Cuts $14,834 in Royalties Texas, Sept. 30.—During September the Big Lake paid $14,834 to the Texas as royalty on oil University land in Rea. This is by far the largest month's remittance in the history of the Big Lake. This shows the Big Lake and that the University are getting substantial amounts in royalties commencing in the near future.

Company Enters Field

It is rumored that are being authentic one of the companies has closed a deal with the General Oil Co. for the well No. 3 and a portion of the McDowell ranch. The plans for the big oil well will complete McDowell now drilling. The big well in the wind is expected for some time. It is expected from four or five other oil companies have been leased on large areas in Glasscock and Reagan counties. All signs and indications are getting things to test out the territory of the Big Lake and Mitchell fields.

Shooting County

Everything seems quiet on the big well, yet three big oil companies are making extensive leases especially in the south. California and Texas have taken leases close in all well, and we are re-estimated that operations by the Big Company of New Jersey, and pushed to the well. We have from the same source more wells in the vicinity of well will be drilled during the winter.

Shooting County No. 2 is being reamed and setting the casing drawn in order to allow cement of the hole. When the casing is lowered off the water, the well will be in. Big Spring Boys on Simmons Team.

Quite a few folks were at Abilene last Saturday afternoon to witness the football game between the Simmons College and Baylor University teams. It was of especial interest to Big Spring folks because two Big Spring boys are on the Simmons team. Buell Cardwell who has been playing at fullback was out of the game Saturday on account of an injured knee. Melvin Pittman who filled the position of fullback was one of the stars of the game.

The Abilene Reporter had the following notice of these two players in reference to the Simmons-Baylor game.

Pittman, the big high school recruit from Big Spring high will start off as fullback. Pittman is the only heavy man in the backfield and even though he will not tip the scales at more than 180. His weight is much needed among the lighter backs, his inexperience being his only drawback. Cardwell a letter man of last year will also be in line for full. He sustained a dislocated knee last week, however, that has done much toward keeping him out of the game and he will probably not enter except to relieve Pittman in case of necessity.

Pittman, the Simmons fullback flash from Big Spring high school, was the shining light of the Simmons backfield. Both on offensive and defensive play. Every attack of the Bears backfield was met by the big fullback, when humanly possible, and many of the sudden halts of the Baylor advance was directly attributable to his work. Pittman's offense work likewise was strong, driving the line consistently for good gains. It was Pittman, also, who snared two of Kimbrough's sharp and short passes, straight over the line, which led directly to the Simmons counter.

More Than 3,700 Bales of Cotton

With approximately 3,000 bales of cotton received at Big Spring and more than 700 bales received at Coahoma, Howard County is beginning to make a respectable showing as a cotton producing county.

Cotton is now rolling into Big Spring at the rate of more than 200 bales per day and these figures will continue to grow as more cotton pickers are secured and the weather continues favorable.

The cotton now coming in grades strict middling or better and is much better than the first that was marketed.

In addition to the 3,000 bales of cotton received locally at the compress here, regular shipments are now being received from the West. On account of having an inexperienced crew at the compress they have not yet caught up with the work although the compress runs daily.

Cotton is now bringing around 24 1-2 cents.

Big Navy Dirigible Due October 5th.

The Shenandoah, the big United States Navy dirigible is scheduled to pass over Big Spring about Sunday, October 5th on its transcontinental flight.

According to present plans it will leave Lakehurst, N. J. at 9 a. m. today and traveling at an average speed of forty miles an hour the Shenandoah should reach Fort Worth thirty-seven hours later—or sometime before dawn, Oct. 5th, provided it encounters only fair weather.

Small repairs and possibly retueling may keep the big balloon at the mooring mast until noon. Non-inflammable helium gas manufactured at the U. S. plant at Fort Worth is used to fuel this big air ship.

If the Shenandoah leaves Fort Worth at noon it should arrive at Big Spring about seven o'clock that evening.

Death Claims Uncle of P. B. Bittle

Prof. B. W. Bittle, aged 70 years, dropped dead at the home of his nephew, Guy P. Bittle, near Bryan, Texas, Sunday morning, Sept. 28th.

Prof. Bittle was born at Salem, Va., and had been a teacher for fifty years. He held the chair of languages and mathematics in many of the leading colleges of Virginia, North Carolina and Texas.

He resigned his position in the English department of A. & M. College last year when his health would no longer permit him to teach.

Deceased was an uncle of P. B. Bittle, superintendent of the Big Spring schools.

Mr. and Mrs. John Snoddy of Watsonville, California, arrived Wednesday evening for a visit with Mrs. Frank Evans and W. J. Crawford, sister and brother of Mrs. Snoddy.

MORE BALANCED FARM PROGRAM

Raising Hogs, Baby Beef and Poultry Should be a Sideline on Every Farm in Howard Co.

While cotton is king—it is difficult to interest folks in anything but cotton. Most of us realize, however, that we cannot hope to keep cotton king in West Texas forever.

Unfavorable seasons and insect pests have made the raising of cotton difficult in the long dependable cotton belt, whereas West Texas has been favored with reasonable years, and insect pests do not seem to thrive in our country. If this state of affairs was to continue without change it would be foolish for West Texas to overlook the profitable cotton crop. Especially so, since oftentimes one crop will pay the purchase price on the land which produced it.

West Texas can profit by the change in the turn of fortune, and be prepared for the drift the other way, by a balanced program.

Plant cotton, yes; but plant a big acreage in feed, so you will have enough to run your stock a year or two. If you are compelled to buy feed your cotton profits will melt mighty fast. Then raise some hogs, poultry and baby beef; try a few milk cows. You need not be told that the farmers who follow this plan can go on a cash basis. They do not have to mortgage their cotton crop before the crop is harvested. Of course the cotton farmer makes his money in big yards—but some of you remember years he didn't make hardly anything at all. The fellow who had dairy cows, poultry and garden truck to sell made it thru the lean years in fine shape as he had the cash to pay for everything he needed and he could enjoy life while the other fellow was worrying about where he could raise money to pay interest on borrowed money.

Of course the older folks are hard to interest in poultry raising, hogs and baby beef, but they could at least encourage the young folks to try their hand and give them whatever profit they make in such work.

Take counties like Parker where formerly 90,000 bales of cotton used to be raised. They now get less than 10,000 bales some seasons, but the county has not gone bankrupt because the farmers diversified and make more clear money than when they depended almost entirely on cotton. We should adopt this safe and sane program before we have to.

Many of us remember when cotton sold as low as four cents per pound; and while we hate to think of it, we know that some day cotton will again sell below cost of production. Be prepared for that day by having some other product to help you get by.

Just now thousands of homesteaders are flocking to West Texas because it is the banner cotton section of the South. It is equally as profitable for raising grain sorghums, feeding cattle, raising hogs and poultry, but we are neglecting to stress these features. West Texas is an all-around farming country and diversified farming is the safe bet.

Polacek-Clay

Miss Pearl Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Clay, was married Sunday, Sept. 21, to Albert E. Polacek at the home of her parents, 1656 Mistletoe Boulevard, Rev. W. W. Rivers officiating with the ring ceremony.

The ceremony was read before an altar of flowers banked with fern. The bride was attractively gowned in blue tulle and set with rhinestones. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and fern.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. Misses Evelyn O'Connor, Louise Tippert and Eula Roberts assisting in the dining room, which was decorated with pink and white flowers.

The table cover was of cluny lace, with bronze candlesticks holding tapers of pink. A bowl of pink asters formed a centerpiece.

Mrs. Daisy Epps, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and was attractive in a gown of blue tulle. The bridesmaid, Miss Opie Clay, wore black satin trimmed with green.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The groom is a former resident of Big Spring and we join many friends in extending best wishes for a full measure of happiness.

Rev. F. B. Eteson made an auto trip to Lubbock Saturday and conducted services at the Episcopal Church there Sunday.

Death Claims Ben J. Lindner

When a message was received last Sunday afternoon bringing the sad tidings of the death of Ben J. Lindner, popular Texas & Pacific engineer of this city; and the news flashed quickly over the city, friends were loath to give this message credence; they could not believe they would never see him again. When he left here Friday night, Sept. 19th, for the Texas & Pacific Hospital at Marshall he was his old jolly self, and apparently the picture of health.

It was known he was to undergo an operation for appendicitis, but this seemed a minor operation for one who had led the active life he had, and kept in such fine physical trim. Then, too, following the operation, reassuring messages had been received for several days thereafter, in which he was reported getting along nicely. Not until about ten minutes before he passed away was there any indication of his not getting along alright. Death was due to the formation of a blood clot, near the heart.

Deceased who was aged forty-two years was born in Wisconsin but had been a resident of Big Spring for past twenty-two years. He enlisted in the U. S. Navy at an early age and in his travels he saw most every important port in the world. After coming to Big Spring he accepted a position with the Texas & Pacific railway, made a faithful and trustworthy employe and was held in highest esteem by fellow workmen and officials. He had advanced to the position of engineer and was one of the most popular engineers of the Rio Grande division with friends at every station along the line.

He was a typical American, a patriot to the core, and even though he was not subject to the first draft, he volunteered when war with Germany was declared and served with Uncle Sam's forces throughout the World War. He was a big hearted and generous gentleman, of a cheerful disposition and had a word of cheerfulness for all he met. He more so than anyone we knew, exemplified the meaning of true friendship. His was a friendship which knocked at the door of the lonesome and disconsolate heart and spoke words of encouragement and good cheer. In time of sickness or trouble he was the first to respond, and no one would go farther in an effort to comfort or aid others than would he. True friendship such as he displayed can only be found to bloom in the soil of a noble and self-sacrificing heart. Men were better for having known this big hearted, whole-souled man, and his going is mourned by many who will never forget him.

The remains were brought to Big Spring from Marshall, arriving here on the Sunshine Special about midnight Monday. Funeral services were postponed until Thursday pending the arrival of a brother from California.

Services were conducted at the Methodist Church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning by his pastor, Rev. F. B. Eteson, rector of the Episcopal Church, assisted by Rev. M. Phelan, pastor of the Methodist Church. The Masonic fraternity, of which he was a loyal member, then took charge and also conducted a service at the graveside in Masonic cemetery.

The many friends attending the services, and the beautiful floral offerings were an indication of the esteem in which this most worthy friend and citizen was held.

He is survived by a wife, a step son, Chas. Hatch, and his brother, Charles Lindner of Los Angeles, Cal., and to those who mourn for one dearly beloved is extended the sympathy of our entire citizenship.

Praises Abilene Hospitality

The big delegation of Big Spring folks who made the trip to Abilene last Friday and Saturday for Shrine Day and for the Anson-Big Spring football game were loud in their praise of Abilene and her hospitable folks.

The Abilene people showed our people every courtesy and made them feel that they were indeed welcome and their presence appreciated.

Much praise was accorded the West Texas Fair Association for the fine fair this year. It was on a much larger scale, and the attractions superior to those one usually found except in state or international fairs.

Abilene certainly deserves credit for doing things in a big way and their West Texas Fair is one of the biggest events in West Texas and it is due to grow in importance from year to year.

R. A. Hutchinson of Garden City was a business visitor here the forepart of this week.

MORE PRODUCTS NEEDED FOR FAIR

Everyone Urged to Bring in Farm, Garden and Orchard Products for Howard County Exhibit

Although W. H. Cardwell has been combing the county for products to add to the agricultural exhibit that will represent Howard County at the Dallas Fair he reports that he needs many more products and is asking every citizen who has something that will add to this exhibit to bring it to the office of the Chamber of Commerce at Big Spring or phone 512 and someone will call for same. The exhibit must be packed for shipment the first of next week so it is necessary that you send articles for the exhibit at once.

We want Howard County to be a first prize winner this year, but if we are to be in the running quite a few of our folks must take a little more interest in this exhibit and cooperate by furnishing some of the articles needed.

Mr. Cardwell lists the following as especially needed products if we are to make a creditable showing.

- 100 uniform heads, white maize.
- 100 uniform heads, red maize.
- 100 uniform heads, red kaffir.
- 100 uniform heads, white kaffir.
- 100 uniform heads, feterita.

Five bundles of different varieties of sweet sorghum. In this can be included Sumac, Orange, Darso, Red Top, big or little amber. These should be cut while leaves are green and cured in the shade.

Large pumpkins and kershaws are needed. We need one peck of sweet potatoes, one peck Irish potatoes, one dozen large peppers, one peck turnips, one gallon tomatoes, and other vegetables that can be secured. Fruit of all kind is needed.

Many of our folks can supply one or more of the needed products if they would. This exhibit will advertise our county as no other method would and if we could capture one of the leading prizes it would be worth much to everyone in the county. The time to prepare the exhibit is indeed limited so bring in your best products right away so the exhibit can be the best one it is possible for our county to produce.

Don't say after viewing the exhibit, "I could have furnished finer specimens than Howard County had;" bring in the best you have now and help make our exhibit the best.

Lions Club Luncheon

One of the most thoroughly enjoyed meetings yet held by the members of the Big Spring Lions club was in order Wednesday when a dandy luncheon was prepared at the T. & P. dining hall.

A. M. Fisher had been delegated to prepare the program, and preside over this meeting. In addition to practically a full attendance of members, four visitors enjoyed this occasion: Rev. D. H. Heard, Fred Keating, Miss Clifford Edwards and Carl Meyer of Dallas.

Much "pep" was occasioned by the singing of four popular Lion songs by all present, with Miss Clifford Edwards acting as song leader.

An exceptionally interesting talk was made by Fred Keating, superintendent of the U. S. Experiment Station, here. He explained just what was being accomplished and how Big Spring and Howard County benefited by the establishment of the U. S. Station here.

Brief but appreciated talks were made by Rev. Heard and Mr. Meyer. Just before the close of the meeting, Chairman Fisher announced that it was a custom of the Lions club to honor worthy members, and announced that Prof. P. B. Bittle had been designated as the first member of the Big Spring club to be worthy of such honor. He requested Dr. E. O. Ellington to present him with the handsome remembrance selected. Dr. Ellington proved himself an expert as a bouquet slinger and had Prof. Bittle blushing like a bride by the time he was ready to hand over the gift. As Prof. Bittle opened the beautiful case, the supposed-to-be watch blew-up—its main works being a spring from an eight-day clock.

Prof. Bittle in responding to the presentation speech, said it was the first time he ever saw a Lion made a goat; and in the future he would "watch" his step as to looking a gift horse in the mouth—if they thought that was what he was doing when he opened the case to inspect the watch.

E. A. Fatheree left Thursday night for Fort Worth and Dallas, where he will visit with friends and relatives for a few days.

Symphony of Fashion

On the evening of Thursday, Sept. 25, J. & W. Fisher and the Elite Hat Shop staged one of the most successful style shows that has ever been witnessed in Big Spring.

The Lyric theatre contributed to the occasion by featuring a very appropriate "style" picture, "Single Wives."

Mr. Norman Spencer, principal of the Big Spring high school made the introductory announcements and explained to the audience that through the courtesy of The Lyric Theatre a certain per cent of the proceeds was to be received by the Home Economics Department of the high school.

Mrs. W. C. Henley, Mrs. Der Elliott, Miss Rose Johnson, Mrs. Fay De La Fosse, Miss Grace Taylor, Miss Wanda True, and Miss Clara Jones modeled the beautiful hats from the Elite Hat Shop and the gorgeous costumes from J. & W. Fisher. No more beauty and grace could be found than was portrayed by the models in "The Symphony of Fashion."

The style show opened with the old song, "Schooldays," as the clock struck nine. Two tiny little Colonial ladies, Misses Winona Taylor and Lucile True turned the hands of the grandfather clock from time to time.

Appropriate costumes for every hour in the day were featured. The Elite Hat Shop and J. & W. Fisher are to be praised for their wonderful assortment of hats, dresses and coats.

The Mix Furniture store made the beautiful settings possible by giving the furniture for the event.

As all the models assembled for the final showing, Miss Clifford Edwards gave a very expressive solo dance. Much was added to the style show by the music which was rendered by Miss Maurine Wade.

Not only did J. & W. Fisher, the Elite Hat Shop and the Lyric Theatre give their patrons an enjoyable evening, but they helped a worthy cause—education. As above stated a per cent of the proceeds went to "The Girls Clothing Contest"—a contest carried on all over the state of Texas by the girls of every town and of your town.

Tamsitt-Kavanaugh

Last Sunday afternoon Rev. Dow H. Heard performed the ceremony which united in marriage Mr. Guy Tamsitt and Miss Steva Kavanaugh.

Mr. Tamsitt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt and is one of our substantial young citizens. He served in the navy during the World War, rendering distinguished service. Miss Kavanaugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kavanaugh and has won many friends during her short residence in Big Spring.

Good wishes and congratulations of many friends are being showered upon them.

They will be at home next week at 305 Johnson street.

Teacher's Reception Postponed

The reception for the teachers of our schools which was scheduled for tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Holmes has been postponed until Friday night, October 10th.

Postponement was made because so many patrons of the school and a number of the teachers are in Abilene today attending the Big Spring-Abilene football game.

Make your plans to attend the reception in honor of our teachers next Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Holmes, 800 Main street, from 8 to 10 o'clock.

All patrons of the school cordially invited.

Improvements at State National

As work progresses on the remodeling of the State National Bank building in this city the more beautiful does it become; and few were prepared for the wonderful improvement that will be made in the appearance of this bank. The work of installing the marble trimming is now well advanced and the workmen started on the new tile flooring Wednesday. When the improvement is completed the State National Bank will have a home as fine as any bank in West Texas.

Legion Meeting October 6th

A meeting of the American Legion will be held at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday, Oct. 6th and all members are urged to be present.

A "Big Feed" will be one of the numbers on the program for the evening.

The meeting starts at 8 p. m. Be there on time, and bring another ex-service man with you.

The stork paid a visit to our neighborhood Friday and left the proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook, a fine boy.

The M. E. ladies held their regular bi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon. They never fail to meet and they begin on time. Two of the best things that any society can observe.

Mrs. Lee Pugh's children are improving.

Sorry to say that Granville Martin is sick.

Mrs. Looney Fletcher's baby is sick, too.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Phillips spent last week end with relatives in our city. Mrs. Phillips is a niece of Price Echols.

Percy Shive is having his home remodelled and repaired, and J. W. Shive is having his reshingled.

The Baptist ladies met in their Aid Wednesday afternoon of last week with a good attendance. They, too, meet twice a month. They Baptist are boosting Rev. Green who has accepted Missionary work near. So Wednesday night a new preacher was listened to. There will be still another one Sunday. Do not fail to hear him at both hours, 11 and 8.

Mrs. B. F. Walker has bought herself a farm near Stanton, where they will move the first of the year.

Mr. Cowling is driving a new Overland touring car.

Burrell Cramer while in a well Monday was hurt by a 2x4 falling in on him. He is doing nicely, however. Reuben and Clifford Reeves have bought a farm joining the Harrington place out on the Vincent road. They will build and move out there before Christmas.

Gilbert Madison is again working in Mr. Myer's cafe.

Mr. Hodnett has moved his family out on the farm. The young folks miss Evelyn very much.

The C. E. convention prevented the regular meeting of the Presbyterian Auxiliary Saturday afternoon. So they met Tuesday afternoon instead. There were sixteen present and some good lessons. The first chapter of "Romance of Home Missions" was recited after Mrs. Geo. McGregor had lead in devotional, and Hill's questions and answers. Following the Mission Study Mrs. Harve Echols gave an excellent paper on China. As the secretary was absent, Mrs. Cathey Echols acted as secretary pro tem. Then came the business hour, under which was paying dues, requests for new books, and the discussion of whether to have two meetings a month. It was unanimously agreed to do so. The next meeting day to be Saturday, Oct. 11 at 3 p. m. at the church.

The meeting adjourned informally and began the pleasant task of packing the box for the orphans. The value of said box was estimated to be $48. While the other members were packing the box, the president went to the kitchen and assisted the girls in her class to prepare the plates to be passed to the members. A salad course and ice tea refreshed those present and brought down much praise on the heads of those girls: Ruby Elliott, Ida May Echols, Annette Belle, Roberts and Jessie Coffman. Adieux were made and promises given to meet Oct. 11th with good lessons.

The auxiliary at Colorado ask that all who will, get together anything that can be spared, yet good enough to bring in 25c, to please get it to the Presbyterian Church by Sunday, or at Mrs. Burt Runyan's store any day this week. Ladies, now is the time to dispense with that old suit your husband has been wearing and you are weary of.

Mrs. Williams of Beaumont is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Sullivan. The auxiliary enjoyed having Mrs. Williams with them Tuesday.

Mrs. J. M. Hood of Colorado spent last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Birkhead.

The C. E.s, both Senior and Junior, have been busy for past 10 days. Nearly every night last week found the young people practicing preparatory to entertain the visiting C. E.s the 26-27-28. The M. E. people gave way several services that the young people might occupy their church. The Junior League called off their regular meeting which is 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Nor did the Junior C. E. or Junior B. Y. P. U. hold their session Sunday, but attended the convention at that hour. Nor were they disappointed as the addresses were short and to the point. And every one of the little folks always enjoys Mrs. Logan's singing. And she sang at that hour. The bunch met with Irma Mullikin Tuesday night, and they did sing and yell. They were heard several blocks—if we may use that term in Coahoma—away.

The convention was enjoyed by the adults as well, perhaps even more than by the young folks. The general trend of addresses was "To be a great nation U. S. A. must know God and acknowledge Him."

There were fifty out of town visitors who registered—thanks to the two societies of Big Spring.

The guests at home and abroad do appreciate so much what the mothers of the community did for them, especially in preparing and serving that delicious dinner Saturday. Some described it as being equally as good as the ones served by the Baptist or M. E. ladies the election days. They were good—the writer being present can testify to it. Mrs. Price Echols was chairman of the committee on refreshment. She declared that the ready response given by every one—not a refusal be it ever so polite—just. Nor did they stop there, for at serving hour there were the many hands to make the work as light as possible. Nor must we fail to mention the fact that B. R. Thomason had planned to move Thursday into that building, where the dinner was served, but to accommodate the C. E. he postponed moving till Monday of this week. We do appreciate the consideration so much.

Mrs. Frank Lovelace was chairman of the watermelon feast, which occurred after session Friday night. She and her coupe did faithful work Friday and rounded in something over three dozen watermelons. She was accompanied on her rounds by her sister, Mrs. Thad Hale.

The hostesses had planned a hike and out-door breakfast for Saturday, but a norther was blowing when all woke Saturday so instead of hiking our president, Mrs. Charter Hale, had all who met at the church for the hike to go to her house and break their fast in her home. They enjoyed this hugely.

Saturday afternoon after the close of the session five cars were loaded with guests and all enjoyed a drive to Moss Springs as well as a well prepared lunch.

Saturday night the program was long but was enjoyed. The Juniors had their demonstration at that hour. The awarding of the pennants also came at that time. Coahoma was proud of being the home of the society which won the pennant for best year's work done. This pennant went to the Juniors. It is the kind that has to be won three times before it will stay in the society. Barstow won the pennant for registering first her quota. Big Spring won the one for attendance.

Sunday was a full day. It began with quiet hour at 9 a. m. at school building, followed by S. S., then sermon by Field Secretary Jack Huppertz. Sunday afternoon was filled with a good program, a council meeting and a well attended evening service.

Nor did the C. E. cease its endeavors when the convention closed for they had promised help to the Colorado C. E. by having full house Tuesday night when Colorado was to put on the play, "The Dust of the Earth." Coahoma did advertise, sold tickets and carried furniture, and was busy generally helping. Know that they were disappointed to observe so few out to the play. The proceeds were only $21.75 and the play was much above the average and Coahoma expects to soon play "Among the Breakers," and will return Colorado's courtesy, and play there; and hope Big Spring will invite us there to reproduce same.

The Junior C. E. did not hold its regular meeting Sunday afternoon on account of convention. We did not want the world to think because we are Juniors that we did not help in the convention. Why our members decorated the church without a single suggestion from an older head. You see we wanted to prove to Miss Pemberton, our district president, that we could "carry on" when she assigned us duties. Our members carried over the extra benches from the Baptist Church and run endless errands. We would have enjoyed meeting the trains to welcome the guests but that pleasant task fell to the Seniors. The chairman of that committee and her assistants, not only met guests, but solicited homes for the delegates. We helped some there by offering our homes. We assisted the seniors in the joint yells, and gave some all our own. We won the "best year's work pennant" and are already planning to get it again at the spring convention. There were two "first year memory work" awarded to Frances and Pauline Thomason, and one "second year memory work" to Norma Hart. Now we want several awarded at the spring convention.

Sunday next we will discuss plans for next year and repeat in concert some of our work already learned.

The Juniors want to thank their friends for the kind words spoken of them and their efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Collins were among the number who attended the Abilene Fair, Shriners day. They enjoyed the day in a two-fold way as Mr. Collins' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Parker, from Eastland were there and they had a good visit.

B. R. Thomason and wife were of the party in the special Friday. Mr. Thomason returned that night, but Mrs. Thomason stayed with her mother till Sunday night.

R. A. Marshall and R. V. Guthrie, with Theo Collins, Truett De Vaney, Leonard Aker and Willard Williams also attended the Fair at Abilene.

Foot and Mouth Infection Found

Washington, Sept. 29.—Prompt action by Federal and State live stock officials has brought the combined forces of the Bureau of Animal Industry and the Live Stock Sanitary Commission of Texas into a concentrated drive to eradicate an outbreak of the foot and mouth disease among cattle on a ranch in Harris County, Texas, not far from Houston. Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the Federal Government's forces here, said conditions in general are favorable for the eradication work.

The disease, which had been under observation of the State authorities, was not definitely diagnosed as the dread cattle scourge until Saturday. Immediately a drastic quarantine was thrown around the infected ranch and those near by.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 29.—All of Harris and Galveston Counties and Fort Bend and Brazoria Counties east of the Brazos River were put under quarantine Saturday by an order from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in Washington as the result of the discovery of hoof and mouth disease in two herds of cattle.

The State of Louisiana followed by issuing a quarantine against all live stock from Texas. J. E. Boog-Scott, chairman of the Texas Live Stock Sanitary Commission, predicted that all other States would declare a similar quarantine against Texas and said it is possible that foreign countries would do likewise. The quarantine means:

That no products of the soil may be moved out of the area mentioned.
That all persons leaving the area must be fumigated with formaldehyde.

No cattle, horse, dog, cat, fowl, wild animal or pet can be taken out of the area or moved around in it.

No dairy product of any sort may be shipped out.

No animal may be killed for food within the area except that shipped in from outside and inspected.

Poison is being laid around all pastures.

Cattle and other animals known to be affected will be killed Sunday morning. They will be driven into trenches, shot, covered with disinfectant and buried. Approximately 1,500 head will be killed.

First charges of violating the quarantine order were filed Saturday afternoon against Will Andrews, Ed Willis, Jim Williams and Steve Ray. They were charged with moving eighteen horses contrary to the rules. Penalty for violating the quarantine is a fine of $200.

Seventy-five Federal, State, county and city officials were at work Saturday morning in an effort to stamp out the disease. Forty more men were added late Saturday.

Help Elect John W. Davis

John W. Davis is first of all a man of exalted character. Born of splendid parentage in a home of culture and refinement, he is the finished product of the best there is in American manhood.

All his connections from the time he was admitted to the Bar at twenty-two years of age until he was nominated as the Democratic Candidate for President have been of the highest type. Whether as practicing attorney in Clarksburg, West Virginia, his small home town, as a Member of the Virginia House of Delegates, as a Member of Congress, as Solicitor General of the United States, as Ambassador to Great Britain, as President of the American Bar Association, or as brilliant lawyer in New York, he has always been an outstanding leader of the first rank.

Mr. Davis did not seek the nomination for the Presidency. If elected he will go into the White House free from any kind of political obligation except to serve alike all classes of Americans people regardless of class, creed or color. He is in sympathy with every forward movement for the good of mankind, as his heart has been attuned from youth to the needs of his fellow man.

Mr. Davis enjoys an international reputation as lawyer, orator, scholar, thinker, diplomat, polished gentleman and great patriot. No finer type of American citizen, either in character, ability, or personal charm has ever been presented to the voters of America for their suffrage.

Those who know him best predict his election if the American people can be made fully acquainted with his superior qualifications. In that event we will have in him a wise leader and an executive worthy of the best traditions of the Presidency.

The leaders of the Democratic party believe that he will surely win if the proper campaign can be carried out in the doubtful States. Texas Democrats have been asked to raise $250,000 to assist in financing this campaign. Every loyal Democrat who is able to contribute a dollar or more to this fund should do so promptly. Can we count on you to help elect John W. Davis as our next president?

Country Children Are the Heaviest Losers

About 20 millions of American children have just begun their school year of 1924-25. Each one of them should attend as nearly 200 school days as possible. That is the length of the school term in our best schools. On the average, children are in school not much more than 165 days. For rural schools the term is much shorter. The cost of keeping the schools open will be not less than 1 3-4 billions of dollars. It has been estimated and probably correctly that every day in school is worth from $16 to $17 to a child because he will be able to earn that much more in later years. It is fair then to say that 20 millions of children attending 160 days each this coming year represent actual production by the schools of some 50 billions of dollars of potential wealth, nearly thirty times the expenditure for the schools.

Not many investments are as good as that or pay such enormous dividends. We could estimate the school day as worth much less than $16 a pupil and still have many times a good justification for all the money we spend on education. But great as the return is we can not afford to reduce it by keeping children out of school or by letting them go irregularly. A child ought not to throw away a $16 day for any trivial reason. In a few years he will be compelled to compete with others who have made the most of that day and of as many more school days as they could. It's good business then to keep the school open for a long term and keep all the children in it every day.

Has Fine Delegation at Fair

When at last the train carrying the Big Spring party of Shriners did arrive in Abilene Friday morning, people realized the wisdom of holding the big Shrine parade for forty-five minutes waiting for this delegation of peppy representatives. This thriving little West Texas town sent more than one hundred representatives to the Fair, and in the Shrine parade Friday morning there were 72 Shriners from the Big Spring Shrine Club.

The Big Spring band, consisting of thirty pieces, made an admirable showing with their new white uniforms and the manner in which they played. The band gave a concert on the T. & P. lawn from 7:30 to 8:30 Friday night and the fact that a number of the Shriners of Abilene and other cities who were in town for the Fair were inspired by their music to stage an impromptu outdoor dance while they were playing is proof of the catchy and lively manner in which the Big Springites played.

The Big Spring party made the trip to Abilene in a special coach which the division superintendent of the T. & P. Railway secured for them, and who was a member of the group. In the delegation there were most of the leading professional and business men of the town, and the entire party surprised many West Texas people with their remarkable showing at the Fair.

The Big Spring Shrine Club is the only West Texas city of its size which owns a club house. The Big Spring club house is a modern two-story brick building which is owned by the Shriners there, and which is very attractive.

Many of the Big Spring people who came Friday remained over in the city for the big game between Anson high school and Big Spring and many others came over Saturday for the game. Their cheering at the game did much toward spurring the players on against the Anson team, and the large number of people who came Saturday made the visitors at the Fair "sit up and take notice" and the citizens from Big Spring may be assured that they showed West Texans what a live town they have.

Eternal Love

Aside from the eternal march of human-tide, time records but little change in human affections. In death it is as it was in life; side by side in the old church yard or in the more pretentious, burial grounds we await the final summons. And there is a sweet comfort in the thought that Heaven was not designed for youth alone; but those to whom, as a legacy of their affections, a child is born shall mingle there with the youth that owe them life. "Ma" Ferguson Wins

Austin, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for Governor, won a sweeping victory for her sex today, when George C. Calhoun, district judge, ruled upon every contested point that she is qualified to hold the office of Governor of Texas.

The decision came in an application for permanent injunction by Charles M. Dickson of San Antonio, law citations in which were heard last week.

An immediate appeal to the Supreme Court of Texas, and possibly to the Supreme Court of the United States, was indicated by Dickson, following Judge Calhoun's decision.

The effect of the court's decision is that Mrs. Ferguson's name may now be placed on all county ballots in Texas as the Democratic nominee for Governor. The appellate courts begin their winter terms next week and it is probable the case will be immediately certified if Dickson finally decides on appeal.

Mrs. Ferguson, the first woman ever to have been nominated by a political party for Governor, was ineligible, the plaintiff contended, because of her sex, because of the common law definitions of a married woman's personal and political rights and because, under the law as Governor she would be commander-in-chief of the state military forces.

It was further contended that her candidacy was a subterfuge, that former Governor James E. Ferguson would in fact exercise the duties of the office, and that although barred by the verdict of a court of impeachment from receiving any emoluments from the State, that under the law he would be entitled to half Mrs. Ferguson's salary should she be elected.

Mrs. Ferguson at the opening of the hearing had charged that a conspiracy existed between disgruntled Democrats and Klansmen to bring about her defeat and elect the Republican nominee, Dr. George C. Butts.

The court upheld Mrs. Ferguson on all but two contentions, asserting that the plaintiff was within his legal scope in contesting the suit under the state statutes and that the District Court had sufficient jurisdiction to hear the case.

On all points as to her eligibility the Nation's first woman gubernatorial candidate emerged victorious. The "common law disability against women," introduced by the plaintiffs as one of their strongest contentions in their fight for temporary injunction, was held to be immaterial.

In declaring that the Nineteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution eliminated all inhibitions in several state constitutions, Judge Calhoun cited the Fifteenth Amendment, giving negroes the right of equal suffrage and cited various state court decisions upholding his decision.

In a lengthy verbal review of the "progress of time" in which he referred back to the common law of England, the court declared that conditions which existed now were not contemplated centuries ago.

Judge Calhoun had not prepared a written decision explaining that there had not been sufficient time since the close of the case Friday to make one.

"The effect of Judge Calhoun's decision is that Mrs. Ferguson's name will now be certified to the various election officers and be printed upon the official ballots for November, unless the plaintiff should perfect the appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals, and that court, or the Supreme Court should enter an order restraining such printing. While it is possible for the appellate court to reach the case and make a restraining order in time to prevent the printing of Mrs. Ferguson's name on the official ballot, it is highly improbable that such course will be pursued. If the plaintiff has any merit in his contest of her eligibility this matter may be tried out in the higher courts after the election as well as before."

A Tale of the Trail

"It ain't so far from right to wrong—the trail ain't hard to lose; there's times I'd almost give my horse to know which one to choose; there ain't no guides or signboards up to keep you on the track; wong's sometimes white as driven snow, an' right looks awful black.

"I don't set up to be no judge of right or wrong in men, I've lost the trail sometimes myself an' may get lost again; and when I see a chap gone astray, I want to shove my hand in his and help him find the way."

—Lometa Reporter.

Undermining Our Faith

Senator La Follette, in his New York speech of last Thursday, complained bitterly that both the Democrats and the Republicans were trying to deny to the people the right to pass upon an amendment to the Constitution that would give Congress the power to re-enact legislation declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

His opponents are doing nothing of the kind. They are attacking the proposal itself, not the right of the people to pass upon it. The Constitution provides a perfectly proper manner in which amendments to it may be adopted and Congress never before has been one bit reluctant about submitting to the people any amendment for which there was popular demand. Whenever there becomes a popular demand for an amendment giving Congress the right to override decisions of the Supreme Court, the people will have opportunity to pass upon it. Congress will take care of that.

Senator La Follette devoted nearly a third of his speech to an attack upon the Supreme Court and a plea for his proposed amendment in regard to it, yet he did not attempt to answer a single one of the objections raised against it. He merely hid behind the charge that the "opposition" did not want the people even to have an opportunity of passing on such an amendment. The fact that such an amendment would strike at the very foundation of the government, would tear the heart out of the Bill of Rights and make personal liberty, property rights and the guarantee of the Constitution subject to the whims of Congress, he passed over without a mention.

Senator La Follette's address, in the main, was an attack upon both the Republicans and Democrats parties. He could see no difference between them. Both, he charged, long since had ceased to represent the people and had become the servants and representatives of the privileged classes, the vast aggregations of corporate wealth. All executives and legislators, whether Republicans or Democratic, to Senator La Follette are corrupt or ignorant. He alone and his followers are honest. They and they alone represent the hope of the people.

It has always been thus with politicians. The other party always has been corrupt. It has never served the people, but the corporate wealth, the mysterious interests, the favored few. The vote-seeking candidate always has pictured himself as the Moses to lead the people out of the wilderness of corruption and despair.

Senator La Follette is not different from the rest. He is appealing for votes and he is appealing to the prejudices of the voters. He is doing, too, the very same thing for which he brands the two-old parties as corrupt—he is advocating special legislation for the classes of voters following his candidacy.

It is not in the prospect of success of his candidacy that the real danger of it lies. It is in the unrest that it creates, the suspicion that it engenders, the faith in the United States and its institutions that it undermines. The Constitution and the Bill of Rights are the foundation stones of this government. The Supreme Court is the guardian of these rights. When a presidential candidate advocates that the guardianship of the rights of free speech, free press, religious liberty, protection of property, be taken away from the Supreme Court and turned over to Congress, subject to every passing whim of the voting public, he is undermining the faith of a people in their Constitution, their courts and in justice.

To that extent, the candidacy of Senator La Follette presents a serious menace.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Somewhat Political

Industrial Dixie: Today North Carolina holds the proud distinction of having a wider diversity of manufacturers than any other State in the Union. It pays more revenue to the Government than forty-four out of forty-eight States. Its 6,000 factories turn out products each year worth $1,000,000,000. It ranks ahead of all textile-manufacturing States, save Massachusetts, and stands next to Michigan in furniture, while leading the world in its output of mica, towels, tobacco products, denims, damask and many other things. . . . Fifty years ago there wasn't a solvent bank in North Carolina. Sixty years ago there were less than six cotton mills in the Carolinas, and these were small.

North Carolina suffered more severely from the effects of the Civil War and carpetbaggers than perhaps any other State. Without capital, with labor put into politics and credit unobtainable, countless citizens of North Carolina were forced to resort to extraordinary efforts and undergo unexampled privations before getting a second start toward prosperity. We read much of what war did to impoverish certain portions of Europe, but we hear less, and always heard less of what happened in some of the Southern States of America after invaders marauded them and bolshevism was foisted upon them. Today North Carolina is rich and productive, made so by the energy and ability of its people. It has come into solvency through insolvency, but it hasn't forgotten what the fathers and mothers of the recedent generation endured that prosperity might be restored and increased for their children. And it may not be malapropos to remind Editor Senter of Industrial Dixie that one of the reasons why North Carolina will cast its electoral vote for John W. Davis this year is because North Carolinians of today have not forgotten what the North Carolinians of yesterday implanted in their minds concerning the necessity of supporting the Democratic party for their own protection.—State Press in Dallas News.

West Texas' Cotton Crop

West Texas' cotton crop is rated at 73 by the State Department of Agriculture, against 63 for the State as a whole and 45 for East Texas. This is the answer to the doubters and pessimists, who a few years back even maintained that West Texas would never become a cotton growing country. Cotton is being grown and grown successfully right now in West Texas counties that even a year ago never planted an acre to it. With the breaking up of the ranches and the turning of thousands of acres under the plow for the first time, West Texas farmers have turned to cotton, not foolishly as their

How Can I Discover Myself?

Not many of us ever get very well acquainted with ourselves working alone. You have no idea how fussy and disagreeable you are until you get out among folks and they discover it in you first. Sometimes they have to even tell you about it before you will believe it. And then often we are inclined to think the trouble is with the other person. And women seldom ever discover themselves in their home. If they are not what they should be in the home the children and even the husband would rather keep the people fooled than to have the world get down on mother. A lot of women are not half as good as they think they are at home. But everybody is afraid to let the truth be known. Then there are other women who are ten times better than they get credit for being at home. So you cannot depend on discovering your real self within your own home.

The best place in the whole country for any woman to discover herself, her character traits, her likes and dislikes, her way of doing and her strong points, her natural talent and her ambitions is by mixing and mingling with a group of other women. You may not believe this. If you do not, suppose you try it this year, if you never have belonged to any kind of a woman's club? Every woman in the Nation ought to belong to some organization of women if for no other reason than to discover what kind of a woman she is herself. Are you selfish? Are you broadminded? Are you just in your judgment of others? Are you patient with the faults of others? Are you bossy and hard to get along with? Do you balk when you do not get your own way about every little thing? If you can not lead will you not follow?

These are just a few of the unpleasant things women have discovered about themselves by trying to cooperate. Many a fine woman had no idea she had so many little flaws in her nature until she began to work with other women. And it is working with other women and getting a better understanding of other women that has done more to help women discover themselves than anything else in their lives. How could they go about strengthening their weak traits and correcting their faults until they were conscious of them?

It is the organized work of women throughout the State and the Nation that has led to the discovery of so many useful women. Women had no idea what they were really good for until they began to work together. Do they like it? Do they love each other more. Let the results speak. Fifty years ago there were only a score or more of women's organizations in all the Nation. Today there are millions of women banded together in different organizations. They have discovered their own leaders in every branch of their work. They have discovered their own individual powers and talents. And they are discovering year by year some woman in almost every town to take up the work of women, by women, for women.

But there are still many times more women who do not belong to any kind of an organization of women than have been enrolled in their organizations. If it has helped you to find yourself and made your life more interesting to you and more useful to your community to belong to a woman's club of any kind, then let all try this year to help other women to discover their talents and themselves. The world needs every useful woman. Why sit around and let whole communities lag behind their neighbors when there are women in every community that have the power to build it up, if they were only discovered? Why let the small town and the rural community and the rural school hold down the record and the standard of the whole State when there is material, human material, in every community to build it up, if somebody would only discover it? The very best way in the world to discover your own powers is to organize your community and go to work. You will never know what you can do until you try. And you will be surprised how much you can do when all the women of your community work together for the good of all the people in it. Organize a woman's club of some kind this week in your school district, go to work for your school and watch how you will grow yourself. -Mrs. Prebe K. Warner in Fort Worth Record.

That wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendants be duly cited to appear and answer herein at the next regular term of this court, and that on final hearing of the cause, plaintiff have judgment against each of said defendants for the oil and gas rights on and under said described tracts of land, and declaring said lease contracts, and each of them, terminated and cancelled, and removal of the cloud upon plaintiff's title to said land, his damages and costs, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that he may justly show himself entitled.

Why
Why should there be children of the slums in a land of God and plenty? Why not save those who would perish before the fire of hate has burned their souls into everlasting shame? Why not a brotherhood and a sisterhood strong enough to lift up and refine rather than corrupt and punish? Why not save the unwary BEFORE—not AFTER—the need of rescue homes? What glorious conquerors they will be whose cleaner souls shall split the rock of vice, that man's humanity to man may march onward confident and unafraid.—Facts and Fiction.

Big Spring, Friday, October 3, 1924

An ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure when you are considering the fire demon. It is easier to prevent a costly fire than it is to extinguish the fire once it gets going good.

Up to the present we haven't any reason to "kick" on account of the quality of weather we have been treated to this fall. So far the coolest morning hasn't been so "worse" as the thermometer has not been lower than 41 degrees.

You will never have a finer opportunity than right now in which to select that new furniture you have been planning to purchase. Several carloads of new furniture just received and our prices are right. W. R. Purser & Sons.

The big oil companies have been flirting with Howard and adjoining counties for several years. The fact that one of them has taken over a well with the intention of making a deep test indicates they believe a commercial oil field will be developed in this section.

From all signs and indications we are due to have another play at the oil game within the next few months. The big oil companies have been teasing considerable land in Howard and adjoining counties for some time and they may now be ready to make some real tests in this territory.

A REQUEST FROM COAHOMA.

Editor Herald:

Since the Dallas News seems to be a favorite source from which you quote, I am sending you this clipping from the Dallas News and kindly ask that you reprint same.

Yours very truly,

Commends Dr. Butte and Urges His Election

I noted with interest the attitude assumed by The News in the August primary. Inasmuch as Mrs. Ferguson was the antikan candidate, such attitude was demanded by consistency. Nor was there, in my estimation, much to choose between the two candidates. Texas is to be congratulated in the political death of the klan and The News is to be praised for its courageous stand.

But now the question arises, as The News and are the people of Texas merely antikan, or are they pro-Ferguson? If the latter, then the situation is truly to be deplored. I have sufficient faith in the electorate of Texas to believe that, aside from the hundred odd thousands of voters who would vote for Ferguson on any ticket and for any office, the rest of us are sickened at the thought of his assuming the governorship of Texas. The man's record is too familiar to necessitate going into it here, and Ferguson himself promises it is he who will be Governor if his wife is elected. Do the people of Texas want James E. Ferguson to be our Governor? I can't believe it.

Now, as to the solution of our problem. A little reason clears us of the deed. We have killed kluxism in Texas politics. There now remain two other political ills that have contributed heavily to our degradation: Fergusonism and party slavery. If we can clean them out in Texas in November, then it is indeed a glorious day in our history. I feel that we owe no allegiance or obligation as Democrats to a party bolter who thinks our ears lengthen whenever we refuse to gratify his political lusts. I likewise feel that as long as we habitually and obsequiously vote for the party nominee regardless of his ability, his platform and his record, there is no hope for any growth or development in Texas politics. Let us be fair with ourselves for the sake of our State Government. When in the history of Texas has the Democratic party nominated for Governor a man whose ideals, whose personality and ability, whose sneer strength of mind and character can in any manner be compared with these attributes in Dr. Butte? In this political conflict it is my hope to see The News throw its forces and its influences into the front ranks for reason, ability, breadth and depth of mind, and for a banishment from Texas once and for all of Fergusonism and party servitude.

M. OTIS ROGERS,
1905 Nueces Street, Austin.

When you consider that the present year has been one of scant rainfall you will understand why we may not be able to have as fine an agricultural exhibit as some counties in Texas may be able to collect. In fact, the present year has been almost as dry as 1917 when we had a sure enough dry spell. Up to the present time the rain gauge at the U. S. Experiment Station here has registered but 10 inches of rain; two inches of this coming during the past month--so that only about eight inches came in time to benefit crops. When folks see our exhibit and learn what this county will do on such a light rainfall they will be convinced that we have a truly dependable farming country. The average rainfall for the past twenty-three years has been in the neighborhood of twenty inches.

Help Prevent Fires

Governor Neff has issued a proclamation calling on all citizens of Texas to observe Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 to 11.

He called attention to the tremendous loss caused by fire every year in the United States and urged the formation of a fire prevention committee in every community.

He urged all municipal officers to stress the importance of Fire Prevention Week and urging the strict observance of same.

In this connection it might be well to warn folks to have flues examined before they install that heating stove this fall. Defective flues are responsible for the destruction of many homes.

One Arizonian Don't Like Texas.

A Texan temporarily located in Phoenix, Arizona, sends us the following want ad clipped from a Phoenix, daily newspaper. After reading this you are bound to form a mighty poor opinion of some Arizonians--or the kind of cattle that seem to have a grouch on Texans.

"Wanted--man who has had experience in working Mexicans and Texans; to man who will make them deliver the goods and hold them in their place, will pay well. Box 82-F, Republican."

A working man evidently has as much standing as a goat or a mule with that employer. He evidently hasn't as much idea of dealing with men as a hog has of heaven or else he has had the misfortune to have encountered some Texans who played hard-boiled.

Need of Seed Selection Noted

There has been considerable difficulty in securing samples of grain sorghums for the Dallas Fair Exhibit. Most of the maize, kaffir and feterita is not uniform, and hence will not secure the number of points uniform samples would be accorded. The main purpose of offering prizes for these grains is to encourage the planting of pure bred seed. It has been conclusively proven that greater yields are secured when pure seed are planted and that seed that is mixed produces crops that deteriorate from year to year. Just any old seed will not pay; but only by selecting the best and most uniform heads of grain for planting each year are the biggest and best crops to be secured from year to year. While most of our farmers have long since learned that it pays to plant pure bred cotton seed they have not given much thought to seed selection for grain sorghum crops and as a result the various fields show a preponderance of mixed rather than standard varieties.

While some of the mixed varieties may show larger heads of grain occasionally the pure bred seed will pay bigger profits in the long run.

For a Connected Highway System

Submission of an amendment to the State Constitution which would give the State authority to construct and maintain a connected system of highways is to be sought by the Texas Highway Association during the next session of the Legislature, according to a statement issued Saturday by W. E. Lea of Orange, newly elected president of the association.

Adoption of such an amendment, Lea declared, is imperative if Texas is to continue to receive Federal aid in the construction of highways. The Act of Congress providing for the granting of such aid specifically that it shall be extended, after a certain date, to only those states which provide adequate authority to a properly authorized agency of the state to construct, maintain and operate a state system of public highways.

Officers of the association do not anticipate any difficulty in getting the Legislature to submit the proposed amendment to the voters, Lea said. And once it has passed the legislative stage, the association has pledged itself to do all within its power to insure its adoption at the polls. The organization, Lea said, has 6,000 members in every part of the state who will cooperate in this work.

Among other legislative matters which the association has voted to call to the attention of the Thirty-Ninth Legislature, which convenes in Austin next January, are the following.

Further careful consideration of sources of revenue for the construction and maintenance and always in accordance with the public demand. The experience of Texas, as of every other state in the Union, indicates the wastefulness of the policy of expending large sums in the construction of cheap types of public roads, that from the very nature of the construction, can be considered only temporary in character. We urge the building of more lasting improvements, except in those localities where local materials are available and can be used economically.

A comprehensive statute for the regulation of common carriers.

A statute regulating the use of headlights upon public highways.

At a recent convention of the association, resolutions were adopted urging strict enforcement of the laws regulating the operation of motor trucks upon the public highways.

The association also commended the State Highway Department for the "efficient policy developed" in the administration of highway laws passed by the last Legislature. This resolution, according to President Lea, was prompted by the results obtained by the department since it took charge of highway maintenance on January 1, 1924. Appreciation of the association also was expressed to "the press of the State" for its valuable cooperation in educating the public to a greater appreciation of good roads.

The story of a Broadway butterfly who thought the famous playground was a place of fun. And learned—

"Dodo" Baxter, fresh from Main Street, comes to the big city and through her connections with the stage meets wealthy men who make a game of collecting women. Their efforts to "collect" Dodo are sometimes comic and frequently dramatic. The picture shows the life of New York's most exclusive circles and follows the men of these exalted levels when they descend to other levels in search of amusement. It is society life and theatre life "behind the scenes."

A girl of the present day in revolt—adventurous, eager and unafraid; without home-ties; with a passion to explore but not to experience, and a curiosity fed by the zest of life.

She meets them all, the men of New York, the mediocre, the interesting, the powerful, the hunters, the brutes, and those who seek only an amused mental relaxation.

She attracts them by hook or crook, in defiance of conventions, compelling their attention in ways that at the start hopelessly mystify them and lead to misunderstandings. Then she calmly sets them right and forgives them.

It's a wonderful interesting play throughout and one that you will sure enjoy, so don't fail to see it.

The Teacher's Reception by the Community

The September number of "The Community League News" of Virginia, which has just reached the Bureau of Education, suggests, among other work for League members during the month, the following: "Plan a reception for the teacher or teachers. See that the teacher has a comfortable boarding house." This is excellent all-year-round advice. The people, as well as the school trustees, should assume responsibility for the provision in the community of a living place for the teacher which is at least as good as that from which she comes, which is accessible to the schoolhouse and which offers her privacy and comfort during the school term. Usually the teacher is not familiar with the resources of the community. She should be directed to a good living place on her arrival if possible, but if not then, later.

In addition to finding a good living place, the teacher should be made welcome in the community, not only when she comes, but all during her residence in it. She should be made to feel that she is looked upon as a real personage, one whose services are valued and whose presence is cordially appreciated. Such a reception will help the teacher to begin her work with enthusiasm and courage, an achievement which is eminently worth while to the community. Of still greater importance, this cordial attitude, wholeheartedly expressed by the adults of the community, will instill respect, esteem, and consideration for the school and the teacher on the part of the children which will prove of inestimable value to their progress during the school year.

The Soul of the People

In the last analysis the people, source of all power, are in truth the law. Monarchies no less than Democracies rule by grant of the people's will. Edward is King of England because of the fact that the great soul of a great people preferred not to continue Cromwell's line. It was this resistless power that placed the gory crown that fell from the disembodied head of Charles the First upon that of Charles the Second. The soul of France, grown tired of caste and oppression, was powerful enough to behead Louis the Sixteenth and his beautiful queen.

In either case it but proves the rule. That fragments of a nation's soul, welded into concrete mass, become an invincible force. Like a tidal wave it may become restless even of itself sweeping aside the broken forms of all that oppose; never faltering, never reasoning, until the last vestige of usurped power is broken. In some instances it may return to Caesar that which is Caesar's. In all instances it takes for the people that which belongs to the people. Dealing out its own justice it satisfies its own law.—Facts and Fiction.

High boots—trousers loosely tucked—soft shirt carelessly bestowed—complexion bronzed to sun and wind—an air of quiet confidence bespeaking the man of self-reliance, resource, decision of character—these traits characterized the southwesterner of earlier days. The Perfect Town

Not long ago we asked a well-known citizen to write down for us in black and white just what kind of a town he considers perfect, that our readers might compare it with their own town. He has done and here is his idea of a perfect town.

"It should be a moral town where citizens obey the laws and a woman can walk the entire length of Main street and feel that the men she passes respect womanhood. A town that forgets individual squabbles and unites for the common good of all; a town with a good public library, and churches that are well attended and pastors reasonably paid; a town where nobody has to lock the chicken coop door; where each citizen is made to feel that he is needed in every movement of importance, no matter what his financial standing. The perfect town should have pure water and streets that the taxpayers are proud of; a town whose citizens never say they, but always us; a town fit to raise children in without blushing for what they may hear on the streets; a town with a playground for children so they will not have to be in the streets and public comfort stations for men and women. It should be a town that grows without knocking a neighboring town; one whose people are always courteous to strangers; one with faith in itself and its ability to get what it goes after."

Now read this over carefully and see how near you think your town measures up to it. If it does not, then ask yourself if there is any way in which you can make it measure up.—Exchange.

Development

Development in West Texas is a vast and throbbing thing. It is stirring into activity and productivity an area larger than the New England states.

Thousands of farmers and townspeople and their families have come into West Texas within the year. Ranches of 10,000 acres, or 25,000 or 100,000, have been divided up into quarter-sections. Houses have been erected, fences built, barns erected and crops planted.

Crop yield in West Texas is much greater than last year. It will be greater still next year if conditions are favorable.

Great as has been the development in West Texas, it is but beginning. There are immense stretches of farming land to be reclaimed, towns to be built, roads to be constructed.

The West Texas chamber of commerce with its 7000 members has had much to do with the transformation of this part of the state in the past few years. It has proved itself an energetic organization in bringing settlers into the state, in promoting the establishment of new state institutions, in working for good roads, in community betterment of many kinds. Many El Paso firms and individuals are joining the West Texas chamber of commerce. By giving it their support they are contributing to the further development of West Texas. They are helping themselves and their city also. El Paso must renew her former close association with West Texas and work and grow with it.—El Paso Herald.

Give All the Boys a Chance

Interest in the "World Series" is not confined to adults. Many a school boy's knitted brow is only a ruse to conceal his thoughts. Instead of Euclid's propositions, his meditations may be on his baseball heroes and their chances for victory. And why not? Play, games, and athletics are a recognized part of the school's physical education program. These activities offer, without doubt, one of the best opportunities for the development of good conduct and healthful habits. Are their possibilities realized?

The teacher-coach should, by example and attitude, inculcate the ideals of fair play. Pupils should learn to despise everything tricky or mean, to abide by the rules and the spirit of the game, to strive to win by their own superior athletic prowess, and to recognize it appropriately in others. They should learn to be sportsmanlike. This implies, when winners, the lack of undue boasting; and, when losers, the first in congratulating their successful opponents.

Well-planned athletics contribute immeasurably to physical fitness, happiness, honesty, cooperation, consideration for others, sense of fair play, and character. Each and all of these are worthy goals. Should this highly desirable type of education be confined to the few already physically fit?

Undue concentration on "the team" may well be supplanted by interesting the pupils in the organization and development of a number of play groups and teams within the school. Inter-class games and contests between the school's teams are highly desirable and to be preferred to inter-school contests if both can not be provided. Well-directed participation by the many is essential to the greater good to the greater number.

She Is Not for Sale

That's the way a lot of families feel about good Bossy. She has been a faithful friend of the family giving all the milk they could use and even some to the neighbors.

Of course you always think that you feed her but do you? Just plenty of feed does not always mean proper feeding. Good old Bossie must have ration that she can really turn into milk.

Cow Chow produces more milk and more butter because it contains elements that are deficient in average ration. It keeps cows from robbing their bodies for milk-making nutrients and lengthens the milking period. By feeding Cow Chow you not only produce more pounds of milk, but you keep your cow in better condition.

Just try Cow Chow for a month, feed it as directed, and watch the difference.

Sending Cotton Pickers West at Rate of 1,000 a Day

Stamford, Texas, Sept. 29. — Reports from the United States Farm Bureau at Fort Worth is to the effect that cotton pickers are being sent to West Texas points from East Texas at the rate of 1,000 a day.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is seeking to get the farmers to enter into some kind of plan to keep the pickers in the West in case rainy weather sets in order that they may resume picking immediately following good picking weather.

The problem of getting enough pickers in the West to gather the cotton crop is considered by the West Texas Chamber as a serious one and those already on hand must be importuned to remain until the crop is gathered.

Fake Cotton Brokers Invade South

The New York cotton exchange issued a statement warning investors in the south of the danger of losing millions of dollars in the next few months due to the operations of irresponsible firms who are flooding the mails with literature describing large profits to be made by trading in cotton at this time. Last year, the exchange estimated, so-called cotton brokers of this type fleeced the south of more than $5,000,000.

In an effort to prevent a repetition of such losses, the cotton exchange in cooperation with local authorities, issued a warning to traders in the south to make certain of the standing and responsibility of cotton brokerage firms before entrusting money to them.—El Paso

Maccabee Caravan May Visit Texas

A. W. Frye, supreme commander of The Maccabees, will conduct a tour of inspection of Texas early in October investigating the routes over which The Maccabees auto caravan from the Southwest will drive to Washington, D. C., next summer.

The big caravan, preparations for which have been under way for many months, will take 10,000 members of The Maccabees to Washington from all over the United States and Canada for the quadrennial convention of the order in what automobile authorities state to be the largest motor pilgrimage in history.

Two general routes through the Southwest are under consideration, one leading through Oklahoma City and Little Rock, and one through Dallas. J. B. Sawtell, great commander, has been actively working for several months to bring the caravan over the latter route and thru this state, and has found public sentiment so favorable that Mr. Frye is coming at his request to personally inspect the situation.

THE SECRET OF POISE..... FIGURE GROOMING

JUST notice the women who have sacrificed their appearance to false ideas of comfort and freedom. Who have, by discarding corsets, allowed their figures to sag and spread. Surely you do not want this to happen to you. It doesn't need to. Have the poise of women who have discovered "Figure-Grooming." Wear a Modart Corset.

Modart is an especially light, flexible corset, made from the finest materials, so designed that it not only gives a general slenderizing effect, but actually reduces the figure. Modart gives support where support is needed and by cupping under the body "stays put" and does not restrict the waist.

In our corset department you will find a Modart to fit every figure and every purse. Lacing and non-lacing models in every material from coutil to beautiful silk brocades. Let one of our corsetiers who understand the art of "Figure-Grooming" choose the one Modart created for you.
