned because the justice of the peace who officiated had to walk four miles over roads that had been mired by a rain the previous night.

The date was Nov. 9, 1902, there were about 60 wedding guests, and a dinner was served after the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, who was born Rosa Coppock, were reared near Benton, Ark. They came to Texas with their children and material possessions in two covered wagons in 1924 after doctors had told Mr. Palmer that his health was so bad he wouldn't live a year. He has hardly been sick since.

The couple and their children still recall the hardships of that trip. But they settled near Rotan and farmed for two years before moving westward. They farmed one year on the R. N. Adams place before buying a farm of their own in the Soash community. After retiring about seven years ago they moved to their present home in town.

Their living children are Earl, who lives at Irving; John, whose home is at 511 NE 11th; Mrs. Gladys Low, Winters; Mrs. Minnie Williams, Fort Worth; and George Thomas Palmer, who lives with his parents.

Another son, Homer, died about five years ago. The couple also has 14 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren. All the children and all the grandchildren except two expect to be here Sunday for the celebration, which will be held from 2 to 5 p. m. at their home. All their friends are invited to call at that time.

In addition to their own family, the Palmers have reared seven orphaned children, one of whom was Austin Underwood, who Palmer says was a general at Pearl Harbor.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Palmer are members of Northside Baptist Church, where Mrs. Palmer taught a primary class for seven years. She now is president of her adult class. She also is a member of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284.

The secret of their long and happy married life? "Hard work," says Mrs. Palmer.

FHA Week Being Observed; High School Students Feted

FORSAN (Sp1)—Members of the Forsan Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America are observing National FHA week this week.

Sunday evening, the girls attended services at the First Methodist Church and all sang in the choir. Monday was publicity day. Tuesday books and cookies were contributed by members to be used for special purposes. A program was presented by the chapter at the school assembly Wednesday which was also courtesy day.

Thursday each member participated in some family activity. Thursday evening the sophomores honored their parents with a buffet dinner.

Friday was to have been "Fun Day" and the football queen was to have been honored.

Mrs. Bernard Huchton and Mrs. John Sweeney were in charge of arrangements for the affair. Pie, cake and coffee were served to about 50.

Mrs. Virgie Roberts Is Complimented With Tea

GARDEN CITY (Sp1) — Mrs. Virgie Roberts, who came to Garden City 50 years ago as a bride, was honored recently with a farewell gift tea given in the recreation room of the Presbyterian Church by the Women of the Church.

Mrs. Roberts will leave this week for Gardena, Calif. to make her home with a daughter.

"I reared my six children and then two grandchildren in Garden City and it will always be home to me even though I never move back," she said.

The refreshment table, laid with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of fall flowers. Serving were Mrs. Clyde Reynolds and Mrs. John Henry Cox. Others in the house party were Mrs. Cecil Wilkerson, Mrs. Jim Ratliff, Mrs. Steve Calverley, Mrs. E. M. Telle and Mrs. Arnon Cunningham.

Mrs. Fern Cox, pianist, played during the receiving hours.

Special guests were Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, Mrs. Clyde Berry, Mrs. Tom Ashill, Mrs. Ray Hightower, Mrs. W. K. Scudday, Mrs. Targe Lindsay and Myrtle McAstors and Mrs. Sallie Sanders and Mrs. Miller Russell of Big Spring and Mrs. J. B. Thurman.

Mrs. C. H. Neely and Mrs. J. B. Thurman entertained with a party in the Neely home recently.

Various parlor games were played.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Sallie Sanders and Mrs. Miller Russell of Big Spring, Mrs. Mrs. Virgie Roberts, Mrs. Bill Bigby, Mrs. Bill Clements, Mrs. J. H.

Cox, Myrtle McMasters, Audia Neely, Mrs. Arnon Cunningham, Mrs. Cecil Wilkerson, Mrs. Beele Wilkerson, Mrs. Steve Calverley, Mrs. Jim Ratliff, Mrs. Fred Ratliff, Mrs. Velma McDaniel and Mrs. J. L. Bigby.

Guests in the Walter Teele home over the week end were Mrs. Teele's mother, Mrs. H. C. Cummins, and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Striengler all of Brady.

Attending the District 5 meeting of the FHA in Eldorado Saturday from Garden City were Mary Ruth Ashill, Kerney Sue Scudday, Juanell Overton, Margie Self and Dorothy Leonard, their instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Neely and daughter, Audna, spent last week in Ft. Worth and Amarillo.

'Forty Odd' Delights Book Review Audience

On the morning of Mary Bard's 40th birthday she awoke feeling like Marie Antoinette must have felt the day she was to be guillotined.

Her experiences and feelings after she realized she was an "old woman" she recorded in "Forty Odd," her second book, reviewed Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Clyde Angel for the Thursday Review Club.

The hilarious book about Mrs. Bard, sister of Betty McDonald, and her three young daughters, Heidi, Sally and Maury, her doctor husband and her friends is in a class by itself — truly a funny book. For Mary Bard comes to learn that 40 is an age, not a disease.

Mrs. Angel's review was often punctuated with laughter from her all-woman audience, as her listeners must have shared many of Mary Bard's "symptoms."

Member of a club of doctors' wives who called themselves "The Neglected Ones," Mary Bard realized that she had fallen prey to a host of new enemies — faintness, loss of memory, falling eyesight and visions of a nervous breakdown reminded her, "they really fall to pieces after 40."

The 41 candles on her birthday cake were "burning like a blow torch," and when her husband refused to take her "ailments" seriously, she threatened to go to a strange town, assume a strange name and "be treated like a patient."

When she heard her young Heidi remark that "my mother is 40 and nervous as a witch," she resolved to cure herself of being 4-F, as her husband described it — fat, forty, frustrated, foolish and forthcoming.

At her first attempt, enrolling in a reducing class, she says: "At the end of the first record there were five casualties." The next day when she could hardly get out of bed, one of her friends, in the same condition, was convinced she was never going to walk again and set about trying to find a wheel chair.

And after losing a few pounds, Mary set out to buy some new clothes. Looking at cruise clothes in a store window, Mary turns to another window-shopper to be greeted with the remark: "Anyone knows that a woman who could afford to cruise to Hawaii could never get into these clothes."

At this moment she reaches another conclusion: "Improving yourself makes you notice how unimproved everyone else is."

This is Mary Bard in a humorous, revealing analysis of the middle-aged woman with too much time on her hands and a tendency to imagine all sorts of ailments. Her account is truly an effective treatment for whatever ails you.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Poppy Sale Saturday

Poppies will bloom on Big Spring lapels Saturday when the American Legion Auxiliary conducts its annual sale of the paper flowers made by disabled veterans. Mrs. Frank Sabbath, poppy chairman, has announced that members of the Auxiliary will be assisted around noon by some FHA High School girls. "Wear a poppy to honor the war dead and aid war's living victims," is the appeal made by Mrs. Bert Wall, Auxiliary president. The flowers are crepe paper replicas of the wild poppies which grew "between the crosses, row on row," in the battle cemeteries in France and Belgium. They have been made for the Auxiliary by

Beer Transporting Charges Are Filed

Charges of transporting beer in a dump area were filed in Howard County Court today against N. C. Byrd and O. E. Byrd Jr., brothers from Lubbock.

The two men were arrested Thursday evening by Liquor Control Board officials J. T. Morgan and Marshall Smith. The arrest was made on a country road about seven miles north of town.

Approximately 70 cases of assorted beer was confiscated by the officials. Morgan stated that the prisoners were driving two cars, with around 35 cases of beer in each.

C. B. Arnold, chief investigator of the Liquor Control Board agency here, stated that five men were caught in Dawson County last week end. Their fines totaled $1,600, and three of the men were given jail sentences also.

ident Wednesday that he will notify the secretary of defense when to provide transportation.

There is a grim and bitter advantage to arriving in the war zone in late November or early December. He will see the front at its savage worst.

By the middle of this month winter will be settling over the lines. A torrent of cutting cold rolls down the peninsula from Siberia. For the foot-slogger, the next four months are a misery.

Eisenhower has said that he would go to Korea with two primary objectives. One is to search for the means of bringing an honorable end to the war. The other is to determine how rapidly, and in what degree, South Korean divisions can be trained and organized for front-line duty so that American "visions may be brought back to reserve duty in the rear.

One of his first tasks undoubtedly will be with Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea. Rhee has messaged congratulations on the general's victory in the election.

Eisenhower, an expert on plans, operations and organization, can address himself among other things to the problems of logistics—getting arms and equipment into Korea, and a cadre of officers to direct the training of the Koreans. This of necessity must be co-ordinated with American efforts to build an army in Europe.

As for his first tour of the great course here—course the great Bobby Jones helped design—apparently there was nothing to strike terror among the reigning professionals or amateurs around the country.

He played nine holes with Ed Dudley, the pro at this club. No score was kept. Dudley said afterwards, "I think he hit some pretty good shots, but a general thought he hit a lot more bad ones than good ones... He was just warming up."

The President-elect will try again today.

spending and of the draft. Rep. Robert C. Perfield, Illinois, who'll head the Foreign Affairs Committee, has long been a critic of the Truman foreign policy. Rep. Dewey Short, Missouri, new Armed Services Committee chief, has been opposed to the draft and universal military training.

Eisenhower said at Augusta, Ga., where he is vacationing, that he wants to put his men in touch with the operations of government as soon as possible.

Accepting an invitation from President Truman for a White House conference on domestic and foreign problems, Eisenhower told his predecessor in a message that he would like to have others representing him go to Washington "for indoctrination in the several departments of government."

The general suggested the week of Nov. 17 for the White House meeting, but proposed that his advance guard invade Washington even before that, adding:

"In this way our own conference can achieve maximum results. I share your hope that we may present to the world an American unity on the basic issues."

Truman already had invited the President-elect to send along a man to sit in final conferences on the annual budget. The thick, printed volume of the budget proposal must go to press about a month before the Jan. 18 date on which his submission to Congress is required.

This is two days before Eisenhower officially takes over as President. He has promised to cut the budget back in four years to 60 billion dollars from the present year's level of about 79 billion.

Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton, on the way out with other Truman appointees, said in a statement that he hopes to see yet another assembly on major budget items involving defense, atomic energy and foreign aid expenditures. He did not say whether the advice of Eisenhower's representative would be heeded on these and other sections.

While Eisenhower practiced golf shots for the benefit of photographers at his Georgia vacation spot, his vaunted opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, talked at Springfield, Ill., of mapping the Democratic party's future.

Stevenson has shrugged off proposals that he carry the party's banner again in 1956, when Eisenhower could be expected to be asking for a second term. A President is allowed no more than two terms under the amended Constitution.

The Illinois governor called Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and Wilson Wyatt, his own campaign manager, for a conference Saturday. They will discuss the role of the Democratic National Committee in the next four years.

Whether Stevenson will run again in 1956 may depend on how well Eisenhower does his job. If the Democratic leaders come to the front among members of Congress and the governors.

As Eisenhower's lead over Stevenson mounted to more than six million popular votes in late counts, GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield told a news conference he believes Taft or some other Republican candidate also might have won.

Summerfield indicated he is open to appointment to the Cabinet as postmaster general, if Eisenhower should decide to give him that job.

And Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts opened a door he previously had closed on a possible Cabinet appointment. Lodge was one of the first to plug for Eisenhower's nomination.

When he lost his bid for re-election Tuesday Lodge said he would not accept any Cabinet appointment, but he told reporters in Boston yesterday he "wouldn't say no," adding that no offer had been made.

Another mentioned as a likely member of the general's Cabinet, New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, told reporters in Albany: "I expect and intend to serve out my term as governor." The term expires Dec. 31, 1954.

When newsmen said there was a loophole in his statement, Dewey replied: "That's all I'm going to say on that."

east lines of section 10, block 37, township 5-s T&P, about six miles northeast of Midkiff. It will be a 7,900-foot rotary and is located on 445-acre lease. Drill floor elevation is 2,725 feet.

Howard

Pan-American and Seaboard No. 1-Hamlin, C NE SE, section 43, block 32, township 3-south, T&P survey, cored at 8,178 to 8,193 feet, and recovered 16 feet of lime and some shale streaks, with no shows of oil. There were some shows of water in part of the core. Operator is preparing to take a drillstem test.

Roden, Darden and McRae, No. 1 Gaskins, C NW SW, section 18, block 34, township 2-south, T&P survey, got down to 6,900 feet in sand and shale.

Laughlin-Porter and Texas Crude No. 1 Fierman, 660 from north and west lines in east half, section 10, block 33, township 2-south, T&P survey reached 5,640 feet in shale.

Coronet 59-1 Jones, 330 from south and west lines of northwest quarter, section 59, block 20, La-Vaca survey, is still waiting on potential.

Coronet No. 4-2 Boyd, 330 from north and 960 from west lines of section 4, block 25, H&T survey, is coring at 2,807 in lime.

Martin

Plymouth No. 1 Millhollon, C SE NW, section 7, block 35, township 1-south, T&P survey, is drilling at 7,940 in shale on a collapsed casing.

Tide Water No. 1-B Dickenson, 660 from south and west lines, section 5, block 37, township 1-south, T&P survey, reached 7,667 feet in lime and shale.

Phillips No. 1-C Schar, 1,320 from south and 700 from west of lease in section 324, LaSalle CSL, is drilling at 4,644 feet in shale.

Mitchell

F. Kirk Johnson and Edwin L. Cox, No. 1-Bomar, 660 from south and east of lines, section 10, block 12, H&T survey, got to 3,895 feet in lime and shale.

Midland

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 16 Louis Shackelford, 660 feet from south and east lines of lease in section 28, block 37, township 3-south, T&P survey, was completed from the Spraberry with 330.78 barrels of 38.7 gravity oil in 24 hours flow. Elevation was 2,850 feet, top of pay was 7,092, total depth was 7,255 and the oil string was from 2,421-5 with 1 1/2-in. casing. Tubing pressure was 180-185 feet, and the choke was 34-64. Recovery was also 15,000 hydrocarbons and no water.

Unexplained Blast Felt By Residents

An explosion jarred the Washington Place residential area last night, but police and firemen said they knew nothing of the cause or location of the blast.

H. V. Hancock, 403 Lincoln, reported the explosion. He called officers and, with neighbors, unsuccessfully attempted to ascertain its cause.

Hancock said the blast shook his house heavily. It sounded like a gas-filled building blowing up, he reported.

Stanton Man Aids In Foiling A Thief

An alert Stanton man, name not known by local police, foiled at least partially a car thief's attempt to hide his trail.

The thief swapped license plates with the Stanton motorist, apparently in the hope the latter wouldn't notice the change. The Stantonian spotted the discrepancy, however, so officers are now seeking a car bearing the Martin County license plates.

The auto, stolen from Jack Mundell, 1605 W. 2nd, Wednesday morning, had been recovered this morning.

Local Girl Charter Member Of New Club

Sue Craig, Big Spring, is a charter member of Ikwans, new honor service club for young women in Wayland College at Plainview.

The club is to promote all campus activities and will make its initial appearance during homecoming festivities Nov. 21-22. The name is Irdian for princess and the members will wear Indian costumes. Another member in this area is Evanelle Gibson, Lamesa.

could elect another sheriff," Hillin said.

Aaron has been indicted here on charges of offering a bribe to a member of the Texas Liquor Control Board. He left Amarillo several months ago and was arrested at Albuquerque, N. M., last week. Aaron has declined to waive extradition.

In answer to a question by State Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, acting committee chairman, Sherman Hillin testified that Aaron had also stipulated he must be allowed to select a deputy sheriff to serve under Hillin.

There were these other developments:

1. Other witnesses on advice of counsel repeatedly refused to answer the committee's questions "on grounds the answer might incriminate me."

2. Testifying with immunity from prosecution, John J. McCowan, president of the presently non-operating Pinkie's Stores, Inc. in Big Spring, said his firm held an account with a night club operator in Sweetwater, a dry area. McCowan said he sold the customer liquor on credit and that this customer "on occasion came to the Big Spring store after legal closing hours and bought as much as 10 cases of whiskey at a time."

"You sold him liquor after 10 o'clock?" Carr asked. "Yes, sir," McCowan replied. Earlier the witness had testified that neither of the firm's two stores in Big Spring had sold liquor after the 10 p. m. closing time.

McCowan steadfastly declined to answer the committee's queries about whether he or his firm had ever delivered liquor on consignment to a specific list of alleged West Texas bootleggers.

4. The owner of an Odessa wholesale beer firm denied he had ever sold beer to alleged bootleggers in dry areas. Ted Roden, owner of Standard Sales Co. of Odessa, said he had no knowledge of a series of long-distance telephone calls between offices of the Standard Co. in Odessa and several persons identified by Carr as West Texas bootleggers.

5. W. F. Roden, Ted Roden's brother and operator of the Acme Sales Co., another Odessa beer plant, denied knowing anything about an alleged series of long-distance telephone calls between his place of business and a Sun-down number identified by Carr as that of a bootlegger.

6. A witness yesterday morning was Tom (Pinkie) Roden of Odessa. Committee members questioned him about the operation of a rural package store which had net sales three days after it opened totaling $47,266.

Flanked by his attorneys, Henry Brooks and E. G. Fore, Roden consulted them almost every time before answering questions. Several times he said "I refuse to answer."

Four Cases Heard

Only four cases were heard in Corporation Court today.

Four fines were assessed for a total of $52. Two persons were fined $5 each for drunkenness. Another drew a $15 fine for the same offense. The other fine was $25 for driving without license.

Runaways Are Nabbed

Two runaway boys from Midland were apprehended by Big Spring police this morning as they attempted to catch a ride on Highway 87 toward San Angelo. They were being held at the police station while parents were notified.

Vocation Club Meets

Plans for entertaining the district meeting were discussed at a session of the Vocational Industrial Club Thursday evening. The district party is due here on Nov. 13. Committees were appointed to help in taking care of the visitors.

Men In Service

Pvt. Bill Hitt, son of Chaplain and Mrs. Clark O. Hitt, 1301 Pennsylvania, has recently been assigned to the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas.

Pvt. Hitt attended Howard Payne College before he went into the service. Chaplain Hitt is associated with the B-g Spring Veteran's Hospital.

The 1st Armored Division is now undergoing combat readiness training under the direction of Major General Bruce C. Clarke. The division, reactivated in 1951, fought in North Africa and Italy during World War II.

Lt. W. T. Morgan of the United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morgan, 1101 East 13th Street, was in Big Spring last week end to see his parents.

Morgan is stationed out of San Diego. He is back in the United States after spending a tour of duty in Korea aboard the carrier, Philippine Sea.

A lieutenant junior grade, Morgan has been in the Navy for the last four years. Before that time he attended Hardin-Simmons University.

Morgan was able to stay here only Saturday and Sunday, as the plane he "hitched a ride on" was making a two-day round trip from San Diego to Dallas. Morgan expects to make another tour in Korea, and his outfit is preparing for it now.

County Studies Landscaping For New Courthouse

As Howard County's new courthouse was beginning to "come out of the ground" county commissioners this morning were devoting more study to plans for developing the grounds around the new structure.

A representative of a landscaping firm from Dallas was here to confer with commissioners. In addition to the present committee of county court, two new members who are due to begin their duties on Jan. 1 were on hand to join in the discussion.

They were R. H. Weaver, county judge-elect, and Ralph Proctor, newly elected commissioner from Precinct No. 1.

Commissioner Arthur Stallings pointed out the court had received at least 101 suggestions on what to do about the courthouse grounds. By starting a study of various proposals early they hope to have definite plans developed well in advance of the building's completion.

Cathey Locked Up In Howard County Jail

Luke Cathey, who was recently indicted by the Howard County Grand Jury for car theft, was locked up in County Jail today. He was transferred here from the jail at Midland.

Cathey allegedly stole a car from York and Pruitt Used Car Lot Oct. 22. He was arrested in Lamesa after the incident and transferred to the Midland jail to face charges there.

Sheriff's officials transferred him to Howard County today. He will probably stand trial when criminal cases are heard before the 11th District Court the week of Nov. 17.

Two False Alarms Noted By Fire Dept.

Two of three fire alarms reaching the Big Spring fire department last night and early today proved to be false.

The night's only fire occurred at 207 Seury where front seat of an automobile was damaged. The blaze was apparently caused by a cigaret, firemen said. The car is the property of Ray Oil Company.

False alarms came from Donald's Drive in, about 10:30 p. m., Thursday and 208 N. E. 3rd, at 7:40 a. m. today.

Angelo JC To Note Silver Anniversary

San Angelo Junior College is observing its Silver Anniversary homecoming Nov. 15.

Enrollment this year is highest in the college history with 731 registered. The ex-student's association, headed by J. Smith Buchanan, is working with Dr. Rex Johnston, president. Festivities will start at 2 p. m. with a downtown parade, followed by an open house at the president's home; a get-together for exes in the Ram room, a barbecue, the Ram-Schreiner football game and a dance at the San Angelo Hotel. A number of bands from over West Texas have been invited to participate.

Businessmen Pepped Up By The Election

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The election has pepped up the morale of many businessmen. But most of them think it will be months before any changes are made that could show up as items of profit and loss on corporate books.

They count on a kinder attitude toward business in Washington. But they expect business to go its present prosperous way for months because of forces already at work in the economy.

If Gen. Eisenhower, however, could pull a Korean peace out of the hat, there probably would be a quick reshuffling of commodity prices and business planning.

But, with or without peace, after the general moves into the White House and a more conservative Congress takes over, many businessmen hope eventually they will see:

Tax relief, a let-up in anti-trust controls, speedier lifting of controls over use of raw materials and greater use of fiscal and credit policies (rather than direct controls) in fighting inflation or in putting a brake on deflation.

Most businessmen think the new policies will be more deflationary than inflationary. But they think business will be propped for at least a year by a rising rate of spending for defense and by a continuing high spending by business for plant and equipment and especially for modernization of plants.

Poll Tax Sale Is Going Slow

Now that the "big" political year has passed its climax, Howard County citizens are not making much effort to qualify themselves as voters for 1953.

Up to mid-morning today the county tax assessor-collector's office has issued 850 poll tax receipts and 425 exemption certificates. The big rush for poll taxes normally comes in January, despite the fact that they can be paid at any time when current taxes are being collected. Personnel at the tax office expect the usual rush during January, but it is doubtful that it will reach proportions attained this year. The deadline for paying poll taxes is Jan. 31.

Kiwians Ready Plans For Civic Drama Series

Plans for selling season tickets for the Civic Drama Guild's series of Broadway plays, which the club will sponsor for the third successive season here, were announced at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Big Spring Kiwanis club.

Details for the sales campaign will be mapped at a special meeting of committee set for Monday night at the home of Jack Roden, club president.

The first play in the series, "The Fledermaus," is scheduled for the night of Dec. 10 in the Municipal auditorium. Other plays in the series are "Glad Tidings," and "Jenny Kiss Me."

The season tickets will include reserved seats for all three performances. R. L. Tollett and R. B. G. Cowper are co-chairmen of the ticket sales committee.

The program at the club's regular meeting Thursday was a general discussion of post-general election views. J. N. Young Jr., who was in charge of the program, asked various members to comment on their personal ideas about future foreign policy, economic condition of the country, etc.

Man Is Injured In Mishap At Haskell

Farrell Shaffer, 1111 E. 4th, is in Haskell Hospital with a fractured pelvis, an injury suffered in an accident at Haskell Thursday.

Local police were asked by Haskell authorities early Thursday afternoon to inform Mrs. Shaffer of the mishap. Details were not disclosed.

Graves Is Man To Watch In Texas Aggie Attack

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 7 (AP)—Ray George, Texas A&M coach, says he changed to the split-T this season because he discovered in spring practice that Ray Graves could run with a football.

It's all worked out very happily for everyone—Graves is the Southwest Conference total offense leader and he has kept the Aggies, who were supposed to be a sad last, in the race.

See Graves walking on the campus, a skinny-legged youngster, and you'd think he might make a better member of the cheering section than a split-T quarterback.

That's why Graves has piled up so much yardage this season. He's deceptive. He fools his mates, but more important, he fools the opposition.

George, who calls him Crazy Legs because he runs like Elroy Hirsch, says, "We never knew which way he was running in practice, so we figured the opposition wouldn't either."

The 160-pound Graves many times ends up with a gain when he's trapped trying to pass. Another key play for the Cadets is Graves' keeper on the split-T.

He plays a lot, too. In seven games he has been in here every minute on offense except for one series of downs against Arkansas. He has gotten in 180 minutes. He not only passes and runs but he can punt if necessary and do a good job of it.

In Texas A&M's worst defeat in years—that 48-6 mauling by Michigan State—Graves wasn't stopped. He completed 22 passes for 129 yards and made 40 yards rushing, scoring the only Aggie touchdown. His biggest night was against Arkansas — he passed for 231 yards, including three scoring tosses, and gained 34 yards rushing in eight tries.

This season he has passed for 803 yards and rolled up 243 on the ground. He's sixth nationally in total offense.

A calm, collected young man in the heat of battle, he often talks it over with his mates when the chips are on the line. There was the Baylor game. A&M was trailing 13-14 in the last period but was on the Baylor six. Two plays got only two yards then Graves called for a bootleg to the right.

But as the team lined up he called time out. "That play won't work because the defense is stacked to the outside," he observed. So he changed to a trap play with Don Kachik shooting through the middle. If that failed he wanted to be in position to try for a field goal. It worked and Kachik sliced through for a touchdown.

In the Arkansas game Graves had second and nine on his own five when he huddled deep under the goal posts. "I think we'd like to pass," said Ray. "Good, we think we'd like to pass, too," chanted the other Aggies.

So, from punt formation, Graves shot a pass to Charley Hall and the sophomore scooped up to the 50. Quite a fellow.

IN 4-A CONTEST

Stanton, Morton Tangle At 6:30

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes seek their first District 4-A football win here this evening, at which time they entertain the rugged Morton Indians. Kickoff time is 6:30 p.m.

The Blons picked up four wins in non-conference play but since have fallen upon hard times. Charley Read's club has been hounded by an injury jinx.

In games last week, Stanton was stelled by O'Donnell, 48-6, while Morton was losing to Sundown, 20-6.

Morton gave the Sundown club a whole of a battle before yielding. They fought the Roughnecks to a standstill in the first half and left the field trailing only by a score of 7-0.

Lamar Burns' passing arm poses a threat to Stan in Harvey Zuber is one of the Tribe's top running threats.

If Coach Read can field his regular lineup, he figures to give the Indians quite a battle. The Buffs' attack is built around Eldon Hopkins and Scooter Polk. The latter has been troubled by injuries most of the campaign, however. Norman Blocker and Jimmy Wheeler help the Buffs' overall attack, too.

After tonight's game, Stanton has only two games remaining on its schedule, a Nov. 14 outing with Sundown in Sundown and a Nov. 21 bout with Denver City here.

Stanton holds wins over Big Spring, B. Grandfalls, Crosbyton and Midland. B. The Buffs have lost to Coahoma, Seagraves and O'Donnell.

Longhorn Tilts Speedier Than Major Leagues

The average Longhorn Baseball League game in 1952 lasted only 2 hours 9 minutes, compared to the major league average of 2 hours 25 minutes, according to information released by Longhorn Prexy Hal Sayles.

The average game in Big Spring was even less, a check revealed. The fans here were treated to games which averaged only 2:02 hours in length. At Vernon, the games averaged only 1:59 in length.

Big Spring played 29 games at home which required two hours or less to complete. At the other extreme, only eight games at Sweetwater could be completed within that period.

According to the Sporting News, the average American League game consumed 2:27 and the average National League game 2:23.

Here's a breakdown on time consumption in 497 Longhorn League games for 1952:

Club	Total Min.	Average Time
Atlanta	7,871	2:08

Houston May Go To Gator Bowl

HOUSTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Gator Bowl Representative O. J. Wosterhoudt will watch Saturday night's game here between the University of Houston and the University of Mississippi.

The Jacksonville, Fla., bowl group is reportedly interested in Houston as one of the participants in the Jan. 1 post season classic. Mississippi, however, will also be watched closely by Wosterhoudt. It is undefeated but has been tied by Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

Better Turnout Due At Contest

DALLAS, Nov. 7 (AP)—The financially hurting Dallas Texans have bolstered their team's strength with three new men, and it looks like attendance may be up here Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

Advance ticket sales are approaching the 18,000 mark, still some 7,000 short of an expense-paid turnout but much better than recent attendance.

Keith Flowers, former star TCU linebacker; R. Y. Pelfrey, ex-Green Bay half; and Frank Tripucka, former Notre Dame quarter, have been added to the winless Texan roster.

DOGIES TO SNYDER

Yearling Gridmen Entertain Snyder

The Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings seek their second victory of the season in a game here Saturday evening, at which time they host the Snyder Juniors. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The Yearlings, coached by Earl Peeler and Harold Bentley, defeated Snyder by a score of 18-0 several weeks ago and will be favored to turn the trick again.

The Big Springers have met some of the best clubs in West Texas and have been showing improvement each time out.

Crockett and Bowie of Odessa have each beaten the Yearlings twice, as has Sweetwater. Saturday's game will be the next.

to-last of the 1952 season for the locals, who host Lamesa here a week from tomorrow.

The Big Spring B team invades Snyder Saturday, seeking their fourth win of the season in eight starts. The Dogies' game with the Snyder reserves begins at 7:30 p.m.

Big Spring holds one win over the Tiger B team, having copped a 20-7 verdict here Oct. 4.

In other starts, the Big Springers have won from Sweetwater and Colorado City while losing to Seagraves A, Stanton A, Sweetwater and Odessa B.

Robert Angel, who has been running at third-string quarterback for the Seers, may see action at the signal-barking spot for the Shorthorns.

Bearcats Invade Wildcat Field

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearcats go to Water Valley this afternoon to play their fifth conference football game of the 1952 season.

The Kats defeated Forsan last week end, 24-14, for the first time in over a decade.

Garden City prevailed in last year's meeting with Water Valley, 33-12, and will be favored to hand the Wildcats another reversal.

Steers, Aggies And Christians Are Favorites

By The Associated Press The Southwest Conference football race, hewing to form better than any immediate predecessor, rumbles past the half-way mark Saturday with nothing final to be decided except that another team will take the last leap.

There is no way to forestall next week's climactic Texas - Texas Christian struggle. It could be less crucial, however, should Baylor's battling Bears do the unexpected—beat Texas tomorrow at Waco.

That is the big game of the week. It matches the game that wasn't supposed to do more than fight to keep out of the cellar against the team that has a favorite's tag so heavy around its neck as to bog down in its own worries.

Texas should be furrowed with worry—it's a 7½-point favorite over a Baylor outfit that can beat you with every weapon in the book just when you have the Golden Bear hibernated.

A loss by Baylor will knock it out of the championship race since it already has one defeat and one tie.

Southern Methodist and Texas A&M clash at Dallas in a survival-of-the-fittest game. Neither has a strong chance left at the title but whatever it is will be eliminated in this game. That is, for the loser.

Hitting three out of four last week, with a tie in the other one, we see them like this Saturday: Baylor-Texas—A Bear can't handle a Longhorn if he can't catch him: Texas by two touchdowns.

The Aggies are just tough enough to saddle-break a mustang in 60 minutes: Texas A&M by a whisker. Rice-Arkansas—You can run into a lot of trouble in the Ozarks but the Razorbacks have had their tusks removed: Rice by a touchdown.

Texas Christian-Wake Forest—This isn't Texas you're playing. Frogs: Try real hard and you'll win by about 20 to 7.

Shivers In Ike's Cabinet? Would Help Game Outlook

By L. A. WILKE AUSTIN.—Sportsmen of Texas have a definite interest in whether Gov. Allan Shivers is offered a cabinet post under Gen. Ike.

Most logical spot, in view of the tideland question, might be that of Secretary of Interior. If Gov. Shivers should go to Washington as Secretary of the Interior he would have a great deal to do with the future of hunting, not only in Texas, but in the nation.

Much of the Federal regulations concerning hunting and perhaps all having to do with public lands come within this department.

Gov. Shivers himself is a hunter and fisherman. He has personal knowledge of the problems facing the outdoors man today. Back of that he has the benefit of the experience of the Texas Game & Fish Commission, which is one of the best in the nation.

All of this is strictly speculation, but not without reason. Gen. Eisenhower would have been elected without the Texas vote, but there is no question of the value of Gov. Shivers' efforts in his behalf. If a Texan is to get a top post under Gen. Ike, let it be not only a reward for work done, but let it be because of the fitness possessed by the Texas governor.

It looked for a while this week like a great expanse of Texas would get a rain. Well, there was a shower, but there were no fishing holes or duck ponds filled.

In the Texas Panhandle this week we found duck hunters feeling pretty bad. There's no water for them and they are passing right on over, flying to the coast. There is some fresh water along the coast, however, which has helped in the dispersal of ducks there.

River shooting in Central Texas has been pretty good during the past week, according to reports. Several friends who have blinds on both the Colorado and the Brazos report they have killed the limit just sitting in the blinds and waiting for ducks to fly up or down stream. This nearly always is a good bet, if you have the patience to stay there.

Townsend Miller, formerly of Marshall and now editor of the Texas Game & Fish Magazine, has been spending quite a bit of his spare time on the coast recently. Last week he got down there in a run of Jackfish. During the forenoon he caught so many he got tired and quit. They ran in size from 10 to 15 pounds. He was using one of those new Southwest hollow glass rods made in Fort Worth. There were times when the fish would bend the rod almost double.

He had fished with glass rods for years, but this was his first experience with one in salt water. He now believes a good hollow glass rod can take lots of punishment. We are always glad to get these field test results to pass on to readers.

If you haven't tested out your big game rifle this season, it would be a good idea to get it done this week end. With the season opening just a week off, you should know just where your gun is shooting and get the feel of it again.

Speaking of gun feel, we took one of those new Noble 12 gauge pumps to Mexico last week and tried it out on quail, hawks and what have you. It got about the worst punishment a person could ever give a gun. We carried it out in the open in a jeep, where it was subjected to acres and acres of Mexican desert dust, but it did fine. This is a new manufacturer turning out a real competitive product.

We haven't said much about fishing lately. Actually there hasn't been too much good fresh water fishing, except with worms and minnows.

The winds have been pretty high and there have been definite conditions against best fishing. However, right about now, if the winds will stay settled for a few days, there definitely should be some good top water plugging. Big bass are not going to stay at the bottom all the time.

Wood Hall, one of our magazine friends here in Austin and his wife, are ardent fishermen on the Colorado lakes. They've been hitting some real fine bass lately fishing deep with large minnows.

They came in the other night with 13 blacks, four whites and seven gasper. All were caught on large minnows fishing in the middle of Lake Austin, and right off the bottom.

And incidentally, this is a good time to catch crappie and blue gill. It will help bass fishing a lot, too, if you'll get a can of worms and take a lot of these pan fish from your favorite holes.

US Equestrian Team Outshines Select Field

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The United States equestrian team is going great guns at the 64th National Horse Show, outshining the best riders from four other nations in the international jumping competition.

But the question came up today: what is this country going to do for a team to replace the three star members now planning to retire — at least for the year — after the Toronto winter fair in Canada ends Nov. 22. The U. S. has been invited to two shows in Mexico next month.

Arthur McCashin of Pluckemin, N. J., captain of the U. S. team, and Billy Steinkraus of Westport, Conn., both of whom competed in the Olympic games last summer in Helsinki, along with Maj. John Russell, now on Army duty in Germany, say they are through. The same goes for Mrs. Carol Durand, the Kansas City housewife who left a husband and baby at home to return to international competition at the current Madison Square Garden show.

"This is all swell," said young Steinkraus, star of the U. S. team who has won three individual championships including the President of Mexico Trophy last night.

"But it isn't putting any money in the bank for me. I have to go back to work."

Steinkraus, 27, and McCashin have been under a terrific grind for 14 months, while Mrs. Durand kept in trim at home since she wasn't eligible for the Olympics. McCashin has a wife and family at his New Jersey farm and he's seen very little of them for more than one year.

Brig. Gen. Alfred G. Tuckerman, president of the national show, says Maj. Jek Burton, with the U. S. Army at Ft. Knox, Ky.; Charles B. Lyman Jr., West Chester, Pa.; Carter Bullar, Grosse Pointe, Mich.; and Philip Tate, Southern Pines, N.C., are anxious to ride on a new team.

But, the major problem is horses. Three on leave from the U. S. Army—Democrat, now 19; Totilla, 20-year-old captured German horse; and Rattler — are showing signs of wear.

The only two figured certain are Reno Kirk, owned by Mrs. John W. Wofford, Ft. Riley, Kan., and Paleface, owned by Sam J. Campbell, Mt. Carroll, Ill. Help must be sought from owners of jumpers, if the U. S. is to appear in Mexico — and for that matter, in the international competition next year.

Notre Dame-Oklahoma Game Tops Week-End Grid Card

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—The college football season begins its mad rush down the home stretch tomorrow with the Notre Dame-Oklahoma game in the form of bowl games and glory in the form of conference championships for the first time to hit the wire.

With the exception of the University of Maryland — rated second in the Associated Press' weekly poll — all the big boys get into action. Except for Oklahoma, the undefeated teams all seem to have easy sailing.

The Sooners, well on their way to another Big Seven crown, a title on which they have squatter's rights, face Notre Dame in the NCAA's television game of the week. Some of these TV games have been busts since the season started with the intention of bringing in a top game of the day.

The Irish have been in-and-outers most of the season, but although underdogs they should at least make it close for Billy Vessels, and company. If they rise to the occasion, it could be an upset. The Sooners rank fourth in the nation and are undefeated although they've been tied once.

Michigan State, the No. 1 outfit, has a breather (are there anything except breathers for the Spartans these days) in Indiana and the only question seems to be how long Biggie Munn's lads will wait before turning on the power.

Georgia Tech, UCLA and Southern California should have no undue trouble in their day's assignments. Tech, already selected for the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans on New Year's Day, goes against Army, which, although no pushover in any man's league, certainly is not in the Rambler's class.

UCLA and Southern California, in a neck and neck battle for the Pacific Coast Conference title and the Rose Bowl nomination, tangle with Oregon State and Stanford, respectively. For both schools it should be just another warmup as they rush toward their showdown game on Nov. 22.

Kansas, which still has hopes, slight though they are, of winning the Big Seven crown from Oklahoma, should have no trouble in its conference game with Nebraska a team that's only as good as Bobby Reynolds — and he's been hampered with an injury.

In the Big 10 and Southwest Conference, Purdue and Texas are leading the pack in the race for the Rose and Cotton Bowls, and both figure to take one step nearer their league titles. Purdue plays

Minnesota and Texas, which has become a giant in the SWC, tackles Baylor.

Villanova and Mississippi, a pair of teams that are undefeated but tied and have strong hopes of winding up in one of the big bowls — have breezes. Villanova, probably

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A party familiar with the situation says much of Pat Gerald's troubles at Sweetwater can be traced to the fact that some of his boys aren't staying in condition to play football.

"That may or may not be true. In the past, the Ponies have always prided themselves on being in shape."

The Mustangs' big test will come on Nov. 21, when they go to Lamesa. They could still earn the right to represent District 1-AAA in bi-district play, should Lamesa or Big Spring chill Vernon.

Big Spring profited handsomely in prestige by winning at Plainview, but that was about all. The Plainview fans stayed away from the contest in droves. If the Steers covered expenses on their share of the gate, they were lucky.

Vernon turned out only 1,973 strong when Sweetwater played there. The two teams split a 'take' of $1,407.77, after expenses.

Big Spring's next assignment is at Vernon and a bigger gate should result, if the weather is decent. The win over Sweetwater should whet the football appetite of Vernon fans.

The local gridlers, who have only recently discovered they could lug the melon, have—through the first seven games—outgained the opposition both on the ground and through the air, thanks to a healthy effort at Plainview.

The Longhorns have gained 1,286 yards from scrimmage, to 1,186 for the seven foes. Through the zone, the locals have picked up 695 paces, to 578 for the opposition.

That makes for combined gains of 1,981 yards, compared to 1,766 for the enemy.

It indicates clearly the Big Springers are getting better blocking, as well as better ball carrying, than at any time in recent years.

WHERE ARE NAME STARS TODAY?
The Cotton Bowl has always prided itself in offering big name football stars to its audiences, even though the records of the participation teams might not have been so good.

Doak Walker, Sam Baugh, Whizzer White, Hank Lauricella, Babe Parilli, Choo-Choo Justice, Norm Van Brocklin—all have played there.

However, such teams as Alabama, Virginia, Tennessee and Villanova are now being considered as opponents for the Southwest Conference champion New Year's Day. Know any of your boys? Platoon system football has done a lot to de-glamorize the individual.

Did you know that Rusty Russell, SMU's football mentor, is two years older than TCU's Dutch Meyer, who seems to have been coaching from the time the Southwest Conference was organized.

Rusty is 33, Dutch 33.

Weatherly Draws Army Release
SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Gerald Weatherly gets out of the Army this week and will join the Chicago Bears of the National Football League immediately. Weatherly, formerly Rice line star, has been at Fort Sam Houston for two years playing with the football team there.

Weatherly went overseas in April but the illness of his wife made his return necessary and he was reassigned to Fort Sam Houston where he played football this season.

Bert Zagers, Michigan State right halfback, is called the "penguin" by his teammates because he hails from the northern part of Michigan.

the strongest team in the East this year, travels to Oklahoma for a game with the University of Tulsa, while Mississippi figures to get nothing more than a good warmup when it faces Houston.

Eighth ranked Tennessee, the team that won the AP poll last year, with only one defeat on its slate is favored over Louisiana State, while Penn State, which has been mentioned as a possible Cotton Bowl nominee has a fairly tough foe in Syracuse.

Maxwell Fourth In Pro-Am Meet

CARLSBAD, N. M., Nov. 7 (AP)—J. T. Hammett, Snyder, Tex., professional, led the way into the second round of the annual West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament here today.

Hammett shot a 75 yesterday to go with his record-breaking 65 opening day for a 36-hole total of 140.

However, his five-stroke lead of Wednesday had dwindled to one stroke over J. D. Taylor of Clovis, N. M. Taylor had 71 yesterday and 70 Wednesday.

Abe Beckman of Midland, Tex., fired a 69—three under par—to take third with 142 for the two rounds. In fourth place was W. O. Maxwell of Big Spring, Tex., with 144.

Three players were tied for fifth. Dode Forrester of Hobbs, N. M., Boyd Huff of Midland, and Ken Wright of Littlefield, Tex. Each had 145.

The tournament ends today with a final 18 holes over the 6,391-yard Riverside Country Club course.

C. L. Dunivan of Amarillo, Tex., yesterday shot his second straight round of 75 to lead the amateurs.

The Pittsburgh Pirates drew 297,000 less fans this year than last. Their total draw of 686,670 was the smallest since 1945.

JONES CLAN WILL HOLD REUNION ON SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Baylor-Texas football game at Waco tomorrow will be a reunion of the Jones clan. Yes, there will be seven Joneses mixed up with Baylor holding the edge in numbers.

T Jones is Texas' representative. He's the T quarterback who leads the Southwest Conference in passing. Baylor has Charley Jones, defensive halfback; Allen Jones, offensive fullback; Buddy Jones, halfback; Glenn Jones, senior halfback; Pete Jones, business and ticket manager, and Jack Jones, trainer.

Charley Jones is T Jones' brother. But they won't be putting on any brotherly acts at Waco—those boys play for keeps and they aren't thinking about who's the opponent.

T Jones blossomed only this season. Much had been expected of him but he couldn't break into the Texas quarterback spot his first varsity season because he had Ben Tompkins ahead of him. Last year he divided time with Dan Page.

But this season it has been all Jones. He has passed for 843 yards, rushed for 97, scored four touchdowns and passed for six. And Coach Ed Price says he's a brilliant field general.

The largest winning World Series share was $6,772.07 by the Cleveland Indians in 1948.

Tyler's 69-0 Win Shocks Big Six

By The Associated Press
A smashing 69-0 victory by Tyler over the highly-rated Cameron Aggies of Oklahoma furnished a shock to Texas junior college football last night.

This projected Tyler as a strong bowl possibility and also pushed the Aggies forward as probable champions of the Big Six Conference.

Cameron had lost only one game and was a heavy favorite to take the Big Six title.

Paris, also a member of the Big Six Conference, walloped East Texas State B, 27-7, while Henderson County slammed Decatur, 23-6, in a Texas Junior College Conference game.

ON TWO FRONTS Unbeaten Elevens Tangle Tonight

By The Associated Press
Two games matching unbeaten teams headline the Texas school-boy football schedule tonight. For once the spotlight is on classes other than the top one—Class AAAA.

Edison of San Antonio and Harlandale of San Antonio clash with the District 7 title in Class AAA on the line. The winner will become a prohibitive favorite for the championship. Edison is undefeated and untied. Harlandale is undefeated but has been tied.

In Class A, Benavides and Hebronville battle at Hebronville in a clash of undefeated, untied teams. The winner will become an overwhelming favorite to take the District 31 title.

At least one district championship will be determined tonight. Lyford plays at Rio Hondo and the title of District 32 of Class A is definitely in the balance.

All along the line in the lower classes district titles are likely to be determined. Two of the powers of Class A—Wink and White Oak—can put on the clinchers. If Wink beats McCamey it will sack up the District 5 championship. White Oak can clinch District 16 by downing Hawkins.

LaVega, a finalist last year in Class AA, plays West in an important District 21 clash. West can clinch the title by beating LaVega.

In Class AAA McAllen plays at Kingsville in a most important game. The winner will just about sew up the District 8 championship. McAllen is undefeated and untied. Kingsville has lost one game but not in conference play.

There was a scattering of games last night. Austin of Houston tied Lamar of Houston, 7-7, and won on penetrations to take a long step toward the Class AAAA District 7 championship.

Arlington Heights beat Amon Carter-Riverside, 14-13, in the Fort Worth district. Forest licked Crozier Tech, 30-12, in the Dallas district.

In Class AAA Kerrville walloped Burbank (San Antonio), 33-0, in a District 7 conference game.

In Class A Honey Grove licked Farmersville, 26-6, in District 13. La Peria downed LaJoya, 20-13, in District 32.

EAGLES UNBEATEN

Forsan Opposes Eola Tonight

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes, who still have designs on winning the district six-man football flag, take on the Eola Eagles in a non-conference battle at 8 o'clock here tonight.

Efforts to move the game forward to Thursday night did not succeed.

The Eagles will be going after win number nine without a loss. They have already won District Eight laurels.

Eola beat Merton, 10-0, the same team that gave Forsan quite an argument before losing by one point.

The Eagles also own victories over Norton, Brooksmith, Millersville, Talpa, Miles, Morelle and Paint Rock. Eola scored 66 points on the latter team.

It was the third time this season Eola has hit the 60-mark in points. The War Birds beat Brooksmith, 60-12, and Miles, 62-14. Howard Sawyer is the Eola mentor.

Forsan was upended by Garden City last week, 24-14. Up until this time, the Buffs had lost only to Toyah and been tied by Fort Davis.

The Bison are still crippled. Hood Jones appears definitely out and Harold Hicks is almost sure to sit this one out due to injuries suffered in last week's game.

Should Merton slip up on Christoval tonight, the Buffs will be right back in the conference race. The two teams tangled at Merton.

Ackerly Mentor

M. B. Maxwell, Ackerly's football mentor, sends his six-man Eagles into action at home tonight against the Loop Longhorns. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

THIS EVENING

Coahoma Bulldogs Take On Loraine

COAHOMA—The Coahoma Bulldogs seek their eighth win in nine starts tonight when they journey to Loraine for a District 5-B game with Loraine.

The Bulldogs' only loss has been at the hands of Hermleigh. The Coahomans dropped that one, 26-18.

In eight starts this season, the Bulldogs have scored 263 points to 41 for the oppositions. Outside of Hermleigh, only Bronte and Robert Lee have been able to score on the Bulldogs.

Fred Salling's team has twice scored more than 50 points on conference foes. The Bulldogs belted Divide, 68-0, and Trent, 54-0.

Loraine can't boast as gaudy a record as Coahoma but Coach Salling has been warning his forces all week Loraine will be tough. Loraine played better defensive ball against both Hermleigh and Robert Lee than did Coahoma.

The game will match fine passers in Bill Read of Coahoma and Doyle Nix of Loraine, good ball carriers in Jerry Hoover and Jerry Springfield of Coahoma and Roy Johnson and Glen Carroll of Loraine and splendid ends in Billy Joe Cramer and Jack Owens of Coahoma and Bob Price and Wesley Wood of Loraine.

Coahoma seems to have an edge in the line and in reserve strength but the Loraine club will have the advantage on playing on home turf.

Morrison Plays Park Hill Club

College Heights, only team without a victory in Ward School Football League Play, will try to remedy that short-coming Saturday morning at Steer Stadium, when it tackles Washington Place at 11 a.m.

Washington Place scored its initial win of the season last week at the expense of Airport.

In other games Saturday, North Ward plays East Ward at 8 a.m., Airport tackles Central at 9 a.m. and Kate Morrison vies with Park Hill at 10.

Kate Morrison has a chance to go into the lead, since the co-leader, West Ward, will be idle. The teams have each won six games without loss.

Morrison and West square away next week. Arrangements are underway to have that one played at night, possibly Thursday.

Standings:

Team	W	L	T
West Ward	6	0	0
Park Hill	3	1	1
East Ward	2	4	0
North Ward	1	3	3
Airport	1	4	0
Washington	1	4	0

Bosox Pitcher Suffers Mishap

SARASOTA, Fla., Nov. 7 (AP)—Ellis Kinder, Boston Red Sox pitcher, was reported recuperating today from a stomach wound.

Kinder was taken to Sarasota Hospital early Thursday. He was admitted to X-ray examination but hospital authorities said he declined any treatment and left without being admitted as a patient.

The sheriff's office reported deputies had been sent to investigate reports of a disturbance in a home on Siesia Key early Thursday morning.

Deputy Carl Mayer said he made the investigation, found no indication of any law violation and made no arrest. He said Kinder and his host were there at the time.

The Sarasota police department said a call had been received from the hospital at 3 a. m. (EST) Thursday reporting a man who had been cut had been brought there for treatment.

Patrolman Charles Legg went to investigate and reported that he found Kinder was the victim and he quoted Kinder as saying he had been cut during a scuffle at the home of Bud Warfield on Siesia Key. Legg said he learned the incident occurred outside the city limits and the sheriff's office had been notified.

Gridder Is Ill

DAINGERFIELD, Nov. 7 (AP)—Jerry Chambliss, 18-year-old Daingerfield High School football player, is in a hospital with spinal poliomyelitis. He was reported in a satisfactory condition although his case is serious.

Flower Grove Dragons And Knott Billies Vie Tonight

KNOTT — The Dragons of Flower Grove will tangle the Hill Billies in the feature attraction of Knott High School's annual homecoming here Friday.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. The contest will follow an afternoon of festivities and halftime period will be devoted to the crowning of the KHS Football Sweetheart, Jo Sample, and football hero, Phillip Stovall.

All members of the football and pep squads will be on the field for the halftime ceremony.

Knott will carry a season record of six wins and three losses into the fight with the Dragons. The Hill Billies hope to cop the remainder of their games and wind up in second place in the district race, which Union virtually has clinched.

Probable starters for Knott are Richard Parker, center; Bobby Gay, left end and co-captain; David Airhart, right end; Phil Stovall, quarterback and co-captain; Jerry Roman, halfback; and Tiny Bayes, fullback.

The high school homecoming program will get underway at 3 p.m. Friday with open house for school patrons and alumni. Ex-students will meet in the auditorium at 5 p.m. and buffet dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

The ball game is to commence at 7:30 p.m., said Coach Bill Bolin.

Baker On Road To Recovery

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Del Baker, former major and minor league baseball manager, is improving steadily here after a serious illness.

Baker underwent an operation two weeks ago and suffered a relapse shortly afterwards. His condition was termed "critical" for several days but the former baseball figure is now well on the road to complete recovery.

Rice Frosh Smash Aggie Fish, 69-7

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 7 (AP)—Jerry Hall led the Rice Freshmen to a smashing 69-7 victory over the Texas Aggie Freshmen last night. The Owlets got four touchdowns in the first quarter and rolled to a 41-7 half-time lead.

Hall scored three touchdowns and kicked six extra points. Bobby Graham scored twice.

Gottlob Second In Completions

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—A trio of small-college forward passing marksmen, aiming for a new completion record, have their goal in sight.

Sophomore Wes Bair of Illinois State Normal is the forward passing leader among small-college performers with 105 completions. Don Gottlob of Sam Houston State, who had set the pace all season, is second with 103 and Noel Reebenacker of Massachusetts ranks third with 100 bullseyes.

Each tosser has two games remaining in which to surpass the record of 114 completions, set last season by Andy MacDonald of Central Michigan, figures released today by the NCAA disclosed.

Gottlob, who tops the aerial artists in attempts (201), yards gained (1,804) and touchdowns passes (15), also heads the list in total offense with 1,863 yards gained rushing and passing. Reebenacker is runner-up in this department with 1,627 yards.

Both Gottlob and Reebenacker have a chance at eclipsing the total offense record of 2,006 yards, which was set in 1949 by Connie Callahan of Morningside. Gottlob needs only 144 yards to surpass the standard.

Ad Hutschman has gained the most yardage rushing—1,076 yards in eight games, followed by Leo Lewis of Lincoln U. (Mo.) with 1,036 yards in seven contests.

Halfback Mac Moore of Sam Houston State and End Jim Ladd of Bowling Green share pass-catching laurels with 33 receptions apiece. Ladd, the nation's top-scoring pass receiver with 10 touchdowns, needs one more TD via the air lanes to tie the all-time small-college record of 11.

Colorado Western State's Virgil Stan is the most effective punter

Schepps Seeking To Save Club

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 7 (AP)—George Schepps has a drive on here to keep professional baseball in Corpus Christi.

Schepps, owner of the local franchise in the Gulf Coast League, is attempting to incorporate his ball club and pay off its debts. Stock is being offered at $100 per share to raise $60,000. Schepps would retain a 60 per cent interest.

Tommy O'Boyle, Duke University's line coach, played football as a collegian at Tulane.

Dunlap Seeking Commissioner's Post In Texas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—John Dunlap, an informed source says, plans to resign soon as Commissioner of Internal Revenue to become district commissioner for the Bureau of Texas and Oklahoma.

Dunlap, national commissioner since August, 1951, is reportedly anxious to go back to Dallas because of his wife's health, because he is uncomfortable as a political appointee in Washington and because he likes to live and work in Texas.

A career revenue service officer, Dunlap presided over national reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau after George J. Schoeneman resigned, avowedly because of ill health, while the bureau was under congressional investigation.

Dunlap declined recently to comment on published reports he would resign and return to Dallas as a district commissioner, a job which pays about $2,000 less than his present $15,000 salary.

His present assignment is a political appointment and he would be subject to replacement when the Republican administration takes over in January.

Under the plan, directors of internal revenue take the places of politically-appointed collectors and work under district commissioners.

Korean Vets Enrolling In Many Schools Over State

By The Associated Press
Hundreds of Korean War veterans have enrolled in Texas universities and colleges and more are expected next fall.

A Veterans Administration spokesman says veterans of the Korean action are seeking higher education in proportionally higher numbers than their World War II counterparts.

E. M. Cain, who heads the VA's rehabilitation and education division in the 51-county Dallas region, says the influx of Korean War veterans is expected to fill up the dwindling ranks of eligible World War II ex-servicemen and women.

He noted that despite increasing Korean War veterans enrollment G. I. registration for educational programs has slumped over the state.

More Toys Due To Be Bought For Christmas

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—America's Christmas stocking should hold around 600 million dollars worth of toys at retail value this year.

This means American fathers, grandmothers and uncles will be buying 10 per cent more toys this year.

Toy manufacturers in the U. S. estimate toy prices average 5 per cent less than last year and the 10 per cent rise in dollar sales volume will add up to more toys around the Christmas tree.

In addition to more playthings, the young fry will find most of the old favorites in fair supply and many others of new designs and new materials.

The steel strike may mean a shortage of a few old favorites in some stores, because most makers of metal toys had to stop taking orders awhile back.

But there'll be around 20 per cent more plastic toys in the shops this year, with a wholesale value of around 100 million dollars. The toy manufacturers' president, Norman G. Wintermantel, says most of this gain, however, is not at the expense of other types of toys.

About 11 million dollars worth of the toys at retail value will be foreign made, although in the first eight months of this year imports are running 6 per cent behind a year ago.

Pro-Cominform Work Results In Punishing Of 11,130 Yugoslavs

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Interior Minister Alexander Rankovic, boss of Yugoslavia's security police, disclosed today that 11,130 persons have been "punished" for pro-Cominform sympathies since this country's break with Russia and the Soviet satellites in 1948.

He furnished his report to the sixth Congress of the Communist Party of Yugoslavia and told the 2,300 delegates that 4,089 persons of that total still are serving their terms, "doing socially useful labor."

More Texas Counties Can Get Disaster Aid

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—Eighteen more Texas counties are eligible for drought aid.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency notified Gov. Allan Shivers yesterday these counties have been added to the list of approved counties: Dallam, Gregg, Montgomery, Hartley, Rusk, Walker, Oldham, Panola, Trinity, Randall, Nacogdoches, Angelina, Terry, Burleson, Falls, Bowie, Washington and Bell.

There are now 190 counties in the state eligible for federal drought assistance.

World Traffic Signals?

Here are some of the signs United Nations experts hope may eventually replace the variety of road markers and signals now in use in the various countries. The advantages of such a universal system would be to prevent accidents when visiting a foreign land.

Universal System Of Traffic Signals Is Sought By The UN

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — A board of U. N. highway experts has written a code intended to make road signs uniform throughout the world, but they backed up on any idea of reforming traffic cops.

In an attempt to make road and traffic signs intelligible in any language, the experts bear down heavily on the use of symbols instead of words.

If enough nations approve their signs, an American motorist in Timbuktu or Peru would get along just as easily as an Italian in Japan or Iran.

The highway experts agreed on their conclusions after three years' study under U.N. auspices, carrying on a project the League of Nations began in 1926.

The U.S. itself didn't begin to work out uniform traffic symbols until 1945. All 49 states haven't yet adopted all the recommendations of the U.S. manual prepared by a joint committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials, the Institute of Traffic

Engineers, and the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

But there is already a great deal of uniformity among the states and the American system bulks large in the final plans approved by the experts. An American in traffic anywhere abroad would have less trouble with highway markings under the proposed system than many Europeans would have.

The experts came from the U.S., Turkey, India, France, Southern Rhodesia and Chile.

The final agreement on the several score road symbols represented a triumph of common sense. Their agreement to let traffic cops be traffic cops also sounds like common sense.

There was some early talk of trying to get uniformity by prescribing basic elements of two systems. The experts then found there were at least three other police hand signal systems that worked. They all had the same basic characteristics "and are therefore not likely to be confusing to road users," the experts said.

On the grounds that traffic cops make themselves unmistakably understood, the experts decided to skip it.

The experts proposed that after five countries signed the world convention on road signs, it would come into force and other countries could come along and change their road signs to conform as fast as they could.

The biggest change, if the system is finally adopted in the U.S., would be to substitute a broken "X" or St. Andrew's cross, with a railroad track symbol in the center for the familiar cross arms and "RR" that betokens a railroad crossing in this country now.

To a French-speaking driver "RR" means little. His word for railroad is "chemin de fer" or "voie ferree." The German calls it "Eisenbahn," the Russian

"zhelezny dorogoy," the Spanish "ferrocarril," the Turk "cik demiryolu." They all mean "Iron way."

Even in some English-speaking areas, it's "railway," not railroad.

Another big change for U. S. drivers would be the interdictory signs common in Europe to bar entry into one-way streets, or to bar access to certain vehicles.

A red-bordered circle with an inclined bar in red across it is the recommended regulatory sign. An arrow in such a circle would mean no entry; an angled arrow would prohibit right or left turns, depending on which way the arrow turned; a U-shaped arrow would bar a U-turn.

A truck in such a circle would mean no entry for goods-carrying vehicles; a bicycle symbol, no entry for bikes; a horn—that looks like something off an old Stutz Bearcat—means "horn blowing prohibited."

A big red "P" in a red disk would mean restricted parking. A red-inclined bar through such a disk would mean no parking.

Wichita Falls Has TV Station Permit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Communications Commission Thursday issued grants for six new television stations in six cities including Wichita Falls, Tex.

The construction permit at Wichita Falls, which was uncontested, went to White Television Co., Wichita Falls Channel 22.

With these actions, the commission has authorized 98 new TV stations since the lifting of the freeze early this year. It has now worked down through the first 84 TV-less cities on the priority list set up to give first consideration to communities without any television service.

Kashmir Dispute Remains Problem

NEW DELHI (AP)—Will Kashmir become the northern jumping off point for Communist capture of this strategic subcontinent?

Most officials of Prime Minister Nehru's Indian government laugh off the suggestion that picturesque Kashmir, over which India and Pakistan have been disputing for five years, might become a home base for conquest-minded Reds.

But despite official unconcern, behind the scenes in New Delhi uneasiness has been growing over reports of Communist trends inside Kashmir. India, which concluded a "limited accession" pact with Kashmir last April, is still top dog in the Himalayan state bordering both India and Pakistan. But Pakistan has not modified in the least her demands for the territory.

Reports of growing Communist influence on Kashmir are not viewed in the same light here and in Pakistan. A recent dispatch from Lahore, capital of Pakistan's big West Punjab province, quoted the provincial chief minister as saying he would willingly "become a Communist to get Kashmir for Pakistan."

"We would rather risk the Russian way of life than be reunited with India," said Miyan Mumtaz Mohd Kahn Daultana, the West Punjab minister and strong man.

Daultana believes that Pakistan "is just not complete" without Kashmir, says that most Pakistanis blame the United States for the failure to solve the Kashmir deadlock in the United Nations, and declares that Pakistan will be friendly with whatever international bloc "helps us secure a fair settlement of the Kashmir issue."

Speculations in New Delhi about Kashmir Premier Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah's real international intentions have been growing for months. They started with the "limited accession" demands for powers not retained by other states in the Indian union.

Since then Indians have been saying privately they fear the Sheikh may be planning to line up with the Communist bloc after milking dry Indian sources of economic aid. Many Indians watched testily last month when Kashmir received 100 million rupees (21 million dollars) for future economic development in addition to previous substantial grants.

Reports on Sheikh Abdullah's two top government colleagues have especially disturbed the Indians. Ghulam Mohammed Sadiq, president of the Kashmir Constituent Assembly, and Revenue Minister M. A. Beg have been attending Communist-sponsored "peace rallies" and loudly echoing Red charges the U. S. has been waging capital, ostensibly for health reasons.

Critics of Sheikh Abdullah claim Communists have quietly slipped into powerful positions throughout the local governments in Kashmir through the co-operation of Beg and B. P. L. Bedi, long the Sheikh's righthand man.

The anti-Communists insist that Abdullah's original desire to keep the "Red" from opposing his National Conference pact has resulted in a tacit agreement with the Communists.

The official answer of the Abdullah government to these charges appears to be that Sadiq, Beg, and lesser Kashmir leaders known for their Red sympathies are merely intellectual fellow-travelers. National Conference leaders deny their sentence: four days refusing to take refuge at the city dump.

Movieland Excited Over New Vocalist

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD — Most of Hollywood is talking today about a singer named Joanne Gilbert, whose success story combines a little of Cinderella and a little of Svengali.

The 20-year-old girl made her professional debut only a week ago at the Mocambo, famed Sunset strip playground of movie stars and Texas oilmen.

On the strength of this first night club stint, Paramount has signed her for the lead opposite Donald O'Connor in "The Big Song and Dance." It also earned her smaller parts in "Forever Female" and "Houdini."

A few months ago, this girl confined her singing to the shower, although her father, Ray Gilbert, is a famous song writer and coach of such singers as Tony Martin, Toni Arden and others.

She had been working as a model until last summer. Then she told her father that she thought she could sing. He took a listen, and as he puts it: "She discovered herself right under my nose."

Since then the father groomed her for a professional debut. Local critics did cartwheels after her Mocambo opening.

Joanne combines a little of the styles of Lena Horne and Billy Daniels, yet comes out like a nightclub Debbie Reynolds.

Her father claims he put only about 12 hours actual training on Joanne. But her poise in front of an audience is the sort of thing that veteran performers acquire only after years.

Gilbert is the composer of such tunes as "You Belong to My Heart," "Cuanto le Gusta," "Bala," and the Oscar-winning "Tip-Dee-Dee-Doo-Dah."

Gilbert is one of those behind-the-scenes talents who make their proteges famous but seldom themselves.

"My daughter," he says, "is the fulfillment of all my own dreams of show business."

Although Joanne is a sexy extrovert on the stage, she is very shy in person.

Gilbert discloses that her one passion before taking up singing was knitting.

He will not allow her to appear in formal evening dress, as do most night club singers. He designed a pair of long evening slacks covered with sequins, topped with a white silk mannish-type blouse, for her debut.

Charlie Morrison, owner of the Mocambo, wouldn't go for the long pants and made her cut them off below the knee. As a result, all the critics without fail commented on the black pedal pushers.

Pink Bollworms Discovered In 36 More Counties During '52

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
 Pink Bollworms have been found in 36 new counties this year, according to H. P. Prickett of Lubbock, area supervisor of the Division of Pink Bollworm Control, and Bert Badger, in charge of the division's Big Spring office in the basement of the Postoffice.

They say 31 of these counties are in East Texas, one is in Louisiana and three are on the Texas South Plains. In 1936 only three counties showed a spread and one of these was Hockley, up on the Plains. The next year three more counties were added in South Texas. Since then the pink bollworms have been found in more and more counties until most of Texas shows some infestation, and these insects are moving east into Louisiana and north into Oklahoma. They have been found as far north as Tucumcari, New Mexico, the farthest north point they have ever reached.

Referring to the use of cotton burs and gin trash on the land, Prickett warns that people growing cotton are going to furnish the hazard that is really going to cost them and others. He says that putting burs back on the land is a way of providing an insulation that will guarantee that the pink bollworms will live through the winter. He feels that the growers are jeopardizing the entire cotton industry in Texas by not doing all within their power to eradicate this destructive insect.

Prickett says there are four measures that can be taken to get rid of this year's infestation, and lists these as (1) burying all trash at least eight inches, (2) burning all the burs and trash, (3) composting the material which will generate enough heat to kill all the weed seeds as well as the insects, and (4) heating the material in a cotton seed fertilizer or some similar device to obtain 100 per cent mortality on all pink bollworms. There is every indication, these men say, that there will be a heavier infestation next year. He points out that four years ago the Coastal Bend was only lightly infested and that this year as many as 150,000 pink bollworms to the acre have been found.

It is difficult for the farmer who doesn't know just how to look for them to find pink bollworms, and the infestation in Howard and the surrounding counties is heavier this year than it ever has been.

Growers wondering about their crops may collect green bolls from random over their crops and take these to Badger's office for examination. A number of farmers have already done this and have been somewhat surprised at the infestation discovered. The pink bollworm feeds in the cotton seed. This results in complete or partial destruction of the bolls, and a decided reduction in the quality of seed and lint. In very severe infestations, squares and bolls are shed as under boll weevil attack.

Labor Will Get Salute At Game

HOUSTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Organized labor is going to get recognition at a football game here, probably the first time such a thing has happened.

A "Salute to Labor" will feature the University of Houston-University of Mississippi contest here Saturday night at half-time ceremonies.

Dr. W. W. Kemmerer, Houston U. president, will present scrolls to AFL, CIO and Independent union representatives. Earlier in the day there will be a parade in downtown Houston.

Live Navy Shell Is Dug Up In Okinawa

SHURI, Okinawa (AP)—Lt. Thomas F. Coots of Akron, O., and his Army bomb disposal squad dug up a live 16-inch Navy shell the other day in an Okinawan garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Tamwhak Yuko had been praying regularly to the 2,000-pound shell since it landed in their garden more than seven years ago.

27 HS Students Are Placed On The Honor Roll

Twenty-seven pupils have made the scholastic roll of distinction at Big Spring Senior High School.

These are the young men and women who have averaged 90 or above on all their subjects, and they are in addition to the 111 who made the honor roll of 80 or above. Roy D. Worley, principal, pointed out.

Actually, those on the scholastic roll of distinction averaged 95, said Worley.

Those making 80 or above in their subjects constitute 25.55 per cent of the 540 membership of the school.

On the other extreme, said Worley, there were 22 students falling two or more courses, or four per cent of the enrollment, which is less than their classmates at the top end, who accounted for five per cent. In the failing group are many who passed two or more courses, but, as Worley said regretfully, "We had some who failed all their courses."

Those in the upper five per cent on grades are Robert Angel, Mary Bigony, Susie Blankenship, Janice

Group To Review Schools' Records

Reports from medium sized high schools within a 31-county area will be reviewed Saturday by a committee headed by W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring superintendent.

This committee will check records of high schools within the 500 to 1,000 enrollment class to support their membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

This group, which is a subcommittee of one embracing smaller and larger schools of the West Texas district, will make its observations and recommendations to the state committee at Austin.

For the first time, the committee will have the power to recommend membership to new schools which may be making application for membership next year in the Southern Association.

Religious Music Program Slated

Another of the popular programs of religious music, by famous quartets, comes to Big Spring under auspices of the American Legion post.

A "battle of songs" between the quartets is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 8 p.m. at the city auditorium.

Appearing will be The Rangers Quartet of Dallas, recognized as one of the leaders throughout the Southwest in their field of music; and the Le Fever Quartet of Atlanta, another popular aggregation throughout the South.

A variety program of spirituals, hymns and the "singing convention" type of stirring vocal music will be presented.

The Legion has sponsored several such programs in recent months. Whether they will be continued is to be determined by the acceptance given next week's event, officers said.

Alger Hiss Seeks Parole From Jail

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department says Alger Hiss has formally applied for parole from the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary.

Hiss, a former State Department employe, was convicted of perjury in 1950 in denying he gave secret documents to a Communist courier and began serving a five-year term in March, 1951. He becomes eligible for parole Nov. 21, when he will have completed one-third of his time in prison.

The five-man parole board will hold a hearing next week, possibly Wednesday. If Hiss' application is approved, he could leave prison Nov. 21.

Judiciary Chairman Due To Be Langer

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP)—A big question mark hung over the future of the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee today in an ironic twist to the Republican election victory. In the last two years, under the chairmanship of Democratic Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, the subcommittee has supplanted the House Un-American Activities Committee as the chief congressional group probing for Communist influences in and out of government.

A unit of the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which McCarran also is chairman, the subcommittee has a number of investigations under way now. One of these is a hunt for any American Communists working for the United Nations.

Re-ubli:an control of the Senate will "no" McCarran out of his Judiciary Committee chairmanship, and the outlook is that his successor will be Sen. William Langer (R-ND).

Langer was among the small band of senators who fought two years ago in a dramatic all-night session to uphold President Truman's veto of the Internal Security Act sponsored by McCarran. During the night Langer collapsed and had to be carried from the Senate chamber on a stretcher.

After enactment of the law, the international security subcommittee was set up in December, 1950, to police its enforcement. It also was given broad power to investigate the espionage and subversive activities generally.

Its authority will expire on Dec. 31, however, and it is doubtful whether Langer, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, would seek to have it extended.

Even if the subcommittee were given a new lease on life, Langer would be in a position to change its whole complexion since the chairman appoints the members.

Ike May Skip Japan On Flight To Korea

By OLEN CLEMENTS TOKYO (AP)—Diplomatic and Army sources speculated today that President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower might skip Japan on his forthcoming visit to Korea and fly direct from Okinawa or Wake Island to Seoul.

They suggested two reasons why he might by-pass Japan: 1. Protocol would require that he call on Emperor Hirohito.

2. Security measures would be simplified if he did not stop in Japan.

The question of jet fighter cover to protect his plane on the trip from Japan to Korea also is a factor.

Army headquarters said no direct word on the Eisenhower visit had been received from Washington. But a decision is expected within two weeks.

Price Specialist Here Next Week

An Office of Price Stabilization field representative will be in Big Spring Wednesday to advise local firms on the use of the new OPS ceiling price posters.

The posters have been mailed to businesses that have filed ceiling price lists with OPS under regulation 34. They are required to display the posters within seven days after their receipt.

Sam R. Blake, price specialist of the Lubbock OPS office, will be at the Chamber of Commerce from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Wednesday. He asked all businessmen who have questions about the service posters or any other phase of the price stabilization program to contact him while he is here.

By Franklin Reynolds

At the time of this week's report Howard County gins had turned out 655 bales to date. It is estimated that 1,400 bales will be ginned in this county, one half of which will be cotton grown outside the county.

Some of the to-date reports by gins are Guitlar at Big Spring 175 bales; Planters at Knott 48; Co-Op at Knott 201; Guitlar at Knott 100 and Painters at Luther 130 bales.

Martin County gins to date report 6,182 bales out of an estimated 15,000 or approximately 41 per cent. Some of the reports are Farmers at Stanton 1,170 bales; Guitlar at Stanton 958; Co-Op at Stanton 385; Paymaster at Courtney 535; Lenora Gln 1,425; Guitlar at Flower Grove 277; Paymaster at Brown 72 and Three League at Ackerly 800 bales.

Mitchell County reports the ginning of 536 bales out of an estimated 1,000.

Dr. Irving P. Krick, director of the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver, with which the West Texas Weather Improvement District has had a cloud seeding contract in an effort to increase precipitation, will speak at Coleman, Thursday, November 13, it has been announced.

Interested farmers, ranchers and businessmen from over a nine-county area are invited to attend and the general public is also invited.

His speech will be made in the Courthouse at 1:30 p. m. after having dinner with some folks invited by the First Coleman National Bank. At 10 a.m. that day he will attend a conference in Coleman.

Grady Cross and Gene O'Daniel have been named as delegates from the Howard County Farm Bureau to the state convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation at the Plaza Hotel, San Antonio, Monday through Wednesday, with delegate registration starting Sunday.

C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, vice president of the state organization will preside in the absence of President J. Walter Hammond, who will be unable to attend because of illness. DeVaney has been in the state headquarter office at Waco for several days now making arrangements for the state meeting.

The Santa Gertrudis herd of Texas A&I College at Kingsville has been increased by another 15 heifers, a gift from Richard King of Corpus Christi.

King made a similar gift to the College Farm last year. In addition to the 30 head of Santa Gertrudis given by King, the College also has 10 head from the Don Stone Ranch near Raymondville. Under an arrangement with Stone, the cattle are on loan and the offspring from this group will be divided equally between the College Farm and Stone.

In the heart of the Santa Gertrudis country, A&I College plans to build up a good herd of Santa Gertrudis, and from this breeding herd to sell animals for cattle improvement elsewhere through sales conducted on the farm.

Other beef breeds represented on the farm are a herd of 19 Afrkanders and a herd of 12 Herefords. Between 50 and 55 Jerseys make up the College's dairy herd.

Since Howard County is "The Herefordshire of West Texas" it would, indeed, be nice if land and cattle arrangements could be made for the agricultural department of Howard County Junior College to establish a Hereford Herd, possibly through some such arrangement with Howard County Hereford breeders as A&I has with the Stone Ranch on the Santa Gertrudis. It might even be possible to consolidate some FFA, 4-H and Junior College activities in such a herd enterprise.

Maybe in time it can be worked out.

Our daughter enrolled in the Junior High School, has come home with a book with which I find fault. The volume is some sort of a reader used in literature classes, I would gather, although I have never asked her.

The fault as I see it lies in a picture of Jesse James which shows him with American flags on either side of his collar. I can't believe Jesse James ever wore any such shirt unless he killed some damn yankee and in an emergency took the shirt to cover his nakedness.

Jesse got his start with Quantrell's guerrillas in Missouri and Kansas. Federal troops caused him more quick saddling and fast riding than the Pinkertons detectives. He was an unregenerate rebel right up until the minute Bob Ford murdered him, because United States marshals had taken up, after Reconstruction, right where the Federal troops left off.

Some artist used his imagination on that picture. The flags that should have been on that shirt were the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy.

A reader reports a sign he saw at the gate of a ranch over in the New Mexico country, not so far from Roswell, just before the election. The sign said:

"If Eisenhower is Elected Rabbit Hunting Will Be Prohibited on This Ranch—I'll Need Them All Myself."

Our informant further reports the ranch is pretty well dotted with producing oil wells.

About one-third of the United States is arid or semi-arid.

Actress Is Seeking Monthly Support Of Self And Daughter

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Actress Rosemary Lane was in court yesterday asking for $1,245.98 a month support for herself and daughter, Susan Bridge. She declared her husband, makeup artist Bud Westmore, needs only $400 a month. Westmore testified he has turned over his paychecks to his wife for the last 10 years and that she gave him an allowance. "Last year it was $15 a week," he said.

His lawyer told the court Westmore earns only $1,300 a month. Superior Judge Mildred Lille continued the case until Dec. 4 and advised the couple to try to reach an agreement with the aid of a marriage counselor.

Uranium Strike Is Found On Island Cursed By Indians

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—A uranium strike of "more than passing interest" had been made on a group of Northwestern Ontario islands that Indian legends describe as cursed. Tribal lore says they light up during electrical storms.

The find on the Manitou Islands at the eastern end of Lake Nipissing was announced last night by Province Mines Minister Philip T. Kelly. Samples tested after several months of eGiger counter surveys ran as high as 11-100ths of one per cent uranium.

The Manitous are a group of five Indian legends tell of braves who made war paint from a red oxide found there and later died of bone disease.

The first kindergarten was set up in 1837.

THE COMPASSION OF JESUS

HE HEALED THE SICK AND FORGAVE SINS

Scripture—Matthew 9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.
OUR LAST LESSON told of Jesus' meeting human needs with His power of healing. Today that theme is continued, showing His infinite compassion for common people who were in trouble. Also it shows that even in the earlier days of His mission, the Pharisees and scribes were present to use His own words against Him so that they might have grounds to accuse and seize Him.

We have many scientists who have been of help to suffering mankind—Wilhelm Roentgen, who developed the X-ray; Marie Curie, who, with her husband, discovered radium; the doctors who first produced insulin, the sulfa drugs, etc.

There are people in the world today who believe that faith alone can cure disease. They are earnest souls who have a perfect right to their beautiful faith. The majority of people believe, however, that we of today cannot perform the miracles that Jesus did during His brief sojourn on earth, and use the instruments of modern skill to help, believing that they too come from our Maker working through men. They too have faith.

Capernaum, "His own city," is he invited many publicans and sinners. Jesus ate with them, and for this the Pharisees criticized Him. Jesus answered them by saying, "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick."

"But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice; for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

While Christ was explaining why His disciples did not fast as did John's disciples, because He (the Bridegroom) was still with them, and when He left them there was time to fast, a "certain ruler" came, saying that his daughter "is even now dead; but come and lay Thy hand upon her, and she shall live."

On His way to the girl's bedside, a woman who had long been ill touched the hem of His garment, knowing that if she could but do that she would be cured. Christ's compassionate words to her were, "Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole." The woman went away cured.

As the Lord came to the ruler's house hired mourners were making a noise. "He said unto them,

MEMORY VERSE

"But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were distressed and scattered, as sheep not having a shepherd."—Matthew 9:36.

the scene of most of the miracles of healing assigned to our lesson today.

As He landed from a ship and came to the city, a man who was helpless from palsy was brought to Him by friends. Jesus said to him, "Son, be of good cheer; thy sins are forgiven you." Scribes said, "This man blasphemeth."

Jesus read their thoughts and said to them, "Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts. For whether is easier to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise and walk?"

"But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins (then said He to the sick of palsy), Arise, take up thy bed and go into thine house." And the man did as Jesus said.

Other accounts of this healing tell how the man was let down through the roof of the house by ropes that he might come into Jesus' presence. The multitudes who saw this miracle marveled and glorified God.

Then Jesus passed the "receipt of customs" and saw Matthew, a publican from his people for his dishonest dealings. Jesus said, "Follow Me," and Matthew left his disagreeable job and followed the Lord.

So rejoiced was he at this deliverance from his task that he made a great celebration to which Give place; for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth." They laughed at Him, but when these people were sent away, Jesus went to the girl and took her by the hand, and "the maid arose."

When Jesus left the house He was followed by two blind men, who cried, "Thou son of David, have mercy on us."

Jesus said, "Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said, Yea, Lord." Jesus touched their eyes, and they were opened.

A dumb man was brought to Him next, and when the devil that possessed him was cast out, the dumb spoke, and again all men marveled. The Pharisees said, however, "He casteth out devils through the prince of devils."

So our tender and gracious Lord went about in the cities and villages preaching and healing every sickness. And, "when He saw the multitudes He was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd."

"Then saith He unto His disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth laborers into His harvest."

He doubtless knows that we too are "as sheep having no shepherd," and need to feel His compassionate touch and healing spirit.

AT BIG SPRING CHURCHES

Guest Speakers To Fill Pulpits In Some Local Churches Sunday

Several local churches will have guest speakers filling the pulpits at services Sunday while the pastors are away from the city. In other churches, sermons will cover a wide range of subjects.

BAPTIST
Dr. R. A. Springer, state secretary of the Baptist General Convention, will speak at the morning services of the First Baptist Church in the absence of the pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who is conducting a revival in Lubbock. Dr. O'Brien will return in time to speak Sunday evening.

The pulpit of the Lee's Baptist Church will be supplied Sunday at 11 a.m. by J. B. McDow of Big Spring, members of the congregation have announced. At 7:30 p.m., Dr. P. W. Malone will show films taken on a tour of the Holy Land a year and a half ago. The church is temporarily without a pastor since the resignation of the Rev. W. P. Kirk, who transferred his ministry to California.

CATHOLIC
Masses will be conducted by the Rev. William J. Moore, OMI, at 7 and 9:30 a.m. at St. Thomas Catholic Church. Rosary will be recited at 5 p.m.

The Rev. Paul Hally, OMI, will say masses at 8 and 9:30 a.m. at the Sacred Heart (Latin-American) Catholic Church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
God has given man dominion over all the earth and this heritage affords protection from evil, is the theme brought out in the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon, "A Dam and Fallen Man" to be read at the church Sunday, selections from Romans in the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read.

FIRST CHRISTIAN
The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the First Christian Church, will discuss "Accentuate the Positive" at the morning services of the church. That evening, he will speak on "Beginners Again."

CHURCH OF CHRIST
"The Conversion on Pentecost" will be the morning sermon topic of James Record, minister of the Ellis Homes Church of Christ. At the evening service, he will discuss "Assurance."

I'LL ASK FATHER

When Jimmy has a question, his first thought is, "I'll go ask Father." And Father has an answer, or if he hasn't he'll try to find it for Jimmy. Father can't be there always to answer Jimmy's questions. But there is a Father who never goes away, who never dies—your Father, our Father in Heaven.

The boy or girl who learns to seek answers to his problems by reading the Bible and by asking his Father's will through prayer, will never be at a loss for guidance as long as he lives.

If you want your children to find this unfailing guide to a satisfying life, take them to Church and Church school. It can be your most precious gift to them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Bible Thought For Today—

It is a good thing to show affection to old and trusted friends, and many tender memories cluster round the church of our childhood. No church is perfect but it is the best influence civilization knows. "I have set my affection to the house of my God." — 1 Chronicles 29:3.

There Needs To Be Some Division And Combination Of Precincts

At this particular moment, talk is full of post-mortems over the general election. First of all, we should like to point out that it is possible to get out a large vote. The fact that all records are broken by a margin of 2,000 ballots in Howard County is most heartening; that it happened in a general election, where even the presidential years have always produced a considerable lesser vote than in the first democratic primary, is even more remarkable. While it is not likely that there will be as much effort, time and money put into another election within the foreseeable future, the force of constant promotion through all media is evident. We should not forget this in encouraging people to go to the polls in all manner of elections to come. The second thing we want to point out is the desperate need for reforming of our voting boxes. Of a total vote of 8,500 in the county, no less than 6,418 votes were cast in five Big Spring boxes. That is an average of better than 1,200 votes per box. Yet there are 10 other boxes in the county. Certainly the urban boxes are expected to be much heavier than rural ones, but there is no valid argument against the thesis that the number of rural boxes is too large, especially where they are falling under even so small a number as 100 votes. Someone suggested that as the minimum for a voting precinct. We think it ought to be even higher. Most of all, we believe that there needs to be some divisions and some combination.

Eisenhower Becomes A Captive, But It Is To The Secret Service

At the Eisenhower headquarters in New York's Commodore Hotel and at Adlai Stevenson's in Springfield, Ill., a group of hard-eyed, unsmiling men of hefty proportions and unwinking vigilance stood by for hours while the election returns rolled in.

limes; besides, the new President-elect is a gregarious person. But whether he likes it or not, Ike's footsteps will be dogged by his Secret Service body guards from now until he steps out of office. This is by decree of Congress, with good reason: Three Presidents were assassinated while in office, others were shot at, and one ex-President—Theodore Roosevelt—was wounded.

When President-elect Eisenhower and his Mamie left the hotel for their Columbia University residence at 3:15 a.m. Wednesday, this group of unobtrusive men went along with them. Presumably the group in Springfield withdrew and left the defeated Stevenson in his own device. But for Ike there will be no escaping the eyes of these men as long as he is President. They are Secret Service agents, assigned to guard him against assassination with their lives. Many Presidents found this day-and-night vigil over their comings and goings onerous and distasteful, none more so than Calvin Coolidge, who delighted to give them the slip whenever he could, which was not often. It will be less onerous and distasteful for Dwight Eisenhower than for most of his predecessors. As a military man he is used to having men around him at all

In each instance these attacks were by cranks or lunatics. Other countries have had political assassinations, but usually they were the result of plots by small or large groups. There has been nothing of that kind in this country except in the case of Lincoln, and there has always been some doubt about the genuineness of the plot against his life—essentially, it was the work of the mad John Wilkes Booth, though others were tried, convicted and executed as accessories. None of them was very bright; none was a political figure. The safety of the President of the United States is of proper concern to every citizen, and quite properly Congress has provided for it.

Eisenhower Upsets Pollsters, 'Prosperity' And Labor Vote

Three quick reactions to General Eisenhower's victory:

One, prosperity doesn't assure a show-in for the party in power. Where did that idea come from, anyway?

Two, George Gallup and other Presidential pollsters must be terribly unhappy. They didn't trust their figures and this time their figures were right. In 1948, when they relied on their results, they were wrong.

Three, Bill Green, Phil Murray, and John L. Lewis are leading a lost flock. The labor vote isn't behind the union leaders. Therefore, union leaders had better re-examine their politics. Are they out of touch with the sentiment of their members?

It's hard to find out how myths, how political fables, become established. Sure, it makes sense to say that in bad times voters will throw the ins and out in good times will keep 'em in. But look at the exceptions.

In 1876, a depression year, Rutherford B. Hayes continued the Republicans in power. He squeaked in over Samuel J. Tilden, who had a majority of the popular vote. In 1892, Benjamin Harrison sought re-election during a period of prosperity, but was defeated by Grover Cleveland. William Howard Taft was elected in 1908, just after the panic of 1907, maintaining the Republican regime. And Calvin Coolidge won in 1924, although the prosperity of the 'twenties was suffering a mild relapse. And now comes Eisenhower to further disprove the myth that prosperity perpetuates political power and vice versa.

time to cast their votes they were even more doubtful about Dewey.

This time, Gallup assumed the undecideds would vote much as they did last time. He assumed a 2-to-1 Democratic split and a 3-to-1 Democratic split. The 2-to-1 split left Eisenhower with a 51-49 advantage, the 3-to-1 split gave a 50-50 result. And so, Gallup said the election would be close.

Had Gallup made the same assumption that he did last time, he'd have hit the final result virtually on the nose—54 per cent voting for Eisenhower and 46 per cent voting for Stevenson, as against an indicated nation-wide tally of 55 per cent to 45 per cent. Not bad!

This goes to prove that poll-are no better than the statistical universe they cover. Gallup wasn't bad on those who answered. But he had to guess on those who didn't—the undecided. He guessed wrong in '48 and again in '52. When John L. Lewis, then President of the CIO, split with Franklin Roosevelt in 1940 and plumped for Wendell Willkie, it was no great surprise that he didn't carry his miners along with him. After all, he was indulging his pique and the miners knew it. Furthermore, other CIO labor leaders, notably Philip Murray, were backing Roosevelt. Again, in 1950, when Senator Robert A. Taft swept Ohio, in spite of the opposition of labor leaders, the results weren't "set aside." His opponent wasn't much. Therefore, it didn't mean that the labor leaders had no influence on the rank and file.

The Eisenhower victory is entirely different. The general swept across so-called class lines. He got a good part of the labor vote, in spite of near-unanimous labor-boss opposition. Stevenson was supported by the AFL, CIO, railroad brotherhoods, and Lewis. This suggests that workers look upon their leaders as business agents—as their representatives in collective bargaining—rather than as political spokesmen. In the polling booth, they're their own bosses. Apparently, they were concerned about Korea, corruption and Communism. Apparently, they never quite believed the labor-leader charge that the Taft-Hartley Act is a slave-labor law. Stevenson, himself, destroyed that notion by saying it wasn't. Basically, for labor there was no clear-cut issue in the campaign—at least, no issue clear enough to warrant such unadulterated support as Murray, Green, Lewis and others gave Stevenson.

It was simply a case of the labor leader saying to the rank and file, "We like the Democrats better. We can do business with them." The rank and file, presumably, felt that, as business agents, the labor leaders ought to be able to do business with anybody in the White House. That's what labor leaders are elected and paid for.

Some 660 Jobs Are Listed As Being 'At The Pleasure Of The President'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Since he moves into the White House Jan. 20, Gen. Eisenhower has a little over 2 1/2 months to get ready for the presidency. One of his first and most ticklish problems is naming the right men for key government jobs, such as the secretary of state and the secretary of defense, who will be members of his Cabinet. He'll have to rely on them for guidance in the years ahead. And he knows, without reading any more history than that of the past four years, how much damage a poor selection can do his administration.

Because they've won control of both Congress and the executive branch of the government, the Republicans will be able to name people to a lot of jobs. There are two main kinds of jobs which the President can fill by appointment. In one kind he can appoint a man for a certain number of years, fixed by law; in the other kind the jobs are "at the pleasure of the President," meaning the President can give them and take them away when he pleases. A White House researcher said there are about 660 jobs "at the pleasure of the President." They include the very top government posts and can be broken down into about six categories:

1. Heads and assistant heads of departments. In this group are the Cabinet members—the secretaries of all the departments—and their undersecretaries and assistant secretaries.

2. Others in the departments, of each department (each department has a staff of lawyers and ministers, and such jobs as director of geological survey, commissioner of reclamation, commissioner of Indian affairs, director of the Bureau of Mines.

3. Heads and assistant heads of independent agencies. A couple of good examples here are the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Civil Service Commission.

4. Others in independent agencies. For example: the commissioner of education (in the Federal Security Administration) and the director of locomotive inspection (in the Interstate Commerce Commission).

5. Miscellaneous boards and commissions. Truman created such special groups as the Missouri River Basin Survey Commission, the Presidential Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation, and the President's Committee on Equality of Treatment in the Armed Services.

6. International organizations

Europeans Don't Like The Bragging Type American

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP)—If there is anything an American cannot stand, it is to be disliked. And the feeling he is disliked now abroad ruins the visit of many a tourist to Europe. "You know, they really don't like us over here," one tourist tells another, and adds virtuously: "After all we did for them, too—I just can't understand it."

all the other enemy symbols of their propaganda literature. You can feel this visible hatred, and it makes you uneasy and depressed, because what can you do about it? Nothing. It gives you a kind of brief hopeless loneliness, to be hated in this unreasoning way, and it takes some of the luster from your vacation.

It is this attitude, of course, this air of bragging look-at-all-we-did-for-you, that is sure to win contemptuous dislike wherever and whenever it is displayed. The ordinary European doesn't like to be regarded as an object of charity; he does not regard Uncle Sam's roving nephews as philanthropists, and in any case he is unwilling to drop dead of gratitude for anybody.

The best way to win friends and influence people in Europe is to avoid taking personal credit for the Marshall Plan, and if the subject even is mentioned, look surprised and say, "The Marshall Plan? What is it?" This will endear you forever to all Europeans within hearing. Most of them are weary of explaining why, despite all the good American dollars poured so generously into their country, it still looks slightly shabbier than the Garden of Eden.

In Italy, as elsewhere in Europe, the Marshall Plan comes in for a lot of ribbing. As we passed a huge apartment project on the outskirts of Rome, our Italian guide explained it was being built with Marshall Plan funds and added: "No one with biceps is allowed to move in—for fear he will jar the walls down."

Actually, the average American tourist's feelings about Europe abroad is generally exaggerated, except in Communist areas. There he is not only disliked; he is actively hated. The tourist passes unnoticed in the shopping centers or promenade avenues of big Italian cities. But let him stroll down a side street populated by Communist supporters and he cannot mistake the meaning of the black looks in the faces turned his way. To them he is no mere tourist on a vacation—he personifies Wall Street, rampant capitalism, World War III, and

British Crown Has Little Power, But It's Still A Core Of Unity

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

In a way you've got to hand it to the British for holding on to a symbol which has repeatedly proved to be a core of unity, regardless of how the Empire's politics turned.

We refer to the crown, long since reduced to insignificance insofar as real power is concerned, but still something big in the eyes of all Britons.

It makes no difference in England whether you are a liberal, conservative, radical, or what have you, there is still respect for the crown, and on that point a vast majority of all British subjects invariably agree.

Back during the days immediately preceding the American Revolution the crown held the same respect that it does today. The American colonists were disgruntled, but even so, they maintained that their allegiance to the crown was not involved. It was Parliament, they said, which was responsible for all their woes.

Red Coats of His Majesty's Army, but they contended that they were not really fighting against the king. If the king only knew about their plight he would order the British troops removed and deal harshly with Parliament for the indignities it committed against the Americans.

These people were sincere, and the fact continued well into the Revolutionary War that two factions were fighting each other, while both maintained allegiance to a common individual, the king.

Last Tuesday, while American people of a generation who know nothing about "nobility" except what they have read in history books went to the polls, the eyes of England were focused intently upon the crown. It was the prescribed day for Queen Elizabeth II to open Parliament. Members of opposing political factions looked eagerly and listened with interest while the Queen made the traditional speech to the empire's lawmakers.

Writer Discusses Moral, Ethics Insofar As Education Concerned

McCall's Magazine, which goes principally to women, ran a story recently which bore this headline:

"Danger's Ahead in the Public Schools." If somebody is attacking your child's teachers and textbooks, find out what he's after. It may be the ruin of public education.

I have not looked at McCall's in years, but my wife reads it, and I caught that headline over her shoulder. As a parent, I am interested in the Communist infiltration into our school system which has been proved conclusively as to pattern by various committees of Congress and State legislatures.

The author of this article, John Bainbridge, does not bear a name familiar to me in either the fields of education or anti-Communism.

To get back to this article, it starts this way:

"A bewildering disease that threatens to reach epidemic proportions has infected the public schools in America. It has already struck in scores of communities from coast to coast. It is spreading at a gallop. It contaminates the rich and poor community alike, and its effects are malignant."

"The disease does not attack the body but, rather, the mind and the spirit. It produces unreasoning fear and hysteria. It causes distrust and animosity among the citizens and toward the schools. It impairs the morals of teachers and administrators. It creates in students a paralyzing apathy toward exploring controversial subjects. Its overall effect is to induce conformity and rigidity of thought."

So far, so good! I imagined that here was a recruit to anti-Communism, perhaps a young writer who, disgusted by the regimentation of thought under Stalin's rule, was going to fight the Americans who have become Joe's slaves wherever he can discover them.

Imagine my surprise when I found that this article is really nothing of the sort. It is an attack on anti-Communists. It warns parents to beware of patriots who give their time and energy to the exposure of left wing efforts to corrupt our children. As an example, he cited, in October, 1952, a quarrel among citizens in Scarsdale, a suburb of New York City, in 1949.

While this issue of McCall's Magazine was on the stands, the McCarran committee was actually in session in New York investigating Communist teachers, some of whom were summarily dismissed because they refused to answer pertinent questions. The McCarran committee, which has only broached the subject, produced enough evidence to indicate the trend which the patriotic citizens of Scarsdale were calling to the attention of their more complacent neighbors.

It would appear from Mr. Bainbridge's article that one reason that text-books given to school children have wrong ideas in them is that they are honest. This is a question of honesty. I once had an argument about that with one of the very top text-book publishers in American. His view was that Russia could be lied about, favorably, of course, when Stalin was our ally. It was then thought to be advantageous to our children to teach them to love Russia, but now that we are at war with Russia, hot in Korea, cold in Europe, it is advantageous to cause our children to hate Russia.

But what is the truth? Is education to be bended to the political needs of the State? Is that doctrine of Hitler and Stalin to prevail in American schools? Are we to teach biology to prove that Michurin, a Russian, was right and that Mendel, a Roman Catholic priest, was wrong, or vice-versa, depending upon our politics?

Are courses in the social sciences to be revised depending upon which political party is in control in Washington? Are our children to be taught essential patriotism now after having grounded them in object internationalism because the times have changed?

More fundamental than these questions is the matter of morals and ethics. Are Marxists to start our children's careers with their environmentalist doctrines which exclude religion as superstition, patriotism as chauvinism, morals as comparative and ethics as a bourgeois notion?

Is it fair to our children to permit Marxists at public expense to corrupt them early in life? The answer to that is the increase in juvenile delinquency during the past 20 years since the Marxists have had such a strident influence upon education in our country.

Gorilla Was Put Up For A Night

A gorilla has paid me a visit! When I opened the door, he walked in, and soon was seated in the living room of my home.

The gorilla sat at the dinner table and ate his meal. That night he slept upstairs, just across the hall from my bedroom. No snoring noises came to my ears, but I have reason to believe that he enjoyed a sound sleep.

We are told that gorillas are fierce animals, and the reports are true in many cases, but this one acted well, most of the time. His worst offense while I was watching him came when he pulled the hair of an 11-year-old girl. Perhaps he liked the dangling curls, and was only playing. At any rate the child was freed from his grasp, and said that the pull, or pulls, hurt only a little.

The gorilla of which I speak is named Hugo and was captured in west-central Africa. No birth certificate has been found for him, but his estimated age is 18 months. He jumps about a bit when placed on scales, but as nearly as can be told his weight is now 43 pounds. When he grows to full size, it is believed that he will weigh more than 500 pounds.

Last year, while Hugo was living in the Geat Rain Forest, his mother ran away and left him behind. She had been frightened by noises made by 150 native hunters. Often a mother gorilla will brave death rather than desert her child, but Hugo's mother raced away to save herself.

A man and woman from Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Greer, Jr., were with the natives at the time of the capture of the little 10-pound gorilla and became his owners. They took him to Houston, Texas, and started rearing him in their own home. Two weeks ago, I quoted a letter from Mr. Greer. In his letter he told about Hugo and asked whether I would like to see him. I replied that I would greatly enjoy such a visit, and now I can relate that Hugo has been at my home.

The Greers told me that he behaved very well during the long motor trip. Hugo is a cute little fellow. He wears clothing of much the same kind as a human being of the same age. I hardly can say that he is handsome, but he is strong for his age. He walks on two legs at moments, but more often he goes around on "all fours."

AT SALVATION ARMY POST Youth Rally Is Set Here Next Thursday

A youth rally will be held at the Big Spring Salvation Army headquarters next Thursday. Lt. Robert Hall, head of the local unit, stated that between 80 and 100 would be present.

Visitors are expected from Pampa, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Lufkin, Abilene and San Angelo. Delegates will include young people and Salvation Army leaders.

Official name of the rally will be "Corps Cadet Cengath." Each city representative will have a brigade of young people between the ages of 12 and 18.

Col. John Morrison of Dallas, division commander of Texas, will be the main speaker. Mrs. Major Ward of Atlanta, Ga., will represent the Salvation Training College at the meeting.

Cap. and Mrs. Albert Shorn of Dallas, the Texas division's directors of youth activities, will also be present.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. Thursday and will last through 8:30 p.m. Lt. Hall stated that a supper will be held in the basement of the Salvation Army building for the visitors.

An open meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. to which the public is invited. During the afternoon each of the brigades will put on a skit depicting the work they do in their cities.

All the young people present will be Bible students of the Salvation Army. A trophy will be presented to the leading brigade represented.

There are only seven members of the Corps Cadets in Big Spring. However four of the members are candidates for officership. They expect to enter the Salvation Army Training College at Atlanta, Ga., in the next two years.

Ex-King's Estate To Be Sold For Taxes

MUTTONTOWN, N.Y. (U)—The Long Island estate that ex-King Zog of Albania bought a year ago but never lived in is scheduled to be sold for back taxes.

The 60-room, 90-acre property was sold to the exiled Balkan monarch for a reported $105,000. Since the purchase, only a caretaker, a dog and a cat moved in—and they, too, have gone.

Nassau County officials said yesterday the estate will be sold for tax arrears and penalty on Dec. 1. The tax lien is listed at $2,654.

Boy Held In Murder Of His Baby Brother

NEWPORT, Eng. (U)—An 9½-year-old boy charged with murdering his 17-day-old brother was held in a special police home today to await further court proceedings.

At a preliminary hearing yesterday, police said the baby apparently had been hit on the head with a bottle while he was lying in his cot.

Under British law, names of juveniles appearing in court are not made public.

Jet Pilot Dies In A Too-Late Parachute Jump

OCEANA, Va. (U)—A too-late parachute jump from his flaming jet fighter claimed the life yesterday of the former commander of the first jet squadron to tackle the enemy in Korea.

Comdr. Albert D. Pollock Jr., 37, stationed at Patuxent, Md., was killed when he parachuted from his wing-swept F9F6 "Cougar" jet.

A test pilot for evaluation projects at the naval air test center at Patuxent, Pollock had just left the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Coral Sea when he radioed that one of his two engines had blown some turbine blades and he would land here.

Pollock, formerly of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Orcut, Calif., was over the field when flames licked out of his plane. The fighter went out of control and crashed with Pollock leaving the craft too late for his chute to open.

Girl Says Father Made Her Ugly; Strikes Him On Head.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—A 21-year-old girl sat in a police cell today accused of striking her father four hammer blows on the head because "he's ugly looking and he made me that way."

The father, Ralph Burns, 52, of Lakewood, R. I., is in poor condition in a hospital, suffering from depressed fractures of the head. Mrs. Mary Burns, the girl's mother, said in Daytona Beach that her husband is not unattractive either. "There's nothing wrong with his looks," she told a reporter.

Detectives said the girl, who had not seen her father since her parents separated about six years ago, waited for him to come out of work yesterday and then struck him four times with a hammer. Witnesses said two men disarmed her. Mrs. Burns said she and her daughter moved to Daytona Beach from Providence about a year ago.

She said her daughter left Daytona Beach last Sunday presumably to go to Newark, N.J., to get a job. She described the daughter as "very nervous" and "concerned" about her twin brother, Buddy, who is in the Army in Japan. Providence detectives said Miss Burns apparently didn't stop in Newark but came straight to Providence, arriving here Tuesday. They said also that the girl told them her resentment toward the father had rankled for 10 years.

Stevenson Carries Kentucky By Shaky 1,000-Vote Margin

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—Kentucky's 10 presidential electoral votes unofficially belonged to Democrat Adlai Stevenson today by a shaky margin of 1,047 votes. His claim on them is good at least until about Nov. 15 when the official tabulation begins.

The answer to whether Stevenson keeps them after that or whether they go to Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower depends a lot upon absentee ballots.

Many were not included in the unofficial count and their weight could give Eisenhower the added push needed to make him the first Republican since Herbert Hoover to carry this traditionally Democratic state.

The final unofficial totals from Kentucky's 4,135 precincts in Tuesday's election read:

Stevenson 494,109
Eisenhower 493,062

The absentee ballots were not expected to have any influence on the other races.

McCarthy's Suit Against Benton Is To Be Carried On

WASHINGTON (U)—Counsel for Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) said today the defeat of Democratic Sen. William Benton in Connecticut's senatorial election would not affect McCarthy's two-million-dollar libel-slander suit against Benton.

"We intend to push this suit right to the bitter end," Warren Magee of Washington, one of McCarthy's lawyers, told a reporter. "The suit will not be withdrawn."

McCarthy who won re-election in Tuesday's voting, is suing on the basis of charges Benton leveled at him before a Senate Rules Subcommittee. Benton had asked the Senate to consider expelling McCarthy on grounds of alleged fraud and deceit.

Magee said he expected the case would not be ready for trial before next spring.
