

Japs Claim Soviet Units Repulsed In Attack On Hill

Troops Dig In After Unsuccessful Charge; Air Bombardment Renewed

YUKI, Korea (Near the Siberian Frontier) Aug. 10 (AP)—Japanese army officers said today Soviet Russian troops had dug in near the crest of Changkufeng hill after an unsuccessful charge up the eastern slope.

The charge, which took place early today under cover of tanks, and mountain guns, was halted after a hand grenade duel with Japanese entrenched on the crest, the officers said.

The Russians then withdrew and dug in just outside the range of grenades.

Japanese said Soviet infantry, supported by 40 tanks, also had been repulsed in a charge against "Hill 52," a half mile south of Changkufeng.

Unofficial reports from the front said Soviet artillery resumed shelling "Hill 52" at 11 a. m. after a three-hour lull. They had ended a 20-hour bombardment at 8 a. m.

A Reuters-British news agency—dispatch from Tokyo to London quoted Japanese advices from the border as saying Soviet warplanes bombed Japanese positions heavily during the afternoon. Reuters also said both sides opened fierce artillery bombardments at nightfall.

Soviet occupation of Changkufeng Hill in the disputed territory on the Siberian-Korean frontier and Japanese action to capture it provoked the present border fighting.

The position of the Japanese right flank, about "Hill 52," could not be established definitely this morning, however.

A battery of Japanese mountain guns on the hill had directed its fire to the east yesterday afternoon, apparently against Russian tanks.

The Russians followed with a blanket of fire, and after a half-hour of bombardment the once-green ridge was smoking and scarred by at least 150 shells.

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—A communique from headquarters of the Soviet maritime army on the Siberian-Korean frontier said today that Japanese "suffered great losses" yesterday in fighting around Changkufeng hill.

The communique asserted the Japanese had made "a number of attacks" on Russian positions on the disputed hill, but had been driven back each time.

TOKYO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Japan now is prepared to concede to Russia equal representation on a joint commission for demarcation of the Siberian-Manchoukuo border, a foreign office spokesman said today.

Japan previously had insisted upon a commission of three Russians, three Japanese and three representatives from Japan's protectorate, Manchoukuo, which in effect would have given Japanese the majority voting power in negotiating to settle the dispute over the exact location of the frontier line.

WATCHFUL OBSERVER
BERLIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Germany's position in the Soviet Russian-Japanese border dispute appeared today to be that of a watchful observer, unlikely to give material aid but sympathetic to Japan, which is linked with Germany in a pact against bolshevism.

An outline of the frontier situation was given to Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop at his Friedenwald country home by the Japanese ambassador on Monday.

PRIVATE SERVICES
NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Private funeral services for Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler, wife of the automobile manufacturer, were held today in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church in Park avenue.

HENDAYE, France—(At The Spanish Frontier—Aug. 10 (AP)—Spanish government troops drove a deep wedge between the insurgent strongholds of Balaguer and Lerida in Catalonia today in a sudden shift of the offensive to a new sector.

Dispatches from Barcelona said the Segre river had been crossed between the two centers and a new government line established on the west bank of the wide stream, which flows south into the Ebro.

The offensive is the third triphammer blow government troops have dealt insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces in two weeks of pounding at weak spots in his extended eastern front.

The first blow fell July 25 when the militiamen crossed the Ebro and advanced to Franco's onetime regional headquarters at Gandesa just as the generalissimo concentrated the main masses of his armies far to the south for an offensive against Valencia.

No sooner had Franco shifted his manpower to the Gandesa sector, 12 miles southwest of the Ebro, than the government jabbed at his extreme right flank west of Teruel and rolled him back for a nine-mile loss.

During all this time, and unnoticed in the general surprise over the sudden government aggressiveness, troops along the Segre were carrying out "feeder attacks."

HOLY LAND DISORDERS
JERUSALEM, Aug. 10 (AP)—Fresh disorders in the Arab-Jewish strife in the Holy Land were reported today.

Two land mine explosions during the night resulted in the death of one Jew and the wounding of two British soldiers and a Jew.

Texas GOP's Pick Slate Of Candidates

Santone Oil Man Is Party's Nominee For Governor

HOUSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A full slate of republican candidates for state office stood in the Texas political lists today on a platform which bristled with denunciation of the president and called for a variety of changes in state and federal policies and laws.

Alexander Boynton of San Antonio, an oil man, was nominated for governor by the republican state convention yesterday, and in the general election will oppose W. Lee O'Daniel, the democratic nominee and nominee of any other party.

The other republican nominees, chosen after a program in which criticism of the New Deal was the theme, were as follows:

Lieutenant-governor, S. D. Bennett of Beaumont.

Attorney general, Enoch Fletcher of Grand Saline.

Judge of the court of criminal appeals (unexpired term), Thomas E. Ball of Fort Worth.

Judge of the court of criminal appeals (regular term), D. Heywood Hardy of Houston.

Railroad commissioner, C. A. Milligan of Pittsburgh.

Comptroller, T. J. Martin of Backetville.

Land commissioner, R. H. Smel-lage of Waxahachie.

Treasurer, H. A. Van Tassel of El Paso.

Commissioner of agriculture, Col. Hoyt Winslow of Dallas.

A new state executive committee of 62 members, half of whom were women, was elected. T. P. Lee of Houston and H. E. Ezum of Dallas were elected chairman and vice chairman respectively.

Mrs. Carl G. Stearns of Houston was named woman vice chairman.

In the preamble to the platform, the state party charged the president had used the prestige of his office to "array class against class and to promote dissension among the various groups of people."

"He is using every possible means to destroy the independence of the courts and the congress," it declared. "He has debauched the electorate with public money, spent under the guise of relief."

Corrigan Welcomed To Washington
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Douglas Corrigan, the "wrong way" Atlantic flier, came to Washington today and the capital completely ignored committee plans to make the reception "dignified."

Thronges of government workers scrambled out of buildings along historic Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues and cheered him as he passed.

Other thousands leaned from windows and showered the parade with scraps of paper—most of it green, red and white bits torn from scratch pads.

JUDGE HARRY GRAVES HERE TOMORROW
CISCO, Aug. 10.—Big Spring will be visited by Judge Harry N. Graves, member of the court of criminal appeals and candidate for election to its unexpired term, on Thursday.

Judge Graves, high man in the recent primary by a substantial lead, is on a campaign tour of West Texas. He is being supported in the run-off by his defeated opponent, Judge Charles A. Pippen of Dallas. Judge Graves is a former resident of Colorado, Mitchell county.

BUMP ON THE HEAD RESTORES EYESIGHT
PORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 10 (AP)—When Kenneth Fostang was a small boy he suffered a head injury that left his eyesight blurred.

Last week Kenneth, now 16, dived into Lake Wawasee and bumped his head again. Now his eyesight is normal.

Doctors said the jar probably relieved pressure on a nerve that had caused his defective vision.

O'DANIEL IN AUSTIN TO GET AN IDEA OF HIS FUTURE DUTIES
AUSTIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, who wants to apply the Golden Rule to government, concluded a preview of his future duties today.

With Gov. James V. Allred and Leon Phillips, democratic nominee for governor of Oklahoma, O'Daniel, whom Texas democrats overwhelmingly chose as their gubernatorial nominee, left Austin for Camp Bullis, near San Antonio, to review maneuvers of the third army.

O'Daniel and Phillips will be observing military units of which they will become commander-in-chief when they assume office, national guard troops of their respective states.

The military mission followed an overnight visit of the gubernatorial designees, who were dinner guests of Governor and Mrs. Allred.

A good five months before they probably will move into the Texas White House, the O'Daniel-Mrs. O'Daniel, Molly, Pat and Mike were there—enjoyed fried chicken in the spacious dining room and informally received the capital press corps.

The nominees let it be known he was not doing much about being governor "until I see a governor."

He said he had made no decisions for paying the 130 old age pension he advanced, or other policies, but had received many suggestions.

That Hill They Claim Is Just An Excuse For Russo-Jap Flare-Up

Fighting Called Renewal Of Struggle For Supremacy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The squabble between the Soviet and Japan over a pile on the landscape known as Changkufeng hill is really a hang-over from the Russo-Japanese war of more than a generation ago.

The Mikado's forces won that conflict, which wound up in the treaty of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, August 29, 1905, with President Theodore Roosevelt acting as mediator.

Some military experts claim that actually Russia had won the war but didn't realize it when her generals threw up the sponge. Anyway, the Japanese carried home the golden trophy, deeply engraved with victory.

Moscow, Tokyo and London now appear to be playing about with the idea of John Bull trying his hand at mediation in the present unpleasantness. Guns are being fired in anger in such increasing numbers as to endanger world peace.

Mediation is always worth while, and it may halt this underized war. But it won't remove the underlying cause of the trouble.

The fight between Russia and Japan revolves about the hegemony of the Far East—a rivalry to determine which shall dominate that vast section of the globe with its splendid natural wealth and uncounted hundreds of millions of people.

The desire to rule here has burned in both breasts for long. It will continue to flame, whatever happens in the present instance, until the day that human nature changes.

The story really begins hundreds of years ago, when both Russia and Japan started reaching out towards the uncharted regions for expansion and power. That was in the sixteenth century.

The Russian family of Stroganov, traders in a big way, were responsible for the conquest of Siberia—a 1579 with permission of the czar they sent an expedition of 800 men into the Siberian wilds in command of the outlaw Vassili. Under the magic of his sword grew a great new empire.

Less than a hundred years later the Russians had reached the golden valley of the Amur river. This skirts the northern boundary of present day Manchoukuo, Japanese controlled kingdom.

Meanwhile the Japanese grasped at Korea in 1892, sending a large invading army into this ancient nation. Chinese help appeared and the Japanese were driven out. A few years later the Manchus, who also had clashed with the Russians on the north, placed Korea under vassalage.

The Chino-Japanese war of 1904-05 was a big way, were responsible for the conquest of Siberia—a 1579 with permission of the czar they sent an expedition of 800 men into the Siberian wilds in command of the outlaw Vassili. Under the magic of his sword grew a great new empire.

FD Supporter Defeated In Idaho Test

Bulkley Big Winner In Ohio; Caraway Maintains Lead

By The Associated Press
Roosevelt supporters rolled up a smashing senatorial primary victory in Ohio today and had triumph within their grasp in Arkansas but mounting returns from yesterday's Idaho election showed a third New Deal senator slipping constantly behind in his vote for renomination.

Wide Lead For Bulkley
The Ohio vote assured Democratic renomination of Senator Robert J. Bulkley who, with 7,759 precincts out of 8,601 reported, had tallied 441,778 votes to 194,434 for former Gov. George White. Bulkley was praised by Mr. Roosevelt when the latter visited Marietta early last month on his way west.

Ohio Republicans, balloting in smaller numbers than the Democrats, apparently nominated Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, to run against Bulkley in November. In 3,298 precincts out of 8,601 Taft had 202,663 votes and Arthur H. Day, 235,534.

In Arkansas Senator Hattie Caraway, who like Bulkley received public commendation from the President, was slowly pulling ahead of her nearest opponent, Rep. John L. McClellan. The count for 1,641 precincts of 2,002 gave Caraway 88,148 and McClellan 83,712.

Because of President Roosevelt's show of preference for Senators Caraway and Bulkley the administration figured as an issue in their campaigns even though their opponents were by no means antagonistic to the White House.

In Idaho, however, the issue was clearly drawn. Senator James P. Pope, a 100 per cent Roosevelt man, was opposed in the Democratic primary by Rep. D. Worth Clark, who hammered home throughout his campaign that he was not an administration "yes man."

The vote in 631 of 802 precincts gave Clark 38,776 to Pope's 35,829. Pope today conceded defeat.

In addition to the straight out administration issue, other factors which entered into the Pope vote were his stand on reciprocal trade treaties, for which he was praised recently by Secretary Hull and his leadership in sponsoring New Deal farm policies in the senate.

Short of an open endorsement by the President Pope had substantial Washington backing. Not only did Hull write to him a few days before the primary but Postmaster General Frank spoke in his behalf.

Yesterday's fourth primary, in Nebraska, was devoid of a Senate contest. Gov. E. L. Cochran easily won democratic renomination for a third term and Charles J. Warner was the Republican choice.

In Ohio, reform candidate Charles Sawyer was virtually assured of the democratic gubernatorial nomination over CIO-bating Gov. Martin L. Davey.

After holding a comfortable lead, Sawyer saw it slowly dwindle as Davey received heavy support from rural counties, but late returns from Cleveland and Summit county (Akron) put the former lieutenant governor back into the lead. Latest figures:

Sawyer 438,212; Davey 414,040 (5,538 precincts).

The campaign was complicated in its closing days by social security board charges that Davey was bringing political pressure on old age pension beneficiaries.

In Arkansas the race for democratic nomination for governor had Gov. Carl E. Bailey almost 6,000 votes ahead with three-fourths of all precincts reported.

Returns in the Idaho democratic gubernatorial race gave former Gov. C. Ben Ross 22,875 to 20,904 for Gov. Barzilla W. Clark.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hilliger of Garden City, at Bivings hospital Tuesday night, a son, Howard, and child are doing well.

POLICE TO PATROL BALL PARK AGAINST THE FENCE SITTERS
Police Wednesday indicated patrol of the ball park area in future night games to keep people from watching games from the fence.

An effort will be made not only to keep these spectators off the fence, but off of cars parked in the adjacent street.

The ball club management feared a collapse of the fence under a heavy load such as lined the structure Tuesday night.

In an effort to rid the fence of this menace, an open invitation was extended to all those on it to take a free seat in the grand stand. Out of the several scores, only a few accepted the thrice-repeated offer.

Complaints were received from those who paid to go to the game that those peering over the fence had damaged finish on many cars.

CITY'S PROGRAM AT COLORADO SLATED FOR AUGUST 19
Big Spring night at Colorado's amateur program is August 19, J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, was advised Wednesday.

Previously the date had been announced for August 26, a date held by Sweetwater. Greene said that Dr. P. W. Malone, chamber president, would head a local delegation. Plans are being shaped to have a good representation at the affair.

ONE SENATOR FAVORS GARNER, BUT HIS COLLEAGUE DOESN'T
The reporters turned to his companion, Senator Lewis R. Schwel-lenbach Washington democrat.

"You may put me down for the opposite of everything; that Senator Burke said," he smiled.

Burke smiled, too.

Said Schwel-lenbach: "We are going to keep up government spending until business cooperates with us."

Said Burke: "Business won't spend anything until the government shows some common sense."

Both men, with Senator Hendrik Shipstead, Minnesota, former-brother, sailed to attend the inter-parliamentary congress at The Hague, Netherlands, August 22 to 27.

ONE WINS, OTHER IS DEFEATED

Hattie Caraway (left), called "my friend" by President Roosevelt, was one new deal advocate who apparently received endorsement of democratic voters in Tuesday's primaries. She had a substantial margin for renomination as Arkansas senator. A new dealer who went down to defeat was James P. Pope (left) of Idaho, whose bid for renomination to the senate was unsuccessful.

SIGHT RESTORED FOR TWO MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Through modern surgery, partial vision was restored today in the sightless eyes of a middle-aged minister, who wept for joy and a youthful pianist, so overcome with happiness he fainted.

Healthy cornea tissue from the eyes of pious Mrs. Margaret Carr, 50, who died July 31, was transplanted to one eye each of the Reverend U. E. Harding, 53-year old Nazarene minister of Portland, Ore., and Arthur Morton, 21-year old musician from Sacramento, Calif.

The Rev. Mr. Harding had been blind 43 years and Morton six, both from troubles which affected their cornea tissue, through which light enters the eyes. Surgeons considered only one eye of each operative.

The delicate operations were performed here Aug. 3 by a surgeon who asked that he remain unidentified. Yesterday he removed bandages from the eyes of his patients.

"I can see!" the minister cried. "I can see your fingers and count them! I can see colors!" He wept for joy.

Morton, gazing up from his bed in a darkened room, exclaimed: "Things are blurred, but I can see!" Then he fainted.

Restriction Put On Rinks

City Approves WPA Project To Help The Museum

City commissioners Tuesday evening passed an ordinance regulating the location of skating rinks within the city limits.

The order, which forbids the erection of a rink within 500 feet of a residence, was considered by the commission following many complaints to city officials due to noise.

The term residence, used in the ordinance, was construed to mean any place where one or more persons sleeps and makes his abode.

Also approved by the commission was a resolution authorizing the mayor to sign a WPA project for the West Texas Memorial museum in the city park. The project has a total outlay of $661, but the city will have no share in the expenditures. The work will be principally cataloging, indexing, etc.

Grover Dunham, mayor pro tem, presided in the absence of Mayor R. V. Jones, who was out of town.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR ANGELO JUNIOR COLLEGE NAMED

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 10 (AP)—School trustees here today announced appointment of Dr. Wilson Elkins, Rhodes scholar, former athlete of the University of Texas and now a member of the faculty of the University of Texas, as president of the San Angelo college.

This separates the institution as an operating unit of the school system here and relieves Supt. Felix Smith to duties of the high school, junior high school and ward schools. A building program taking up $250,000 in bonds and a WPA grant of $200,000 will occupy more of his time, trustees advised.

Dr. Elkins will be actively on the job here September 1, but is to be here at intervals during this month to arrange for opening of the fall term.

OKLAHOMAN TO TALK AT PRESS MEETING

SEYMOUR, Aug. 10 (AP)—Officials in charge of arrangements announced today that H. Merle Woods of El Reno, Okla., president of the Oklahoma Press association, would speak on a program of the West Texas Press association here this weekend.

The West Texas association, anticipating a record attendance, will meet Friday and Saturday.

City General Fund Balance In Decline

Transfer To Sinking Fund Is Made During The Month

Decrease in the general fund cash balance was reflected in the regular monthly financial report approved by the city commission Tuesday evening.

The drop of $3,672 was largely occasioned by a $3,037 transfer from the general to the interest and sinking fund. Receipts for the general fund amounted to $17,817 for the month against expenditures of $21,490. Among receipts was $1,819 from current taxes.

Water revenues for July amounted to $11,506, a gain of $476 over June and $68 more than for July a year ago. This was in the face of less consumption than in July of 1937.

Interest and sinking fund expenditures for July ran to $800, making a total of $31,528 for the first four months of the fiscal year. July showed a net over-run of the budget by $2,472, virtually all of which was in the airport fund. The port project called for a capital outlay of $3,819 during the month.

Other departments showing minor excesses were the administration, police, and street. Fire, health, water, sewer, park and buildings were under budget allowances.

For the four months period the budget excess is $2,945, due to the port expenditures in

THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

Robin Rambles

Robin Decker, who claims to be quite a plebeian "artful" but who looks better widdling a willow than he does tossing a fishing pole, is back in form. The Baron second sacker, who has threatened all season to break Cecil Smyly's WT-NM league stolen base record of 90, got back into uniform Monday night in a game with Wink after a prolonged period of illness due to injuries, since has come up with four steals.

Now the little New Yorker, whom Charles Barnabe calls the best keyholder in the WT-NM league and who has pleased supporters for the organization's all-star lineup, has garnered 53 steals, has more than 90 games to negotiate for the remainder.

Decker doesn't rely on tremendous speed for his steals because there are several boys on the team capable of beating him on short dashes but his ability to outguess the pitcher and beat the catcher's throw to second is uncanny.

Robin takes a long lead off the sack whether he is given the high sign or not and has mastered the art of hot-footing it back in case the worried hurler tosses to send him back. On his meanderings he watches closely the windup, then strikes for the immediate terminal without gauding at the throw.

True, he has been thrown out several times this season but to slip him a catcher's throw must be perfect. He comes into a sack all in a bunch and he's hard to brush.

The sterling show of Frankie Jacot in last night's game with Hobbs proves that the Barons do have a consistent left hander on the squad after all. Frankie's chances at making good had been depleted of earnestness in the season because he hadn't been able to get the route lately he has done a complete "about face" and is one of the most reliable hurlers of the outfit.

Jacot is probably the most popular member of the Baron squad. Resembling Joe E. Brown of the movies, the portlander's antics even while coaching are agreeable with all the patrons.

Jake has given up only three runs in three games with the Boosters this season, has improved with every game. In Hobbs two weeks ago, he accomplished a 4-3 victory, last week he came up with a 2-1 decision, then added the calculating last night.

Many Onlookers

Officials last night made several appeals to the non-paying customers who rode the fences, even offered to let them come through the gate free of charge but the clan wouldn't move.

Those people who refuse to pay the price of admission yet are on hand for every game are trespassers on private property, should, by rights, be forced to get off. That duty lies in persons' hands who have yet to make a move.

H. F. Malone, city recreational director, has announced that a croquet set is available to any responsible person who wants to play on the Mury court. Malone resides in the house back of the Howard county museum in the park.

HARTAY IS AC WINNER

Finally solved was Don Hill's peculiar "trapezoid" hold in the main event of the Big Spring Athletic club's three bout wrestling program as George Hartay earned the right to battle Andy Tremaine in next week's top show.

Hartay fell victim to the California's grasp in the opening fall and, for a time, looked as if he was going out the easy way but capitulated on a "seventh inning stretch" and came out in grand style. He arm-whipped Donald into submission for the "easier," then won out with a series of drop kicks.

FATTY BEGG LEADS
CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—It was Fatty Begg of Minneapolis by seven "lengths" as the field in the Women's Western Golf derby headed into the final 36 holes today.

The chunky, freckle-faced Minnesota star, with a 36-hole total of 184 strokes, was seven shots ahead of his closest rival, Ellama Williams of Chicago, at the halfway mark of the longest medal play tournament sanctioned for women in this country. Ten strokes off the blistering pace was Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., who led the last three years won the event while Miss Begg finished in second place.

Bill Harris Is Leader In Red Sox 16-5 Win

Croninmen Gain On Yanks, Indians; Rus Bauers Victors

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The youth-most-to-be-served idea in baseball is a good one as far as it goes, but occasionally an old guy comes along with all the answers needed to decide the pennant question.

Right now it's 38-year-old Bill Harris, just up from Buffalo, who may put the Boston Red Sox back into the middle of the American league scrap.

Harris, acquired last week to help out the younger Boston hurlers, 11 milled the Athletics to ten hits, fanned five and came up with a 16-4 victory yesterday.

The Sox batted out all their runs in the last three innings as Rookie Jim Thayer socked a homer with the corners crammed in the big seventh.

The veteran right hander had a trial with Cincinnati in 1933, and was a 30-year-old "rookie" when he came up to Pittsburgh in 1931. He served mostly as a "finisher" there, and earned his nickname of "Hard Luck" Harris when he managed to win more games than he lost only one season in four.

Chase Holds Yanks
Yesterday's victory came in a good spot for the league-leading New York Yankees took a 4-2 setback from Washington when Ken Chase set them down with six hits and drove in the winning run himself in the ninth inning. Cleveland's second place Indians split a doubleheader with the Browns losing the first game, 4-3 when Howard Mills outlasted Bob Feller, then winning the second 3-1 on a five-run inning marked by Bruce Campbell's four bagger.

Those results put Boston 6 1-2 games behind New York and 4 1-2 behind Cleveland.

In the National league, the Chicago Cubs made the best gain when they whipped Cincinnati 3-0 in a mound duel between Larry French and Paul Derringer, and broke a tie for third place.

Pittsburgh's league leaders downed the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0. Big Russ Bauers hurled a two-hit game, facing only 31 batters, and won it himself in the third when he singled and progressed home on Lee Handley's double and Lloyd Waner's base hit. The second-place New York Giants snapped their losing streak to beat Boston 5-4 with a three-run seventh and some nice relief hurling by Dick Coffman.

The Detroit Tigers, led to four hits by Jack Knott, beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1 when Rudy York belted his 23rd homer with two mates on deck. The Brooklyn Dodgers hammered out a 9-4 decision over the Phillies.

Duncan Edges Cameron, 5-2
HOUSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The champion Duncan, Okla., Cementers paced the field today as the annual Houston Post semi-pro baseball tournament prepared for the second round.

The Cementers defeated the Cameron Iron Workers, 5-2, last night as the Alvin Indians, recent winners of the Texas semi-pro championship at Waco, lost their opening engagement to the El Campo Texaco Oilers, 10-2.

Austin 4-U.P., Waco Downs, Baytown, Belahar Grocers, Conroe, and the Norvell Insurers were other undefeated teams at the end of the first round. Play will be resumed Saturday. The tournament continues until Aug. 23.

Randolph Field, Grand Prize of Houston, American Iron, Easter States, McDavid Healy and Negro coaches were other teams in the defeated class.

Ten To Post Today In Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—If you can lean on a white-washed fence and thrill to the sight of the nation's greatest trotters scoring through the stretch, stroll through stables and enjoy fondling a horse, or smile after threading through sweltering throngs and standing in long queues for a ham sandwich, then you belong in Goshen today for the Hambletonian.

Ten handpicked three-year-old trotters, survivors of 259 named as yearlings, have been selected to compete in the 13th running of the Kentucky derby of light harness racing. The major share of a purse of $37,962, (amounting to $19,944.80) is the magnet that'll draw the equine stars to the post at 1 p. m. (CST) for the first of the best two-out-of-three heats.

LOU AMBERS' TRAINING CAMP PHOTOS FROM SUMMIT, N. J.

His voice was almost scolding as Benny Leonard said: "You let those sparring boys hit you too often."

"Don't let them touch you. Make 'em miss. Just box 'em. You should box 10 rounds a day against fast boys."

Ambers had gone two rounds with Sluggo White, a lean ebony flash who continually rushes in, pounding with both fists along Armstrong's style, and another two with a fast Puerto Rican, Angel Gonzalez.

"This is a tricky fight. You've got the style and the skill and the speed to win," Benny said.

"Henry'll hurt you with his lightning. Don't let him clinch. Keep making him miss you and he'll tire himself out and lose some of his stamina and confidence."

"Keep Out of Range!"

"Make 'em miss!"

"Victory is going to the one who makes the other fellow fight his kind of fight. If you stay away from him, hit him and jump aside, slip him and make him miss, and keep out of range, you can win."

Leonard, a neat figure in his pin-striped double-breasted blue suit, moved about, demonstrating and gesturing as he talked.

He jabbed with his left, slid away, maneuvered in again, feinted with the left and shot his right across, then drew back out of range. As he weaved and ducked and punched, Benny circled about as gracefully as a ballroom dancer.

"Remember, as we train, so do we fight. You think you can play a bit with a sparring partner, play it out, and that you won't do it in a fight. But you're forming habits that will stay with you when you're actually fighting."

Ambers agreed.

"And sometimes you moved in

BRIETZ PICKS ARMSTRONG BUT WARNS OF SURPRISE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—

Joe Louis has been eating too much fried chicken. . . . Cochrane to Brooklyn? Stranger things have happened, particularly in Brooklyn. . . . You almost have to string along with Henry Armstrong tonight, but there may be a terrific surprise. . . . Henry can't win forever and this may be the night he gets his lumps. . . . Comedian Al Johnson, who reacts in a "roving interest" in Armstrong, has bet $1,000 to $1,000 the brown boy wins by a keyo. What, a tennis scandal coming up?

Bill Henry, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, will back his wife and pretty daughter, Pat, against any mother and daughter tennis team in the country. . . . Yesterday's game with the Cubs sent the Reds over the 400,000 attendance mark for home games and wins good old Bill McKechnie a $5,000 bonus. . . . Here's a tip: Babe Gansel, now doing a swell job at St. Paul, will be managing in the majors within three years. . . . Gunnar Barlund gets in from Finland tomorrow and probably will slug it out with Tommy Farr in September. . . . Max Baer and Galento will clash later, then the two winners, with Louis getting the survivor next June. . . . Pepper Martin hopes to take his Cardinal string hand on tour this fall with Buddy Hassett and Al Schacht as extra added attractions. . . . Al gets into New York today for a one-day vacation. . . . Jimmy Braddock will continue his career as a referee with Timmins, Ont., as the next stop.

Hypo Igoe, veteran boxing writer, has been moved to a hospital with typhoid fever and his friends are worried. . . . How about a Tony Baril, 28-years old, hurling a no-hitter in a semi-pro game at Galveston. . . . The Boston Bees will have him in two weeks. . . . Prof. Paul Mickelson has gone to Wichita to mingle with the semi-pro baseballers and make a speech, and if the old boy is feeling up to snuff, the baseballers will get an awful or two. . . . Asked who was going to play first base on his soft ball team, Joe Louis said: "The all American out—Joe Louis."

Ships Defeat Santone, 3-1, Behind Trout

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—

Everybody's talking about Jimmy Fox and Earl Averill as candidates for the American league batting honors for 1938, but what about Cecil Travis?

Clark Griffith, bushy-browed, bombastic president of the Washington Senators, believes his gawky Georgia shortstop can turn the trick this season.

"Look where he is today," said Griffith. "He's seven points ahead of Averill and just one point behind Fox, who is leading the league. Travis is hitting .349, which is quite a bit of hitting."

Travis never has batted less than .300 in any league, and that includes four years in the majors.

Griffith well remembers the day young Travis, then 20 years old, broke into the Washington line-up. There was a lot of laughter as the knock-out left-hander, who Griffith approached the plate.

"Handle it," the skeptics muttered.

The second time up, Travis hit another single to left field.

"Lucky," scoffed the doubters.

If Travis has any fault as a ball player, it is that he's too retiring. He is such a personification of the bashful hunkin, that Griffith once offered him a bonus if he would get into a row, and an extra-extra bonus if he would get into a fight. But it didn't work. Travis just kept on in his quiet way, hitting .300-plus.

221 NOMINATED FOR PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Three hundred and twenty-one of this year's 2-year-old thoroughbreds—many yet untitled, others that have known the feel of a horsehoe of victory wreath—were nominated for the next spring's 49th running of the Preakness, Maryland's greatest and richest race, Pimlico officials announced today.

The prosaic announcement that it was a record number of nominations—there were only 178 for the 1938 classic—put down in black and white another step toward the $100,000 "dream race" they talk of at the Maryland pockey club, operator of Pimlico.

Club officials predicted fees owners must pay before next spring, plus the club's $50,000 added money, will bring the Preakness' gaudy total to $35,000 next year.

HORROR PLAYS ARE PACKING 'EM IN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (AP)—Showmen in these parts are looking with envy upon the long lines that form day and night at the box office of Emilie Euman's little theatre.

Euman decided to experiment with three almost forgotten horror pictures—"Frankenstein," "Dracula" and "Son of King Kong." Rentals were small, so he couldn't lose much.

He advertised: "We dare you to sit through four hours of horror."

The public took him up, at cut rates, of course. So many people wanted to get in at midnight, Euman ran an all night show.

Greer Clouts Out Homer In Sixth

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—

Frankie Jacot, usually effective in throttling the booming bats of the Hobbs Boosters, had his wrong handed slants bordering on perfection Tuesday evening at Baron park as he paced the locals to a 10-0 victory. The win, Jake's third of this eighth of the year and the 12th decision the Barons have sacked up in 18 starts, enabled the gang to gain a full game on the Wink Spudders, who dropped a decision to Lubbock, left them only 3 1-2 games out of fourth place.

While Jacot was having a grand time in garnering his first shutout of the year, the Barons gunners were making merry with the offerings of Rus Needham and Tony Bonk, who divided the pitching chores for the visitors. They collected 11 assorted blows off the pair, including a terrific home run in the sixth frame and two doubles and as many singles by Patrick Stacey.

Bobby Decker, who collaborated with Dick Hobson to give a rare fielding exhibition, had his share of the fun, too. He came up with a pair of well spanked singles in three official trips and pilfered a couple more sacks to near the WT-NM league record. Monday night he had swiped a pair as the Barons were losing to Wink.

Needham had plenty of trouble in the initial frame when the Barons chalked up enough runs to allow Jacot to coast through. Eight men were sent to bat in that frame. Three doubles, a single and a pair of walks accounted for five runs.

The Big Springers were not retired until Al Berndt, who had batted Hobson across the plate, tried to stretch his double into three bases.

Again in Second
A walk to Simmons, Decker's sacrifice and Greer's line single gave the home forces another tally in the second and two more came across in the third when Capps and Stacey dented the pan with unearned runners.

Those early surries accounted for all the Big Spring scoring of the evening save for Greer's wallop in the sixth. With two away and Decker at the keystone, Chick slapped out a "mistake" ball into the vacant lot across the way from the park's right field wall.

The Boosters made trouble in the sixth when Jordan and White batted Hobson across the plate, tried to stretch his double into three bases.

Clarence Trantham, who handed the Lubbock Hubbers last week, will be thrown into battle tonight while Marshall Scott may toe the slab for the invaders. The game gets underway at 8:30 p. m.

Deviils Prep For Softball Championship Game Friday

Deviils Prep For Softball Championship Game Friday

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—

Ben Daniel drilled his Devil softball team long and hard last night on the Mury diamond for the Friday night invasion of the Pampa city champions.

The two teams are scheduled to go under bat at 8:30 o'clock under the lights at Baron park with the Texas junior softball title at stake. The Friday game will be the opener of the best two out of three game series. Saturday night the second and a third, if necessary, will be played.

Winning team of that playoff will be eligible to take part in the national junior championships at Columbus, Ohio, later in the month.

Daniel said he was of the opinion that he had a far stronger team this year than last when the Devils were declared state champions without a playoff and took part in the Buffalo national finals.

Bobby Savage, who was on the slide during most of early season, is back in shape and will be ready to twist against the Fanpans. Others who were not with the team last year who are eligible to play are Howard Hart, infielder Hal Battle, outfielder; Owen Brummett, outfielder; and David Lamun.

West Siders In 11-5 Victory

Triumph Over Ford-Lone Star Meet

The West Siders, using four pitchers to stop the big bats of the Big Spring Motor softball aggregation, rolled to an 11-5 victory in Major city league play Tuesday night on the Mury diamond.

The West Siders tallied nine of their runs in the fourth and fifth frames to sweep from behind and gain the decision.

Tonight the Conoco Pumpers and the Lone Star Chevrolet outfit, current leaders, will battle for first place in league standings.

READING AND WRITING

"FRAY FOR THE WANDERER"

By Kate O'Brien (Doubleday, Dorset $2.50) Here is an Irish novel in which the commercialized madness of the race which has been so ruthlessly plotted all these years is checked very neatly. Kate O'Brien has not ignored the traditional Irish ingredients, however. She has only controlled it.

The result is to show us a family of middle class Irish as probably such a family would be, instead of as a group of quite ordinary goats masquerading as fauns and satyrs. These people are the Costellos—two brothers, Matt the writer, and Will, who has turned his father's horse farm into the breeding place of blooded cattle; Una, Will's wife, and the five children of whom the eldest (called Liam) is charm itself. Allied through Una Costello is another family, the Mahoneys.

Matt has made much money from his novels, and his plays have until lately been unsuccessful. But the day he wrote while Louise Lafleur was his mistress is a real success, although at the moment the story begins Louise has thrown Matt for, of all people, her husband back from Hollywood. And Matt has taken refuge in his Irish home, after 15 years away.

The refuge is peaceful, though not without pain. For one thing there is the fact that Will and Una are perfectly sane, and the picture of a perfect family life and five delightful children being handled as five delightful children should be handled is slightly disturbing to an author still in love with his mistress. For another, the Mahoney contingent includes a woman four years younger than Matt who begins by annoying the returned prodigal, and ends by attracting him just as much. For a third, Matt's literary product is suspect in Ireland. It violates the Catholic tradition and jars the relatives just a trifle.

More need not be said, at least about the story. The author creates a very real problem, and disposes of it in what probably is true Irish fashion, and without too much of a hygeine. The people are good honest characters, the background sufficiently rich and clear, and barring talk, the pace is swift enough. After all, that's quite enough for a summer novel to offer.

Busy Bee Sewing club members and two guests, Mrs. H. F. Houder and Pauline Houder, met with Mrs. Hollis Webb Tuesday afternoon for an hour or more of sewing and talking.

Others there were Mrs. M. E. Beale, Mrs. Ralph Towler, Mrs. A. M. McLand, Mrs. R. F. Blinn, Mrs. G. O. Craig, Mrs. C. Y. Chinkoskas and Mrs. Fred Mitchell.

E's May Be Small In Number But They Do Things In A Big Way

Even though the E's of the telephone subscribers are small in number, a ring at their homes reveal that they do things in a big way.

Many of the E families are busily entertaining, getting off on trips, mapping out vacation routes and just having a swell time in general.

Here's the dope: EARLEY, MRS. BILL: Told the reporter that her family had no plans for the summer except maybe for a fishing spree in September sometime. She said they hadn't been anywhere in particular this summer but spent a few days fishing in July.

EARNEST, MRS. ROY T.: Thinks this idea of getting the news alphabetically is all right and she comes forth with her vacation plans to the effect that she and her husband plan to visit in Galveston and Ranger within a few weeks. In Ranger they will visit her mother, Mrs. D. T. Betts and their daughter, Elizabeth Earnest, in Galveston. Elizabeth has been a member of the John Sealey hospital staff in Galveston since January.

EASON, MRS. S. T.: Has been having company for the past two months and she doesn't anticipate any other callers this summer, she hopes.

EDWARDS, MRS. G. M.: Said she and her husband took their vacations at different times but both went to the same place. They visited in Colorado Spring and other points in the western state.

ENGLISH, MR. and MRS. FRANK E. and son, BILLY FRANK: In two weeks plan to go to Chicago via automobile for a visit with English's sister, Glorinne English, and brothers, Charley and Bill English. Chicago is their old home and the trip this summer will be the first Mrs. English has made in five years. They plan to be gone two weeks and will visit in Indianapolis and Shelbyville, Ind.

EDWARDS, MRS. WILL P.: Is all a dither over the worms eating their cotton and she says they have been so busy poisoning them and feeding cattle that they haven't had much time for company or vacations either—However, she plans to make a short trip to Lubbock in the next few days to see Mrs. Bob Austin, a former Big Spring resident. Mrs. Edwards received a letter recently from Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Luckey of Austin, family friends, who stated they intended to come out for a visit soon. Getting back to the cotton—she said they had some of the prettiest cotton in this part of the country—some of it waist-high—until the worms started mowing it down.

ELDER, MRS. R. A.: Is entertaining Mrs. C. W. Walters and daughter, Betty Ann, of El Paso this month.

ENGLE, MRS. O. D.: Has her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Sorrells of Snyder as her guests this week.

EVANS, MRS. R. L.: Is not saying where she is to spend her vacation because she never likes to tell until she is practically gone but she has an idea it might be Galveston and Houston.

Chicken Barbecue At Park Is Given For Past Matrons

A chicken barbecue and an hour of chatting and visiting were the highlights of an entertainment given by Mrs. Annie Eberley and Mrs. Jessie Graves at the city park Tuesday evening for members of the Past Matrons' club of the Order of Eastern Star.

POWER PRODUCTION OR FLOOD CONTROL?

Because of the widespread program of building dams—either for power generating purposes, flood control, or both—the current investigation at Austin into the damage resulting from the Colorado river overflow takes on deep significance.

Farmers who had been led to believe that disastrous flooding of their lands would be halted with the building of the Buchanan and other dams along the Colorado were justified, it would appear, in their demand for a study of the situation.

Those who were involved in the multi-million dollar loss have asked that three major questions be answered: Was the Buchanan lake full prior to the flood, and if so why? Was the flood due in negligence in management by the Colorado River Authority? and was the dam built for power generating purposes only, or as a flood control measure?

The key question, of course, is the third one. In its answer may be found in part the answers to the other two.

Engineers and other competent authorities have for years contended that a reservoir cannot be operated properly both for flood control and for power generation. For the one, a reservoir must be kept empty; for the other, full. At the current inquiry there is added the testimony of the eminent T. U. Taylor who asserts again that the two functions are absolutely antagonistic. And, Dr. Taylor adds, a choice must be made between the two.

It is not unreasonable to believe that the Colorado River Authority, encouraged by the general policy of the federal government and its agencies participating in dam building, has paid too much attention to power production and too little to flood control. But the people of Texas, we believe, are interested first in conservation measures which will save their land and protect them from flood disasters. That is the first concern, we believe, of the farmers along the lower Colorado.

Their protest in Austin is not necessarily to be taken as a stand against the use of the river's waters for generating power in competition with private enterprise. The farmers apparently are not debating the merits of public-owned power generating projects. We believe they intend to reach a secondary question, particularly at this time, and that is to say, are we AGAINST power generation; but they most certainly are FOR flood control. Their appeal for an inquiry that will chart the future operations of the dams along the Colorado— one, all the people ought to know for just what purpose the dams will be built and operated.

THE SPANISH PROBLEM

By Wireless to The Herald Tribune

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Although the main point of danger in Europe is Czechoslovakia, the problem of Spain is almost as critical. It may be said that in the last analysis none of the several governments concerned has as yet been able to understand the problem well enough to make a policy that works. Thus far, every government has learned to its dismay that what happens in the Spanish peninsula has in fact, not happened. This is the one certain conclusion about Spain— that since 1935 Russia, Italy, Germany, Great Britain and France have found that their theories about Spain have been shattered by experience.

LIPPMAN It supposed would happen in the Spanish peninsula in 1935, and it happened. This is the one certain conclusion about Spain— that since 1935 Russia, Italy, Germany, Great Britain and France have found that their theories about Spain have been shattered by experience.

The civil war broke out two years ago, in July, 1936. It is, I think, reasonably well established that in the preceding year Russia believed that the Popular Front government in Spain was drifting rapidly to the left, and that Spain was approaching the condition when a proletarian dictatorship would be feasible. The Spanish Republican propaganda today denies this, of course, but the available evidence shows, I think, that even if a Communist revolution was not imminent in 1936, there was at least an increasing disorder and a breaking down of the authority of the legally elected government. Where the Russians miscalculated was in thinking that this disintegration would lead to a Communist victory.

It led instead to a military counter-revolution assisted and perhaps even engineered from Rome and Berlin. But here again all the calculations were wrong. For there is no doubt that General Franco was supposed to seize the power as suddenly and as swiftly as Hitler and Mussolini had seized power, and that all opposition was to be overcome promptly by overwhelming military force and a reign of terror. General Franco and his backers did not expect, and were not prepared for a civil war.

The unexpected civil war brought the Russians, the Italians and the Germans to the position where they had either to abandon their partisans or to help them. They chose the latter. The Spanish civil war, it is now clear, was not an international war. At this point Britain and France had to take a hand in the matter, their object being to prevent the international war immediately and to prevent the Italians and Germans from establishing themselves permanently in Spain. To do this they devised the Non-Intervention Committee. Its supporters call it a piece of fiction; its critics call it a piece of blatant hypocrisy.

Whatever it is to be called, the effect of the Non-Intervention Committee has been to allow Italy and Germany to help General Franco so much that he has been able to take the offensive and conquer a large part of Spain, and yet to allow Russia with some French assistance to help the Republicans enough to keep the resistance alive. General Franco has been able to win battles but not the war. And as long as a substantial part of Spanish territory is not under his control, as long as there is being another army and another government, General Franco's victorious battles bring him no nearer to a decision. For unless he can destroy all opposition in front of him, he is in continual danger of being overthrown by the suppressed opposition behind him.

In the late winter of this year, however, a sufficient supplies and troops had been furnished to General Franco to enable him to fight his way to the sea and cut the Republican resistance into two parts. At that point it was supposed not only in Rome but also in London that after all General Franco was about to win a decision. On this assumption Britain and Italy negotiated an agreement, Mussolini expecting to obtain the promise of a quick victory in Spain. Britain believing that when he had won General Franco would have to come to London for financial support.

But the calculation was upset by the French, who opened their frontiers and let the Republicans have enough munitions to keep them in the field for three months. With these munitions and with the British Republican morale made firm by desperation, the victory that Mussolini expected General Franco to win has not been won. Moreover, in his effort to win a victory General Franco has taken military risks which might yet prove to have been unjustified if the Spanish Republicans can obtain more weapons.

At the moment they cannot get many more weapons because the French have closed their frontier. But it is understood that if Mussolini should try now to intervene more strongly for General Franco, the French will again open their frontier. In short, the situation is one of deliberate and intended stalemate.

There are fairly good reasons for thinking that a military stalemate is just about what the British and French now think they want. For while sympathies are deeply divided in both countries about the merits of the civil war, there is an approach to substantial agreement on certain fundamentals. The first is that the Republicans cannot reconquer Spain and that they could

NEW YORK—You can now get herio at restaurants in the Syrian quarter. This is a goat's milk herb with dumplings and it is highly spiced. Costs 60 cents.

Another dish that intrigues me is sweet-and-sour, which is candied spaghetti. It's 75 cents a quart in Chinese restaurants.

Only 10 plays are now on Broadway... If you taste in cocktails runs toward the unusual, try the Orduou. On second thought, maybe you shouldn't try it. Let somebody you don't like very well try it. It's that sort of business, and so innocently looking too, with a ripe cherry on top.

There's a florist's shop downtown with a miniature indoor lake, but instead of having water lilies and pickers in there, Transporter them from a real lake and keeps them for five or six weeks. Then takes them home and eats them.

When the Clare Tree Major Childe's theatre takes Peter Pan on the road this fall the title role will be played by a boy. This will be the first time a boy ever has played Peter Pan.

With George Bernard Shaw much discussed because of his new play coming up, it is natural that many of the old Shaw gags be revived. I still think the funniest Shaw story concerns his visit to Russia. One afternoon he fell to talking with a little girl, and they talked so late that it was dark before he realized it.

"You had better run along now," Shaw told her. "And if your mother asks you where you have been, say that you have been strolling along the Volga, talking with George Bernard Shaw."

Very solemnly the little girl answered: "And when your friends ask you where you have been, say to them that you have been walking beside the Volga, talking with Sonya Anna Mestivoskinov."

Another anecdote concerns a stack of letters Shaw wrote to a famous actress. Eventually this actress wanted to publish the letters. A magazine offered her a stupendous sum for them, and she was anxious to get the money.

But Shaw withheld his permission. "I refuse to play horse to your Lady Godiva," he said.

Fred Allen speaking: "Trying to be funny is very trying. But it does keep you off the street."

"Argonnes is apt to get you in trouble if you are an entertainer in New York. A well-known band leader was 'fired by the waiters,' because he was insolent and overbearing. 'It's this way,' the headwaiter told me. 'This fellow was very rude to us, so every time the boss came around we let ourselves be overheard saying, 'He didn't get any applause at all tonight,' and 'His performance has been flat for a week.' After the boss hears enough things like that he calls for replacements. Maybe it's a little underhanded, but we are human."

Gregory Taylor bought a goat and a lamb for his island home the other day—not to butcher but to help the caretaker keep the lawn mowed.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Bette Davis has found a cause. She shouldn't have (Bette says so herself) because when she gets into a thing she gets all excited and won't let go until it's done.

This, as you can see, is a sorry state of affairs for a busy movie actress. And Bette is busy. Trussed up in corset and stays of the Gibson era, she's emoting under physical difficulties through the dramatic morasses of "The Sisters." Her waist is but little larger than a quart milk bottle, and she can't breathe much but she has to emot just the same. It's tough.

But what matter hardships when Bette has a Cause? She is president of the Tailwaggers' Foundation of America. This, to put it roughly, is a society dedicated to the more abundant life for dogs.

But let Bette tell about it. Today she's knitting in her dressing room on the set, temporarily out of her strap-jacket and comfortable in sweater and shorts. I storm in. Well, I mean I go in, full of righteous indignation. I am meaning to hurl phrases: "...children of the slums...one-third of a nation...starving Armenians..."

But I don't get to the first. Miss D. always has that soothing effect on me. Or maybe I'm just ineffectual and never will win friends and influence people.

In the first place, Bette explains that life membership in Tailwaggers costs but $2 per dog member, nothing more asked. And I can see that a movie star can spend two bucks of her so-hard-earned cash on dogdom if she feels like it without being considered thoughtless of the famous "one-third."

"I was just a dog-lover—I have two—and I took good care of mine and knew they were happy and I didn't give a thought to other dogs," Bette explains earnestly. "But then I learned about pounds! They're awful!"

Tailwaggers, it seems, saves dogs from pounds. If your dog is lost they find it.

And then the society fights legislation it considers unfair to dog-owners. Bette warns up on this point: "It dawned that state bill making rabies inoculation compulsory, charging dog-owners for the shots. You know how that would have worked out—how would anyone know what was really in the shots? Probably water!"

So I ask her about that proposed city ordinance during the local rabies scare—the one to confine dogs to their own backyards. "Tailwaggers stopped that, too. Why, the ordinance would have been illegal to take a dog out even on leash! Oh, yes—I agree dogs should stay in their own yards, but what if they jump the fence? And those silly laws to require owners to make their dogs stop barking between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.: Why, barking's part of a dog's nature. What good's a dog that won't bark?"

Tailwaggers does all sorts of things besides. One, really laudable, is to provide scholarships for training Seeing Eye dogs.

And it wants to build a shelter here for strays, a sort of clearing-house for mislaid pups. That's why Bette is sponsoring a benefit ball in August. All the town's dog-managers will be there.

Ranchers' Reunion Comes To An End

DALHART, Aug. 10 (AP)—The laughter of tough old range riders who had their part in the winning of the West died away today and the town in the midst of the great cattle country returned to normalcy, the annual XIT reunion at an end.

They whooped it out as thousands came here to pay tribute to the men who worked on the great ranch that covered 3,000,000 acres on which 150,000 cattle grazed.

James D. Hamlin of Farwell, Texas, was reelected president of the XIT association, composed of former ranch hands, their wives and widows. Press Abbott of Bovina was elected trail boss; C. R. Smith, Hereford, wagon boss; Joe Killough, Amarillo, straw boss; John McCannless, Dalhart, range boss; Claude Witherspoon, Plainview, hoodlum; Ace Hooper, Plainview, cook; Ollie Conley, Goldthwaite, horse wrangler; William Q. Boyce, Amarillo, treasurer, and W. A. Askew, Amarillo, secretary.

Col. Jack Potter of Clayton, N. M., was reelected president of the Old Trail Drivers of the Southwest which voted to meet here next year on the same dates as the XIT reunion.

ROBBED OF CAR

CHOCQUETT, Aug. 10 (AP)—J. A. Brazier, democratic nominee for treasurer of Houston county, was robbed of his automobile near Kennard yesterday by a man and a woman who flourished a rifle and a pistol.

The automobile was recovered in Trinity county and a man and a woman were arrested last night after a chase by state prison bloodhounds.

not govern it well if they did. The second is that if General Franco won he could not govern Spain with his own force and that he would have to depend upon the Germans and Italians. But since this would create a new hostile frontier for France and threaten the maritime communications of Britain and France, a victory for Franco is not desirable. The third is that a military stalemate offers the best chance of a constructive solution of the Spanish problem.

For once it were made clear to both sides in Spain that neither would be able to conquer the other, an armistice might be arranged. This would leave Spain with two governments, which might conceivably be persuaded to accept a federal solution, or if that is too complicated, at least accept a truce. In either event Spain would be neutralized because it would be too weak to take the offensive in case of a general European war. And if there is no general war a truce would give patriotic and moderate Spaniards a chance to assert themselves both in the Franco territories and in the Republican territories.

CITRUS GROWERS TO VOTE ON CHANGES IN MARKET PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Citrus fruit growers and handlers in Cameron, Hidalgo, and Willacy counties, Texas, will vote on whether they favor changes in the marketing agreement program, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced yesterday.

The AAA said growers of the three counties would be asked in a referendum whether they favored an order covering proposed amendments, and at the same time handlers would be asked to accept or reject the amended agreement.

Tentatively approved by Secretary Wallace, the amendments included: Computation of new handler allotments on the basis of the quantity of fruit under control; interchange of interstate and intrastate shipping allotments between handlers; weekly reports from shippers and federal-state inspection during periods when grade or size regulations are operative.

SCOUT DELEGATION BACK FROM CAMP

A large portion of the big representation from the Big Spring district returned Tuesday afternoon from Camp Fawcett near Bartlett where Boy Scouts from the Buffalo Trail area are camped.

George Thomas was in charge of the returning group.

At the first week of camp, there were 165 boys and leaders registered.

Boys found the "oil" swimming hole five times as long and twice as wide as last year. The 24 troops represented were adjusted to a schedule which starts with first call at 6:20 a. m. Includes three meals, officers council, inspection, two swimming periods, tree and activities periods, retreat, games, campfire and taps at 9:30 p. m.

DEAD SHOT

FRESNO, Calif.—Hunt big game with arrows? Wing jackrabbits with a slingshot? Shucks, all Thomas Rose, ranch foreman, needs is a beer bottle.

Rose spied a coyote lurking near the ranch house. A beer bottle was handy so he let fire. The bottle clipped the animal, 50 feet away, behind the ear. It fell dead.
