A Delightful Time at San Antonio.

To The Herald:

A most delightful time was had by a party of Big Spring and former Big Spring residents, but now of San Antonio at Breckenridge Park Thursday evening from 4:30 to 10:00 o'clock. The San Antonio delegation took a special pride in showing the Big Spring novices all the beautiful sights, and there were plenty of them to be seen; animals of nearly every kind, birds of nearly every specie, beautiful winding driveways in which an unacquainted party would get lost in ten minutes and would not know whether he was going in or coming out. When the party reached the Sea Lions rendezvous and the leader of the party announced that we would move to the next scene of interest, an insurrection was almost caused—no one had seen them long enough, and Shine Phillips and Bob Piner were of the opinion that they could swim as well and as gracefully as these beautiful animals, and actually wanted to demonstrate it to the crowd. They were finally persuaded that there were other points of interest to be seen and we proceeded. The Sunken Gardens were visited and viewed from the Japanese Tea Gardens and it was a most beautiful sight at night, lighted with hundreds of lights, some showing in lily beds, vine clad rock pillars, and some around the sides of the rock walks a hundred feet from the bottom.

Delightful lunch and refreshments were served at 6:30. History tells us that Horace Greely once remarked that "Texas needed ten thousand good cooks", but had that venerable old gentleman been present on this occasion, he certainly would have found his remark unfounded in so far as the former ladies of Big Spring were concerned. After lunch, Mr. Vernon Reed of City Ice & Fuel Co. was nominated Toastmaster. He called upon the former Big Spring's folks, but now of San Antonio to tell why they left Big Spring. The different reasons given were certainly laughable. L. L. Stephenson said the reason he left was on account of the sand storms and dry weather, and there were not enough people there to use all the ice he could make. The idea of us having a sand storm—who ever heard of such a thing? R. H. Turk said the reason he left was that one had to work too hard there to make a living. Now, this remark almost caused a panic in ranks of the Big Spring delegation; everybody was plying him with questions at once as to whether he had found the place.

Important to Young Men

If you are between the age of 16 and 35 years and desire to enjoy a thirty days' vacation you have such an opportunity—by attending Citizens' Military Training Camp at Camp Travis, Texas, July 15th to August 14, 1921.

Elks Defeat Picked Team

The Coahoma baseball team was unable to come for a game Sunday afternoon so a picked team was lined up against the Elks and an interesting game was in order. The game ended with a score of 9 to 7 in favor of the Elks.

Weather Conditions

While we have had no record breaking rains in this immediate vicinity the past week we had showers Saturday, Sunday.

Red Cross Health Information

PLAY

Mr. Office Worker, how many more years have you got to live? If you are more than 35 years old, you are living longer than the law of averages allow—you.

Statistics of one of the greatest life insurance organizations in the world based on mortality of thousands of office workers show the startling fact that American indoor workers die at an average age of 35.

You've only one life to live and there's lots to be gotten out of life in happiness and accomplishment before the last page of the chapter is turned. Why cut your span in half?

Play more. Those two words sum up the root of the whole problem of virility and health for the man who must work indoors. The average man has at least 1400 hours a year in which he can play. Recreation & play sets up a barrage against disease, strengthens the system, makes life more worth while.

Stop hating the dollar after office hours. Forget your worries in the evenings and get out of doors. See how it feels to throw your pole out once more in the old swimming hole, take a plunge in the river or swimming pool of your city; get out on the golf links or the tennis courts, challenge your neighbor for a game of horseshoes, see if you still remember how to throw a baseball, try out your batting eye again.

There's some kind of play for every kind of men. And play is the best kind of insurance you can buy. It's about the only thing that's "good for you" that also is a lot of fun.

Play hard and you'll be alive and enjoying "business as usual" long after the other fellow chased the dollar and the high cost of living into the cemetery.

Proclamation of the President

Overwhelming disaster has come upon the people of Pueblo and the surrounding district. Realization of their suffering now and in the days to come prompts me to issue an urgent request to all whose sympathies are awakened to assist the labors of the American Red Cross which has quickly organized to cope with the first great need and will stand by until homes and home-life can be re-established there.

Contributions may be sent at once through the office of any Chapter or directly to Red Cross Headquarters at Washington for use in the stricken territory. WARREN G. HARDING.

A further appeal has been made as $500,000 is needed immediately for relief work and so far the response to the appeal for aid has not been a generous response.

Ward's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

Nashville, Tenn.—The efficacy of Thedford's Black-Draught, the herb, liver medicine, is attested for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I believe I could get along without it take it for sour stomach, head-ache, bad liver, indigestion, and all the troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

I have known and used it for years, and can do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it is said to do. I can't say enough for any other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes valuable in regulating the liver to normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Beware of imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. R. M.

The Big Spring delegation attending the meeting at San Angelo last Monday and the pleasure of meeting Congressman Cland Hudspeth who is accompanying Gov. Harding thru his district and they took occasion to commend them for this spirit of cooperation. They found Mr. Hudspeth deeply interested in everything pertaining to West Texas and her people and he pledged his untiring energy to work early and late for any and all measures that would benefit West Texas and her citizenship. West Texas is fortunate in having a Congressman of Hudspeth's ability to represent them in Congress.

Windbreaks are in many ways a farm asset. They tend to prevent the soil from drying out quickly and they protect grain and orchards from injury by the wind. A belt of trees near the farm buildings protect them from extreme cold and from summer's heat. Trees make the farm a pleasanter place to which to live. The windbreak also is a source of wood supply for fuel or for sale.

The Johnson Bill
Governor Neff, in his address to the Texas Press Association at McAllen, defended the Johnson Bill forcefully and conclusively against the notion that it would invest the Chief Executive with an autocratic power. He explained that it would not authorize the Governor to remove officers, but only to institute legal proceedings on a charge of willfully and corruptly refusing to enforce the laws. This is a fair description of the bill, and hence it is not subject to the objection that has been made against it. Thereafter, Governor Neff spoke less happily. Declaring that the bill would not give the Governor a despotic power, he added, somewhat irrelevantly, that "I personally do not think it would be a bad law if the Governor of Texas were given the power to remove officers without stating cause just as the Federal Government does," by Federal Government meaning the President, evidently.

Whether such a law would be a good or bad one would depend on whether it should extend his power of removal over elective officers or restrict it to appointive ones. The President's power of removal, it is hardly necessary to say, is restricted to appointive officers, and not to all of them, since Judges are appointive and yet not removable by executive order. If Governor Neff meant that the power to remove elective officers should be given to the Governor, a meaning which may be inferred from the fact that the bill he was discussing deals with the case of elective officers, then, The News is sure, no very considerable percentage of the people of this State would agree with him as to the quality of such a statute. If the Governor might remove, and without even the requirement of stating his reasons, an officer whom the people had elected, then we should say that he would be invested with a power which no word would so aptly characterize as despotic.

However, as The News has said, Governor Neff has made it clear that the Johnson Bill proposes nothing like that. In stating an ideal, which under one possible and not unpleasing interpretation, is so antagonistic to the spirit of democracy, Governor Neff is in danger of putting under prejudice the deserving measure that he is eager to have enacted.—Dallas News.

Black Abyss of War
Peace is not an unrealized ideal. The world has heretofore been organized for war in order to prevent war, and it has served only to cause war. Let the world now organize for peace in order to secure peace, and see if it will not produce peace. Let us, therefore, on this day, when the sublime sacrifices of our dead heroes give point and poignancy to the lessons of the past, resolve not to follow the blind leadership of those who would lead us again into the black abyss of war. Let us rather take counsel of God and the noble Christian precepts He has taught us, and of the lessons we have learned through unnumbered centuries of blood and human misery, and realize that force must not now and can never be the accepted arbiter of human destiny, that peace and justice are mightier than all the powers of evil, and that there can be no permanent civilization until we destroy war and enthroned peace.—William Gibbs McAdoo.

"Wild Government Spending"
"Wild Government Spending" is the caption of a New York Herald editorial. Frank A. Munsey owns the New York Herald, and the New York Herald was a stalwart supporter of the Republican presidential candidates and the Republican program in the campaign of 1920. It will be recalled that all the Republican campaigners and editors promised a sweeping reduction in taxation, a sweeping retrenchment in the expenditure of money, government conducted on business principles, prosperity for the employer and the employe and the restoration of peace to the world. All this, if the Republican party was entrusted with the reins of government. Since 1918 the Republicans have controlled congress. They were given everything they asked. They were given the presidency, the congress by overwhelming majority and instructions to "go ahead." Well, this is the Munsey editorial on wild government spending and the people should read it:

The one outstanding lesson of the series of articles which the New York Herald is publishing about the federal government's continued squander in the face of the imperative need to save is that congress appropriates and the administrative spenders do not know how to economize. They do not know how to stop the waste because they do not know where the waste is. For the present fiscal year (ending with this month) the Democratic heads of departments asked for $5,064,350,790, and this was hailed as wild extravagance. The Republican congress cut those estimates and appropriations to meet the revised items $3,717,441,484, and this was acclaimed by the legislative body as heroic economizing. But Secretary Mellon of the treasury figures that when the year closes four weeks from now the actual spending will have been $5,602,024,861, not counting postoffice outlay, which was included in the original estimates and the appropriations. If the cost of the postal service is added, the spending will have exceeded six billions of dollars, as against the five billions of original estimates and the three and three-quarter billions of appropriations.

The estimates for the new fiscal year were $5,259,515,574. The appropriations (with estimates for the army and navy bills) have been $3,806,029,547. Secretary Mellon figures the actual spendings, not including postal service, will be $4,565,877,033. Congress, in other words, went through the motion of saving for the approaching new fiscal year a billion and four hundred millions from the demands of the spenders. But without the postoffice figures the spendings will be three-quarters of a billion dollars more than the appropriations. With the postal items counted in the spendings as they were in the estimate, the actual spendings will be nearly a billion and a quarter dollars more.

How the government used to appropriate and spend may be judged by some comparisons before the war. For 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914 the appropriations were a little in excess of a billion dollars every year; the expenditures ranged between $19,000,000 for 1910 and $1,025,608,578 for 1914.

In 1917 the appropriations were $1,625,419,995. In 1918 the appropriations were $18,892,027,501 and the expenditures $21,813,356,508. In 1919 the appropriations were $27,065,149,690 and the expenditures $35,129,660,706.

Since the war the overspending of appropriations has continued, as explained in detail in the first part of this article. The spenders have spent regardless of what the congress appropriators had given them to spend. Then the congress appropriators, by means of deficiency bills or other more or less secret measures to dig the spenders out, have given them the difference under the table, so to speak, where the public could not see the special squander allowances of know about them until after they were gone and all but forgotten. But the plain truth about this sort of ramshackle business management and financial profligacy, now that revenues are growing scarcer and scarcer, is that unless the United States government, legislative and administrative, buckles down to the job of saving money instead of talking about it, the national treasury will be headed for the rocks, and the party in control of the government will have to face a reckoning with the public.

Pure Religion
If any man among you seem to be religious, and brideth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain. Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this: To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.—James 1, 26, 27.

Father Abram T. Ryan, the poet-priest beloved throughout the South—taking for his text Swedenborg's pronouncement that "religion relates to life, and the life of religion is to do good"—gave to the world a poem expressive of the philosophy of the "pure religion and undefiled" commended by the apostle:

He left a load of anthracite
In front of a poor man's door,
When the deep snow, frozen and white,
Wrapped street and square, mountain and moor.
That was his deed; he did it well.
"What was his creed?" I cannot tell.
Blessed in his basket and his store,
In sitting down and rising up;
When more he got, he gave the more.
Withholding not the crust and cup.
He took the lead in each good task.
"What was his creed?" I did not ask.
He had afith in loaves of bread
For hungry people, young and old;
Hope he inspired, kind words he said
To those he sheltered from the cold.
For we should feed as well as pray,
"What was his creed?" I cannot say.

A few days ago the Presbyterian general assembly asked Secretary Davis of the department of labor for an opinion of the practicability of church aid in solving the problems of the nation. In reply, he cited a speech by President Harding, wherein it was said: "With a membership of nearly fifty millions, our churches today constitute the greatest force in the world. If this force would help in solving the national problems, or the individual, it must be more practically applied. I should like to see the teachings of the Master interpreted in the light of modern conditions," meaning, perhaps, less doctrinism and dogma, and more practical humanity, which is the basis of what the apostle describes as pure religion. For his own task, Secretary Davis said that many ways in which the church can help solve the in-

Labor Favors Disarmament

Denver, Colo., June 15.—President Harding and congress are urged to lead the way in bringing about world disarmament in a resolution presented today to the forty-first annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. They are requested to call a conference of the powers of the world "with the hope and in the belief that through such conference the billions now being expended in naval armaments may be saved to the tax payers of the several countries."

"The whole world contemplates with horror," said the resolution, "the possibility of a race for national power between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, similar to that between Great Britain and Germany which preceded the great world war."

"Such a race is inconsistent with and must serve to postpone and prevent general disarmament, to which the American labor movement stands committed."

den off the banks as it is to relieve the cattlemen. Moreover, it must be kept in mind that what is needed is long-time loans—loans for one year, with the absolute assurance that no trouble will be experienced in obtaining renewals for another year—and little assurance can be had that such will be the rule if the New York bankers' plan is substituted for that of the Federal Reserve Board.

If the objection to the Federal Reserve Board's plan is merely that Government aid in time of peace should not be encouraged, and that relief of the cattlemen may lead to other demands for relief, it should be pointed out that a special emergency exists in the cattle industry and that there is no chance of a similar situation arising in other industries. What the Eastern bankers do not seem to realize is that the present situation threatens the country as a whole with irreparable damages. It is authoritatively stated that there are today 15,000,000 less cattle in the country than there were ten years ago, in spite of an increase in the population. If relief is not forthcoming there will be considerably less than today a year from now. The cattle industry is one that cannot be adjusted like other industries. Take cotton, for example. We are raising a short crop this year, a crop that will be less than 8,000,000 bales, according to estimates. But if conditions a year from now would justify it we could raise a crop of from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bales without any trouble. Indeed, even if we should not grow a pound of cotton during any given year, we could raise the biggest crop on record the following year. But that cannot be done with cattle. The progress of the cattle industry during the past two or three decades has been improvement of quality rather than increase of the number of cattle. A pure-bred cow and calf on the range today represent more than merely that cow and calf. They represent more even than that cow and its calf grown to maturity. It is through them that the future cattle supply of the country must be provided, and the standard kept up. If the cattlemen are forced to curtail breeding and to sell stock that ought to be used for breeding purposes, it will be a blow to the industry which will destroy the patient work of years.

It is this fact that justifies the kind of assistance which the Federal Reserve Board proposes. No other industry presents a situation of precisely the same character. And an industry like the cattle industry is a social asset. It is not only the cattlemen who is involved. It is the meat supply of the country. In the face of this it would be the height of folly to abandon a plan which offers real relief, for one which will merely patch up the trouble temporarily, even if it will do that. The fear of encouraging a paternalistic system should not enter us in this situation. For it is a unique situation, and one which threatens greater calamities to the country as a whole than the mere encouragement of paternalism would be. The Federal Reserve Board's plan would not mean the loss of a cent to the country ultimately, whereas failure to grant relief would mean untold loss. It is to be hoped, therefore, that unless the bankers put forward a plan which is an improvement on that of the Federal Reserve Board, the authorities will stand firm and proceed to put through the bill authorizing a deposit of $50,000,000 with the War Finance Corporation for the purpose of meeting this situation.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

How to Spend $10

Manufacturers and dealers in food-stuffs have a great habit these days of comparing other food products with their own from the standpoint of food values. Judging from the billboards and publicity matter widely distributed, almost every concern is producing the fundamental essential of a balanced ration. However, we are inclined to look with more than usual interest and approval on a schedule posted by the advocates of milk and its products.

Assuming that one has $10 to spend for food, they say to spend it about as follows: Milk and milk products (including butter, cream and cheese), $4.40; vegetables and fruits, $1.70; bread and cereals, $1.80; meat and fish, $1.20; eggs, 60 cents; sugar, 30 cents, and all other foods used, 50 cents.

This proposal may or may not be exactly scientific. Scientists often differ as to details, but the fact remains that milk and milk products should rank at the very top among the foods of the Nations.—Oregon Farmer.

Poor Prospect for Tax Reduction.

To a few it has been fairly evident for a long time, that however sincere our statesmen may be in promising to economize, they can effect no considerable easement of the heavy tax burden the country is under—until they find the courage and a way to operate ruthlessly on the Army and Navy Appropriation Bills. The effort to abolish superfluous places in the civil divisions of the Government and to reduce the salaries attached to some of those that escape destruction is commendable. But it will save from disappointment all who applaud this effort to keep the fact in mind that if the utmost that has been promised should be accomplished, the lessening of the tax burden would hardly be appreciable. This is so because of every dollar which the Government collects now, 84c, according to the lowest calculation, and 93c, according to the highest, is spent in paying for wars that have been fought and in preparing for wars that are expected.

It is worth while, even if a bit discouraging, to consider just what this signifies. During the fiscal year to end with this month the Government will have taken from the pockets of the people in various ways between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 with the likelihood that the total will more nearly approximate $6,000,000,000 than $5,000,000,000. But take the smaller sum for the purpose of calculation, and assume that, instead of 16c or 7c, ten cents out of every dollar collected goes to finance the Government's civil functions. That gives $500,000,000 as the amount that will have been spent in the works of peace, and as the amount that is susceptible to reduction by the practice of economies in the Government's civil expenditures. One would be sanguine to imagine it possible to reduce that expenditure by more than a third. But if that were done, or even if $200,000,000 were lopped off, the taxpayer's burden would be lessened by about 4 per cent. His mind could comprehend that relief, but his back would probably be insensible of it.

If the taxpayer is to get enough relief to be felt, economy must invade our war expenditures. There is an opportunity worthy of its best effort. But even that opportunity, unhappily, is not so large as it may seem to be at a glance. That part of our war expenditures that goes to the liquidation of wars already fought is not susceptible to much reduction, if any, at present, nor will it be for a long time in the future. Bonds must be paid, interest and principal, and this fixed charge will not soon diminish perceptibly. So must pensions be paid, and for a long time these will increase, despite the erasures death is now so fast making in the Civil War list. On top of this there is to be the bonus, if the congressional leaders of the party in power have their way, and for three or four years this will be quite a sensible addition to the tax burdens. Of our war expenditures, it will probably be found, when the Army and Navy Appropriation Bills emerge from the conference committees, that the amount susceptible to reduction is not more than $1,500,000,000. If that were cut in half and civil expenditures in third—achievements which every one would do well not to expect to see even approximated for a long time to come—the saving would be less than $1,000,000,000, and so less than 20 per cent of the tax burden which the country now supports.

The party in power has fostered rather a large hope of tax reduction. The country might as well reconcile itself to the disappointment of it, and substitute the smaller and more rational hope that its tax burden will not be made heavier.—Dallas News.

Potash Discovery of Great Importance.

Austin, Texas.—Discoveries of beds of potash in two wells recently drilled for oil in West Texas, one well situated near Midland and the other southwest of O'Donnell and northwest of Lamesa, in Dawson county, are regarded as being of the greatest industrial importance from a national as well as a state standpoint. According to a report made by Dr. J. A. Udden, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology and Technology of the University of Texas, under whose direction a field geologist has been investigating and gathering data on possible potash beds in West Texas for some time past, the discoveries in the two wells aforementioned indicate that that part of the state has potash resources equal to the famous potash deposits of Germany. It is recalled that about two years ago while drilling a wildcat well for oil near Tahoka, Lynn County, the drill went through a bed of so-called salt, said to have been two hundred feet thick. In view of the fact that it is only by analysis that potash may be determined it is thought this substance may have been potash. It is regarded as significant that this well is within about twenty-five miles of the well in Dawson county where potash was found. There are also large basins and "salt" lakes in the region to the West of O'Donnell where considerable explorations for potash have been done during the last two or three years. In test borings in one of these basins, upon the ranch of S. F. Singleton of Tahoka, potash analyzing 12 per cent was found almost from the surface down to the bottom of the hole, two hundred feet. The United States Geological Survey has been working with the Bureau of Economic Geology and Technology in the search for potash in West Texas. It is stated that much difficulty is experienced in getting oil operators to save the cores of their wells so that the different formations which are penetrated may be analyzed by these government laboratories. The importance of doing this is shown by the results of the analysis of the borings of the two wells where potash was found, it is pointed out.

Victory Week Is Set By Farmers

Dallas, Texas.—June 20 to 25 has been designated by the Texas Farm Bureau as Victory Week and every signer of a cotton contract will be asked to get as many other signers as possible, to the contract, during the week. No member is expected to get less than one signer and many are expected to get a dozen or more. It's a volunteer week and farmers will do something for themselves, for their homes and their children.

On June 22 and 23 newspapers all over the State will get out special editions in the interest of the farmers' big drive for membership.

June 27 has been designated as a close-up day at which time business houses all over Texas will cooperate with the farmers by closing up their places of business and assisting them in their drive for a million bales of cotton.

June 28 and 29 and 30 have been designated as clean-up days and they will be devoted to counting the contracts in hand and to seeing the few farmers that were not canvassed in the regular drive, July 1 will be the culminating day of the big drive.

On July 4 the Farm Bureau picnics will be held all over Texas and programs will be rendered. Speakers will discuss the principles of the movement and reports from the cotton sign-up will be made available by all County Farm Bureaus.

To the Citizens of Howard County

I desire to thank my friends very much for the support given me in the recent election and assure them that I appreciate their efforts to the fullest. To those who opposed me I wish to say that I have no words of condemnation and am sure that they would not have opposed me had it not been for many gross misrepresentations made to them by some of my enemies. Trusting that I will be able to serve the entire district satisfactorily and with benefit to all, I remain, Very respectfully,

Harvey or Harding

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Col. George Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain, in his extraordinary speech of last week said, among other distasteful things: "Not a few remain convinced that we sent our young soldiers across to save this kingdom (Great Britain), France and Italy. That is not the fact. We sent them solely to save the United States of America, and most reluctantly and laggardly at that. We were not 'too proud to fight,' whatever that may mean. We were afraid not to fight. It is true that we went into the war reluctantly. It is true that we were long in coming to a decision. It is true that the adoption of an unrestricted submarine policy by Germany was the act that carried us into the war. We went to war primarily to protect and to maintain our rights on the high seas, which were being imperiled by Germany's indiscriminate destruction. It is not true that we went to war to 'save' the United States of America. At the time we entered there were few who believed the United States was in the slightest danger. It was not until over a year after our entry, when Germany's last desperate drives were alarming the world, that possibility of peril to ourselves was recognized. We did not fight to save ourselves, and, having no reason for fear, it is absurdly false to say that we were afraid not to fight. If it had not been for America's condemnation of Germany's purpose and methods, if it had not been for America's sympathy for the cause of the allies, if it had not been for the American conviction, growing stronger every day, that civilization and democracy were imperiled, the United States would not have gone into the war, for all its material interests, all its selfish interests, were against it. It was growing prodigiously rich from the conflict in Europe. There were in 1917 no serious menace to that accumulation, nor to the continuance of its growth. Yet deliberately we sacrificed all that, and more, far more, loaded ourselves with debts that will burden a generation, and spilled the blood of thousands of our sons."

But what does President Harding say about this? His answer comes with the speed and emphasis of an official rebuke. Did he, speaking yesterday over the returned bodies of 5,000 of our boys who sacrificed their lives in France, say that they were "afraid not to fight"—that they had been sent solely to "save" the United States? Hardly. This is what he said: "These bodies are but the lay tenements once possessed of souls which flamed in patriotic devotion, lighted new hopes on the battle grounds of civilization, and in their sacrifices sped on to accuse autocracy before the court of eternal justice." And again he said: "These heroes were sacrificed in the supreme conflict of all human history. They saw democracy challenged and defended it. They saw America affronted and resented it. They saw our Nation's rights imperiled and stamped those rights with a new sanctity, and renewed security." No suggestion there to "save" ourselves, of cowardly fighting because we were "afraid not to fight." Which is right—Harvey or Harding? The question needs no answer in the United States. There was a measure of Americanism in that of Great Britain, France, but with us there was an aroused patriotism springing to conduct and had no thought of self-interest. It was that giving of the war.

Honoring Bride-to-Be and Groom
 Honoring Miss Isabell Harris and Yuell Robb, their friends planned an outing the first of this week, and the occasion was indeed a happy one.
 Moss Springs was selected as the place for the outing and a more delightful place is not to be found in the state.
 Swimming was the first number on the program, then a feast of chickens, and later, as the crowd gathered around the camp fire, yarns were spun and singing everything from "Smiles" to grand opera was in order. Everyone took part in the task of barbecuing the fifteen chickens, preparing the toast, etc. and a feast fit for kings was enjoyed. In addition to chickens floating in a sauce of butter and Lee and Perrins sauce, and toast, the other items on the menu were ice cream, cream puffs, cake and coffee, and, gee! how they were enjoyed.
 Not only the honorees, but every one present will long remember this as one of the most pleasant occasions ever enjoyed.
 The following were members of the party: Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick, Misses Nell Hatch, Isabell Harris, Mary and Vivian Johnson, Mabel Ricker, Zou Hardy, Mabel Gamel, Mabel Bardwell, Juell Wright, Alberta Mayfield, Lillian Shick, Messrs Yuell Robb, Charles Hatch, George and Ed Hatch, Eck Lovelace, Bob Parks, Hilo Hatch, W.  Funeral services were conducted at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at Coleman, funeral services being under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of which fraternity he has been a true and faithful member the past thirty-five years.
 He is survived by a wife, seven daughters, and three sons, and all except two children were able to be at his bedside.
 In addition to having become acquainted with many of our people during a visit here three years ago, Mr. Collins had many old time friends here, and former residents of Coleman, and we join with these friends in extending to the bereaved relatives deepest sympathy in their time of deep sorrow.

Losing Respect for Our Courts

The grand jury of Tarrant county, Texas, recently returned an indictment for robbery in which it was charged that the offense was committed during the month of "Mch." The attorney for the defendant proved by several dictionaries that "Mar." was the correct abbreviation for "March" and for that reason the language of the indictment was obscure. The Judge before whom the case was tried sustained the objection and quashed the indictment.

This is just one of the many incidents happening in the courts of Texas which have a tendency to make judges ridiculous and which result in a loss of respect for our courts and a disregard for the law. In this case, if the newspaper reports are correct, it was not the language of the indictment that was obscure—it was the minds of those whose duty it is to administer justice. Blinded by precedent and technicality and fear of reversal by the higher courts, the judges of Texas and many other States are costing the tax payers million of dollars annually. Worse than that, they are undermining the usefulness of the courts of the land by creating a distrust in the minds of the people for that department of Government which was erected for their protection. Justice is not only blind, but she is deaf and dumb. She has been removed from her pedestal and the little "god" Technicality has been set up in her place.

The attorney for the defense, in the case cited; the judge on the bench and the prisoner at the bar all knew that "Mch" was used as an abbreviation for March in the indictment before the court. Was there any sane reason for quashing the indictment? If there was it did not appear in the report of the proceedings.

District judges are often influenced by the fear of reversal by the courts, and more particularly the Court of Criminal Appeals. In the past, has made a record on purely technical grounds. The district judge may know the defendant at the bar may be a fair trial before twelve laymen. The judge may be sure the defendant has been given legal advantage and his rights protected, and then have returned to his court because of a trivial infraction of technicality in no way was material. It has been the reason for the court in the Tarrant county case but to suggest this is to suggest the indictment on.

Crime would be less on court dockets less crowding of the judiciary cut in half, made more sure and certain. Judges be made to understand the exercise of even average sense in the conduct of their necessary to the maintenance and to retain the respect of the —Farm and Ranch.

If more of our citizens took an auto ride along the road which traverses the south of town we would be willing to lend aid toward a fine driveway through the road is rather rough but a trip along this drive worth while. Try it.

Report on Enders-Cushing
Following is a report from Mr. Cushing, Trustee, of Boston, describing conditions as he observed during a visit to the Cushing and the Enders-Cushing No. 1 well at Big Spring on May 23rd to 30th:

At Big Spring at 10:30 a. m. on May 23rd. My telephone call had only just been made, which meant a delay of several hours before he could get to me. This gave me a chance to find out how the people felt about the oil in the field. I put in the morning with the local merchants, geologists, etc., and found the opinion prevalent, and that the Enders-Cushing well was the best in the district and that it would prove up that field as a duplication of the one which applied at Ranger, and the other fields at this stage of development.

The prospects of our first well no one who questioned the indications pointed to early production.

If a unanimous hope on the part of a vast number of people there is no question about the success of the well. I found that people in Texas and other parts of the country to look into the situation at Cushing Ranch, because the people have made up their minds that Big Spring district is the next to be drilled and that we are destined to be successful by the success of our first well.

Following the ranch in the afternoon the same optimistic feeling was all our employees. With the two out of eleven men, the two crews, all have purposes on the basis of their own observation of conditions in and well. This seems to be a significant fact as our two crews and Taylor, are both men and conservative men, and given to rash and unsubstantiated statements.

During the course of the week I have seen all my time at the well, the various sands which are in the well. One sand in particular, which came up on Sunday, was literally saturated with oil, showing the fact that this was showing of oil that we have almost impossible to get into of mind which allows any to what we will ultimately be sure if our Drilling Association members could have witnessed the mechanical problems which I saw solved during that week, they would feel the utmost confidence that their money, so far as the physical equipment and crew organization was concerned, had been well and wisely spent.

"One feat in particular impressed me greatly. It was the lifting and lowering of nearly a half mile of 8-inch pipe, weighing approximately 40-tons, without so much as a creak or groan from the derrick or machinery. This process of lifting so tremendous a weight, I am told, has often resulted in actually pulling the derrick down. All the mechanical difficulties which I saw overcome were handled with that ease and freedom from excitement which is apparent only when the men have perfect confidence in the stability and adequacy of the equipment.

"Of course this is only a detail, but it is an important detail when we consider the time and money which our equipment has already saved us.

"Some of our Drilling Association members have seemed to feel that progress in drilling the well was slow. I wish they could see, as I have seen, the constantly recurring difficulties which come up in drilling new territory. For their benefit let me say that careful investigation has shown me conclusively that our well has gone down faster, at less cost per foot and with less delays due to mechanical defects or mistakes of judgment than any other well in the Big Spring district.

"Of course, every one will want to know when people down here expect the well to come in. It would be foolish to make any predictions, but it is quite within the range of possibility that the next few days may see the fulfillment of our hopes. This is what our drillers firmly believe—that the pay sand will be encountered as soon as we break through the lime in which we are now drilling. On the other hand, Mr. Dodson, one of the best geologists operating in the field, told me that it might be necessary to go to 3200 feet, before we found the big production of which he thinks the field capable.

"In view of this divergence of expert opinion it would hardly be conservative for me to make predictions. I can only say that I will be satisfied either way—that oil at either depth will reward all our efforts, will generously redeem the promises held out by the district, and fulfill our hopes. And anything I can do to assist in pushing operations as fast as consistent with safety, will be cheerfully and hopefully done."

The raising and lowering of the casing, to which Mr. Cutler refers in his report, was made necessary because, after the casing had been set to below the water sand, it was found that the water still came into the hole. It was decided to lower the casing three feet, and this is the operation Mr. Cutler describes.

The water was apparently shut off when Mr. Cutler left on the 30th. We rather expected good news by the end of the week, but instead we learned that water persisted in coming in. The drillers finally decided that there must be a defective joint somewhere, and they proceeded to pull the entire string of casing. They found that the last joint had broken at the collar, letting in the water; this joint was fished out and replaced; and a telegram just to hand states that the job has been successfully completed, and the casing is being reset.

This occurrence offers an interesting sidelight on Mr. Cutler's comments on our equipment. With any less efficient and complete outfit, it might have taken weeks to do this job, and it is a grave question whether the ordinary derrick would have stood up under the strain without expensive re-inforcement.

CROP CONDITIONS IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, June 11.—Crop conditions generally in Texas are the best at this season in many years, according to reports of correspondents received by the Texas Industrial Congress during the past week. Timely showers, with intervals of good growing weather, during May, together with general rains during the first week of June, have benefitted all crops in every section of the State, and have supplied abundant subsoil moisture.

Cotton

The crop has been reduced fully thirty per cent in acreage, and, except in portions of east Texas, is growing well, although from one to three weeks late. Boll-weevils are making their appearance in central, east and north-east Texas at an earlier date than usual, which affords an opportunity for combatting them with calcium, or, in cases where the damage is serious enough, to plow up the crop and plant forage crops. Picking has begun in southeast Texas where there is some complaint of a shortage of labor. Too much rain in east Texas has hindered cultivation. Drouth conditions in west Texas have been overcome by recent good rains.

Wheat and Oats

Harvest has begun in central and north Texas, and is moving toward the Panhandle. Conditions have improved and the yield promises better than expected. In northwest Texas particularly, conditions are excellent. Government estimates place the acreage at 1,761,000 acres, with a probable yield of 20,000,000 bushels. The oat crop in south and central Texas has fallen below normal.

Corn

The crop is in excellent condition over the entire State, and a yield larger than normal, from a greatly increased acreage, now appears probable.

Other Crops

The condition of the hay crop is above that of last year with a yield expected to exceed 1,000,000 tons. The Irish potato crop, from a largely reduced acreage, will equal last year's yield of 220,000 barrels. Acreage in rice is 50 per cent less than that of 1920.

Fruit and Truck

The Texas peach crop is estimated at 1,500,000 bushels, and shipments have already begun. Because of the failure of this crop in other States, market conditions are good. Pears and apples will make half a crop. The yields of all truck crops have been normal and prices generally have been satisfactory, but high freight rates have been adverse to the best marketing conditions. Tomatoes are moving in east Texas and prospects are favorable. The watermelon crop will be larger than usual, and melons should be plentiful in all the markets of the State, as freight rates are against out-of-State shipments.

Livestock and Range

Livestock and range conditions are excellent, and cattle and sheep are in good flesh. With a greatly increased

New Head of Prohibition Makes Appeal

Washington, D. C., June 15.—In an open appeal to the public especially the "editorial and news writer, to the cartoonist and to the reporter, to the scenario writer, to the playwright," to lend every aid to prohibition enforcement, Roy A. Haynes, new federal prohibition commissioner issued his first statement here.

"At the outset of my administration," he said, "I want to preach the gospel of the need of law enforcement. If there was ever a time when all good citizens should unite on a program of law enforcement, in the home, in the school, in the church and in the press, it is today.

"I appeal to the editorial and news writer, to the cartoonist, to the reporter, to the scenario writer, to the playwright, to lend every aid to law enforcement.

"The editorial, the cartoon, the news story, the film or the legitimate play, which has in it the direct statement or inferential suggestion, that the dry program is easily violated, or should be violated, that it is a joke—is not only harmful in the warping of sentiment against the enforcement of this law but obviously such influence leads to a disregard of law in general.

"Such suggestions create in the minds of the young an unfair and unfortunate attitude.

"With comparatively few officials to enforce the 18th amendment it cannot be effectively done without cooperation of patriotic and helpful citizenship."

If the business firms of the city feel that they cannot afford to go to the trouble and expense of elaborately decorating floats for the 4th of July parade, they can at least decorate their automobiles. Everyone in the county owning an automobile is urged to decorate their car for the parade. Use bunting and flags if you do not wish to go to too much trouble.

Treatment of Chlorosis or Yellowing of Plants

The treatment consists of spraying the trees or plants with Ferrous Sulphate of Iron, which can be purchased from the drug store. To use the spray make a one per cent solution by dissolving the sulphate of iron in water and spray the attacked plant frequently with this solution. At the same time it is recommended that "liquid manure" be applied every week or so to the soil surrounding the plant. In making this liquid manure solution only thoroughly, well rotted manure should be used. Soak the manure in water and pour off the water, after it has stood for ten or twelve hours on the manure, and weaken it down by adding water to the color of strong tea. It is believed by following the above directions thoroughly beneficial results will be secured.

Mexican Oil Field Playing Out

Rear Admiral Benson as chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board has a report from J. W. Phelan, a board expert, declaring that in the forty square miles of oil producing area in Old Mexico, 63 of the 104 wells had ceased to produce and that salt water was rapidly filling those now in operation. Phelan stated that "not a new oil structure had been discovered in Mexico since 1916, and the proven territory is in fact going into salt water." —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Putting the Truck Out of Business.

It was probably not the intention of the Legislature to place undue burdens on those operating trucks when a law increasing the license fee and assessing a mileage tax was passed during the last session. The main idea was to make it necessary for truck owners to pay a reasonable amount towards construction of roads and bridges which they were helping to destroy. In doing so, however, it is believed by those who have considered the subject from all angles, that the law which goes into effect in July is altogether too severe and should be amended.

This law increases the license fee 90 per cent. Truck owners do not object to this feature as it makes it uniform throughout the country. The law also assesses a mileage fee ranging from 1 cent per mile on a 1-1.2 ton truck to 8 cents on a truck with a carrying capacity of 10,000 to 12,000 pounds. Another feature of the law fixes a speed limit which users of trucks say is altogether too low and will interfere greatly with the rapid transportation of freight.

That part of the law which is most objectionable is the mileage tax which, it is said, will practically cause the discontinuance of motor truck lines. This tax, based on a daily trip of a five ton truck to Fort Worth and return, will cost the owner $1,440 mileage tax annually in addition to $120 license fee, other trucks in proportion. This is figured on sixty miles per day for 300 working days. In addition there will be the expense and trouble of keeping accurate daily records.

Although it is generally conceded that trucks using our public highways should be regulated as to load and speed and that they should be caused to help bear the expense of building and maintaining good roads, the new law is manifestly unfair and should be amended. Trucks are modern necessities. They have become a part of our transportation system and should be encouraged rather than discouraged in expanding their usefulness. To put the truck lines out of business means higher freight rates and much congestion in busy times. It is a blow to an industry recognized as one of the modern necessities. While regulation is necessary, it should be kept within the bounds of reason.—Farm and Ranch.

What Henry Ford Says About Machine Power Farming

"In the tractor the farmer now has a machine in which is harnessed one of the most adaptable, efficient, economical sources of power in the world—the internal combustion engine. The tractor will multiply the productive capacity of each individual farm worker from three to four times over.

"It will put the farmer on par with the city manufacturer. It will put his produce producing factory—for that is what the farm is—on to an efficient production basis.

"It will enable each worker to earn so much more than he can be paid more and still leave a greater profit for the man who hires him. It will enable the farmer to work fewer hours in the day, giving him more time to enjoy life.

"I believe the tractor will make farming what it ought to be—the most pleasant, the most healthful, the most profitable business on earth."

A Queer World, My Masters.

Payment of interest on the Mexican foreign debt will be resumed on July 1 and the national budget of expenditures will be increased 20,000,000 pesos for that purpose. It is said the interest amounts approximately to 40,000,000 pesos per year.

President Obregon is doing his best to create a stable government. He is doing his best to pay the foreign debt of Mexico. He is doing his best to protect the lives of foreigners and their property interests. It is a queer condition of affairs, isn't it?

Peace has been declared and the peace resolution recognizes the republican government of Germany. Later along a treaty of commerce will be arranged. It cost the lives of 100,000 Americans and a treasury of $33,000,000,000 to dethrone the Hohenzollerns. Now the United States is at peace with Germany and has recognized the German government.

Mexico is our neighbor. Mexico is a friendly neighbor but before the United States government will recognize the Obregon government in Mexico the president of the Aztec republic must sign a guarantee that Mexico will be good at all times; that the lives of foreigners must be protected at all times and that the property interests claimed by foreigners must be protected and their so-called concessions not assailed in the courts or by the lawmakers of Mexico. This is a queer world, my masters.—Fort Worth Record.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR.

Another Reduction in Ford Cars

"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford Truck to take effect immediately. The list price, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR.....	$415.00
RUNABOUT.....	370.00
COUPE.....	695.00
SEDAN.....	760.00
CHASSIS.....	345.00
TRUCK-CHASSIS.....	495.00
TRACTOR.....	625.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the largest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on the 1922 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor. Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just 'phone us or drop us a card.

San Antonio Commonwealth: While shot and shell were loaded into guns and fired away during the war no actual cash was destroyed. The money that was in the world before the war is still on earth and a lot more, too. Why, then, do not the wizards of finance who control the world's money markets get it back into normal channels? They could do it if they would lay aside some of their greed.

One of the strangest things in this world is why folks can't get it into their heads that money will not do everything. To be sure, if there is any class that can be excused for knowing comparatively little about money, it is newspaper men—they handle so little of it. But here is a man with the experience and years of Jeff. McMoure, who is not only running a Republican paper in Texas, but who is falling for the idea that all we need in this country is more money. Long ago it was demonstrated that money is the medium of exchange for the things that really count. If you haven't anybody to exchange with you haven't any more use for money than an oyster has for a corn plaster. As a matter of fact, in the ultimate sense, there is more money in the United States than ever before. Compared to the rest of the world we have a heavier preponderance of monetary resources than any other country on the globe. As for material wealth in the sense of bushels and pounds, bales, boxes and feet and yards, we have more than ever before, more than any other nation. The trouble is, we can't dispose of our goods because foreign trade can't pay for them now, nor furnish good collateral for a future payment on them. There's nothing mysterious about that, and banking greed has nothing whatever to do with it. The banks could lend money to our manufacturers until they scraped the bottom of their vaults, but if the factories can't take their goods and find a buyer for them, the whole credit structure is bound to tumble down some time. The higher it towers the harder it must fall. Some people seem to think that it is a favor to a farmer to lend money to him when he has no prospect of paying it back. If the farmer is honest that is the poorest sort of favor. If he can pay it back or has a reasonable chance to pay it back he can get credit now. If he hasn't the probability of paying it back what he wants is not credit, but charity. There is no doubt but what there are some good men on the farms of Texas who now need a substantial portion of brotherly aid given without thought of receiving anything in return. And most of these unfortunates have a large 1921 crop of cotton coming on—State Press in Dallas News.

An attractive refreshment plate of fruit salad, sandwiches, cheese straws, olives, ice tea and mints was served to Misses Isabell Harris, Alberta Mayfield, Zou Hardy, Margaret Compton, Vivian Johnson, Sallie Jordan, Maude Leeper, Louise Wheelodon, Theina Leeper, Jena Jordan and Mrs. McCall Gary.

The Allies and Asia Minor

Having had time to catch their breath after the battles of last Spring, the Turks and Greeks are getting ready to go at each other again. The Spring campaign suggested that neither side was strong enough to win a decisive victory, but since then each has received help. From Russia and Azerbaijan the Turks have received reinforcements of troops described as Moslem Bolsheviks. A Moslem Bolshevik, in theory, must be something like a Catholic Christian Scientist, but so long as Russia and Turkey have common political interests in the Near East neither Lenin nor Mustapha Kemal is going to worry much about theology.

These reinforcements probably are not very numerous, but their mere appearance in Asia Minor has given some unpleasant moments to French statesmen, who sacrificed Greece and Armenia to Turkey because they disliked Constantine and wanted a free hand for themselves in Cilicia, as well as to British statesmen, who have lately paid a great ransom to the Bolshevik government for the security of their empire in the East. The Turks, having got what they wanted from the French—a chance to shift their Cilician army to the Greek front—have now broken off the agreement with France. The Bolsheviks, having been formally recognized by Mr. Lloyd George, in the opinion of British circles, even though Mr. Lloyd George stoutly denied that his agreement with them implied any recognition of their ability to make an agreement, are now secure in their title to the property which they seized in Russia and can use it in trade with England. Having gained this much, they care little about the other end of the agreement which bound them to refrain from political activity dangerous to British interests in Asia.

It looks as if Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand have fallen into the hands of persons somewhat shrewder than themselves. They are now trying to flounder out by talking of what would be a reversal of their Near Eastern policy—giving support to the Greeks. The French Foreign Office, to judge from the Temps, still prefers the Turk to Constantine, but a Premier whose first duty is to maintain the Entente with England does not always get his foreign policy from the Foreign Office. As a first step the Allies have allowed Greek warships to pass through the Strait into the Black Sea, hitherto reserved as a happy hunting ground for Turks and Bolsheviks. This means that Russian troops cannot be shipped across the Black sea to help the Turks; but they can come, even if more slowly, by land. The forced march of Kiazim Kara-Bekir's cavalry division from the Armenian front to Angora during the Greek offensive last Spring showed that Anatolian roads are not impassable even in the worst weather; they must be better now.

But perhaps France and England will go further and give the Greeks active support. If they had done that three months ago, Mustapha Kemal might have been overthrown. Since they did not do it, the Greek army, which must be the instrument of attack, has suffered heavy losses both in men and in morale. Suppose this time France and England are in earnest; suppose they give Greece efficient aid and succeed in beating the Turks. Who will get the credit? Constantine, who is now preparing to go to the front and assume the command in person. Suppose they fail; who will suffer loss of prestige? Constantine, perhaps, to some degree; but still more France and England, which have tried to support both sides and neither side, and have earned only the disrespect of both. Nobody doubts the greatness of the statesmen of Western Europe, but they shrink rapidly in size when they go east of the Strait of Otranto.—New York Times.

Shop Crafts Can Negotiate as Fed.

Union labor won its fight for negotiation of agreements with the railroads by the Federated Shop Crafts acting for all employees comprising these crafts in a decision handed down by the United States Railroad Labor Board June 14th.

The question was brought before the board after a number of railroads had refused to deal with the federation but maintained their right to conduct negotiations and sign agreements with each craft separately. The board decided that an agreement between the federated shop crafts and a carrier should, if the federation so elected, apply to all employees comprising those crafts.

World's Largest Deposit of Rock Salt.

Vast quantities of rock salt lie less than half a mile beneath the surface of the earth in the United States. In New York, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and other States there are large deposits, but the largest deposit in the United States, and probably in the world, is that which extends from northern Kansas across the western end of Oklahoma, the panhandle of Texas, and southeastern New Mexico to western Texas. The area underlain by these great permian salt deposits is not far from 100,000 square miles, according to the U. S. Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. The limits of the deposit, especially to the northwest and southeast, have not been ascertained, but in general the area of thick salt extends fully 650 miles from northeast to southwest, and is 50 to 150 miles wide. The thickness and the succession of the beds are variable, but 700 feet is reported in one hole, and in many places the aggregate is more than 300 feet. On the assumption of an average thickness of 200 feet of salt, the gross quantity in the area of 100,000 square miles is so large, about 30,000 billion tons, that the present needs of the United States (about 7,000,000 tons a year) can be supplied for millions of years.

The logs of test wells drilled in the Big Spring section indicate the rock salt stratum in this section is several hundred feet thick.
